

REAL ESTATE MAN NAILS FALSEHOODS

Elston M. French Denies the Truth of Rumors Concerning a School Building Site Deal.

HIS PART IN AFFAIR

NO MONEY IN THE PROPOSITION FOR HIM OR THE MAYOR.

Site as Suggested by Majority of Board is Not in Proper Location—Recommendations Site at Greenbrook Road and Stone Street.

Editor, The Daily Press:

Wishing to correct some erroneous impressions that have been given out by some people who are opposed to the site which I offered for the new school in the borough, located on Grove street, between Rockview avenue and Greenbrook road, I would state that at the beginning of the agitation for the new school one of the members of the building committee of the Board came to me and requested that I obtain options of certain sites, and I submitted three to the Board of Education, who selected from these three the site on Grove street. I wish to state that I have no personal interest whatever in any profits that may be derived from the sale of this site beyond the regular real estate brokerage amounting to $45, and this I have agreed to donate to the Board of Education to be used for school purposes, stating in my letter making this offer that "it is not my desire to make any money on the transaction."

Another rumor that has been put in circulation is to the effect that Mayor Smalley is to receive a sum of money in case this site is sold to the Board of Education. I wish to state that this is absolutely false and made out of the whole cloth. Having no interest in this site I do not care whether it is purchased by the School Board or not, and in fact, I would recommend the lot located on the corner of Greenbrook road and Stone street, owned by Mr. Oodington.

The site which five of the nine members of the School Board have selected for the citizens to vote upon at the meeting next Monday night is, in my opinion, not only too expensive but it is not in the right location. In the next five or ten years the greatest real estate development is bound to take place in the Western part of the borough, as the land is much cheaper there than in the Eastern, where the property East of Westerville avenue, extending to the borough line, is held largely by two estates and is not offered in the market for sale. In actual figures about two-thirds of the taxes are derived from that portion of the borough located West of Somerset street, and the majority of the inhabitants are located in that section. In a few years it may be necessary to locate a new school in the eastern end of the borough, but at the present time it should, in my opinion, be located in the central portion of the West End.

There are now a number of sites available in addition to those above mentioned, viz: property belonging to Mrs. Truslow, opposite Colonel John F. Wilson on Greenbrook road; property belonging to the estate of Cadmus, located on Willow avenue, just west of Girard avenue; a vacant lot on the corner of Washington avenue and Prospect place; property on Rockview avenue, near the triangular park at Rockview terrace, owned by Colonel John F. Wilson; the two lots located on Sycamore avenue, between Mercer and Linden avenues.

The idea that the people in Washington Park do not want a school is, to my mind, erroneous. Doubtless a six-room school building in the West End will meet the requirements for the present, and it can be built so that it can be enlarged to meet future demands.

The scheme of appropriating $36,000 to purchase the Somerset street site and build an eight-room school is most unreasonable. Of the total tax rate last year of $2.59; $1.09 went for school purposes, while in the city of Plainfield of the total tax rate of $2.52 only .87% was expended for school purposes.

If $36,000 is voted for a new school and the borough bonded at the rate of 4 per cent., it will add .06 per $100 valuation to the tax rate next year. Since 1897 the special school tax has increased from 59 cents to 91 cents on the $100, an advance of 54 per cent., notwithstanding the fact that the

PAROCHIAL SCHOOL PUPILS CLASS DAY

Seniors in Commercial Course Hold Customary Exercises in St. Mary's School Hall.

FATHER EGAN SPEAKS

THE PROGRAMME INCLUDES MANY MUSICAL NUMBERS.

Miss Christine McEachen Delivers a Salutatory—Miss Helen Hanrahan as Class Prophet—Class Poem Read by Margaret King.

Leaving thoughts of work behind them for a short time, the seniors in the commercial course at St. Mary's parochial school held their class day exercises in the school hall, in Liberty street, yesterday afternoon. The programme, which included several selections of classical music, was altogether in the hands of the pupils and the opportunity for demonstrating their ability in the different directions embraced by it, was improved to the full extent.

The class prophet was Miss Helen Hanrahan. The salutatorian was Miss Christine McEachen, and the class historian, James Oaulfield. Miss Margaret Lutz read the class motto and the class will was read by John Kyle. In addition to these, Miss Mary McCarthy read an essay on the "Class Colors," which was very good, as was Miss Margaret King's class poem and Miss Helen Hanrahan's essay on "Alma Mater."

Among the other features on the programme were the vocal duet, "Come Let Us Dance," rendered by Miss Blanche Skinner and Miss Margaret King, and the class song, the words of which were written by Miss Helen Hanrahan and which was sung to the tune of "Auld Lang Syne." Miss Blanche Skinner recited "King Robert of Sicily."

An address by Father Egan, in which he spoke encouragingly to the class, closed the exercises.

SETTLE JUDGMENT AFTER TWENTY YEARS

Nine Members of Dissolved Co-operative Store Finally Pay Long Standing Claim.

