LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Even were Shakespeare's glorious tragedy of "King Lear" to be acted here by a player of less consequence han Mr. Robert Mantell, the occasion would still be one of great interest for theatre-goers, for the play is a rarity, so far as the stage is con cerned. Edwin Booth did not find in it one of his best mediums, and acted in it rather infrequently, ever after his successful alliance with the late Lawrence Barrett, who, too, in his earlier days, had played the mad old king. Sir Henry Irving revived the great tragedy in London a few ears before his lamented death, with Miss Ellen Terry as Cordelia; but the play did not add to the great Englishman's fame or fortune, and was soon withdrawn

Mr. Mantell revived the tragedy in December, 1905, in New York city, in the face of discouragement from everybody save his manager, Mr. William A. Brady. Their faith in the scheme was rewarded promptly. The play was acted for seventeen consecutive nights in the Garden Theatre-an amazing run for a tragedy so fine and great that it had been regarded for years as beyond the abilities of any actor. Later, returning to New York in the following March, Mr. Mantell gave nine more performances as Lear. In November of last year, he added to the score by acting it nine times in the Academy of Music, and he gave four additional performances in April in the beautiful New Amsterdam Theatre, making in all thirty-nine performances in little more than a year of a play that had not been seen in New York city in more than a quarter of a cenury, save when acted in Italian by Tomasso Salvini and in German by Sonnenthal and Possart, respectively. Mr. Mantell will be seen as King ear on the night of Tuesday, November 1, in the New Plainfield the

Add Hoyt, known in the theatrical profession as the Man Behind the Laugh, will appear in connection with D. W. Robertson's famous moving picture company that returns to Plainfield for the twelfth time. In addition all the latest moving pictures and illustrated songs will be presented. The special engagement is announced of Harry Willard, piccolo banjoist. Paul Cohn, musical director and accompanist, and other

"Peaceful Valley," the charming idyl of New England life in which the late Sol Smith Russell achieved such remarkable success, is being revived this season by E. K. Martin, who has given the play a massive production and who has engaged a company of surpassing worth to interpret it. Edward Saxon, a widely known character comedian, is to play the role of Hosea Howe, and Carson Bradford, young Southern actor, s assuming the leading juvenile role. 'Peaceful Valley" will come here or September 27.

"Around the Clock," which is a omedy with real music, by L. O. Smith and Sebastian Hiller, is underlined as the next attraction at the theatre, September 25. "Around the Clock" introduces or rather further exploits the Ritchie capabilities and those of his London Comedy Company, who have been such a success and furore at the vaudeville houses all over the country. Those who raved and laughed over the clever antics of this inimitable band of comedians and comediennes will find endless pleasure in witnessing Around the Clock

The company that will present Richard Brinsley Sheridan's farce comedy, "The Rivals," at the New Plainfield theatre September 30, is headed by Joseph Jefferson, who is to be the Sir Lucius, and William Winter Jefferson, who assumes the role made famous by the late Mr. Joseph Jefferson. These sons of an illustrious father, will be supported by Theodore Hamilton, Eugene O'Brien, Richard Lyle, Roger Burnham, Blanche Bender, Roberta Bren-

Owing to the rain the ceremonies following the laying of the stone were held in the present edifice at Bidwell and Jackson avenues. The sermon was delivered by the Rev. Dr. Mackell, of Seton Hall College

The new building will cost $75,000. A real "college widow" has been engaged by Henry W. Savage to play the leading role in George Ade's musical play of that title. She is Flora Browning, a graduate of the Indiana University.

CALKIN WINS HUNORS IN GOLF TOURNAMENT

FINISHES FIRST FOR COMMITTEE CUP AT THE P. C. C.

There was a large field out at the Plainfield Country Club Saturday, but the heavy thunder shower which passed over the city the latter part of the afternoon interferred with the play to such an extent that a majority failed to complete the round and post their scores. There were a few that braved the rain and finished the eighteen holes. Leighton Calkins won first honors for the Golf Commit tee cup with a score of 84 from scratch, while Stuart H. Patterson finished second and Frank O. Reinhart third. The leading scores for the trophy follow:

H. Patterson, 96, 10-86; Frank O. Reinhart, 86, plus 3-89.

A. G. Henderson won first honors for the Green Committee cup with a net score of 78. These scores were

PARK CLUB WON BY

SCORE OF 10 TO 9.

