Resignation No Surprise. (Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, January 26 -Chief Justice David A. Depue filed his resignation with Gov. Voorbees yesterday, to take effect Nov. 16, 1901, at which time he will have served thirty-five years on the bench.

The only reason given by the Chief Justice for resigning is that he has been on the bench long enough.

When the nomination of the chief justice to succeed himself was being considered in the executive session of the Senate, last Tuesday, Senator Mc. | ] Carter, who halls from Essex county, the home of Chief Justice Depue, made the announcement that the venerable MUCH EXCITEMENT IN COUNTY BUILD jurist would shortly hand in his resignation to take effect in November n'xt. The announcement, Senator Flan McCarter said, was made at the request of the chief justice.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

Prices of Staples Unchanged-Iron and Steel Advance. NEW YORK, Jan. 26.-R. G. Dun &

Co.'s weekly review of trade says: Rarely has there been more business in staples and in manufactured goods at practically unchanged prices than during the period since Nov. 1. This week seems to have marked the climax of enormous dealings at figures which have become familiar. The heavy trade in pig iron at better prices, the larger distribution of dry goods at a firmer range of quotations and the rush to secure prompt delivery of boots and shoes all indicate that business may have escaped one of those weary readjustments of prices which have often

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.-Nikola Tesla yesterday made an authorized statement in reference to his new light, described the lamp which diffuses the light and were burned, and many farmers were ut then, darkening the windows of his laboratory in East Houston street, turned on an electric current, and in a moment the rooms were flooded with what Tesla calls "artificial sunshine." The light was diffused through a spiral glass about eight inches high and six inches wide. The spiral is of glass tubing about one-quarter of an inch in diameter, the ends being blown to about double the size of the tube and closely resembling wax candles. The general effect of the lamp is that of a small box made of glass tubing with two candles lying on their sides along the top. The ends of the spiral, which resemble can-dles, are covered with a thin coating of metal and painted white. The lamp illuminates whether it is connected by wires with an electric current or not. Mr. Tesla operates it with and without wires. The wonderful thing about the wireless lamp is that it may be carried about from one part of a room to another, picked up and set down at will, just one would carry a kerosene around, and all the time there is not so much as a flicker of the light. But more than all this, Mr. Tesla asserts that in discovering this process of illumination he has discovered a light which will be of incalculable value in the sickroom and in the hospital ward. The tube if the lamp before being closed at one end is partly filled with certain gases, the properties of which Mr. Tesla is not ready to disclose, but which he says, will purify the air of a sickroom when it might endanger the life of the patient to have the windows opened, so that the room's atmosphere will be as pure as if the room had been flooded with outer air. The inventor asserts that so perfect is his invention that the "ozonizing" of a room, as he calls it, may be continued as long as desired and stopped at will. Tesla says that his artificial sunshine, or his "sanitary light," is intended to be his first gift to new century, the practical result of years of experiment in the old. Want Vinegar Law Amended. MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Jan. 26.-The farmers of Sullivan county, through their members in the assembly, are arranging for the introduction of an amendment to the vinegar law. They claim that the present law, passed several years ago, favors the manufacturers to the detriment of the farmers in Sullivan and other apple growing counties in the state The farmers also claim that their pure cider vinegar will not stand the present test unless doctored, as it is claimed the manufacturers do.

Baron Rothschild Dead. FRANKFORT, Jan. 26.—Baron Wil-helm von Rothschild, who died at noon yesterday, was the grandson of Maier Anslem Rothschild, who founded the great Rothschild banking house. He was born in Naples May 16, 1828. His father, Karl, was one of the five sons of the founder and established a branch in Naples. He was the oldest son and was taken into the business by his uncle, Anslem, who had no son. For the same reason all of the sons of Karl were taken into the Frankfort business. It is intimated that the whole Rothschild banking system represents something approaching a billion dollars. The Paris branch has a nominal capitalization of $10,000,000, but its resources can be surmised when it is said that in 1841 it lost $60,000,000, but not for a moment was the house checked in its business. Martial Air Pervades All the Proseedings-Naval and Military Display to Be the Greatest Spectacle Ever Seen.