STORY OF CONCERN

EXECUTION ISSUES SIMULTANEOUSLY IN THREE COUNTIES.

Walter L. Shotwell's Original Demand for $2,000 Revived From Time to Time—Settlement Made Here.

Settlement of a judgment that had been in force for twenty years was effected in Oodington & Swackhamer's office yesterday. The defendants were the former members of a co-operative concern that conducted a store in Stirling in the early '80s.

The combination included residents of Stirling and thereabouts. Dissension broke the concern up, but just before the dissolution Walter L. Shotwell secured a judgment for $2,000. Several executions were issued, but they were returned unsatisfied, and the case dragged on from year to year. A few of the partners settled their liabilities and the judgment simmered down to $1,600. As time wore on the defendants became scattered or lost their property and the judgment fell on the shoulders of nine of the original shareholders.

Execution against them was issued on May 19, from the Sheriff's office of Morris, Somerset and Union Counties. Eight of the defendants retained S. S. Swackhamer to defend them, and he arranged a conference. The plaintiff had acted under a law passed last year, which allowed the issuance of execution without notice to the defendants. Mr. Swackhamer maintained that this law was not retroactive, and had not covered the twenty-year-old judgment. After consideration of the matter, the plaintiff agreed to compromise for $150.

One of the defendants is William Mernegh, a Stirling milkman, who has a large route in this city and is well known here.

BOROUGH COUNCILMEN DO LITTLE BUSINESS

June Meeting of North Plainfield's Fathers Proves to be an Exceedingly Dull Session.

MAP REFUSED ASSESSOR

VOLUNTEER FIREMEN TO GET THEIR EXEMPTION PAPERS.

No Money for Band Concerts—To Enforce Dog Muzzling Ordinance—That Building Ordinance is Discussed.

Warm weather dulness characterized the monthly meeting of the borough Council last night. The tameness of the session was particularly noticeable in comparison with the stormy nature of the preceding meetings.

All the business transacted was done in less than an hour, and the most absorbing thing that arose was a question as to whether Mrs. Cecelia Lewis, a colored woman, should or should not be allowed to remodel the hotel on Manning avenue that was recently damaged by fire.

The Mayor expressed an inclination to take advantage of the new fire ordinance to prevent the reconstruction of the building on anything like the same dilapidated lines. Councilman VanWinkle suggested that the humble householder might perhaps be unable to meet the requirements of the ordinance, and spoke for considerate action in the case. Councilmen Lee, Arnold and Humble all joined in the discussion, which finally resulted in a reference of the matter to the fire, water and lamps committees.

Assessor Oooley, in a communication, asked for a map of Jefferson avenue, to aid him in his work. Chairman Arnold, of the street committee, protested against granting the request. Pointing out that the street had not yet been accepted by the borough, he opposed the expenditure of four hundred or five hundred dollars for a survey of private property. Mr. VanWinkle arose to remind the Council, in very amiable phrase, that it might want to aid Mr. Oooley in his work. Mr. Arnold made no reply and nothing acrimonious developed. The Mayor said it had always been the custom for the officials to help each other, and the question was dropped. But Mr. Arnold made it plain that Assessor Oooley would not get his map.

By motion of Councilman Humble, all the members of the volunteer department, not already in possession of them, were granted exemption papers. This motion followed the reading of Borough Counsel Reed's opinion that members of departments forced out of business are entitled to papers where they have served two years. All the ex-volunteers were in that class.

A resolution ordered the dog ordinance into force for the summer months. All unlicensed dogs in the borough are liable to confiscation and death, and owners are subject to fine for failing to muzzle their pets.

Mayor Smalley reported that the walk in front of the engine house is to be relaid. The work is now under grade, and has suffered because it was laid while there was frost in the ground. The work will be done at nominal cost.

The fire, water and lamps committee was instructed to get after the lighting company to see that the electric globes are changed according to agreement. The Mayor said some of the lamps have been getting dim through age. A petition for a light on Harrison avenue, above the brook was referred to the committee.

Three new suits for the paid members of the fire department were ordered, at a cost of $50, and the cops were authorized to get a new bicycle. Councilman VanArsdale, treasurer of Benjamin LaVerre's band concert fund, made an appeal to his colleagues for assistance in swelling the subscription. It was hoped to have the borough appropriate something for the concerts, but Councilman Reed ruled that the municipality cannot donate any money unless it gets a borough paid, in which the concerts must be held.

The police committee reported that eight arrests were made during the month. Twenty-three dollars in fines was collected, and four prisoners were suspended.

Chairman Arnold, for the street committee, reported that $69 had been expended on repair work, $45 for macadamizing Brook avenues and $24 for street sprinkling, a total of $165.

WEST FIFTH STREET TO BE MACADAMIZED

Section of Thoroughfare Between Grant and Monroe Avenues to be Put in Repair.

NEEDED IMPROVEMENT

FOR SIX YEARS THERE HAS BEEN A CLAMOR ABOUT ITS CONDITION.

