CONDITIONS OF RACES

The Officers and Members of the Committee—L. E. Waring is Chairman—Races and Other Attractions—The Various Local Classes.

Prizes represented by nine handsome cups in addition to over $900 in cash will be given at the Plainfield Horse Show at the Driving Park here on Friday and Saturday, June 17 and 18. Announcement has been made that the list of entries will close on Thursday, June 9 and that to entitle anyone to make an exhibit it is necessary for a certificate of entry to be sent to William S. Blitts, the assistant secretary, at the Plainfield Casino before that date together with the required fee of $5. A condition is made that all horses must be the bona fide property of the exhibitor at the time the entry is made.

No prize will be awarded in any class unless there be at least three entries, two of which are by different owners. In case the animal is disqualified, the winner of the next succeeding prize will be entitled to take the prize awarded for such disqualified horse. In addition to the cups and prize money, the usual ribbons will be awarded to the first, second and third in each event. There will be two races during the show, the Watchdog and the Hillside. The Watchdog is for ponies not over 14.3 hands, catch weights, half mile. This is a sweepstakes of $10 each, the total amount to go to the winner. The Hillside is a hurdle race for four-year-olds and upward; one and a half miles over nine flights of hurdles. This is also a sweepstakes of $10 each, the total amount to go to the winner. In each event colors must be worn by riders, who must be amateurs.

The horses entered in the roadsters classes will be judged as road horses that are driven regularly on the road. Their manners, conformation and style of going will be considered, not their pedigrees or records. Places will be barred. In class No. 1, roadsters, any height, to be shown to wagon, another cup is offered. A third cup is the prize in class No. 3, a horse, any height, and best appointed road rig. The following scale of points will govern in judging class No. 3: Horse, sixty per cent.; general appointments, including wagon, harness, robes, blankets, whip, style, and the like, forty per cent. In judging paces, conformation, style of going, manners, and as they are and appear at the time of showing in the rig, will be considered. A cup is offered in class No. 4, for paces, any height, to be shown to wagon.

All animals entered in the horse-to-harness classes must be serviceably sound for the purposes for which they are shown and must have good manners. Conformation and quality will count fifty per cent. and action and style will count fifty per cent. In each of the eight classes of horses in harness the prize for first is $40 and for second $10. Class No. 5, is for horses over 14.2 hands and not exceeding 15.2; class No. 6, is for a pair of horses, over 14.2 and not exceeding 15.2; class No. 7, horse, over 14.2; class No. 8, horse, to be shown before a woman's appropriate vehicle, with woman to drive; class No. 9, pair of horses, same as No. 8; class No. 10, horse, 14.2 and not exceeding 15.2. A first prize of $40 and a second prize of $10 is offered in the four-hands, class No. 13, horses to be of any height, to be shown before a coach, drag or break. In class No. 14, combination harness and saddle horses, the animal is to be first shown to an appropriate vehicle and judges as a horse suited for harness purposes; the horses to be unharnessed in the ring and to be judged and shown under saddle. Class No. 15, is for ponies in harness, and all ponies in this class must be serviceably sound, have good manners and be shown before an appropriate vehicle, for ponies

One entry from here appears on the list of the second race, 2:18, trot or pace: Adam Blair's chestnut gelding, Rex.

Three Plainfield nags are entered in the third race, 2:24, trot or pace: Fancy Spot, Aloysia and J. W. Johnson's Woven Wind.

READY FOR BATTLE ON OVAL

PLAINFIELD AND WESTFIELD TEAMS TO MEET TOMORROW AFTERNOON.

Nothing now remains for a fine exhibition of the National game tomorrow between Alis and Westfield in their first clash of the season, but a fine day. Manager Johnston and Manager Denman have each decided on their lineup, which shows on paper, that little or no padding is to be done. There will be the greatest interest in this game not only because it is the first meeting this year, but by reason of games that each team have played thus far.

The supporters of Alis cannot see how Westfield can win. They contend that inasmuch as Alis defeated Aeolian 8 to 0 and Aeolian defeated Westfield 10 to 0, the locals should not have much trouble in winning tomorrow's game. On the other hand it must be remembered that Maurer pitched for Aeolian against Alis, while Doerscher did the trick against Westfield. Another point advanced in favor of Alis is that the team is composed of heavier batmen and should be depended upon to hit Waller at will. This will depend somewhat on Waller's condition. Westfielders claim that the red-head boy is due to pitch in his old-time form and he may puzzle Captain Lander's bunch. At all events the game will be a hummer from start to finish no matter who wins.

The only change in the Alis lineup is in right field. In place of Griffin, who will pitch for Scotch Plains, Murray, of Jersey City, will be seen. He is a hard hitter, a fine fielder and it is said can also twirl the ball, if necessary.

The teams will lineup this way: Alis—Roberts, cf; Lander, 3b; Oregon, 2b; McGee, cf; Murray, rf; Mahler, 1b; Farmer, c; Hollywood, lf; Davis, p.