COWES, Isle of Wight, Jan. 26 .- With a pathos and solemnity such as seldom mark the passing from daylight into the darkness of the coffin the royal family vesterday took their last loving look at the features of the dead queen. About 10 brought into the bedroom, where were waiting King Edward, Emperor William, the Duke of Connaught, Sir James Reid and the royal ladies. The latter having retired, Sir James Reid, with reverent hands, assisted by three trusted house hold servants and in the presence of the king, the emperor and the duke, removed the body from the bed to the coffin

In death it was lovelier than in the closing days of life. Not a trace of the ravages of disease was visible. The servants having retired, Queen Alexandra, the princesses and the children were called, and with lingering steps and stifled sobs they passed slowly before this white robed and peaceful figure. At the foot, never moving, stood the king, and when the mourning crowd had passed there re-mained only the son and grandson of the dead. Emperor William wept even more bitterly than the royal ladies. Finally he also retired, and the king was left alone. Sir James Reid, beckoning to the servants with the coffin lid, asked the king's

For a few seconds the king stood chless, stricken with emotion at the last farewell. Then he said quickly: Close it finally. It must not be opened

Thus the remains of England's greatest ruler were forever closed from human view. Reverently the coffin was borne into the dining room. Officers and mer from the royal yachts took their stand around the coffin, over which the king, queen and kaiser gently laid the robes of a Knight of the Garter, placing at the head a dismond crown. Beneath lay the royal ensign, while hanging above was the union jack.

At the altar was the rector of Whippingham, who read a portion of the fun-eral service in the presence of the royal family. Emperor William covered his face with his hands, and the grief of Princess Beatrice was pitiful. After the benediction each placed a wreath upon the coffin, and then all retired.

According to a rumor circulating at Osborne King Edward desires himself to be styled his imperial majesty in order to emphasize the fact that he is emperor as well as king.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Jan. 26 .-Chief of Police Kline yesterday received a letter from the Duchess of Arcos, wife of the Spanish minister at Washington, making inquiry about a prisoner in the county jail named James A. Snyder. The latter wrote a touching letter to the duchess in which he claimed he was a Spaniard and had been convicted of a crime of which he was innocent. He said he had about finished his sentence and would be compelled to go out into a cold, cruel world without money or suitable clothing. If the duchess would only aid him, he would ever pray for her, etc. The chief in his reply to the letter stated that Snyder was an impostor. He was convicted in the county court some time ago of horse stealing and has made it a practice to write to nearly all the prominent people in the country, including the Goulds and Vanderbilts, asking them for assistance. WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.-The naval board, headed by Judge Advocate General Lemley, appointed to decide upon the desirability of purchasing the large floating steel drydock in Havana harbor from the government of Spain, reports that to place the dock in thorough repair and to prepare it for a voyage would involve an expenditure of over $500,000 and that a dock could be built new at a figure not greater. DEPEW FAVORS SUBSIDY. Elequent Plea For Shipping Bill.

House Passes Naval Bill. WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.-Senator Depew of New York yesterday delivered in the senate a characteristically forceful and eloquent address in support of the shipping bill. The address, which BRIEF FUNERAL SERVICE AT OSBORNE occupied just an hour, was in the nature of an appeal for the upbuilding of th American merchant marine by the grant ing of subsidies as provided for in the pending measure. His discussion of the problems of transportation which now confront American manufacturers and American farmers was notably interesting and effective. The peroration in which he urged that the American flag be restored to the mastheads of the freight carrying ships of the United States was a brilliant piece of oratory and elicited cordial applause from seno'clock in the morning the shell was ators on the floor and the crowds in the galleries. Little progress was made with the Indian appropriation bill. The last hour of the senate day was consumed in the passage of private pension bills. The house adopted the conference re port on the army reorganization bill. The contest over it was brief, Mr. Hull, chairman of the military affairs commit tee, preventing prolonged debate. debate was chiefly notable for a sharp exchange between Mr. Richardson, th minority leader, and Mr. Hay (Dem.) of Virginia, a member of the committee, who reproached the Demo cratic leader for not making a fight for a temporary army when the bill was originally before the house. The naval appropriation bill was finally passed and also 77 private pension bills. Mr. Tal-bert (Dem.) of South Carolina, who has distinguished himself in the past as ar objector to special pension bills, but who has not been much in evidence this session, announced during the day that the time had come to stop the passage of promiscuous bills for the removal of charges of desertion and that hereafter he did not propose to allow such bills to pass if he could prevent it.

