In addition to the review of the year's work another matter of importance was the election of six directors for a term of three years to fill the expiring terms of H. Otis Newman, John Vallant, Curtis M. Thorpe, R. H. Radford, J Herbert Case and George M. Rittenhouse. By a unanimous vote all six were elected to succeed themselves.

Labor Organizations of the City Considering Advisability of Having Headquarters.

WOULD HAVE PUBLIC READING ROOM IN CONNECTION WITH IT.

The Two Thousand Union Men in Plainfield Have No Regular Meeting Place-Several Buildings Have Already Been Considered.

The various labor organizations in this city have under advisement the leasing of a general assembly hall where all organizations can hold meetings. There are nearly 2,000 union men in Plainfield. They are yound among the carpenters, bricklayers, plumbers, machinists, hod carriers, printers, in fact nearly every trade known has a well established union organization in this city. The various unions have for some time een agitating the question whether it would be wise to have a central place of meeting, where each organization can have assembly rooms.

It is the belief that a central place of meeting will be advantageous to the interests of the union organizations. It has been proposed to have, besides meeting rooms, a public reading room that will be open at all hours of day or evening, and where a member of any union will feel perfectly free to go. The room is to be supplied with the daily papers, suitable books and various games.

The feasability of such an undertaking has been discussed at the various meetings of the local unions from time to time for several months. It is brought to the attention of the labor Building Trades' Council, a particularly strong organization, numbering among its members all unions that are in any way connected with the building business.

No definite plans have as yet been formulated. Several buildings have been mentioned, but as yet a suitable place that will be central and not too expensive, has not been found that is considered desirable in every particular. The unions have had two or three buildings offered them by the quite reasonable in the price of rental and convenient to the central portion of the city.

If it is decided to establish a central headquarters where all unions can taining such a place will be a pro rata against each union. If such a plan was adopted the expense would not be heavy neither would it entail a bardship upon individual unions.

It is possible that the matter may be brought to a head in a few weeks by having each union send a delegate to joint meeting to be called for the purpose of taking some action toward furthering the project.

Besides the fact that a central meeting place would conduce to the general welfare of unionism, it would also, it is The Retail Merchants' Association of believed, be the means of promoting New Jersey, comprised mostly of sociability. From a moral standpoint, also, it might result in being of vast benefit, as it would keep from the streets, and possibly from saloons, a recreation. The associations that Opposing Counsel In the Bosschieter Case Address the Jury.

PATERSON, N. J., Jan. 18.-For the entire session yesterday the opposing counsel in the Jennie Bosschieter murder trial appealed to the jury. Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Ralph Shaw be-gan the summing up for the state. It was expected that Mr. Emley would do this, but he merely offered in evidence the undergarment said to have been a

"It may be taken for granted," continues The Times, "that in some form or other Lord Lansdowne w.1 explain to President McKinley and Secretary Hay that we do not share the senate views of the freely repudiable character of an international bargain and that we have no notion of allowing the senate to accept all we offered by the Hay-Pauncefote treaty and then to take all we retained as a condition of our offer.

"It will only be necessary to recall the terms of the agreement accepted a year ago with gratitude by American statesmen to refuse assent to a wholly different agreement, and to intimate that until the agreement is ratified or other reasonable proposals are courteously presented by the American government we shall continue to stand upon the Clayton-Bulwer treaty."

Ex-President Cleveland's Address on Conservatism.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—The Holland society gave its sixteenth annual dinner last night at the Waldorf-Astoria, and the function was the largest in its histo ry, nearly 500 diners being at table. Th principal feature of the dinner was the presence and address of ex-President Grover Cleveland, who, in speaking on "Conservatism," made his first public ut terance on the Philippine question.

The ex-president said that with success in subjugating the islands a new, untried and exceedingly perilous situation will be forced upon the nation. "We can conquer the Philippines, and after conquer ing them we can probably govern them, said he. "It is in the strain upon our in stitutions, the demoralization of our pe ple, the evasion of our constitutional limtations and the perversion of our nation al mission that our danger lies.

"Our country will never be the same again. For weal or woe we have already irrevocably passed beyond the old lines." Mr. Cleveland also denounced the Boer war, declaring that the British, like the Americans, are killing natives in an ef fort to possess their land. The ex-president read his address, and only once were there signs of disapproval. When he said that this country could never be the same again there were cries of "Oh, oh!" which were continued when he said that, for weal or woe, we had passed beyond old lines.

