CAUSTIC COMMENTS.

He Looks at the Citizens' Movement as Representative of Spiteful and Backward Sentiment Among a Very Few To the Editor of The Daily Press:-According to last night's Press the movement to organize a Citizens' ticket is fast materializing. It seems to be the "old fight" to be fought over were called a year ago.

There is to be a public meeting tomorrow night, I observe, of citizens, who demand a retrenchment in public expenditures.

When these disgruntled taxpayers meet let them pass resolutions denouncing our public spirited councilmen for improving and keeping clean the streets; for giving our city a sewer system to prevent sickness or pestilence; for granting a trolley franchise; for a water supply; for fine police and fire departments.

Let resolutions also be passed favorspent there so foolishly.

Let the townpeople rebuke the commuters so that their wives and daughters give no more Fetes to No matter if shop keepers lose trade, less work be given our wage earners, fewer buildings constructed or houses rented!

MISSION WORK IN FRANCE.

An Interesting Lecture to be Given Under the Auspices of McAil Auxilary.

Rev. J. F. Loba, in the chapel of the annual meeting of the American McAll Association.

We quote a portion of an article of the evangelist of May 20th; "Last Wednesday evening Rev. J, F. Loba, D. D., of Evanston, who for a time was in the McAll work in Paris, gave a lecture on 'The Work in France,' illustrated with stereopticon views, The lecture first presented some of the historic buildings of the city, next gave some scenes of the commune, and then described the work carried boat. Dr. Loba is an exceedingly winning speaker, and his intimate knowledge of the Mission lends authority to his opinion."

NO DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

It is Stated That Democrats Will Unite With the Citizens

It was definitely decided this morning that no regular Democratic ticket would be put in the field for the city election campaign. The following statement was furnished The Press for publication today: To the Public:

The Democrats of the city of Plainfield deem it inexpedient and unwise to make a party ticket in the coming municipal election. While adhering to our political faith we feel that the best interests of the city should be paramount to partisan interest, and to that end we will not present a party ticket, thereby leaving the field open for a Citizens' movement irrespective of parties. We believe a change in the present administration is necessary for the best interests of our city.

Business Transacted by John Hand Camp Last Evening.

One recruit was mustered at the meeting of John Hand Camp, No. 28, Sons of Veterans, held last evening. The fair committee made a report and it is thought that about $275 will be made as profit from the recent fair. It was announced that at the next meeting, November 30th, the Camp would be inspected. At the same time nomination for officers will be made. A communication was received from the Division officers asking the Camp to contest for a Division banner which is being offered to the Camp that makes the best showing during the year. The by-law committee made a final report and the Camp Council was instructed to have the same printed in pamphlet form.

the Death of William Neurowski,

Prosecutor Nelson Y. Dungan, of Somerset county, has ordered an autopsy to be made on the body of William Neurowski, a mill worker, who died at his home in Somerville Sunday night. The physician who attended Neurowski says that his death was caused by fever, while the wife of the dead man charges that he died from a stab wound in the side inflicted by some Poles a few weeks

Neurowski, Chas. Reis, his brother William, Harry Nawak and Henry and Charles Bartch, it is alleged, were drinking in a saloon at that time, and a quarrel arose, during which Neurowski was stabbed several times. All were arrested with the exception of Neurowski for assault on him, and were tried in the Somerset County Court. The jury acquitted the accused, regarding the matter in the light of a family row, as it came out that some of the accused men were related to Neurowski.

If the autopsy which Prosecutor Dungan has ordered shows that a stab wound, and not fever, caused the death of Neurowski, the men who were tried and acquitted for assault may be rearrested this time on a charge of manslaughter.

MONETARY COMMISSION

Full Report of the Conference Has Reached This Country.

VERY LENGTHY DOCUMENT

Negotiations Fell Through, Not withstanding the Expressed Willingness of the French Govern ment to Open Its Mints.