BRUSHES WITH BOERS.

Kitchener Says Invaders Have Done Little Damage.

LONDON, Jan. 26.-A dispatch re ceived at the war office from General Kitchener, dated Pretoria, Jan. 24, mentions unimportant contacts with De-larey's and Haasbroek's commands. A score of Boers have been captured, and General Methuen has cleared Griqualand and Kuruman.

The invaders have done little harm in Cape Colony. They have not been joined by the inhabitants, with whom they are daily becoming more unpopular.

Wednesday's train, with Lord Kitchen er and a body of troops, proceeded to-ward Middleburg, an armored pilot engine preceding. It was derailed by dynamite near Balmoral. The Boers, who were in force, opened fire, and the British replied heavily. Ultimately the Boers were driven off. The British sustained no casualties.

Wm D. Thickstun' John P. Emmon A NOTED EXPLORER.

Sir Martin Conway Tells of South

American Travels. NEW YORK, Jan. 26.-Sir Martin Conway, a distinguished explorer, who has contributed much to what is known of the mountain regions of the world, is at the Fifth Avenue hotel, having re-cently returned from his third trip of exploration to South America.

Sir Martin, whose explorations have ex tended over a period of ten years and who has devoted nearly 30 years to scientific research, said that his work in South America would mark the close of his ca reer as an explorer. He said that he still would maintain his interest in scientific discovery, but that in the future be would organize and send out exploring expeditions instead of going himself.

As evidence that his decision will not mean a direct loss to the scientific world Sir Martin said that he is about to organize an expedition to go to Peru next spring to further explore the eastern slope of the Andes. He will sail for England on Wednesday next and will organ ize this expedition soon after he arrives in his native country.

"The eastern slope of the Andes," Sir

Martin said, "affords a field for scientific research which has immense possibilities. Practically nothing is known about the botany and nothing about the mineral re sources of the vast region lying to the east of the Andes. It is known, of course, that this vast region has resources of great interest to science and of great value in a commercial sense, but it has been so little explored as to leave the world almost in the dark regarding its possibili-ties. Much is known about Venezuela and Colombia, but as yet little has been learned about the interior of Brazil, Boivia, Ecuador, Peru and Argentina."

Sir Martin Conway, in his explorations in various parts of the globe, made a rec-ord as a mountain climber. While explorng with a party in the Hindoo Koosh in 1892 he climbed a peak 23,000 feet high, attaining an elevation 1,000 feet higher than any mountain record then known. Sir Martin's explorations in South America have been made since 1898. THE INDIAN TROUBLES. Reports Greatly Exaggerated - No

Violence Anticipated. OMAHA, Jan. 26.-General Lee last night received a telegraphic report from Lieutenant Dixon, commanding the troop of cavalry sent to the scene of the Creek Indian troubles. He states that he has not yet made a full investigation, but has learned enough to warrant his saying that the reports of an uprising have been greatly exaggerated. Thus far he has encountered no Indians, and from civilians he learns there has been no vioence on the part of the Indians, and he anticipates none. The report from Lieutenant Dixon comes from Henrietta, which place he reached during the fore-General Lee stated that no orders had been issued for the movement of any other troops, and none would be unless it

He studied under La Scala in this city and in 1842 brought out his first opera, which was very successful, It was followed by others, which have since become famous. Among those best known are "Giovanna d'Arco," "Mac-beth," "Rigoletto," "Il Trovatore" and

"La Traviata." He was created an Italian senator in 1874 and in 1875 made a commander of the Legion of Honor. The cause of his death was congestion of the brain.

Statues Shipped to Buffalo NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Carl Bitter, the sculptor, has shipped from Hoboken, N. J., two carloads of statuary for the Pan-American exposition grounds at Buffalo. ## PHILIPPINE REPORT.

Secretary Root Reports Facts to Congress.

COMMISSION'S VIEW OF AFFAIRS.