He had given his name in the passen

A Great Demonstration and Blowers by the Carload.

WARNLY WELCOMED BY THE SENATE

Army Reorganization Discussed-The Hazing at West Point Denounced. The House Works on Postal Law Revision.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.-As a demonstration in honor of the seating of a single senator and as an elaborate and be satiful floral spectacle the return of Hon. Matthew Stanley Quay of Pennsylvanta to the senate was unique in the history of that body. Within the memory of the oldest senators nothing approximating yesterday's scene ever was witnessed in the senate on a similar occasion.

Mr. Quay's friends from Pennsylvania came to Washington by the hundred to vitaess his induction into office, and they brought with them floral offerings literally, by the carload. While Mr. Quay's desk and the desks of other senators adjoining his were banked with costly and beautiful floral pieces, scarcely an appre-ciable quantity of the profusion of flowers his friends had provided could be displayed in the senate chamber.

The demonstration accorded to Mr. Quay when he entered the chamber amounted to an ovation. While he was receiving the congratulations of friends on the floor the hundreds of persons who thronged the galleries rose as one and applauded him tumultuously. That Mr. Quay appreciated this distinctly personal tribute was quite evident. He glanced smilingly around the galleries, nodding familiarly to friends whom he recognized here and there. The brief ceremony of administering it was against the rules of the senate for spectators to express either approval or lisapproval.

During the day's session the army reorganization bill was discussed at length by Mr. Money (Dem.) of Mississippi, Mr. Comas (Rep.) of Maryland and Mr. Bate (Dem.) of Tennessee. The Mississippi senator devoted some attention to the practice of hazing at West Point, which ne bitterly denounced.

The entire day was spent by the house upon the bill to revise and codify the postal laws, which is to be the continuing order, not, however, to interfere with appropriation bills or conference reports, until disposed of. It is a bill of 221 pages and is simply a revision of existing laws.

To Observe Sun's Eclipse, BOSTON, Jan. 18.-Plans have been perfected for sending a party of scientists from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology to observe the total solar eclipse of May 17, 1901, near Padang, Sumatra. The eclipse is visible only in the Indian ocean. The party, under charge of Professor Alfred E. Burton, will include Harrison W. Smith of the department of physics as photographer, George T. Hosmer and Gerard H. Matthes, the last named being fluent in Dutch. The party will leave New York on the Werra on Feb. 29 for Genoa, at which port they will take the Dutch line steamer Koningen Rengentes, sailing di-rect to Padang. On this steamer will be a party sent out by the Netherlands government. The central line of the eclipse passes only a few miles south of Padang over hills of about 3,000 feet

Westfield's Y. M. C. A. Westfield's good folk are again planning to organize a Young Men's Coristian Association in that place. The attempt was tried there some years ago and the association flourished for a time. But interest in it gradually lessened and the support eary to maintain the Y. M. C. A. building diminished to such an extent that the rooms, provided by the association for the use of its members, had to be given up. Without a home, the organization became a dead-letter, Somerville went through a similar ex

Now, however, there is renewed interest in the project among the people of Westfield and the promoters of the organization believe that conditions have changed sufficiently to make a permanent organization possible. The business men of that place are to be consulted and it is thought vigorous support.

Plainfield has a Young Men's Christian Association which has survived all sorts of vicissitudes and is now on a firm foundation. Nobody, who understands the workings of the local association, questions the expediency of having such an organiza tion in the city. The good which it accomplishes and the opportunities which it presents to the youth of this city cannot be under-es:imated.

If Westfield can put its reorganized Y. M. C. A. on a good basis and conduct it with the success that is meeting the efforts of the local workers. there is no doubt butthat it will be an excellent thing for Westfield. The only trouble is that the good people who are often at the head of such orbut New Brunswick is handicapped. anizations grow weary of well doing, and the efforts, instead of being steady and persistent, are rather intermittent.

While the enthusiasm lasts, wonderful things can be accomplished, but it is the daily routine that counts in the long run and brings success to crown the efforts of those working toward the desired end. It was this persistent toil that has sustained the local Y. M. C. A. and, if infused in the blood of Westfield's proposed drganizati n to a sufficient amount, will carry to a satisfactory culmination the esent movement.

