NEW JERSEY'S VETERAN MASON.

His Ninety-First Year of Life Begins To-morrow.

Timothy Hunting Morse, the acknowledged oldest Mason (in time of service) residing in New Jersey, will celebrate his sixtieth birthday anniversary at his home, 26 East Fifth street, this city, to-morrow. He is a native of Natick, Mass., where he was born May 24, 1801. At the age of 15 he was apprenticed to the carpentry trade, and it was through a simple incident in his early career as a carpenter that he became a Mason. While assisting in the erection of a barn he had to flee to an old farm-house attic for shelter from a storm. In rummaging about the rubbish he found and read a Masonic Monitor, and immediately made up his mind to adopt for himself the principles contained therein. He accordingly handed in his petition to Mt. Moriah Lodge, Canterbury, Conn., in the year 1821. His thoroughness in acquiring the Masonic work was remarkable, and he speedily was raised to the degree of Master Mason, and became Senior Deacon. In 1827 he removed to Uxbridge, Mass., and affiliated with Solomon's Temple Lodge of that place. In 1829 he became its Worshipful Master, and held that station three years. In 1833 he received what were thought to be serious injuries, caused by his falling fifty feet from the top of a building, and he was forced to retire from active business, and removed to Bangor, Maine. His public spirit won him various offices of trust and honor. He was made a Select Councilman and Warden of the Penitentiary, and was commissioned by the United States Government keeper of the U. S. Arsenal at Bangor. In 1848 he was elected Worshipful Master of Rising Virtue Lodge, of Bangor, and in 1851 was appointed District Deputy Grand Master. Armed with authority from the Grand Master, he instituted many new lodges, and appointed officers and installed elected ones. In 1849 he was elected a member of Mt. Moriah Chapter, and in 1853 received his Knight Templar degrees from St. John's Commandery at Bangor. He held for four years the position of Prelate, considered one of the finest working positions in the Commandery.

In 1857 Mr. Morse removed to Plainfield, and in 1865 affiliated with Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, of that city. He has resided in Plainfield ever since. The members of Jerusalem are proud of him, not only on account of his veneration, but also because of his sterling worth. To the enterprise of Mr. Morse Jerusalem owes its elegant hall, and it was through his instrumentality that the late Henry G. Latimer bequeathed to the Lodge a valuable Midway organ.

Mr. Morse is beyond question the most renowned Mason in the State. At all big gatherings of the order he is accorded the highest honors, even greater than those given to the Grand officers. He now holds the office of District Deputy Grand Master.

The veteran Mason is very benevolent in appearance. His hair is a soft gray, and his side-whiskers are of the same color, until at the cheek-bones they merge into a jet black. He is still robust of frame and firm of step, and walks freely about the streets every pleasant day.

At his birth Mr. Morse weighed but two pounds and a half, and at the age of ten days had developed full-fledged measles, that left him deaf. In the course of his life he had two narrow escapes from violent death. The first was his terrible fall, when several ribs were broken, an arm was fractured, a leg was put out of joint, and the scalp was stripped from his skull. Good surgery prevented bad scars. At another time he was whirled about a whirling shafting, and only the utmost self-possession and superhuman physical exertion saved his life.

Mr. Morse is the father of four children. He has a daughter in the west, and resides with the other Mrs. William A. Freeman; his sons are William G. Morse, a well-known Plainfield architect, and George L. Morse, a Brooklyn architect, of wide-appeal fame. Among the many big buildings that George Morse has designed and built is the new home of the Brooklyn Daily Eagle.

Mr. Morse was himself the designer and builder of many substantial brick and stone blocks and public buildings in the Nutmeg State.

Mr. Morse has an honest disapproval of physicians, and thinks that the human race is prone to over-doctoring. He attributes his good health and longevity to his avoidance of unnecessary medicine-taking, his shunning altogether the use of tobacco, and his leaving strong drink entirely alone.

His Masonic and other friends hope that he may complete his century in as good health and happy spirits as his present condition indicates.

Cut an Artery in His Head. A singular and serious accident is reported from Dunellen. While the seventeen-months-old son of Walter Vilet was playing on the back porch, a large two-inch chisel fell from the top of a closet, striking the child on the top of the head and glancing to the left side. An artery was severed, and the child bled nearly to death before medical aid could be secured. Dr. Champney is attending the case, and hopes for a full recovery.

ALL JOIN IN ITS ERECTION!

The Soldiers Monument Should be Built by Contributions From Every Inhabitant of Plainfield, Old and Young.

Three thousand circulars like the following have been mailed to citizens of Plainfield and the borough. Let everybody give something, as much as he or she can afford, no matter how small. Each can then feel a personal pride in the monument when completed, and the city will receive honor therefor.

