VOORHEES MUST FIGHT.

SENATOR SEWELL SAID TO BE HIS BITTEREST FOE.

Sewell Will Probably Oppose the Union County Man for the Presidency of the Senate—Some of Voorhees' Supporters.

It has developed during the past few days that a fierce fight is likely to occur over the organization of the new New Jersey Senate. Senator Foster M. Voorhees, of Union county, who was the Republican leader on the floor of the Senate last year, and who is in line for the Presidency by virtue of seniority, as well as party service, is going to be opposed by the Sewell wing of the party, and that means a bitter and interesting contest.

As soon as the smoke of the late political fight had cleared, the friends of the young Senator from Union county began advancing his claims for the highest office in the Senate. As a matter of fact, it has been known among the Senator's most intimate friends for some time that a majority of the Republican Senators are under pledge since last year to make him President. The existence of this compact was unknown to Senator Sewell until within the past week. As a result, the Camden warrior is reported to be in a furious state of mind. His agents at Trenton wore a sacred look last Tuesday, and in whispers they passed it along the corridors that "the old man was mad," because of the state of affairs in regard to Voorhees.

The Republican Senators who have pledged themselves to Voorhees will now have to face the wrath of Senator Sewell, and it remains an open question whether they will be able to withstand the pressure he will be able to bring upon them.

Voorhees has never enjoyed the confidence or esteem of Senator Sewell. He has disobeyed the latter's mandates many times, not only in party conventions, but in the Legislature. His greatest offense, however, was his refusal to vote for Sewell's re-election to the United States Senate. Sewell has turned him down a number of times in the party conventions, and in the State gubernatorial convention in 1895, at which Griggs was nominated, when the entire convention was on its feet, howling for a speech from Voorhees, Sewell, white with rage, rose in his place and forced the adjournment of the delegates in order to shut off the Union statesman.

Several times Voorhees has attempted to even up scores with Sewell. Last year he succeeded in defeating Sewell's pet scheme for biennial sessions of the Legislature. Sewell paid him back for that by defeating the Voorhees judiciary amendment to the Constitution.

It now remains to be seen whether Sewell has the power to administer another rebuff to Voorhees by forcing the majority of the Republican Senators to withdraw the pledges they have made. It is just possible that a new element may appear in the fight in favor of Voorhees, and that is the influence of the Hobart-Griggs forces allied in the fight against John Kean's candidacy for United States Senator. Voorhees, being an anti-Kean man, will naturally command the support of the Vice-President and the Governor against the Sewell influence. Again, it is among the strong possibilities that the Hobart-Griggs forces may have to unite upon him for the gubernatorial nomination next year, because he is the embodiment of all the opposition to Kean and Sewell. Hence, they would enjoy material advantage by the influence in their favor which Voorhees could exert on the presiding officer of the upper house.

The friends of Senator Voorhees pretend that they are not surprised at the activity all over the State of the Sewell men against their candidate, but it is a fact, nevertheless, that they are making a desperate effort to hold all the Senators to their pledges.

Senator Johnson, of Bergen county, is regarded as the man whom the Sewell forces will finally centre upon for the Presidency, but in case he is not considered available it will be Ketcham or Skirm.

Good Time Assured.

Thanksgiving Eve the lovers of dancing will have an excellent opportunity to indulge in that pastime, when the Twilight Social Club will give their third grand masquerade ball in the Crescent Rink. This club has the reputation of giving some of the finest dances in the city, and they will make this one no exception to the rule. The committee, consisting of F. S. Moore, Theodore Smith, Louis Feiring and E. C. Searing, are sparing no work to make it a success, and a pleasant time is assured all who attend. The music will be furnished by Rogers' full orchestra.

—Fred Shepard will leave the employ of Neuman Brothers tonight.

A LARGE INDUSTRY COMING.

HETFIELD COAL YARD IS WANTED.

Extensive Sash and Blind Mill to Be Erected and the Proprietors Will Not Join the Combination.

One of the prominent real estate dealers is negotiating with a New York company for the sale of the Hetfield coal yard on Madison avenue. In the event of their taking the yard, they contemplate building an extensive sash and blind mill, and of also running a coal and lumber business on a large scale.

This company say that they will not join the combination and as they have a large saw mill in the New England States, they say that they can afford to sell goods at a lower figure than the dealers who have joined the combine.

This movement will probably cause a stir among the builders and contractors, and the mechanics of this vicinity will in all probability have plenty of work.

WANAMAKER WANTS AN AGENT.

He is Looking for a Good Man to Handle Humber Wheels.

The widespread interest manifested by bicyclists and the bicycle trade generally in the reports of the contract recently made between John Wanamaker's firm and the Humber Company lends interest to the rumor that it is proposed to establish an agency in this city for the sale of the various Wanamaker bicycles.

The size of the Humber contract with Wanamaker is unknown, but it must have been large. Small considerations would never have tempted the Humber Company to part with the right to distribute their wheels in one of the most populous and prosperous sections of the country. Wanamaker controls all the Humber interests between Washington, D. C., and Hartford, Conn., with a broad strip of land westward from the Atlantic coast.

It is evident that the merchant and not the maker must be the distributor of bicycles in the future. The people are not disposed to support the extravagant system by which the cost of selling a bicycle has added so largely to the retail price. The logic of events is working out. The capital and organization of the dealer—Wanamaker in the present instance—come to the relief of both maker and retail buyer. By saving superfluous cost the maker is paid better and the cyclist buys cheaper. We hope in due time to announce the completion of plans for introducing to this community not only the Humber but the several other bicycles that Wanamaker has made famous.

BETTER GO SLOW.

That is J. E. Martine's Attitude About a County Trolley Road.

A reporter of The Press recently asked J. E. Martine what his views were on the Pierson plan of the trolley and a bicycle path on the county roads. He said:

"I feel that this is a great project which involves a large expenditure of money, and is an entirely new scheme for a county to undertake. I am not just decided as to the project, but think it wise to consider the matter well. This will be for all time, so let us go slow rather than make a mistake."

"Are you in favor of municipal or county ownership of franchises?" he was asked.

"Yes, I believe this the only solution of the vexed question of monopoly. But again I say let us consider the matter well, let us go slow."

Paid $5 to Get Free.

Harrison Randolph, colored, was arrested on Somerset street last evening by Patrolman Saffron for being drunk. He was locked up. When arraigned before City Judge DeMeza, this morning, Randolph indignantly denied the charge. The officer had the necessary evidence on hand and Randolph was pronounced guilty by the Judge and sentenced to pay a fine of $5 or go to jail for 20 days. Randolph reluctantly laid down the cash.

A Great Improvement.

One of the best improvements in the city in a long time is that on East Fourth street, where the Central Railroad Company has had removed the side tracks that formerly occupied most of the street. A substantial stone wall now shuts the railroad off from the street, and the tracks have been placed where they belong, alongside of the other tracks.

A Costly Residence.

George L. Colgate, manager of the Bard Cycle Company, has decided to build a home for himself in this city. The house will probably cost $10,000.

CITIZENS' TICKET SURE.

NEUCLES FORMED IN THE FOURTH WARD LAST NIGHT.

Conference of Dissatisfied Voters Which Resulted in Organization That Will Be Taken Up Effectively All Over the City.

A Citizens' ticket in opposition to the regular Republicans at the forthcoming municipal election is now assured. The neucleus was formed in the Fourth ward last night and as soon as possible the rest of the wards will be organized to combat the Republican foe.

The west end of the city is the Democratic stronghold, if there is such a thing in these parts, and it also is the abiding place of many Republicans who are disgruntled with the prevailing condition of affairs in respect to municipal business. It was natural, therefore, that the opposition should take form in the Fourth ward. The preliminaries for the meeting held last night were quietly conducted and only those on the inside of the scheme know of it.

The meeting place was 1101 West Front street, a vacant house owned by I. S. Randolph, who, strange to say, was one of the machine candidates a year ago for the Council in the Fourth ward.