Elizabeth, irrespective of political amilations, united yesterday to honor the memory of the late Mayor William A. M. Mack, whose sudden death was such a shock to the community. Mayor Mack was a good city official, a good friend and a good man. He achieved wonderful popularity. That un v real popularity has long existed but it has not been brought to such public view as now. His death was regarded as a public calamity and all the city felt the loss. Yesterday, the stores were closed and business practically suspended while the last sad rites were being said

In little over a week, the citizens of the borough will have an opportunity of witnessing the new manual training school in full operation. There are few places the size of North Plainfield that can boast of such an institution and it is bound to draw to that muni elpality many people who desire to see their children given a practical training in addition to the usual educational advantages afforded by the progressive cities of the State.

The evangelical churches of the globe are trying to arrange for a world-wide revival movement to mark the opening of the Twentieth Century. All through this country, the movement has gained fresh strength. The series of meeting, which are to be held in this city early in March, are really a part of this world-wide effort to evangelize the people of all lands.

What with his concurrent resolution providing for a lieutenant governor for New Jersey, and his bill adopting a new banking scheme, Assemblyman Ellis R. Meeker is fast assuming a prominent place in State affairs.

Now that the Rahway R formatory s ready for occupancy, it would seem as though it were the duty of the a pair. Good quality feathers Legislature to provide the necessary funds for conducting that institution.

Tomorrow is the Last Day for the Greatest Trading Opportunity Ever Offered Plainfielders at this Season of the Year. Don't Let it Pass Without Taking Advantage Of It.

It has been a busy time with us ever since last Saturday morning, when we inaugurated our Great Eight-Day Clearing sale, but tomorrow we propose to keep our clerks busier than ever-if that is possible -in attending to the wants of the customers that will throng our triple stores. You'll probably say we are speaking in quite a positive manner-"counting our chickens before they are hatched," so to speak-but we know from experience that when we offer the bargains that we present in this advertisement today for sale tomorrow that the buyers of Plainfield are not going to let such an opportunity pass without taking advantage of it. It isn't human nature to do it, and Plainfielders are the same as the people the world overalways looking for a bargain. Here in our store tomorrow they are bound to find one; yes, several of them. Monday we commence stock taking—a period that means plenty of extra work for our store staff. The more we sell tomorrow the less we have got to take account of in stock-taking. That's why we want—and we know that we will get it—lots of customers tomorrow to come in, take advantage of our bargains, buy our goods, please themselves and satisfy us in our desire to diminish the hard work incident to stocktaking.

At Twenty-five Cents.

DEPARTMENT. HOUSEHOLD

A mark-down of prices in our household department always means a cut that is astonishing--simply because our prices here are always so much lower than they are in any other store that handles this line of goods. What other stores call a "mark-down" means, practically, that they are meeting our regular prices. Thus it is that when we shave the regular prices to a lower notch in this wind up day of our Eight-Day Sale it means that we are doing a thing that no other house can duplicate. As an evidence that this is so we quote you these prices—they prevail only for tomorrow:

I must say, said she, I have more confidence than ever in Ripans Tabules. When I woke this morning I had a slight headache but disregarded it. for I had so much to do. I was at the dressmaker's at eleven, then at the milliner's to see what I could find for a bonnet, and by that time my head ached so I was almost crazy and I called a cab and came home; and the first thing I did was to swallow a Ripans; then I attended to two or three matters that could not wait and the next time I thought of the headache it had gone. I believe if I had taken the Tabule when I first got out of bed I should have had no head-

Simple Price Reasoning.

A dentist's office expenses are the same whether he serves few or many patients. If he serves few he wastes time and must charge higher prices to make good the waste. If he serves many he can divide a fair profit above expenses into much lower prices for all. That's what my practice enables me to do, and that's why my prices are so little for work that's best—GUARANTEED BEST.

FRENCH FASHIONS.

The World Follows Them, and They

Follow the Stage. Practically the French stage sets the fashion for the civilized world. It is there that novelties in costumes first appear, and they are at once seized upon and copied, with more or less variation, by leading modistes whose designs are taken as models by other countries. The success of "L'Aiglon" has launched a shoal of empire fashions of different degrees of accuracy.

