WARREN CHAPEL'S RELIC

Bell Used as Train Announcer
at R. R. Station to Call
People to Church.

ONCE WAS FIRE ALARM

For Quarter of a Century It Was Property of Borough Department, Being Gift of President Johnson.

The new Warren chapel now nearing completion on Watchung avenue, in the borough, will contain one relic of more than ordinary interest. The bell to be suspended in the cupola, which has just been presented to the chapel, is the one used a great many years ago at the North Avenue station to announce the arrival and departure of trains. After its usefulness ceased in that capacity, the town outgrowing such primitive methods, President John Taylor Johnson presented the bell to North Plainfield for fire purposes.

It was used by the fire department across the brook for nearly a quarter of a century, and was abandoned about three years ago when a more modern method of giving alarms was adopted. The old bell was found to be too small to be used in connection with the Gamewell system, and a larger one purchased. At that time William Debele took possession of the old bell and during the past three years it has been stored away in his barn. When the members of Warren chapel planned to erect a new place of worship, Mr. Debele thought it would be an excellent idea to hang it in the cupola of the edifice. Securing the consents of others interested it was finally presented to the congregation.

The bell has been removed from Mr. Debele's place and within a few days will be put in position at Warren chapel. In connection with the history of the bell, some have believed it was the one that was suspended in the old West Second street fire tower, but others dispute this, and the weight of opinion seems to show that the bell was never used in the city. It is about twenty inches at the base and weighs nearly 200 pounds and will answer the new purpose for which it is intended.

The Netherwood Fresh Air Association held its annual meeting at the Park Avenue Baptist church Thursday night. President Rev. E. M. Rodman was in the chair.

Reports on the past season's work were made by the treasurer, and the chairman of the house, entertainment, building and grounds and devotional committees. The officers and chairmen of the committees for 1908 are as follows:

President, Rev. E. M. Rodman; first vice president, George E. Hall; second vice president, J. D. Loizeaux and J. F. Parker; secretary, Benjamin Hadley; treasurer, D. M. Runyon; chairman of committees: House, Mrs. Herbert Henry; entertainment, Herbert Henry; finance, George A. Chapman; buildings and grounds, J. D. Loizeaux; devotional, Mrs. F. G. Hawkins.

Y. M. C. A. ALLEYS GO.

Swallowed Up by Enlarged Locker Room and Nobody Is Sorry.

The bowling alleys at the Y. M. C. A. have ceased to be. The enlargement of the locker room has swallowed them up.

There is no regret among the association bowlers. The alleys were the worst in the State; there was no runway, no room for the pin boys and the alleys themselves were in a thoroughly dilapidated state. One strip of board was found to be so rotten that it was unfit even for flooring. So there is no regret over the passing among the athletes; they are just pleased to get ample locker room.

Sent to Reform School.

William Kelley, Jr., of Westfield, alias "Young Doc," who not long ago stole $45 from Frutcheys' drug store in broad daylight, and who later confessed his guilt to Chief of Police O'Neill, was ordered sent to the Jamesburg Reform school for a long term by the court at Elizabeth yesterday. "Doc" has been identified with the light fingered brigade for some time, but the consequences of his last performance will keep him quiet for a while anyhow.

Business Men's Class.

The business men's gymnasium class will start at the Y. M. C. A. on October 7. The business men are to have a special and attractive locker room, with steel lockers, for their exclusive use.

Miss Tupper, of Kansas, is spending some weeks at the home of her sister, Mrs. William A. Conner, of Hillside avenue.

THE CZAR TRIUMPHS

Yesterday was another record breaker in attendance at the Morris-town horse show, and like the first day, Plainfield horses were prominent in the prize awards. While showing one of his horses over the jumps Charles Pfizer was thrown. There was considerable excitement among the spectators, though the rider was unhurt.

The first class of the afternoon was for novice horses, and was won by Charles W. McCutchen's Piccadilly Sweetheart, a ribbon winner of the previous day. W. J. Buttfeld's Miss Banahan won the blue over E. C. Rich's Amanda Baron in the class for single roadsters. Class 23, for saddle horses, saw the first appearance here of Miss Mabel B. Hooley's The Czar, a championship winner at the Philadelphia and Newport shows. The thoroughbred won easily over E. T. H. Tallmadge's Scott Montrose.

The honors taken by Plainfield horses were as follows:
Class 17, novice harness horses over 15.1 hands high, won by Charles W. McCutchen's Piccadilly Sweetheart; class 1, single roadsters, won by W. J. Buttfeld's Miss Banahan; W. J. Hooley's Dorothea, fourth; class 23, saddle horses over 15.2 hands, won by Miss Mabel B. Hooley's The Czar; class 8, pairs of harness horses over 15.1 hands, Miss Mabel B. Killing His Father—Batch of Other Cases.

The Somerset County's Grand Jury, which began its labors on Tuesday at the opening of the fall term of courts, finished its work late yesterday afternoon and was dismissed by Judge Schenck, having found twenty-six true bills.

Salvatore Sferia, charged with stabbing Pietro Romano at Bound Brook with intent to kill, was indicted. He was arraigned and pleaded not guilty. His trial was also set for Oct. 15.

It is understood that Richard Stryker, charged with shooting and killing his father, John C. Stryker, at North Branch Depot, and Servasio Di Giovanni, charged with shooting and killing Joseph Sansone at Raritan, were indicted.

Angelo Cardolan, formerly a resident of Peapack and who was indicted two years ago on a charge of selling beer on Sunday at his place at Peapack, has pleaded not guilty to the charge and his trial has been set down for Oct. 14. He disappeared after he was indicted and was arrested last week in Peapack, where he had gone in the interests of a Brooklyn jewelry firm by whom he was employed. "PEACEFUL VALLEY" IS
AS DELIGHTFUL AS EVER.Revival of Sol Smith Russell's Great Success Wins Audience
at New Plainfield.

Closest to nature and most delightfully refreshing of all the rural plays is "Peaceful Valley." Sol Smith Russell's greatest success, delighted the audience at the New Plainfield theatre last night. It is out of the beaten track of plays of this description. Its characters are not the stock puppet which have been paraded before patient audiences for so long under various guises. They are real flesh and blood persons, who do simple things in a simple way and who charm because of their simplicity.

The play has been mounted with lavishness and great care for detail. The setting of the third act reveals the interior of the "best parlor" in Hosea's house, and is a marvel of photographic perfection. There are a thousand and one little details in the arrangement of this scene which last night delighted the hearts of everyone who had ever been in one of those stuffy formal best rooms in a farm house.

