LAKE HOPATCONG DAYS

Many Plainfielders Enjoying Summer Season at the Favorite Resort.

REGATTA ON SATURDAY

Carl Steiner Second in Swimming Contest—Stryker Hoagland in the Canoe Race.

New Jersey's largest and prettiest water sheet, Lake Hopatcong, is enjoying the greatest season in its history this year and Plainfield is contributing a good-sized share of the summer visitors. Local residents have found in the resort an ideal place to spend a vacation and they are to be seen all about the sixty miles of shore line, either in hotels and cottages or in temporary camps. On Sundays, when the New Jersey Central conducts its popular excursions, it is not an unusual thing for 200 people from this city to leave the train at Nolan's Point.

Freeholder and Mrs. S. P. T. Wilbur have been occupying their cottage on the mainland all summer and it is seldom without Plainfield guests. Clarence Teel has been enjoying "Sam's" hospitality since last Thursday and "Tom" Hannu and David J. Carney were recent visitors. Mr. and Mrs. E. Arthur Janke also have a cottage along the shore front and are known about the lake as being among the most expert and enthusiastic motor boat operators at the resort. Another popular Plainfield cottage is located on Halsey Island and is occupied by Floyd D. Woodhull and family, pioneer summer residents at Hopatcong. Roy Woodhull is captain of the "Gladys," one of the Black Line steamers plying the lake.

Among the camps, the largest from a Plainfield standpoint is "Ram's Horn" located on Halsey Island and conducted by "Jack" Hall and Tom DeMeza. The regulars there the past week beside these two were Morris Fairhurst, of Paterson; Edward Baker, Thomas M. Muir, Alfred Osman, John Duckworth and Harvey Morrison, all of Plainfield, the last three returning home today. Their places will be taken by other local young men for a week or two weeks' stay. Visitors at the camp yesterday were Mrs. Edward Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Baker, Miss Elizabeth Winn, Miss Mary Jahn, Miss Julia Downing, William McCullough, Charles Hillier and Bertram C. Firstbrook.

A short distance from "Ram's Horn" on Halsey Island is "Camp Walton," named after the renowned Isaacs, of fishing fame. In it are Frank and Dudley Wilcox, of Watchung avenue; John Schofield, of Carlton avenue, and Carl Strong, of Belvidere avenue. They live up to the memory of Walton and without question are the most successful fishermen who cast lines in the coves where the perch, pickerel and bass have their hiding places.

Mr. and Mrs. Lucius Kuhns, of Sandford avenue, are camped on the mainland near Prospect point and are always entertaining friends. Mrs. Tillman Kuhns was a guest this week.

"Camp Umptarara" is the somewhat peculiar name adopted by Stryker Hoagland and Carl Steiner, of the borough, who are leading the simple life beneath canvas at Nolan's point. Mr. Steiner's father, Charles Steiner, of Jackson avenue, was with them from Thursday until yesterday and had "the time of his life." It was his first vacation in twenty years and he had such a splendid time he declares he will spend all next summer at the lake.

The Lake Hopatcong Yacht Club held its annual regatta Saturday and the "Umptarara" boys were entered in several events. Carl Steiner won second prize, a handsome silver fob, in a seventy-five yard swimming contest and really was entitled to first. The winner got a big start on the other nine competitors by diving from the stake boat before the word was fully out of the mouth of the referee. Hoagland and a partner from Paterson were fifth in a half-mile canoe race, doubles, against a field of ten. Hoagland was also in a canoe race, singles, but was bested in two attempts. He "died" hard, however, and left one opponent with a bleeding nose and the other with a handsomely decorated eye. He, himself, escaped without a bruise.

Anne Eliza Williams. After an illness of several weeks, Mrs. Anne Eliza Williams died Saturday at the home of her nephew, John Dunham, 208 East Fourth street. She was 75 years of age. The funeral will be from the home of her nephew tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock and there will be a special service at Mount Olive Baptist church at 2 o'clock.

STANDS HIGH AMONG WEST POINT GRADUATES

ROGERS GRADUATED 3D IN CLASS OF 111 AND GETS GOOD ASSIGNMENT.

The assignments to corps, regiments and other organizations of the second lieutenants who were graduated from West Point in June, have been given out. Eight were sent to the engineer corps, six to the field artillery, eighteen to the coast artillery, twenty-six to the cavalry and fifty-two to the infantry. Among the eighteen assigned to the coast artillery, Lieut. N. P. Rogers, Jr., of this city, stands fifth in lineal order, and inasmuch as he was number thirteen in a class of 111, he is considered to have made a good start in his military career.

The artillery corps is an exclusive branch of the service and in a class by itself. In general orders No. 57, of the War Department, March 20, 1907, for appointment to the coast artillery corps provides that all candidates whether from the army or civil life, who do not successfully pass the examination for the coast artillery, but who successfully pass the examination for cavalry, field artillery and infantry will be arranged in the general merit list of their respective classes, according to the standing in the subjects prescribed for the examination for these arms of the service and will be eligible for appointment therein. First Lieutenant Cortlandt Parker has been assigned to the Sixth Field Artillery and will take station at Fort Riley.

PERKINS AND SMITH DISCUSSED SITUATION

BUT "BIG GUNS" WERE ABSENT FROM G. O. P. OUTING.

Politics was the least thing that concerned the Union County Republicans on their annual outing to Witzel's Grove, L. I., Saturday, one day being given up almost entirely to pleasure. There was a notable absence of the "big guns," such as United States Senator Charles Keen, Congressman Charles N. Fowler, but there were a number of lesser lights there to make it interesting. There were no State politics aboard, but those from the county turned out in large numbers. It was said by the leaders that there was less political gossip than at any previous outing held. Not a single boom was started.

During the sail from Elizabethport to Witzel's Grove, Assemblyman Randolph Perkins was closeted with County Chairman F. H. Smith and they held a long conference. Afterward, the Assemblyman said that while he recognized the opposition to him from the local option forces he had not seen anything thus far that would warrant him from changing his mind as to seeking a renomination. He had received assurances from many friends throughout the county of their support.

In discussing the gubernatorial situation, it was conceded that Judge Fort and Judge Mahlon Pitney are the strongest candidates today. Charles N. Coddling spoke strongly in favor of Chandler Riker, but he appeared to be alone.

It was about two o'clock when the boat reached Witzel's Grove, and after dinner, the afternoon was spent in playing various games and taking it easy. Three innings of a baseball game were played, Assemblyman John R. Moxon pitching for one side, against Edward Bauer, who was on the opposing team. The Assemblyman was knocked out of the box and everybody forgot to keep score.

Funeral Charles S. Cullinan. The funeral service of Charles Siorah Cullinan, the eighteen months old son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Cullinan, of 308 Prescott place, were held from the home of the parents yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. In the absence of Rev. L. R. Howard, the services were conducted by Rev. E. E. Robertson, of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church. There was a large display of floral tributes. The burial was in Hillside cemetery.

Switch Tower Open. The new switch tower recently completed at the East End of the city by the New Jersey Central, was put into use for the first time yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, and the entire equipment was found to be working in perfect order. Frank Naylor was put in charge. Michael Griffin is the night operator. The only officials present at the opening of the tower were the superintendent of signals and Trainmaster A. D. Edgar.

New State Chairman. Robert Hudspeth, of Hudson county, on Saturday accepted the chairmanship of the State Democratic Committee.

MUMMERS COME AGAIN

New Plainfield Theatre Opens for its Third Season Successfully.

PRETTY DECORATIONS

Interior Presents a Harmony in Restful Tints—Attractive Bookings for Early Dates.

The third season of the New Plainfield theatre opened Saturday, and it is scarcely necessary to say the opening was successful. Manager William Counihan has demonstrated that he makes everything he touches successful, and anything but a success was hardly to be expected. The beautiful house was well filled at both matinee and evening performances, and the offering, "The Vanderbilt Cup," was enjoyed as much as at its first appearance here last season.

The company was a thoroughly capable one, and did full justice to all the situations. The humor "went" as crisply as when the play first appeared on Broadway; there was even a quip or two that Broadway didn't hear. The audience lacked the "sober" atmosphere, because everybody in the "set" is out of town, constructively, if not actually.

