NEW EVIDENCE

Of Dr. Lighthill's Success.

A Flattering Testimonial From Col. John Dietrich, One of Plainfield's Oldest and Best Known Residents.

I am profoundly grateful to Dr. Lighthill for this speedy and radical cure of a most painful malady of over ten years standing.

I cheerfully impart any information I possess when called upon.

A HAPPY EXPERIENCE.

The Interesting Testimony of Mr. W. E. Dilts, the Popular Passenger Conductor of the N. J. Central.

I take pleasure in calling public attention to the remarkable cure which Dr. Lighthill effected in my case.

Many stories reached America about quarrels on board the yacht. These, it is said, were principally caused by Mrs. Vanderbilt's attempt to dictate to the party how they should behave on all occasions.

Hearing of a number of cures which Dr. Lighthill effected in similar cases, I placed myself under this care, and I rejoice to say he effected a complete cure in my case and gave me new life in doing so.

I certify with pleasure that Dr. Lighthill has effectively cured me of a most painful case of piles.

W. E. DILTS.

A Card from Mr. T. R. VanZandt, Of No. 304 and 306 Park Ave., Plainfield, N. J.

I certify with pleasure that Dr. Lighthill has effectively cured me of a most painful case of piles.

T. R. VANZANDT, 304 and 306 Park Avenue.

Dr. Lighthill

TROUBLE IN HIGH LIFE

Rumor of a Display of a Vanderbilt Skeleton.

A Parisian Beauty Who Is Said To Have Brought Trouble Into the Family of William K. Vanderbilt.

New York, Aug. 29.—The rumor that Mrs. and Mr. William K. Vanderbilt may, by an open suit for divorce, trot out in full view of the curious public the skeleton that report has had it they have hidden for some time has caused needless tongue-wagging on this side of the water.

The report from Paris is that Mrs. Vanderbilt is determined to bring suit against her millionaire husband, and in this connection the name of Nellie Neustretta, a well known Parisian beauty, is mentioned.

It is also stated that Vanderbilt is willing to have a separation, but is not inclined to agree to the terms mentioned by Mrs. Vanderbilt.

After the wreck of the Alva at Newport Mr. Vanderbilt had his present yacht, the Vallant, built in England.

When at last the cruise broke up suddenly without any plausible reason being given, the tongues of all the exclusive sets on this side of the water.

Mrs. Vanderbilt then went to Paris where a house had been bought for her. It was a perfect palace, but did not suit Mrs. Vanderbilt's fastidious tastes, and she ordered extensive alterations.

5,000 SMITHS MEET

Annual Reunion of Persons Who Bear That Name.

Unique Gathering of the Descendants of the Original Hollander in Old Peter Smith's Apple Orchard at Peapack, N. J.—Many Outlanders Attracted by the Affair.

Somerville, N. J., Aug. 29.—Old Peter S. Smith's apple orchard at Peapack, N. J., was crowded yesterday by about 5,000 persons who bear the name of Smith, the occasion being the nineteenth annual reunion of the Smith family of this section.

There were Smiths of all ages and descriptions and the gathering was a most interesting one.

President Isaiah Smith presided at the reunion. He holds the office of president for the reason that he resides in the old Smith homestead, which was first inhabited by the original Peter Smith, who came over from Holland in 1600.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon Rev. Dr. Everts made an address to the Smith family and later a band concert was given.

The vicinity was alive with flocks who were strung along the country roads leading to the Smith grove peddling their wares to the rustics who bore the honored name of Smith.

There were also hundreds of visitors from the city who came out of curiosity to witness the unique affair.

New York Custom House. Rush Not So Great as When the McKinley Law Went into Effect.

New York, Aug. 29.—To-day is another day of rush at the custom house and the volume of business is so great that it will take hours of extra work and many additional men to handle it.

It is not, however, abnormally large for the early days of the new tariff and the total receipts for to-day and yesterday did not amount to as much as they did on the day the McKinley law became a law.

The total receipts from customs at this port yesterday were $465,103; on the day before they were $512,244, while on the day before that they were $500,000.

Withdrawals at Baltimore. Despite the Large Rate of Duty Receipts Largely Increased.

Baltimore, Aug. 29.—Withdrawals at the custom house here have been very large during the past two days, the increase in receipts, notwithstanding the lower rates of duty, being $1,000,000.

SLEEPY GRASS OF NEW MEXICO. After Eating It Horses, Cattle and Sheep Are Overcome by Sleep.

Over in Lincoln county, in this territory, there is a peculiar kind of grass known as sleepy grass. It has the property of putting to sleep any animal that eats of it.