Edward Saxon, the quaint character comedian who is playing the part of Hosea Howe, is a delightful player, whose speciality is eccentric parts and whose performance in this charmingly natural play has been favorably compared with the late Sol Smith Russell's. There is a melowness in his humor that is delightful, and he invests the role with a quiet dignity and a subtle charm that assist in making this production one of the most delightful of the present season. Among the supporting company is Carson Bradford, a young southerner, who plays the leading juvenile role with buoyancy and distinction.

Special Musical Service.

Under the direction of Clifford A. Braider, organist, a special musical service will be held at the First Presbyterian church tomorrow night. The program will include an instrumental duet, organ and piano. Mr. Braider and Miss Alice C. Miller, and the following anthems, by Macfarlane: "Art Thou Weary," "Prayer" and "Ho! Every One." There will also be a duet, "Love Divine," by Macfarlane, by Miss Anna Case, soprano, and Miss Jassamine Burd, contralto, and a contralto solo, "Come Unto Me," Hawley, by Miss Burd. This will be the first of a series of musical services to be given the last Sunday night of each month by the quartet choir. The anthems to be used are all by William Macfarlane, organist of St. Thomas' church, New York.

Miss Martin's Wedding Day.

The wedding of Miss Helen Sprague Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sprague Maartin, of Hillside avenue, to Henry David Bushnell, of Pittsburg, Pa., will be celebrated in the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, Saturday, Oct. 19. Mr. Bushnell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bushnell, of Central avenue.

JUDGE WARNS PARENTS

Will Enforce Law Against Those Who Allow Children to Run Wild.

NAUGHTY LADS THESE

Stole Candy, Chewing Gum and a Bicycle—Father Comes In For Individual Rebuke After Court
Makes Statement.

Small boys with lax morals took up most of the city court session this morning. Judge Runyon used the two cases in which they figured as a text for a sharp warning to parents of mischievous children.

The prisoners were Frank Green, George Blount and Walter Halliwell, who figured in raids on a chewing gum machine and a candy wagon, and Dominick Marra and Thomas Callahan, who stole a bicycle from a house on West Front street. They were all turned over to Capt. Irwin, of the probation office.

After rebuking the boys, Judge Runyon said:

"Parents of such boys as these may not know it, but there is a law for them as well as for the boys. Under the New Jersey statutes it is now possible to bring parents who allow their children to run loose without proper control before the law. Parents of precocious young ones, whose proclivity runs in the direction of thieving and disorder, will find themselves in serious trouble if they do not set themselves earnestly to the task of curbing the children's instincts in immaturity. The law no longer holds the child alone responsible for perverted nature, and I purpose holding the parents to strict accounting in every case of this sort that is brought before me."

"Lax regard for the responsibility of parenthood is at the bottom of many of these cases, and hereafter I will use all the power conferred by the law to hold parents to their full duty toward their children, or see to it that they suffer for failure. I decide this statement of the law, which may not be any too well known, to be as widely published as possible."

The judge had scarcely stopped speaking when Lawrence Greer, father of one of the boys, spoke up and offered to bring witnesses to prove that his boy was something or other—presumably an angel. He didn't get a chance to finish the sentence because the magistrate interrupted curtly.

"Mr. Greer, do you doubt for a moment that your boy was mixed up in this thing?" he asked sharply. Mr. Greer remembered that the boy had acknowledged being in the affair, and said he didn't. "Well, what sort of a father do you call yourself to stand here at this time, and attempt to uphold the boy?" demanded the magistrate. Green hastily retired to the crowd outside the rail.

VICAR DROPS DEAD
ON ANNOUNCING TEXT"MY SOUL IS ATHIRST FOR GOD" HIS DYING WORDS.

The London papers of Monday, September 9, contained an account of the sudden death of Rev. Alfred Love, a vicar often preaching from the text, "My soul is athirst for God, yea, even for the living God. When shall I come to appear before the presence of God." He sat in the vestry during evening prayer, too ill to take part, yet insisted on preaching what proved to be his last sermon. Rev. Mr. Love was a brother of Rev. Edward Love, of this city. His first curacy was in the parish church of Wakefield, made memorable by Goldsmith's "Vicar of Wakefield." When he left to go to London the Wakefield papers stated that the parish church was more crowded to hear the farewell sermon of Mr. Love than at any other time in the memory of the oldest inhabitants of the place. The last thirty years Mr. Love had ministered as vicar of St. Paul's Greenwell.

A great concourse of people listened to the bishop of the diocese as he spoke the last words of the service in St. Paul's church. The roads from the church to the cemetery were so filled with people that police were stationed at points along the route. The text of Sabbath evening, September 8, was a prayer. How speedy was its answer!

Honor and Edward Max, well Honeyman Best Man.

At noon today the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Van Doren Honeyman, at 54 Grove street, North Plainfield, was the scene of beautiful wedding festivities. Under a canopy of flowers their only daughter, Maud Louise, was wedded to Mr. Kent Bender, of Waterbury, Conn. The bride was given away by her father, and the ceremony, which was a double ring service, was performed by his cousin, Rev. William E. Honeyman, of Lincoln place.

The bride wore a lace robe and the customary veil caught up by lilies of the valley and myrtle, and carried bride roses. The maid of honor, Miss Helen La D. Jeffries, of Wayne, Pa., a classmate of the bride at Wellesley College, wore a white India mull robe trimmed with old Limerick point lace and a white hat with white plumes.

Miss Marguerite Lee, of the borough, and Miss Mary Zandt, of Jamesburg, gowned in white and wearing white lingerie hats, preceded the bridal party, forming an aisle with ribbons. The best man was Edward Maxwell Honeyman, brother of the bride.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served. Only relatives and a few friends of the family were present. Numerous gifts were sent to the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Bender will reside in Waterbury.

PARK COMMISSION BUYS
FINE COLONIAL ESTATE.The Old Clark Property to Be Westfield's Public Ground After Tuesday.

Clark's Lake, one of the old landmarks of colonial Westfield, which was at one time a part of the old Clark estate and dates back to 1734, has been purchased by the Westfield Park Commission, and will on Tuesday, October 1, be turned over to the town for park purposes. The lake is on North Broad street, adjoining the old Clark homestead on the right, and the Presbyterian church property on the left. The lake and the old Clark estate were last spring purchased by former Councilman Patrick Traynor. He intended to convert the lake into building lots, but the citizens of the town prevailed upon him to sell it. The money for its purchase was raised by popular subscription. The price paid was $2,000.