There were many comments on the handsome decorations that have made the house one of the prettiest in the show world. The interior is spick and span, and in perfect harmony at every point. The pink and green tones present a restful ensemble, and the new curtains, handsome themselves, blended well with their surroundings.

The house has been redressed downstairs, as well as upstairs. The dressing rooms have been newly carpeted and brightened, and all parts of the structure are more attractive.

The theatre staff has been changed but little. Charles M. Suhr will be the orchestra leader, as last year, and the theatregoers are assured of good music, under competent direction. The orchestra played unusually well Saturday. The ushers have a new chief, William Hoffman. Nelson Peterson, Hugh Gray and Elmer Hoffman are in charge of the seats on the orchestra floor and the balcony. The only important change in the mechanical department is the accession of Leonard Daubner to charge of the properties.

A most attractive list of plays has been prepared for the first months of the season. Some of the early bookings include: "The College Widow," which will be here on Wednesday; the new Shubert play, with Richard Golden in "The Other House," on Thursday; Amelia Bingham, in a new play, "George Washington, Jr.," on Friday; "Marrying Mary," on Saturday; "The Red Mill," on Sunday; "The Happy Land," on Monday; "The Gingerbread Man," on Tuesday; "Simple Simon Simple," the Grace Cameron Opera Company in "Little Dolly Dimple," Mary Manning, in "Glorious Betsy," "Salomy Jane," "Fascinating Flora," "Three of Us," "Coming Thro' the Rye," "Road to Yesterday," Williams and Walker; John Drew; Elsie Janis and Lula Glaser. All these will appear here before the holidays. A rich promise, truly.

Manager Counihan's new house, the Majestic, at Perth Amboy, will open on September 20, with Michael Shannon, who has been assisting Mr. Counihan here, in charge. The opening attraction will be "The Belle of Mayfair." Leonce Texier, who is assistant treasurer at the New Plainfield, will go with Mr. Shannon to the Majestic as treasurer.

Manager Counihan will be a very busy man this season. All the bookings for Perth Amboy will be made from here, and he is interested in road attractions for which he will book. Still, waste no sympathy on W. Counihan. He has the hustle bug, and grows a crop of em-bon point on work.

MRS. MARY L. VAIL DIES, LIFE-LONG RESIDENT HERE. Widow of William Vail Dies After a Long Illness—Eighty Years of Age.

After an illness of more than four months, death came to Mrs. Mary L. Vail, of 112 Church street, this morning. Mrs. Vail was the widow of the late William Vail, who died about twenty years ago. Last April she had a severe paralytic stroke and never entirely recovered. She was eighty years of age and had been a life-long resident of this city.

Mrs. Vail is survived by three children, living in this city. These are two daughters, Miss Mary A. Vail and Althea Vail, and one son, William Budd Vail, of the firm of Vail & Gardner. No arrangements have as yet been completed for the funeral.

CONVENTION AT ALFRED

Fully 100 From Here Will Attend Seventh-day Baptists' Annual Session.

UNIVERSITY REUNIONS

Mrs. J. R. Truell a Graduate of 1867, to Be Present—Conference at Nile, N. Y.

Elaborate arrangements are being made for the general conference of the Seventh-Day Baptist church to be held at Alfred, N. Y., August 21-26, when delegates from all parts of the country, including at least a hundred from this city and New Market, will attend. The conference is similar to the one held here a few years ago, and it will bring together all of the important heads of the various departments of the denomination.

Prior to the general conference, but in connection with it, a convocation of the ministers of the denomination will be held this week at Nile, N. Y. Among those who will attend are Rev. George B. Shaw, of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, and Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, editor of The Sabbath Recorder. This conference was only inaugurated a few years ago and is intended as a time when the various pastors can get together and discuss different phases of church work. It also affords an opportunity for the pastors to prepare and decide upon any measures they wish to bring before the general conference looking toward an advancement of the denominational interests.

An event of more than ordinary interest at the time of the general conference will be a reunion of many of the older classes graduated from Alfred University. Among the classes arranging for a reunion is the one of 1867. Mrs. J. R. Truell, of this city, was graduated from the university in that class and she proposes to attend the reunion. As far as she is able to learn there are about twelve other members of the class living.

In the later classes there are a large number of graduates residing here and a concerted effort is being made to secure as large an attendance as possible for the reunions to be held during conference week. Special programs are being prepared and altogether the affair promises to be one of the most important in the history of the denomination.

PATRICK KANE DIES SUDDENLY FROM DYSENTERY

WELL KNOWN CONTRACTOR SUCCEUMBS WHILE VISITING AT SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Succumbing to an acute attack of dysentery while visiting a friend at South Plainfield, yesterday, death came suddenly to Patrick Kane, the well known local contractor. Mr. Kane had been suffering from an attack of dysentery for two weeks past. Saturday he felt sufficiently recovered to make the trip to South Plainfield, where he planned to spend Sunday with a friend.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Kane was overcome by a severe attack of dysentery. A physician was summoned from Metuchen and everything possible was done for the sick man, but to no avail. Death came in about two hours. His brother, Alexander Kane, was informed of the fatal attack and the body was brought to this city.

Mr. Kane was well known here as a contractor. He was forty-three years of age and was born in Ireland. He lived at 417 Cottage place. His wife died about seven months ago and three young children, two boys and a girl, survive.

The funeral will be from the home of his brother, Alex. Kane, 312 Fillmore avenue, tomorrow morning at 8:15 and requiem mass will be said in St. Mary's at 9 o'clock. The interment will follow in St. Mary's cemetery.

Advocated Local Option.

Rev. E. H. Curtis, of Newark, who is agitating local option throughout the State, made an address at the Scotch Plains Baptist church yesterday. Rev. T. Moore-Smith, the pastor, referred to local conditions, and said a good word for that cause.

Held For Grand Jury.

On a charge preferred by William Steel, a youth, Thomas Ryan, 23 years old, a laborer, of 1047 West Front street, was held without bail for the grand jury by City Judge Runyon this morning. He acknowledged his guilt.

Fined For Drunkenness.

Edward Bergen, 37 years old, a driver, arrested for drunkenness Saturday, was fined $3 or ten days in jail by Judge Runyon this morning.

MR. TILLMAN WON'T RUN

Rahway Man, 'tis said, Will Not be a Candidate for Assembly Nomination.

MR. DANIEL BOOMED

Plainfield Councilman and a Former County Clerk Both Mentioned For Nominations.

Assemblyman Peter Tillman, of Rahway, will not be a candidate for renomination. That statement is made on the authority of some on the inside of the Republican leaders' camp, but Mr. Tillman, himself, is silent on the subject. It is said that he will make formal announcement when the proper time comes, and in the meanwhile the leaders will cast around for another to take his place. The Rahway man has already served three terms and believes that the office should go to some other man.

It developed at the annual outing at Witzel's Grove, L. I., on Saturday, that Assemblyman Randolph Perkins had not changed his decision to again come before the voters for a renomination and election. Deputy Clerk of the Supreme Court Charles N. Coddling, of Westfield, was on hand on Saturday to say a good word for Mr. Perkins but it is reported that he found very little Perkins' sentiment. The Westfielder has served three terms and there appears to be a strong feeling in favor of his retirement.

As Assemblyman John R. Moxon, of Elizabeth, has survived but one term, it is reported on good authority that his renomination is almost certain, despite the fact that he voted for the re-election of John F. Dryden to the United States Senatorship. Moxon has a host of friends in Elizabeth as well as throughout the county and it is doubtful if anyone will oppose his candidacy.

There has been considerable talk of nominating Councilman Leslie Daniel, of this city, in place of either Perkins or Tillman. Mr. Daniel is a resident of the Third ward and is a New York lawyer. He was formerly president of the Plainfield Common Council and is now chairman of the finance committee of that body. It is not known whether he would accept but it is stated that there would be no opposition if he could be persuaded to allow his name to go before the convention.

Former County Clerk William Howard, of Rahway, is also mentioned, in place of Mr. Tillman. He has a big following and is a thorough organization man.

MRS. SIMS CELEBRATES HER NINETIETH BIRTHDAY.

Regularly Attends Church Service Despite Her Advanced Age.