Majority of People Long For Peace, but Are Terrorised by Insurgents. Conditions Rapidly Improving. Thousands Taking the Oath.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.-The president has sent to congress a special message transmitting a report of Secretary Root on conditions in the Philippines. The secretary read the report at the meeting of the cabinet yesterday and re-ferred at some length to a large mass of correspondence on the subject recently received from the Philippine commission. This correspondence covers the situation in the islands very fully up to Nov .. 30 last, the matter having been sent by mail. Supplementary to this are several cable messages from the commission bringing the matter up to date. The report itself is a very voluminous production, divided into many heads exhibiting the progress made by the com-mission in carrying out its plans for the Americanization of the islands. A particularly interesting section of the report, introducing the whole subject of Philippine relations, deals with military and political conditions, the effect of the American elections and legislative procedure and acts. The commission says that examinations of many witnesses as to the form of government best adapted to these islands and satisfactory to the people show that the masses of the people are ignorant, credulous and childlike and that under any government the electoral franchise must be much limited, because the large majority will not for a long time be capable of intelligently exercising it.

The commission says that conditions in Rocos, supposed to be free from insurgents, became unsettled between August and November last owing to the activity of Tinio, the missionary work of certain Tagalogs and the impetus furnished by the reports of the American electoral campaign. The unfortunate reverses of the United States troops at Sinoloan and Marinduque served to render the insurgent leaders more defiant and boastful, and, says the commission, "possibly to postpone the collapse of the insurrection predicted in our dispatch as likely to occur within 60 days after the election for somewhat longer period." "From all the information we can get it seems clear that a great majority of the people long for peace and are entirely willing to accept the establishment of government under the supremacy of the United States. They are, however, restrained by fear from taking any action to assist the suppression of the insurrection. Any one suspected of giving information to the Americans concerning the insurgents is immediately marked for assassination. The ramifications of the conspiracy are so wide that it has effected the terrorism of an entire people. It is a Mafia on a very large scale." One of the longest chapters in the report and one of the most absorbing interest concerns the friars in the Philip-The commission handles subject in the greatest detail and with the utmost freedom.

A dispatch from Judge Taft, dated

Jan. 6, 1901, says: "Conditions rapidly improving. Rifles, officers and privates are being captured or surrendered daily in considerable numbers in north and south Luzon. Same conditions in Panay, where more than 35,000 have taken oath of allegiance. Insurgent forces completely scattered and Leader Delgado negotiating for surrender. Work in Samar slower because of insurgent band long uncontested occupation of interior and swollen streams early in campaign. Campaign in Samar has driven bands into Leyte, producing disturbance, but information is that conditions there are favorable. Favorable party for peace; direct result of election. Well organized and rapidly increasing in Manila; preparing to extend organization to many provinces on pressing and numerous invitations from leading citizens." The report shows that the islands are estimated to contain about 73,000,000 acres of land, of which less than 5,000,-000 are held in private ownership. More permanent laws than the military government can supply are needed.

The section of the report on the liquor traffic in Manila indicates that the powers of the commission are ample to deal with that subject and that the success which they have attained will compare favorably with the results in this country. Many false and misleading statements have been made regarding the use of intoxicating liquors in Manila. The fact is that this traffic is more rigidly and effectively regulated and kept within bounds in the city of Manila than in any city of similar or greater size in the United States.

Division of the State. This question of the proper division of the State into ten Congressional districts has been troubling the Republican leaders in the State ever since the passage of the Burleigh bill by Congress gave New Jersey two additional Congressmen. According to the reports which are now eminating from Trenton, however, the problem is in a fair way to be solved.

According to the reports, Franklin Murphy, chairman of the Republican State committee, has prepared for the redistricting of the State on lines which are generally satisfactory to the leading Republicans of the State. These plans, however, provide for a general upheaval of the present di vision lines and form entirely new

Mr. Murphy has, it is said, turned over his suggestions to Senator Mo Oarter who has laid the plans before his fellow members in the Upper House of the Lagislature. If the reports of the various Trenton correspondents are true, the plan for re districting thus suggested, is likely to be adopted.

Union county will, according to this division, have some new neighbors at the first few Congressional district conventions until they become better acquainted.

The complete list of the probable new districts is as follows:

First District - Camden, 107,643; a total population of 165 078. This Herald. district gave a Republican majority of 4,808 in 1898 and 9 510 last fall.

Second District-Cumberland, 57. 103; Cape May, 13 201; Atlantic, 46 402, and Burlington, 58,241, a total of 168, 947. This district gave a Republican mejority of 4,293 in 1898 and 9,643 in 1900.

mouth, 82 057; Middlesex, 79,762, a total of 181,566. This district gave a Republican majority of 1,940 in 1898 and 6 006 in 1900.

