Four Meetings in The Gospel Campaign Were Held During Yesterday.

MANY ARE INTERESTED.

EVANGELIST HALL SPOKE TO LARGE CROWD AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH.

Talk to The Little Folk by F. H. Jacobs—Good Attendance at Afternoon Meeting—Services to be Held Tonight and Next of The Series.

Increased interest and deeper spiritual feeling marks each day's progress in the gospel campaign. Four meetings were held yesterday, two in the afternoon and two in the evening, and all were well attended. William Phillips Hall, Rev. Theo. S. Henderson and F. H. Jacobs were in charge.

This afternoon will conclude the series of children's meetings which F. H. Jacobs has been conducting. The meeting for children this afternoon will be held in the First Baptist church and will begin at 4 o'clock. The afternoon meetings in the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, under the charge of Rev. T. S. Henderson, will be held today and tomorrow and Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. They will begin with a half-hour prayer service, starting at 3 o'clock, and will be followed by an evangelistic service.

Evangelist Wm. Phillips Hall will continue the evening meetings at the First Baptist church tonight and tomorrow night and Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of next week. They begin at 7:45 o'clock. Rev. T. S. Henderson will conduct meetings at Hope Chapel tonight and tomorrow night. Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings the series of meetings in the West End will be held at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church. Sunday morning, Evangelist Hall will speak at Hope chapel.

MR. HENDERSON TALKED.

Addressed Afternoon Gospel Meeting in the Crescent Avenue Church Yesterday.

The second afternoon service in conjunction with the series of evangelistic meetings, was held yesterday in the Crescent Avenue church, and like the one of the preceding day, was well attended. The usual prayer and song service was held prior to the preaching, W. C. Weeden conducting the song service. Just before Mr. Henderson took charge, Mr. Weeden sang "The Inner Circle," as a solo. Mr. Henderson then announced his text, 1st Corinthians, 31 chapter and part of the 16th verse: "Know ye not that ye are the Temple of God?" In part he spoke as follows:

"In the present day there is a great deal of discussion as to what constitutes the essence of spirituality. Some people imagine that when they are very emotional they are in a high state of spirituality, and in services like these people are apt to deceive themselves. Whether you are spiritually deepened all depends upon your attitude towards God.

"There are two centres around which the life revolves. One is a Christ-centred life and the other a self-centred life. The central figure in our text today represents the corporate body of the church. The temple was looked upon by the Jews as a place for the highest demonstration of spirituality. Great emphasis was laid on the service of the Jew in respect to his offering of money. That was a test of his services and devotion to God. His portion was seven-thirtieths of his income. The question of 'Will a man rob God?' was put to the Jews, and the divine injunction was 'Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse.'

"Everyone that gives is not spiritual, but one cannot be spiritual unless they give to the Lord. You cannot be spiritual and be a mean person, although you frequently hear such things being reported. When there is repeated consecration to the Lord month after month there is something wrong. When a person thoroughly consecrates himself to God he gives up all. He may frequently reaffirm

NOISY IN MUSIC HALL.

Charles Leonard Was Locked Up and Found Guilty in Police Court This Morning.

Charles Leonard, a young man who has been an annoyance to Manager Edwards, of Music Hall, for some time past, was placed under arrest last evening at the instigation of Manager Edwards.

Leonard, it is alleged, was drunk and disorderly in the hall during the performance last evening and on being ejected became very profane in his speech.

This morning Mr. Edwards appeared against him before City Judge Runyon. The option of paying a fine of $5 or undergoing a sentence of twenty days was left to the selection of Leonard by His Honor.

WAS BURIED IN JERSEY.

REMAINS OF WIFE OF LIEUT. WYGANT INTERRED AT SCOTCH PLAINS.

Died at Manila Where Her Husband Was Quartered—Brought Home For Burial.

The remains of Elizabeth O. W. Wygant, wife of Lieut. Henry S. Wygant, U. S. A., arrived in Plainfield last evening on the 9:58 train from Washington. Mrs. Wygant died at Manila, December 9, of heart failure. Her husband was stationed there. The body was shipped on a transport January 23, at Manila and arrived in San Francisco last Saturday and in Plainfield last evening.

The remains were taken in charge by Undertaker George Cole, and the interment took place today noon in the Baptist church cemetery at Scotch Plains, Rev. Mr. Mulford, of All Saints P. E. church, officiating.

Mrs. Wygant was twenty-one years old and was the daughter of a prominent major in the regular army. Her husband is a nephew of Louis W. Miller, of Scotch Plains, and after the death of Mrs. Wygant it was arranged to bury her at Scotch Plains.

When Lieut. Wygant and his mother, who lives in New York, met last evening at the North Avenue station for the first time in seven years, there was a pathetic scene. Mother and son fondly embraced each other, and it was several minutes before either one could speak. It was the desire of Lieut. Wygant that his wife should be buried in her native State, rather than in Manila, where her remains would be so far away from her loved ones.

AFTER DELINQUENTS.

The appointment of George E. Rogers as a constable at the last meeting of the Common Council was for the purpose of using him as a collector of delinquent taxes and he will enter upon his duties in a short time. He will be an assistant to Collector Frank H. Smith. The latter is now preparing a list of those to be seen and Mr. Rogers will make a business of interviewing delinquent taxpayers. Of course, the delinquents will pay for the services given by Mr. Rogers, as it is for their benefit that he is appointed.

Men's Meeting at Y. M. C. A. F. H. Jacobs will speak at the afternoon meeting at the Y. M. C. A. next Sunday. A special musical programme has been arranged by Prof. George Morris, who will lead the Southern Jubilee Singers. The service commences at 4:15 o'clock sharp. Cards of admission can be obtained at the Y. M. C. A. building.

Putting Up New Pillars. W. M. Stillman is making some desirable improvements to his building on West Front street, the first floor of which is occupied by Mr. Weinberger, the clothier. NO MORE ELECTION BILLS THIS TERM.

Little Likelihood of Mr. Meeker Introducing Addition to His Anti-Spring Election Law.

BOTH HOUSES IN SESSION.

SENATE PASSED AMENDMENT PROVIDING FOR BIENNIAL SESSION.

Senator Cro's Opposed It—Little Done at Yesterday's Session—A Few Bills Were Passed—Senate Also Passed Senator Stokes' Amendment. (Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, March 7.—Assemblyman Meeker did not introduce his proposed general anti-spring election bill yesterday. The opposition to it is so strong that there is little likelihood of the measure coming up this session. The two houses of the Legislature held unimportant sessions yesterday morning. Senator Stokes introduced a bill to authorize the use of voting machines and a bill amending the law regulating corporations. The list named permits corporations having preferred stock to pay premiums on common stock semi-annually or quarterly, as they prefer.