Westfield—Burke, c; Wialler, p; Burns, 1b; Roehford, 2b; Heckman, cf; Barry, 3b; Goldberg, lf; Mallen, cf; Connolly, rf.

The game will be called promptly at 3:45 and Umpire Merity will handle the indicator.

ANOTHER GRAUD AVE. SPAN

FREELANDERS ORDER BRIDGE FOR THE RACEWAY.

At the special meeting of the Board of Freeholders yesterday, Director Hubbard appointed all the standing committees. They are practically the same as last year, changes being few and insignificant.

One thing of interest in connection with the committee appointments was the re-appointment of the present Graud avenue bridge committee to consider the matter of constructing a new span across the raceway near the avenue bridge. This bridge has been inadequate for traffic usage for some time. The committee was re-appointed upon a motion by Freeholder Westphal, of this city, the chairman.

COUNTRY YOUTH

A BIG SWINDLER

Postoffice Inspector Arrests Lad Who Received Piles of Mail at Fanwood.

GET-RICH-QUICK GAME

HIS ALLURING OFFER TO UNSUSPECTING INVESTORS.

Taken Into Custody at Berkeley Heights and Acknowledges His Guilt—His Method of Operation.

Charged with using the United States mail for fraudulent purposes, Charles Lester Murphy, a twenty-one-year-old youth of Berkeley Heights, was arrested at his home yesterday by Postal Inspector Meharey. Before United States Commissioner Whitehead in Newark, he acknowledged his guilt and waived examination. He was held in default of $1,000 bail to await the action of the United States Grand Jury.

Murphy is a raw country lad, and looks like the last person in the world to engage in a swindling scheme that involved the sale of mining and manufacturing stocks. He was working on the farm in his bare feet when arrested, and the Postal Inspector at first could hardly believe that he had the right man.

Murphy's scheme was to send alluring letters to people on a mailing list that he had purchased from one of the concerns selling such things, offering stocks of various kinds. He promised profits of fifty to one hundred per cent. on each share. He offered the stock of the Murphy-McMichael Company, and the Lunar Oil Company, mythical corporations, and of the Marconi Wireless and Western Union Companies.

Most of his letters were sent to people in the West and South. P. J. Kobb, of Salem, O., made the formal complaint that resulted in Murphy's arrest. He sent Murphy $75 for some "Lunar" stock, which never arrived.

Attention was first called to Murphy by Mrs. Bettman, of the Fanwood postoffice, where most of the young swindler's mail was sent. She noticed the sudden increase in his mail, and the various nature of the cards printed on the envelopes he sent out, and notified the United States officers. They watched the lad's operations for several months and collected the evidence upon which action was taken.

Murphy told Inspector Meharey that the idea for the scheme came from the stories of such operations in the newspapers. He said he had received over $500 within a few weeks.

LAWN FETE FOR BABY CAMP

BENEVOLENT BAND, KING'S DAUGHTERS, HOLD OUTDOOR AFFAIR.

Under the auspices of Benevolent Circle, King's Daughters, a lawn fete for the benefit of the baby camp on the mountain was held yesterday afternoon. The affair took place at the home of Mrs. Frank Sprague Martin, of Netherwood, the president of the Circle.

The lawn was prettily arranged with settees and tables, and the porch and awnings were lavishly decorated. Flowery Japanese lanterns hung from the trees, the whole effect being very much on fete. Special features of the affair, which supplemented the usual refreshment tables, were pony rides for the children and a Brownie show. Practically all the forty-three members of the Circle worked to make the fete a success.

There was a large attendance and the affair passed off most delightfully. Financially, as well as socially, it was a great success, and the camp fund will be materially swelled as a result. The camp will be opened in a week or so. It will make an auspicious beginning, starting under better financial circumstances than last year.

PUPILS' RECITAL

ATTRACTS A CROWD

Miss Aimee Louise Emmons Presents An Enjoyable and Diversified Programme.

HELD AT THE CASINO

PUPILS HEARTILY APPLAUDED BY ADMIRING FRIENDS.

Drills, Pantomime, Songs and Recitations—Miss Myra Emmons Acts as Accompanist—The Teacher Congratulated.

Unqualified success attended the recital of the pupils of Miss Aimee Louise Emmons, the elocutionist, at the Casino last night. Friends and relatives of the pupils attended the affair in large numbers, and all of them enjoyed it thoroughly. There was a long and diversified programme, and the manner in which the numbers were presented reflected a very great amount of credit upon Miss Emmons and her methods of training. Prolonged applause greeted every number, and after recital Miss Emmons received congratulations and compliments from all sides among the audience.

In the order presented, the programme was as follows: A scarf drill, in which the Misses Frances Rittenhouse, Margaret Vandewater, Amy Winant, Arline Brown, Anna McOullough, May Smith, Laura Woolston, Florence Johnson, Frances Mosher, Helen Ryder, Marion Wean and Ruth Wean took part. They were costumed in white, with gold trimmings, and drilled with bright yellow scarfs. A feature of the drill was a duet dance by the Misses Rittenhouse and Vandewater.