Fourth District - Mercer, 95 365; Somerset, 32 948; Hunterdon, 34 507; Warren, 37 781, a total of 200 601. This district gave a Democratic majority of 90 in 1898 and a Republican majority of 4,438 in 1900.

Fifth district-Union, 99,353; Morris, 65,156; Sussex, 24,134, and the townships of Pompton Lake Borough, Hawthorne, Tetonia, West Milford, Pompton and Wane, in Passale county, 10,400, a total of 199,043. This district gave a Republican majority of 2,479 in 1893 and 6,265 in 1900.

Sixth district-Passaic, except the townships in the Fifth district, 144,-802; Bergen, 78,441, a total of 223,243 This district gave a Republican majority of 2,025 in 1898 and 4,037 in 1900

Seventh district-The Second, Third, Fifth, Ninth, Tenth, Twelfth, Thirteenth and Fourteenth wards of Newark, South Orange, West Orange, Livingston, Millburn, Vailsburgh, Montclair, Verona and Caldwell, all of Essex county, with a total population of 180,686. This district gave a and 7,740 in 1900.

Eighth district-The First, Fourth, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth, Eleventh and Fifteenth wards of Newark, and Orange, East Orange, Bloomfield, Gien Ridge, Franklin, Belleville, all of Essex county, with a total popula tion of 171,768. This district gave a Republican majority of 2 156 in 1898 and of 10,240 in 1900. Ninth and Tenth districts - The county of Hudson to be divided into two districts, with an average population of 193 024 each.

When the Rummage Sale was first suggested last year, it was a question in the minds of many whether such an affair conducted in Piainfield would find much patronage. When proper street signs are prosingle issue will confer a favor by vided in Plainfield, it will be time to advertise the advantages of this city, but there is no use inviting people here when they cannot find their way about the city on... to the entire lack of such signs.

> If Senator Mahion Pitney should Te. seive the appointment as one of the associate justices on the Supreme Jourt bench, it would practically leave Franklin Murphy alone in the running in the gubernatorial race.

Mayor N. B. Smalley, of the borough, is receiving no end of notoriety over his fight against the law providing for the exemption from taxation of notes in banks.

If the committee of ten can only secure the proper people for Plainfield's new militia company, there can can be no doubt as to the success of that organization.

Senator Coarles A. Reed would make an excellent judge for he possesses an extensive knowledge of the law and seems particularly fitted for a judicial position.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May Be Of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

The Governor's appointment of former Mayor Rankin, of Elizabeth, to the important and desirable position of membership in the State Board of Assessors is recognized as a pretty which are likely to make things lively hard "counter" on Senator Kean's solar plexus, as Rankin is the active head of the anti Kean faction among the Union county Republicans. This factional fight in Union now involves every prominent leader in the county, and is very likely to make itself felt in Gloucester, 31,905, and Salem, 25,530, this year's election,-New York

> If Middlesex gets combined in a new lot of counties to make up a Congressional district there may be some interesting contests in the political conventions to choose the next candidates for the office of Congressman, and equabbles between counties with Middlesex, Monmouth and Somerset had just begun to work together smoothly and it is a pity that this harmony must be disturbed.—New Bruns wick Home News.

There is another new development in the Union county feud between the Governor Vocrhees and Senator John Kean factions. The Governor nominated, for member of the State Board of Assessors, his staunch supporter, John C. Rankin, than whom John Kean has no more bitter or unrelenting enemy. A membership in the State Board of Assessors possesse possibilities which can be made of 3.98. great advantage in a political fight such as is now being waged in Union county, and the admirers of the Governor look upon this movement as a black eye for Mr. Kean. Dunellen, Jan. 26 -After an illness of but one week, Ernest Marienschenck passed away yesterday afternoon. Death was due to brain fever eaused by a severe bump on the head received while attempting to pass through a fence in too great a hurry. His illness was at first thought to be grip, but soon after being taken ill he rapidly grew worse and despite the best of medical aid, death ensued. The young man was but twelve years old and was the son of Mrs. Mary Marienschenck. He was the youngest of six children, the others being two brothers, Frank and Autone and four sisters. Mrs. Augustus Hill, Mrs. Arthur B. Carpenter, Mrs. Charles Peterson and Mise Margaret Marienschenck, -As yet no arrangements have been made for the funeral services but they will probably be held Monday morning from St. Jonn's church. Interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery, Plainfield.

