All Plainfield is going.

The funniest of all comedies, Mrs. B. Pacheco's "Innocent," will be presented in Music Hall Saturday night. This play has met with the greatest possible success, and public enthusiasm has been unprecedented and unanimous—its great merit calling forth the best of its bright, witty lines and humorous situations. The plot is ingenious.

Smackshot tells from Grace.

Edward Edwards of Longstockham fame, went to Elizabeth for a stay of a month in the County Jail today. He could have obtained his freedom by paying a $5 fine, but he spent all his money getting drunk. He had been paid for work by the gas company just before his spree began. He was covered with paint when he went away.

CHURCH CHIMES.

Mrs. Bond will speak in Hope Chapel, West Fourth street, near Plainfield avenue, tonight at 7. This will be her last address in Plainfield, as she sails soon for Macedonia.

A Big Contract.

M. Powers & Son have been awarded contract to lay 2500 feet of blue stone flagging and curb on LaGrande avenue from Richmond street to Berkmans.

This will be a great public improvement. Messrs. Powers secured the contract in face of much able competition. The firm does splendid work, and its prices are right.

Shiloh's Cure, the great cough and croup cure, is in great demand. Pocket size contains 25 doses, only 25c. Children love it. Sold by Horley Barker, Front and Grove streets, Plainfield, N. J.

Karl's Cough Cure will purify your blood, clear your complexion, regulate your bowels and make your head clear as a bell. 25c. 50c. and $1. Sold by Horley Barker, Front and Grove streets, Plainfield, N. J.

$75,000 IN HAND.

The City Holds It in Trust as Evidence of Sewerage Bidders' Good Faith.

The sewerage agitation has brought over $75,000 in contributions of $1,000 each to the office of City Clerk MacMurray. The money is in certified checks made payable to the city, but the authorities will not be able to use it to start the sewers with. None of the checks will bring any advantage to the sewer except one, for they all come from contractors who send them as evidence of their good faith in bidding on the job.

These 75 contractors are scattered all over the eastern States. A week remains in which others may send in estimates. As each of the bidders investigates thoroughly the situation, the bidders are making money carrying the inspecting representatives about the city.

The drivers are beginning to study Plainfield's soil and the science of excavating and laying pipes. They are called upon to tell about the cost of sand, water, brick, lime and labor and for reports on soil distribution and street grades. The digging on LaGrande avenue where the commissioner is grading the street is always inspected, usually in connection with a trip to I. Boehm's deep cellar.

The contractors talk very fairly on the local labor question. When shown a copy of the councilman's resolution recommending the employment of Plainfield people they generally show their willingness to at least give the men here a good trial. They express no love for Italians. The estimates coming from so many men, the Sewer Committee think that the work will be done for a very reasonable price.

NO INDICTMENT.

The Miles Case is Settled After a Confab of the Lawyers.

There is little prospect now that the indictment which the Grand Jury found against Millionaire William Miles, alleging perjury, will be filed.

The complaint was made to the Grand Jury against Miles by his nephew, William S. Hurley, of Brooklyn. Charges of forgery were also made by young Hurley against his uncle.

Miles's counsel, ex-Judge Noah Davis, called upon District Attorney Fellows Saturday and requested him to secure from Foreman Stearns, of the Grand Jury, permission for Mr. Miles to appear before that body and be heard. This was allowed, and Mr. Miles was to have gone before the Grand Jury yesterday. He did not appear, however. Ex-Judge Davis, instead, sent a note to Acting District Attorney McIntyre stating that the difference between uncle and nephew had been amicably adjusted. Mr. Hurley called at the District Attorney's office later and confirmed this report, so Mr. McIntyre says. The latter stated last night: "There was a conference in the office of Daniel G. Rollins, counsel for Mr. Hurley, between Mr. Hurley and ex-Judge Davis Monday afternoon, and Mr. Davis, representing Mr. Miles, retracted the statements made which were offensive to Hurley. That is all I know of the matter."