The meeting was attended by about twenty-five men, a sprinkling of Democrats and Republicans both. Though they commenced to gather as early as 8 o'clock it was 9 o'clock before the meeting was called to order by George O. Stevens, the West End coal merchant. Mr. Stevens was made permanent chairman.

It was explained that the meeting was called for the purpose of forming the Organized Independent Voters of the Fourth Ward, which would appoint a committee to confer with representative men in other wards with a view to extending the independent movement all over the city, the final result of which would be the nomination of complete ward and city tickets in opposition to the regular Republicans.

The organization was completed by the election of the following officers: President, George O. Stevens; vice-president, Mr. McCue; secretary, Charles Randolph; treasurer, Henry Leifke.

The following committee was appointed to confer with sympathizers in other wards: Henry Leifke, Michael Higgins and George O. Stevens.

The committee will take steps immediately towards performing the duty for which they were appointed, and it is expected that in a short time an independent movement will be under way that will threaten the present administration with defeat at the polls.

Among those who were present at the meeting were George O. Stevens, Henry Leifke, I. S. Randolph, Chas. Randolph, John Kriney, Jacob Kriney, William Kriney, T. B. King, Henry Waters, Ira Hulbert, Michael Higgins and John McCarty.

Of course, the most important personage there was I. D. Randolph, who was elected to the Council last year by the Republicans. It will be remembered that after the Council was organized that Randolph was selected for the appointment of street commissioner. In order to secure the position he wrote out his resignation as Councilman, which was accepted before the appointment was made by the Mayor. Alfred Levers was selected in his place. Then for some reason Randolph was never appointed street commissioner. He feels very sore and will do his utmost to defeat the Republicans this fall. His name has been mentioned as a candidate for Councilman on the independent movement, but he says that he does not want it.

Mr. Hill Says Nay.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—I saw in yesterday's Press that my name was mentioned in connection with the Councilmanic nominations soon to take place in this city. While I appreciate the great honor attached to even a nomination to such an exalted position, and would willingly do all that I could for the advancement of our city, and also of our people, as a private citizen, but as to politics I desire to decline to take any part other than to exercise the right of suffrage.

R. A. Hill.

Roger Murray a Red Man.

Several weeks ago Roger F. Murray was elected to the New Jersey Assembly. Last night he was made a wild and woolly brave of the Miantonomoh Tribe of the Improved Order of Red Men. He was adopted into the tribe with all the imposing ceremonies that accompany such an act, and the Assemblyman-elect found the Red Men a genial set of fellows who were very glad to receive their representative into their ranks.

EVERYTHING PROFIT NOW.

SPIELKARTENFEST GOES ALONG MERRILY TO SUCCESS.

Tonight, the Last, Will Be the Biggest of the Week—Many Dancers Get Flowers—Result in the Voting Contest.

The end of the Spielkartenfest is now at hand. Tonight the good people of Plainfield will have their last chance to attend the monster benefit for the Muhlenberg Hospital. From the start its artistic success was assured; now the management is jubilant, for its financial success has been proven. Wednesday night the receipts amounted to a sufficient sum to cover all expenses, and since then the funds have been rolling in to increase the treasury of the Muhlenberg Hospital. Thursday and Friday the money rolled in fast, and today everything points to a fit climax for this wonderful event that has so taken possession of the whole town and its people.

Last evening saw by far the largest crowd that has yet attended the Spielkartenfest. All the chairs were occupied and many had to stand in the rear of the hall. The Hornpipe and the Chrysanthemum dances were omitted from the programme last evening. The other dances were received with enthusiasm, however. One of the serenaders in the Mirror Dance, Fred H. Freeman, was confined home with illness. His place was filled by Allan E. Laing, while Paul Kimball was substituted for Laing in the latter part of the dance. Laing did very well, considering that he had only part of the day in which to learn the step and movements of the quartette.

During the dances the Joker frequently made his appearance with gifts of flowers for the different dancers. Chrysanthemums and roses were the most numerous.

Harry Milligan is now conducting a contest for the most popular dance. To date the vote is as follows—Afternoon dances: the Minuet, 74; Dutch Reel, 17; the Mardi Gras, 71; Game of Old Maid, 18. Evening dances: the Court Cards, 21; the Mirror Dance, 9; Danza Cubana, 57; Tambourine Dance, 3; Dance of the Aces, 16; Dance of the Pages, 234; Dance of the Red Cards, 16; Chrysanthemum Dance, 2; Dance of the Black Cards, 1; Hornpipe, 2.

ALIVE WITH A BROKEN NECK.

BUT HIS RECOVERY IS IMPOSSIBLE.

Remarkable Case in Bound Brook—Medical or Surgical Skill is of No Avail.

One occasionally sees in the daily press where a person lives with a broken neck, and as often the item is put down as a fake. Bound Brook furnishes proof that such a thing can be, in the person of Frank Toman, who is now prostrated at his home on the Water Company farm.

Some seven weeks ago Frank, who is in the bottling business in partnership with his brother James, had occasion to enter a place in Bound Brook to collect some money due him. As he was about to leave the place he made a misstep and fell downstairs, landing upon his head. He complained of a pain in his neck and after being taken home a physician was summoned, but no serious injury was discovered. He did not recover and was taken to a Newark hospital, where he received treatment for a few days. Being somewhat better he returned home but was again attacked, more seriously than at first.

In a few days he was taken to New York, where Dr. Carpenter, on Tuesday of last week, performed an operation. He found the neck broken and that medical or surgical skill could be of no avail. Consequently he was again brought home, where he is now prostrated. Dr. Carpenter says his recovery is impossible, although he might live several months.

TO AWAIT COURT DECISION.

Rev. P. S. Gibson Agrees to Vacate Pulpit Until Legal Case is Settled.

A joint meeting of the officers of the First Baptist and Mt. Olive Baptist churches was held last night at the offices of City Judge DeMeza to discuss the trouble between Rev. Phillip S. Gibson, pastor of the Mt. Olive church, and the members of his flock.

Rev. Dr. Yerkes, pastor of the First Baptist church and Mr. Gibson were present, and the situation was talked over with a view to avoid further disensions. The meeting at last proposed that Mr. Gibson vacate his pulpit until the courts shall finally decide whether or not he is guilty of the charge preferred by Lucy Swain. The case has been appealed to the higher court by Mr. Gibson, and will not be decided for some time to come. The trustees have engaged Rev. J. B. Randolph, of Trenton, to preach in Mt. Olive church tomorrow.

APT AND FUNNY ANSWERS.

PLEASANT CONUNDRUM SOCIABLE.

Fuzzling Questions Asked, But Answers Were Given That Showed Much Thought.

A conundrum social was held at the Congregational church last evening, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the church, and it proved to be an admirable entertainment. The parlors were prettily arranged and made as homelike as possible by the committee in charge, consisting of Mrs. Fuller, chairman; Mrs. Morgan, Mrs. Messerschmidt and Mrs. Laing. The attendance was excellent and all joined heartily in the festivities of the occasion. As each one came in a piece of paper was handed to them, upon which was written a conundrum which they were supposed to find an answer for. Some of the conundrums were very mysterious and required considerable thought to find a suitable answer. One question was, "For what was Eve created," and the answer was, "For Adam's express benefit." Another one was, "Why was Adam the swiftest runner in the world." The apt reply was, "Because he was the first in the human race." "Why do we know that Joseph was a straight man," was another question, to which the reply was, "Because Pharaoh made a ruler of him." An amusing conundrum was, "Why was Adam of more consequence than Eve?" "Because Eve was nothing but a side issue." One of those present received the conundrum, "Who was Jonah's tutor?" The reply was, "The whale that brought him up." Everyone had a conundrum and each was a source of amusement to all.

During the evening Mrs. M. E. Dwight favored the audience with several piano selections, after which the committee served refreshments to all. The evening was profitably spent and each declared that they had a good time.

FUNERAL OF MRS. HONEYMAN.