At the afternoon session of the Senate Mr. Johnson's concurrent resolution providing for biennial sessions of the Legislature was passed—14 to 7. The negative votes were cast by Senators Cross, Hand and Reed, Republicans, and Cornish, Gabbard, Hudspeth and Martin, Democrats. The Senate passed Senator Stokes' concurrent resolution apportioning the number of assemblymen in the different counties. The only changes made from the present apportionment is to take one assemblyman each from Hunterdon and Warren counties and to give an additional member each to Hudson and Passaic counties.

The House passed Mr. Garrison's bill to tax personal property where it is situated instead of at the place of residence of the owner.

NO SENTENCE.

City Judge Runyon Took Same View as Defendant's Counsel and Dismissed Case.

This morning the adjourned hearing in the assault case against Amos Blasler, of West Front street, took place before City Judge Runyon. Henry D. Thompson, the alleged victim of the assault, failed as he did at the previous hearing to produce any evidence to substantiate his version of the affair, while Blasler's story was supported by a crowd of witnesses.

Robert M. Clark asked for the dismissal of the charge because at the most only a technical assault was alleged and had not been proven. City Judge Runyon took the same view of the matter and dismissed the proceedings.

MALL AUXILIARY.

Annual Meeting Held Yesterday and Officers Elected.

The annual meeting of the McAll Auxiliary was held at the Public Library yesterday, when officers for the ensuing year were chosen as follows: President, Mrs. Frederic G. Mead; secretary, Mrs. Charles S. Lee; treasurer, Mrs. John Gray Foster; vice presidents, Mrs. A. O. Baldwin and Mrs. Isaac L. Miller. Crescent Avenue church; Mrs. F. O. Herrin and Miss Florence Tweedy, Grace P. E. church; Mrs. W. B. Wadsworth, Congregational church; Mrs. Cornelius Schenck, Trinity Reformed church; Mrs. Theophilus Bond, First Presbyterian church; Mrs. I. N. Van Syckel, Seventh-Day Baptist church; secretary of literature, Mrs. William M. Stillman. The report of the treasurer was very encouraging and showed that during the year $860.42 had been received for carrying on the excellent work of the auxiliary. Every department reported progress and the new year starts under most favorable auspices.

MISS BATES HERE.

Former Fanwood Young Woman Played Leading Role in "The Dairy Farm" at Music Hall Last Night.

There was a pleasant surprise in store for those who attended the performance of "The Dairy Farm" at Music Hall last evening. One of the principal parts in the cast, that of "Minty," was taken by Miss Lulu Bates, for many years a resident of Fanwood. Miss Bates lived with her parents and attended the Seminary in this city until four years ago, when the family moved to New York. Miss Bates then entered a dramatic school and went on the stage two years ago. "The Dairy Farm" was one of the best and most wholesome productions that has been seen on the local stage. The scenery was all new and a number of fine effects were produced. A large and competent cast gave the story of rural life in central New York in a very satisfactory manner.

Miss Bates was particularly good in her part and entered with spirit into the character of the wild but merry daughter of the old peddler. She seemed perfectly natural and was bright and attractive whenever she appeared. Miss Bates has the prospect of a bright career before her.

STRUCK BY ENGINE.

Mrs. O'Brien Had Narrow Escape From Death at Somerville Station Yesterday. (Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, March 7.—Mrs. O'Brien, aged about 70, had a narrow escape from death at the Somerville station of the Central Railroad yesterday morning.

She was crossing the tracks to take a train for Cranford to see her son, who is sick, when a westbound passenger train came in, which struck her and dragged her about 100 feet, her clothing having caught in the engine pilot.

Reed Stryker, of this place, a Rutgers student, made a brave effort to save the elderly woman. He dashed in front of the engine and endeavored to pull her from the tracks, but she slipped from his grasp. He just barely escaped himself. The injured woman was picked up and carried to the station and subsequently removed to her home. An arm was broken, a leg fractured and she was badly bruised.

Mrs. O'Brien's husband was killed a few years ago by the cars about 500 feet east of where she was struck.

Entertained Friends. Mrs. I. H. Boehm, of Somerset street, entertained twenty-five friends in a very pleasant manner at her home last evening. With the aid of dancing, games and other amusements the hours passed very quickly. A feature of the occasion was a number of well rendered vocal solos by Mrs. Case, Miss Daisy Snyder, David Mack, Joseph Connors and Albert Fitch. Supper was served at midnight and the guests left for their respective homes at 2 o'clock.

Burning Rags Caused Smoke. At 4 o'clock this morning Everett Marsh, a boarder at J. A. Blatz's place, corner of Front and Somerset streets, awoke to find the house filled with smoke. A still alarm was turned in by Patrolman Langer and after a long and fruitless search the firemen discovered that the smoke originated in a self-heating stove in the bar room. It was caused by smoldering rags placed in the stove.

Service at Marconier. Rev. Cornelius Schenck, P. D., will lead the evening meeting at Marconier chapel next Sunday. The men's Bible class at this chapel will hereafter be taught by J. P. Lalre, who has again taken up his residence in this city.

Evening Prayer. Evening prayer will be said in the Church of the Holy Cross this evening at 8 o'clock. Services will also be held at the same hour in Grace P. E. church and a sermon will be preached by Rev. Dean Baser.

Golden Wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Randolph, of Randolphville, will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding Tuesday afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock. Many friends in Plainfield have received invitations to attend the reception.

Married Her After Arrest. Frank Klemmen, of Scotch Plains, was placed under arrest by Marshal Campbell Monday and lodged in the lockup on the charge of breach of promise preferred by Maggie Sullivan, of the borough. Yesterday Klemmen was released on bail, security being furnished in the sum of $200. The matter was settled by a marriage ceremony performed by Justice W. E. Mattison in his office last evening.

WERE PANGBORN AND ALLEN SAME MAN?

Jury Will Probably Decide The Question in Williamsport Today.

THE TESTIMONY COMPLETED.

ONLY SUMMING UP AND CHARGING THE JURY TODAY.

Mrs. Lewis Perrine, of This City, Was The Chief Witness in The Case—Defense Was Completed Yesterday. (Special to The Daily Press.)