Irrigation for South Africa.

One of the blessings which wise rule with light gloves and are of great elewould give to South Africa would be a state system of irrigation. It is calculated that in the cape alone 5,000, 000 acres might be irrigated, with an increased value of £20 per acre which would add over £100,000,000 to the value of the colony .- N. Y. Sun.

ACCESSORIES.

Muffs and Belts of Many Fanciful

Kinds. Muffs are now as fanciful as neckwear and hats and are made to match them, the plain muff of fur being quite out of countenance when it does appear. Marabou, plaited mousseline de soie, lace, ribbon and ostrich feathers are the materials employed, and they are used with great elaboration. Muffs lined with ermine are carried gance. All muffs are of medium size, neither absurdly small nor preposterously arge. The majority of elegant costumes are now completed by a belt of gold or silver ribbon fastening by an artistic buckle or clasp or forming a point back and front Sometimes the metal ribbons are plain, sometimes they have a woven design or a pattern in different colored gold threads, sometimes they are ornamented with cabochons, jewels or narrow ribbons of velvet or silk. With cloth costumes wide elastic belts in black, white or colored silk are worn.

The picture shows a dinner bodice of very finely tucked white taffeta. It is in the blouse form and has a short, pointed bolero of renaissance lace, between the points of which are little bands of black velvet fastening with tiny buckles. The plaited collar is bordered with lace. The sleeves of tucked taffeta have the tucks left free at the bottom to form a puff and are gathered in at the wrist with a frill. They are ornamented with renaissance lace, which is held across the outside of the arm by bands of velvet and buckles. The belt is of gold ribbon, with an artistic buckle, and the bodice is

One Style of Evening Gown-A Girl's Costume. A very elegant type of evening costume is the long tunic of black satin heavily embroidered with spangles. The skirt falls over a deep flounce of accordion plaited black mousseline de soie, upon the edge of which are tiny ruches which serve to keep the plaits open. The bodice is covered with black mousseline de soie, toning down the brilliancy of the span-gles. The same idea is carried out in col-

Embroideries of jet and turquoise combined are fashionable. They are seen on many ball and other evening toilets. There are also incrustations of black or white chantilly lace, spangled with jet, steel and rhinestones.

The picture shows a costume for a girl of 12 years. The skirt of navy blue serge has two groups of stitched plaits framing a narrow tablier of printed velvet and two groups of stitched plaits at the back framing the watteau plait. The bodice is fitted at the back bodice is fitted at the back and has a blouse front, with a yoke and plastron of printed velvet. Corded plaits ornament the edge of the serge portion, also the edge and outside of the elbow sleeves of serge, which are additionally decorated with a bow of blue velvet ribbon with metal tags. Similar bows adorn the front. The long, full sleeves are of printed velvet, gathered into a cuff at the wrist. Bands and loops of velvet trim these cuffs, the collar and the top of the skirt. The navy blue felt had a loop of the sleeves is plaited, and a band of guipure simulates a sleeve car. Just above the elbow are two bands of black velvet, and below the skirt. skirt. #### WINTER TRIMMINGS.

Decorations Are of Every Kind and Description

Gowns and wraps are embroidered upon the material itself, according to the shape, and garments thus adorned are, of course, far more expensive than those upon which the embroidery is merely applied. Applications are much sed, how-ever, in connection with embroidery of the other kind. Indeed, there is a universal mingling of materials and decorations of the most diverse character. Lace is trimmed with cord, braid and passementerie, velvet is cut into openwork and perforated designs, fur is employed for motifs and application, cloth is mounted in arabesques on a ground of heavy net; in short, there is scarcely any combination so contradictory as to be deemed impossible. A novel and rich ornamentation is composed of large damask designs of the Louis Quinze style, which are cut out from the silk ground and applied upon elaborate mantles or evening gowns. The application is so carefully done that the designs strongly resemble embroidery.