DEATHS AT A FIRE.

Two Men Burned to Death, and a Third Killed by Jumping.

New York, Aug. 29.—Two unrecognizable men were burned to death in a fire which broke out in the five-story brick tenement 226 Livingston street at an early hour this morning, and a boy who leaped from the fourth story was carried lifeless to the police-station. In his fall he struck three firemen who were climbing to his aid, and all went to the ground in a heap. Two were uninjured, but the third man, Monday Collins of Engine Company No. 14, who was highest up, was removed to Gouverneur Hospital, suffering from severe contusions of the chest.

DEATH OF PAMILCO.

A Fine Trotting Stallion Lost to the Tart.

Hartford, Conn., Aug. 29.—Pamlico, one of the greatest race stallions on the Grand circuit, died suddenly at Charter Oak Park this morning. He was taken ill with congestive chills yesterday, and in spite of every effort to save him he died. Pamlico had a record of 2:10.

HORSE FORSAKEN FOR BAR PONIES.

This Rural Visitor Cared More for His Own Entertainment Than That of His Patient Host.

Wealthy William Hatfield of Two Bridges, collector of Passawau Township, drove to town yesterday with a black horse hitched to a light wagon. At 3 in the afternoon he tied the horse on Park avenue near Nash's and went away. Eight hours later the rig was still in the street. The horse had not been cared for. Policeman Fredericksen found Hatfield on North avenue, too drunk to realize the advantage of driving off without making a disturbance. The policeman took him to the lockup. Special Policeman Robinson drove the rig to Robert's stable.

In the City Court this morning Hatfield appeared before Judge Oodington in quite a different state from that in which he was when arrested. He was given a choice between paying $5 and staying in Elizabeth for 30 days and of course took the financial punishment.

SUIT OVER A NOTE.

Signers Endeavoring to Escape Payment.

Judgment was lately entered in the New Jersey Supreme Court against William Hewson and Charles J. Noel at the suit of Frank E. Woodruff on a note made May 6, 1889, by William Hewson in favor of Charles J. Noel for $300, payable three months after date. The note was placed by Mr. Noel in the hands of William A. Woodruff for discounting, and by him placed in the hands of his son, Frank E. Woodruff, who brought suit against the defendants, Hewson and Noel, for the face value of the note, with interests and costs, the total aggregating about $400.

Today on application of Hance & Fowler, attorneys for defendants, Judge Vansyckel granted a rule to show cause why judgment lately entered should not be opened.

The claim of the defendants is that they never realized on the note.

The Boy's Friends Say It's Blackmail.

Nothing further has been done in the case of young George Mattia, who is accused by Charles Perrine of ill-treating his daughter, Clara Conger. The friends of the boy say that the threats of bringing the matter into court are made with the aim of levying blackmail.

A letter sent to a New York newspaper from South Amboy yesterday accused another Plainfield boy of being an accomplice of Mattia. The letter was discredited, and was not published.

Perrine is a detective employed by the Lehigh Valley Railroad, and Mattia's friends think that the "lawyers" who came to town Monday were friends who offered to assist the stepfather. Queries as to the financial standing of the families of the two boys were made by them during their stay in Plainfield.

Young Mattia did not go to work today. He is said to be still in Plainfield.

CYCLING COMMENT.

A number of wheelmen have been caught riding on the sidewalk in Evrona. Sixteen were arrested Sunday, and three Monday.

A bicyclist and a sulky collided on Park avenue in front of Justice Nash's office last evening at 8:30. No serious damage resulted.

Monte Scott abstains from riding much this week because of having sprained one of his knees slightly while racing in Scranton. He rode in Trenton Saturday, but will wait without working for the road race of Monday.

There is a feature of cycling more important to the general public than mere speed, and that is touring. For the development of this feature good roads are necessary, and that is why the great army of wheelmen is enlisted in the work of road improvement. The proceeds of the Asbury Park meeting will go to this good cause.