The Park Golf Club team turned the tables on the team from the Middlebrook Country Club, of Bound Brook, Saturday, defeating its rivals by the close score of 10 to 9. Part of the match was played during the worst of the rain storm, and play was exceedingly difficult. In the first match between these teams had the first set 6-4, and the second earlier in the season, the Middlebrook Club team won out by a large score, not even permitting their opponents to score a point. On Saturday the Parks put up a better game, and being well acquainted with the course, were able to make their drives and puts count to good advantage.

The older members of the home team won the game, Rev. J. O. Mc-Kelyey, Dr. H. K. Carroll and Reuben Knox each scoring three points, while W. V. Byard scored one point For the visitors Willett Gano, E. Pettit and W. Sperling did the scor-As each team has now won a match, the deciding one will be played on the Park course Saturday, October 12. Sale of Lands for Unpaid Taxes

Collector's Office, City of Plainfield, New Jersev.

Notice is hereby given that the subscriber, the Collector of the City of Plainfield. New Jersey, pursuant to the authority of the statute in such case made and provided, will on at two o'clock in the afternoon of that day, at the said Collector's office, No. 151 North Avenue, in said city, expose for sale and sell the several tracts or parcels of land hereinafter specified, or any part or parts thereof severally sufficient for the purpose, on which taxes for the year nineteen hundred and six remain in arrears, to such person or persons as will purchase the same for the shortest term and pay the tax lien thereon, including interest and costs of sale, or in fee where no one will bid for a shorter term.

This sale is made under the provisions of the act of the Legislature of this State, entitled: "An Act for the assessment and collection of taxes," approved April 8, 1903, and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto.

Further particulars of the land to be sold, as shown on the City records, may be obtained at the office of the subscriber any week day prior to the day of sale, between the hours of 9 a. m. and 4 p. m., except holidays and Saturdays, and on Saturdays between 9 a. m. and 12 noon,

The following is a list of the several tracts and parcels of lands to be soft, which shows the names of the delinquents, the supposed owners thereof as the names of the delinquent owners appear on the books of the taxing district, together with a statement of the wards of the city wherein said lands are respectively situated, and the street in which each lot is situated, the block and lot number of each lot as they appear on the Official Assessment Maps of the City of Plainfield, on file in the office of the City Collector, and the amount due from each of the said lots respectively. To the amount due on each lot and parcel as hereinafter designated, there will be added interest at the rate of ten per centum per annum from the twentieth day of December, 1996, to the day of sale, and the fees provided by said act of the Legislature, viz. for preparing and publishing notices of sale twenty-five cents for each parcel of land advertised; and for selling twenty-five cents for each parcel sold; and for each certificate of sale, fifty cents, besides necessary disbursements for printing, postage, affidavits and acknowledgements, which are hereby estimated at three dollars for each item of arrearage, and the City Clerk's fee for recording report, ten cents for each parcel of land sold, and all said fees and expenses shall form part of the tax lien and be paid by the purchaser at the tax sale.

Sealed Prosposals for Sewer Bonds for

Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Common Council of the City of Plainfield. New Jersey, at a meeting thereof held Sept. 3rd. 1997. notice is hereby given that the Common Council will meet on Monday, the 7th day of October, 1907. at 8 o'clock P. M., at the Council Chamber. No. 151 North Avenue, in the City of Plainfield. New Jersey, at which time and place said Common Council will receive and open sealed proposals for the purchase of sewer bonds to the amount of Sixty-eight Thousand Dollars to be issued by the City of Plainfield under the Ordinance of said City, entitled "An Ordinance for the Further Issue of Sewer Bonds under Chapter CXXXI of the Laws of 1890 and Acts Amendatory Thereof and Supplemental Thereto." Approved May 16, 1906, and the Acts of the Legislature of New Jersey entitled "An Act to provide for drainage and sewerage in cities of this State." approved April 7th, 1890, and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto.

Said bonds will bear date the First day of May, 1907, and be payable as follows: that is to say: On the first day of May Nineteen Hundred and Eight, two bonds; and on the First day of May of each and every year thereafter, down to and including the year 1941, two bonds; said bonds shall bear interest at the rate of 4½ per centum per annum, payable semi-annually.