Washington, Nov. 17 .- The official report of the correspondence in regard to bimetallic proposals of the United States Monetary Commission to the Government of Great Britain, together with the report of the proceedings at the conference of the British Premier, the Secretary of State for India, the First Lord of the Treasury and the Chancellor of the Exchequer, with the French ambassador and our commis-sioners, has reached this country.

The negotiations fell through notwithstanding the expressed willingness of the French Government to open its mints, owing to the rejection by the British Government of the proposition to again open the Indian mints to free coinage of silver. None of the other propositions was replied to because that one, the most important of the concessions requested of Great Britain, could not be conceded to.

The Government of Great Britain, in making her answer, deferred to the wishes of the Government of India, to which the proposal was referred, and the reply of the Government of India, therefore, is the most important communication in the correspondence. is a lengthy document, in which the advantages, pro and con, to India are argued, and a very strong case from their standpoint is made out in favor of the rejection of the proposal.

BANK WRECKING LEADS TO RIOTING A Mob at English, Ind., Waiting for a Fugitive Banker's Return. Indianapolis, Nov. 17.—The excitement at English, Crawford County, was intense yesterday, and the town has been patrolled by fifty extra deputy sheriffs. The excitement grows out of the bank failures there and at Leavenworth and Marango last week. The operations of President Weathers and Cashier Willett wrecked the three institutions and involved every business man in the two counties of Perry and Monday, after a partial investigation, the liabilities of the three institutions were roughly estimated at $160,000, with the personal indebtedness of the two men something in excess of that amount, and word was received that Weathers, who has been in hiding in Harrison County, was willing to return if protection were guaranteed. He said that he would settle up the affairs of the banks, and guarantee to pay seventy-five cents on the dollar. He was invited to return.

When the creditors heard of his intended return they began to assemble upon the streets, and by 10 o'clock Monday night English was in the hands of a mob. The angry men paraded the streets all night, and yesterday morn-ing Sheriff Ballard tried to disperse them, but he was answered only by shouts of defiance. He then swore in a number of deputies, but the latter are in sympathy with the people and refused to do anything till a movement was made to demolish the brick building in which the bank's fixtures and a small amount of cash remain. This was prevented, and the Sheriff left for Harrison County to bring Weathers back, leaving the town in charge of a deputy.

Some twenty of Weathers' friends accompanied the Sheriff, and a crowd is now awaiting their return. It is not believed that Sheriff Ballard will dare if he does trouble is expected.

South Carolina Stirred Up.

Columbia, S. C., Nov. 17.-The State is stirred up over the recent murder of the Rev. J. H. Turner of Spartanburg, by Chief State Constable Newbold, and subsequent events. Newbold caped from Spartanburg when the killing occurred, last Wednesday. On Saturday the Governor offered a reward for his delivery to the Sheriff of Spartanburg. Since that time the police here have evidence that Newbold is in Columbia, that he was driven here by a friend from Winsboro, and that he delivered himself to Gov. Ellerbe on condition that he would not be sent to subsides. The Governor refused to talk. Some people think that Newbold was in hiding in the Governor's mansion.

New German Ambassador.

New York, Nov. 17 .- Dr. Theodore von Holleben, the new German Ambassador to the United States, arrived yes-terday on the North German Lloyd steamship Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse and proceeded to Washington. The Ambassador's face is much scarred with the marks made by the swords of young men with whom he fought duels in the days when he was a student. He was formerly in the diplomatic service in China and Japan. He has traveled in many parts of the earth and speaks several languages.

Paris, Nov. 17 .- M. Mathieu Dreyfus, brother of Capt. Alfred Dreyfus, who 's now serving a sentence of life impris-onment under conviction by a court martial of having betrayed Government secrets to a foreign Government has addressed a letter to Gen. Billot, Minister of War, accusing Count Wals ing Esterhazy of the crime of which Capt. Dreyfus was made the victim. SETTLED AT A FEA . CO T. The Bribery Case Amainst Van Valk enburg Dropped. Pottsville, Pa., Nov. 17 .- A settlement was reached yesterday in the case of F. A. Van Valkenburg, who was charged with bribing Representative Weiss, of Northampton County, to vote for John Wanamaker for United States Senator last Winter. In making the settlement $1,516.12 was handed over to the District Attorney in payment of the local court costs. The defendant and some of his principal witnesses and attorneys were present in court, and so were the District Attorney, Detective McSweeney and the local attorney of the prosecution. These court costs are only a small part of the entire bill of expenses. The money to pay them was furnished by the private secretary of one of Pennsylvania's leading Congressmen, a man very close to Senator