Five Prizes Out of Six Entries.

A. C. Bechstein, of Park avenue, was a prominent exhibitor at the Essex County Fair, held at Newark, this week, where he entered his Orpingtons and Japanese Silkies. Out of six entries Mr. Bechstein was awarded five prizes in all, two firsts, three seconds and one fourth. The show was one of the best ever held in this section of the State, and the fact that the awards were made purely on the merits of the exhibits speaks well for the stock entered by Mr. Bechstein.

Lunch Room Not Beneficial.

The P. H. S. Debating Society held its first meeting Thursday, when the question, "Resolved, That the lunch room is beneficial to the Plainfield High School," was warmly debated. Miss Sara Sanderson and Miss Eleanor VanTuyt, representing the negative side, won. Miss Louise Nichol was elected secretary of the society to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Eleanor VanTuyt. Several new members were elected.

The Somerset County Board of Taxation at Somerville today announced the tax rates for the various cities, boroughs, towns and townships in the county. North Plainfield borough's rate for the coming year will be $2.58 per $100 valuation, as against $2.34 last year. This increase of 24 cents is almost entirely due to the increased amount of money needed for State school purposes.

The rate in North Plainfield township is $2.40 as against $2.30 last year. North Plainfield borough has $2,762,000 valuation in real estate, $361,750 in personal, which with deductions amounting to $10,800, leaves a net valuation taxable of $3,112,950. The number of polls assessed is 1,233. The school tax is $631.376 and the county tax $20,364.03.

The valuation of real estate in North Plainfield township is $313,300 and of personal property $55,400, making a total valuation of $368,700. The number of polls is 155. The State school tax is $747.77 and the county tax $2,411.97.

In Bridgewater township the value of real estate is $4,838,703 and of personal $1,100,498, deductions $70,400, making the net valuation taxable $5,868,801. The number of polls is 2,580, the school tax $11,902.71 and the county tax $38,393.01. The rate is $1.52 per $100 valuation. The county rate is .66, which is four points lower than last year. The number of acres is 179,178. The real estate amounts to $19,303,436, the total personal is $2,836,267, which, with deductions of $201,306, makes a net valuation taxable of $22,929,381. The number of polls is 5,488. The school tax is $46,503.38 and the county tax $150,000.

SOME EXPLANATIONS
AS TO PAVING WORKWHYS AND WHEREFORES OF WORK THAT PUZZLE "SIDEWALK" EXPERTS.

To leave a way open for traffic, the concrete work on Park avenue, which is to be the foundation for the brick pavement, was "jumped" over a wide strip on the north side of Second street, yesterday. The half of the street concreted was dressed with a richer cement mixture to insure rapid setting, and will be thrown open to traffic on Monday. Then the other half will be concreted.

Contractor Meeker is still considering the advisability of using a concrete machine mixer on the job. The story, advanced as an explanation of the seemingly slow and cumbersome hand-mixing, that Street Commissioner Gavett objected to a machine mixer is not true in any degree. Mr. Meeker has not brought a machine mixer into the work simply because he hasn't felt sure that it would facilitate the work in any way. He has not given up the idea, however, and may decide to use a machine. Some of the "sidewalk specialists," who are to street work what rocking-chair navigators are to yachting, have been wondering why half of Park avenue has not been torn at a time, leaving a strip open to traffic all the way. The idea is all right theoretically, but it wouldn't work out to the betterment of the brick-laying. The scheme would leave a fault in the pavement. On Front street, where the car tracks divide the roadway, it will be done, as it was on Watchung avenue.

George Egel Resigns.

George Egel, who has been in charge of the soda water fountain at L. W. Randolph's drug store on West Front street for a number of years, has resigned, the same to take effect today. Mr. Egel will associate himself with his father in the butcher business. He will be succeeded at the drug store by Frank Stewart, who has been connected with the soda department.

Women's Club Work.

Mrs. Edward S. Robinson, of Westfield, a former president of the Woman's Club, and one of the most active workers in that organization, has been appointed to the important position of chairman of the program committee at the State Federation of Women's Clubs, to be held in Orange, October 25 and 26.

Surprising Reports Made at Annual Meeting of Netherwood Fresh Air Ass'n.

65,090 MEALS SERVED

Dean Rodman Re-elected President—
Treasurer Runyon Shows Balance of $200 in the Treasury.

Officers were elected for the coming year and reports presented at the annual meeting of the Netherwood Fresh Air Association, held at the Park Avenue Baptist church. All the reports showed that the past year has been one of the most successful in the history of the association, and much encouragement is given for the future.

One of the most interesting reports was that of the house committee. This showed that during the season just closed 1,860 children were entertained at the home and 49 mothers, making a total of 2,408. An idea of the amount of provisions needed to feed such an army can be gained from the statement that 65,000 meals were served, 2,856 quarts of milk and 1,173 loaves of bread were consumed. There was one case of illness, and although the child was so critical that it was believed she would die, she recovered. During the summer a friend of the association donated a piano, which proved of great benefit.

The report of the treasurer, David M. Runyon, showed that all bills had been paid and that there is now a balance of about $200 on hand. Miss Sara Curry, the matron of the home, presented an excellent informal report, showing the good work accomplished during the summer.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

President, Rev. Erskine M. Rodman; vice presidents, George E. Hall, J. D. Loizeaux, James M. Parker; secretary, Benjamin Hadley; treasurer, David M. Runyon; chairman house committee, Mrs. Alfred Henry; chairman finance committee, George A. Chapman; chairman builds and grounds committee, J. D. Loizeaux; chairman devotional committee, Miss Florence G. Hawkins.

MRS. JOSEPHINE L. POUND
DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS.Her Mind Gave Way Following Husband's Tragic Death.

Mrs. Josephine L. Pound, widow of George R. Pound, who was for many years one of Plainfield's leading citizens, died on Tuesday in the State Hospital, Trenton, where she had been an inmate for about thirteen years. She was one of the older residents of Plainfield and was well-known here. Following her husband's tragic death in 1894, her mind became affected and it was found necessary to remove her to the State Hospital.

Mrs. Pound was a native of Plainfield and always lived here prior to going to Trenton. Her maiden name was Josephine LaFetra, and she was an active member of the Society of Friends. She is survived by a sister, Mrs. James Merritt, formerly of this city, but now of New York, and a brother, who also resides in New York. Her former place of residence was on East Third street. The funeral service will be held from the Friends meeting-house on Watchung avenue tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Somerset Freeholders.