Consoling Words Spoken to the Bereaved Ones by Rev. Cornelius Schenck.

There was a large gathering of relatives and friends at the funeral services of the late Mrs. Susan Honeyman, which were held yesterday afternoon from the home of her daughter, Mrs. D. C. Adams, on Grove street, at 1:30. Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph. D., pastor of the departed, conducted the services and spoke praiseworthy of the life of her who had received her reward after a beautiful Christian life well spent in the Master's vineyard. His testimony to her exemplary life was in close touch with the feelings and sentiments of all present. An earnest prayer at the close of the discourse, was a comforting petition to the Throne of Grace for the bereaved ones. The floral tributes expressed the highest regard of the donors for the departed. The pall bearers, all grandsons, were James Todd, Esmy Todd, Herbert Todd and Albert E. Honeyman. Interment was in Hillside Cemetery in the family plot.

$100 WATCH MISSING.

Belonged to a Jersey City Man and He Can't Account for Its Loss.

A gold watch, valued at $100, disappeared from the pocket of the owner at the Crescent Rink last evening. The timepiece was the property of J. W. Chilton, of Jersey City, who is now visiting his sister, Mrs. Lemuel W. Serrell, Jr., of Crescent avenue. Chilton went to the Spielkartenfest last evening and carried some of the articles belonging to his sister behind the scenes to her. His watch was in his overcoat pocket at the time. When he came out he missed it and has seen nothing of it since. It is supposed that the watch must have slipped from his pocket in some manner.

The watch was a valuable one and greatly prized by its owner, who has offered a reward for its return.

GIRLS ENJOY BASKET BALL.

Contesting Team of Fair Sex May Come From Summit for a Game.

There seems to be no cessation in the interest among the girls of the Plainfield High School in basket ball. The girls of the Third class met for practice yesterday afternoon in the Whittier building under the direction of Fred Bonny. The attendance was large and much interest was manifested.

This morning the Senior girls met for practice in the Whittier building, Walter Long acting as coach. While they are all showing considerable adaptability in the game, they are yet somewhat afraid of themselves. Summit has a girls' basket ball team in one of its big private schools, and exciting games are played there on the lawn. The Summit girls have even considered the advisability of challenging the Plainfield girls.

CITY IS BUNNY'S HAVEN.

WITHIN MUNICIPAL LIMITS NO SHOTS CAN BE LEGALLY FIRED.

An Ordinance That Prevents Hunting in the City Limits—Two Violators Fined in City Court for the Offense Yesterday.

Plainfield is to be a paradise for rabbits. Within the city limits they will be free from the horde of hungry gunners who pursue them with dog and gun outside the bounds of this good city. Such was the result of an ordinance recently passed by the Common Council and which City Judge DeMeza and Chief Grant are now enforcing. The ordinance itself on casual examination does not appear to be aimed at the hunters but on careful reading the truth comes out. The ordinance says that no gun, revolver, or firearm of any kind shall be fired in the city limits. Therefore no weapon can hurl its load of shot at any frightened cottontail.

Yesterday afternoon, two colored men had to pay a fine of $10 each for hunting a few rods inside the city line. The offenders were Edmund Scott and James Saunders. They were arrested on the complaint of Robert McNabb for firing their guns and for cursing and swearing at the complainant. Perkins was arraigned at the same time but everybody, complainant included, agreed that he had neither shot a gun or used bad language and so he was released.

The trouble was that the two colored men were hunting and McNabb claimed, that they went on ground that was posted and under his control. He was represented by Robert M. Clark. Frank J. Blatz was the attorney for the prisoners. The prisoners pleaded guilty to shooting in the city limits but not guilty to the other charge. It was also claimed by both sides that an assault had been committed. There was considerable evidence deduced but not sufficient to convict the prisoners of using the language alleged. On the charge of shooting, they were each fined $10, which was paid.

There is lots of hunting going on these days in the fields on the outskirts of the city which are inside the city limits. There are rabbits there in plenty but the enforcement of this ordinance will result in the driving away of the hunters. The real purpose of the ordinance was to prevent hunters from following their game into inhabited districts and perchance injure someone by the reckless use of guns.

TWELVE FOUND PEACE.

Great Success of the Revival Meetings at Grace M. E. Church.

Overflow meetings will soon be necessary if the attendance at the meetings in Grace M. E. church continues to grow. Long before the time for service people began to flock into the church last evening, and seating the crowd became difficult for the ushers, accustomed as they are of late to seating large numbers. Rev. Sherman Powell presented the way of Salvation in a simple and plain language, and pressed home the need of the un saved. A number came forward to the altar and twelve or more found peace.

Tonight there will be a "young converts rally." They will be addressed by Rev. W. P. Drew, and they will take the front seats in the church, all sitting together.

RUNNING BACKWARDS AND HURT.

Arthur Lederer Stumbled and Fell Unconscious on a Stone Walk.

While running backward in the schoolyard yesterday morning, Arthur Lederer, one of the Seniors at the Plainfield High School, met with a serious accident. There were three of the Seniors racing backward and Lederer did not notice the flag-pole that stands in the centre of the yard. He struck the back of his head against it and fell to the ground unconscious. His face was also out. He was taken into the High School building by Henry W. Brower and Rhey T. Snodgrass and restoratives applied. He recovered in ten minutes and was assisted to his home, where he was confined the rest of the day. He has now mostly recovered from the effects of his accident.

Event in Colored Society.

An enjoyable affair in colored social circles was held at the home of Chas. Shelton, of West Third street, last evening when Mr. Shelton celebrated his twenty-seventh birthday. The evening was spent in games and social chat. Besides the host and hostess and Mrs. Betty Shelton, Mr. Shelton's mother, those present were: Mr. and Mrs. George Henderson, Mrs. P. H. Brown, Miss Cora Morris, Miss Betty Brown, Miss Addie Blount, Miss Graton, John A. Perkins, William Burton, James Curtis, Thomas Morris, Robert Venable and Bert Harvey.

NEW TRIAL FOR THORN

District Attorney Refuses to Impanel a Twelfth Jurymen.

THE JURY IS DISCHARGED

Case to Go On a Week from Monday. The Defendant is Very Much Disappointed—How Mrs. Mack Came to Confess.

New York, Nov. 12.—The trial of Martin Thorn, charged with the murder of William Guldensuppe, has been postponed until Monday, Nov. 22, when a new jury will be selected from a specially-summoned panel. This unsatisfactory end of the famous murder case was caused by the illness of the sixth juror, Magnus Larsen, who was operated upon for appendicitis and who will not be about again for a month in all probability.

It was generally believed at the courthouse yesterday that Thorn would have to be tried over again, but the lawyers did their utmost to discover some way in which the present case could be brought to a close. They searched authorities and conferred among themselves and with the judge. Mr. Howe made suggestions, and the District Attorney investigated them, but it was all to no purpose. They could not agree upon any solution of the difficulty.

Then District Attorney Youngs made an effort to have the new trial set down for next Monday. Mr. Howe objected to such haste, and the judge took his view of the case and gave the defense a week longer.

Justice Smith, of the Supreme Court, yesterday afternoon discharged the jury from further duty, and ordered a new trial for the murderer. Justice Smith was not in favor at any time of the proposition to retain the eleven jurors, but at the first session of the court yesterday he ordered a recess, so the opposing counsel could consider the matter. He set Monday, Nov. 22, as the date for the new trial, and ordered the necessary talesmen to be summoned.

Thorn, after learning that the case would have to be retried, passed his hands in a worried manner over his forehead, and remarked: "I don't understand it at all. Why couldn't they get another juror? I am anxious to have the thing over with; what's the use of dragging it out in this manner?" When Thorn said he was anxious to have the thing over with, it is supposed that he was thinking about his going on the stand.

When the news reached Mrs. Mack all she said was, "Will I have to go on the stand again?" She seems afraid of Mr. Howe. Matron Glick says that the woman aged five years in appearance while she was under the cross fire of the defense's chief.