It is proposed to erect in this city a monument to commemorate the victories of the armies of the United States during the late Civil War, and especially to commemorate the patriotism and valor of New Jersey soldiers and sailors; and to this end a corporation has been formed, pursuant to the laws of New Jersey, known as "The Soldiers' Monument Association of Plainfield, New Jersey."

Plainfield and its neighborhood sent to the war for the maintenance of the Union many gallant men. Of these some were killed in battle and others died of wounds and of sickness growing out of hardship and exposure. All were found faithful in the hour of trial.

In nearly every State that sent soldiers and sailors to conquer the great rebellion, the gratitude and patriotism of its citizens have erected monuments to commemorate the worth and bravery of the Country's defenders. In this respect New Jersey has hardly kept pace with her sister States, and Plainfield has not yet set up her memorial stone. The present monument is a suitable one for the accomplishment of this object. A model or plan of the proposed monument has, after much careful consideration, been adopted; the best possible site has been secured for it, namely, the triangular plot opposite the Crescent Avenue church; and the Association is now ready to receive subscriptions needed for the purpose. Representatives of the two Grand Army Posts (Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, and Major Anderson Post, No. 109) and the officers and directors of the Association, all of whom are named below, are officially and fraternally co-operating to this end. The fund raised will be kept separate from all others and will be sacredly devoted to the purpose of erecting the proposed monument. Subscription papers will be circulated by the directors of the Association and by the Grand Army Posts. All remittances should be made to J. E. Stewart, Treasurer of the Association, 96 West Seventh street, Plainfield, N. J.

Please do not lay aside this statement and appeal without making at least a small contribution to the Monument Fund. Let the memory of the brave be cherished and let a granite shaft rise to keep alive in the thoughts of our children's children, the granite-like, sturdy and successful defense of our Nation's integrity, made by those who have gone before and by those who are now so fast passing away.

The Rev. Charles B. Mitchell announces that he will tell his congregation to-morrow evening something about the "Peculiarities of Methodism."

One of the features of the entertainment to be given by Holy Cross church choir next Wednesday evening, will be a new, original force by George Taggart, whose former piece, "A Howling Success," made such a hit at its several performances last fall. The name of the play is as yet a secret, but those who will assist in the performance are Howard, Will and Tiffany Spencer and William Holmes, and it is promised that the new force will be full of the same quaint humor and bright acting that marked its predecessor.

Plainfield's Amateurs Against Somerville's. The base-ball team of the Plainfield Bicycle Club is to go to Somerville, Decoration Day, to play against the West End amateurs. Good sport is promised.

The game will be called at about 10:30. The admission will be only 10 cents, and the Somerville papers say that the game will certainly be a more interesting one than that of two weeks ago. B. T. Conkling, the blacklisted West End, has been reinstated, and will play in this game. W. B. Parker, the camera fiend and short-stop of the Orange Athletics, will also be in the field, while Manager Mack will endeavor to hold down the first bag, and strike terror to the Plainfield pitcher.

The rest of the Somerville team will be Decker, McFarlan, Carbonell, McKurtzy, Major, Davenport and Freelinghuysen. All of the players will be genuinely amateurs, and there will be none from out of town. The B. C. Club team will be the same that has been playing such good ball this season.

IN MEMORIAM.

At a recent meeting, the following memorials were presented and adopted by the Plainfield Woman's Christian Temperance Union:

MRS. GEORGE H. BABCOCK.

At this, the first assembling of our Woman's Christian Temperance Union, since the removal from our circle, by death, of Mrs. George H. Babcock—one of its representative officers—the bush of a great sorrow hovers over us all. Under the shadow of this bereavement with heavy hearts, we humbly bow to the chastening rod of our Heavenly Father.

It is difficult to measure in words the loss our union has sustained in the departure of one whose loving heart was full of our work, at home or abroad, in illness or in health, her bright and active mind was constantly planning to promote our prosperity, and we realize how inadequately any words of ours can express our appreciation of her earnest and sincere interest, but to those in the home, who would extend our heart sympathy, commending both husband and child to the merciful care and protection of our kind Heavenly Father, and to the rich consolation which He alone can bestow, trusting that the Home beyond, to which He has taken her, may look brighter to us all, because she is waiting there.

ELLA TAYLOR.

Oh, the sad, sad hours, which, gathered here, must to-day realize that the Angel of Death stands knocking just outside our doors, calling us who are still spared, to bid good-bye to one after another of those whom we have known and loved in this Christian Temperance Union, whose white-ribbon links have bound us so tenderly together as workers in the Master's vineyard. Our unshaken tears and throbbing hearts bespeak the loving sympathy we untidily extend to the mother and our sister whose home has been made so desolate. This new touch of sorrow has carried her beyond the reach of any earthly comfort that words of ours can give, to the shelter of the Everlasting Arms which enfold her, and to the whisper of an Easter joy in the morning re-union with her loved ones by and by.