When Quay came home from Florida in September on his first visit to Philadelphia he met Secretary of the Commonwealth Martin, and among other points he insisted that Martin must have the Van Valkenburg case nolle prossed. Martin said that he had no connection with the case, and that anyhow the question of a settlement would rest with the prosecution; that the Quay people were the prosecutors; that the defendant insisted on a trial, and that the only way to reach the defendant was by going over his head to Thomas Dolan. The pressure for a settlement of the case was very strong and the big independent vote for Swallow scared the leaders of the warring factions into an agreement that the case must positively be settled. As further disclosures of shady political transactions would result in the positive defeat of the Republican ticket next year, not only the candidate for Gov-ernor, but many of the statesmen of the State joined in the demand for a settlement.

The next question was, where was the money to come from, as it would require fully forty thousand dollars to pay all the detective and legal costs of both sides. The Quay people went to State Republican headquarters and wanted this to be made a State campaign debt, but the managers would not consent to this, because they had not enough money to run the cam naign for themselves and were many thousands of dollars in debt. Congress man Connell, of Scranton, it has been repeatedly said and never denied, was willing to liquidate all indebtedness on consideration of his being made the next Gubernatorial candidate. Finally it was decided that Quay should take care of the prosecution expenditures, and that Connell would pay the legitimate court costs. The Quay people are said to have paid, before this talk of settlement, nearly twenty thousand dollars to the detective agency that was used to try and entrap the Wana-maker people. In making the final settlement the Quay people said that they would take care of the detectives and attorneys, while Connell was to pay the rest of the bill, but Connell did not get any promise of the Gubernatorial omination.

The court costs run about fifteen undred dollars, the detective agency's bill all told nearly thirty thousand dolars, and the attorneys' fees for the de fence will run close onto ten thousand iollars, the principal counsel getting $5,000, while the others get fees rang-ing from three hundred to one thousand dollars. There were eight lawyers in all acting for the defence. Of the prosecution, the leading lawyer, Mr. Lenahan, of Wilkesbarre, gets his fee out of the money paid to the detect-ives, and the detectives also paid the local attorneys for the prosecution.

> Convict Leases to Continue. Atlanta, Nov. 17.—Unless present in dications are untrustworthy the old convict-lease system will be re-enacted in Georgia. The shooking disclosures of brutality in the camps a few months ago made it seem probable that reform legislation would be passed, but the present General Assembly, by several test votes, has demonstrated its opposition to the bill presented. An amendment to the reform bill was introduced resterday providing for a return to the old system, and it will probably pre-

A Strange Story Reaches Ambass dor Hay in London.

London, Nov. 17 .- The American Emassy here is having some trouble in investigating a strange story of the alleged kidnapping of an American citizen, which, despite its improbability, compels inquiry. A respectable man, describing himself as John Garner, a schoolmaster, of Harrow road, brought to the Embassy yesterday a letter ad-dressed to the American Ambassador and superscribed: "Will the finder de-liver immediately, for God's sake?"

THORN'S SAW IS FOUND

Imbedded in the Ground Near Where Mrs. Nack Indicated.

RESULT OF SUNDAY'S RIDE

The Instrument With Which Guldensuppe's Bones Were Disintegrated Found Near the Spot Pointed Out by Mrs. Nack.

New York, Nov. 17 .- The saw with which Mrs. Augusta Nack says Martin Thorn severed the bones of William Guldensuppe's body in the Woodside yesterday within one hundred feet of where the woman said it was thrown by Thorn.

The saw was found at the bottom of an elevation known as College Point Hill and known also as Stratton's Hill. This place is about a mile oftside of Flushing, on the way to College Point.