The illustration shows a bodice of light blue silk with a full front and a high collar encircled by bands of black velvet which form a bow in front, with ends having gold pendants. The wide corselet belt is trimmed with black velvet bands. The bolero is of Japanese brocade, in which gold threads are interwoven. It is trimmed with black velvet bands and has black velvet bows like those at the throat and black velvet revers. The brocade sleeves of elbow length have black velvet cuffs, and below these are plaited sleeves of blue silk with a puff at the elbow and wrist. The hat of light blue panne has a blue plume over the crown, a black velvet bow at the back and a garland of forgetmenots next the hair. JUDIC CHOLLET.

THE MODE.

It Is More Eclectic Than It Has Ever Been Before.

Fashion has made a great effort during the last few years to escape from the recurrent routine in which it has been accustomed to travel, reproducing from time to time the typical forms and colors of some particular past epoch. Instead of following this usual round it has seized upon forms, colors and ornaments indiscriminately and combined the styles belonging to a dozen different, disconnected periods of costume. The result has been to give great freedom to individual taste, great variety to the wardrobe and to produce an effect of decided novelty. Any happy inspiration in costume is acceptable, and no one style is prescribed that, while it suits some persons, is totally unbecoming to others.

The picture shows a corsage of poppy red faille. It is plaited all over, and two bands of cream guipure are applied in the form of a bolero. The corselet is trimmed with bands of black velvet, and there are a collar and a voluminous cravat of white embroidered mousseline de soie. The upper half of the sleeves is plaited. fullness of the sleeves forms three puffs, of Jupiter was stolen from the capitol to make a very poor one of St. Peter. The story is long enough for a book. Oh, when you sift the matter impartially, the only true, sincere, appreciative lovers and worshipers of art on earth are the Philistines. For some reason, good and wise and sufficient, Jehovah forbade his chosen people to cultivate art as a fad or profession, and they have outlived every nation of artists and art worshipers on earth, without changing their faith, their religion and their character. And the three great nations under whose nurturing care artistic ideals and forms reached their PRINTING highest development are famous today merely for their ruins and are become peep shows for wandering Phil-Done istines and globe-trotters. Oh, the fact is, my son, with all that is beautiful and noble and graceful and splendid about art, tlere's as much rubbish Neat and about it as there is about the ruins which once were splendid palaces and Attractive castles and are now dust heaps of quarry refuse. A beautiful picture even a man so ignorant as myself can admire without being taught why and how to admire it, but a madonna, with a spike neck, egg-shaped face and long eyes-though I do not appreciate the zeal and devotion and fervor and consecration of the painter-does not move me to adoration or admiration of the picture. Therefore, am I set among the Philistines. And acres If You Are and acres and acres and miles and miles and miles of that type of madonna and saint will you see to every masterpiece. And what destroys human life in the galleries—and it seems Envelopes-to me that thousands of people die in them every year—is that the Baedekerite feels that he must look at Billheads-every one of them instead of the dozen in every thousand worth looking Letter Heads--How do I know that so many persons die of the galleries? Of my own Posters-knowledge. Every day the pilgrims come back to the hotel declaring they are "half dead." Then they go out Circulars-the next day and come back with the same declaration. That must be the other half. Programmes == Art That Isn't Art. Business Cards

And yet one feels penitent for ever having said a word against conscientious art, when returning from the contemplation of the work of men who worshiped art with sincere souls, even though their offerings were made with faulty pencils and inscrutable brush, the mail brings a copy of a Sunday paper from home, and it unrolls the unmitigated and inexcusable horror of the "colored supplement." I ain't sayin' a word about it. Ain't sayin' what I think. I just go back to the dingiest corner of the poorest gallery I can find the next day and hunt out the leanest, most disjointed and misarticulated saint I can find, and worship him with unspeakable reverence, and pray that he will remember me forgivingly when I am howling in purgatorial pennance for ever making fun of him. So no more at present. For in the dawn of art there was some excuse, or rather good reason, for occasional poor drawing, monstrous anatomy and atrocious coloring. That doesn't stand to-day. If after a thousand years of education a man to-day thrusts his atrocities of bad design, worse execution and worst coloring into the faces of the people, to the wheel and the rack with him. Lock him up in a sky-lighted cell for all eternity, with plenty to eat and drink to keep him alive, and his own pictures

You see, my boy, it isn't enough for yourself or the world of your day that you live in. that you should do as well as your father. You must do a great deal better.

y Teller Who Dines Places and It Costs Him

Nothing.