Miss Jessica Hill sang a solo, "Swan Song." A pantomime, "Nearer, My God, to Thee," was acted by Miss Louise Davis; the words of the hymn were sung from behind the scenes by the Enterpean Glee Club. "A Little Quaker Sinner," a recitation, was delivered by Miss Amy Winant; Miss Helen Ryder rendered "Princess Lovely Looks," and Miss Frances Mosher rendered "How Did They Know," both recitations.

Lawrence French appeared in a dumbbell drill. "Legend of the Organ Grinder," a recitation, was delivered by Miss Anna McOullough. Another recitation, "What She Said," was rendered by Miss Marion Wean. Miss Ruth Wean posed to a number of poems read by Miss Arline Brown.

An Athenian drill, with six figures, scored a great hit. The Misses May Smith, Jessica Hill, Laura C. Woolston, Anna McOullough and Florence Johnson took part, clad in Greek costume.

"The Fairies' Party," a recitation, was delivered by Miss Frances Rittenhouse; "Mittie's Troubles," was recited by Miss Margaret Vandewater and Miss Florence Johnson recited "Cloy O'rank." A monologue, "A Heart-rending Affair," was rendered by Miss May Smith; "Mice at Play," a recitation, was delivered by Miss Arline Brown. Pantomime, "Lead, Kindly Light," was posed by Miss Hill, the Enterpean Club singing from behind the scenes.

The programme closed with a comedy, "The Burglar Alarm," in which four of the girls took part: Misses Woolston, Davis, McOullough and Johnson. The parts were cleverly enacted.

Miss Myra Emmons acted as accompanist at the recital.

HOME FROM LONG TRIP.

Mrs. C. W. Hoff and Daughter Return From the West.

Mrs. Charles W. Hoff and daughter, Miss May Hoff, of Crescent avenue, reached home at 5:43 last night, after a delightful nine weeks' pleasure trip. They were accompanied by Mrs. Hoff's cousin, F. M. Johnston, of the firm of Johnston & Johnston, of St. Elmo, Ill., the third largest contractors in the world, and the entire trip was made in Mr. Johnston's private car.

The party visited Corpus Christi, Texas; Mexico and returned by the way of St. Louis. Johnston & Johnston have been building a railroad in Texas, 250 miles thus far being constructed, and another contract for 175 miles additional trackage has just been signed. While in Texas the Vanderbilts were there in a private car inspecting the road with a view of purchasing it.

The Plainfield High School has been awarded certain advantages as to the entrance examinations to Wellesley College.

Appropriate Memorial Exercises in the City and Borough Today.

MAJOR W. D. W. MILLER SPEAKS AT STILLMAN HIGH SCHOOL.

Patriotic Songs, and Speeches—Debate at the North Plainfield High School—Features of Various Programmes.

Memorial exercises were held in the local schools today and were participated in by representatives from Winfield Scott Post, No. 78, G. A. R. An address by Major W. D. W. Miller to the pupils at the High School brought in the form of a reminiscence, the stirring scenes of the Gettysburg fight before his audience.

Capt. M. C. Dobbins spoke at the Bryant School. Agnes Scrivener read a composition and another by Leslie Arnold was read by John Kenney. W. W. Coriell made an address at the Franklin School.

St. Mary's parochial school was visited by a detail under Capt. M. C. Dobbins. The address at the Irving School was made by H. O. Corra.

T. O. Doane led the detail visiting the Whittier School. The pupils of the Washington School in addition to patriotic songs and recitations listened to an address by J. F. Berg.

In common with those of the city, the borough school children observed Decoration Day today. All grades joined in exercises.

The feature of the observance held by the higher grades was a debate on "Resolved, that the Sympathies of the United States Should be With Japan in the Present War." Mary Robley and Sadie Fountain argued in the affirmative and Stanley Fisher and Leo Kenney took the negative. Besides patriotic songs there were recitations by Angeline Jackson and Wilbur Danning.

The special features of the primary programme were recitations by Harry Steiner, Alfred Seidel, Harold Linger, Helen Hummer, Gladys Marsh, Vincent Lee, Eddie Johnson, Helen Roberts, Helen Woodruff, Hazel Hyatt, Ethel Campbell, Russell Lee, Rudolph Reinhold, Oscar Dilts, Anna Regan, Elsie Haffner, Howard Riley, Lawrence French; piano solos by Bessie Stephenson and Marguerite Boehm; and an address on the meaning of the day by Capt. William Hand, of the G. A. R. detail.

BIG CROWD AT H. S. CANTATA

THE LEGEND OF BREGENZ SUPERBLY RENDERED BY THE PUPILS.

Training of the most skillful and painstaking kind was evidenced by the singing of the chorus of High School pupils in their programme at the Seventh-day church last night. In "The Legend of Bregenz," an adaptation of Adelaide A. Proctor's poem of the same name, the chorus of girls supported, in the best possible manner, the solo and duet work of Miss Marie Newman and Miss Mary Collier who were heartily applauded.

