CONTINENT PARAGRAPHS.

—At the meeting of Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., which was held last evening, the third degree was conferred upon one candidate. Several members of Unity Lodge were present and the evening was made to pass in a most pleasant manner.

—The annual May walk of the Georgian and Tuxedo will take place tomorrow, rain or shine. The start will be made at 6 a. m., from the corner of Green Brook road and Somerset street, with Washington Rock as the objective point. Later in the morning, the families of the members will follow in stages and the day will be passed in a most pleasant manner. The return will not be made until late in the afternoon.

—Apropos of the early closing movements on two nights of the week, which the dry goods stores of the city are trying to set in motion, it will not be out of place to say that Peck makes it a practice to close his dry goods store the year around, at 7 o'clock on every evening of the week except Saturday, and not one of his clerks is more glad to have the closing hour arrive than he is.

—Marshall Pangborn says that if he did come very near running over a man yesterday while enjoying a ride on his wheel, he is getting his silent steel under pretty fine. Where formerly he took him all the morning to walk through the Borough in search of traps, he can now cover the ground twice in the same length of time and is not tired at all.

—In their usual fetching manner Van Emburgh and Son have something to say interesting to the pocket-books of Courier readers to-day. "Goods we are strong on" is in their text.

—As ordinary bicycle contains about one hundred and fifty pieces of metal from the wheel spokes.

—The Daring Committee of the Plainfield Amateur Club requests the Courier to announce that the start for the Club's racing on Wednesday, May 27, will be made from the Club rooms at 8:30 a. m. sharp, instead of at 9 o'clock, as previously decided upon. At least twenty members of the Club have announced their intention of going and the day will be spent in the vicinity of the Passaic River.

—To-morrow evening on the occasion of the sermon to the two G. A. R. Posts at the First Presbyterian Church, Organist Clarke, during the service preceding the service, will render a fantasia on the National air introducing the reveille, the call to boots and medals, and a number of the war time melodies.

—The reception and dance of the Plainfield Athletic Association Monday night next, promises to be a very fine affair. A good many visitors from out of the city are expected to attend and the tripping of the light fantastic too will probably be heard in the early morning hours. P. O'Connor Conde will furnish the music.

—The Central Railroad has completed its pneumatic track system from Bound Brook to Easton.

—Improvements are being made in the property of the Friend's meeting house at Third street and Watchung avenue. The terrace is being graded with a gradual slope, and a fence will be extended along the Third street side.

—The temperature yesterday reached its highest point at 70 degrees, and lowest at 55 degrees, with a trace of rain. The observations for the day close at eight o'clock in the morning, and the heavier rain after that is not included in the report.

—The ordinance of baptism will be administered at the First Church of Christ after the service to-morrow evening.

—Doc Kennedy is to catch for the West Ends. Manager Mack has signed him.

THE FIRST OF THE SEASON.

Now that the day of the festive Strawberry is here, the Young People of the First Presbyterian Church start the Ball. The day of the Ball is the "Garden and Quarter" of the Strawberry. The Pastors made way with, but a fine time was had at the Church.

The strawberry festival at the First Presbyterian Church yesterday afternoon and evening was a success. The old and young turned out in goodly numbers to enjoy themselves and they did until a late hour.

The church parlors looked very pretty in their decorations of flags, bunting and Japanese lanterns, together with the kaleidoscope combination and forms in various colored dresses. The young ladies from the different tables vied with each other in getting the most guests at table, and would have been anxious had they been able to notice the quinary in which the visitors were, some of whom had already eaten their fill, and still had several individual promises looked ahead to eat at other tables. The exercise and an anticipation was a very pleasant one to be sure, but there is a limit to the appetite even for strawberries and cream.