Mrs. Mahala Sims, one of the old residents of this city, is today celebrating the ninetieth anniversary of her birthday. While there were no pre-arranged plans for the event, a number of friends and neighbors have taken occasion to call and extend their best wishes and congratulate Mrs. Sims upon attaining such an advanced age. Her faculties are unimpaired, and barring a slightly defective vision, she enjoys excellent health.

The event is of double significance because it was seventy-three years ago this month that Mrs. Sims united with the First Baptist church, and besides being the oldest member, she has been an exceptionally regular attendant and faithful member. Her absence from the services is a rare thing, for when she has been unable to walk because of bad weather some thoughtful friend or neighbor has sent a carriage for her.

Mrs. Sims is a native of Plainfield and has always lived here. When a young girl she became a member of the family of the late Manning Stelle, and remained with that family until Mr. Stelle's death several years ago. For a number of years she has made her home with Mr. and Mrs. Theodore I. Runyon, of Putnam avenue.

Elizabeth Man, Borough Booze.

Absorbing too much borough booze to allow for his orderly navigation on the street, John McAtanley, of Elizabeth, was arrested in the borough Saturday night. He will come up before Borough Recorder Dooliver at the session of court tonight.

Five Dogs Shot.

Their term of imprisonment expired, five borough dogs which were brought to the North Plainfield pound last week, were shot this afternoon by Chief Marshal Weiss because no owners came to redeem them.

Fined For Drunkenness.

Edward Bergen, 37 years old, a driver, arrested for drunkenness Saturday, was fined $3 or ten days in jail by Judge Runyon this morning.

FELL IN MOLTEN METAL AND SERIOUSLY HURT

NATHAN WARDNER WILL RECOVER FROM A BAD ACCIDENT.

Nathan Wardner, of West Eighth street, who was so seriously burned at the Potter Press Works, where he is employed, is convalescing slowly, although not able to leave the house yet. Mr. Wardner, together with a fellow-employee, was carrying a large ladle of hot metal for a casting to be made in the foundry, when in turning a sharp angle, Mr. Wardner slipped. He lost his hold on the end of the ladle and was pitched head first into the hot metal which upset and was running about the floor.

One side of the face was frightfully scalded and all of the hair burned off that side of the head. His hands, arms and legs were also scalded more or less. Fellow-workmen about the place at the time believed that the man would be burned to death before he could be rescued.

He did not lose consciousness, however, and in a few minutes he regained his feet. Although he suffered intense pain he went to the wash room, cleaned his hands and face and rode his wheel home before the ambulance reached the press works. He refused to go to the hospital. A physician was summoned to the house and Mr. Wardner has been confined to his bed ever since. His escape from instant death was considered miraculous.

JUMPED FROM TROLLEY RATHER THAN WALK BACK

HORACE GOLDSTEIN SEVERELY INJURED ON WATCHUNG AVENUE LAST NIGHT.

Rather than be carried a block beyond his home, Horace Goldstein, who lives at 232 East Fourth street, jumped from a rapidly moving main line trolley car on Watchung avenue last evening and is today confined to his home with a choice collection of bruises and abrasions as a result of landing heavily on his back. The accident happened near East Fourth street at shortly after 9 o'clock last evening.

Goldstein, who had been to Westfield, was returning home on the trolley. The car was crowded, and he could not attract the conductor's attention to have the car stopped at the East Fourth street corner. He pushed his way to the platform and jumped off, while the car was going at full speed, without giving any signal to the conductor. The passengers saw him fall heavily, striking on his back and head. The car was stopped and several rushed to his assistance. He was picked up and carried to the sidewalk, where it was found that he was stunned by the fall. Doctors Carman and Hedges were summoned, and Goldstein was carried to a nearby house. An examination showed several painful bumps and scratches, but no broken bones. Goldstein, who is past fifty years of age, is suffering greatly from the shock, but his condition is not dangerous.

The accident attracted a crowd of several hundred people, and it was for a long time believed that the old man's injuries were of a fatal nature.

MR. AND MRS. C. BRANTINGHAM WEDDED TWENTY-FIVE YEARS

Anniversary Appropriately Celebrated at Their Home in South Plainfield Saturday.

Celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brantingham entertained a number of their friends and relatives at their home on Leigh avenue, South Plainfield, Saturday afternoon. Guests to the number of nearly two score came from New Brunswick, Brooklyn, and Jersey City to tender their congratulations.

A collation was served at the house in honor of the occasion and on the table was a mammoth wedding cake, marked "1882" and "1907." Mr. and Mrs. Brantingham have one daughter, Mrs. Harry Klinger, of Jersey City. The couple were married by the late Rev. T. A. Armstrong, when he was pastor of the South Plainfield Baptist church.

Tenant Must Vacate.

In the action brought by Henry Eagerding against William Jeroloman for rent due him, Justice Snape ruled in favor of the landlord in the borough court this morning. Jeroloman has been ordered to vacate the premises by Saturday.

Rector a Weekly Commuter.

Rev. George A. Warner, of the Church of the Holy Cross, is spending the month at Shelter Island, coming to Plainfield on Sunday for the regular services. Mrs. Warner is also at Shelter Island.

SAUNDERS FOR MAYOR

He May be Induced to Run on Consolidation and Joint Sewer Platform.

LEE AS HIS OPPONENT

Councilman, It Is Said, Would Get Republican Nomination—Townsend and Arnold Mentioned.

Provided he can be induced to run, it is said that there is a strong probability that the Democrats of North Plainfield will nominate former Mayor William L. Saunders for mayor to succeed Newton B. Smalley, Republican, who has held the office for ten years. The platform upon which it is planned to conduct his campaign includes consolidation with annexation and joint use of the Plainfield sewer system, both of which propositions meet with the hearty approval of the borough's most distinguished Democrat.

Mr. Saunders is the father of the consolidation and annexation movement and it is believed that the strength he would draw from the Republican ranks on such a platform would insure a victory for the Democrats and would bring about this much advocated scheme of merger with Plainfield. The Bi-municipal Consolidation commission, it will be recalled, reported recently to both governing bodies that as a result of its searching investigation consolidation with annexation would be a great improvement on present conditions. Among the membership of the commission were some who originally opposed consolidation, notably Charles W. McCutchen, the largest property owner in North Plainfield and one of the borough's most prominent men.

The North Plainfield Sewage Disposal Commission, among whose membership were also prominent men originally opposed to consolidation, reported recently that the best solution of the sewerage problem in the borough would be an agreement with Plainfield for joint use of its plant. Neither of these problems are partisan questions, but it is well known that Mayor Smalley and his political friends generally oppose both schemes.

Mayor Smalley is strongly opposed to consolidation although he heartily favors annexation. He is also against the scheme for a joint use of the Plainfield sewer disposal plant, desiring an independent system in the borough. This position on his part has given rise to talk favoring the nomination of Councilman Charles L. Lee as the Republican candidate. Mr. Lee is said to share Mayor Smalley's views on both subjects.

Another prominent Democrat whose name is freely mentioned in Democratic quarters in connection with the nomination is Samuel W. Townsend. Mr. Townsend, it is said, would run a better chance than Mr. Saunders, in getting the nomination from the party, but it is said that he could not command as much Republican support. A Democratic leader said today that either one would defeat Councilman Lee, or Councilman James K. Arnold whose name is mentioned for the Republican nomination, at least three to one. Mr. Arnold has much strength in the organization and it is said that he would accept a nomination.

When Mr. Saunders was asked today regarding his attitude on the mayoralty, he said:

"If I felt sure that I could bring about the abandonment of the office of mayor of North Plainfield and the union of our borough with Plainfield I would consent to run. But I am not sure that that end would be attained, although I feel sanguine that consolidation with annexation would win by a large majority if put to a vote of our people. I am not in a position to afford the proper time to the duties of the office but, as I say, if the union could be brought about in such a way I would gladly do anything in my power to that end."

Mr. Saunders admitted that he had been approached on the subject several times during the last few weeks.

Mary Watson Hollister.

Death came to Miss Mary Watson Hollister Ruthven, yesterday at the home of niece, Mrs. John Lefkowitz Ludlum, of East Front street. Mrs. Ruthven was the widow of the late John Ruthven, of New York city. She was ninety-four years of age and had been living in Plainfield but a short time. Funeral services will be held at her niece's home tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. The interment will be at Greenwood cemetery Wednesday morning. There will be a committal service at the grave.