The majority of black silk gowns of all sorts now seen are worn by middle aged and elderly women, to whose years and dignity this reserved sort of elegance is particularly suitable, Black satin and black velvet gowns are, however, used for highly attractive costumes for young women, being cut and ornamented in a youthful way.

The picture shows an evening gown of accordion plaited pink mousseline de soie over pink silk. The skirt has a long tunic of black net embroidered with jet and black spangles. The back of the square cut bodice is of black satin, with draperies at the side of the same mate-rial. The front is of embroidered net over pink silk. The wide, plaited belt of black satin has a jeweled buckle in front and a bow and long ends at the back. The long sleeves are of plaited pink mousseline de soie. They have a puff at the elbow and encircling bands of black satin ribbon. The square top of the bodice is bordered by bands of black satin ribbon.

close corselet which comes up under the arms. Above this the bodice is of tar feta of a contrasting color, entirely plait ed or tucked, or it is of velvet or of ap plications of lace or passementerie. The lower part of the sleeves and the collar are of the same.

The illustration depicts a costume of silver gray bengaline. The skirt is laid in large plaits, and over it is a peplum tunic bordered with embroidery and gal loon. The bodice consists of a corsele covered with lines of stitching and crossed bolero, finished with embroidery and galloon, like the tunic. The yoke and collar are of guipure, and the cravat is of narrow velvet ribbons, with meta-tips. The pagoda sleeves end at the el bow with a band of galloon. Below them are large puffs, gathered into gal-loon cuffs at the wrist. The bat of taf-feta has a brim covered with folds and is trimmed with plumes and a pink bow JUDIC CHOLLET.

Topic For the Week Beginning Jan. 20-Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle. Toric.-Abiding influence.-Heb. zi, 4; Math.

"The evil that men do lives after them. The good is oft interred with their bones." Thus writes the great poet, but it is not always the case. Good has an abiding influence as well as evil, and the good that men do often lives after them, and they being dead yet speak. The fact is that both good and evil remain after we are gone and exert an influence, and this fact only makes it the more important that our lives should speak for good instead of evil. How long and how farreaching the influence of a life is to be no one can know. Eterpity alone can reveal the length and extent of the influences of our lives. What an inspiration this should be in favor of a good life! What a hindrance in the way of an evil life!

In the topical references we have two illustrations of abiding influence, and in both cases for good.

1. Abel's abiding influence, Heb. xi. 4, "By faith Abel offered unto God a more excellent sacrifice than Cain, by which he obtained witness that he was righteous. God testifying of his gifts. and by it he being dead yet speaketh." Abel's life and this particular act in it speak for faith, for the true spirit of worship and for the sacrifice of the best to God. The man who believes and shows his faith by his works has a great influence, and his influence not only lasts during his lifetime, but it is an abiding influence. Abel's faith has been an inspiration to thousands of worshipers and has directed them aright in their worship. Abraham's faith in God, shining out brightly in the days of the grossest idolatry, has been a beacon light in every generation of the world since he lived and has kept multitudes true to their faith in God. So it has been with all the worthies of the past who have believed and who have kept the faith. A life of faith in God has an abiding influ-

2. Mary's abiding influence, Math. xxvi, 13, "Wheresoever this gospel shall be preached in the whole world there shall also this that this woman hath done be told for a memorial of her." These are Christ's words of eulogy upon Mary for auointing Him with the alabaster box of ointment. His prophecy has been fulfilled. It is fulfilled today. For 2,000 years this beautiful story has been told and has had an abiding influence. This act of Mary's speaks for good deeds and illustrates the fact that not only faith has an abiding influence, but also good deeds. Simple, humble, loving, unselfish deeds of kindness live forever and bear eternal fruit. This should inspire us to fill our lives full of such good deeds. No one wants to be forgotten. and, that we may not, let us imitate the faith of Abel and the service of Mary, and then throughout all timeyea, throughout all eternity-we shall be remembered for what we have believed and for what we have done Though we are dead, our faith shall speak, and our deeds of loving service shall be remembered.

THE PRAYER MEETING. Have a testimony meeting. Let each one try to tell what have been the words and deeds of others that have influenced their lives most. Thus we may learn what will influence the lives of others.