The Somerset County Board of Freeholders met yesterday at the stone arch bridge near the residence of former United States Senator John F. Dryden at Bernardsville and after viewing the bridge organized at the Somerset Inn. An appropriation of $350 was made toward erecting a stone arch bridge. The entire cost of the structure will be nearly $1,500, but the adjoining owners have agreed to build the bridge, and accept the appropriation of $350.

Lectures at Berkeley Heights.

Beginning a series of lectures to be given on the last Friday in each month throughout the school year, Mrs. Murray Frye, of New York, addressed the children at the Berkeley Heights Public School, yesterday. There was a large attendance of parents, as well as children. Mrs. Richard Hovey and Mrs. Craig, of New York, and William Jeffery, of Berkeley Heights, also made short addresses.

Katzenbach Coming Here.

The committee in charge of the tour of Frank S. Katzenbach, the Democratic nominee for Governor, has arranged to have him appear in Plainfield, Saturday night, October 5. It is not announced whether there will be a public meeting with an address by Mr. Katzenbach or not, but it is expected that an opportunity will be given those who desire to meet the candidate.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

The Orange Field Club will have a strong eleven on the gridiron this fall. Practice is being held regularly and the selection of the players will be made soon. The schedule committee is now at work arranging a strong list of games.

The prospects for a strong eleven at the Plainfield High School has never been better. The boys have been doing a lot of hard work since they were first called out for work, and everyone has shown up well.

Athletics at Yale University for the year ended September 1, 1906, according to a report given out today by the finance committee of the Yale Financial Union, netted an increase of $4,000 in the four major branches, as compared with the receipts for the previous year. While the financial year ends in September the annual report of the financial union is not completed until about one year later, which accounts for the fact that today's report is for 1906. Football showed a gain of $13,000.

Francis Burr, Harvard's left guard and great punter, reported for football practice yesterday on Soldiers' field. He is in fine shape, having spent the summer climbing in Switzerland. Waldo Pierce is expected to come out tomorrow, and then all Harvard's veterans will be on hand. Other promising candidates to report for practice this afternoon were Barney, who played centre on the team two years ago, but who has since been ineligible; Mason and Gary, who are candidates for full-back, and Fish, guard on this year's freshman team. The practice this afternoon consisted only of signal work and punting, at which Burr showed his old-time form.

Although the Michigan team has been at work but a week Yost's pupils put up a better exhibition of football in their first scrimmage of the year yesterday than did the team that went down to defeat before Pennsylvania last November. In about fifteen minutes of play the varsity, minus several stars, rattled the scrubs' defense for touchdowns, a beautiful forward pass and resultant run of forty-five yards for a touchdown by Wassund being the feature of the clash. Wassund, the former Lafayette halfback, was used at quarter throughout the practice and made a brilliant showing. His work in returning punts and in tearing off quarter-back runs was a revelation.

Funeral of Mrs. H. S. Edwards.
The funeral service of Mrs. Harriette S. Edwards, widow of Captain George Edwards and daughter of the late Rev. Jesse Pound, was held from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Henry R. Phillips, on Rockview avenue. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends. Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, rector of Grace church, of which Mrs. Edwards was a member, conducted the service. A quartet, comprising Mrs. Theodore Mantz, Miss Etta Yeager, William J. Tallamney and Joseph C. Martin, sang a portion of the service. The body was taken to Rossville, S. I., for burial in the family plot.

GOLF

C. B. Macdonald, of New York, the amateur champion of the United States in 1895, has been invited to become a member of the rules of golf committee of the Royal and Ancient Golf Club. The committee met yesterday and reconsidered its previous decision of September 24, only to ask the United States Golf Association to forward suggestions for the consideration of the committee in revising the rules of golf, and adopted a resolution in favor of inviting American representation on the committee.

In selecting Mr. Macdonald the St. Andrews Club has done so of its own accord, as his name had not been suggested by the United States Golf Association in the latter's communication sent abroad during the summer.

Daniel Chauncey, president of the United States Golf Association, said that, while the appointment was a surprise to him, as the association had not asked for a personal representative, the selection of Mr. Macdonald would undoubtedly be satisfactory. The latter has been a member of the Royal and Ancient Club ever since he was at St. Andrews University. It is also worthy of mention that Mr. Macdonald has twice been chairman of the United States Golf Association rules committee. As the matter stands at present Mr. Macdonald, who is not an official of the association, has no power to act, unless invested with authority by the governing body.

In all probability some official word will shortly be received from the other side concerning the selection of Mr. Macdonald, and then it will be time for action. There is to be an executive committee meeting in October, when that body will have an opportunity to go over the many suggestions that have been received relative to changes in the code.

Mr. Macdonald said last night that unless requested to do so by the United States Golf Association he would not accept the election to the St. Andrews rules committee. He added,

THIS SPLENDID FALL MILLINERY SHOW.

Did you come to our millinery opening last week? Is so we can feel sure your friends will also come to see these beautiful hats—for there was nothing but praise heard on all sides—and no wonder, the praise was well merited. Miss Strohuber worked with unbounded energy—working by day—dreaming at nights of nothing but hats, and Miss Strohuber has talent recognized by leading milliners in New York. Such energy by so high class a milliner in not only bringing out the newest, but at a moderate price, was bound to result in winning your approval. We believe those who visited this millinery shop will advertise Tepper hats this fall. New hats are being turned out every day, and you will enjoy to visit here though many of the first lot are gone, there are others in work just as pretty to take their place.

however, that it would give him great pleasure to be an official representative of this country. He stated that he would have to go abroad in the spring and could time his trip so as to attend the May meeting of the foreign committee at which the rules are to be amended.

The executive committee of the United States Golf Association may decide not to take any official action at present, preferring to wait for the annual meeting of the association, which will be held in January. At that time the question of rules will undoubtedly be thrashed out, and it would then be time enough to give Mr. Macdonald instructions, or at least empower him to show the foreign golfers just where, in the opinion of Americans, changes are most needed.

A well known authority on the game states that among those who play golf in the proper spirit there is little call for alterations in the code. He also adds that those making the most commotion are hair-splitting lawyers and wranglers.

Forty-two cards were returned in the thirty-six hole handicap for players fifty-five years old or over Thursday at the Apawamis Club. Dr. C. A. The winners of the gross score prizes were Dr. Carl Martin, 177, and W. H. Brown, of Philadelphia, 187. Two cups for the best net scores went to E. C. Converse and Dr. William Jarvis. H. P. Warren G. O. P. Platform.