41/2 per centum per annum, payable semi-

nnually. Said bonds are to be coupon bonds and Said bonds are to be coupon bonds and to be in the form approved by the Common Council, and now on file in the office of the City Clerk of said City.

Upon the receipt of the bids or proposals the Council will immediately proceed to unseal same and publicly announce the contents in the presence of the parties bidding, or their agents, provided said parties or agents choose to be then and there present, and also to make proper record of the prices and terms upon the minutes of the Council.

The right to reject any and all bids is expressly reserved by the Common Council.

All proposals must be endorsed "Proposals for purchase of sewer bonds," and should include the accrued interest from date of bonds. A certified check or cash for 5 per cent of the amount must be deposited with each bid. No bid for less than par will be accepted.

By order of the Common Council of the City of Plainfield.

Dated September 3, 1907.

evenings the Miners' Retreat was a scène of wild hilarity, for it was then that Mr. Moffat was known to be com-of his fair and entranced listener. Then on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday nights, when Mr. McNeil rode gallant low, look here, men! If you want any more trouble, we're here to secommodate you. Fighting is our trade, and we don't mind working at it. But I wish to tell you right now. and straight off the handle, that you are simply making a parcel of fools of yourselves. Slavin has been killed, and nine out of ten among you are secretly glad of it. He was a curse to this camp, but because some of his friends and cronies—thugs, gamblers and dive keepers-accuse Bob Hampton of having killed him, you start in blindly to lynch Hampton, never even waiting to find out whether the charge is the truth or a lie. You act like sheep, not American citizens. Now that we have pounded a little sense into some of you, perhaps you'll listen to the facts, and if you must hang some one, put your rope on the right Bob Hampton did not kill Red Slavin. The fellow who did kill him climbed out of the back window of the Occidental here, and got away, while you were chasing the wrong Mr. Wynkoop saw him, and so did your school teacher, Miss Spen-

Then Wynkoop stepped gamely to the front. 'All that is true, men. I have been trying ever since to tell you, but no one would listen. Miss Spencer and I both saw the man jump from the window; there was blood on his right arm and hand. He was a misshapen creature whom neither of us ever saw before, and he disappeared on a run up that ravine. I have no doubt he was Slavin's murderer."

Now, you fellows, think that over, said Brant. "I intend to post a guard until I find out whether you are going to prove yourselves fools or men, but if we sail in again those of you who start the trouble can expect to get hurt, and pay for the piper. That's

In front of the hotel perch he met his first sergeant coming out. What does the doctor say about Hampton?"

"A very bad wound, sir; but not necessarily fatal; he has regained consciousness."

"Has Miss Gillis arrived?"

"I don't know, sir; there's a young woman cryin' in the parlor." The lieutenant leaped up the steps and entered the house. But is was Miss Spencer, not Naida, who sprang to her feet.

"Oh. Lieut. Brant: dan it be truly you! How perfectly awful you look! Do you know if Mr. Hampton is really going to die? I came here just to find out about him, and tell Naida. She is almost frantic, poor thing."

Though Brant doubted Miss Spencer's honesty of statement, his reply was direct and anhesitating. "I am informed that he has a good chance to live, and I have already dispatched word to Miss Gillis regarding his condition. I expect her at any moment."

"How very nice it was of you! Oh, I trembled so when you first went to, face those angry men! I don't see/ how you ever dared do it. I did wish that either Mr. Moffat or Mr. McNeil could have been here to go with you. Before Brant could reply his attentive ear caught the sound of a light footstep in the hallway. He met Naida just without, pale and tearless. Both her hands were extended to him un-

"Tell me, will he live?"

"The doctor thinks yes." "Thank God! Oh, thank God!" She pressed one hand against her heart to control its throbbing. "You cannot know what this means to me.' Her eyes seemed now for the first time to mark his own deplorable condition. "And you? You have not been hurt, Lieut, Brant?" He smiled back into her anxious eyes. "Nothing that soap and water and a few days' retirement will not wholly remedy. My wounds are entirely upon the surface. Shall I conduct you to him?" She bowed, apparently forgetful that one of her hands yet remained imprisoned in his grasp. "If I may go, yes. I told Mrs. Herndon I should remain here if I could be of the slightest assistance."