How Mrs. Mack Confessed.

The sensational confession made by Mrs. Mack is now said to be due to a sermon and the influence of a child. The two worked upon her mind, aroused all the latent religious feeling of her woman's nature and caused her conscience to assert itself.

These two influences—a child and a sermon—did what the keenest detectives in Greater New York had been unable to accomplish. The sermon was preached by the Rev. Robert H. P. Miles, pastor of the Ravenswood Presbyterian Church, of Long Island City. The child was his 4-year-old son, Parker.

Mr. Miles preached a sermon—a simple personal appeal—to her in her cell last Thursday week. He carefully refrained from mentioning her crime. Suddenly she stopped him.

"Would God forgive me, too?" she asked, with tears in her eyes.

"If you confess your sins and truly repent he will," Mr. Miles replied.

That was all that was said at the time. Then came the boy who accompanied his father on the jail visits. Little Parker sat in her lap while his father read from the Bible and talked with her. Tears coursed down her cheeks as she stroked the child's head.

The iron will had been broken. The woman's heart reassured itself. She sent for her lawyer and insisted on making the confession which perhaps clinched the death penalty for both herself and her former lover. Religion and a child paved the way for the great dramatic climax in the strangest of murder cases.

KANSAS REDEEMED.

Her Reputation Now as Good as Her Character, Says Gov. Leedy.

Topeka, Kan., Nov. 12.—Gov. Leedy did not refrain from hitting the traders of Kansas a blow in his Thanksgiving proclamation issued yesterday. He said:

"After seven years of self-denial our people have reduced their enormous indebtedness, that at least their liabilities bear a reasonable ratio to their resources. The attacks upon this State to which it has been so long subject have been discontinued, and the reputation of Kansas is again as good as its character always has been. For these blessings let us return thanks to the Great Author of the Universe who watched over and guided our fathers when they established in the Western prairies the foundations of our State. In the day of our rejoicing let our people not forget the poor and needy of the great cities and of foreign countries, but send up our petition as a giver of all good things may enable them to be as self-reliant, as self-supporting and as self-respecting as are the citizens of this commonwealth in Kansas."

Has Spain Found a Loan?

London, Nov. 12.—The Daily Mail says that Ernest T. Hooley, the English promoter and financier, has made an offer to Spain to raise for her a loan of about $17,500,000, the security to be on the lines of the old quicksilver loan. The Spanish Government will consider the proposal on Nov. 18. It is understood that the rate of interest suggested is 4 per cent.

Bookmaker's Cashier Held.

New York, Nov. 12.—Frederick Fishel, the defaulting bookkeeper of Joe Ullmann, the bookmaker, was arraigned before Judge McMahon yesterday afternoon. He pleaded not guilty to a charge of grand larceny, and was committed to the Tombs in default of $7,500 bail.

READY FOR CONGRESS

Chairman Cannon Has Announced His Sub-Committees.

CALLED TO MEET NOV. 27

Work on the Appropriations to Be Begun at Once and a Short Session Anticipated—Possible Adjournment by May 1.

Washington, Nov. 12.—Chairman Cannon, of the House Appropriations Committee, intends to begin preparing for the appropriation bills at the earliest possible date. He has announced the sub-committees, and those on the Pension, Legislative, Executive and Judicial bills have been called to meet Nov. 27, a week in advance of the assembling of Congress.

As the House is fully organized, by the appointment of all the standing committees, it will be expected to get down to business as soon as it reassembles on Dec. 3. Ordinarily it requires a month to organize, but this year at least one of the regular appropriation bills, and probably two, will have been passed before the Christmas recess. Most of the members who have already arrived express the opinion that the coming session will be the shortest regular "long session" of Congress in years. Ordinarily the long session lasts from six to ten months. Mr. Hopkins, of Illinois, predicts that Congress will have completed its work and adjourned before May 1.

The sub-committees of the Appropriations Committee, announced by Chairman Cannon yesterday, are as follows:

Sundry Civil—Cannon, W. A. Stone, Northway, Sayers and McRae.

Legislative—Bingham, Hemenway, Moody, Dockery and Livingston.

District of Columbia—Grout, Pitney, Bingham, Dockery and Allen.

Pensions—W. A. Stone, Barney, Belden, Allen and Bell.

Fortifications—Hemenway, Pitney, Pugh, McRae and Bell.

Deficiencies—Cannon, Northway, Barney, Sayers and Livingston.

Permanent Appropriations—Moody, Grout, Pugh, Allen and Bell.

Chances of a Monetary Bill.

Washington, Nov. 12.—Representative Grosvenor, of Ohio, is very doubtful about there being any financial legislation at the approaching session of Congress.

"I presume," he said "that there will be some agitation of a currency measure, but action on the subject is very uncertain. Everybody knows that there is very little chance of an agreement among the members of the Banking and Currency Committee on any financial measure, and it will be next to impossible to make a party question of such a measure in the House. Some proposition might be made which the Republicans would stand for, but there is no probability of a general agreement on any of the broad schemes that have been suggested."

"You do not think that the Republicans would unite on a proposition for the retirement of the greenbacks?"

"Certainly not. I do not believe that the President will recommend such a thing. I have not talked with him on the subject, but I have no idea that he would make such a recommendation."

Speaking of Hawaii, Mr. Grosvenor said that he thought there would be no difficulty in the way of the ratification of the annexation treaty. He thought that it would be acted upon favorably very soon after Congress met.

TRAIN HELD UP AND LOOTED.

Train Robbery Near Independence, and a Big Loss Feared.

Kansas City, Nov. 12.—The Missouri Pacific Express, or train 8, which left here at 9 o'clock last evening and was due in St. Louis at 7.10 o'clock this morning, was held up east of Independence at about 10 p. m. by four bandits and plundered.

A special engine with officers left here at midnight for the scene of the robbery. It is believed that the bandits made a big haul, as it is known that the express car carried considerable treasure. Whether the robbers blew open the safe or not cannot be learned at this writing.

Now Enjoying the Best of Health, With Digestion Perfect.

"My mother was subject to sick headaches and indigestion for over a year. She was unable to stand for any length of time, and was obliged to stay in a dark room as she could not bear the light. She had no appetite whatever and her stomach was so weak she could not retain what food she did eat. She also had severe pains in her head. She suffered so much that she became but the shadow of herself. One day I happened to read a testimonial about Hood's Sarsaparilla. It sounded so truthful.

I persuaded her to try this medicine. Before finishing the first bottle there was an improvement in her condition. She no longer threw up her food and her headache was not so severe. She took in all four bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and several boxes of Hood's Pills and regained her weight. She is now enjoying the best of health. Her digestion is good and she can eat almost anything she wishes. She is 42 years old and says she feels as well as when she was 16. Hood's Sarsaparilla made a complete cure in her case."

How to Cure Bilious Colic.
I suffered for weeks with colic and pains in my stomach caused by biliousness and had to take medicine all the while until I used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy which cured me. I have since recommended it to a good many people. Mrs. F. Butler, Fairhaven, Conn. Persons who are subject to bilious colic can ward off the attack by taking this remedy as soon as the first symptoms appear. Sold by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner North and Park avenues.

Messrs. Hegeman and Eugene Foster, of New York, have been visiting at the home of their uncle, D. N. Groendyke, of Mercer avenue.

The three-year-old boy of J. A. Johnson, of Lynn Center, Ill., is subject to attacks of croup. Mr. Johnson says he is satisfied that the timely use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, during a severe attack, saved his little boy's life. He is in the drug business, a member of the firm of Johnson Bros. of that place, and they handle a great many patent medicines for throat and lung diseases. He had all these to choose from, and skilled physicians ready to respond to his call, but selected this remedy for use in his own family at a time when his child's life was in danger, because he knew it to be superior to any other, and famous the country over for its cures of croup. Mr. Johnson says this is the best selling cough medicine they handle, and that it gives splendid satisfaction in all cases. Sold by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

Next Tuesday evening the Sons of Veterans will meet and hear a report from the fair committee. It is now thought that about $280 will be made as profit on the recent fair.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portions of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75 cents.