Belvidere, Sept. 28.—The Warren county Republican convention, which Thursday nominated George A. Angle, mayor of this place, for the Assembly, approved the party's State platform; declared in favor of the preservation of one day in the week as a day of rest for all classes of workers; advocated a law creating a commission to regulate rates and fines on railroads and trolleys; urged an act forbidding the issuing of railroad passes to any one except railroad employees and their families; asked for an act forbidding railroad companies from owning or operating traction lines; an act prohibiting the watering of stock, or the raising of funds by any corporation in excess of actual cost of construction of plant; an act taxing franchises of traction companies for the benefit of municipalities, and pledged undivided support to both the candidate for Governor and member of the Assembly.

Members of the board of directors stated Thursday that the site for the Young Men's Christian Association's new home in Camden will touch on Broadway, Federal and Carmen streets, the association having purchased the Sharpless property.

POLITICAL NOTES

The Union County Republicans will get their campaign under way in a few days. County Chairman Frank H. Smith is at work arranging for several meetings in the county, at which J. Franklin Fort will be present. It is probable also that several meetings will be held at which Republicans of national prominence will be present, as Union is recognized as one of the counties where the fight will be closest. Judge Fort will be heard in this county probably three times if not more, twice in Elizabeth and once in Plainfield.

Daniel A. Dugan, a lawyer and former city clerk of Orange, has been appointed manager of the press bureau of the Democratic State committee. Mr. Dugan has been private secretary to Speaker Lethbridge of the Assembly.

DEMOCRATIC LEADERS

WAR OVER WATER ACT.

Leader Klenert Says Speaker Lethbridge is Dummy and Draws Pictures.

It has just leaked out that, after the House session of last Wednesday, Speaker Lethbridge had a wordy encounter, in which each called the other names.

Klenert sought to get the House committed to a request that the Senate send back the potable water bill, which Paterson did not want and which was shoved through the House at the last session by orders from Essex county. When the motion was put, Mr. Klenert supposed it had been carried. There was an uproar in the House, and no one heard the speaker announce the decision.

Later, Klenert learned that the speaker had directed the journal clerk to mark the motion lost. He approached the speaker and asked him about it. Speaker Lethbridge is alleged to have replied: "You are a dummy. You do nothing but sit in your seat and draw pictures."

WIFE BEATER SPANKED.

Bayonne Recorder Gives Husband Taste of Own Medicine.

A novel sentence was imposed upon a wife beater in the Bayonne police court yesterday, when Recorder Lazarus ordered the prisoner to be publicly spanked in the court room. At the order of the recorder Detective Hassmeyer grabbed the prisoner and in a jiffy had him across his knee. His shoes which had been removed, were used to paddle him until he howled for mercy.

The recorder, calling a halt in the proceedings, asked the man's wife if she would forgive him, but she refused. The prisoner fell upon his knees and begged her to take him back, but the wife was obdurate and refused to listen to his pleadings, so the recorder remanded him to jail.

The prisoner was John Morton. His wife, Mary, had him arrested for beating her. Both her eyes were blackened and her face was swollen, and she exhibited twenty bruises and marks on her body, which, she said, had been inflicted by her husband on Thursday night when he came home drunk.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

From the present condition of affairs, the $800 police appropriation, which will appear on the Republican ticket at the election held in November, should be carried by a large majority. This amount will provide an officer on duty every night and give the residents some protection. Putting a special officer on duty spasmodically has no lasting benefit. Everyone knows when he goes on and when he is taken off.

The summer season is fast waning and the summer boarders are beginning to return to their homes in New York and other places. The Homestead, however, is one of the few places which does not feel the effect of the exodus. The Misses Bouches' popular house is a favorite with those who enjoy the fall season.

Services will be held at the usual hours at the Baptist church, tomorrow: Sunday-school, 9:30 a. m.; morning preaching, 10:45; B. Y. P. U. meeting, 7:15.

Mrs. Elias Hyams and family, who have been spending August and September here, returned to their home in New York yesterday.

"The Gingerbread Man" is the attraction offered by Manager Counihan at the New Plainfield theatre tonight.

Rev. Mr. Diederick will lead the weekly prayer and praise meeting at the Methodist church tonight.

The local ball team is playing at Bound Brook this afternoon.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The masquerade ball held in Monroe Pyatt's barn was the success of the season, the floor being so crowded one could not dance with any degree of comfort. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Jackson, the Misses Florence and Mildred Johnson, Miss Fannie Mundy, Miss Pyatt, the Misses Randolph, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Elliott, Philip Smith, Wilbur Dorland, Andrew Conway, Arthur Randolph and Monroe Pyatt. Some of the costumes were unique and comical and caused great amusement. Two year men dressed up as rag dolls kept the party in a constant roar of laughter. At midnight refreshments were served, after which the dance was resumed until 2 o'clock.

Rev. A. C. T. Attlee will preach as usual in the Baptist church, both morning and evening tomorrow. Subject for morning consideration, "The Bible the Word of God;" evening subject, "Blind Bartimeus;" Christian Endeavor at 7:30, will be led by the pastor, topic, "City Missions."

A special meeting of the finance committee of the Good Government Club will be held in Temperance Hall this evening.

Mrs. W. E. Smith has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Wilbur Dorland, of Larchmont, Manog, New York.

Mrs. Andrews, who has been visiting relatives here, has returned to her home in Pennsylvania.

Catholic services as usual at Washington Hall at 8:30 tomorrow evening.

HOMAGE TO DEAD MAYOR.

Business Stops in Paterson While Funeral Is Held.

The funeral of Mayor John Johnson, of Paterson, took place yesterday, and was the most largely attended in Paterson since the obsequies of Vice President Hobart. The City Hall and church bells were tolled, and both public and private business was suspended during a part of the day.

After a brief private service, which was held at the late home of the Mayor, in Ward street, the body was escorted to St. John's Roman Catholic church. A solemn requiem mass was celebrated by the Very Rev. Dean McNulty, who was assisted by two priests. Dean McNulty delivered a brief eulogy on the life of Mayor Johnson. After the coffin to the Holy Sepulchre cemetery, where the burial took place.

ACTIVITY OF MILK

DEALERS SEND THE PRICE TOWARD THE MOON—TO ORGANIZE.

Milk and cream will be advanced in price on October 1. At a meeting last night the dealers decided to raise the price of the former from 4 and 8 cents a pint and quart, respectively, to 5 and 9 cents. Cream will be 14 cents a half pint, instead of 12 cents.