G. Morgan Stricklett's interpretation of the numbers on the programme which fell to his share was so well appreciated as to earn for him several encores. The solos by Mrs. Thomas McDonald, C. L. Lewis and Mr. Stricklett were the subject of considerable favorable comment among the homegoing throng. While speaking of the general merit of the performance of the vocal music, it is only proper to mention the exceptionally fine accompaniment furnished by Mrs. C. L. Lewis, Miss Mabel Marxson and Miss Jessie Uter, organists.

Charles L. Lewis, as conductor, displayed admirable control of the voices under his command. The following young men acted as ushers: F. K. Anderson, Joe Treedy, Samuel Reed, Stewart Freeman, Richard Fenne and Charles Titsworth.

BVT. - MAJ. TELLS OF FIGHT

REV. DR. HUBBELL'S TALK AT TRINITY MEN'S ASSOCIATION.

Patriotism and gallantry marked the monthly sociable of the Men's Association, of Trinity church, last night. The members entertained their wives and women friends with a programme that was all of the flag. The affair was well attended and greatly enjoyed. Music by a four-piece orchestra and an address by Rev. Dr. W. C. Hubbell, were the features of the programme.

Dr. Hubbell's address was the chief number of the evening. He delivered a highly interesting account of the battle of Cold Harbor, the more interesting and absorbing because it came from one of the participants of the great conflict. Cold Harbor has been called "the unwritten battle of the war," and Dr. Hubbell's account is probably the best that has been given about it. He is in position to write fully and accurately because he was a brevet major.

Dr. Hubbell painted the twelve-days' fighting in graphic word pictures. His hearers saw the Unionists fail in their last attempt to turn the Confederate flank, and understood how the question of marching directly from the Rapidan to Richmond was answered in the negative by that failure.

Six patriotic airs were played by the orchestra. Before the address, "Marching Through Georgia" was rendered and after it came "Maryland, My Maryland." The orchestra was composed of Mrs. G. W. Saums, piano; E. P. Wheeler, flute; Edward Young, cornet, and Irving Beninger, violin.

The committee in charge consisted of H. J. Martin, chairman; Edwin Bohan, O. W. Dunham, G. W. Hoagland, E. F. Sheppard.

FISK AND TILNEY TAPPED

YALE'S EXCLUSIVE ORGANIZATIONS HONORED TWO PLAINFIELDERS.

Yale's tap day was celebrated yesterday and the announcement of the elections to the senior societies were made in the customary manner. A local interest is attached because Charles W. Fisk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Fisk, of West Seventh street, was the ninth man tapped for Scroll and Keys, while Robert Tilney, 2d., also of this city, was the ninth man tapped for Skull and Bones. Election to either one of these societies is considered high honor, as only fifteen men are tapped for each annually.

Humble; treasurer, Isabel Williams. It was decided to tender a reception to the graduating class at the Casino on June 17, after the commencement exercises. The next meeting will be held next Tuesday, when business of importance will come up.

Graduating Exercises of Muhlenberg Hospital's Training School for Nurses.

CHAS. J. FISK PRESIDES

Dr. Norman H. Probasco Makes An Address—Prayer Offered by Rev. E. M. Rodman—C. E. Brooks Presents Fins—Other Features.

Four women, having completed the three years' course at the Muhlenberg Hospital Training School for Nurses, were graduated from that institution last night with the customary honors. The exercises were held in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church and were attended by physicians, graduate nurses, members of the Woman's Auxiliary Board and friends of the hospital.

The programme was one of interest and appropriate to the occasion, consisting of selections by the Plainfield High School Banjo and Mandolin Club, tenor solo by George W. Smith, accompanied by Howard Case; prayer by Rev. E. M. Rodman, rector emeritus of Grace church; addresses by Charles J. Fisk, president of the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital; Rev. John Sheridan Zelle, pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church and the presentation of diplomas and pins by Mr. Fisk and Charles E. Brooks.

The graduates were Mrs. Harriet J. Taber, of Elmira, N. Y.; Miss Emily H. Hill, of Augusta, Ga.; Miss Helen R. Boice and Miss Alice M. Rand, of Plainfield. They together with the superintendent of the hospital, Miss Wilsey, and her assistant as well as the other members of the training school occupied seats on the platform. When they entered the room hearty applause was given them.

After Dean Rodman offered prayer, there was a selection by the banjo and Mandolin club, followed with a short address by President Charles J. Fisk. He reviewed the early history of the hospital, stating that twenty years ago it was founded by Dr. Clark and W. R. Cook. They called in Rev. E. M. Rodman for consultation. The first meeting was held in the vestry of Grace church, where with the aid of Dr. Burleighham the initiative was taken. In 1875 the hospital was incorporated and soon afterward the Woman's Auxiliary was formed. The first year $145 was raised for the institution. The next year $1,000 was subscribed, the third year $500 and the fourth year $3,000 was secured. This money was raised through the holding of picnics, excursions, fairs, etc. In 1881 the hospital was completed and opened on Thanksgiving Day.