For Eight Months Past Dirt Has Been Dumped Along the Stretch and New Contractor Meeker Will Get Down to Work on It.

After years of suffering under street conditions almost intolerable, the residents of West Fifth street between Grant and Monroe avenues are on the verge of relief. Contractor Meeker is looking forward to a start in the work of macadamizing the stretch in a week or so.

For more than five years the condition of that section of West Fifth street has been the source of bitter and unceasing complaint, and with ample cause. The germs of the trouble were laid nearly six years ago, when property owners sold lots there before the street had been graded or even accepted by the city. No provision was made for grading, and even after several fine houses had been erected the roadway was in remarkably bad shape. Sometimes, after rains, the roadway has been under water waist deep. Every winter, for the past five years, and at other seasons when the rain or the dust was troublesome, the papers, the Council and almost every city officer that could be reached, have been bombarded with complaints over the matter.

Scarcely any improvement that the city could order will be productive of more relief to the section afforded than the grading and macadamizing of that section. For nearly eight months past the city has had its contractor dumping dirt along the stretch, bringing the level to its proper height, and when the macadamizing work is completed the aggravating conditions will be completely eliminated.

PRIEST'S TALK ON DEVOTION

FATHER CORNELIUS CLIFFORD'S INSTRUCTIVE SERMON AT ST. MARY'S.

Regular monthly devotions to the Sacred Heart were held at St. Mary's church last night, Rev. Cornelius Clifford officiating. After reciting the rosary, Father Clifford preached from the 110th Psalm as found in the Vulgate; his text being the fourth and fifth verses: "The Lord, who is a gracious and forgiving Lord, hath made a memorial of all his wonders. He hath given food to them that fear him."

Father Clifford's sermon on this text was a scholarly and instructive discourse and dealt in so plain a fashion, with the principals of the order, as to afford great spiritual benefit to those who had the good fortune to be present.

The discourse consisted of a brief meditation in the form of a conference on the relation between the devotion of the Sacred Heart as historically developed in the Church, and devotion to the Blessed Sacrament.

Devotion to the Sacred Heart, he contended, was first carried out in practice, by a living devotion to the Holy Eucharist which is an epitome of the divine wonders and incarnation of the Word in the greatest of the divine wonders.

After his sermon, Father Clifford closed the service with the benediction of the Sacred Heart.

SHARP REPLY MADE HOMER J. WIGHTMAN

Samuel Townsend, a Member of the Borough School Board, Answers Superintendent.

SCHOOL HOUSE SITE

QUESTION NOT ONE WITHIN THE SUPERINTENDENT'S PROVINCE.

Believes That Mr. Wightman Should Not be Drawn Into Discussion—As to the Central Location Property.

"While admitting the right of Superintendent Wightman as a citizen to voice his opinions in the press with reference to the selection of a school site as well as on any other subject, I cannot but think that he was ill advised in permitting himself to be drawn into this controversy. As I regard it a superintendent of a school occupies a position similar to that of the pastor of a church.

"If he takes strong ground on questions that do not come within his particular line of duty he is apt to arouse antagonisms and so impair his usefulness for the special work in which he is supposed to be engaged. As he has, however, seen fit to air his views and as his utterances may carry weight because of his position as superintendent, I do not think they should pass unnoticed.

"The Board has discussed the question of a school site at a great many of its meetings and was certainly entitled at the earliest possible moment to any information that Mr. Wightman possessed bearing on the subject, but only at the last Board meeting did he mention the reasons given in his interview for favoring the Somerset street site.

"He speaks of the difficulty of grading the pupils in a smaller school, but I cannot see why there should be any greater difficulty than has been experienced in the Watchung School and we seem to have got along there pretty well. If, however, there is this difficulty in small schools why not put an addition to the Watchung School and so overcome it? It could be done without buying more land and at about one-half the cost of the proposed new Somerset building. I am not saying that this is the wisest thing to do but I certainly think it would be preferable to add more classrooms to the present six-room Watchung building than build right along side of the present twenty-room Somerset building.

"He is also reported as saying: 'Moreover, the people do not really mind sending their children from the outskirts to the Somerset street school.' It would be interesting to know just how many people living on the outskirts really feel this way. I have attended every meeting of the Board but one for over a year and I am sure that this view of the people's sentiment was never before advanced. When anyone ventures to say what the people want he should be well informed and not take the opinions of one or two as the voice of the people.

"To believe that parents living on the outskirts of the borough would prefer to have their children travel a long distance to reach the Somerset school rather than a short distance to a school located near their homes is incredible. If obliged to go the long distance in bad weather or compelled to go home through a storm coming on while at school, the danger from wet clothing and wet feet—to say nothing of the extra expense of keeping them in shoes—would be a consideration that would certainly have weight with their parents. However, the fact that a petition to the Board signed by some seventy citizens, most of them living in what is termed the outskirts, asking that a school building be erected on the Grove street lot, actually submitted, shows that the people in this section at least do not think that their children shall go to the Somerset street school.