The discovery of sleepy grass was made in the progress made by those already in the territory. Stockmen and others noticed that animals would sometimes stand motionless for an hour or two at a time.

The discovery of sleepy grass was made in the progress made by those already in the territory. Stockmen and others noticed that animals would sometimes stand motionless for an hour or two at a time.

It was in one of these fertile places, a very rich basin in the desert, that the discovery of sleepy grass was made. The party halted about noon for luncheon and the team was unhitched and placed out to graze for an hour or so.

The horses commenced eating with a will, for they were hungry and the grass was very succulent.

Richard McGuy, of Onevyle, R. I. who recently successfully conducted a big strike in that state, will come here and advise the local labor leaders in the present difficulty.

WILSON SCORES TRUSTS

Speech Accepting Renomination to Congress.

The Power of Money in Making Laws Must Be Stopped by Democrats—A Better Tariff Will Not Be Secured—The Present Measure a Step in the Right Direction.

Martinburg, W. Va., Aug. 29.—The democratic congressional nominating convention for the second district met here for the purpose of renominating Hon. William L. Wilson.

"I am more deeply moved by your action to-day than I have ever been before. The action comes in such a way as to stamp with your approval the services which your representative was called upon to render for the supremacy of democratic principles.

The American people with a duty—to wrest from the grasp of private and selfish hands the power of federal taxation.

"I have never faltered in the belief that you, my friends, were reformers without reservation. I knew that the democrats of West Virginia were not protectionists for West Virginia and reformers and free traders for other states.

"I need not recite to you the successive steps, the material and baneful alterations through which the House bill quietly passed into a law, without the signature of the president.

"You know by what influences this was brought about. The country knows and history will know where to put the responsibility for the partial failure to dislodge the great privilege interest from our tariff. I am not sure that this very failure may not be a harbinger and assurance of the speedier and more complete triumph of commercial freedom than the smooth and unobtrusive passage of the house bill would have been.

"The American people are aroused as hardly anything else could have aroused them. The demand for protection begets to the purity and very existence of free government. They have a single great trust empowered by our tariff laws to control the production and sale of a necessity of life, parceling out the country with its partners, and using its power to dole out a few dollars to the best efforts of the people to reduce their own taxation.

"But the new bill carries in it substantial relief to the American people, and must be accepted as a substantial beginning of tariff reform. It means cheaper clothing, cheaper tools, cheaper pottery and many other necessities for the people. It means a larger commerce with these nations that buy our farm products and consequently larger and better markets for our farmers.

DEADLIEST OF POISONS

Shophathalin from an African Plant, as a Deadly Poison.

To the best of our knowledge the most deadly poison is that which was discovered by Prof. Frazer, of Edinburgh, Scotland, and known as shophathalin. It is separated from the African poison plant, shophathalin, by means of ether and alcohol.

As little as a one-thousandth of an ounce of crystallized shophathalin produces a distinctly injurious effect upon the heart, and a very small quantity is fatal. Another deadly poison is cyanogen gas, the principal ingredients of hydrocyanic or prussic acid. Its ordinary temperature it is simply a gas, but can be condensed by cold and pressure into a thin, colorless liquid and becomes a solid at 20 degrees Fahrenheit. The inhalation in its gaseous state of a few minutes' duration would produce instant death. One of the most deadly poisons is arsenic, which is formed by decomposing an alloy of arsenic and zinc with sulphuric acid. It is a colorless gas, possessing a fetid odor of garlic, and acts as a most deadly poison. Adolph Ferdinand Gehlen, a chemist born about 1778 at Butow, in Pomerania, was the discoverer of it. While experimenting with it at Munich, on July 15, he inhaled a single bubble of the pure gas and died in eight days from the effects. The accident occurred through his smelling at the joints of his apparatus to discover a flaw. On his engraving in chemical questions has been taken from the file of this poison in three days.—Brooklyn Eagle.

COTTLENE IS MADE TO EAT

Made from clarified oil, expressed from Cotton Seed—As pure and golden as the Southern Sunshine which produces it.

For convenience in handling, there is added to this oil enough beef suet to make it a semi-solid.

The combination of these two pure natural products makes Cottleene, a shortening and cooking fat, with which in healthfulness, cleanliness, flavor and economy, nothing in the world can compare.

IMITATIONS ARE MADE TO SELL

To sell on the merits of the genuine. To sell by substitution; or by deception. To sell to the injury of the genuine, to the detriment of the consumer, to the loss of all concerned—except the scheming counterfeiter himself.

If you wish the best food and the best health, you should insist that your cooking be done with genuine Cottleene. Refuse all counterfeits.