They passed up the staircase side by side, exchanging no further speech. Once she glanced furtively at his face, but its very calmness kept the words upon her lips unuttered. At the door they encountered Mrs. Guffy, her honest eyes red from weeping.

"This is Miss Gillis, Mrs. Guffy," explained Brant. 'She wishes to see Mr.

Hampton if it is possible." "Sure an' she can thet. He's been askin' after her, an' thet pretty face would kape any man in gud spirits, I'm thinkin'. Step roight in, miss."

She held the door ajar, but Naida paused, glancing back at her motionless companion, a glint of unshed tears showing for the first time in her eyes. "Are you not coming also?"

"No, Miss Naida. It is best for me to remain without, but my heart goes desirable result was rendered doubly certain, for as Moffat moved slowly past the Occidental on his way home a person attired in chaps and sombrero, and greatly resembling McNeil, was in the back room, breathing some final instructions to a few bosom friends.

"Now don't-eh-any o' you fellers -eh-go an' ferget the place. Jump in-eh-lively, just afore she-ehgits ter thet thick bunch-eh-underbrush, whar' the trail sorter-ehdrops down inter the ravine. An' you chumps wanter-eh-git-yerselves up so she can't pipe any of ye off-ehin this yere-eh-road-agent act. I tell ye, after what thet-eh-Moffat's bin a-pumpin' inter her, she's just got ter be-eh-rescued, an' in blame good style, er-eh-it ain't no go." "Oh, you rest easy 'bout all thet, chimed in Sandy Winn, his black eyes dancing in anticipation of coming fun. "We'll git up the ornariest outfit whut ever hit the pike."

The long shadows of the late after noon were already falling across the gloomy Carter woods, while the red sun sank lower behind old Bull mountain. Rev. Howard Wynkoop, who for more than an hour past had been vainly dangling a fishing line above the dancing waters of Clear creeks, now reclined dreamily on the soft turf of the high bank, his eyes fixed upon the distant sky line. His thoughts were on the flossy hair and animated face of the fair Miss Spencer, who he momentarily expected would round the edge of the hill, and so deeply did he become sunk in blissful reflection as to be totally oblivious to everything but her approach.

Just above his secret resting place where the great woods deepen, and the gloomy shadows lie darkly all through the long afternoons, a small party of hideously painted savages skulked silently in ambush. Suddenly to their strained ears was borne the sound of horses' hoofs; and then, all at once, a woman's voice rang out in a single shrill, startled cry.

"Whut is up?" questioned the leading savage, hoarsely. "Is he a-doin this little job all by hisself?"

"Dunno," answered the fellow next him, flipping his quirt uneasily; "but I reckon as how it's her as squealed, an' we'd better be gitting in ter hev our share o' the fun "

The "chief," with an oath of disgust, dashed forward and his band surged after. Just below them, and scarcely 50 feet away, a half-score of roughly clad, heavily bearded men were clustered in the center of the trail, two of their number lifting the unconscious form of a fainting woman upon a horse.

your sight, as a too strong glass "Cervera's gang, by gosh!" panted the leading savage. "How did they git yere?" "You bet! She's up agin the real thing," ejacuflated a voice beside him. 'Let's ride 'em off the earth! Whoop!' With wild yells to awaken fresh courage the whole band plunged headlong down the sharp decline, striking the surprised "road agents" with a force and suddenness which sent half of them sprawling. Revolvers flashed. oaths and shouts rang out fiercely, men clinched each other, strtking savage blows. Lumley grasped the leader of the other party by the hair, and endeavored to beat him over the head with his revolver butt. Even as he uplifted his hand to strike the man's beard fell off and the two fierce combatants paused as though thunderstruck.

"Hold on yere, boy!" velled Lumley, This yere is some blame joke. These fellers is Bill McNeil's gang."

"By thunder! if it ain't Pete Lumley," ejaculated the other. "Whut did ye hit me fer, ye long-legged minin' ackass?" The explanation was never uttered.