The greatest bicycle meeting of the season in the East will begin at Asbury Park tomorrow and continue till Saturday. The meeting is held in the interest of the good-roads movement, and nearly every prominent rider has entered for the races. The cracks of Class B, who have brought the bicycle to a degree of speed that rivals that of the greatest of the trotters and pacers of the turf, will be out in force to illustrate what the wheel is capable of.

—A young workman returning home from Scott's Press Works fell in a fit on the corner of Arlington avenue and Fourth street at 6:15 last evening. He was attended to by men who were at hand, and soon recovered. He was able to go alone to his home in the West End.

A VERY PRETTY STORY.

The Mischief Done and Undone by a Baby that Loved Gold.

Here is a rather pretty story which is touched for by a London journal, showing how a small baby once got his mother into serious difficulties, and then made amends by getting her out of them again. It seems that a little seamstress with a child in her arms was tried for the theft of three gold coins. She said in defense: "I went to my employer's house on business. I carried my child in my arms as it is now. I was not paying attention to it. There were several gold coins on the mantelpiece, and, unknown to me, it stretched out its little hand and seized three pieces, which I did not observe until I got home. I at once put on my bonnet and was going back to my employer to return them, when I was arrested. This is the solemn truth, as I hope for Heaven's mercy."

The court could not believe this story. They upbraided the mother for her impudence in endeavoring to palm off such a falsehood for the truth. But she so pertinaciously asserted her innocence that a novel experiment was made in her favor. One of the officials proposed to renew the scene described by the mother. The gold coins were placed on the clerk's table. The mother was requested to resume the position in which she stood at her employer's house. There was then a breathless pause in court. The baby soon discovered the bright coins, eyed them for a moment, smiled, and then clutched them in its fingers with a miser's eagerness. The mother was at once acquitted.

THE CAPITAL CITY.

CURRENT NEWS AND GOSSIP HEARD IN WASHINGTON.

Senator Sherman's Home, Fortune and Ambition. The Unlucky Russian Mission. Few Congressmen have been Diplomats. About Lieut. Schwatka.

Among the many statesmen who at the capital, the owners of which are members of Congress, the residence of Senator John Sherman is conspicuous. Some reckless gossamers have said that his new white house in Franklin square cost a million of dollars, which, of course, it did not, but probably it did cost a hundred thousand. It is very beautiful, and the Senator and his wife and an adopted daughter live there. The million or more that John Sherman accumulated here has made in Washington real estate chiefly; and, for a sagacious man with money, real estate here has offered many opportunities for profitable speculation.

Senator Sherman is said to have given up the idea of ever being President, believing that he is too old to endure the strain, but if a nomination came to him he would hardly refuse. The Senator says he has received his warning that he must husband his physical and mental resources, yet his step is spry and his tongue, too, for when he does talk in the Senate, his knowledge, no matter what the subject, seems to be superior to that of almost any other man upon the floor. The Senator, though, does not work so hard as formerly. He is making things easier for himself.

The recent resignation of Andrew D. White, Minister to Russia, recalls the fact that no one of his predecessors among them since Calhoun of Pennsylvania ever completed his term of office. Mr. White followed an invariable precedent when he resigned after two years of service. For some reason the Russian Empire has always been spoken of as an "unlucky" mission. Every man who has held it has died in office or resigned. For many years it was considered almost a certainty of the State of Pennsylvania, but it has been held by men from the South and from the New England States. It will not surprise anyone if Mr. Brockington leaves St. Petersburg even sooner than Mr. White has done. Mr. Brockington is notoriously a poor man; and Mr. Cleveland did him a doubtful kindness when he appointed him to a mission which pays only $17,500 a year in one of the most expensive capitals of Europe. So it will not surprise the friends of the administration if he resigns in the first year of his service.