TINGLEYS GET TOGETHER.

Uncle John Conducts Another Great Session of the One Big Family.

There is scarcely a man, woman or child in this section of the State who does not know Uncle John Tingley of Dunellen.

Yesterday was the time set for the fourth celebration, and very early in the morning those who had planned to attend arose and prepared for the journey to the David Blackford farm.

For weeks past John Tingley, the general manager, and his faithful assistant David Blackford, have been arranging for the affair. Invitations had been sent far and wide.

As fast as the people began to arrive they were given a royal welcome and made to feel right at home.

At 12:30 dinner was announced, and nearly 300 people sat down to partake of the bountiful. All did justice to the feast before them.

At the close of the dinner, Friendship Cornet Band of New Market gathered on the lawn in front of the house, and discoursed such sweet music that the older members of the family present were filled with renewed ambition.

In a very neat speech, John Tingley introduced Rev. Frank Fletcher of New Market to the audience, and such a rousing speech as he made would have filled anyone with joy and happiness.

After more music, Rev. F. Peterson of New Market was introduced, and his remarks were listened to with intent interest.

The rest of the afternoon was given to music and sociability, and many who had not met since last reunion found plenty of old friends.

When the time for departure arrived, all gave a hearty vote of thanks, and agreed that they had experienced the happiest day of the year with the good old Tingley family.

The Tingleys present at the reunion were: John Tingley and family, of Dunellen; Ebenezer Tingley and family, Geo. Tingley and family, Lewis Tingley and family, of Brooklyn; Daniel Tingley and family, of Summit; Wm. Tingley, of North Branch; Stella Tingley and family, of South Branch; Joseph Tingley and family, of Weston.

Others present were: Charles Boles, Mrs. Walter Clawson, Wm. Giles, Aaron S. Brower and family, David Bunyon, Eugene Runyon, of Dunellen; Rev. Frank Fletcher, Rev. F. Peterson and Corrie, Foster Sotfield and family, Abner Corrie and family, Miss Mattie Moore, Isaac Titaworth, William Dunham and family, Mr. and Mrs. William Fitz Randolph, Dr. M. FAREWELL TO PLAINFIELD.

Mrs. Bond Gives Parting Message to a Hope Chapel Audience, on the Eve of Her Return to Macedonia.

Mrs. Lewis Bond, the Macedonian missionary, gave a farewell talk before sailing for her field of work next month, in Hope Chapel last evening.

The ways of the Christian churches now established in Macedonia were explained by Mrs. Bond with comments which made those present feel that a thoroughness marked the work of the eastern converts.

The audience was much interested when the speaker told of how the new converts sought to take their families from under the power of the priests.

At the close of the dinner, Friendship Cornet Band of New Market gathered on the lawn in front of the house, and discoursed such sweet music that the older members of the family present were filled with renewed ambition.

In a very neat speech, John Tingley introduced Rev. Frank Fletcher of New Market to the audience, and such a rousing speech as he made would have filled anyone with joy and happiness.

After more music, Rev. F. Peterson of New Market was introduced, and his remarks were listened to with intent interest.

The rest of the afternoon was given to music and sociability, and many who had not met since last reunion found plenty of old friends.

When the time for departure arrived, all gave a hearty vote of thanks, and agreed that they had experienced the happiest day of the year with the good old Tingley family.

The Tingleys present at the reunion were: John Tingley and family, of Dunellen; Ebenezer Tingley and family, Geo. Tingley and family, Lewis Tingley and family, of Brooklyn; Daniel Tingley and family, of Summit; Wm. Tingley, of North Branch; Stella Tingley and family, of South Branch; Joseph Tingley and family, of Weston.

Others present were: Charles Boles, Mrs. Walter Clawson, Wm. Giles, Aaron S. Brower and family, David Bunyon, Eugene Runyon, of Dunellen; Rev. Frank Fletcher, Rev. F. Peterson and Corrie, Foster Sotfield and family, Abner Corrie and family, Miss Mattie Moore, Isaac Titaworth, William Dunham and family, Mr. and Mrs. William Fitz Randolph, Dr. M. Nelson and family, Dewitt Giles and family, Nelson Giles and family, L. Squires and family, Dr. M. J. Whitford, John Richards and family, Cornelius Nyco, Z. CONSPIRACY BURGLAR.

He was so Polite that the Woman who Caught Him is Half Sorry.

Mrs. Lehman, a young married woman of Newark, tells this interesting story of a Chesterfield burglar, who is now in the "Canchee."