RIBLE READINGS. Eccl. i, 4; Math. vi, 19, 20; xxiv, 35; Luke xvi, 1-10; John xv, 1-10; Rom. xiv, 7; I Cor. xv, 58.

Judged by His Chosen Work, The character of one's work is not determined altogether by its social status. Whatever is necessary is honorable. The mind worker and the physical worker meet upon the same platform. The hand and the brain are always in partnership. One's ability to do tests the divinity of his call. No one was ever called to preach who cannot learn how. Preaching and plowing go on within the same fences. Sometimes we get confused in our missions. We turn the wrong furrows, and because of this turn short ones. A successful plowman and a successful preacher get to the end of their furrows at the same time. Success is always determined by the triumph of one's own vocation. The minister who fails as a preacher is a total failure. He may write books or make fortunes, but the ministerial scales are the ones in which society will weigh him. So with every vocation.-Presbyterian Journal.

Help Me Also. Forgive us our trespasses as we forgive them that trespass against us. It is not sufficient to banish hatred from our hearts. We must also efface every painful recollection. O my God, what happiness is it if Thou wilt forgive me as I forgive! I have been offended by words; I forget. By actions; I forget it. By omissions; I forget it. By unkind thoughts; I forget. I also have offended Thee in all these ways. O my God, and Thou hast forgiven and forgotten all. Help me also to forgive and forget.-Catholic Universe.

Come to Jesus.

O soul, alone and weary,
With burder's hard oppressed,
Come lean thy fainting heart tonight
Upon the Saviour's breast.

A refuge safe and quiet In Jesus thou shalt find; he calmness of his changeless love Will heal thy troubled mind.

O soul, grown sick of sinning, Bowed low with shame and grief, Christ waiteth to receive thee now; His mercy brings relief.

O heart, oppressed and weary, Thy rest thou'lt never find Until thou find it in the arms So strong and true and kind -Laville D. Landon EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning Jan. 20, "Abiding Influences"-Text, Heb. xi, 4; Math. xxvi, 13,

"This shall be told for a memorial." More enduring than monumental bronze or stone is the simple story of a great truth or a noble deed.

Abel offered sacrifice in confession of sin. He is long ages dead. His grave and sheep from the depredations of is unmarked and unknown. Of all his other deeds we know nothing. This season. The calves have suffered one thing the world has never forgotten-he offered sacrifice for sin. It was prophecy of the great atonement by the Lamb of God; it was a recognition of guilt and expression of contrition: it was an act of faith in God, as more than Creator and giver of life, as Sav- or coyote, but this became such a jour from sin and death.

So also of the alabastron of Mary of Bethany. It was a touchstone of character, revealing her tender love and spiritual penetration of the mission of Jesus. She discerned as no other soul did the impending death. That is the meaning of those moments spent at His feet in breathless listening and heartaching sympathy while Martha was fussing about something to eat and Judas was plotting the satisfaction of greed.

The dead reveals the inner life. We know Abel, we know Mary. No need of statue or monument. Their actions are better memorials than pictured stone or canvas. Tell the story and each heart shall translate it into terms of its own existence. Repeat the facts, not to merely commemorate the names of the doers of the deeds, not that we may implore their influence and intercession for us, but to tell the story that the influence of the truth they discovered and set forth in action may have its proper effect on our minds and be reproduced in our deeds. In this way we live long after bodies have returned to mother dust.

But there was Cain beside Abel and Judas looking at Mary. What are their memorials? The story of their words and acts? And their influences abide also. Which will you admire and emulate?

What honesty of spirit and fixity of purpose we should have if an influence is to abide in such permanence! We can never know how wide the word shall sound nor how far the act shall reach. All we can control is the nature it shall have. We are masters of that. Its effect is far beyond us. As guides in ascending the Matterhorn will not allow a shout or loud word at some part of the ascent lest the noise set some avalanche loose upon the path, so should we consider the results which may follow carelessness on our part, and beware that no unnecessary risk comes from us either for ourselves or other men. If influence abides and affects others as well as self, we will need to watch well the secret springs of all our nature, for out of the heart proceed all our words and acts. We must have pure hearts if we would have clean lips and hands. "Create in me a clean heart, O Lord!"