Last year, Mr. Fisk reported, 446 patients were treated at the hospital, there were 325 operations and 800 persons visited the dispensary. Of the number one hundred were private patients, two hundred were pay-patients and 146 were charity patients. He then spoke of the work in building additions to the old hospital, the work of starting the new one until at present the city has a plant that cost $100,000, and most of this money has been subscribed by the people of Plainfield. It costs $20,000 a year to maintain the present hospital, and of this sum about $12,000 is received from private sources and the county. Mr. Fisk said that if every person in the city would contribute $1 a year, the running expenses would be met easily. He added that while the hospital was started by Episcopalians it was now strictly interdenominational. Mr. Zelle was the next speaker and he said at the outset that it must be refreshing to have some one come in and talk about something they know nothing about. He said that professions belong to humanity and those who have adopted them are simply holding them for the others who are to follow. Continuing he said that while every profession was being criticized more or less, the one of trained nursing is too new to be effected in that way and everyone appears good natured about it. He then cited the various professions, ministers, physicians, journalists and lawyers and about each one he made some pleasant remark.

He spoke of the fact that since coming to this city and in making calls he frequently would learn that those

QUALITY OF MAKERS

A PROSE AS WONDERFUL AND PERFECT
AS IN PRECEDING AGES.

Great Writers of the Time—The American Prosewriters—The Elizabethan Era—Interesting Talk.

"There is a very suggestive hint thrown out in a remark in one of Walter Bagehot's essays to the effect, that an author's personality tends to separate itself from the personality of the man. The remark has more in it than strikes the casual ear. Most of us, who have thought about the facts of the case at all, have recognized that between Shakespeare, as we know him in his wonderful plays and Shakespeare as he probably lived his life, there was a vast psychological gap which the student in literature today has vainly tried in each literary generation to bridge over. There is a mysterious effluence that goes out from the creative spirit of the man and incarnates itself in the Shakespeare that each one of us imagines for himself. Literary personality has, indeed, its phases; and these may stand for disparate ideals in the field of art; and, in similar wise, it may be contended that the style of a period tends to separate itself from the master voices of a period and take shape as a dimly apprehended yet instinctively known something which we call the accepted prose utterance of the time. We all recognize, for instance, what is meant by the prose of the period of the threecorons. We can discern in a not unlike fashion what is meant by the Elizabethan point of view in the choice and distribution of words marshalled in obedience to that subtler law of harmony that dominated the prose of Lord Bacon, of Malraux, of Sir Philip Sidney, of the translators of the English Bible. Most of us, if challenged, could give some account, too, of some definite statement, which would fitly express for us what it was that went to make up those literary types. So, if I venture to speak to you this evening about the Makers of Victorian Prose, I do so because I wish to concentrate your attention upon certain qualities in those makers, which have helped to create for us a style which is as different as the types that came before it, as the Georgian Age is different from the Age of Queen Anne, or the Age of Queen Anne from the Age of Elizabeth.

"Why this should be so is not a question, which need detain us now; but the fact is one that strikes the most elementary student of literature. The style of a period is something apart from something appreciably distinct from the separate, individual styles that enter subtly into its making. One will find it, perhaps, in its entirety in the second rate writer; he will not find it in the first rate writer. Yet that mysterious, not wholly abstract something which we call the prose of a period has no tangible existence apart from the separate singular and elect individuals whose utterances contributed, all unconsciously, to its gradual upbuilding.

"It is not the least remarkable of the many remarkable things about the Age of Queen Victoria, that it has given us a prose as wonderful in its way, as perfect in everything that goes to make a classic type of prose as any of the preceding periods, connected curiously enough with the name of a reigning woman. If one looks at the history of English literature in the past, one finds that three great epochs stand out, before all others, to know these periods is to be well read in the literature of the Age of Elizabeth, in the literature of the Age of Queen Anne and in the literature of the Age of Queen Victoria. It is to be familiar with the Age of Sidney and of Lord Bacon, with the Age of Swift and of Addison, and derivatively, of course, with the intervening Age of Goldsmith, Burke and Johnson. That practically brings us to our own time which is the Age of Macaulay, of Froude, of Newman, of Carlyle, of Mill, of Thackeray, of Dickens, of Sir Arthur Helps and of those lesser lights like Kingslake, whose gifts writing we still enjoy while we essay to trace the remoter sources of them to the masters at whose feet they sat.

"Most of us will agree that we may, for convenient purposes of division and analysis, take the war of 1870 in France as a crisis in the history of Victorian prose. That war shook Europe with expectation; it gave us a new and united people in Germany, a new world-power in the world. Making this war, therefore, our marking point, we shall find that

The Day of Outings.
The one pleasure which the American public thoroughly enjoys is its outings. Low priced and at popular places and where there may be unrestrained enjoyment in out-of-door sports. Around New York there are many popular resorts but perhaps the most popular for holiday excursions is Mauch Chunk in the mountains of Pennsylvania. The journey is delightful and passes through an interesting country, through the farm lands of New Jersey and then into that busy section of the Keystone State which bristles with industries which are renowned the world over.