The rooms adjoining the main parlor were not with small tables, each prettily decorated with flowers, and arranged to be very inviting with the good taste of the fair attendants. The flower booth was a pretty affair standing before the pulpit and contained calls for pots, heliotropes, sweet peas, roses, sweet-williams, geraniums, daisies, wall plants, lilies of the valley, Easter lilies and lilies. It was attended by Miss Nora Williams and Miss Edith Laine. The candy table was attended by Miss Mary Wilcox and Miss Maggie McKillop. The lemonade table was in charge of Miss Grace Petrie, Miss Eva Dayton and Miss Gertrude Haseltine. Some of the ladies were in evening costume.

The tea tables were in charge of the young ladies in pairs as follows: Miss Lottie Messersmith and Miss Sadie Keenan, Miss Florence Duss and Miss Bertha Wilcox, Miss Evelyn Searing and Miss May Cole, Miss Edith Louder and Miss Josie Morrison, Miss Prudence Wilbur and Miss Grace Overton. It was rather unfortunate that the weather was so threatening at that time when most of the people would have attended, but the tables were kept so well lighted that any lack in attendance was hardly noticeable, and it was nearly seven o'clock before there was much thinning out of the guests.

THEIR LAST RECEPTION UNTIL FALL.

Professor Davis' Class Close the Dancing Season with a Good Attendance and a Happy Evening.

The last reception of Professor Davis' Thursday night dancing class occurred Thursday night. It was also the last meeting of the classes until the fall term opens. Professor Davis wore a handsome suit and a pair of new shoes, and was in the best of spirits.

The dances in evening dress presented a very pretty appearance. The grand march was led by Mr. Gavin and Miss Rickard. It had been the intention of the professor to put in a short German, but the programme of dances being so long the time allotted for the reception was so long it could not be done. One of the pleasant features of the evening was the jig dancing by two little girls, who have been under the professor's instruction. They danced first separately and then together, with very pretty effect. Little Miss Westphal was the smallest dancer in the room. Her movements were watched with much interest because of her remarkable proficiency for one so young. Her little companions, though some older were also noticeable for their ability in the difficult figures. A delightful repast was served about 11:30 o'clock. Dancing was continued until after one o'clock, when the scholars and their friends bade the professor farewell until the fall term.

—Everybody is advised to hold their drinking water this summer, even if it does create a boom in tea-kettles.

—Paper stockings are the latest thing. They are impervious to moisture, and a bottle of mangle constitutes the "darning" equipment.

—If the men who drive the street sprinklers would shut off the squirt when they come to a crossing the ladies would not risk wet and call them blessed, and the men with a fresh shine on his shoes would feel that it was not energy wasted.

—A wagon loaded with crushed stone for West Front street was caught in the Street Railway track at West Front street and Elmwood place this morning breaking an axle and precipitating the load.

—There are 301 chapters of the Epworth League in the State with 23,107 members.

—Tramps secreted themselves in large pipes on a train at Dover, to avoid a ride, and could only be forced out by throwing in cannon fire crackers. These were very effective.

THEY ARE ENDOEVOERS NOW.

Miss Spangenberg Elegantly Convinced the Young People's League of the First Baptist Church that Their Work in Helping the Larger Association Would be Made More Effective and a Temporary Organization as Back Was Effected Immediately.

In accordance with a request which was accepted at a recent meeting of the Young People's League of the First Baptist Church of this city, Miss Alice B. Spangenberg, of Newburgh, met the members of the League in the chapel of the church last evening, for the purpose of explaining why it would be better for them to reorganize their society into a Society of Christian Endeavor. In predicting her remarks, Mr. Spangenberg congratulated the members of the League upon the work they had accomplished in the past and said that the question now arose whether the League was in a position to do all the work it possibly could? Was the society the very best for getting young people to become followers of Christ? This is the very purpose and object of the Y. P. C. E. and the movement which started but a few years ago, from a mere nothing, had rapidly spread all over the world and now numbers thousands of members. It is not confined to one sect, but is adapted to all creeds, denominations and peoples.