Plainfield Lodge, No. 297, Jr. O. U. A. M., will receive several propositions for membership at its meeting tonight.

Autographs and Holographs. "An autograph," said an antiquary, "is worth nothing, while a holograph may be worth $1,000 or more. An autograph of a man is his simple signature. His holograph is one of his signed letters, and its value depends on its interest. Some men are such fools that they think autographs valuable and holographs worthless. I know a man who found in his grandfather's chest a lot of important letters of Franklin, Washington, Aaron Burr, Hamilton, Andre and Jefferson. He read these letters; then he burned them, first cutting out the signatures. For the signatures he got 50 cents apiece or thereabouts. For the letters in their entirety he would have got from $100 to $500 apiece. By this loss of about $24,000 the man learned the difference between an autograph and a holograph."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

CHATHAM.

A proposition is on foot to rebuild the dam across the Passaic River at Stanley, known as the Mather Mill dam, which was destroyed by a freshet several years ago. This would raise the river to a good depth, navigable for boating as far as Millington. The rebuilding of the dam would cost about one thousand dollars, and would flood the river for about three or four miles in length, and from six to 100 feet in width.

Frank B. Dickerson, clerk of the Fairview House, who is studying for the ministry, preached in the Methodist Episcopal church, yesterday morning. In the evening Rev. Dr. J. B. Faulks preached.

The Sunday-school of the Methodist Episcopal church held its annual picnic at Kramm's Riverside Retreat on Saturday.

Rev. Henry U. Swinerton preached in the Ogden Memorial church, yesterday, morning and evening.

The monthly meeting of the Chatham Wheelmen's Club will be held in its clubrooms, this evening.

Rev. William F. Cooley, of Summit, preached in the Congregational church yesterday morning.

RAHWAY.

E. S. Savage, of this city, has applied to Vice Chancellor Howell to enjoin the Port Reading officials from diverting the water from the natural flow in Thorp's Creek. Mr. Savage claims ownership to three acres of salt meadow in common with the railroad, and his deed states that he is to have the right to the creek.

Arthur Strang and William Morrison, of Newark, came near losing their lives in Milton Lake, recently. They had bicycled from Newark here, were very warm, and took a plunge in the water. Cramps seized them in three minutes and only the arrival of a physician saved them.

The taxable valuation of Rahway properties have been advanced from $4,267,377 last year to $5,415,800 this year, making the increase for the year $1,158,423, or about thirty per cent., according to tables given by N. V. Compton, secretary of the local board.

The Hamilton A. C. has taken formal possession of its new clubhouse on West Grand street. The officers elected are: President, E. Ballweg; vice president, E. Chapin; treasurer, W. Karthwaite; secretary, R. Sauer.

Socrates' Little Joke.

Socrates had his joke. It was his custom to foregather now and then with a convivial circle of philosophers, geometers and others. On such occasions at the stroke of 2 a. m. he would rise (it is reported of him that he always could rise) and address the chair.

"Mr. President," he would say, "I move you that this circle now go

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

GOLF.

In the team match between the Park Golf Club and the Middlebrook Country-Club at Bound Brook, Willet Gano, of the latter club, made a new eighteen hole record with two 29's. This is the best score at match play.

The friends of Robert Abbott are disappointed in that he has failed to make a better showing in outside tournaments this season, and they can hardly account for it. When playing on the local course he has no trouble in turning in a low score, but on other links he seems to fall to get even among the lowest scores. The intercollegiate golf championship which he won last year, has since been taken by another collegian and Abbott appears to be out of the running for honors.

Visiting golfers who have played over the course at the Plainfield Country Club this season, speak in high praise of it. Not only the greens, but the course itself offers exceptional opportunities for good work, and it is believed that when some of the club's best players return in the fall the course record will be broken.

The weekly dinner-dances will be resumed at the Plainfield Country Club on Saturday afternoon and continued every Saturday until October 1.

After an absence of several weeks from the Plainfield Country Club course, Dudley H. Barrows was again seen there on Saturday. While his score of 81 was not especially low, it was good enough to give him points for the Golf committee cup, which he had to divide with Howard G. Lapsley.

Julius E. Erickson, who is spending the month at the seashore, came home Saturday and was among the contestants for the Golf committee cup at the Plainfield Country Club. He posted a score of 95, 10-85.

The weekly competition for the Golf committee cup at the Plainfield Country Club is especially close this season, there being a narrow margin between the leader and several other contestants. It will be no runaway match for anyone.

DIAMOND DUST.

As the result of poor judgment on the part of the officials of the Inter-City Amateur League there was no game at Crescent Oval, Saturday, and the fans who were anxious to see a contest were obliged to go to Scotch Plains. The officials will probably say that they are not responsible for the action of Dunellen or Raritan withdrawing from the league, but it was nothing if not poor judgment to admit those clubs in the first place. Somerville was anxious to join the organization and would have made a strong bid for the pennant, besides making the rivalry that brings in money, but it was the opinion of some of the officials that Somerville was too far away. This objection was not raised when Raritan was taken in. If the league had been composed of Clinton Avenue, Y. M. C. A., Scotch Plains and Somerville there would have been a close and even race to hold the attention of the fans during the season, and Plainfield would have been assured of a game every Saturday. It is the hope of the fans that if a league is formed next season, Somerville will be given a chance to join and will be invited to attend the organization meeting. While the closing days of the league season are interesting in a way, the race being narrowed down to Clinton Avenue and Scotch Plains, it would be far more exciting if Somerville were contending for honors. For the first season the league has done well enough, but there are mistakes to be overcome before another season is essayed.

The Laurels, of Bound Brook, are scheduled to play Clinton Avenue at Crescent Oval, Saturday, and it will be an easy proposition for the local nine. The former team has realized all season that it was outclassed by other league nines.

It has been the opinion of many fans that O'Loughlin, the Clinton Avenue catcher, is not heavy enough to hold Randolph, but his record shows that he has accomplished the feat in a way that brings victory. He may not be quite so good throwing to bases, but he pluckily holds Randolph's swift delivery and when it comes to stick work he can push the leather with any of the players.

All things considered, Captain Craig's team made a good showing. The players were handicapped at the start, not having been together before and changes were frequently necessary for one reason or other, and this didn't help matters.

Sammy Hope, who once upon a time pitched for the Plainfield team and more recently has been in the Atlantic League, was picked up a few weeks ago by Connie Mack, of the Philadelphia Athletics. A few days ago he was given an opportunity to work against Cleveland and he made such a poor showing that Mack advised him to return to his former berth for a post-graduate course.

WHERE "JIM" SMITH SPENDS THE SUMMER

AT ELBERON THE SENATOR KEEPS EYE ON JERSEY POLITICS.

Former United States Senator James Smith is resting at his summer home at Elberon, but he is keeping tab on New Jersey politics in season and out of season, says a writer in the Jersey City Journal. Elberon became historic in 1881 as the place where the martyred President James A. Garfield died. Old residents point out the route from the station across the beautiful lawns where a track was laid in one night that the railroad car with President Garfield might be brought to the door of the cottage on the bluff, where he died September 19. The visitor asks first to be shown the Garfield cottage and the occupants of the steam automobiles and carriages that go up and down Ocean avenue pass slowly by while the natives point out to strangers the second floor where Garfield's life slowly went out. It is one of the chief show places of the Jersey coast. This summer the stranger coming up the drive to the Garfield cottage will sometimes find former Senator Smith sitting on the comfortable veranda. Should time and convenience permit the Senator is quite apt to show the visitor through his historic summer home. He bought the Garfield cottage and he lives there during the warm season.

The interior of the house is remarkable for its architectural features, which were very much in advance of the time in which it was built—1876. Owing to the careful manner in which it was constructed the house is still in a most excellent state of preservation. The kitchen of the cottage is on the second floor. As one approaches from the hall a broad flight of steps leads to the dining-room, which is almost half a story higher than the main floor. A short stairway from the pantry leads up to the kitchen, which is over the porte-cochere that separates the servants' quarters from the rest of the house. The walls of the dining-room and halls are in part paneled in hard wood of artistic pattern, while the walls of one room are covered entirely with cork. One fortunate thing about this house, in which the whole country is interested, is that its present owner is careful to preserve it in all its original details. Near the former Senator's summer home are grouped other cottages of his, in one of which lives Peter Hauck, Jr., and in another James Smith, third. Peter Hauck the elder, and Michael T. Barrett live there also.