But comes there not to us to-day a solemn message, as we remember the child whose enthusiastic devotion to her class in our Loyal Legion, and the unvarying cheerfulness of whose sweet face were so encouraging to us in our oftentimes wearying efforts—a message and a warning, to be up and doing while the day lasts. As for the older ones among us, the years are slipping by, and there may be but "one more day's work for Jesus" ere we too may be summoned home.

An Expensive Suit for the Scheming Hired Man.

The Newark Evening News of Thursday evening said:

"John F. Dryden, the well-known president of the Prudential Insurance Company of Newark, Wednesday gained a final and complete victory in the suit brought against him about two years ago while he was residing at his country house near Plainfield. The suit was brought for wages alleged to be due the wife of the defendant's hired man. Mr. Dryden characterized the suit as an outrageous attempt to extort money from him, and declared his intention of carrying it to the court of last resort if necessary.

"There have been five different trials or arguments, and yesterday the Appellate Court at New Brunswick, without leaving the bench, gave judgment in Mr. Dryden's favor, declaring the plaintiff had no cause for action and ordering plaintiff to pay all costs of suit. The time spent by Mr. Dryden in fighting the case was worth to him many times the amount demanded of him as the price of peace, but he has shown that if the plaintiff took him for a peace-at-any-price man, he made a slight miscalculation.

"Craig A. Marsh, of Plainfield, appeared for Mr. Dryden, and one Somerville lawyer and two New Brunswick lawyers represented the plaintiff."

The name of the hired man was Cronin, who is out of pocket $250 by his litigation. The scheme was to extort money from Mr. Dryden for service alleged to have been rendered by the defendant's wife, but it was proved that the services of the wife were never engaged, and had the use, rent free, of the gardener's cottage on Mr. Dryden's fine country-seat near New Market, in return for his care of the place. After he had been paid off and dismissed he put in his wife's claim, doubtless thinking that Mr. Dryden would pay the bill, unjust though it was, rather than suffer the annoyance of a fight in the courts. But Mr. Dryden got Counselor Marsh to do his fighting, and so of course he won."

The first trial of the case was at Dunellen; the jury disagreed. The case was next tried without a jury, and the verdict was against Cronin. The beaten man appealed, however, and after repeated argument on the law and merits of the case final decision was rendered as announced.

Washingtonville Notes.

John Kengar has sold his place to a party of capitalists who contemplate the immediate erection of a large boarding house. The price paid was $2,500.

David D. Smalley, Jr., has sold his farm to a party from New York, for $3,500.

John Koch's horse ran away in the woods yesterday, completely wrecking the cart to which it was attached. It ran with the shafts as far as Jackson avenue, North Plainfield, a distance of two miles, before he was caught. Mr. Koch says the only way to break a runaway horse is to kill him before he kills some one else.

Aaron Jimeson has sold his place to a Mr. Vieble of Newark. The valley will lose in Mr. Jimeson one of its most respected citizens, a good neighbor and kind friend.

I have used Dr. Deane's Dyspepsia Pills for Dyspepsia, &c., and have been cured by them. I cheerfully recommend them to all who suffer from the same.

Base-Ball Talk in Somerville.

To-day the West Ends are to play against the Seton Hall, "and"—remarks the Somerville Democrat—"they certainly ought to win this game. If they do not there is no use in keeping the team together. What will Plainfield people think seeing us lose such games, and with the team we are supposed to have! The team must take a brace somehow, or on the 13th of June, with the Crescents, we will meet the enemy and still be theists. With such playing those base-ball tossers from that city called the 'Colorado of the East,' can win all six games, and then where will be the shouts of victory so loudly shouted in the camp of the West Ends last summer! It is now only three weeks before the first game will be played, and unless our boys get in some team work they will be ingloriously beaten on their own grounds. The Plainfield papers, and especially The Press, have been more than kind in their treatment of our games this season, saying nothing that has been unfair or unkind, when they have had the best chance ever offered in the history of base-ball, but we can scarcely expect them, like the babbling brook, to go on this way forever, and unless something happens right away we will be held up to the ridicule of all Plainfield people, besides playing to empty benches. Let Manager Mack and his star aggregation take a brace."

A Flagman's Anniversary.