Williamsport, Pa., March 7.—A decision is hoped for today in the case on trial here to settle the alleged dual identity of W. S. Allen, who is claimed to be Stephen Pangborn, once of Plainfield, N. J.

The testimony was concluded yesterday and the counsel began the summing up this morning. The case is expected to go to the jury today and both sides are hoping for a speedy verdict.

The second chapter in the case was related in court by witnesses yesterday. The principal witness was Mrs. Louise Perrine, of Plainfield, N. J., who is plaintiff in the case, suing to recover the Allen estate on the claim that Allen and Pangborn were one and the same man.

She told how her father, partially disabled, came to Plainfield when she was a small girl. He accosted her while she was wading alone in a brook near her home, gave her 50 cents and begged that she go with him. On another occasion subsequent to this she was in a candy store in Plainfield when a stranger came in. The man proved to be her father.

The owner of the store, who was acquainted with the family history, told the stranger that the girl was his—"Allen's"—own child. To this the stranger replied: "My God, is that my child, and in such a destitute condition." He again pleaded with her to go with him, but she refused. An interesting thing about Mrs. Perrine is her striking likeness to the late W. S. Allen.

Mrs. Perrine herself has quite an unusual history, as related by her self. She said she was married to Mr. Perrine about twenty years ago, and that three years later he was sent to the penitentiary for a period of ten years. Two years later she was informed that she was free to marry again, as her husband's imprisonment nullified the marriage. Then she wedded Louis M. Miller. Two years ago she was informed by a lawyer that her marriage to Miller was illegal and she left him, assuming the name of Perrine again. Perrine died a year ago.

The defense in the case concluded its evidence in the afternoon. The bulk of testimony offered was to prove the legality of the marriage of W. S. Allen to Miss Sarah Harmon, the woman who survived him and who bore him four children.

Board of Health Fleets Officers. The Plainfield Board of Health met yesterday afternoon and elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, W. H. Murray, M. D.; secretary, F. Van D. There was very little of importance done at the meeting as there is little at present to occupy the attention of the board.

Young People Bowled. About ten couples participated in the bowling for mixed doubles at the Park Club last evening. The prizes were secured by Miss Long and Percy C. Long whose combined score was 293.

Golden Wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Randolph, of Randolphville, will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding Tuesday afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock. Many friends in Plainfield have received invitations to attend the reception.

JOLLY PARTY AT WEDDING.

ROUSING SEND-OFF FOR COUPLE MARRIED LAST EVENING.

Mrs. A. E. Waldron Wedded to Ernest Hanesier, of Brooklyn, at Home of Bride's Brother.

The marriage of Mrs. Anna E. Waldron, of this city, to Ernest Hanesier, of Brooklyn, took place last evening at the residence of the bride's brother, David Clark, 719 South avenue, in the presence of a large company of relatives and friends, among whom were a number of members of Star of Plainfield Lodge, Shepherds of Bethlehem, and Mizpah Lodge, No. 1, U. O. of I. O. L., of which the bride is a member.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, pastor of the First M. E. church. The present included handsome tokens of appreciation from relatives and friends. Congratulations were offered and supper served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Hanesier left for a wedding trip. They will reside in Brooklyn, where the groom is employed as a machinist.

The couple went to the Netherwood station and their friends gave them a royal send-off with a shower of rice. Mr. Hanesier formerly resided in Plainfield, where he has many friends. His wife was the widow of a soldier of the Civil War, and she too is well-known by a large circle of acquaintances.

TO MEET VOTERS.

Republican Candidates Will be Present at Meeting of U. S. Grant Republican Club Saturday Night.

The U. S. Grant Republican Club met last evening at their headquarters in Spencer's hall and adjourned, without transacting any business, until Saturday evening. The Republican candidates will then be present and interesting speeches are expected from them. A musical programme will be rendered by the Glee Club connected with the organization. Mayor N. B. Smalley, the president of the club, will preside and all Republicans in the borough are invited to be present.

Regarding Municipal Ownership. James E. Martine has received a letter from the Mayor of Madison, N. J., stating that the municipal system of water supply and the municipal electric light plant is a decided success both in point of service and revenue to that city. Light is furnished to consumers at 10 cents per 1,000 Watts. At this figure the city pays all running expenses and lays up a large and handsome net revenue. Street lights of 32 candle power are furnished the city free. In Plainfield the price charged for light is 18 cents per 1,000 Watts.

Divided Fair Profits. A joint meeting of the companies of the North Plainfield fire department was held last evening in the Warren Engine house. The report of the committee of the firemen's fair was read and adopted. The net proceeds of the affair, $920.40, were divided according to the agreement, Warren Engine Company receiving a certified check for $613.60, and the West End Hose Company a certified check for $306.80.

Married Her After Arrest. Frank Klemmen, of Scotch Plains, was placed under arrest by Marshal Campbell Monday and lodged in the lockup on the charge of breach of promise preferred by Maggie Sullivan, of the borough. Yesterday Klemmen was released on bail, security being furnished in the sum of $200. The matter was settled by a marriage ceremony performed by Justice W. E. Mattison in his office last evening.

HOW PROSPERITY HAS COME TO A. O. U. W.

Summary of Annual Reports to be Presented to Grand Lodge of the Order.

IT HAS BEEN GROWING.

WORDS OF PRAISE FOR V. W. NASH, OF THIS CITY.

Was Supervising Deputy of a District in This State—Kind Words Also for J. W. A. Bauersachs, of Columbia Lodge—The Report.

The reports of Grand Master Workman Lambert of other officers of the Grand Lodge, A. O. U. W., of New Jersey, have been sent to the various representatives in the State. There is much of interest to Workmen in the reports presented.

Grand Master Workman Lambert says that he is disappointed in the growth of the order in the State for the past year. He expected that two thousand members would be added to the membership, but the growth will reach not much over one half of that number. His solution is that no five or ten lodges can do the work that rightly belongs to the whole jurisdiction. Continuing the Grand Master says:

"For the measure of success I have had, I feel indebted to the brethren and lodges that have so splendidly stood by me and held up my hands. I would especially commend Brother V. W. Nash, supervising deputy, for his earnestness and zeal. He did not spare himself, but in season and out of season, in heat and in cold, he never flagged. The distance was never too far or the lodge too small or results so discouraging, but that Brother Nash found the way to their lodge room. Every month he submitted to me a list of from eight to fifteen lodges he would visit."