Moody Revival Influence. The great revival meetings of D. L. Moody in America and Great Britain were noted features of the religious history of our times. It is recognized on all sides that the tide of that movement reached its high water mark a well-known cattle man, suggests all some time since, and we need not expect in the future a repetition of its effects. Of the permanent results for ty of three dollars on wolves and one good we will not undertake to deter- dollar on coyotes which they are permine. Certain it is that work of an- mitted by the state to offer on a ma-Ps. xv, 1-5; cli, 24-28; Prov. xxii, 6; other character must engage the attention of the church.

Personal, individual effort seems to be the call of the present. Hand to hand labor and face to face persuasion is the demand of the hour. Mass meetings and platform appeals will not answer the demands. Souls must be sought out and cultivated. The coming year means much to the cause of Christ. Beyond question the people had declined in power of winning men to God. Other things had taken the place of genuine revival zeal, and in consequence the church declined in numbers. We need revival not to replace lost numbers, but to save lost Watchmakers and Jewelers.

Do you ever speak to any one of personal love for Jesus and try to get them to give the heart to Christ? If one to lead a Christian life, you have lost some of the purest joy this life can E. B. afford. No gain of wealth, position, honor or knowledge is comparable to MAYNARD, the satisfaction and glow of soul expethe satisfaction and glow of soul experienced when one has induced a fellow TONSOFIAL ARTIST. CHOICE CIGARS sinner to accept Jesus. Try it and see

Christmas Bells. Hark, the bells of Christmas ringing; All abroad their echoes flinging, Wider still and wider winging
On the waste of wintry air;
On their solemn, swift vibrations, apture, rapture through the nations Rapture till their glad pulsations Million blissful bosoms share!

Every bell to every hammer Answers with a joyous clamor— Answers, till from out the glamour Of the ages far and dim, Till from Bethlehem's stable lowly, Fair as moonrise opening slowly, Streams of radiance pure and holy

Then the bells ring fine and tender, And from out that faroff splendor, Veiled in light no dreams could lend her, Lo, the virgin mother mild, Pale from guiltless pain unspoken, Calm in faith's deep trust unbroken Bright with heaven's unconscious token is above her wondrous Child.

Crown Him, monarchs, seers and sages Crown Him, bards, in deathless pages Crown Him King of all the ages! Let the mighty anthem rise!

Living Christ, o'er sin victorious; Dying Lamb, all meritorious; Rising Lord, forever glorious, Take our songs and hearts, we pray May we Thee by faith descrying, On Thy death, for life relying, Rise to rap ure never dying, Rise with Thee in endless day.

—George Lansing Taylor. WAR AGAINST WOLVES.

Kebraska Cattlemen Are Determined to Exterminate Beasts Now Preying on Young Stock.

Western Nebraska is overrun with works and coyotes, these animals being more numerous now than ever they were known to be in the history of the state. Losses of young cattle the wolves have been enormous this mostly, but in many cases full-grown steers have been run down by the pests and torn to pieces.

A few years ago in Nebraska bounty of five dollars was paid by the state for the slaying of each wolf prolific source of fraud that the taxpayers put a stop to it. The cattle men did all in their power to have the law observed, but the careless hunters would kill wolves over in Dakota or Wyoming, or wherever they happened to find the biggest packs, and then present the scalps to the Nebraska officials and claim the reward. In addition to this, a good many enterprising Nebraskans found it paid better to raise wolves than it did to breed cattle, so they sold their cattle and went into the business of raising wolves for the bounty.

As a result of all these methods the wolves and coyotes, instead of becoming fewer, actually increased rapidly in numbers. In 1885 the land boomers advanced the idea that the giving of bountines for the destruction of wild animals was detrimental to the best interests of the state, as it was calculated, they said, to cause eastern people seeking investments in western lands to regard the state as being in a primitive condition. This plea wiped out the five-dollar bounty and resulted in a bounty of one dollar on the wolf and coyote scalps being substituted. So regular wolf hunting ceased. The Nebraska Live Stock association, however, up to this day has kept old Wolf Hunter Watson prowling back and forth over the plains of western Nebraska slaying from one to a dozen wolves a day. The cattle men of Nebraska are greatly aroused over the situation, and are earnestly discussing how to get rid of the pests. Mr. J. S. Harvey, the counties in the western part of the state put in operation the bounjority vote of the citizens of the county. This bounty, added to the state bounty of one dollar for each scalp of wolf or covote, would make it worth while again for professional wolf hunters to take the field and go into the business of hunting down and killing the wolves.