Mauch Chunk is high in the mountains and the exhilarating atmosphere is a tonic for the hived-up city man. The chief feature of the trip to Mauch Chunk is to make the journey over the Switchback railroad which is a gravity road some eighteen miles in length. The tourist is carried at a rapid rate to the inclines of Mt. Pisgah and Jefferson over which the cars are lifted by mammoth mechanical devices only to continue the romantic journey to the end, ever fascinating and thrilling. On Decoration Day the New Jersey Central will run one of its popular priced excursions to Mauch Chunk, the rate for the round trip to be $1.50, and special train will leave Plainfield at 9:20 a. m., returning train will leave Mauch Chunk at 5:30 p. m. This is a trip worth taking and to miss it will be doing yourself an injustice. 5 23 6 c the Victorian age, including a period of over sixty years, easily falls into two distinct literary generations, of thirty each. We shall find these two generations made up largely of writers of English prose as sharply divided from one another in their characteristics as the Age of Victoria is sharply divided from the Age of Queen Anne and much more so, of course, from the "spacious Age" of Queen Elizabeth. That certainly is a most wonderful fact to dwell upon. The names which are inseparably connected with the literary glories of Queen Victoria's reign in England are not the only shining instances of that galaxy that I have mentioned, but we have a newer and a later school which has sprung up since 1870 and 1880. Today we have not yet done marveling over the achievements of Stevenson and Pater, of Thomas Hardy, of George Meredith, of John Richard Green, of Matthew Arnold.

"These men, we shall find, filled the most disparate and ethically opposed walks of life. One of them is a man of affairs, a statesman and orator; the world knows him today as an historian and an essayist, Thomas Babington Macaulay. Another is a recluse in his way who yet lives constantly before the world's gaze, Thomas Carlyle. Still another is a theologian, a logician and a dreamer who seems deliberately to have turned his back upon the world, and who comes before the world's notice, not because he loves it, but because he is dragged back upon its stage. That is Cardinal Newman. Another, also a recluse, during the early half of his life is that James Anthony Froude, who has learned his rare art of speech in the schools of Newman and of Carlyle. Another is a shy, austere, solitary type of man, the thinker, John Stuart Mill.

"If I have named no American writer, it is not because I wish to imply we here in the United States were without representatives in this great group of English prosemen; but English prose is after all, a derivative of the great English speaking race. It is to the glory of the mother country, that she continues to furnish spokesmen and representatives, who furnish in turn the lasting ideals of this new classical prose which we shall do well to keep us in a world increasingly ruled by a slipshod spoken prose.

"I should like to claim for Hawthorne the honor and distinction of being himself a true prose-maker of his period; but Hawthorne's influence, in spite of his lucid and inimitable style, was never very notable even in his own country. It is a somewhat melancholy fact that Hawthorne is more regarded abroad than he is here at home. What we say of Hawthorne is only another instance of that supreme indifference which was manifested a generation ago—and some would say, even yet—to those prophets of art whom chance or fortune sends us.

"Foe is only half read here in America. It was reserved to a French critic to show how great a genius died when the author of the Prose Talks passed away.

"To go back, by way of illustrations to the Age of Elizabeth, we have the prose of Sidney; highly musical and ornate, but at the same time, what might be called in the language of the period, an intensely 'quaint' style. The schoolmaster who is gently held up to ridicule in 'Love's Labor Lost' was not entirely a creation of Shakespeare's brain. I do not know if any of our Plainfield school teachers are present this evening, or if they can be said to have even a pedantic interest in Malraux. He was a charming personality of the Age of Queen Elizabeth, who seems to have impressed himself upon the literature of his time. It needed a genius like Shakespeare's amiably to satirize him, yet Shakespeare's presentment of the man is not entirely a just one. Malraux had his way about the capabilities of an English prose, and the claim that he makes for it has a curious modern note about it."

LITERARY.

The Red Book for June is a fascinating offering of fifteen short stories, beautifully illustrated, and seventeen photographic portrait art studies, all bound in a cover of unusual beauty, designed by Frederick J. Maltman. The stories are clever, readable and seasonable in the extreme.

Fortunate is it for us that the lines upon which the reform of direct taxes must proceed have been so clearly marked out, and that some of our commonwealths have already taken pronounced steps in the right direction. The taxation of real estate by and for the local governments exclusively, the practical exemption of credits and chattels in individual hands, and the reversion both of the administration and the proceeds of corporate taxation to the State governments, foreshadow the financial reform to which we may some time attain.—Winthrop M. Daniels, in the June Atlantic.

CAUGHT AT THE PASS

Russian Force of 15,000 Men Defeated.

KINCHAU CAPTURED BY JAPANESE

Army of the Mikado Now Advancing on Dalny—Fighting at Kinchau Was of the Most Desperate Character.