The find was made by Anton Tastenher friends, who were counted by ski, a Pole, who was working in the scores, though some of these friends ski, a Pole, who was working in the who knew her best intimated that she employ of District Attorney Youngs, was not always as happy as she seemed Tastenski had swung a scythe vigorously over the ground in the neighbor-hood from early Monday morning until man Harris found her body floating in nightfall, mowing down the meadow the reservoir. It was removed to the grass and underbrush with which it Most of the clothing was new and was covered and had started in again at daylight yesterday morning by direction of the District Attorney. A lit-tle before 10 o'clock the point of the scythe struck an obstacle only a little above the surface of the ground, which stubbornly impeded its motion. Tasten-ski found the end of the steel blade firmly imbedded in the wooden handle of a saw, and immediately notified the District Attorney of his find by telephone.

Police Captain William Methyen was dispatched to secure the new link in the chain of evidence, and at a little before noon he returned to Youngs' office with the trophy. The blade of the saw had been buried in the earth, being pressed down vertically and only a small part of the handle being left exposed. It is a brand new saw and very fine, and is similar to those generally used by surgeons in sawing bones. It is partly covered with rust, but there were no blood stains on it.

Result of the Search in the Coach After Mrs. Nack's dramatic recital of details of the murder of Guldensuppe in court last week, District Attorney Youngs had a long talk with her in her cell, and while he was reticent about the result of the conference, it is said that it was productive of revelations which might prove valuable in com-pleting the chain of evidence needed to corroborate Mrs. Nack's confession. It is certain that early on Sunday morning the woman was taken away from the prison in a coach, in which rode also the District Attorney, Capt. Methven and Detective Denis Sullivan, of and found a lucid narrative, which was signed by Henry S. Clay. It declared that the writer was a resident of Bos-

District Attorney Youngs was not satisfied, and while his faith in the woman's story was not shaken, he decided upon the measures which since resulted in the finding of the saw.

That the instrument was imbedded in the earth, within one hundred feet of where Thorn's accomplice declared it to be, is regarded as strong proof of London, Nov. 17.—The officials of the the genuineness of her pretentions to knowledge of its whereabouts, for she

New Search for Guldensuppe's Head. It is said that still further efforts to discover the head of the murdered man will be made by the authorities be-tween now and next Monday. This will be done with the aid of information furnished to the District Attorney by Mrs. Nack. On the witness stand the latter made the statement that Thorn across the river. The programme now is to take her from the jail in the custody of officers and traverse the route over which and Thorn probably passed when the head was disposed of.

Aged Former Judge Alward in a Critical Condition at His Elizabeth Home,

Former Judge Joseph Alward, the oldest member but one of the Union County Bar, is lying very low at his home in Elizabeth, and his recovery is not expected. He has heart trouble, brought on, it is said, by riding the bicycle for the past six months.

Lawyer Alward is seventy years of age and was the first Judge of the Elizabeth District Court. He also served as a member of the Elizabeth City Council, was City Attorney and also Superintendent of Public Schools. He is one of the deacons of the First Presbyterian church, and in politics has always been a Democrat. He has been a member of the Union County Bar over forty years. Thomas Shafer, of Rahway, is the only member who antedates him.

WILD ENGINE'S RAPID RUN.

Out Loose from Train by Collision, it Sped at Fifty Miles an Hour,

There was another accident on the Lehigh Valley Railroad, at Landsdown, Monday evening. The fast east bound freight struck east bound passenger train No. 50, knocking the engine loose from the train.

The engineer could not control his engine and, with the firemen, escaped injury by jumping. Word was quick ly telegraphed along the line to look out for the runaway engine. It soon reached the rate of about fifty miles an hour, but by the time it reached Flemington Junction its speed had been greatly reduced, so that it was only running at about thirty miles an an hour.

The engine was derailed near Neshanic, where it lies, badly wrecked. No one was injured. Traffic was delayed for a short time.

-A bright, well-dressed, smoothtongued man thoroughly canvassed Glassboro about four weeks ago and took many orders for pounds of tea at 60 cents a pound. His great attraction was a fine eight day clock which was to be delivered subsequently. The purchasers, still looking for their clocks, have just begun to realize that they were victimized.