"Whatever may be the outcome of the present situation, fair minded men must regard it as unfortunate that the principal sites favored could not have all been submitted to the voters and the question settled once and for all."

Father Delahanty's Return.

On Friday, June 10, Father Delahanty, of St. Mary's church, will sail from Naples on the Koenig Albert, and expects to reach New York Wednesday, June 22. Father Delahanty returns in company with Father Martelle, of Bloomsfield, N. J.

About Piano Tuning

Incompetent Piano Tuners

are continually doing a great deal of mischief to good pianos. It will therefore doubtless be of interest to owners of Steinway and other pianos, residing at not too great a distance from New York, to learn that we are now prepared to take orders for the tuning and regulating of pianos during the summer months at special rates. Not only the members of our large regular tuning force but also those of our staff of experts who, during the winter season, have been traveling with eminent pianists on their concert tours, and who have now returned to New York, are available for this work. The greater the number of orders from any one place or vicinity the lower our charge will be for each piano attended to. Consequently we would suggest to prospective customers in any locality that they "club together" in sending us their orders, whenever feasible and agreeable, as the most economical and satisfactory plan. Your patronage is respectfully solicited.

SIDE LIGHTS ON TIMELY TOPICS NOTED IN PASSING.

If there is any flaw in the logic of this story, for which the Kansas Ranch News is responsible, it is not easy to find: Mr. Brown, a Kansas gentleman, keeps a boarding house, it appears. Around his table at a recent occasion sat his wife, Mrs. Brown; the village milliner, Mrs. Andrews; Mr. Black, the baker; Mr. Jordan, a carpenter, and Mr. Hadley, a flour, feed and lumber merchant. Mr. Brown took a $10 bill out of his pocketbook and handed it to Mrs. Brown, with the remark that there was $10 toward the twenty he had promised her. Mrs. Brown handed the bill to Mrs. Andrews, the milliner, saying, "That pays for my new bonnet." Mr. Jordan, remarking that it would pay for the carpentering work he had done for her. Mr. Jordan handed it to Mr. Hadley, requesting his receipted bill for flour, feed and lumber. Mr. Hadley gave the bill back to Mr. Brown, saying, "That pays $10 on my board." Mr. Brown again passed it to Mrs. Brown, remarking that he had now paid her the $20 he had promised her. She, in turn, paid it to Mr. Black to settle her bread and pastry account; Mr. Black handed it to Mr. Hadley, asking credit for the amount of his flour bill, Mr. Hadley again returning it to Mr. Brown, with the remark that it settled for that month's board; whereupon Brown put it back into his pocketbook, observing that he had not supposed a greenback would go so far. —Harper's Weekly.

AMUSEMENTS.

Duss, who, with his orchestra, is nightly delighting thousands of people in the Madison Square Garden production of "Venice," had little encouragement in his early youth towards things musical. The harmony community, where Duss was born, did not believe in music. These straight laced followers of Father Rapp thought young John had sold his soul to the devil because he took to playing the violin. One evening while Duss was dreamily improvising, eight of the patriots headed by Father Henric, stalked into the room. They surrounded the boy and all fell on their pious knees in prayer. After a longwinded explanation to a wrathful God came the solemn "Amen." Then Father Henric took the violin from Duss, broke it over his knee and threw the precious splinters into the open fire. As the smoke curled lazily up the chimney it bore to high Heaven the resolve of a masterful, unconquerable soul. Through his tears this boy saw the solemn faced saints depart and with a true philosophical spirit he said: "These men are mistaken. Music is not sinful. They hate it because they do not understand it. I'll give my whole life to the work of helping people come to a knowledge of the good in music." Since that November evening three decades have become history, yet John S. Duss never once lost sight of his serious purpose in life—popularizing good music. In the commercial world fortune smiled on him but time grabbing and dollar chasing was only a diversion—music his life's work. To this end he directs the finest company of high priced performers ever in a musical organization nightly at Madison Square Garden.

Mrs. E. E. Haan and family, of the borough, have returned from a visit with Flemington relatives.

Church Notes.

The finest city and village Churches are painted with the Longman & Martinez Paints, and we want every Church to accept our donation whenever they paint.

U.S. & S. make 14, therefore when you want fourteen gallons of paint, buy only eight of L. & M. and mix six gallons of pure Linseed Oil with it, making actual cost of paint about $1.20 per gallon.

Don't pay $1.50 a gallon for Linseed Oil (worth 60 cents) which you do when you buy other paints in a can with a label on it.

Many houses are well painted with four gallons of L. & M. and three gallons of Linseed Oil mixed therewith.