President Garfield was shot by Charles J. Guiteau, in Washington, on the morning of July 2, 1881. He lingered for over a month in the White House, and was then removed to the seashore, but he died not long after his removal to Elberon. Guiteau was hanged June 30, 1882.

HOLDS SISTER BY EAR AND AVERTS DROWNING.
Ten-Year-Old Boy Saves Younger Child From Death in Greenwood Lake.

Greenwood Lake, Aug. 12.—Mildred Frank, six years old, daughter of John L. Frank, of 154 Verona avenue, Newark, had a narrow escape from drowning here Thursday, but was saved by her ten-year-old brother, Louis, with whom she had been boating on the lake.

The girl in stepping from the rowboat to a dock missed her footing and slipped in the water. Her brother made a grab for her when she came up, and caught her by the right ear, until her father, who had been watching them, reached his side and pulled the girl from the water.

The girl and boy with their parents, are stopping at the Marlton Park Rod and Gun Club, Sterling Forest. The children were playing in a rowboat close to the shore. After they had tired of the sport they pulled into the dock. The boy got out of the boat first, and held a line attached to it while his sister got out. When she fell overboard he shouted for his father, who was nearby. The little girl is none the worse for her experience.

COLLEGE AND SCHOOL.

Savings banks are established in 228 schools in Scotland. There are 35,712 depositors, with £9,798 on their credit.

The trustees of Colorado College have elected Dr. George Maxwell Howe to fill the chair of German made vacant by the death of Professor L. A. E. Ahlers. Dr. Howe is an alumnus of the University of Indiana.

Dr. Bernhard Weiss, the senior member of the faculty of the Berlin Theological seminary, recently celebrated his fiftieth birthday. A few days later he completed his eightieth year of activity as professor and received the title of privy councillor, with the added honorary title of excellency.

Mr. Midzushima, the principal of the Kobe, Japan, Higher Commercial school, is making a tour of Europe for the purpose of investigating the methods of commercial education. He will first visit England and subsequently proceed to Germany, France, Austria, Italy and Belgium, returning via America.

THANKS TO OUR SENATOR.

It is safe to say that the result of the comic sheets' persistent reference to the proverbial Jersey mosquito has cost this State millions of dollars and no matter how deserved the prodding has been, we have suffered irreparably, as any citizen, let alone a real estate dealer, can attest. It is therefore, a matter of rejoicing that the day is fast approaching when our beautiful and thrifty little State will no longer be entitled to be known as "the mosquito-nest." For this, and many other blessings, we must offer thanks to the recent Legislature, which has done its share in the improvement of conditions.

Especially are we grateful, in this particular connection, to Ernest R. Ackerman, who, as the representative of Union county in the Upper House, did meritorious work in ridding New Jersey of the slander, if such it may be called. It was our excellent Senator, who gave his direct attention as a member of the appropriations committee, to the task of obtaining the necessary means for the work planned by Professor Smith to banish the pesky creature from "our midst." The previous Legislature had ordained that a campaign should be inaugurated to drive the "skeeter" from our borders, but unfortunately the measure enacted for this object carried no appropriation with it. Early action to remedy such a shortcoming was imperative and the Senator from Union was equal to the occasion. In his characteristic way, Mr. Ackerman gave his undivided attention to the subject and as a result Prof. Smith was supplied with the necessary funds. What the latter has accomplished is apparent to every man, woman and child. The mosquito is no longer a tormentor and the comic papers have been robbed of one of their favorite space fillers.

Referring to the appropriation for this purpose, for which Mr. Ackerman is largely responsible, the Newark Evening News says:

"The Philadelphia Press frankly admits that 'In no State has there been such a persistent and intelligent war waged on the mosquito as in New Jersey.' * * * The Hackensack meadows, which have been furnishing Newark, Elizabeth and Jersey City with mosquitoes since time out of mind, is not now yielding its usual supply." The same paper also notes the improvement that has been made in Staten Island since Professor John B. Smith's methods were applied there by Dr. Darlington. Further commendation comes from another source. The Jersey City Journal says that 'The fact that Jersey City has been almost wholly free from mosquitoes thus far this summer shows what preventive measures at the right time will do. The few dollars spent under the direction of State Entomologist Smith in ditching the Hackensack meadows was one of the wisest expenditures of money ever made. It is to be hoped that before next summer every foot of the meadows will be ditched and all stagnant pools looked after.

"Jersey City was the last place of importance in North Jersey-Bayonne excepted—to refuse to spend a dollar for mosquito extermination. Its Board of Health tried year after year to get even a small appropriation to begin the work, but without success. The action of the State induced Jersey City to join the crusade last year, with the results acknowledged in the paper quoted; a marvelous accomplishment for a single year's labor and expense.

"When New Jersey is rid of its mosquito pest; when comfort is assured those who would delight to dwell here were it not for these noxious insects; when malaria is no longer carried by these stinging plagues, and the good health of all the coast communities of the State is improved, the value of property will almost double and people from other States will flock here in greater numbers than ever before. It must not be understood that the mosquito problem is practically and entirely and permanently solved. It is not. As has been said in these columns, time and again, the work must be continued, the ditches watched and kept open, the rain-barrels emptied and all who have mosquito-breeding premises must care for them. But the money thus far spent, and whatever is yet to be spent in the same methods, is among the wisest expenditures the State and the city have ever made."

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Henry W. Savage has the reputation of exploiting the right kind of material in the right kind of way, but in "The College Widow," the Geo. Ade comedy, which come to the New

"Matty" McGowan, in "The College Widow," at New Plainfield Theatre Aug. 14.

Plainfield theatre Wednesday night, Mr. Savage is said to have fairly and fully outdone himself. A surprisingly capable company of some forty people and a production of great beauty places the attractiveness of the play beyond dispute (especially as the piece itself is the cleverest of its kind presented in many years.

A sensation entirely new and novel is said to be the climax of the third act in P. H. Sullivan's latest four act comedy drama by Joseph Byron Totten, which is booked to appear at the New Plainfield theatre on Thursday night. This special feature is in the form of a "Race For Life" across a plain between a wild steer to which Bronco Bob, the hero of the play, is strapped, and a wild bronco ridden bareback by an Indian maid. This scene is said to be the most hair-raising effect ever attempted by a melodramatic stage.

Richard Golden, the quaint comedian, assisted by an unusually capable company, is scheduled for appearance at the New Plainfield theatre on Friday night, in Harry and Edward Baulton's latest comedy offering, "The Other House." So much has been said of the new comedy that the Messrs. Shubert have arranged to offer it to New York playgoers for a season of six months at the Madison Square theatre commencing August 19.

"Little Johnny Jones," the musical play by George M. Cohan, which has made one of the greatest successes of recent years will shortly be presented in this city by a company of seventy-five people, including a specially selected cast and a chorus which is spoken of as one of the largest and most efficient in America. This engagement is regarded by our theatregoers as one of the most important events of the theatrical season, and if indications do not fail it will attract a large and fashionable audience. It will be seen at the New Plainfield theatre on Saturday.

A comedy elephant is introduced in the new musical comedy, "Playing the Bonies," which comes to the New Plainfield theatre on Monday night, in which Yorke and Adams will make their annual appearance in this city as stars under B. E. Forrester's management. Lanier DeWolf, Vivian Maxwell, Antoinette Mafera, Helen Tompanz, Eva Mull, Francis Parre, Lucia Johnson and Josephine Buimer, compose the famous pony ballet that is one of the features with this organization.

THE WOODHULL & MARTIN STORE

A Very Queer Dresser.

A very queer man in the matter of dress was the fifth Duke of Portland. His eccentric grace always, it appears, ordered three frock coats to every suit. When the weather was hot, he wore one only, when it was a little less hot two, and when it was cool all three. Besides these, he always kept three greatcoats in wear, so that when winter came on he wore three frock coats and one greatcoat, as it advanced three frockcoats and two greatcoats, while, when there was a real frost, he turned out in all the six.

A Queer Lizard.