Bridegroom Missing.
Chicago, Nov. 13.—Warren Beckwith, who eloped with ex-Secretary Robert T. Lincoln's daughter Bessie, is missing. He cannot be found at his hotel, and it is thought he has left Chicago.

Since the young couple were married last Wednesday the bride has remained at her father's home, pleading for forgiveness, but he refuses to grant it. Beckwith remained at a downtown hotel until Thursday night, when he went away, no one knows where.

His Earthquake Prophecy True.
Oaxaca, Mex., Nov. 13.—The predictions of Contreras, the earthquake prophet, have been fulfilled again. The shocks on the isthmus of Tehuantepec and in the southern part of this State were the severest of recent months. Many houses were thrown down, and it is feared that there was loss of life in the country districts. The coast towns south of here have suffered severely, and many believe that the formation of another active volcano is at hand.

Daughters of the Confederacy.
Baltimore, Nov. 13.—The United Daughters of the Confederacy ended their fourth annual convention yesterday. Baltimore and Maryland were honored by the election of Mrs. D. G. Wright as first vice-president. She is now president of the United Daughters of Maryland. Mrs. Helen C. Plante, of Atlanta, Ga., was chosen as the other vice-president. Mrs. Kate Cabell Currie, of Dallas, Tex., was elected president.

Two Girls Tamed and Feathered.
Holgate, Ohio, Nov. 13.—Edith and May Roberts, of Oakwood, aged 19 and 17 years, received a White Cap notice warning them to leave the town and county, but paid no attention to it. On Wednesday evening they were awakened by a band of ten men. The girls were dragged from their beds to the road, where they were terribly whipped. A coat of tar and feathers was then applied to them. May is in a critical condition.

GEN. REEDER EXONERATED.
The Grand Jury Refuses to Indict Him on Conspiracy Charges.
Easton, Pa., Nov. 13.—Fred Van Valkenberg's conspiracy case against Gen. Frank Reeder, Assemblyman Weiss and M. C. Luckenbach for conspiracy and bribery, have been ignored by the Grand Jury, and the costs have been put on the prosecutor. He was sentenced to pay these costs this morning, as he was not in court last night when the Grand Jury made its return. William Shipman, who had withdrawn from the case as private counsel for the prosecution, said to the Court that he appeared for Mr. Van Valkenberg, and agreed to produce him in court today.

The case was given to the G and J jury at 9.45 a. m. yesterday. Judge Scott had explained the nature of the indictments which were to be laid before it. Gen. Reeder, the special District Attorney, told Judge Scott that he was ready to proceed with the case, although all his witnesses were not here. The Court declared that there had been sufficient delay and the case must be taken up.

Later Constable Ackerman returned from Philadelphia and reported that he had been unable to find William A. Winsboro, the principal witness of the prosecution. He had searched in all the known resorts of Winsboro, as well as at his boarding house.

Soon after this Sheriff Fencile arrived from Scranston with Congressman Connell and four other witnesses summoned on bench warrants. They were called before the court, and the reasons they gave being satisfactory, they were excused and the costs of the attachments were made part of the costs of the prosecution. It was shown that there was carelessness in subpoenaing the witnesses, and that H. A. Mackey, one of the counsel for Van Valkenberg, had told some of the witnesses they need not attend.

The finding of the Grand Jury was expected. It was generally declared to be the belief that the prosecution did not subpoena Winsboro because they wanted the case to fall before the Grand Jury in order to have some influence in securing a settlement of the prosecutions against E. A. Van Valkenberg, brother of Fred Van Valkenberg, which are called for trial next Monday in Pottsville.

Gen. Reeder said last night he had nothing to say with reference to the case. He looked pleased, and was overwhelmed with congratulations.

THE CUBAN SITUATION

Spain's Ability to Pay for Two More Cruisers Doubtful.

NEGOTIATING WITH JAPAN

Reported Intention to Pardon Competitor Crew Confirmed—Friends in Congress Sure to Pass a Resolution Favorable to Cuba.

London, Nov. 13.—Striking evidence of Spain's financial straits is furnished in the dispatch of the Madrid correspondent of the Daily Mail, saying that the Spanish Government, finding it impossible to raise £3,000,000 by loan or taxation, has decided to build two new cruisers only, of 2,000 tons each. It is pointed out here that the cruisers referred to were to have been battleships, for whose construction Spain negotiated with the Armstrongs months ago. The contracts were eventually signed and the keels of the new battle ships were laid, but the Armstrongs refused to proceed without assurances of payment. Now it is doubtful if Spain will even be able to pay for the small and comparatively ineffective cruisers which are intended to replace the projected battleships.

American diplomats have learned that Spain recently endeavored to arrange with Japan whereby, in the event of war with the United States, the thirty or so war ships now building in various shipyards for Japan would be transferred to Spain, and it is supposed that upon the failure of these negotiations the Spanish Government entered upon a deal with Chili for the transfer to the Spanish flag of several vessels about completed for the South American republic.

It is said that, from the standpoint of international law, the completion of such a deal might be regarded as an unfriendly act towards the United States.

Besides the Rothschilds, other prominent financiers of London and Paris have entirely cut off the monetary supplies which Spain has hitherto succeeded in obtaining.

Cuba's Friends in Congress.

Washington, Nov. 13.—Speaking of the Cuban situation, Representative Grosvenor said: "The House this session will adopt a resolution favorable to Cuba by a large majority if a chance to vote on it is given. Whether a vote can be had depends somewhat upon the character of the information furnished Congress by the President. Undoubtedly the strain will be somewhat relieved if it is shown that the Spanish Government is sincere in its professions of abandonment of the Weyler policy of concentration of non-combatants in narrow zones. There is no doubt that the reatest cruelties and horrors of the Cuban war resulted from this concentration, and if this policy is abandoned entirely it will mollify the feeling in this country."

But there is bound to be a very strong sentiment in Congress in favor of some Cuban resolution. I have no doubt that nine-tenths of the American people are in sympathy with the insurgents, and would approve any action by Congress calculated to benefit the cause of liberty on that island. Talking to the people and mingling among them during the campaign, I found this sentiment everywhere. Members of Congress returning this session come with a knowledge of this almost universal feeling."

GENERAL MASTER WORKMAN.

New York Man Succeeds Sovereign at the Head of the K. of L.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 13.—The General Assembly Knights of Labor, at their session yesterday, elected Henry A. Hicks, of New York City, to succeed General Master Workman Sovereign. Mr. Sovereign declined re-election because his time is taken up in political work. He also means to do a great deal of editorial work, and will work for the Knights of Labor on a salary. His successor has been engaged in the work of the order for twenty-five years and is a practical business man. Mr. Hicks was elected unanimously.

Mr. Sovereign read his annual address, which touched upon the labor troubles of the year and denounced the holders of idle capital, the gold standard, and corporations. It contained no noteworthy recommendation, but urged laboring men to go into politics.

The election of officers resulted: General Master Workman, Henry A. Hicks, New York; General Worthy Foreman, L. D. Chamblin, Colorado; members General Executive Board, Henry Bostick, Indiana; Sarsfield Fitzpatrick, Montreal. The Knights will remain ten or twelve days longer in session.

FIRE IN A HISTORICAL HOUSE.

A Thousand Students Cheered When It Was Extinguished.

Boston, Nov. 13.—Excitement was caused in Harvard square early last evening by a small fire in Wadsworth House. The Cambridge Fire Department responded to the call. A crowd of more than a thousand Harvard students and many Yale men gathered about the building and cheered after the fire was put out. Little damage was done.

Wadsworth House is the most historic house in Harvard square, and one of the most celebrated buildings of Harvard University. It was built in 1726, and for more than one hundred years it was the President's home. In 1775 Washington made it his headquarters during his stay in Cambridge. The building is now used as a students' dormitory. One room is devoted to the use of the visiting preachers to Harvard University, and another room is used for the office of the bursar.