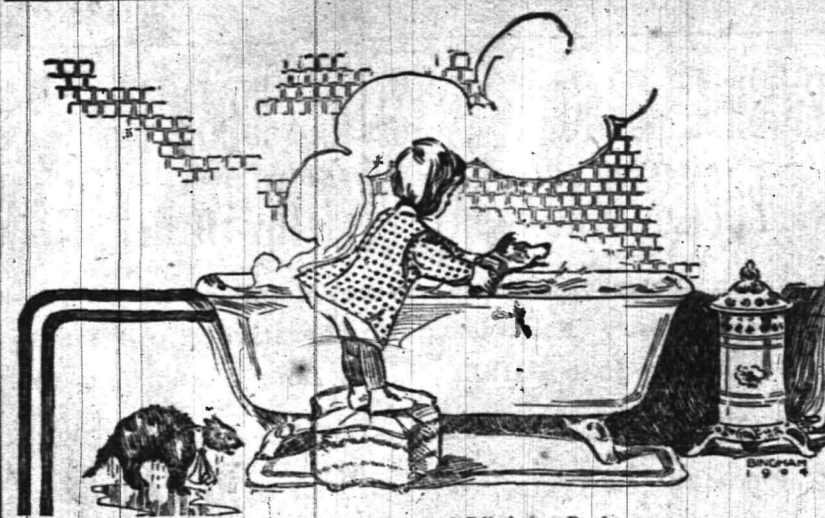

Wears and covers like gold. These Celebrated Paints are sold by Woolston & Buckle, Plainfield; H. C. Meyer, Scotch Plains.

Unless the Democrats get together, Roosevelt won't need any National chairman.

In an advertising periodical is reported the experience of two men as personally known to the writer of the report. One went into the fancy poultry business, but did not advertise. Eventually he grew discouraged from lack of buyers and gave up the business. A hundred miles away another man went into the same business, but advertised in a number of leading newspapers. He is still at it on a large scale, still advertises and is a rich man.—Ex.

The citizens of North Plainfield will meet Monday night to consider the question of location for the new school building. Their instructions to the Board of Education to suggest three available sites have been disregarded and but one location will be recommended. It is at the corner of Somerset street and Park place. Well informed citizens condemn the site recommended by the Board of Education. The action of the people will be watched with interest.

REAL ESTATE MAN NAILS FALSEHOODS

State now pays to the borough for school purposes under the new law much more than it has ever done before.

If the same proportionate increase is made in the next six years, and no increase is made in the other departments, our tax rate will be over $3. According to the map, the geographical center of the borough is about at the corner of Greenbrook road and Harrison street, and the shape of the borough is oblong, being about one mile wide and three miles long. From the present High School to Rock avenue (the western end of the borough) by road is over two miles.

In a few years this section will be built up and the residents will clamor for a school. Why not build it there now? Elston M. French.

FOG-BOUND COASTS

THEY ARE A BAR TO CANADIAN OCEAN TRAFFIC.

Despite These, However, the Dominion Will Attempt to Compete with New York and Boston for Atlantic Business.

On the first of July a new trans-Atlantic steamship service will begin between Montreal and Liverpool, a service by which Canada hopes to divert much of the ocean transport business that now goes by way of Boston or New York. The government will pay heavily for this opportunity of retaining in English liners the transportation of her products and people across the ocean, and it is doubtful, if, after all, she can be successful. This new line will consist of two splendid boats, driven by turbines, and each capable of making 17 knots so that the trip across should be made in six days, and it is hoped in time to cut from this a full day by the introduction of faster boats.

The route from Montreal to Liverpool is far shorter than that either from Boston or New York, but what Canada gains in distance she loses in conditions attending safe navigation, and the fog of Newfoundland will more than offset her advantages under ruling conditions. The first drawback to Canada's opening successfully a "fast" service is the ice, fog and currents about the Newfoundland coast, which cause so many shipping disasters there. Indeed, it is Newfoundland, rather than Canada, which is the determining factor in this connection, for until the danger zones about the three points of the triangle Newfoundland makes at the mouth of the Gulf of St. Lawrence—Cape Rice, Cape Ray and Belle Isle—will properly safeguarded, no sane man will run ocean liners there, and a "fast" Atlantic service will remain a dream.

Canada really has to face two considerations. Should she aim at "greyhound" or ships of moderate speed, what port and route should be chosen? In weighing these two matters she must take into account that her population is less than 6,000,000; her wealthy class limited in proportion, and her traveling public inadequate to fill the saloon accommodations of an up-to-date New York liner. To provide boats to compete with these would mean a passenger service only, for the "greyhound" carries little or no freight, and makes her profit out of heavy birth rates charged, while ships of 17 knots can give over to cargo the space she has to use for coal, and can reach port within a day of their speedier rival, cabin fares being also suited to people of moderate means. This would appear to be the service most likely to be productive of the greatest good to Canada.

With slow boats Canada can carry her own freight to Europe, but that she will, at least in the near future, be able to compete with fast boats in the passenger traffic between the two continents is scarcely probable. The St. Lawrence river has been deepened, and the channel widened, straightened and maintained, until to-day ships of 10,000 tons are plying fearlessly where 20 years ago craft of half that tonnage could not float. Last year more ships visited Montreal than ever before, and the imports and exports were the largest in Canada's history. But the passenger traffic, save in the matter of immigrants, showed no proportionate expansion.