An extraordinary reptile habit is described in a book by R. L. Ditmars, of the New York Zoological park. A large Mexican horned lizard, excited by an attempt to measure it, emitted a rasping sound and expelled a jet of blood, which struck a wall four feet away and formed a trail of 103 large spots along the floor. The blood came from the eyelid, momentarily much swollen. Shooting blood from the eye has been long attributed to this creature, but it seems so rare that naturalists have doubted its reality.

The Siamese Language.

Siamese, like other oriental languages, is very poetic. Thus a laborer is "luk can," the son of hire, and the thumb is "me mu," the mother of the hand. In this respect the Siamese resembles the ancient Greek. Hesiod spoke of the hand as "pentozon," the five branched (the modern pugilist's bunch of fives); of a snail as "phereoikos," the house carrier; of a cuttlefish as "anosteon," the boneless.

Against Perkins.

The Presbyterian Bulletin, the official publication of the First Presbyterian church, of Cranford, in a recent number, contained what was virtually an appeal against the re-nomination of Assemblyman Perkins. Perkins, antagonized by the local opinion people, cannot look to the liquor interests for support, for he stood in the forefront of the fight for the retention of the Bishops law last fall.

An Italian Custom.

In Italy they have a novel way of advertising vacant apartments. In place of the card inscribed "Rooms to Let" or "Apartments," a white cloth about the size of a napkin flutters from the casement, notifying the passerby that the rooms can be rented.

Snake Climbing.

A snake does not climb a tree or brush by coiling around it, but by holding on with its scales. A snake on a pane of glass is almost helpless.

JACOBS AT NETHERWOOD

"Singing Evangelist" from Brooklyn Tells Story of His Life.

362 CHILDREN AT CAMP

Singing a Feature at the Service—Special Gospel Singing Led by Mr. Jacobs—A Large Attendance.

Addressing an audience of more than 300 little New York children, F. H. Jacobs, the "singing evangelist" of Brooklyn, told the story of his conversion to Christianity at the Netherwood Camp yesterday afternoon with great effect. Mr. Jacobs, who is well-known to Plainfielders because of his evangelical crusades in this city on several occasions, attracted nearly 500 people to the afternoon service at the camp yesterday. He spoke simply and with great force of his own personal experiences, telling the audience, in the form of a story of how he, a German immigrant, came to this country and found employment on a farm. He was entirely absent from Christian influences, and the first years in this country started him on a way that would make anything of him but a Christian. He spoke forcefully of his conversion, which was accomplished by a sudden realization of the life he was leading. A German, known to the men on the farm, as "Uncle Claus," was instrumental in the conversion. Mr. Jacobs has been active in evangelical work since he was a young man. The lesson from the experience was shown by the speaker to be that God works through the simplest mediums, and that even children can turn others to the Christian life.

The service was largely of a musical character, Mr. Jacobs leading the chorus of children in the more familiar of the gospel hymns. The singing was especially hearty. Miss May Voorhees was at the melodion and Whitney Frazee supplied the cornet obligato. Mr. Jacobs sang "He Lifted Me" as an offertory and Whitney Frazee rendered "Jesus Saviour Pilot Me" as a cornet solo. During the service, two of the children at the camp, Mary and Helen Tudor, sang "Jesus Will Take Care of You," and Mary Miller sang the Glory Song. A collection, amounting to nearly $20 was taken for the work.

There are at present 362 children at the camp from New York. This is the largest number which has been accommodated at Netherwood since the work was begun, seven years ago. The conditions in New York city are such that there are scores of children and mothers eager to come to the camp in this city every time Miss Curry goes to New York. A delegation of some thirty children, who were supposed to return to the city with Miss Curry last week, refused to leave the camp with Miss Curry. Miss Curry accordingly went in alone, but brought out thirty-five mothers and children with her when she returned, making the record attendance of 362 at the camp.

Miss Dandy Buried.
The funeral of Miss Agnes E. Deady, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Deady, was held from her parents' residence, 522 West Fifth street, this morning at 8:30. VERSE WORTH READING.

A Game for Two.
Let us play that the world is bright,
Let us play that the day is fair;
Let us play that there is no spite
And that kindness is everywhere;
Let us play that I am a boy
And that you are a laughing maid,
That beyond us is only joy
We may journey to, unafraid.
Let us play that the things denied
Are the things which we do not crave;
Let us play that our path is wide
And that roses beside it wave;
Let us play that what we may claim
Is all we care to possess;
Let us play that life is a game
For a prize, which is happiness.
Let us play that the day is long,
That we've passed where misfortune
hides;
Let us play that my arms are strong
And that glee in your breast abides;
Let us play that I am a boy,
And that you are a laughing maid,
That beyond us is only joy
We may journey to, unafraid.
—S. E. Kiser.

The Far-Off Call.
If out beyond the city's farthest edge
There were no roads that led through sleepy towns,
No winds to blow through any thorny
hedge,
No pathways over hazel-tufted downs,
I might not, when the day begins, be sad
Because I toll among the money-mad.
If out beyond the distant hill there lay
No valley graced by any winding stream,
And if no slim, white steeples far away
Might mark the spots where drowsy hamlets dream,
I could, perhaps, at midday be content
Where striving millions at their tasks are bent.
If far away from noise and strife and care
There were no buds to swell on waiting trees,
No making birds to spill upon the air
The liquid sweetness of their melodies,
I might, at sunset be serene and proud
Because a few had seen me in the crowd.
Chicago Record-Herald.

Fate.
It had to be. We had to meet.
It is too late. You can't retreat.
You had to smile. I had to bow.
It was not strange you must allow.
You had to stop. I had to speak.
No explanations need we seek—
'Twas fate!
You had to blush. I had to talk.
You had to nod. We had to walk.
You had to hear. I had to tell.
'Tis thus the goddess weaves her spell.
And then, at last—it had to be.
'Tis very simple now to see—
'Twas fate!

We had to love unto the end.
A single path we had to wend.
You cannot go another way.
The scheme ordained you must obey;
We must conform with the design.
I must be yours. You must be mine.
'Twas fate!
—Town Topics.

And devour it with great glee.

Dogs pursue the rabbit.
And says it's just in fun;
All creation tries to get
Some creature on the run.
And man, despite his wisdom,
Keeps following the plan
Of his ancestral origin,
And whips his fellow-man.

Though peace that's universal
Would be a joy profound;
We'll have to evolve some more
Before it gets around.
—Washington Star.

Song.
Last night I made a mimic grave
Deep in the meadow grass,
Believing in that calm retreat
My spirit's storm would pass;
My weaned vision sought content
Where late had flamed the sun,
Night, with a mystic, wood-wind theme,
Her sympathy began.

But, oh, how dim are sun and stars
Seen through a mist of tears!
How dull the happy sounds of earth
To sorrow-defenced ears!
Love, at thy shining three costly gifts
I offer as we part,
A withered hope, a trust betrayed,
And last—a broken heart.
—Mary Coles Carrington, in Harper's Magazine.

How It Happened.
My Uncle Jim, he made a speech,
'Twas full of thoughts sublime.
Its mighty echoes sought to reach
The corridors of time.
And shake their vast foundations sure
With its reverberant notes.
And incidentally secure
My Uncle Jim some votes.

But when we stanch, determined men
Heard what he had to teach,
We found out also that the pen
Is mightier than the speech.
For, while we gazed with trusting pride
And craned our royal necks,
The rated foeman, just outside,
Was busy writing checks.

Behind the Hill.
O masters, say, where shall I find
A healing for each ill—
Nepenthe for the burdened mind?
—Just, just behind the hill!

Masters, where lies the Port of Dreams,
Sacred and sweet and still,
Guaranteed with exclamations and with gleams?
—Just, just behind the hill!

Masters, the house of perfect peace,
Where shall I touch its sill,
Hearing within joy's glad increase—
—Just, just behind the hill!
—Clinton Schollard in New York Sun.

Nice to Have Money.
It is nice to have money, but better, my honey,
To have what no money can buy—
The dimples that wrinkle upon the sweet river
When spring rains the rose from the sky;
It is nice to have money, but nicer, my
honey,
To have what no money can bring—
The love and the glory of love's golden story.
The lips of true love ever sing!
It is nice to have money, but money's not all—
For me the spring silver, the gold of the fall!
—Baltimore Sun.

Merry Failures.