To Suspend the Duties.

Washington, Nov. 13.—The President has issued a proclamation suspending the collection of discriminating duties upon Mexican shipping upon satisfactory proof that no discrimination is practiced against American ships in Mexican ports.

Reception to Sir Wilfred Laurier.
Washington, Nov. 13.—A formal reception, largely attended, was given to-night at his residence by Secretary Sherman in honor of Sir Wilfred Laurier, the Prime Minister of Canada.

A CHARACTER TO STUDY.

One of our silent delights is the study of human nature and one of our principal subjects is that fellow Runyon, who edits the News. We might refer to him as that gentleman or that editor or that man, but we like to say fellow because it reflects a companionable feeling, and we commune in our own mind so often and so gently with his varying emotions as evidenced in his professional or business conduct that actually sometimes we incur an interest that almost bears an interminable relationship to the subject. He interests us truly, Runyon does. Newspaper life in Plainfield would be prosaic and uneventful were it not for Runyon. He is always adding spice to it, and fun, too. Sometimes we set for days and days at our desk and grow methodical and gouty reading column after column of such common-place things as murders, suicides, railway casualties, political developments, etc., etc. We long for something that will set our mind in a whirl, give us something to think about, not merely an intuition to write of. Just as we have decided to resign our thoughts to the even tenor of their way and soliloquize on the good old days, we are startled from the reverie by Runyon. Alas and alack for what-ever inspired it, it remains a fact that we are roasted and toasted over the sarcastic and humorous editorial fire of our professional brother. Our lethargic mind is stirred and sometimes our spirit is stung. Our light flocks and pales in the glow cast by his iridescent castigation. Crestfallen we go forth only to hear the allusions of our friend—or foe, which?—cast up to us by candid persons who say we are asses for "taking it"—meaning, of course, that we should reply in kind. Indeed, it makes us think earnestly and forcibly about replying. Then we fall to philosophizing, and when one earnestly philosophizes he does only reasonable, sane things. Had we not wished for excitement for mind? Hadn't Runyon given it to us? Had we ought to do anything more than take it as gracefully as we can? All these and many more perplexing questions come to our mind. We finally conclude that Runyon is all right and we're all wrong. Then once more we are at peace with the world. Out of it all, however, comes the indescribable pleasure of studying a wonderful character at close range.

THE COLLECTOR'S SALARY.

For the benefit of those people who may have been misled by the reckless statement made in the News that the City Collector's salary is $2,500 a year, it might be well to state that the salary is only $2,000 regularly, but that this year, owing to the additional work incurred by the collection of the sewer taxes, $500 additional was voted by the Council. Formerly the salary of the Collector was $1,500, while over $1,000 a year was paid to the delinquent tax collector. Now, however, the delinquent taxes are collected by the City Collector, thus actually saving the city $500, and sometimes more, a year. It is recognized that the measure of a public official's salary should be at least ten per cent. of the amount of bonds he is compelled to furnish, but Collector Bird's salary is even less than this. Editor Runyon doubtless believes that the city officials should be remunerated on the same basis as he pays his own employees.

The Press is the only newspaper in Plainfield that publishes political news without bias or prejudice, and is therefore the only medium that can be depended upon to present all sides with fairness. This is recognized by every citizen who takes an interest in the forthcoming city election. Its columns are open for the discussion of the issues involved in any way.

The New Jersey editor of The Tribune wants to know the name of the author of the "Spielkartenfest" song rendered by Councilman Runyon at the great hospital benefit. Mr. Runyon is both composer and singer. We shall not be surprised if the facetious editor of The Tribune will now crown Mr. Runyon the poet laureate of New Jersey. You can't lose our Billy.

consisting of suits, overcoats and trousers, now being sold at 33c on the dollar. A great purchase and a great sale of the entire stock of a very widely known clothing manufacturer. Cash is King, and the money on the table enables us to sell this extraordinary purchase at less than 33c on the dollar. This sale would prove the greatest sensation of the day if maker's name could be published, but owing to the fact that nearly every retailer of prominence has a stock on hand from these manufacturers, the latter to protect the former, stipulated that their name must not appear in advertisements. The name, however, appears on every garment, which is an absolute guarantee of perfect satisfaction.

WESTFIELD

VARIOUS BITS OF NEWS.

WESTFIELD HAPPENINGS SERVED UP TERSELY FOR THE PRESS.

Many People Go and Come in the Pretty Suburban Town—Items Interesting Because of Their Brevity

The little village of Picton, on the Lehigh Valley Railroad, about one mile from Westfield, is now afflicted with a scourge of black snakes. Last summer a twenty-acre lot of the Scudder farm was leased by a local farmer and planted with corn. When the time came for harvesting the corn, the farm hands found the field a veritable nest of snakes. Hardly a day passed during the harvesting season when the hands did not dispatch a dozen or so of the reptiles. As fast as the snakes were killed they were laid along the road which passes the farm, and the sight was a source of terror to bicyclists who passed that way. A number of the farm hands left their work, terror-stricken by the snakes, and could not be induced to enter the field again. As cold weather drew near, however, it was thought that the snakes would leave the farm and retire to their winter quarters. A few days ago the work of husking the corn began and it was then found that the snakes were still in the corn. The work would be interrupted at frequent intervals by a yell from one of the men, who would pick up a snake instead of a whisp of corn. It was necessary to spread the stalks on the ground and rake them over thoroughly with sticks to separate the snakes from the corn, before the work of husking could be completed. Picton Scudder, a nephew of one of the proprietors of the farm, has kept a count of the number of snakes killed there during the season, and places it at 162. They range in size from eighteen inches to over six feet. The field has not been cultivated for several years, and has been known as "the snake patch." The people of the village have shunned it, although luscious berries grew there, as they were fearful of encountering the reptiles.

A successful supper was given in the Sunday school room of the Congregational church last evening under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society. The rooms were prettily decorated with potted plants and flowers and the tables, seven in number, were arranged about the room. Supper was served by the members of the society from 6 to 10 o'clock. The proceeds will go into the church treasury.

THEATRICAL.

A scene of special interest in "O'Brien, the Contractor," which comes to Music Hall Tuesday night, will be a touch of nature introduced between O'Brien and the children.

The little daughter of a wealthy lady meets O'Brien and with a child's intuitiveness recognizes the diamond in the rough, and through her friendliness, is the cause of her mother becoming the wife of O'Brien when he attains the fortune for which he has been working. It is all brought about so naturally and with so many deft touches of humor and pathos as to make it of special interest to all lovers of the good and beautiful in dramatic art.

Cole and Johnson, colored comedians, will be at Music Hall next Thursday night.

Mr. N. N. Osburn, well-known at Woodstock, Mich., was troubled with a lame back. He was persuaded to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It gave him relief in one night. This remedy is also famous for its cures of rheumatism. For sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner North and Park avenues.

GOLDBLOCKS.

Goldlocks sat on the grass,
 Looking up of posies fair.
 Her curls could a sunbeam pass
 Through the cloud that was her hair.

Purple orchids lasteth long,
 Primrose flowers are fair and clear,
 Oh, the maiden sang a song
 It would do you good to hear.

Sad before her leaved the boy,
 "Goldlocks, that I love well;
 Happy creature, fair and coy,
 Think o' me, sweet Annabel."

Goldlocks she shook apart,
 Looked with doubtful, doubtful eyes,
 Like a blossom in her heart,
 Opened out her first surprise.

The boy may clear his brow,
 Though she thinks to say him nay,
 When she sighs, "I cannot now;
 Come again some other day."

—Jean Ingelow.

THE ENGINE-DRIVER.