"There goes a man," said the manager of the cafe in one of the Broadway hotels near Forty-second street, New New York, says the Chicago Inter Ocean, "who to my knowledge, has not paid for his dinner on any day this month, nor during the months of October or November, and I doubt if hedidin September. Yet he lived on the best in New York all the time. His luncheon cost him only the price of a glass of beer, and his breakfasts-well, that is a matter of conjecture on my part, but I'll venture to say ten cents is the limit of their cost. I don't believe he has expended to exceed six dollars monthly for food. Yet he has dined at the Waldorf, the best chop houses, Delmonico's, Sherry's, the Holland, in fact everywhere in New York where the best there is to eat is to be had. He is a professional story teller, and it pays him." The story teller is a tall man of fine presence, stylishly yet quietly dressed, with the face of an actor, and a delightfully rich and sonorous voice, whose inflections vary with the skill of an elocutionist as he tells his yarns.

"Wait a few minutes," said the cafe manager, "and you'll see how easy it is to get a dinner without paying for

Shortly afterward a party of four men entered the cafe. They had finished business for the day, and were just mellow enough to be willing listeners to stray anecdotes well told. One of them recognized the man of stories, and, walking up to him, invited him to join the party at a table for a drink. The story teller politely demurred, yet edged nearer and nearer the table. Under protest, of course, he sat down, and refreshments from decanters were ordered. Within a quarter of an hour the story teller had everything his own way. With glib tongue and finished style he spun yarn after yarn, numerous drinks arriving at the table for the merry quintette. An hour afterward the party agreed that it was time to dine. Each of the four insisted on the story teller being his particular guest. He assented modestly, and apparently with some reluctance, and the party drove away in a cab to a well-known hotel further down

It had a yellow wax to watch people and study the influence of this "atmosphere of art" upon their Pictures People Might Worship. In a church in Venice one day I had stood for an hour or longer. On the walls were masterpieces that lovingly and beautifully compelled the adoration of even my hopeless philistinism. There were painted faces of saints who could not have been more saintly than the genius that created the countenance which God had not given them, but to which through all time all men were to know them. Paintings before which the most irreverent scoffer bared his head and bowed his soul. Pictured faces that swam mistily before you, as the tears filled your eyes, drawn from the heart by feelings that you could not understand. Pictures that looked a mute rebuke of your philistinism and made you think of the silent look that sent the heart-broken disciple out of the hall of the high priest's palace into the night to hide his tears and his shame and to find a better. stronger life than he had ever lived through penitence and the tender power of forgiveness. Pictures that made you half a Catholic and a thorough believer in all the saints. I did not wonder that people learned to kneel before these pictures when they whispered their prayers to the saint who was beatified-not by any pope-I can make a saint as easily as any man that ever lived as unsaintly a life as I and several

Only when people tell me that the atmosphere of art, the faultless sculpture and the living paintings, the masterpieces of the world of art are in themselves educational, uplifting, refining. stimulating, I just wonder why it doesn't have that effect upon people who were born in it, live in it all their days, wallow in it, so to speak.

Art and Common Honesty. Several things tend to make the Philistine mind skeptical on the elevating tendencies of art in its highest development. That saintly Medici family were eminent patrons of art. It was disgust at their tyranny that drove Michael Angelo from Florence. And the popes, who were the greatest builders and patrons of art, seem never to have begun any great work without the preface of wholesale and barbarous thievery. So cleverly is the stuff made that it can now be colored to any desired shade. It is also made with a grain to resemble gilt edge butter. When oleomargerine was first manufactured it was made from lard and tallow and was considered injurious to health. It is now manufactured from good, clean tallow and is considered equally as palatable and as nutritious as butter and is not considered at all detrimental to health. The inferior grades of "oleo" are said to contain substances that are harmful. Where oleomargerine is labeled it is the genuine article, safe to eat and is not unhealthy. There is no army in the world where merit and bravery are more appreciated than in the army of the United States. Time and again, men have begun as privates and finished as generals, which proves that merit is what counts, after all. Some of our greatest soldiers couldn't get into West Point when they were boys, and yet they surpassed many West Pointers in actual service, and reached the highest positions in the army. Every man must stand upon his own merits, and merits, and merits, and merits, and merits and meri advance himself by actions if he is to soadvance at all .- Gen. Nelson A. Miles, in Success.