Let ambition go to rust.
Hold that fame's a foolish pride,
Eat of husks for want of food;
But remember this, my son,

Troubles only mirth beget.
Take the edge from fortune's wrong
With the magic of a song.
Folks will say, observing you,
'Wish I were a failure, too!'

Pupil of John L.

At one time in his career John L. Sullivan, formerly heavyweight champion, gave lessons in boxing, but the average pupil lacked much of the fortitude necessary for John was a vigorous instructor. A young man once went to the great fighter and arranged for a course of ten lessons. At the end of the second lesson, pretty well battered up, the young man said he thought he had enough. "Enough!" said his teacher in astonishment, "why, you haven't learned." "I know," the young man interrupted. "But I'll tell you how it is: There's a fellow I dislike, and I arranged for this course so as to lick him in a fight. But on second thought I have decided it will be just as well to send him down here to you to take the rest of the lessons."

THE TOO FRANK PERSON.

Some Plain Truths as Set Forth by a Woman Writer.

We all know—and respect—and avoid—such persons; the world is full of them—too full for the general comfort of its other inhabitants. And frequently what they call the truth is not abstract at all, but is merely the expression of their own particular (and frequently erroneous) opinions. Yet as they utter it they glow with spiritual pride and feel themselves in the same boat as the Christians of the Catacombs and the rest of the noble army of martyrs; never realizing that their cause is no tenet of an inspired creed, but merely an embodiment of their own pet prejudices; and their sacrifices on its behalf is neither their own life nor wealth, but merely the feelings and the sentiments of other people, says Woman's Life. Such persons are very fond of remarking that they owe it to themselves to say exactly what they think; it never seems to occur to them that they likewise owe it to others to conceal what they think, if such thoughts be inimical to the general pleasantness and well being of society at large; yet surely they have never been taught that their duty to themselves comes before their duty to their neighbors.

ASTONISHED CHILD OF SLUMS.

Pathos in Little Girl's Exclamation of Wonder.

It was a case of the meeting of extremes. A beautifully appointed baby carriage, enameled in white and with all its fittings and coverlets of snowy spotlessness, was being trundled along an uptown street, says the New York Times. In it lay a pink-and-white baby, nestling amid frills of lawn and lace. Approaching from the other direction was a group of little Italian children, evidently on their way home from school. Dressed in heavy-looking clothes of every possible color, the only uniformity presented was the general hue of dirt, which seemed to be common to the clothing, as well as the hands and faces, of all. Certainly the contrast between the baby in the carriage and the children on the street—many of them scarcely more than babies themselves—could not have been more marked. Something of this seemed to impress the children. Pausing for a moment, they gazed at the carriage with admiring eyes, while one little girl, braver than the rest, peering under the hood to get a better look at the occupant, exclaimed: "My! What a whiteness!"

Elephant vs. Crocodile.

An African hunter once found a large crocodile hanging in the fork of a tree about ten feet from the ground. As the place was fully half a mile from any water, it was difficult to account for the crocodile's strange position. When questioned upon the subject the natives explained that it was put there by an elephant. It seems that when the elephants wade into the Lake Ngami to bathe the crocodiles are in the habit of worrying them and biting their legs. Sometimes when an elephant is annoyed beyond endurance it picks its tormentor up and puts it among the branches of a tree and leaves it there. —Tit-Bits.

Why Caged Birds Die.

"So the canary's dead, eh?" said a dealer. "It was a fine bird, too—well worth the $40 you paid me for it. But I don't wonder it died. You would keep it hanging near the ceiling. That is why so many birds die. They shouldn't be kept up high at all. Their cages should be on tables, not hooks. Up near the ceiling the air of a room is very bad, especially at night. Indeed, at night, if you burn oil or gas, the air is insupportable up there. And particularly in rooms where smoking goes on—you know how smoke, like all other impurities, mounts—it is bad to hang birds high. Why can't the world remember the old catch: 'Birds hung high ever die!'"

Good Location for a Doctor.

Two young physicians were exchanging news for the first time since their graduation from the medical school. "I was surprised when I heard you'd settled at Beech Hill," said one to the other, laughing. "I've always heard it spoken of as such a healthy suburb. I wondered if you'd find any patients there." "My dear man," said his classmate, earnestly, "it is a healthy suburb, but it is also the stronghold of football: every family has its automobile, and there never was such a place before for giving children's parties. I'm doing splendidly, thank you." —Youth's Companion.

Love and the Man.

Men are delighted to be told that they are never absent from the thoughts of their sweethearts, but the husband finds this consciousness a trifle wearing. As bad as the clinging vine is the woman who makes her devotion too incessant. She is never tactful, never conscious that he wants to be alone occasionally, never capable of making herself and her affections a novelty to him. And this is a fatal error on the part of any woman. —Exchange.

Napoleon's Famous War Horse.

Marengo, the famous war charger of Napoleon, is said to have been the greatest horse known to modern history. The emperor rode Marengo for the last time in the battle of Mount St. Jean, where the horse received his seventh wound. The steed died at the age of 38 years.

Bob went straight to Beulah Sands' office, I to mine. I had been there but a moment when I heard deep, guttural groans. I listened. The sound came louder than before. It came from Beulah Sands' office. With a bound I was at the open door. My God, the sight that met my gaze! It haunted me even now when years have dulled its vividness. The beautiful, quiet, gray figure that had grown to be such a familiar picture to Bob and me of late, sat at the flat desk in the center of the room. She faced the door. Her elbows rested on the desk; in her hand was an afternoon paper that she had evidently been reading when Bob entered. God knows how long she had been reading it before he came. Bob was kneeling at the side of her chair, his hands clasped and uplifted in an agony of appeal that was supplemented by the awful groans. His face showed unspeakable terror and entreaty; the eyes were bursting from their sockets and were riveted on hers as those of a man in a dungeon might be fixed upon an approaching specter of one whom he had murdered. His chest rose and fell, as though trying to burst some unseen bonds that were crushing out his life. With every breath would come the awful groan that had first brought me to him. Beulah Sands had half turned her face until her eyes gazed into Bob's with a sweet, childish perplexity. I looked at her, surprised that one whom I had always seen so intelligently masterful should be passive in the face of such anguish. Then, horror of horrors! I saw that there was something missing from her great blue eyes. I looked; gasped. Could it possibly be? With a bound I was at her side. I gazed again into those eyes which that morning had been all that was intel-

Throat of His Invalid Wife, His Daughter's, and Then His Own. All Three Died Instantly."

In another column:
"Robert Brownley Creates the Most Disastrous Panic in the History of Wall Street and Spreads Wreck and Ruin Throughout the Country."

A hideous picture seared its way into light and shade on my mind, through my heart, into all my soul. A frenzied-finance harvest scene with its gory crop; in the center one living-dead, part of the picture, yet the ghost left to haunt the painters, one of whom was already cowering before the black and bloody canvas.

Well did the world artist who wrote over the door of the madhouse: "Man can suffer only to the limit, then he shall know peace." Understand the wondrous wisdom of his God. Beulah Sands had gone beyond her limit and was at peace.

The awful groaning stopped, and an ashen pallor spread over Bob Brownley's face. Before I could catch him he rolled backward upon the floor as dead. Bob Brownley, too, had gone beyond his limit. I bent over him and lifted his head, while the sweet woman-child knelt and covered his face with kisses, calling in a voice like that of a tiny girl speaking to her doll: "Bob, my Bob, wake up, wake up; your Beulah wants you." As I placed my hand upon Bob's heart and felt its beats grow stronger, as I listened to Beulah Sands' childish voice, joyfully confident as it called upon the one thing left of her old world, some of my terror passed. In its place came a great mellowing sense of God's marvelous wisdom. I thought gratefully of my mother's always ready argument that the law of laws, of God's and nature, is

TO THE Prospective Purchaser of Diamonds.

We invite you to make a careful investigation of our stock, the quality and the values offered and compare them with those of other dealers, then decide as to where to buy. We believe our stock will win. We—being diamond merchants, and making a specialty of them, compels us to buy in immense quantities, thus we buy for less than others can. Isn't that logical?

Quality and Price

The two vital questions in your piano purchase are, first, quality; second, price. An unsatisfactory piano, in tone and action, is the most annoying article you can have in your home. You dislike to be expending money on it continually to keep it in playing condition.