Last the geographical disadvantages from which Canada's Atlantic seaboard suffers make it very doubtful if the service would ever be a really fast one. In the sense in which that phrase is usually understood. The New York greyhounds have scarcely anything to obstruct them, for the whole ocean trip being able to run at full speed until they near the land on either side. But the Canadian liner must slow down when she reaches the ice and fog-infested areas or else she will batter herself against a foe or the rocky coast of Newfoundland. Thus, while theoretically the Montreal liner would gain a day on her New York rival, she would really make no faster passage, on an average, for she is plying in congested and dangerous waters for one-third of the whole voyage—the stretch between Montreal and the Grand Banks, and only in the finest weather can she make her best speed. The prospects, therefore, of a fast Canadian line are not very encouraging.

When Baby Is Asleep. When your babe is asleep watch his face. If the eyelids are not perfectly closed suspect weakness. If you see a furrow passing from either side of the nose round the mouth there is probably something the matter with stomach or intestines. A furrow from either mouth corner, passing outward, may indicate something wrong with the throat or lungs. None of these signs is conclusive; but they are infinitely valuable in assisting the careful parent to investigate the state of the child's health.

WILLIAM R. HEARST.

New York Editor Would Like to Be President.

Volunteer Clubs in All Parts of the Country Organized for the Sole Purpose of Making Him the Democratic Candidate.

William Randolph Hearst is now in his fortieth year.

He is a tall, broad-shouldered man, deep-chested and in perfect health, the consequence of a naturally fine constitution, an athletic youth and a temperate manhood.

He was born in San Francisco, and is the only child of the late United States Senator George Hearst and Mrs. Phoebe A. Hearst. On both sides he comes of old Virginia stock and his ancestors migrated from the Old Dominion shortly after the revolutionary war to Missouri, where his grandfather, William G. Hearst, was a trapper and farmer and pioneer early in the century.

His father went to California with the gold seekers in 1849 and up to the time of his death was a man of peculiar power and influence on the Pacific coast. His son attended the public schools in San Francisco and then went to Harvard college.

In religion he follows the faith of his forbears, having been baptized in the Episcopal church. He was united in marriage April 28, 1903, with Millicent Wilson at Grace church, New York, by Bishop Potter, who has been his friend from boyhood.

He risked his life on the firing line in the Spanish war before Santiago. He equipped his private yacht as a cruiser and presented her to the government, accepting an ensign's commission in the navy, so that his person as well as his boat was at the nation's service. He was in the thick of battle when the destruction of Admiral Cervera's fleet sounded the end of the Spanish war, and with his own hands effected the capture of a dozen or more prisoners and turned them over to the commander of the United States forces.

He has never since owned a yacht, does not keep a stable, and, in fact, has never owned a horse since those his father gave him, soon after he left college were sold about the time of Senator Hearst's death. He is a very capable chauffeur, and enjoys automobiling as a diversion, but he has never taken part in a speed contest, and considers contests of that kind to be dangerous and foolish.

Throughout the last national campaign he was especially active. He organized a series of monster meetings, the most notable of which was the Jefferson meeting at Madison Square Garden in New York—which was, with one exception, the largest political gathering ever held in the United States. The only occasion on which the attendance at the garden was exceeded was on October 27, 1902, when Mr. Hearst, as president of the National Association of Democratic clubs, arranged a rally in the interests of the congressional candidates from New York.

The first party nomination he ever accepted was for congress from the Eleventh district of New York. He debated the question of accepting this for some time, but finally decided that as a member of the national legislature he could accomplish even more than as a private citizen, and allowed his name to go before the people. He received 72 per cent. of the total vote cast in the district, a record never before approached in any district even in democratic New York.

Several hundred newspapers and many prominent democrats have declared for him for president. More than a hundred of volunteer clubs have already been formed, and their sole purpose is to elevate Mr. Hearst to the presidency.

Unique Masonic Gathering. There was a unique masonic gathering in London recently when Viscount Hayashi, Japanese minister to London, was installed as worshipful master of the Empire lodge of 40 members. The grand members were witnesses to the ceremony, and visitors from a distance included the past grand master of the state of New York, who sat on the immediate right of Hayashi and who initiated President Roosevelt into the craft.

Ship Subsidies in Austria. The ship subsidy law of Austria provides bounties and premiums. Iron and steel steamships receive an annual bounty of $2.44 per ton, while the bounty of iron and steel sailing ships is $1.83, and that of wooden and part iron sailing ships have their bounties increased by ten per cent. If built in Austrian shipyards, and by 25 per cent. if at least half the raw material used in their construction is of Austrian origin.

FASHION NOVELTIES.

Henriette Rousseau Tells of New Things Seen in the Shops.

To keep up with everything that is going on in the world of fashion makes one busy, for generally before one gets the chance to really see something the style has changed completely, so rapidly do new things come out.