Playwright Charles H. Hoyt De clared Incurably Insane.

Deplorable Conditions Brought 01 by Overwork and Worry Over His Wife's Death-List of Farces He Has Written.

Charles H. Hoyt, the playwright and theatrical manager, is now in an asy lum for the ins ane at Hartford, Conn. where his partner, Frank McKee made application before the probate court to have him adjudged insane and his commitment made permanent.

Mr. Hoyt was taken to Hartford from his house in Manchester, N. H He has been under the care of Drs G. M. Graham and Dana, New York alienists, the former of whom accompanied him to Hartford. Upon their arrival he was examined by Dr. W. L Lawton and Dr. G. C. Segur, of Hart ford, and pronounced insane. Mr. Hoyt is said to be in excellent physical health. He is able to realize the seriousness of his state and does not greatly object to the action taken He expressed a desire, however, to make a statement in his own behalf to the court. He says he has no rela-

Mr. Hoyt's friends trace his breakdown directly to the loss of his wife Caroline Miskel. Since her death in October, 1898, he is said to have changed rapidly, brooding over his sorrow, and growing exceedinly morbid. As a relief he turned again te literary work and wrecked his health by overwork. Several months spent in Florida resulted in his regaining his bodily strength to some extent, but his mental condition was still unsatisfactory. Soon after his last play, "A Dog in the Manger," was produced and failed. This was a great shock to Mr. Hoyt and resulted in a relapse, which has brought him to his present condi forever. Charles Hale Hoyt was born at Concord, N. H., July 26, 1860, and was sent by his parents to the Boston Latin school for his final schooling. He then studied law in Charleston, N. H., but gave up the law to take a position on the St. Albans Advertiser, where his talent soon procure an offer from the Boston Post. The succeeding five years he spent as dramatic and music critic and editorial writer on that paper, when his success in playwriting induced him to give up journalism and devote himself wholly to the writing and production of

His first work-written while on the Post-was a skit called "Gifford's Luck." This had some success and was soon followed by "A Bunch of Keys," the success of which will be well remembered. "A Parlor Match," played by Evans and Hoey up to the death of the latter, a period of 12 years, was the next in order, and it seems should have established the young playwright in the favor of managers. But it did not, for he was nnable to secure a producer for his next play, "A Rag Baby." After taking the farce from one manager to another without success, Mr. Hoyt determined to put it on himself, and with Charles Thomas, his first partner, and Manager Eugene Tompkins, who finally consented to take a third interest, "A Rag Baby" was launched. The result was another great success, and with that Mr. Hoyt resigned his position on the Post, and has since given his entire attention to play-writing and theatrical management. After "A Rag Baby" followed with wonderful rapidity "A Tin Soldier,"

"A Hole in the Ground," "A Midnight
Bell," "A Brass Monkey," "A Texas
Steer," "A Temperance Town," "A Black Sheep," "A Trip to Chinatown," "A Milk-White Flag," "A Contented Woman," "A Stranger in New York," "A Day and a Night in New York," and, finally, "A Dog in the Manger." The greatest success of these was "A

Trip to Chinatown," which ran 656 tonsecutive performances at Hoyt's theater, now the Madison Square, in New York. Mr. Hoyt was twice a member of the New Hampshire legislature and a democratic candidate for speaker. In 1887 Mr. Hoyt married Flura

Walsh, who was known to play-goers as the "Bossy" of "A Texas Steer." She died in 1893, and in 1894 he married Caroline Miskel, who was considered one of the beauties of the American stage. The attachment between them was very strong, and after her death in 1898 the playwright broke

FOOTBALL.

The game of association football between Plainfield and the Arlingtons, of Newark, tomorrow afternoon, should prove to be an interesting contest as the former team has been strengthened by the addition of five new men, all first-class exponents of the association game. It will be played on the Clinton avenue grounds and the kick off will be made by Henry Windham at 3 o'clock sharp. The Arlingtons, it will be remembered, are the State champions and the local team is the only to ever secure a goal from them.