Brother J. W. A. Bauersachs, of Columbia Lodge, No. 58, is also commended for his excellent work. From April 1 to January 1, nine months, there were initiated 740 candidates, a net gain of 293, because the suspensions were 447. The Grand Master recommends some legislation at the next annual session that will make a desirable change in the plan of assessment. He also recommends that the Grand Recorder's office be moved from Camden to Trenton.

The report of Supervising Deputy V. W. Nash shows that he had charge of the lodges located in Bergen, Essex, Hudson, Middlesex, Monmouth, Passaic, Union and Warren counties. He made seventy-two visitations. Mr. Nash recommends a change in the manner of a bonuses given for new members, and believes that it should not be made paid until a member has belonged to the order for at least three months.

The reports of the Grand Recorder and Grand Receiver are encouraging and in the way of receipts and expenditures there appears a wise and judicious management of affairs. One important matter that will come before the order at the annual meeting to be held at Trenton, March 14, will be that of assessment. A classified assessment is considered favorably, while others prefer the level assessment. At any rate something is considered necessary to establish a more uniform plan so that young men may be attracted to the order.

Gave Shakespeare. Pupils of the preparatory High School class of the Plainfield public schools yesterday morning recited the court scene in "The Merchant of Venice." The principal parts were taken by Harry Thompson, "Bassanio"; Thomas DeMeza, "Antonio"; Miss Serrell, "Portia"; Miss Forbes, "Shylock" and Miss Cuming, "Nerissa."

Notable Death Masks. There are three notable death masks on exhibition in the show window at J. Hervey Doane's jewelry store on Park avenue. One is that of Napoleon I., another of Clotilda, wife of Clotilde, date 405, and the other is that of Lincoln. They are all the property of Col. Julian Scott, and they are prized very highly by him.

Surprised on Birthday. George B. Vanderhoof, of West End Park, celebrated the anniversary of his birthday last Tuesday, and in the evening he was surprised by a number of his friends, who called to congratulate him. A very pleasant evening was passed by all.

Lenten Service. Rev. Dr. Fenton, of Metuchen, will deliver the sermon this evening at the Church of the Holy Cross. Service at 8 o'clock.

Regulating Automobiles.

The automobile is no longer a curiosity in this part of the country. It is fast becoming a very important means of transportation and promises to play a still more important part in the rapid transit question in the near future. Now that the automobile is coming into general use, it is necessary to arrange for its proper control. So the Common Council has had a draft of an ordinance prepared which regulates the speed of the horseless vehicles and also provides that they shall carry lamps of proper brilliancy at night and warning signals which may be heard some distance away.

This action on the part of the Plainfield Council seems very appropriate. An ordinance, similar in most of its provisions, was introduced into the Elizabeth Council sometime ago and will soon come up for action at a meeting of the Council of that city. The other important difference between the two ordinances is that the one in Elizabeth limits the fine for its violation to $5, while the limit here is placed at $20.

While some of these vehicles, propelled by either electricity or gasoline engine, manage to make no end of noise, the more modern ones are being built so that almost all of the noise is eliminated. They then become as difficult to hear when they approach as the bicycles. Every fair-minded person acknowledges the need of a bell on a bicycle and so it is but fair to have similar warning signals on the automobiles. The same reason applies to the need of a lamp at night.

There is no doubt but that the ordinance, which was introduced by Councilman Gloak, will be passed. There appears nothing unreasonable about it. Particularly is a limit to the rate of speed important as some of the drivers of these motor carriages are inclined at times to forget the necessity of moving slowly through a city street and thereby endanger the lives of many people.

Under the provisions of this ordinance, the proposed line of automobile stages will probably be run through the residential parts of the city. There is already an application before the Council asking for a license to conduct such a system.

Experience in past years has shown that the fight at the local elections in the borough is rather a question of policy of the borough administration than a mere political battle. Republicans against Democrats. Were it otherwise, the Republicans would have an easy victory. As it is, the North Plainfield Democrats are working and hoping for the election of several of their candidates at least. There will be undoubtedly considerable scratching of tickets on both sides as the popularity of the various candidates is bound to make some difference with their vote.

That newspaper advertising will not only increase trade in an established business, but will even create a demand for new articles, has been proved by the success of a chocolate manufacturing firm. Before this firm began business the article as they offer it was unknown to the public. The present value of the firm's plant has been placed at more than one million dollars by the Massachusetts Courts; and the proprietors affirm that this entire value was created by advertising.

ing, chiefly in the newspapers.—Philadelphia Record.

Early in the year the reports presented at the annual meeting of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club showed that club to be in a thriving condition. Now the Park Golf Club, at its annual meeting, is shown to be in a successful state, meeting all its obligations and with bright prospects for the future. It speaks well for Plainfield's interest in the game of golf when two such strong organizations should exist here. It also shows that golf is more than a passing fad.

Of the city ordinances, the one relating to the street railway and its rights and privileges is without doubt one of those most often consulted these days by the public at large. It would seem, therefore, that a compilation of city ordinances, if printed, should contain that ordinance, even if it is rather long.

So many of the cooking schools lack all real practicability that the Board of Education of North Plainfield is to be congratulated in having one where the young women of the borough may learn something of the culinary art that will really be of assistance to them in future years.

The people of Plainfield should not forget that Muhlenberg Hospital still exists and is going on the same as ever although a site for its new building has not yet been definitely chosen. Contributions of any kind will be gratefully received at the Hospital these days.

Master and journeymen plumbers acted for the best interests of the city when they found a common basis on which they could work. Strikes and lockouts cannot help but indirectly injure the advancement and welfare of the city.

When the spring freshets bring renewed life to Green brook, the bed of that stream should be clear of debris and rubbish. The borough has set the proper example. It is now the duty of the city to do likewise.

An election of local officers will be held in all the townships and boroughs of New Jersey Tuesday. The anti spring election law applied to cities alone and will not affect these elections.

It is too bad that interest in the Plainfield Speedway Association should depart so quickly. The movement, as planned, was a worthy one and deserved success.

Still the Gospel campaign continues, each day increasing the interest shown in the meetings now being conducted.

An occasional cold wave swoops down on Jersey to remind Jerseyites that winter is not yet over.

Gentlemen—Our family realize so much from the use of GRAIN-O that I feel I must say a word to induce others to use it. If people are interested in their health and the welfare of their children they will use no other beverage. I have used them all but GRAIN-O I have found superior to any, for the reason that it is solid grain.

Our Store - "The People's Store."