Thin goods we have seen ever since January. They are pretty, too, but now we are treated to a whole long list of gowns and wraps comparatively thick. The newest of these is to be seen for travel and country wear. Some of the gowns are certainly made of washable goods, but they are so thick that they would be quite comfortable for winter, with a wrap sufficiently warm for the weather. But we are treated to such a variety of cloth and silk made in tailor fashion that a choice is difficult. The cloth gowns are made with flounces, folds and in other ways of using up cloth unnecessarily, so that they become heavy and in some instances almost clumsy.

In the illustration is shown a gown of rather thick peau de sole, made in a very plain manner as to the skirt, but the waist and sleeves are as ornate as the skirt is plain. The whole waist is covered with a rich crocheted lace of black silk thread, in which are strung beads, small, but finely cut. The forearm pieces are made of the same crocheted work, which is very costly, as it must be made by hand. Beneath the black work is a shirred waist of white silk mull, and this shows through with beautiful effect.

The coat, which is a model of its kind, is made of silk or mohair or cravenette, as the case may be, and is unlined. It is shown in all the season's colors, even red. It is quite a fad for a young woman to have a whole outfit of red, hat, coat and gown. But those of gray or russet in the cravenette or one of the slightly iridescent shades in silk or in gray or tan in mohair are considered the best. Mohair is such a fashionable fabric this season that nothing made of it would be amiss. If one prefers black, there is black in plenty in all grades. The way the mohair is made now is equal to silk, so far as appearance goes. It is well adapted for coats, as it is made entirely waterproof.

These coats are made with a deep yoke, to hang down off the shoulders in the approved fashion, and open in front to close with hooks and eyes, as they generally are expected to be left to hang unless it should really rain. Shirring of the same, stitching and a little ruffling are all applied. One I saw with a two inch band of self reversed plaiting around the shoulders, down the front and on the yoke. These coats have no real name.

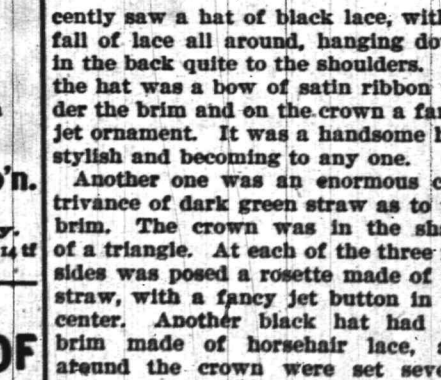

Hats are becoming larger all the time, and if they continue on this line it is difficult to know how they will be kept on. They are big enough now for umbrellas; still they are pretty. I recently saw a hat of black lace, with a fall of lace all around, hanging down in the back quite to the shoulders. On the hat was a bow of satin ribbon under the brim and on the crown a fancy jet ornament. It was a handsome hat, stylish and becoming to any one.

Another one was an enormous contrivance of dark green straw as to the brim. The crown was in the shape of a triangle. At each of the three flat sides was posed a rosette made of the straw, with a fancy jet button in the center. Another black hat had the brim made of horsehair set, and around the crown were set several bunches of flowers. The center of each bunch was a white aster surrounded by violets. Along the crown was a line of violet foliage, but without blossoms. This hat was quite unique and was priced at $25. Any clever woman ought to be able to get up such a hat for herself, and it should not cost the sixth part of the price; but, then, this one was in a fashionable shop.

Feather boas are to be as popular as ever, but the finest ones are black, with white edges to the fringes. Just how this is accomplished depends on knowledge not. Where they fasten in front there is a big bunch of violets. And, speaking of violets, I may tell something new, or at least I think it is new. There are now artificial violets made of the pith of a palm. These are colored and become virtually waterproof, a great desideratum in such an ungenerous climate. They are the most natural looking artificial flowers I ever saw.

becoming so common that it is doubtful whether they will long remain smart.

Linen gowns in the natural tones will be richly trimmed with lace and applications. They will be used even for very dressy occasions this summer, and the little jacket and skirt suits of linen will be used almost entirely for street wear during the warm weather.

The long shouldered effect is an absolutely necessary feature of the season's modes.

Both the very straight and the very upturned brims figure prominently in millinery.

Fichus are sewed to the gowns instead of being draped carelessly. In this way a better effect is secured, especially across the shoulders, where a loose fichu is apt to be lumpy.

The picture in the illustration shows a crepe de chine waist made with a cross over effect and shoulder straps fastened down with fancy buttons. The inner vest is of lace.

QUAINT EFFECTS.

Grandmother's Shawls Revived Again—Embroidered Hosiery.

Crepe de chine shawls beautifully embroidered are a revival of the modes of our grandmothers. They will form part of the wardrobe of the up to date belle this summer.

Crepe lisse, either shirred or plain, is in vogue. It is used particularly in millinery.

Hats of pale blue and pale green straw are among the smartest of smart headgear.

A dainty linen costume seen recently had a trimming of fringe, ending in tiny balls of a contrasting shade of tan. Trimmings of wash fringe are seen on many of the smarter linen costumes both in white and in colors.

Hosiery is more beautiful than ever this year. Dainty embroidered sprays of flowers are the favorite adornment. There is a craze just now for green ornamentations on black or white, and plain lavender stockings of every tint are very smart.