"Yes, sir. That old shuntin' engine that's puffin' an' snortin' like a broken-winded old horse, could tell a tale, if it wa'n't so short o' breath. That's the very engine old John Wright used to drive when I was his stoker. Let me see—I've been drivin' three year—aye, it'll be ten year come next September. He was a fine figure of a man, was John. He stood six feet one an' a half in his stockin's, an' was broad in the shoulders, too. In his greasy peaked cap, an' oily blue jacket, he looked a giant."

"Was he an old man?"

"Oh, no; he'd be forty odd, I suppose, but I was a young man of twenty-three, an' he seemed old, like, to me. As I've said, he was a bachelor an', as far as I knew, likely to remain one. There wa'n't much of the ladies' man about John. But still waters run deep, they say, an' John Wright had his little secret."

"About three mile out o' town, I used to notice that he whistled three times and always looked across a couple o' fields, a bit farther on, as if he were lookin' for somethin'. I asked him once or twice what it was, but he edged me off, an' changed the subject, so I didn't press it. But I kept my eyes open."

"It was early winter when I first went on to stoke for John, an', of course, bein' a goods train, it was generally gettin' on for eight o'clock at night when we passed this particular spot, bound for Barnham, fifty mile away. It's 'up bank,' as I daresay you know, from here to Longbridge, eight mile up the line, an' we never got any great speed on until we'd passed that length, especially when we'd a heavy freight. But all I could make out for some months was the dim outline of a cottage, that had an 'upstairs' window with a red blind. The cottage lay a couple o' fields away. What made me notice the red blind was that as we passed, the window was always suddenly lighted up."

"Aye, an' so was John Wright's face as soon as ever he saw it. Such a smile!—an' he had a kind face, nad old John—an' then he'd seem lost a bit, as if he were thinkin' o' somethin' as was good to think about."

"I chaffed John rarely about it, first time I saw it, an' he blushed—he did indeed sir! Though his face was grimy on the top, and copper color under that, I'll swear he blushed. But he looked pleased an' proud, for, by that time, we'd grown such thick friends, that I'm sure he didn't mind me knowin'."

"Then, bit by bit, it all came out. John and her father, who used to be pointsman at Chubb Junction, half a mile farther up the line than the cottage, had been lads together. John had gone up for a 'camp' every Sunday for many a year. He'd known Mary Mathers since she was born, an' when she was a little lass he'd nursed her on his knee, an' told her he'd wait for her. I dare say he meant it in fun at the time, but, as she grew up, he knew he liked to be where she was better than anywhere else in the world. That's how he put it, sir. Then Tom Mathers, her father, fell ill, an' I learnt afterwards, an' I guessed even then, that John Wright made his wages keep four instead of one. Mary's father never worked again. He was on his back for eighteen months, an' then he died."

"An' then, you may be sure, John was a father to the fatherless, an' a husband to the widow—as far as lookin' after 'em went, at any rate—only he wanted to be a husband to the daughter, Mary."

"Mary seemed to make no objection. Why should she? She'd never met anybody she liked better, an' a finer fellow than John Wright never walked!"

"One Saturday night he says: 'Harry, you'd better walk o'er wi' me to-morrow.'"

"'Walk o'er wi' you,' I says; 'where?'"

"'Why, to Mrs. Mathers', to be sure. I'd like you to know my Mary. An' then you can tell me what you think of my sweetheart.' An' as he said it that sweet, far-off look came in his face, an' I knew he loved that lass as few lasses are loved."

"Well, I went; an' I wished at the time I'd stayed away. It was love at first sight wi' me, an' I felt I should never, never be the same again. 'God forgiv' me! but after that Sunday I sat at times I loved John Wright. When she stood at the stile, at the crossing midway between the cottage an' the signal-box—as she did every evenin' from the very day I went wi' John—an' waved her hand to him, back o' like, an' he threw her a clumsy kiss I felt I could ha' knocked him on the engine."

"I fought again! It—an' you must understand, I didn't feel that way all the time, for we were good friends, an' no one would have seen a difference; but when he talked of her, in his quiet way—of bein' wed, an' such-like—it was like knives in me."

"Then he pressed me to go again an' spend Sunday at the cottage. I put him off, but he wouldn't take 'no' for an answer. So, whether for fear of hurtin' his feelings, or because I couldn't keep away, I can't say, but I yielded, an' went. After that I went several times, an' each time I got deeper an' deeper in love with John's sweetheart, aye, an' what seemed worse, I couldn't help knowin' that Mary was troubled the same way. But I will say this, I never tried to make Mary love me, an' never a word of love passed between us, but, sometimes, I thought I saw trouble in John's eyes, an' then I vow to myself to go no more."

"One evenin', in the early autumn of that year, we were goin' at as good a speed as the incline would let us, an' just gettin' towards the cottage. John had sent me around to the front o' the engine with my oil-can, an' I couldn't help lookin' ahead to see if Mary was standin' waitin' at the stile. Yes, she was there as usual, right in front of us, for the line curved to the right just at the stile, an' was hidin' from view behind a little wood. I could see her print dress, an' the same white linen bonnet she wore when I first saw her in the garden on that spring evenin'. Oh, how my heart went out to her, an' how that old wicked feelin' towards John rushed through me, an' made my nerves tingle from head to foot."

"Mary had her back towards us—a very unusual thing—an' I remember wonderin' why. Then the usual three whistles sounded, short an' sharp. She turned instantly, an' threw up her hands like one demented. We went thunderin' down to the crossin' where she stood, an' I saw her eyes starin' at me, like coals of fire set in a face as white as chalk. She fascinated me."

"Just then old John shut off steam, an' I heard him doin' a thing he'd never done afore—reversin' the engine! All of a sudden Mary seemed to wake up, an' find a horrible dream true, for I heard above the roar of the train, the grindin' of the rails, an' the shriek of the brakes, that had been jammed hard down—I heard one piercing scream. It was a word—my name—'Harry!'"

"Of course, all this happened in a breathless second or two. Half a lifetime is sometimes squeezed into half a minute, sir. I took my eyes from Mary's face as we passed her, standin' as if turned to stone, an' I looked ahead. Heavens! what a sight! Bearin' down on us at a great speed was an engine an' tender—a runaway! It was comin' down the bank tender first, an' we were timed to meet at the junction. I saw it all in a flash. The train was jumpin' like a buckin' horse, an', with my body all of a tremble, I'd as much as I could do to get back to the foot-plate."

"There stood John Wright, of course. I seemed to see him, an' naught else. He'd done all man could do, an' was standin' stock-still, with one hand on the lever. But it wasn't his stillness that made the tears start to my eyes. It was the look on his face. It made me nearly forget the doom to which we were rushing. I can't describe it. It was the look of a man who has nothing left to live for—whose hope had been suddenly wiped clean out for ever."

"The instant he saw me his face changed. He sprang towards me an', seizin' me by the arm with a grip of steel, spoke in a hoarse whisper that could be heard above everything: 'Jump off, my lad—you've time—you can do it. Jump off!—for her sake—she loves thee, lad—she loves thee—for her sake. Harry—for Heaven's sake!'"

"I said, 'Nay, John.'"

"'Quick,' he says. 'Harry! Harry! Jump for your Mary's sake!'"

"I swung one leg off the engine—life was dear—an' prepared to spring into the grass. Then a great surgin' love for this man came over me, an' I turned sudden-like, an' took him by the hand, an' I says, 'John, we'll stick together, an' die together—if it's God's will—for her sake.' An' he just gave me that sweet look, an' stepped in front of me, as if to put his great frame betwixt me an' death, an' there came a crash as if heaven an' earth had met, an' I seemed to roll over an' over, an' then it felt as if the whole earth had risen up an' smitten me—an' I knew no more."

"I woke from a troubled dream, that seemed to have lasted a lifetime, an' opened my eyes, half conscious, an' not sure but I was still dreamin'."

"Then I slipped off again, an' I remember thinkin' that the sweet eyes, that mine had seemed to meet, were the eyes of my guardian angel. An' they were sir—for, when I opened my eyes again, all the past came back to me with the tearful face of Mary Mathers."