LONDON, May 27.—A report from Shanhaikwan says that the Russian commander, thinking that the Japanese had retired from Fengwangcheng, sent 15,000 Russians from Haicheng and Liaoyang toward Fengwangcheng. They were surprised by 30,000 Japanese in the Tatung pass. The Russian casualties were 4,000, and over a thousand Russians surrendered. The report does not state the Japanese loss.

Coincident with the Japanese advance in the direction of Liaoyang there has been a concentration of all the available Russian troops between Liaoyang and Maotien pass, and the fortifications of Liaoyang are being feverishly hurried.

The railway between Tatschitsia and Liaoyang is still intact, but every preparation has been made for its immediate destruction in the event of the necessity for a retreat to Mukden.

According to many reliable late Tokyo reports the Japanese have stormed, captured and occupied Kinchau, which is about thirty-two miles north of Port Arthur, and are now advancing on Dalny.

Japanese spies had ascertained where the Russians had thirty guns for the defense of Kinchau and where numerous mines and wire entanglements at points where a Japanese attack was expected had been placed.

After the occupation of Kinchau by the Japanese the Russians retired in good order to the heights further south, which were attacked by the full Japanese force and carried after a stubborn resistance.

The Japanese also attacked Nanwangling, on the narrowest part of the Kwangtung peninsula, and drove back the Russians by main force.

The attack on Kinchau, the dispatch adds, was begun at dawn, and by noon Kinchau was in the hands of the Japanese, who occupied the castle.

The fighting was of the most desperate character. It is believed the casualties were heavy.

A St. Petersburg report says the general staff is not in a position to confirm or deny the Tokyo report that the Japanese have occupied Kinchau. The latest official information regarding fighting in that vicinity was conveyed in Lieutenant General Sakharoff's telegram, which said that the Japanese had lost 700 men on May 18.

The impression here is that Kinchau would prove a hard nut for the Japanese to crack and that its reduction would need a siege train and call for careful approaches which would occupy the enemy for a long time.

The opinion of the best authorities is that if the Japanese rushed Kinchau by a frontal attack, unsupported by heavy guns, which it is not believed they possess, the capture of the place must have been effected at a tremendous loss to the attackers.

Advices from Liaoyang say rumors have been received there of a change in the plans of the Japanese. It is said that they have temporarily abandoned their northern advance and will concentrate on Port Arthur. As soon as that fortress is captured it is their intention to proceed against Liaoyang.

A St. Petersburg report says Viceroy Alexeiev has reported to the emperor that dispatches from Rear Admirals Wittsoeff and Grigorovitch say that the enemy has bombarded Port Arthur from Ingalls bay.

The Japanese again attempted to block the roadstead of Port Arthur with mines, and from shore observations it is believed that some steam launches and two torpedo boats were sunk.

The Russians have cleared eleven of the enemy's mines from the roadstead.

A Jap Soldier's Missionary.

SEOUL, May 27.—Rev. Honda, the first Japanese Christian missionary to Korea, has arrived here. He is accompanied by two assistants, who were sent by the Methodist Episcopal society of Japan. Their object is to establish churches and to travel through the Japanese lines, working among the soldiers with the endeavor of establishing intimate relations between Korean and Japanese Christians.

Pleasure for the Poor.

Editor, The Daily Press:

Will you allow me through your columns to call attention to the fund for trolley rides which has been started this summer as in two previous years? The object of the fund is to purchase tickets to many in this place who have few means of recreation, and many discomforts in their homes during the hot summer months. It is true we have not the alums so marked in large cities, but even here the contracted quarters of the poor, when every thing pertaining to family life is confined to a very limited space, must necessarily entail suffering, greatly increased when sickness comes to the family. These tickets for rides are in charge of the Relief Association for distribution, which is carefully supervised by the general secretary of the Organized Association. Also, tickets are given out by recommendations of the city alms. Care is taken that they shall be given where most needed; viz.: To women and children deprived of the support of the head of the family by death or desertion; to sick children whose mothers may not be able to give the time to a day at the Baby Camp; and to the old people who greatly enjoy the recreation.

Last summer, 500 or more tickets were distributed, and one had only to notice the eager and happy faces of the little children as they boarded the car to realize how much pleasure may be given by a small effort on the part of those more favored in their conditions in life.

The appeal comes most forcibly to those who are planning trips to the seashore and mountains and across the ocean. Also, we are reminded of the question asked centuries ago, as applicable now as then: "Who maketh thee to differ, and what hast thou that thou didst not receive?"

Contributions to this fund may be sent to Mrs. Henry Lapeyre, treasurer of Relief Association, 816 First place. Elizabeth Tiffany.

The horse show is an assured fact. Now let it be a sure success. Nine silver cups, $915 in cash and a couple of fine saddles are the prizes. Pretty good for a starter, eh?

Complaint is being made of the acts of miscreants who confine their wrongdoing to stealing flowers and plants from graves in the various cemeteries of the city and borough. Severe punishment should follow the detection and arrest of the mean rascals.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN.