Slips explaining the reasons for the advance will be pasted by milkmen on their bottles. Higher prices of feed and labor are advanced as the reasons for the raise.

The dealers have decided to organize permanently. The organization will be effected at a meeting to be held shortly. A committee is preparing a constitution and by-laws.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

"Buster Brown," one of the master successes of the year in the somewhat over-crowded field of musical comedy, will come here Oct. 2. Buster Brown needs no introduction. Incomings, we all know his face—all the children have worn clothes fashioned after his. It needs only be said therefore that this is a third and all new edition of the musical comedy in every feature. The scenery, costumes, music and songs are spic and span with newness, while the cast headed by Jimmie Rossen, the little chap who fairly exudes mirth, is away and ahead of any yet seen we are promised. Buster should be largely welcomed.

Any child coming at the theatre between 2:30 and 4 p. m., Monday, Sept. 30, will receive a mask of Buster Brown free.

"The Gingerbread Man" will be presented at the New Plainfield theatre this afternoon and tonight by a strong company, including Jeanne Palmer, Misses Lillian Mattice, Rose Murray, Charles Gallagher, Charles Morgan, Gus Pixler, Charles J. Quinn, Eugene Kelly, Robert Parkins. The chorus numbers over fifty voices and is said to be the strongest from a vocal standpoint, now associated with any road attraction. Nixon & Zimmerman, with their usual liberality, have equipped this company most lavishly both as to costumes and scenic environments.

The Jeffersons will appear in "The Rivals," at the New Plainfield theatre Monday night.

NEW SCHOOL FOR RAHWAY.

Present Facilities Inadequate and Population Increasing.

The Rahway Board of Education Thursday night voted unanimously to build a new school and appointed a committee to secure a desirable site and plans for suitable modern building in which the High School will be located, as well as the meeting rooms of the board. Every school building in the city is overcrowded, regardless of the fact that two annex buildings have lately been pressed into service, the enrollment this year being 1,405, against 1,361 last year. That the increase will continue is evident, as thirty-seven new houses are in course of construction.

Amboy Banker Pleads Not Guilty.

His case will be tried on Oct. 8.

THE PENALTY OF FAME

By GEORGE T. PARDY.

(Copyright, by Daily Story Pub. Co.)

"But I came on purpose to interview you, and my editor will be so cross if you refuse to talk, and I can't make a story up," she said, plaintively.

She was good looking, and no doubt aware of the fact. But had she been Venus herself I should have pursued the same course.

"I am overwhelmed with regret," I observed stiffly.

"It's awfully unkind of you," said she.

"It's the merest self-defense," I responded.

"Now, that tiger skin!" she suggested, insinuatingly. "I'm sure a tale hangs to that!"

"Of course a tale hangs to it," I replied irritably. "Most tigers have tails. What are you writing there, may I ask?"

Only that your conversation abounds in flashes of brilliant wit, Mr. Horsford—that is all.

"All!" I groaned.

"I should have thought you'd have liked it, you know. Most people do. Now those lovely oriental vases? I suppose one of your ancestors brought them home from—"

"Bought 'em from a Jew!"

"Ah! you poke about in old shops. How interesting! You may often be seen, I expect, peering in the—"

"Never, madam."

"Oh, what a love of a cat! He's your great companion and friend, I'm sure!"

"It's the landlady's, and I kick the beast out whenever I see it."

"Ah, perhaps you suffer from nerves? Most poets do, of course. You must have perfect rest and quiet to—"

"I'm as strong as a horse, thank you."

"And you live quite at home in these lovely rooms?"

"When I can command solitude, madam, I enjoy it."

"Oh, thank you so much! I'll just put that down. It's so characteristic of genius, isn't it? You love to be alone with your thoughts, don't you? I know the feeling so well."

"You do not appear, however, to appreciate it in others."

"Not quite so fast, please; I can't get it all down."

"Controlling myself with an effort, I said in firm tones:

"I distinctly forbid you to put in a word about me!"

"Oh, there'll be nothing you can possibly object to, Mr. Horsford—there won't indeed. Do any of your family write poetry besides you?"

"Do any of your family besides you do interviewing?" I retorted. "If so, I should think you are an orphan."

She laughed gleefully and wrote hard for a minute or two.

"There, I've got that," she observed cheerfully. "Now is there anything else that you'd like to tell the public through me?"

I opened the door and stood with my hand on the knob.

"About your books, for instance. How much do you get for—"

"No, thank you," said I with emphasis.

"Or your favorite pursuits?"

"Good morning," said I, opening the door wider.

"Oh, Good morning, Mr. Horsford! Oh, who's that over the mantelpiece? What a sweet face! I'm sure it must be—ah, a secret, is it? Then I mustn't ask, must I? How very interesting, though; I must just refer to it."

"If you do—"

"Well, good morning. Thank you ever so much. I'll be sure and send you a paper."

Now the above is a full and true record of what passed. The following is an extract from what was published:

Mr. Horsford, when he is at home dwells in the daintiest of apartments. At a glance you can tell that you are in the sanctum of a skilled collector of objects d'art, and your host's deep blue eyes light up with a radiant smile. Over the mantelpiece hangs his priceless oriental pottery. The wall is decked with the skin of a magnificent tiger—the Horsfords have always been mighty hunters, and Mr. Horsford himself could handle a rifle as deftly as he can turn a sonnet. On the cushions of a luxurious sofa there reposes a splendid Persian cat, evidently the companion, friend and pampered pet of his gifted master. Over the fireplace hangs the portrait of a beautiful girl, and it is easy to see that this exquisite, artistic gem is not the least of Mr. Horsford's treasures. Space forbids us to catalogue the thousand and one delightful objects which adorn this choice retreat. The tout ensemble is fragrant of lettered ease and wide culture. Nor is the genius lost the whit out of harmony with the surroundings which his matchless taste and untiring diligence in the search for curios have gathered together from the four corners of the earth. Mr. Horsford's slight figure tells, indeed, of a delicate physique and of the sensitive, over-nervous temperament always associated with supreme poetic gifts. But the brain of the man imparts boundless energy to its frail tenement; the soul looks out alert, passionate, indomitable, through the large eyes, now strangely keen, now so ineffably sympathetic. Sayings full of penetration, hints of over-flowing sympathy with all the sorrows and troubles which afflict the world, mingle and alternate with the most brilliant flashes of wit or the rapier-thrusts of the most refined and courteous badinage. Mr. Horsford's, indeed, is a personality which must be encountered to be appreciated; for although he may be studied to some degree in his own private poems, yet the man himself seems something above and beyond even the finest of his work, a presence, an influence—a word—a soul, such as it is refreshing and inspiring to meet amid the grays and glooms of this prosaic age. Never shall we forget the delicious hours which Mr.