"I came in from driving and found the rear hall door locked. In a few minutes I left to buy some things for supper. When I returned the rear hall door was open and I thought my husband was home. 'Where are you, papa?' I called. There was no answer. 'Oh, papa?' I said, and stepped my foot on the door. 'Papa' will be here soon," he said, bowing politely. 'Who are you?' I asked. 'Oh, that's all right,' he answered, smiling. 'Papa' will be in a minute."

"I thought that my husband had come home and brought company, and I was so glad to think that I had brought some huckleberry cake. All this time the man was bowing and smiling and walking easily toward the door. 'Who are you?' 'What's your name?' I asked. 'Ma? Oh, my name's Jones—Jones—at your service, madam; and with a smile and a bow he walked out of the door and down the stairs."

"As he reached the bottom, like a flash it struck me that he was a burglar. Then I hurried after. As I reached the pavement I saw that he was trying to hide. I screamed at every step until he was caught. Now that I've got my diamonds back I'm sorry that he is locked up. Just think how considerate he was. Why, he might have knocked me down and injured me. Instead he behaved like a perfect gentleman. He looked in, too, with his diamond ring. I'd have given him $200 for the ring. He said he had a magnificent watch and chain! In court this morning the judge asked me if the ring, stud and watch were mine. I answered 'yes' and he bowed and said 'I thank you, madam, very much.' Oh, he's a gentleman, if he is a thief, and I'm so sorry that he's locked up."

Princess Blamarck, when not irritated, is a man of nice and just discrimination, as this instance to wit: Certain newspapers of Germany have lately printed an alleged interview in which the retired statesman and dynasty-maker is represented as comparing anarchists with the moral pigs. This was a confusion of the moral virtues which Blamarck did not propose to let go unprotected. He promptly authorized the Hamburger Nachrichten to deny the interview.

Not content with this step, the bluff old gentleman, when referring to the republished interview, exclaimed: "I would not dignify my Varzin pigs by such a comparison." Blamarck is a sound judge of pork—Evering Telegram.

Empress William's Concession to Batha. It had often been noticed that the large lordly castles in Germany are totally devoid of bathrooms. The absence of this convenience, considered by John Bull as an object of the most necessary necessity, caused the English to make fun of the Germans on this subject. This came to the ears of the German Emperor, and as he never fails to give a liberal answer to the desire of His Majesty to give also to the sailors and marines of the Hohenzollern the benefit of the hot water, he ordered that underneath one of the decks at the end of the vessel he had a large swimming bath installed, where the soldiers and sailors can bathe and swim their heads. This bath, provided with sea water, which is heated in winter by thermo-siphons. This innovation is one of the many of the strange yacht Hohenzollern—half a pleasure yacht, half man-of-war.

Hard Luck, but Married at Last. A bride at Newark had a hard time of it in getting married the other day. Of all she insisted that she would only drive to the church in a new coach, and much time was lost in finding such a vehicle. Next when the church door was reached, the bride was found in tears, and the cause was that, in her excitement she had forgotten to put on her white shoes. And as she refused to allow the ceremony to proceed until she had rectified this blunder, the party had to return to her home, quite a distance away. The coach, however, was put on a new start was made but, in entering the carriage, the bride slipped and sprained her ankle. This caused further loss of time. Once more the wedding party set out, but again there was a mishap; in crossing a railroad track, one of the hind wheels of the coach was wrenched off, and the bride was thrown into the road. An effort was then made to induce the bride to take one of the other carriages in the procession, while the occupants proceeded to the wedding in a street car, but she refused, and insisted on her step until another vehicle was procured. This ended the chapter of accidents and the young woman was safely married.

Too Much for the Wage. From the following advertisement printed in an English newspaper it would seem that the clergy of Hampshire don't take much stock in the principle of the living wage. "Wanted for country rectory—Steady married man to attend to kitchen and warden garden, also pigs, poultry and woodwork; willing to be a kitchen man; good character; one able to sing in choir preferred; cottage to be rented; wages, 15s per week. Address Rectory, Winchester."

This steady married man, churchman and singer would have about 15s. 6d. a day to live on after paying for his cottage, or say 12s. 6d.—N. Y. Sun.

Ida Lewis' Work and Salary. The yearly salary of Ida Lewis, the famous lighthouse keeper, Rock Light-house, at the south end of Long Island Sound, is $700 and two tons of coal. She is past fifty now, her hair slightly streaked with gray and her face somewhat rugged and wrinkled, but she is still alert and strong. She began her wonderful record of life-saving with the rescue of four small boys, whose boat capsized in the harbor before the lighthouse.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

When ironing, sit instead of stand, and work in a cool room. Pinholes should never be eaten by sick persons, but the juice to drink is very beneficial.