The Christian Endeavor movement is a religious movement, not a mere organization. God is with it and directing its fundamental principle is individual loyalty to Christ. The pledge which all members are required to sign reads that trusting in Jesus Christ, I promise to stand up for Christ, for my church and for my society. The pledge specifies certain duties which all members are required to carry out an abiding faith in God is required. Its members must trust in Him to carry out all his promises and above all things must have much love for Him who is willing to speak in His blood at least once at each weekly meeting.

Consecrated devotion is another of its principles. Another is energetic service, that is, not only praying but doing continual work for Christ is required. Every member has some work to do. Each one is constantly furthering His will, and endeavoring to bring others into a more perfect knowledge of Christ who did for us all. It is a fraternal fellowship, in another of its principles. The Society is not for one but for all creeds. Ministers of all denominations favor it, and the movement has a claim upon all churches.

In bringing her remarks to a close, Miss Spangenberg said she would try to answer any question relating to the movement which might be asked. Several were asked which she explained in an satisfactory manner. A ballot was then taken upon the question of dissolving the Young People's League and becoming a Christian Endeavor Society. Walter Dobbins and Clarence Johnson were appointed tellers and Irving Brady, temporary secretary. The vote being taken showed that thirty-seven were in favor, one against and one undecided.

A temporary organization was then effected by making George H. Baitch, clerk, and Clarence Johnson, secretary pro tem. A committee on nominations, which consisted of John McLaughlin, Irving Brady, Richard Butler, Harold Serrell, and Miss Linda Pater, were then appointed by the chair, in addition to a committee to frame a constitution and by-laws, which consisted of Harold Serrell, George H. Baitch, Miss Lizzie Smalley, Miss Young and Robert Love. After discussing the matter again on Friday evening June 2, when the Committee will be ready to report and a permanent organization be effected, the meeting adjourned with the usual exercises.

They Are Being to Run the Cars. The laborers on the Somerset street extension of the electric railway have opened the railway to the county line and the track is nearly laid to this point. The poles are also in position and another week will see this portion of the road ready for use. It is said to be the intention of the Company to run cars on the extension as soon as it is completed.

Passengers will have to walk from the bridge to Front street where their transfer tickets will enable them to resume their journey. Just what motive power will be used in running the cars when the extension is completed with the main line is not known but as the court has forbidden the placing of poles on Somerset street between Front street and the bridge, it is thought that horses or mules will be brought into service.

What is a Halibut Breakfast? Tonight a War Cry Mission; Sunday morning at 7 a. m. a Halibut Breakfast; at 11 a. m. a halibut meeting; at 8 p. m. a Christian's meeting; at 6 p. m. a great Salvation meeting. Captains Barter and Lieut. Davis in charge.

The meeting of the State Executive Committee of the Friends' Relief Association is being held to-day at Atlantic City. Chief Doane went this forenoon, intending to return tomorrow night or Monday morning.

'BOB' MATTOX'S WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.

A Rejoice Party Which Failed to Surpass the Last Time. The Good Will Was Completely Demonstrated at the Appearance of the Guests Who Made Themselves at Home Without Asking Leave.

Last night Mr. and Mrs. W. Robert Mattox celebrated the thirty-fifth anniversary of the wedding, at the known Webster place. The celebration was intended by the children of the family as a sort of surprise to their parents and the matter of the preparation had been going on for several days. It had not wholly escaped the notice of the guests, "Bob" for it is second nature with him in his business to keep an eye on all unusual movements everywhere and to know some things that other people do not know. He, however, said nothing but "winked the other eye," and when the hour was up which completed his thirty-five years of married life he expected a house full of guests and found them accordingly.

His wife was probably the surprised one, and happily so, when the presents began to come in and were strewn on the piano, tables and other convenient places. Then for the first she suspected there must be some plot underneath it all and the guests came forward and "fessed up." The rooms were thrown open and the house was turned into one large room from front to rear, the guests were "turned loose" and were told that the house was theirs, which it was until the next morning. Guests and relatives from the city and Newark were present young and old and each joined with the others in trying to make their hosts live to live long enough to celebrate two or three other such anniversaries.