We insist that the interests of merchant and patrons are identical. The merchant, to be successful, must study carefully the wants of his customers, and conscientiously endeavor to offer only what is new, reliable, desirable and correct in style and price. He has a right to expect the support of the community in which he may be located in return for such effort. The moral and material effect of such support naturally leads to further effort and the mutual advantage of all parties. Working upon these lines we are fast building up a business in this city upon the solid foundation of "Mutual Benefit." Hence we term our establishment "The People's Store." In return for liberal patronage we promise liberal service. The store is filled with Spring Goods of every kind and was never so attractive.

INTERESTING NOTES FROM PLAINFIELD'S SUBURBAN TOWNS.

Daily Budget Of News Gathered By The Daily Press' Corps of Special Correspondents.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence.)

Dunellen, March 7.—This evening the Republican voters of the borough will meet in the borough hall and name their nominees for the coming election. A large attendance is looked for and it is expected the primary will be practically one of perfect harmony. So far as is known there is no particular aspirant for the head of the ticket, the several whose names have been mentioned for it having declined to run. The remainder of the ticket has already been arranged with one exception, that of assessor, for which two names have been mentioned. The principal fight in the campaign will be over this office and that of freeholder.

William Doty, a former resident of the borough, but who has been living at North Branch for some time past, disposed of his farming utensils by auction at that place yesterday, and will shortly return to Dunellen. He will take up his residence in the house now occupied by P. C. Staats.

Stephen Brown, of the borough, is one of the important witnesses in the Pangborn-Allen case now being tried at Williamsport, Pa. He was placed on the stand yesterday and his testimony will have considerable bearing on the case.

A package of school tickets on the Plainfield Street Railway lines were found on North avenue yesterday. They have been given to Miss Gaskill at the postoffice, who will return them to the owner on application.

Mrs. Harry Swackhamer returned home last evening from a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Fenner, of Somerville.

Mrs. William H. Terry and Mrs. Annie Abbott have returned from a visit with relatives at Westfield.

Miss Nellie Brown is spending a few weeks with her brother, Edison Brown, of Bristol, Conn.

Mrs. John Hill, of Baritan, is spending a few days with borough friends.

Mrs. Everett Gordon has been entertaining relatives from Elizabeth.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence.)

New Market, March 7.—A large number of voters were in attendance at the Republican primary which was held yesterday afternoon. Daniel Whitlock was made chairman and Thomas Brantingham secretary. Luther Boice and Albert Boice were nominated surveyors of the highways, R. L. Pierce as constable and Nelson M. Giles as town committeeman. No one could be found in the Republican ranks who would take the office of justice of the peace and O. E. Kelley, a Democrat, was nominated, but he declined the honor. A nominating committee, consisting of Charles Day, Arthur Tappen and M. J. Whitford, was appointed to fill vacancies. It was voted to appropriate $5,000 for roads and $1,000 for poor.

At the last meeting of the School Board it was voted to appropriate $3,500 for general expenses, $350 for books and $400 for transportation. The Board has in mind to do away with the schools at Randolphville, Fieldville and Baritan Landing and transport the pupils to the nearest school.

While playing at school yesterday, Frank Coriell tripped and fell inflicting a bad gash just below the eye. While very painful it is not considered dangerous.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. George Smith was buried this afternoon in Hillside Cemetery, Plainfield. Services were held at the grave. The child was but three days old when he died.

LITERARY.

The March issue of McClure's Magazine is one of notable value, a value at once timely and permanent. The leading feature is a character study of Edward VII, written by the man in America most competent for the task, George W. Smalley, the correspondent of the London Times. Theodore Roosevelt, the Vice-President, contributes an article of great interest to this number, in which he describes clearly the personalities of some who have labored with success in New York city for "Reform Through Social Work." Among the other contents this month are: "What We Know About Mars," by Edward S. Holden, formerly director of the Lick Observatory; "Billy's Tearless Woe," a story written and illustrated by Frederic Remington. Among the artists represented are F. V. DuMont, Frederic Remington, J. Lockwood Kipling, Orson Lowell, George Varian, Ellen Bernard Thompson and W. J. Glackens.

The March number of Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly will be very generally regarded as the best issue in the history of the magazine. A striking article, "Farther North Than Nansen," gives the first adequate account that has appeared on this side of the water of the heroic dash for the pole which has placed the name of Amundsen at the head of the list of Arctic explorers. "The Road to Frontenac," the serial story for 1921, begins in the March number. Those who read "The Short Line War" need no introduction to Samuel Merwin, but in the present story his theme goes back to the times when England and France were preparing to do battle for this continent. Other features of the March number are "The Wrecking Train," that finished product of modern railway organization, and "The History of Matthew Stanley Quay." Nor does the number neglect fiction. "The Barber Surgeon" is a story by Quiller Couch, which plainly shows why "Q" is recognized as heir to the mantle of R. L. Stevenson. S. A. Nelson contributes another of his illuminating stories of Wall street life, and Miss Thomson the pathetic story of "An Explorer."

A Horrible Outbreak
"Of large sores on my little daughter's head developed into a case of scald head," writes C. D. Isbell, of Morgantown, Tenn., but Bucklen's Arnica Salve completely cured her. It's a guaranteed cure for Eczema, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Pimples, Sores, Ulcers and Piles. Only 25 cents at L. W. Randolph's.

AT THE THEATRES.

Something About the Attractions Which Plainfield Theatre-Goers May Care to Witness.

Mark Twain's popular work, "Tom Sawyer," in dramatic form, is the attraction at Music Hall, Saturday afternoon and night. The thread of the story begins with the grave yard scene which is very realistic and forms one dramatic plot of the play. Tom Sawyer and his chum, Huckleberry Finn, having resolved to steal away from home at midnight and with a dead cat, and a bottle of stump water, they propose to hunt a new made grave, and thereby solve the problem of curing warts. The arrival of a band of body snatchers forces the lads to seek a hiding place, where they are unwilling witnesses to a murder which is placed on the wrong person, whom Tom, by his evidence, is the means of having acquitted. The court room, grocery store and judge's home are interesting scenes. A special matinee, which is intended for women and children will be given on Saturday afternoon when popular prices will prevail.

"On the Suwannee River," a pretty, richly-colored dramatic story, is announced for appearance at Music Hall Monday night. It affords opportunity for picturesque scenic effect, which has been utilized to the fullest extent by its managers, with the natural result of a play possessing all the elements of not only popular but lasting success. It is one that is always welcome, for its story of love and intrigue, the ultimate triumph of virtue, all prettily told in a scenic environment of the sunny south, together with the colored singers, their songs, dances and antics, will ever make it a favorite visitor. The company contains Stella Mayhew in her famous characterization of "Aunt Lindy" and the "Clover Leaf" quartette.