A drop of oil and a feather will do away with the creaking in a door or creaking chair.

Single beds are now not only fashionable, but hygienic. Double beds have little sale with wholesale dealers.

After a room has been newly papered, there should be ample opportunity given the paper to dry upon the walls before a fire is built in the apartment.

In arranging the kitchen closet, put powdered borax on the shelves to prevent crickets and other vermin from getting between the paper and shelves.

A chest table may be beautified by having the shelves covered with china silk, which will yellow. The legs are glued or enameled with white enamel.

As far as possible sleeping rooms should be selected that are daily purified by the sun's rays. Fresh air is all right, but it needs to be supplemented by sunlight.

In putting down carpets, spread newspapers over the floor, then put clean straw evenly over the paper and put the carpet down. The carpet will last longer with this lining than any other. The dust will sift through on to the papers.

Carpets are giving away to rugs, and women who have ever made carpets will hail the news that rag rugs are being made by women in cities for use in rooms where there is "hard wear." These rugs, when well made, are very handsome.

Sally Linn—One quart of flour sifted with three small teaspoons of baking powder. Beat two eggs with two tablespoons of melted butter and one pint of milk; stir in the flour and a teaspoonful of salt.

The Ice in the Refrigerator—"In the summer," said a housewife, "the ice in the refrigerator melts very rapidly. To make it last as long as possible we used to wrap about it an old blanket or a piece of carpet, but now-a-days we wrap it up in newspapers. It keeps better in newspapers, and we no longer have the trouble of washing and drying the other wraps; when the newspapers are wet we simply throw them away."

The Complexion—Nothing is so destructive to a fair complexion as the habit of going to bed with an unwashed face. Get the dust and powder off; open the pores, and give the skin a chance to do its work. In the endeavor to do this, don't plaster it with soap. But, "no matter what you do," as poor Rogina Yokes used to sing, don't wear a greasy or sticky substance of any kind of grease to bed. It doesn't do any good, and it spoils the skin.

Prune Pie—Set a dish of well-washed, clean prunes covered with water in an oven fairly well heated, and let them swell. Then take them out and remove the pits, and take the pits and the water in which the prunes have soaked, and mix with one table spoonful of sugar. Boil for half an hour; this liquid must be saved to pour over the prunes when they are in the pie ready to bake. This liquid and the water must be put in cold. Bake with a top and bottom crust.

Not Milk Cures. These who are afflicted with skin eruptions, especially with the red blotches and hard lumps, known as the eczema area, will find relief by persevering in the following simple and inexpensive cure.

Do not bathe the affected parts in water; this aggravates cutaneous affections. Wash night, before retiring, heat about a pint of fresh sweet milk. Do not let it boil, but let it rise just to the boiling point. Boiled milk loses its healing virtue. Then, with an old linen handkerchief, sop the hot fluid generously on the affected parts. Do not wipe the milk off, but let it dry into the skin.

In the morning bathe the skin in a little hot milk, or in a dilution of lacticine in hot water, in the proportion of two parts of water to one of lacticine. Eat no constipation food. Avoid especially new fine bread, sugar, pastry, and all starchy foods. Fruit, lettuce and radishes may be taken with good result. Be careful not to worry. Workment often the direct cause of eczema. Exercise actively in the open air, but do not heat the system.

If you will follow these few simple rules, and will persist in the application of the hot milk each night before retiring, the red spots will soon fade away, and the hard lumps will gradually soften and disappear.

A Dry Shampoo. Many women who have luxuriant tresses and who take cold easily are obliged to forego washing them as often as they would like because of the difficulty of getting them dry quickly. For such, a dry shampoo is the next best thing, and, if carefully and thoroughly done, it removes the accumulated dust and dandruff almost as well as washing. The hair should be shaken loosely over the shoulders and the head manipulated with the fingers till all foreign matter is well loosened and scattered through the hair, which should then be parted in different places all over the head, and the parts cleaved with a stiff little brush after which the entire head and hair should be very thoroughly brushed in sections till the dandruff is brushed out as much as possible, when some good hair tonic or scalp cleaner may be rubbed on and the snails engendered by the whole process gently combed out, and the ends of the hair clipped. This last should always be done once a month to promote the growth of the hair.

Foosha Masters. A Boston woman asks this question: "What would prevent, if we were to have universal suffrage in Massachusetts, our disfranchising the male population? Nothing in the world, if we were united. There are 48,000 more women than men in this State, and we would have it all our own way, and would soon be the masters of the situation."