"Uncle Bob" has a talent for character sketches and when the young people can get him in their company they always begin their efforts for some of his exhibitions in that line. He was called upon for "some theatre" last night and he responded in his own way, both humorous and didactic. He also gave a touching account of his love-making when but a mere stripling and infused a romance into it which showed that Cupid was ever the same silly trickster and kept the nymphs and swains as much on the rack in years gone by as now.

At midnight a splendid luncheon was served and the festivities continued from that time on without apparent fatigue or lack of interest until the chandelier was heard piping his morning note and judging from his lively appearance the happy, gray-haired host was not a day older than when he and his wife as children and neighbors played together and had their "spats and make-ups" away back in the '40's.

THE COURIER TELLS THE TRUTH, EVEN THOUGH IT BE UNPOPULAR.

After copying in full the Courier's account of the ball game last Saturday, the Somerset Democrat has this to say: "This is in strange contrast to what the News and Press say of the game. These papers say the Greenies won and that the game was a grand exhibition of ball playing. There is a screw loose somewhere. We are inclined to believe that the Courier gave the most correct account of the game."

Here is the loose screw, which our Somerset neighbor suspects. The News writer does not know a good game when he sees it, and the editor of the Press is decidedly ignorant in hoodwinking the public. The Courier, as the servant of the people, tells the truth. The Democrat knows this. Hence it quotes and commends the Courier's story.

Peter Hartzel, who runs the local train which reaches here at ten o'clock in the evening, is a dandy for getting speed out of an engine. Last Monday night he ran from Elizabeth to Bound Brook, a distance of twenty miles, making ten stops, in just 33 minutes. This is a wonderful performance. He has engine 40.—Somerset Democrat.

The Queen's Taste. She says she will not wear hoop-skirts if they are introduced. Neither would she, if she lived in Plainfield, use tie or short-sleeved for house-numbering purposes when she could get the attractive yet cheap skirt numbers on sale at Collier's, 3 Park avenue.

Sent to the Reform School. Ernest Jones and Herbert Serrell, who were arrested by Officer Corra, for stealing tickets from the depot at Alameda, May 18, were brought before the Court of Special Sessions yesterday at Elizabeth, and pleaded guilty. They were sent to the Reform School.

Severely of Outcasts Set Outward that Outlets Hervey. As a security will surely destroy the means of support and the means of life, the Board of Health, in order to prevent the spread of disease, has decided to remove the outcasts from the city. The outcasts will be removed to the Reform School, and the Board of Health will be responsible for their support and maintenance.

The meeting of the State Executive Committee of the Friends' Relief Association is being held to-day at Atlantic City. Chief Doane went this forenoon, intending to return tomorrow night or Monday morning.

HOW TO "DINK" BY MAIL.

If you can't threaten you can have a little fun by telling him and the Country Postmaster that he owes you a Little Answer. There seems to be a very general impression among business men and others, that it is a criminal offence under the laws of the United States to mail a dunning letter written on a postal card. The question was asked of postmaster Pope and in reply the decision of Judge Thayer, which was given on December 14, 1889, on the wording of a postal card that was mailed about one that was not was given.

In this decision it appears that two cards were brought into evidence. One that was mailed reads "Please call and settle account, which is long past due and for which our collector has called several times, and oblige." The unmailable card reads, "You owe me $1.00. We have written several times for same. If not paid at once, we shall advise with our law agency for collection." The last sentence makes the card unmailable. Postal cards which contain language of a threatening character, are contrary to the ruling of the postal department, for it is a very serious threat to the average man to tell him in this public manner that you are going to sue him. The best manner in which to send all such communications is by sealed letter, for then whatever is written is private and only is intended for the person to whom it is sent.

Arrangements are being made by the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company to place its wires which run through Morris town, under ground.