Very pretty are the artistic hand painted ties, the designs often representing the wearer's favorite or name flowers.

Fancy buttons are used in profusion, particularly those tiny Dresden ones, which make a neat trimming for boleros and blouse waists. A favorite decoration for loose Paquin coats consists in ornamenting the lower edges both of the body and of the sleeves with tiny white and gold straps fastened down by these little buttons.

Voles will still continue to be worn this summer in pale tints. A very pretty pink voile seen recently was trimmed with medallions of white mousseline de sole, ornamented with black French knots.

The picture shows a bride's dress of crepe de chine with a tucked collarless yoke. The bertha and wide skirt flounce are of point lace.

ODDS AND ENDS.

Modish Materials and Shades—Linen Gowns in Natural Tones.

The revival of taffetas, brocades and velvets leads to further extravagance in the way of trimmings, and certainly these have never before been more artistic and more expensive.

Some of the fashionable shades are really very trying, such as the olive tints and the browns. The rose tints are becoming more faded, and this is not apt to be becoming in hot weather. The furore for spots is rapidly changing into one for checks, but these are becoming so common that it is doubtful whether they will long remain smart.

SPORTING NEWS.

DIAMOND DUST.

Captain Lauder, of Allis, now holds a clerical position in New York, and incidentally is studying law.

Manager Denham will take his team to Trenton today and try conclusions with the Y. M. O. A. team at that place.

Myers and Lynch, who will play ball positions for Allis today, have the reputation of being exceptionally fast in the field and heavy hitters.

John Kewsey, formerly of the Jersey City Eastern League team, has returned to his home at High Bridge, where he will twirl for his old team.

George Dapoe, of the borough, is "making good" as a pitcher for the East Millstone team. Recently he defeated the strong St. Agnes Lyceum team, of New Brunswick, and today he will pitch against a team from Somerville. George is rapidly getting in condition and will surely be heard from on the right side.

"Lefty" Davis, who occupies the box for Allis this year, has the reputation of being the strongest pitcher in the Metropolitan district, not excepting Linderman, of the Hoboken. He never "goes up in the air" and he always pitches the same even game. After his performances here this season, it is not to be wondered that Manager Johnston has the greatest confidence in his ability.

FRIENDS' RECEPTION.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence B. Vail have returned from honeymoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Brooks Vail, who were recently married at Chester, Pa., were given a reception Wednesday night at the Friends meeting-house by the Society of Friends. The affair was held in the parlors and was attended by a large number of friends, both old and young. During the evening an address of welcome was given by W. D. Williams. Meroy R. Vail read an appropriate piece of poetry and Margaret L. Vail read a poem entitled the "Quakeress Bride." This poem was read at the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Harned in the same meeting-house sixty-four years ago.

Dr. Chambliss indisposed.

Owing to a throat affection, the result of a cold recently contracted, Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss will not be present at the First Baptist church services tomorrow. Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes, pastor emeritus, will have charge of the communion service, and the members of the East Third Street chapel will unite. There will be no evening service at the church.

TO AID EAST SIDE WORK

SUNDAY-SCHOOL WILL HELP THE SLUM MISSIONARIES.

Through an appeal made by Rev. F. E. Whiteside, chief assistant of the head of the Evangelistic Commission of the New York East Conference of the Methodist church, the Sunday-school of the Monroe Avenue church, has become interested in the work of relieving the distress among the New York slum dwellers. Mr. Whiteside's work is among the East Side sufferers.

He painted the terrible condition of the extreme poor of the metropolis to the Sunday-school last Sunday, and aroused so much interest in the matter that Superintendent McGee promised substantial aid from the school. One of the older men present was so affected by the appeal that he slipped two dollars into Mr. Whiteside's hands for the work as he passed out, although no contributions had been asked at that time.

The June meeting of the Common Council will be held Monday night, and considerable routine business will be considered.

The name of Helen Brennan was unintentionally omitted in the list of confirmation candidates at St. Mary's church yesterday afternoon.

Arthur Austin, of the borough, who has spent the past two years in Minneapolis on business, is expected home tonight for an indefinite stay. A severe fall sustained last winter makes a rest necessary.

Pythians to Decorate Grave. A big delegation from Perseverance Lodge, headed by the Uniformed Rank, K. of P., will go to Portchester tomorrow to decorate the grave of Harvey L. Patterson, a Perseverance man who was killed in the Westfield wreck. After the ceremony at the grave, the Plainfielders will be entertained at dinner by the Portchester knights. Small Boy Injured. John Reilly, aged eleven years, was received at Muhlenberg Hospital, yesterday, suffering from an injury to his forehead, caused by a fall yesterday. When the lad fell his head came in contact with a nail. The seriousness of the injury cannot be told as present.

Improved Rolling Stock. Several newly-painted and repaired open trolley cars are now being operated on the local trolley lines in connection with the new cars. This is necessary owing to the increased summer travel.