Those who enjoy the correct and and skillful offering of an entertainment of magic, mirth and mystery, should visit Music Hall Wednesday night, next week, when the Great Herrmann appears at that place of amusement. Mr. Herrmann promises some startling illusions for the present engagement. He is the most able trickster on the stage, and his entertainment possesses the double quality of being at once amusing and mystifying.

CHAIRMAN GOT RATTLED

Consequently Mr. Bryan's Introduction Did Not Prove the Advertisement He Expected.

Long before William J. Bryan obtained national prominence his reputation as an orator was quite extensive. Shortly after he had arrived in Lincoln and begun the practice of law it got noised about that he was a good speaker, and he was somewhat in demand at meetings in the small places.

One night he was asked to speak at a schoolhouse 15 miles from Lincoln. He drove over. The night was bitterly cold and Bryan hastened to the big stove when he got into the room.

"MISTHER O'BRIEN WILL SHPAKE."

While he was thawing out, a little, weaned Irishman came up to him and introduced himself as the chairman of the meeting.

"Now, I'll tell you what I want you to do," said Mr. Bryan to the chairman after they had exchanged greetings. "I have driven 15 miles to talk for your people. Of course I do not expect any fee, but when you introduce me I wish you would say: 'Ladies and gentlemen, you will now be addressed by W. J. Bryan, the rising young orator of Lincoln.' I think the little advertisement I shall get is no more than my due."

The chairman agreed and they rehearsed the introduction several times until the chairman was sure he had it letter perfect. Then the meeting was called to order. When Bryan's turn came the chairman rose, started to speak, stopped, started again and then looked at Bryan in a helpless sort of way. "Go on," whispered Bryan.

The chairman took a long breath and blurted out: "Ladies and gentlemen, Misther O'Brien will shpake."

BABY SAVED FIVE LIVES.

Remarkable Courage and Judgment Displayed by Six-Year-Old Maggie Bradley.

Little Maggie Bradley, of Philadelphia, who is not yet six years old, saved five lives the other night by her prompt and intelligent action. She woke up in the night feeling sick and weak, and tried to rouse her mother, who was sleeping with her. Her mother slept on, however, and the little one had no better success with her father, or with the three other people who were sleeping in the house. She had recently been taken to the funeral of a relative, and she made up her mind that all the people whom she could not wake up were dead. Then, with what appears to be a most remarkable display of courage and good judgment on the part of such a child, she opened the front door and ran out to find a policeman.

"There are five people dead over to my house," she said to him, and the policeman asked her to lead him to the place. As soon as he entered the door he smelled gas. The doors and windows were thrown open and physicians were called. At last all the people who had been overcome were brought back to consciousness. A broken gas main in the street was responsible for their condition.

Tit for Tat.

Here is a good story they are telling in Europe about the German emperor: The kaiser, at a recent review in Berlin, reprimanded old Gen. von Meerscheidt for losing his mind at a critical moment. "If your majesty thinks that I am getting too old, I beg of you to allow me to resign." "No, no," replied the kaiser, "you are too young to resign. Indeed, if your blood didn't course through your veins quite so fast you would be a more useful army leader." On the evening of that day the kaiser and the general met at a court ball. The general was talking to some young ladies. "Ah, Meerscheidt," cried William, "that is right; get ready to marry. Take a young wife, then that excitable temperament of yours will soon vanish." The general bowed low as he retorted: "I beg to be excused, your majesty! A young emperor and a young wife would be more than I could possibly stand." Philadelphia Telegram.

* Women In Journalism *

THEIR PRESENT CONDITION—HOW THEY MIGHT IMPROVE IT.

HERE are more women in newspaper work in New York than there were 20 years ago—say three now where there were two then. On the face of it this looks like real progress and victory for the feminine sex in journalism.

But let us see. Suppose we compare the work the few women in journalism did a generation ago with the work of the many today. Some 50 years ago Margaret Fuller was writing editorials for the New York Tribune. Twenty to 30 years ago the most brilliant and popular writing on the editorial page of the same paper was from the pen of Lucia Gilbert Calhoun. Mildy Morgan was famous in this country and in Europe as the live stock reporter of both The Tribune and Times. She was said to be the best judge of the weight of a live beef in this country. A woman was doing dramatic reporting and criticism on The Herald. Lucy C. Benedict was agricultural editor of The Weekly World, and Jennie June Croly was on its Sunday staff. Today, so far as my knowledge goes, there is not a woman doing work anything like so important on one of the papers named, and there is not a woman employed even as contributor to the large type, unsigned editorial page of a great daily in New York or in the United States with the exception of Mrs. Margaret Sullivan in Chicago.

This is worse than Russia, a leading journal of which country maintains a lady as its representative in the United States to record for it the great movements in American politics and in economic and social questions. This editor in despot Russia has faith in woman's brains, which your American newspaper proprietor affects to despise.

If more women are in newspaper work now in New York than there were 20 years ago, it is only because the padded, many paged papers of our large cities are loaded with trivialities which would have been despised and rejected of an old fashioned editor. These trivialities are always furnished by the girl reporter and are now about all she has to do, which is a sorry thing to say, but fact.

There may be a woman who is so called editor of the woman's page of a New York paper, but she is invariably tied down under the thumb of some man managing editor. If into the material for the woman's page there creep anything that really interests thinking women, it is blue penciled, and the girl reporter is told to be "less serious." The woman's page does not at all represent what women think or want, but what a young man of infinite self confidence thinks they ought to think and want. He is usually a young man, energetic, but imperfectly educated, who has fought his way to this place and won it by the invaluable quality of push. Occasionally he is one who has little respect for women even morally and sometimes none at all for them intellectually. Of course there are noble exceptions, but of such type are many of the male editors that dictate what shall not go on the woman's page.

What may the girl reporter furnish? She may write in toadyish measure the doings of millionaire social life. She may report in faintly sarcastic strain a very little concerning the meetings of women's clubs. If by chance women's clubs quarrel, she may pull this fact out at great length and do the heavy sarcastic on it as showing what weak vessels women are, unless it be a quarrel among millionaire ladies; then it must scarce be hinted at. "Wrinkles" is one of those undying, perennial themes of thrilling interest which will always catch the man editor's eye, and any rule, however bogus, for removing facial wrinkles is tolerably sure to find place. "Tiny tots" is another catchword for the masculine mind, and a paragraph or more labeled "Tiny Tots" is dead sure to go in. In her despairing soul the girl reporter sighs, "Oh, master, give us rest from wrinkles and tiny tots!" But he never lets up.