Out from the surrounding gloom of underbrush a hatless, disheveled individual on foot suddenly dashed into the center of that hesitating ring of horsemen. With skillful twist of hit foot he sent a dismounted road agent

spinning over backward and managed to wrench a revolver from his hand.

LILLIAN FORD FEICKERT,

EDWARD FOSTER FEICKERT,

7 29 9m Executors. There was a blaze of red flame, a cloud of smoke, six sharp reports, and a wild stampede of frantic horsemen. Then Rev. Howard Wynkoop flung the empty gun disdainfully down into the dirt, stepped directly across the motionless outstretched body, and kneit humbly beside a slender, whiterobed figure lying close against the fringe of bushes. Tenderly he lifted the fair head to his throbbing bosom and gazed directly down into the white, unconscious face. Even as he looked her eyes unclosed, her body trembling within his arms.

"Have no fear," he implored, reading terror in the expression of her face. "Miss Spencer-Phoebe-it is only I, Mr. Wynkoop.

"Oh, Howard-Mr. Wynkoop-it is all so strange, so bewildering; my nerves are so shattered! But it has taught me a great, great lesson. How could I have ever been so blind? I Press.

thought Mr. Molfat and Mr. McNett were such heroes, and yet now in this hour of desperate peril it was you who flew gallantly to my rescue! It is you who are the true western knight!"

And Mr. Wynkoop gazed down into those grateful eyes and modestly confessed it true.

> CHAPTER XXV. The Parting Hour.

To Lieut. Brant these proved days of bitterness. He had called twice upon Hampton, both times finding the wounded man propped up in bed, very affable, properly grateful for services rendered, yet avoiding all reference to the one disturbing element between Once he had accidentally met Naida, but their brief conversation left him more deeply mystified than ever, and later she seemed to avoid him altogether. One day he deemed her but an idle coquette; the next, a warmhearted woman, doing her duty bravely. Yet through it all her power over him never slackened.

The end of this nervous strain came in the form of an urgent dispatch recalling N troop to Fort Abraham Lincoln by forced marches. The commander felt no doubt as to the full meaning of this message, and the soldier in him made prompt and joyful response. Brant had learned of the consolidation of the hostile savages, incited by Sitting Bull, into the fastness of the Big Horn range; he was aware that Gen. Cook was already advancing northward from the Nebraska line. Now he realized that he was to be a part of this chosen fighting force and his heart responded to the summons as to a bugle call to battle Instantly the little camp was astir.

the men feeling the enthusiasm of their officers. With preparations wellin hand, Brant's thoughts veered once again toward Naida. He rode down to the Herndon house with grave face and sober thought. He recalled long the plainly furnished room into which Mrs. Herndon ushered him to await the girl's appearance-the formal look of the old-fashioned hair-cloth furniture, the prim striped paper on the walls the green shades at the windows, the clean rag carpet on the floor. The very stiffness chilled him, left him ill at ease. Then he heard the rustle of Naida's skirt and turned to meet her. She was pale from her weeks of nursing, and agitated for fear of what this unexpected call might portend. Yet to his thought she anpeared calm, her manner restrained. Nor could anything be kinder than her first greeting, the frankly extended hand, the words expressive of wel-

"Mr. Wynkoop informed me a few minutes ago that you had at last received your orders for the north," she said, her lips slightly trembling. "I wondered if you would leave without word of farewell."

He bowed low. "I do not understand how you could doubt, for I have shown my deep interest in you even from the first. If I have lately seemed to avoid you, it has only been because believed you wished it so."

There was an embarrassing pause, as though neither knew how to get through the interview.

"No doubt you are rejoiced to be sent on active service again," she said, at last

"Yes, both as a soldier and as a man. Miss Naida. I am glad to get into the field again with my regiment, to do my duty under the flag, and I am equally rejoiced to have something occur which will tend to divert my thoughts. I had not intended to say anything of this kind, but now that I am with you I simply cannot restrain the words. This past month has been, I believe, the hardest I have ever been compelled to live through. You simply mystify me so that I alternately hope and despair. Your methods are cruel. "Mine?" and she gazed at him with parted lips. "Lieut. Brant, what can you mean? What is it I have done?"