-This evening in the rooms over the Misses Gorsline's store on West Front sfreet, the members of Class No. 1, of Trinity Reformed church Sunday school, will serve a delightful Klondike supper to their friends for twenty-five cents. The object is to raise funds to furnish the new Sunday school rooms, and the supper should be well patronized.

-In the accounts of the Spielkartenfest, The Press neglected to give more than passing notice to the orchestra, which was furnished by George Rogers, of this city. It was very satisfactory to all and received much commendation for the excellent manner in which the different selecproved himself a good leader and he

SPRING STREET FRACAS.

LANDLORD AND TENANT COME TO BLOWS.

The Latter Was Worsted and Camped Out of Doors-Death of Bernard Williams-Court News and Other Items. A lively fracas occurred between a landlord and tenant on Spring street, last evening, Mrs. Mary Holmes rented a house some time ago of Julia Kane and got in arrears for her rent. Yesterday she decided to vacate the house, but Mrs. Kane would not at first allow her to remove the furniture until the rent was paid. Mrs. Holmes sought a Justice to obtain relief. While she was gone her landlord ex perienced a change of heart and began removing the furniture to the side walk. Mrs. Holmes returned as it was growing dark and found her chattels standing on the sidewalk in the rain. In this unexpected plight she changed her mind and attempted to move her furniture back into the house. The two women came to hot words and then to blows, and Constable Marsh had to be summoned to quell the disturbance. The tenant was not able to regain possession of the house, however, and kept a lonely vigil over her furniture throughout the night. Both parties declare that they will carry the matter to the courts. Justice Collins yesterday issued summons in the contract case of Dr. Theodore Smith, of Westfield, against Daniel M. ENTOMBED 13 DAYS.

THE PLUCKY FIGHT FOR LIFE OF MINER STEVENS.

His Rescuers Dug Through 127 Feet of Hammer Now and Then to Let the Boys Know He Was There.

A remarkable instance of physical endurance has been brought to notice in Arizona, where a miner was entombed for thirteen days in the Mammoth mine by a cave-in, and his rescuers dug through 127 feet of hard perphyritic rock to save his life. James Levens, the miner, stopped in Denver on his way to his family in Central City, and told his story. Stevens is a ran of medium size. An Englishman by birth, he has lived in the mines of C lorado for eighteen years, during waich time his habits were of the most icgular nature. It was due to his past lie and his sturdy constitution that he survived the ordeal of existing in a Larrow drift underground without food or water in dense darkness for thirteen days. Men have survived a longer fast than that he was forced to undergo, but not under such discouraging con-

"I am feeling pretty well now," he said, "though kind of weak here"-rubbing his hand across his stomach-"and my legs are still shaky. I've quit gaining in flesh now, though I still lack ten or twelve pounds of weighing what I did before the cave-in. But you should have seen me grow the first days after I was out. I could feel the flesh coming on just the same as felt it leaving me in the mine. weighed 156 pounds before, and when they pulled me out I weighed only 112 pounds. I lost that weight in just thirteen days and ten hours.

"When I went to work on Sunday night, the old timbers in the workedout portion of the mine were creaking That was nothing unusual, for it had been going on for a long time. We all knew that the cave-in must come some quite so soon. Preparations had been made to fill in the stopes with dirt from the new extensions in order to make that old part safe. I was working alone in the second level extension that old part safe. I was working alone in the second level extension the residence of Samuel G. Ward, of into new ground, away from the old Boston.

"As I stood in the drift, thinking what it was best to do, there came a fearful roar, the ground about me trembled, and I knew it was all up with me. I could hear the old timbers crashing as they broke under the weight of the mass of rock above them and the thud of the rock and dirt falling down into the lower drifts and stopes. I jumped back and ran toward the breast of the drift. The air blew in strong, puffed out my candle, and filled my throat with dust.