As a consequence of writing only this small, fool stuff, the woman reporter gets very small pay on a large daily, unless indeed she make special name for herself by sheer force of talent and hard work. This about five women have been able to do in New York city and consequently get comparatively good salaries, but even they must continue usually along the same fossil groove of feminine looks, fashions or silly love matters.

One New York editor tells women in insulting terms that no feminine contributions will, under any circumstances, be accepted in his journal, this curmudgeon either not knowing or not choosing to remember that not long ago a lady abroad wrote for his daily a reading advertisement describing the great Paris telescope in thoroughly technical and scientific terms and did it so satisfactorily that the paper, not the lady, received $1,000 for it. Another New York editor informed a young lady that "women are out of style in journalism."

The story of woman in American journalism is like the story of a boom city in the west, a bubble and a burst. What is to be done? Well, after a spell of stagnation the boom city pulls itself together and at length spreads itself in a fine, healthy, gradual growth to proportions quite as magnificent as the visions of its most gorgeous dreamers, but this happens usually long after the dreamers are dead, beggared in their efforts to inflate the boom city.

Woman in journalism will go forward again, next time to stay in the front rank.

Here are suggestions to talented girls ambitious to use the brains they know they have and to do important, responsible work in journalism. It is practically hopeless just now—their obtaining anything worth while in the great cities. Let them go into the journals in the small cities. There, where the pressure of aspirants and the bigotry of men are not so great, they may obtain reporting really worth while. Public meetings, the sessions of boards and commissions, county, educational and municipal, are assemblies which a young woman may report without violating even conventional propriety. The woman reporter has much more scope and liberty in the small city than in the large one. The craft jealousy of men is not so powerful. Movements for the sanitation, beautifying and moral elevation of a town should not only be reported by women, but primarily undertaken by them. From responsible reporting the next step will be the writing of lively and good tempered local editorials.

If women intend to get permanent place in journalism, now is their time to make the fight. Let them become members of the editorial staff, and next, stockholders, managers and proprietors of newspapers in the smaller cities. That they are just as capable as men in most journalistic fields, and more capable than those in certain ones, is not denied. The point is this, and bear it in mind—men are going to crowd women out of the newspaper domain in order to get it for themselves. The way to prevent it is for women to become the editors, managers and owners of journals and the employers of writers of their own sex in the smaller cities. This will pave the way for what has already become a fixed fact in Paris—the establishment of a woman's daily newspaper, with every employee, from the office girl to the editor in chief, a woman. Women now are excellent operators on typesetting machines and members of the printers' unions. A clean, handsome daily conducted by women in New York, devoted to general news matters and current questions, with a pretty office and a millionaire woman's money behind it, would be a "gem," even after the novelty had worn off, or I miss my guess.

BATTLING TO BRING SOULS TO CHRIST.

his devotion and vows, but not consecrate. It is not an easy thing to make an unconditional surrender to God without reservation, and this brings to mind the great question, 'Is your life clean? Are you living before God as you should?'

"The words of old 'Purge me with hyssop and I shall be clean' comes to us today with a double meaning. While God has not called everyone to some special service, he has called all to shine for Him. A great lesson is to be found in the candle which, when lighted, sheds a light in a circle. It may be a small circle or a large one, and so with Christians, it is a small or large circle of influence that they possess. Do your friends or acquaintances know Jesus any better because of your influence? The divine words are 'Let your light so shine that others seeing your good works may glorify your Father which is in Heaven,' and 'God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son that all who should believe in Him should not perish but have everlasting life.'

"You cannot get into the Holy of Holies until you give yourself unreservedly to God and his service, and may each one today do this for Christ's sake. Then all shall dwell in the inner-circle and enjoy a sweet communion with God."

At the close of the service Mr. Weeden sang "In the Secret Presence," and the benediction was pronounced by Rev. A. E. Main.

SPOKE TO YOUNG FOLKS.

F. H. Jacobs Conducted Meeting for the Children Yesterday Afternoon.

The extreme cold of the afternoon did not prevent a very large number of boys and girls from coming together at the hour for the children's meeting, conducted by F. H. Jacobs, in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church at 4 o'clock. The meeting was not less entertaining and helpful than the one on the previous day, and the considerable number of adults who accompanied the little folks were quite as much interested as the younger auditors.

The subject of the afternoon was "How Jesus Took Our Place," and the doctrine of the atonement was explained clearly and helpfully in a way which the youngest child present could understand. The subject was illustrated by a story of a schoolboy who was about to suffer a well-deserved punishment, when a friend voluntarily took his place.

The work of the Holy Spirit in showing a person that there is sin in his heart, and then helping him to make it clean, was illustrated in an impressive manner by the speaker. He produced two glasses, apparently alike filled with water, one representing a pure heart, and the other one in which its owner acknowledged no sinfulness, but which had never been cleansed by the Spirit. The second glass really contained a solution of bichloride of mercury. Into the glasses Mr. Jacobs poured what he called a "poison funder," iodine of potassium. The pure water remained the same, but a red precipitate immediately dyed the poisoned glass. As a greater quantity was added, however, the color gradually faded out, and the poisonous quality of the mixture was eradicated. "So," said the speaker, "the Holy Spirit first shows us the sin in hearts, and then helps us to get rid of it."

At the close of the service, Mr. Jacobs asked all the children who had given themselves to the Saviour to rise, and a large number did so. He then asked all to stand who would like, from that time, to belong to Him, and try to do His will; and there was very encouraging response. Mr. Jacobs reminded his hearers, before dismissing them, that the meeting this afternoon would be held in the First Baptist church.

Many Impressed by Evangelist Hall's Earnest Appeal at Last Night's Meeting. The evangelistic services conducted by William Phillips Hall last evening in the First Baptist church, resulted in the enlistment of at least twenty recruits who promise to serve hereafter in the army of God. The wonderful success attained by Mr. Hall is unprecedented in the local history of Gospel meetings and the results of last evening's meeting was no exception to what Mr. Hall has accomplished during the brief period in which he has spent his noble efforts to save souls in this community.

The preliminary sacred musical service was in charge of W. S. Weeden, who succeeded in bringing out the full musical strength of the congregation. The hymns sung were such as are familiar and dear to the majority of church members. "Come to Me," was one that was sung in such a soulful manner as would captivate the most hardened sinner.