It is an astonishing fact that there are in the House to-day only three men who have been appointed to diplomatic positions in the Senate there are none. In the early history of Congress it was a common thing for a member of the Senate or the House to resign his place to accept a diplomatic appointment, and, returning from his post, to become again a candidate for Congress. It was usual in those days to find diplomatic missions in Congress. It is becoming less and less a custom of the President of the United States to appoint to high office men who are holding places in Congress.

The recommendation by the Senate Committee on Pensions that Mrs. Ada J. Schwatka, widow of Lieutenant Frederick Schwatka, be given a pension of $30 a month, was just spoken of by Thomas A. Mackham of Chicago in the Senate. "I knew Schwatka very well. He was one of the most jovial, whole-souled fellows I ever met. He saw hard service in India, Canada, in Wyoming, Nebraska, and Dakota in the seventies, but his reputation dates from the time when he took charge of the expedition to the Arctic North to search for relics of Sir John Franklin's expedition. He cleared up the mystery of the loss of that famous expedition, made a sledge journey of over 8,000 miles, and discovered a river which was named for President Hayes. Subsequent explorations in Alaska gave him additional fame. He afterward took to drink, and separated from his family, but after taking a course for discipline he gave up the bottle and became a total abstainer."

The breezy Post, that hits where it will in both parties, tells this story concerning an event that politicians will not soon forget.

With the echo of his masterly ringing of the bells of his colleagues, Senator Bill walked into the cloak-room and dropped into an easy chair to chat with Senator Smith. Presently a page appeared, carrying a note enclosed in a large square envelope addressed to Senator Hill.

"Ah," said Mr. Smith, with a tone of inquiry, "an invitation to dine with the President to-night?"

Senator Hill looked up from the note with a twinkle in his eye. "Not at this stage of the game," said he.

A few weeks ago a wild and lurid book was let loose upon Washington with the blasphemous title, "If Christ Came to Congress." It was a general kind of book one would expect from the title. As no one is paid to read it, the book is not likely to have a wide circulation.

James Tomerory's Prison Life.

James Tomerory, once known as the boy murderer, who was sent to the Massachusetts State Prison for life, is now a man of forty. He is not allowed to see any one but his keeper; the front of his cell is blocked by a granite wall cutting off all view. He has read and re-read the prison library, and with the aid of the keeper has acquired three languages and has a comprehensive knowledge of law. He has written a book on a wall eye and looks the monster that he is.

The Centre of England.

An oak tree which stands in the middle of the high road leading from Leamington to Warwick is said to mark the centre of England. How long ago it was planted is not known, except by computation of its girth, which is about 12 feet, and shows the tree to be between 300 and 400 years old. Tradition has warranty for the importance it gives to this ancient tree. The hole would be cut in two by straight lines drawn from Berric-o'-Treest to Southampton; Carlisle to Salewa Hill, Birmmhead to Easthorn, Holyhead to Deal, St. David's Head to Lowestoft, Land's End to Ingoldmell's Point, Devonport to Saltfleet, Hildport to Hornsea, Portland Bill to Scarborough, Bourne-mout to Saltburn, the Needles to Sunderland, Brighton to Lytham, Hastings to the mouth of the Dea, Greenwich to Abinger, Herts to Conwy, Dover to Bangor, and Harwich to Aberdyff. These are all places on or near the coast, and they do not exhaust the list.

Librarian Spofford's Immortals.

Mr. Spofford, the Librarian of Congress, has selected twenty-five authors, artists and philosophers whose statues will be placed in the new building. Greece, Rome, Italy, England, Germany and all of the United States, are represented. Not a single French or Spanish name is on his list. Surely Moliere and Cervantes are not forgotten. Mr. Spofford modestly said that he expected a great deal of criticism. He chose the list of prophesy in better than his discrimination.—Sun.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give $100 for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Sulfur Ointment. Send for circulars, free.