"It may have been only play to you and so easily forgotten," he went on, bitterly. "But that is a dangerous game, very certain to hurt some one. Miss Naida, your face, your eyes, even your lips almost continually tell me one thing; your words another. I know not which to trust. I never meet you except to go away baffled and bewildered."

"You wish to know the truth?"

"Ay, and for all time! Are yet false or true? Coquette or woman? Do you simply play with hearts for idle amusement or is there some true purpose ruling your actions?"

TRAIN AND TRACK.

One of the most remarkable railway bridges in the world is that which connects Venice with the mainland. Built on 22 arches, it is 12.050 feet long.

After many years of deliberation and delay Berlin has taken the first practical steps toward the construction of an experimental line of suspension or overhead railway, with the cars hanging from an elevated rail.

India will be the first country to attempt to put the mono rail method of locomotion to practical use. The government has granted $5,000 to Louis Brennan to experiment with his gyroscope trains, and he is soon to build a model car forty feet long and twelve feet wide to run there.

There is to be a generous cut in Tri-State League salaries next year. Each club will be allowed a monthly salary list of $2,600, except in cases where a club has a manager-player. Then it will be $2,800. It is said that only three clubs in the league made money this season, hence the decision to cut the salary list.

When the officials of the Inter-City Amateur League meet to plan for next season, it is to be hoped that they will consider a proposition to include Somerville. It would be a wise move for sport's sake as well as financially.

It is the intention of Professor Edwin Phelps, principal of the borough school, to have a strong baseball team in the school next year. He will begin early to get a line on candidates, and it is certain that the school will be an important factor in athletics from now on.

WESTFIELD NINE REFUSES TO RESUME PLAY AFTER RAIN STOPS FALLING.

After six innings of close playing, Trembley, 1b 0 0 Clinton Avenue got the decision from Freeman, & Westfield, in the second game of their series, at Crescent Oval, Saturday, by forfeit. The rain, and a difference of opinion between Umpire Dalley and the Westfielders as to the fitness of the field for further play, Flannery, If aused the trouble.

The rain tumbled down after six Mahaffey, 3b full innings. The score was three to Allen, 1b two in Westfield's favor, and the J. Alberts, cf game had all the marks of a gingery struggle all the way. about. Saturday brought out several men who had not yet appeared, and men who had not yet appeared, and the situation is taking on a more material aspect, for the coaches had started to deplore the scarcity of players. In order to get at the men searchingly the squad was put to work in three parts. Princeton's chief trouble this fall will lay in the development of a powerful line, so the coaches' efforts are concentrated in this direction. McFadden, the big guard, was moving rapidly today, and with him were Seigling, '10; Gilmore, '10; Buckingham, '10; Whaley, '09, and Ware, '09. Cox, '09, and Little, '09, who have been substituted in the back field, were out for the first time today. Rulon-Miller, the crack half-back, has returned to college. There is little chance of his being seen on the gridiron this year. Bowman, the ex-Yale star, who is coaching Hill School, was also an onlooker.

The coaches tried to teach the men to fall on the ball, turnover and land on their The daily drill for speed was acquired of all backfield candidates, and has been extended to include the line men as well. It is learned from the coaches that the onside kick will be practised a great deal, to be used in conjunction with passing this fall. The fact is apparent that so far there are no good substitutes for the positions at guard, conceded to Goebel and Brides. Dunbar, substitute centre, might be shifted to fill the vacancy at guard if necessary, provided Cooney is able to play.

Brilliant fielding, timely batting and Mundrane's work on the slab formed a combination against which the Scotch Plains A. C. was unable to score in its game with the Rahway A. THIS SPLENDID FALL MILLINERY SHOW.

Did you come to our millinery opening last week? Is so we can feel sure your friends will also come to see these beautiful hats—for there was nothing but praise heard on all sides-and no wonder, the praise was well merited. Miss Strohuber worked with unbounded energy-working by daydreaming at nights of nothing but hats, and Miss Strohuber has talent recognized by leading mil-liners in New York. Such energy by so high class a milliner in not only bringing out the newest, but at a moderate price, was bound to result in winning your approval. We believe those who visited this millinery shop will advertise Tepper hats this fall. New hats are being turned out every day, and you will enjoy to visit here though many of the first lot are gone, there are others in work just as pretty to take their place