"I put my hand out on the counterpane, an' she put hers gently on the top of it. An', believe me, sir, that's the only way I ever 'popped' the question. We'd been through too much together to need much fuss."

"'Where is he?' I framed my lips to say. I don't know whether she heard, but she understood, for she put her hand into her bosom, an' drew out a black-edged card, an' held it before my eyes, whilst her own filled again with tears. I read: 'In loving memory of John Wright, who was killed at the post of duty.'"

"'And you've been happy in your married life?'"

"'Happy! Happy isn't the word for it, sir. Ours is one of the matches made in Heaven.'"

"SAYINGS OF JESUS."

THE RECENTLY DISCOVERED LOGIA—THE MEN WHO FOUND THEM.

A Collection of Words Uttered by Our Lord and Proof That They Are at Least 100 Years Older Than Any Known Manuscript of the Gospels.

Last winter, on behalf of the Egypt Exploration Fund, says the London Daily Graphic, Messrs. R. P. Grenfell and A. S. Hunt conducted excavations at Behnesa, a picturesque little village, standing on the site of ancient Oxyrhynchus, upon the west bank of the Bahr Yusuf Canal, and their labors resulted in the discovery of larger quantities of papyrus than had ever before been obtained from one site. The discoveries included literary fragments, accounts, business contracts and numerous documents relating to the conduct of municipal affairs. Many large rolls were obtained in perfect condition, and of these no fewer than 150 were presented to the Gizeh Museum. But the greatest treasure of the collection, and one of which it would be difficult to over-estimate the importance, is a small leaf of papyrus about six inches long by four wide, upon which is written a collection of logia, or sayings of Christ. The leaf had evidently formed part of a book which in all likelihood contained a collection of "sayings" of our Lord. It is probable that this collection was made before the second century; and the character of the writing affords incontestable proof that it cannot be of later date than the third. Hence it is at least a hundred years older than any known MS. of the Gospels, and consequently of the greatest interest to all students of the Scriptures.

Mr. Henry Prowde has recently published a pamphlet which contains illustrations of the precious fragment, renotes by the fortunate discoverers of the papyrus. All the logia commence with the words "Jesus saith," and it is natural to suppose that they are the teachings of our Lord as popularly reported in Egypt in the second and third centuries, which some early Christian of those times committed to writing, either for his own edification or that of his co-religionists. No doubt there were many such collections made in those days, and as the Egypt Exploration Fund proposes to establish a special department for the investigation of Gaeo-Roman sites, we hope that further treasures such as Messrs. Grenfell and Hunt have this year secured for England may be forthcoming, if only the work meets with the financial support which it merits.—Philadelphia Ledger.

THE SMALLEST CITY.

It Has a Regular City Government, but Only 100 Inhabitants.

John De Salme bears the unique distinction of being mayor of the smallest city in the world. He is the chief executive of Fenton, a beautiful little hamlet on the picturesque Meramec river, fifteen miles to the south and west of St. Louis.

There are less than 100 people in Fenton, yet it has been an incorporated city for more than twenty years. And during that time it has grown considerably. When it was first incorporated there were less than forty-five inhabitants in the place.

It is the only city of its size, in all probability, in the world that is incorporated and has a mayor and a full quota of city officials.

There has not been a prisoner in the city jail for over five years, and the structure has been allowed to degenerate into a pig pen, where a drove of hogs now make their home.—St. Louis Republic.

Senator Vest's Favorite Yarn.

Senator Vest has a favorite story which he has told on the occasion of many a political speech, but, so far as known, never on the floor of the United States Senate, says an exchange.

"A temperance lecturer was struggling against odds in Kentucky," says the Senator. "He was talking to a not very large audience that had been drawn to the hall by curiosity. 'The effect of alcohol is to shorten life,' said the lecturer."

"An old man at the rear of the hall rose at that juncture and said, 'You're a liar.'"

"'Why?' inquired the advocate of Adam's ale."

"'Because, sir, I've been drinking for seventy-five years, and I am 90 and am likely to live to be 100. I am strong enough to lick you if you'll step outside.'"

"Oh, no doubt, sir. You're an exception, sir. If you keep on drinking—the lecturer paused."

"'What?' asked the impatient old toper."

"'If you keep on drinking, you'll have to be shot on judgment day.'"—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

EVERY-DAY RELIGION.

"Earth has nothing more tender than a woman's heart when it is the abode of piety."—Martin Luther.

It is a part of my religion to look well after the cheerfulness of life and let the dismal fight for themselves.—Louisa M. Alcott.

The man or woman who smiles, filling the hearts of friends from day to day with sunshine, does more for the world than all the medicines of the apothecary.

Endeavor to be patient in bearing with the defects and infirmities of others, of what sort soever they be, for that itself also has many failings, which must be borne with by others.—Thomas a Kempis.

GOSSIP FROM GRIDIRON.

HAPPENINGS AMONG THE LOCAL FOOTBALL PLAYERS.

Gains That are to be Played and Points About Teams and Individual Players That May Prove Interesting to Cranks.

James Hennessey, who played full back on the Long Branch A. C. eleven in this city a month ago, was killed several days ago at the Long Branch station. He was struck by a passing train and hurled some distance. When picked up he was dead. Hennessey was a good player and a gentlemanly one. He made many friends among the Plainfield players and all were sorry indeed to learn of his death.

The Irvington Athletic Club, whose eleven is to meet the Plainfield A. A. on the Martine common next Saturday afternoon, comes from the suburban town of Irvington, not far from Newark. The captain is a college graduate, now a young lawyer in Newark, and the team is composed of young business men of a similar caliber as those of the Plainfield team. The Irvingtons have the reputation of being a strong gentlemanly team and while the Plainfield boys may meet defeat at their hands, the game is sure to be a clean and interesting one.

The football season is now almost over and Plainfield has seen a number of exciting games in this city. The Plainfield A. A. has proved a strong team and capable of holding its own among some of the best teams in this district. The tie games with the Long Branch A. C. and the San Remo Club were particularly creditable. The Plainfield A. A. team will play two more games at home. The one next Saturday will be with the Irvington A. C., and on Thanksgiving Day afternoon, the famous San Remos will again try conclusions with the local players.

BASKET BALL.

Last night the Y. M. C. A. team lined up for a lively struggle against the team from Summit. No sooner had the game commenced than the members from over the hill showed their intentions by making several sharp and well-directed passes. The time was called for first half with a score of 8 to 6 in favor of the visitors. Time was again called in ten minutes to decide which team should wear the laurels. The second half opened with a change of goal, which meant to the home team "now or never." Brilliant moves were made by both teams, but Plainfield's guards proved their efficiency by keeping the ball from their opponents' goal. Five minutes before time was called the scores were tied. Then came the exciting moments. Each captain inspired his men with words of encouragement. Then it was that the agility of the home team was manifested. The game ended with a score of 16 to 12 in favor of Plainfield. The team that represented the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. in the game consisted of E. Morrell, right forward; Long, left forward; Egan, center; Smith, right guard; M. Morrell, left guard. The goals were thrown by E. Morrell, 3; Long, 3; Egan, 1; M. Morrell, 1. There was only one foul called in the game and that was on Plainfield. The game was rather a fierce one and several of the players received slight injuries.

The judge will probably be Olaf Saugstad, superintendent of the club. The society will meet every week and debate some popular question of the day.

The letter was sent from Baltimore where the duo were yesterday. Both report being in the best of health and are getting along well. They will remain in Washington over Sunday, after which they will continue their journey south.

Catarrh Means Danger.

Because if unchecked it may lead directly to consumption. Catarrh is caused by impure blood. This fact is fully established. Therefore, it is useless to try to cure catarrh by outward applications or inhalants. The true way to cure catarrh is to purify the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier, cures catarrh by its power to drive out all impurities from the blood. Thousands of people testify that they have been perfectly and permanently cured of catarrh by Hood's Sarsaparilla.