At the close of the festival of sacred song, prayers were offered by Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards and by Rev. John L. Clark, the secretary of the New York Executive Committee of the Twentieth Century National Gospel Campaign Association. Announcement of the various services to be held during the remainder of the week was made by Dr. Richards, and the ushers gathered the offerings while the choir and congregation sang "Face to Face." Mr. Hall took the opportunity to explain how truly happy one feels when, through the power given by God, he is permitted to help save souls. True joy is to be found in leading some one to Christ, said he, and if one wants to realize God's love for him he need only to go out and do His work.

Mr. Weeden rendered in a clear and mellow voice a pleasing solo, and after a short prayer Mr. Hall proceeded at once to make the principal address of the evening.

The lay evangelist selected for his subject a part of the 15 verse, 10 chapter, 2 Kings:—"And he saluted him and said unto him: Is thine heart right, as my heart is with thy heart?" Drawing his audience's attention to the interrogatory form of his subject, he added that the paramount question is the spiritual life. Some, said he, have no appreciation of the fact that there exists a life beyond the grave and to them this question is directed. The message as to the condition of the heart is a personal one from God and when it speaks of the heart it means the inner man—to the real self.

The heart is made right by seeking God and this gift can not be purchased. The condition of some is like a malarial swamp from which emanates death.

The great mistake made very often is in a person's believing that he is all right spiritually, for it matters not what one thinks about himself, it is what God knows him to be that counts. If you look into the mirror of God's word you will find yourself the ugliest of creatures. The quarantine is out for those whose hearts are not right in the sight of God. One needs to be transformed and regenerated in order to obtain life everlasting. In concluding Mr. Hall begged the unexpected to seek God before the close of the service.

A short period of silent prayer followed Mr. Hall's address and then a Christians who would surrender to Jesus stood up at the request of the evangelist.

When the call was made for all who desire henceforth to be Christians to arise, twenty persons made a silent acknowledgment of surrendering to God by standing up. As heretofore the cards were then passed around and after that feature of the service was ended all Christians were again asked to signify their belief by standing. Benediction was pronounced by Dr. Richards.

At the short "after service" held for those who experienced a change of heart, Mr. Hall made a few appropriate remarks and Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes led in prayer. Among the clergymen present at the services were: Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes, Rev. George W. Gardner, Rev. George W. Smith, Rev. J. O. McKeiver, Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph. D., Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards, Rev. J. W. Richardson, and Rev. John L. Clark, of New York.

WORKING IN THE WEST END. Large Meeting in Hope Chapel Last Evening Was Led By F. H. Jacobs. Owing to the fact that Rev. Theodore S. Henderson was called back to Brooklyn last evening, F. H. Jacobs conducted the evangelistic service at Hope Memorial chapel. The chapel was filled with an interested audience, and the discourse by Mr. Jacobs was very helpful. After he conducted a song service and sang a solo, Mr. Jacobs talked from the text, "I am the door; by Me if any man enter in, he shall be saved, and shall go in and out, and find pasture."

The speaker said: "when a man is cast out for Jesus' sake you can make up your mind that Christ is very near to him. Christ gives the most tender teaching to His children; so simple and impressive. I think that sometimes we mystify by attempting to explain that which explains itself. A child can understand the door, but it is oftentimes our unwillingness to enter through the door. 'He that entereth not into the sheep fold by the door, the same is a thief and a robber.' There are many ways that people are trying to enter the kingdom of Heaven, but if we would be saved we must enter by the door. We must come through Jesus Christ, whose shed blood atones for sin."

"A conscience is all right in its original state, but it can be marvellously warped out of shape. Some people think they can do most anything, their consciences are so elastic. The soul before God is priceless. The latter part of our text says 'He shall be saved.' There is no hope-so about it. The door is wide open for you and men. Won't you enter tonight and be saved?"

The service closed in the usual way, several persons signifying a desire to become Christians. The benediction was pronounced by Rev. John McMurray.

SPORTING. BASEBALL. Manager G. O. M. Smith, of the North Plainfield High School baseball team has announced that the opening game of the season will be played April 3 with the Pingry school nine at Elizabeth.

PERSONAL. Joseph H. Johnson, of Park avenue, has returned from a visit to Brooklyn.

E. K. Allen, of Somerset street, is suffering with a severe attack of lamboago.

Miss Della Voehl, of Somerset street, is visiting Mrs. William Henry, of Pluckamin.

Miss Lizzie Huff, of Centerville, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hedden, on Central avenue.

Boys Trained for Foreign Trade. In Berlin, Leipzig, Cologne and a few other large business centers there are special schools for boys intending to enter commercial life, where they are taught, in addition to all ordinary school subjects, those which they will in after life require, such as business correspondence in English, French and German, reckoning with money of different nations, bookkeeping, typewriting, shorthand and so-called office work, consisting of writing out checks, bills of exchange, invoices, etc.—N. Y. Times.

"Marrying" the Adriatic. After having been discontinued for about a century, the ancient annual ceremony of "marrying" the Adriatic will probably be revived in full splendor next year. Designs have been drawn for reproducing an exact model of the handsome old world state gallery, which was the last used for the ceremony by the Venetian republic in 1797. The municipality is enthusiastic in supporting the project.—Chicago Chronicle.

A Non-Hydrophobic Dog. A baker appeared in a Paris court to have a woman fined for keeping a rabid dog, which he claimed had bit him, inoculating him with rabies. When he was through with his complaint the woman put the dog on the judge's desk and removed from its mouth a set of false teeth.—N. Y. Post.

A Musical Typewriter. One of the most interesting of recent inventions is the musical typewriter. It does not play music, but writes it, the keyboard being an arrangement of musical characters instead of ordinary letters. The mechanism is in most respects similar to that of the everyday typewriter.

The sheet of paper on which the music is to be written is printed beforehand with the lines of the staff, and, by pressing one of the buttons, the musical character desired may be made to assume its place on the line wanted, so as to stand for the proper note or other mark. Full notes, half notes, quarter notes, eighth notes and sixteenth notes appear on the keys, as well as the signs for sharps and flats.

In writing music, the operator first prints the clef mark, and then the arrangement of sharps and flats which indicates the key in which the piece is written. Chords are formed by putting the component notes together, one after another, but in a vertical line on the staff. It is all very simple, but, as may easily be realized, this kind of typewriter requires special expertise and a good deal of practice. It is likely to be of more value in copying than in actual composing.—Saturday Evening Post.