STORIES OF THE SECRET SERVICE

By CAPTAIN PATRICK D. TYRRELL.

STORY No. 4 The Biebush Band

Being an Account of the Capture and Conviction of That Notorious Band of Counterfeiters of Which Fred Biebush Was the Leader.

By CAPTAIN PATRICK D. TYRRELL.

The "shadow" carried on his investigation in the stores, in which Mrs. Thomas traded, and several instances of the passage of bogus silver pieces were found. I therefore decided some one should be selected to gain the minister's confidence, and almost as quickly decided that the one should be Woods. Before long the two were doing business together, Sullivan having been the intermediary. Woods and Sullivan planned to go to his house on one occasion for counterfeit money, but the preacher objected to the place of transfer. He also objected to the plan of meeting Woods in Bosse's saloon, because the church of which he was pastor was so close to the saloon that members of his congregation might see him entering or leaving the drinking place. It was arranged, therefore, that Woods should attend night services at the Morgan street church whenever he wished to make an engagement with the minister, and they could select a meeting place while the preacher ostensibly was exhorting the sinner Woods to repent of his evil ways and become a Christian. It was one of these occasions I described in beginning this narrative.

Woods reported to me that he was on such terms with Thomas that he could secure "oney" from him without delay at any place appointed. It was still necessary for us to place ourselves in position to corroborate the statements of Woods, and in order to do this there must be a witness to one of these transactions. Woods was instructed to make an engagement with the preacher to deliver to him a package of counterfeit money at the customary meeting place near the "Rock" church, and a few nights after the meeting I have described in Grand avenue between the preacher and "Harry" I became a witness to one of these deliveries, being stationed so that their every move might be observed.

The operations of the secret service related up to this point had covered months. I was determined to do the work so thoroughly there would be no chance of its coming to naught in the courts, as so many efforts to "settle Old Fred Biebush" had done. Thielens, Sullivan, Hargate, Evans, Mrs. Welch and the others were shadowed or "piped," in the vernacular of the department, with some good results. A continued watch was kept on Bosse's place. This surveillance, for one thing, resulted in our catching Evans and the Welch woman passing counterfeit money in small amounts. I was thoroughly satisfied this money came from dies made by Hargate, and, for the purpose of proving it, caused the arrest of Evans and Mrs. Welch and tried hard to get them to tell where they got their supply of money. Although they were the smallest ducks in the Biebush puddle, they stubbornly refused to give any information whatever as to where their supplies came from. The system of "piping" also revealed the fact that Hargate was handling 25 and 50-cent pieces only.

So far as the minor members of the ring were concerned, the net was being drawn around them in a satisfactory way, but Biebush was still well outside of it. The solution of this great difficulty at last came through Whalen, who, after being enlisted on our side, one day met in Bosse's saloon a stranger from southeast Missouri. The two became well acquainted, the stranger confiding his criminal history and desire to handle "oney." It is unnecessary here to relate the details of the deal which was consummated between Whalen and the stranger, whereby the latter was to "rope" Biebush. Suffice it to say that this deal was carried to a successful close, the wary Biebush at last being drawn into the net he had sedulously avoided for so long.

The facts as here related, with many circumstantial and corroborative details I believed justified the making of arrests. Fred Biebush had moved from his Stoddard street residence to a place acquired by him through foreclosure of a $2,500 mortgage 5 1/2 miles west on the Olive street road. It was a well-known tavern called the Seven-Mile house. Deputy United States Marshals Wheeler and Soest and I left the Lindell hotel in a carriage about five o'clock one afternoon in October, 1879, and gave the driver directions to go to the Seven-Mile house, where we arrived at dusk. There was a water trough in front of the house, and as I stepped out of the carriage to check the horses so they could drink, Biebush stepped out of the house, bare-headed.

In the dim light he did not recognize me, and I am doubtful if he would have known me had the light been good, as he had never seen me, except in the disguise of a river man at the Bosse saloon. Wheeler and Soest remained in the carriage. Biebush made a pleasant casual remark about the weather, and as he did so I stepped up to him and laid a hand on his shoulder.

"You are my prisoner," I said, "and you will please make no noise."

I pushed him firmly toward the carriage and into it, where the deputies immediately handcuffed him. His wife, a woman nearly as old as he, had come out of the house, and, seeing her husband being taken away, began to cry piteously. Her mother's sobs attracted a grown daughter, who came running to the porch and did what she could to comfort her mother.

While there was no possible doubt that the members of the nefarious business in which he had been engaged all his life, they seemed to take his arrest as hard as though it was not to be expected. The prisoner's daughter went for her father's hat and coat. He had wanted time to get these himself, but I had refused to allow it, knowing that he undoubtedly would make his escape into the woods in the rear of his house and be lost to us—perhaps for good. The venerable malefactor took his arrest calmly, as he had done when previously arrested, and chatted with the officers on his way to the four courts, where he was locked up.

The leader of the band in custody, the work of the night was only begun. I had determined to make all the arrests that night—or as many of them as possible—before the news of the arrest of the ringleader reached the others. Twenty-six years ago the telephone was not in general use, and other means of communication were much more limited than at present, so I felt that if we worked fast the chances for any of the gang escaping us were small.

In my detective career of 40 years I do not recall another night as lively as that one. Our next move was against the Thomases. To make these arrests we took Officer Weigman, as he was familiar with the minister and his wife, and with the premises, besides being an intelligent and trustworthy policeman. Arriving at the house in Finney avenue, I sent Weigman ahead to knock at the door. Mrs. Thomas responded. Weigman asked for her husband, and the minister's wife said he was out—she believed attending a lecture at Dr. Brooke's church, but she expected him home soon.

While Weigman was holding Mrs. Thomas in conversation Wheeler and I entered the house, telling Mrs. Thomas we intended to make a search of the premises. She was properly indignant, but cool. I ordered her under arrest, and placed her in Wheeler's custody. I then sent Weigman out to wait for Thomas, as it was evident his wife had told the truth about his absence. We intended, of course, to take Mrs. Thomas to jail, and as she was not properly attired for such a trip, I directed Wheeler to have her select such additional clothing as she wished to wear.