"Then I lay down and tried to think it all out. I was penned in good and tight, and there was nothing to do but to wait, and, maybe, die. As soon as I had made up my mind to the situation I began to take account of stock. I found I had a piece of cake and two pieces of pie in my dinner bucket, and about two quarts of water. I had two candles and fifteen matches. My tobacco I threw away, thinking that it might cause me more harm than good. decided not to eat excepting when th pangs of hunger grew too severe and then only to take a small nibble of the pie or the cake. I might as well have eaten the food all at one time, for the nibbles seemed only to make the pains more severe.

"About three hours after the cave-in I heard sounds of rescue work. First it was a rapping on the air box, and I knew that the men must be down in the third level near the main working shaft, for the airbox came up to the new extension from there. I took my hammer and rapped back, and then they knew that I was alive. Then they began to sink near the prospect shaft. I listened to their working when I was not sleeping, until on Wednesday all sound ceased. I listened and waited, and wondered what had happened. Not a blow was struck for five hours. It was then that I began to give up all hope. If they could not reach me that way, how was I to escape? That was the toughest day of the whole time. I was in intense pain from hunger and thirst. My throat hurt me very much. It was hot, and stinging pains chased each other right along. Sometimes the stomach pains were so severe that I was helpless and after they would die away I lay back exhausted. The last bit of food had disappeared on Tuesday noon. It was just as well that no other man was left in the drift with me, for one of us would have certainly eaten the other.

"There was not a drop of water in the drift after my canteen was exhausted, and my throat pains were frightful. After that awful silence of five hours on Wednesday I heard sounds in a new place. I located them up in new ground and then I knew that they were going to sink for me through the rock. I was doubtful about it. I sized up my strength and decided that I might hold out nine or ten days altogether. Three days were already gone and they had to blast through 127 feet

"The pains now eased up, and the spasms occurred only once or twice a day. I realized I was getting weaker rapidly, and I felt as though my flesh was dropping off. My knees grew so weak that I could hardly stand. I wondered if, after all, I should die easy, with no horrible pangs of thirs or hunger. I slept all I could, and the only exertion I made was to knock with my hammer once or twice a day to bear. I was afraid that they might Rosy Cheeks give up and conclude that I was dead. The pains increased and I was in constant agony. My mind was beginning to weaken, but I tried to think rationally. I hammered and scraped every little while to assure them that Rock to Save Him-He Tapped with His I was alive. This made them think I was crazy, I afterward learned.

"On Saturday morning, about " o'clock I saw light and the glisten of adrill point. I jumped up and shouted,

Is that you Joe?, " 'That you, Jim?' came back to me "'For God's sake give me water,' I

"'Can't do it, old fellow,' the answer came, and then the men worked away faster than ever. "In a few moments they had made a hole and I was pulled through. They would give me no water, but some medicine, and then they put me back in the drift to wait until the sun went down. They said the mercury was 105 degrees and that I could not stand the heat and light. After sundown I was hauled out in a bucket and the men cheered. They wanted to carry me to the reading room, but I would not have it, and I walked a hundred yards. Then I went to bed. For three days more they made me do without water, giving me only medicine. I had to live on chicken broth for two days and still without water. Then I drank and ate a smashing dinner. The first three days I gained fifteen pounds and I mended rapidly after that. The boys got up a benefit ball for me and the company paid me full wages for the time I was underground and did not charge me a cent for my board."

JENNY LIND'S MARRIAGE.

It occurred at Boston and Her Honeymoon Was Spent at Northampton.

Of all those who took part in the concerts of Jenny Lind in this country nearly fifty years ago, the least distinguished of them all was the pianist, Otto Goldschmidt, but he distinguished at a great rate and the dirt was flying. himself sufficiently shortly afterward by marrying her.