Between now and Monday night the Dunellen ball team hopes to make itself "solid" with the ball fans again and make up for its defeat at High Bridge on last Saturday. Tomorrow afternoon they will cross bats with the Marion A. C. team, of Newark, and although this team has never appeared in Dunellen before it is understood that they are strong and the local boys will have to put up a strong game in order to beat them. The Williamsburg A. A. team, of Brooklyn, will be the opponents in both the morning and afternoon games on Monday. This team played two games with the Dunellen boys last year and it was an even break, each team winning a game. Captain Smith has been looking for a couple of good outfielders and he hopes to land them before Monday's games.

With "Ruth" Bogardus in the box and "Deanie" Gilles behind the bat, the Dunellen F. C. boys defeated the Mono A. C., of Plainfield, in an interesting game by a score of 8 to 6, yesterday afternoon. The feature of the game was a home run drive by "Sandow" Lourie. The batteries for the Mono boys were Nischwitz and Conover.

PLAIN AND FANWOOD.

Tomorrow's game between the local ball team and the Acadians should be one of the best exhibitions of the National game given on the local diamond this season. Manager Hand has signed Griffin, who has been playing with Altis, doing outfield work and change pitcher. The local line-up will be as follows: Allen, c; Griffin, p; Baldwin, 1b; Earlight, 2b; Orsina, ss; Williams, 3b; Taylor, lf; Mannery, cf; Mont-ross, rf. Game will be called at 3:45. Rev. Warren D. Coons, of the Methodist church, left Wednesday for a stay of several weeks with his parents at Boston, Mass. Mr. Coons' pulpit will be occupied during his absence by a fellow student from Drew Seminary.

upon whom he intended to call had been taken to the hospital. By the time he reached the hospital he was informed by a nurse that the patient had been discharged the day before. In conclusion Mr. Zelle referred to professions in the higher sense and he incited a stronger desire among those present to attain the higher plane.

In introducing Dr. Norman H. Probasco, as the next speaker, who would represent the medical fraternity, Mr. Fisk said that every year the physicians throw dice to see who shall speak, and this year the lot fell to Dr. Probasco. He was called the "club man" because he was the bacteriologist at the hospital. Dr. Probasco then read a paper in which he congratulated the graduating nurses and gave them excellent advice as they are about to continue their profession in the world.

President Fisk then in a few well chosen words presented the graduates with their diplomas. This was followed with the presentation of the pins, the insignia attesting to their qualifications to do trained nursing. In conclusion the graduates received gifts of flowers in profusion. They were presented by the various physicians in attendance on behalf of relatives and friends.

After the exercises all adjourned to the Sunday-school room below where ice cream and cake were served and the graduates received the congratulations of their friends.

A draft carried the flames from an oil stove to some inflammable material, resulting in about $400 damage to the kitchen and upper part of the house. The department went out on the second round of the box and had the fire under control within twenty minutes.

THE WORLD OF FASHION.

Loose Bolero Costumes—Some Black and White Check Materials.

Among the spring styles for street wear the loose bolero certainly leads. It is made with or without sleeve seams, and in the former fashion it gives the effect of a loose cape partly tacked to form the sleeves. These loose boleros are decorated with strap trimmings and tiny buttons. They are worn with very full skirts either laid in box plaits or inch wide tucks. In both cases these flare from the knees downward.

Black and white checked materials in wool, linen and silk are among the smartest suit materials. They are trimmed with buttons either in green or steel, and they are worn with ecru straw hats trimmed with black and white or with grass green toque plumes. The parasol matches.

Pongee coats are ultra smart, especially when shirred in quite full and trimmed with touches of green.

Changeable taffeta in opalescent shades is charming under artificial light. Many of these changeable silks are made into evening wraps, and a favorite model has a circular yoke trimmed with the old fashioned pinked out ruffles. Others have shawl effects of fine lace and the ever fashionable lining of accordion plaited chiffon.

The picture shows one of the latest street costumes. It is made of red mohair trimmed with bands of passementerie and tiny black velvet ribbon. The hat is of ecru straw trimmed with lace.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

COATS FOR SUMMER.

All the Pale Shades Used—White Cloths and Pongee Lend.

A well known Parisian has in her wardrobe a three-quarter length coat of oyster gray. It is cut circular shape and gauged with a cape effect of silver gray chiffon velours. This is lined with a still paler shade of gray chiffon and edged with festoons of brussels point.

Many race coats are in cloth in shades of zinc, ivory and apricot. These are much braided with light flat silk braid and silk ornaments to correspond.

The kimono shape is the most useful and universally becoming for coats. In many cases for summer wear these coats are unlined; in others they have a lining of shot silk.

The hood shaped cape is a feature of many smart coats, where it appears of different material.

White coats share with those of pongee popular fancy this summer. They are beautiful made of fine cloth and having a pelerine collar edged with bold braid and hanging tassels. Shantung silk is trimmed with black velvet and quantities of gold and silver braid.

Parisians this season are curiously devoted to bronze and to black and white effects for street wear.

The cut shows a black peau de cygne coat trimmed with fringe and Persian embroidery.