The preacher's wife was an Amazon in physique, and strongly masculine in disposition and action. She claimed to have been Mrs. Richard Pollard, a widow, when she married Thomas, two years before, having formed the acquaintance of the minister, through taking music lessons from him during her widowhood. There had been some sinister suggestions concerning the disappearance of Pollard, but I believe no evidence ever was presented going to show that there was anything irregular in the affair. We had learned a good deal concerning her physical bravery and determination while "shadowing" her during the previous weeks, and, while wishing to show her every possible courtesy due a woman, I dared not let

NOTHING BUT AMMONIA COULD STOP THIS FIGHT

PRETTY MUCH THE WHOLE WEST END SAW IT.

Not since Tommy Muir's South American donkey collided with a circus wagon on the corner of Grant avenue and West Fourth street three years ago have the residents of that section seen so much excitement as was witnessed this morning, when a bull pup belonging to Foster Johnson, of Grant avenue, and George O. Stevens' white mongrel engaged in an agonizing combat that lasted twenty minutes. According to old residents who watched the conflict, it was the greatest dog fight in local history. At any rate the cries of the combatants brought to the scene the members of Hose Company No. 2, many housewives who hadn't yet gone down town to do Saturday morning shopping and all of the domestics in the vicinity, who slipped out of the kitchens while their mistresses were absent.

The battle came about like this. Coal Magnate Stevens was on his way to his West Front street office and Foster Johnson was trimming his grass with a lawn mower in his front yard.

"Are you going to the Elks' ball game in Somerville this afternoon?" asked Stevens of Johnson.

"I guess not. I'm thinking about going over to Philadelphia and see Detroit," replied Johnson.

The conversation had gotten thus far when the Stevens canine butted in on the Johnson lawn. Just then the Johnson bull, which was snoozing on the porch with one eye open, assumed hostilities by letting out a series of challenging howlows that invited war. The Stevens dog was not to be nonplussed and made a savage lunge at the Johnson bull. Both dogs grappled. The ear attack was started by both dogs, and for ten minutes they rolled about the lawn tied in a bundle, so as to speak. The blood flowed and the yelping aroused the neighborhood.

Stevens and Johnson shouted themselves hoarse in attempts to get the infuriated brutes to desist, but their efforts were in vain.

"Christy" Manning, who lives across the way from Johnson, and who is considered a "doggist" and somewhat of an authority on canines, was aroused from his slumbers. The racket gave him an impression that the fire department was called out to extinguish a blaze. So not to be caught napping, he arrived on the scene in his rubber boots and attired in his brand new fire hat. Manning displayed great bravery by jumping into the midst of the fight, but he was unable to separate the struggling brutes.

"The only way out of it," said "Christy" to the owners of the dogs, "is to call out the fire department and squirt the hose on 'em. They will fight until sunset and then they will lay down and die."

Running over to his home for his fire trumpet, which saw service in the '60's in New York, "Christy" shouted to Jimmy Kelly, of Hose Company No. 2, who was viewing the excitement from the fire house.

"Jimmy, bring up three lengths of hose here double quick. There's a big dog fight."

But before the order could be obeyed Johnson collected his senses and ran into the house and grabbed an unopened bottle of ammonia, which he had purchased in the spring with the intention of killing off the potato bugs in his garden. With the neck broken off in a jiffy the contents were dashed into the faces of the dogs. With a few sullen growls, the dogs loosened their hold and backed off, and the fight was over. "Christy" Manning, after looking carefully over the mangled brutes, officially declared the battle a draw. The Johnson dog slunk away to his coop in the back yard, while the Stevens' pup followed his master to the coal yard.

The crowd yawned big sighs of relief. The housewives returned to their kitchens to complete the unfinished puddings and pies for Sunday dinner and Mr. Johnson went about his grass cutting.

A plan has been suggested for the moving of St. Stephen's College from Annandale, N. Y., to a new site to be assigned it on the grounds of the Episcopal Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at or near Amsterdam avenue and 110th street, New York city. A special committee of the trustees of the college, with Bishop Greer as chairman, is now considering the proposal. HOBOKEN MAN MURDERED IN QUARREL OVER WEIGHT.

William Harms' Windpipe Cut by Companion Whom He Attacked.

Henry Harms, 22 years old, of 509 First street, Hoboken, was murdered yesterday during a quarrel with a friend over his weight. Harms and four companions went out last night, and while drinking this morning started a discussion as to the weight of Ernest Preusch, of 113 Charlton street, New York, who was one of the party.

Preusch bet Harms $5 that he could tip the scale at 157. He weighed himself, and when the scale only registered 149 refused to pay the bet. According to three brothers, Hermann, Charles and Henry Hoops, who comprised the balance of the party, Harms attacked Preusch with his fists, and when driven to bay Preusch drew a pocket knife and stabbed Harms in the windpipe.

Harms died on the way to St. Mary's Hospital. The four others in the party were arrested while attempting to board a ferryboat for New York. Preusch was held by Recorder Stanton on a charge of murder, and the three brothers, Hoops, were held as witnesses.

"CENTRAL PARK" Was Is Will Be

IT WAS, only about a year ago, just a pretty farm. IT IS to day the finest building site in Plainfield, with broad avenues macadamized their entire width, concrete curb, sidewalks, trees, gas, electric light, in fact all improvements. Nearly $100,000 expended in new and handsome dwellings, now ready for the market.

WHAT IT WILL BE we hardly dare predict, with contracts out for even more extensive improvements and twelve more handsome residences.

Central Park is that beautifully situated tract bounded by Park, Prospect, Hillside and Thornton Avenues.

DIG UP OLD PAVE.

Wooden Blocks Laid In the Sixties Come to Light.

In tearing up Park avenue, to prepare for the new pavement, the working men brought to light some of the wooden blocks laid years ago—the original "permanent pavement" of Plainfield. The blocks, cut from green hemlock and spruce, were laid in the sixties, from North avenue to Somerset street, on a bed of tar laid on planks.

The blocks are in good condition yet, for the most part. Old residents who noticed them come again to light smiled at the memories of bygone days. Plainfield thought she was moving swiftly toward metropolitan frills when the old blocks were laid.

Death Led to Surrender.

Michael Motley, against whom a warrant for disorderly conduct was sworn out by Joseph Manhattan several weeks ago, surrendered himself at the station house this morning. His mother had just died, and he wanted to feel free from pursuit at such a time. Chief Kiely told Judge Runyon that Motley had been a faithful son, in spite of a tendency to drink, and the magistrate promptly quashed the charge.