W. M. Stamets, the gateman at the Broad street railroad crossing, Westfield, celebrated, last Wednesday, his seventeenth anniversary as flagman for the New Jersey Central Railroad Company. He has been stationed at Annandale, Glen Gardner and Fanwood on this line, and on July 1 will have been in his present position eight years. He has during these years suffered at times from an injury received in a wreck at Lebanon, Hunterdon county, years ago, yet he says that after all he has been absent from his post only eleven days, and during the eight years that he has been at Westfield he has been on duty every Sunday but three. During three years he made 365 days in the hours of duty for flagmen on crossings on this division are 14 hours on week days and 13 hours on Sundays.

A New Brewing Company.

The New Jersey and San Domingo Brewing Company filed articles of incorporation at the Union County Clerk's office, Elizabeth, yesterday. The incorporators are S. Roseno and Theodore Kruger of Canal street, New York, John Bohrsen of Jersey City, Jacob Zahn of Rutherford, and Theodore Benekke of Elizabeth. The company's capital is $100,000. It will transact business in the counties of Union, Middlesex, and Hudson, the city of New York, and the republic of San Domingo.

Union County Teachers' Examination.

According to the rules of the State Board of Education, the regular spring examination is held the last Friday and Saturday of May. As, however, the last Saturday of May this year coincides with Decoration Day, which is a legal holiday, the examination will be held Friday and Saturday, June 5 and 6, at the usual place, the High school in Westfield. It will be for all grades of certificate.

Last Sunday afternoon a wagon loaded with bags of oats appeared on Broad street driven by a heavy team of horses. The driver, instead of attending to his business, lay on top of the oats dead drunk. Mr. Marsh followed the outfit as far as the railroad, and section foreman Probasco then went with the man to his home in South Plainfield.—Westfield Standard.

Funeral of Mrs. Carberry.

The funeral of Eliza A. Carberry, wife of J. B. Carberry, a prominent member of the New York Produce Exchange, was held at her late residence in Westfield yesterday afternoon. Many members of the Produce Exchange were present. Mrs. Carberry died suddenly Wednesday. She was the daughter of the late Rowland Fearnsall of Monroe, N. Y.

A Query Answered.

"Where will we go for the summer?" is again the popular query. There is but one place for Plainfielders to go for the very best of everything in the jewelry line, and that is Collier's, No. 3 Park avenue. Satisfaction is a sure outcome to every one who invests at this reliable establishment.

Will Fred Marsh and W. E. Wilson Be Elizabeth's Battery?

A highly interesting battle on the base-ball field is being arranged for, to take place within a few days. The nines will be composed of the legal talent of Elizabeth and Plainfield, and the trial of skill will take place in this city.

A Base-Ball Yelp from Mt. Ararat.

We understand that the Plainfield Crescents' heads are swelling again. Well, Westfield is right in it this year—and the Crescents will not be able to scratch a victory from us as they did last year. We thirst for gore!

"Bull-dose-ing" is at present going on at such a rate in this community that our dealer is hardly able to keep up a supply of Dr. Bull's popular and excellent Cough Syrup. New Holland, Pa. Chloron.

You would not believe it but now you know that Salvation Oil is the best liniment 25 cts.

Good Reading for Little Expense.

There has been a very important discovery made in European schools, and that is that boys who are taught to be kind to all lower creatures become a good deal better fellows. They become not only kinder to the lower animals, but kinder to each other, kinder to the little fellows, kinder to everybody, and everything that needs protection. One English school makes its boast that out of about 7,000 boys that have been sent out, carefully taught to be kind to animals, not one has ever been convicted of any crime. Out of 2,000 convicts in our prisons, inquired of a few years ago, it was found that only twelve ever had any pet animal in their childhood.—George T. Angell, in Our Dumb Animals.

Persons wishing a bound volume of Our Dumb Animals for a public library, reading room, or the public room of a large hotel, can send seventeen cents in postage stamps, to pay postage, and will receive the volume. Persons wishing it for gratuitous distribution can send five cents for postage, and receive ten copies, or ten cents and receive twenty copies.

A Story of Phillips Brooks.

The Springfield Union tells the following as a new story of Phillips Brooks: One day recently, so the story goes, a little boy went to see the great preacher and tried to sell him some kittens. But Dr. Brooks had no need or desire for such things and told the boy so. But the young salesman was persistent and said: "They are good Episcopal kittens," but even this fact could not make the sale. The next day Dr. Brooks called at a Unitarian friend's house and again met the young tradesman trying to dispose of the little pets, and in urging his case he said: "They are good Unitarian kittens."

"How is this?" asked Dr. Brooks; "yesterday you said they were Episcopal kittens, and to-day you say they are Unitarian."

"But they are different to-day," said the boy, "because they have got their eyes open."

Dr. Brooks did not pursue the conversation.