Hallett & Davis Pianos give permanent satisfaction. Come in and examine our new Style B.

We are sure you will have none other than this piano.

The price $350.

JAMES C. POPE, MARTIN MANTZ, Executors.

He slowly rose to his feet. I could see from his eyes and the shudder that went over him as he caught sight of the paper on the desk that he was himself; that memory of the happenings of the day had not fled in his sleep. (He rose to his full height, his head went up, and his shoulders back, but only from habit and for an instant. Then he folded Beulah Sands to his breast and dropped his head upon her shoulder. He sobbed like a father with the corpse of his child.

"Why, Bob, my Bob, is this the way you treat your Beulah when she's let you sleep so your beautiful eyes would be pretty for the wedding? Is this the way to act before this kind man who has come to take us to the church? Naughty, naughty Bob."

I looked at her, at Bob, in horror. I was beginning to realize the absolute deadness of this woman. From the first look I had known that her mind had fled, but knowledge is not always realization. She did not even know who I was. Her mind was dead to all but the man she loved, the man who through

CLINTON AVE. TRIUMPHS

Local Nine Clinches Hold on Championship by Defeating 'Plains.

THE SCORE WAS 6 TO 4

1,000 Fans Witness Fine Exhibition—Randolph Was In Great Form.

Clinton Avenue practically clinched the Inter-City Amateur League championship on Saturday when it defeated its most dangerous opponent, Scotch Plains, by a score of 6 to 4, at the 'Plains. The contest was witnessed by nearly 1,000 enthusiastic fans. While the score was close it does not give an adequate idea of the fine pitching by Randolph. He was invincible, only allowing one hit up to the ninth inning. This was a two-bagger by Allen, but he died on third trying to reach home.

The home team had an off day and gave Hewitt poor support, several hits getting by the infield, which should have been gathered in. This, together with a decision by Umpire Felling of Brit Martin's left field drive in the seventh inning, which netted Clinton Avenue one run and took Martin to second base after two men were out, told the tale. The hit was questionable and many believed it to be foul. The decision threatened trouble for a time as it came at a critical time, the score being one to one.

Scotch Plains scored its first run in its half of the second. Frenz hit to left field, Schott dropped the ball and Frenz was safe. O'Loughlin tried to throw him out while stealing second and the leather went into center field, bringing Frenz home.

Clinton Avenue scored in the third inning. Hewitt gave Giles a pass and he went to second on Brit Martin's drive to left field and then scored on Baldwin's error at short of Emery's infield hit. Three more tallies were marked up in the seventh and two in the ninth. When the 'Plains started their half of the ninth, they made a desperate effort which gave the game a regular suburban finish.

Hewitt hit to short-stop and went out at first. Flannery found a safe spot in right garden. Baldwin fled to Schott in left and on an error of the fielder he reached first, but Flannery was doubled at second. This made two outs and left a man at first. Allen came up and placed a hit in left, scoring Baldwin. Frenz selected the same spot and scored Allen from second. Albert hit to Jack Martin, who fumbled the ball, and Frenz crossed the plate. Schreibeck ended the excitement which was at fever heat, by popping a foul fly to O'Loughlin. The score:

GOOD SCORES IN THE P. C. C. WEEKLY EVENTS

COURSE CONDUCTIVE TO FAST PLAYING—PARK CLUB COMPETITIONS.

Dudley H. Barrows marked his return to the Plainfield Country Club course, on Saturday, by making a score of 81 from scratch in the weekly competition for the Golf Committee cup. He was tied with Howard G. Lapsley for first honors, the latter returning an 81 with a handicap of 9. H. E. Butler finished in second place with an 83, while W. Lester Glenney took the one remaining point with an 84, one stroke being added to his gross score of 83.

There was a large field out to take part in the weekly competitions and as a rule the scores were low. The condition of the course is conducive to fast play and even those in Class B post good scores.

For the Green committee cup, for Class B members, W. F. Merrill won first honors with a net score of 76, while C. C. Burke, Sr., finished second with a 78 and Hugh F. Fox with a net score of 82 received the one point. Dudley H. Barrows, besides dividing first honors for the Golf committee cup, also won a leg on the scratch cup with a score of 81.

These scores were posted for the Golf committee cup:
Dudley H. Barrows, 81, 0—81;
Howard G. Lapsley, 80, 9—81; H. E. Butler, 89, 6—83; W. Lester Glenney, 83, plus 1—84; Henry D. Hubbard, 88, 4—84; Julius E. Erickson, 95, 10—85.

The scores for the Green committee cup were as follows:
W. F. Merrill, 98, 22—76; C. C. Burke, Sr., 90, 12—78; Hugh F. Fox, 97, 15—82; C. P. Hamilton, 104, 20—84; W. L. C. Glenney, 104, 19—85.

While a large number, for the time of the year, competed for the President's and Golf Club cups at the Park Golf Club, but few of the players posted their scores; just enough to count points for the trophies. F. A. Hubbard won first honors for the President's cup, with a net score of 76. E. A. Lyon finished second with an 88, while Charles B. Morse came in third with a 91. However, Mr. Morse took first honors for the scratch trophy with a gross score of 102. Mr. Hubbard and A. W. Kenworthy finished second and third with scores of 104 and 108. These scores were posted for the two cups:
F. A. Hubbard, 104, 28—76; E. A. Lyon, 114, 26—88; Charles B. Morse, 102, 11—91; A. W. Kenworthy, 108, 15—93.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

An electric light bulb past its useful days makes an excellent stocking darning.

If the fat in the dripping pan catches on fire, pour in at once a little milk, and the flames will be instantly quenched.

To renovate black lace, wash the lace in water to which a little ammonia has been added, then rinse it in strong coffee.

Porch tables that have become warped and dry by rain and hot weather may be restored to usefulness by covering them with common tea matting. Wind and weather will then have no effect on them.

Tops of fruit cans can be cleaned if they are placed in sour milk or vinegar and left until the mold comes off easily when they are washed in water. They should also be scrubbed with a brush to clean the grooves in the side of the lid.

Divorce Laws.

A man who has given the subject a great deal of variety says that there is a greater variety to be found among divorce laws of different nations than among the laws governing any other event.

First and Last.

At the Land's End, in Cornwall, there is a signboard hanging in front of an inn with this inscription on one side, "The Last Inn in England," and on the other side, "The First Inn in England."

Coal.

The total consumption of coal in the world is 50,000,000 tons an hour.

For the benefit of the coal fund of the Mary E. Wilson Memorial chapel, at Watchung, a festival will be held on the chapel lawn, Thursday night, August 22.

FITZ AS A RACE JUDGE

Pugilist One of the Officials at the Matinee Meet.

NOTEWORTHY PROGRAM

All the Events Closely Contested, and a Large Crowd Enjoyed the Attractive Card Run Off.

The program offered by the Fair Acres Driving and Riding Association at the matinee races, Saturday afternoon, attracted one of the largest crowds of the season to the Gentlemen's Driving Park. There were four races on the card, one pace and three mixed, and every one was closely contested. The entry list comprised a number of the best horses from this city and vicinity and they worked in a way that made every race an exciting one.

As an extra attraction, "Bob" Fitzsimmons consented to act as one of the judges, deciding to forego the pleasure of taking in the G. O. P. outing. Fitz showed that he was well up in horse racing and whenever the result was close his decision was found to be right every time. The other judges were Dr. Butler, of Westfield; David C. Smalley, Adam Blair, of this city, and C. M. Sterling, of Cranford.

George Conover's "Roanview" won the first race handily in 2:30 1/2 and 2:22 1/2. Mayor N. B. Smalley's "Aloysia" took the second race, finishing first in the first and third heats and running second in the second heat. The time was 2:32, 2:32 1/2 and 2:31 1/2. The third race was won by William Kingston's "Steve K." J. B. Guttridge's "Sidney Leland" giving him a hard run for the honors. The last race was taken by C. M. Sterling's "Lawrence D." in 2:38 and 2:41.

Next Saturday's matinee will be a strong attraction, as the prizes comprise eight handsome cups. The club is making great preparation for its Labor Day meet, when several money prizes will be offered.

The summary of Saturday's races follows:
Class A—Pace.