This last event was foreshadowed by a quiet visit to Northampton in time, but nobody was looking for it Jan. 1852, when she engaged a suite of rooms at Round Hill hotel. A

The utmost secrecy was observed regarding the mrriage, and in fact, nothing was known of it until Mr. Goldschmidt went for the certificate on the morning of the wedding. As she said, she "cheated the people nicely." Her silver was marked with an O enclosing a J, which were afterwards found out to mean Otto and Jenny. She said she was nothing but a cipher anyway. Her life in Northampton was passed in much the same way that a cultured American woman would pass her time in Sweden. The manners and customs of our countrymen and women were as interesting and amusing to her as those of Sweden would be to us. She wanted no society, but simply to enjoy her honeymoon quietly and in her own way. She was welcome everywhere, and she made use of her freedom by paying visits wherever her fancy led her. She was not generous in the large sense; her larger gifts in this country at first being part of Mr. Barnum's advertising scheme, but she delighted in distributing small sums just as an American traveler with plenty of money would do in Europe, and these she placed where they would do the most good. Before leaving Northampton in May, 1852, Mr. and Mrs. Goldschmidt gave a farewell private charity concert in the new town hall, which netted nearly $1,000. Of this sum $700 was given to the library of the "Young Men's Institute," the nucleus of the present Clarke library, and the remainder placed in the hands of Dr. Wm. Allen for private charities.

The illustration herewith is from a daguerreotype of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Goldschmidt, taken soon after their marriage. The pose is characteristically foreign. You may see just such groups in any gallery where the young people go who have not been long on our shores. Their affection is always frank. We were always grateful to Jenny Lind for looking the camera and us straight in the eye, and glad Mr. Goldschmidt did not. It would have spoiled the charm.—asthampton

Her Attractions.

The following story is told of Mrs. The following story is told of Mrs. Livery and boarding stable in all its branches Julia Ward Howe: One day she appeared at a club of which she is a month. Telephone No. 123 peared at a club of which she is a member with her bonnet wrong side front. After some hesitation a member of the organization informed her There has not been an increase made in the of her mistake. "What a blow to my vanity!" said Mrs. Howe, with a smile "I thought I was receiving an unusual amount of attention as I came down to pull through with the old prices.

evidently, and the business should be done by all means. Buildings require paint. Of course a house may be left unpainted and left to become weatherbeaten and a wreck. That doesn't pay, though; it's much cheaper to paint, and our paints in all colors are the best in the market for durability under the most trying conditions. They are well adapted to our exposure and we sell everything in the line of paints and painters, supplies at short prices.

THEY WANT THE TWIN CITIES.

Gunn and Mrs. Holloway Lay Claim to 7,000 Acres in Minnesota. Washington, Nov. 17.-A legal repre sentative of two Ohio men astonished Commissioner Hermann, of the General Land Office, yesterday by requesting his assistance in securing official papers to establish the right of his clients to 7,000,000 acres of land, embracing the cities of St. Paul and Minneapolis and much of the surrounding country. The claimants are A. N. Gunn, of Maumee, and Mrs. C. B. Holloway, of Holland. They are descendants of an English pioneer, Jonathan Carver, who settled in the Northwest before the Revolutionary war, became chief of an Indian tribe, and, according to the claimants, Kiaochan Bay, where marines and received a large tract of land from the Indians. It is contended by the claimants that the transfer of the land to Carver was approved by George III. and ratified by the Continental Congress. Commissioner Hermann prom-

A PAIR OF SEA SERPENTS.

Seen by a Fisherman Plowing Through Long Island Sound. Greenport, L. I., Nov. 17 .- C. Edwards Stauson, a drug clerk of this place, went fishing yesterday morning on the Sound, to the north of this village, and returned at 11 o'clock with a thrilling story of having seen not only one sea serpent, but a pair of them He says he was about to start for home when his attention was attracted to the head of a monster sea serpent, tearing through the water not over one nundred feet from shore. Terrified at the monster, whose head was not less than four feet in circumference, Stauson sprang from the rocks to the shore and watched the antics of the creature, which appeared to be about fifty feet was during the piccolo part. It was in length. Suddenly he saw a second serpent, identical in shape and size some fifty feet behind the first. Both were tearing madly through the water in a westerly direction along the Sound coast. The motion of the sea serpents was that of a snake as they darted through the water. The bodies at no part were less than a foot in circumference, and the action of the crea-
