JERSEY DAY AT BIG FAIR

Four Governors Attend the State's Celebration at the Jamestown Exposition.

A MILITARY PAGEANT

Rev. Dr. Demarest Delivers the Oration—Governor Stokes Makes an Address.

Marked by the presence of the governors of four states and with ideal weather, New Jersey Day was fittingly observed yesterday at the Jamestown exposition. Governor Stokes, accompanied by the new Jersey Senators, Representatives in Congress and prominent state officials, participated.

The day's exercises were held at the Lee Parade reviewing stand, from which Governor Stokes and his party witnessed a military parade. Upon the reviewing stand with Governor Stokes were President Tucker of the exposition company and Governor Swanson, of Virginia, the former of whom delivered an address of welcome; Governor Woodruff, of Connecticut; Governor Culler of Utah and the New Jersey party. President Breckinridge of the New Jersey Commission presided, and the response to the address of welcome was by Governor Stokes. The oration of the day was by Dr. Demarest, president Rutgers College, New Brunswick, N. J.

An official luncheon to the distinguished guests followed the exercises. The official reception by the New Jersey Jamestown Commission to Governor Stokes took place in the afternoon at the New Jersey Building, with the several state governors attending.

LAWYERS SECURED IN RELATIONSHIP FIGHT

Fighting to maintain her right to William Waller's bank account and insurance by proving herself his wife, Maggie Bell, whose efforts to secure possession of the dead man's body and complete her own arrangements for the funeral were combated by Mrs. Emily Warren, the man's mother, yesterday, has retained W. A. Coddington as her counsel in the fight which she started yesterday.

Mrs. Waller, confident that no marriage ceremony was ever performed, has secured William G. DeMeza to look after her end of the case. The rivalry of Maggie Bell and Mrs. Waller for the possession of the body finally resulted in Mrs. Waller's victory. She gave the job to Undertaker T. A. Moore, who immediately took charge of the funeral arrangements. His rivalry with Henry DeMott in getting the job was the talk of the colored folk yesterday. The interment will be at Waller's old home in Virginia, and was sent south this afternoon.

Maggie Bell's claim to relationship rests entirely on the wording of a couple of insurance policies in the Metropolitan and Washington Insurance companies. In the transfer of these policies to her name some time ago, Waller had her name inserted on the policies as Maggie Waller, wife of the man insured. This claim is her best reason for desiring to control the funeral of Waller. DeMeza has made an investigation of the matter and is unable to find the proof of the wedding. Nothing has been heard from Troy Gibson, who is the husband of Maggie, living in Rahway. "Darktown," in the neighborhood of Waller's Race street home, is still discussing and debating the question of relationship, and careful watch is being kept for any developments in the contest between mother and alleged daughter-in-law.

The lecturer is a graduate of Oxford University and an associate of the Royal College of Organists, London, England. He is a man of remarkable skill and facility in extemporizing and illustrated on the piano the principles of which he spoke.

Mrs. Horne's Funeral.
The funeral of Mrs. Jane M. Horne, which occurred Wednesday night, will be held at the home of her nephew, Charles E. Horne, of Willow avenue, tomorrow morning at 10.30. Mrs. Horne was in her eighty-second year.

Rev. John Waugh, of Brooklyn, will conduct an evangelistic meeting at the Christian church on Sunday night, October 27. His talk will be illustrated with 300 dissolving views.

CLANS HAVE GATHERED

Mrs. Corlies' Workers Gather in the Coin at the Casino for "Sweet Charity".

THROUGH THE BOOTHS

BB Runyon's Minstrels Make Big Hit—Living Pictures Are Good—Some of the Good Things.

In "The Gathering of the Clans," which has opened at the Casino yesterday afternoon, for the benefit of Muhlenberg Hospital, the women of Plainfield and North Plainfield, who have undertaken this somewhat novel method of raising funds, have set a pace which it will be difficult to eclipse in the future. All the ingenuity of which ambitious woman is capable has been brought into use in such a way that nothing but success can crown the earnest efforts of those who are working and planning so hard for the maintenance of the hospital.

The popular play house has been transformed into a place of beauty for a week at least, and nothing has been left undone to attract the people of Plainfield and vicinity. Mrs. Joan Edgar Corlies and Mrs. Charles A. Reed upon whom great responsibility has been placed in bringing the "Clans" together, are being ably assisted by hundreds of women from the city and borough.

The opening day and night witnessed the gathering of a large number of people, and everyone of the numerous booths and outdoor attractions were liberally patronized, so much so that those in charge are greatly encouraged. There are many novel features and a patron of the affair need not feel lonesome for one minute. There is something to interest one continually from the time they enter the grounds.

The whole Casino is given up to an unusually attractive lot of booths. In the main hall there are to be found fancy articles, books, stationery, boots and shoes, confectionery, potted plants and flowers, dolls, etc., all arranged in a way that is pleasing to the fancy. The rooms in the other part of the building are devoted to the sale of the more common articles used in every household, preserves, jellies, cigars, cigarettes, tobaccos, while in the basement an attractive supper room has been arranged where for a nominal sum one can get a fine supper.

In another part of the building, where there was a rushing business last night, Welsh rabbit is served in a most appetizing way.

So much for the attractions indoors. But the Casino grounds remind one of the famous "Midway" at one of the world's fairs. All sorts of entertainment is offered from the throwing the rings on the canes, to the fine minstrel show presented by Judge William N. Runyon and his incomparable company of artists, as well as the fortune telling by Mme. Sticku and the delicious pancakes served by Joseph M. Shellabarger and his assistants to say nothing of the hot dog men, in the persons of Harry L. Hall and Lewis G. Timpon, whose persuasive manners cannot be resisted. They are ably assisted by B. Collins Firstbrook, who is an adept at "barking."

One of the most noteworthy attractions last night was the entertainment given in the large hall under the direction of Mrs. Frederick H. Andrews. This comprised living pictures and they were enthusiastically received by the crowd. The representations were so true that it would have puzzled an expert to detect the difference. The objects and those who represented them follow: "Lady with the Muff," Le Brun, Miss Mattie Hyde; "The Chrystal," Henner, Miss Bakewell; "Beatrice D'Este," DaVinci, Miss Margaret Mead; "Pocahontas," Miss Margaret Van Deventer; "The Broken Pitcher," Greuze, Miss Dorothy Fiske; "The Bowl of Oranges," George Wharton Edwards, Miss Helen Timpon; "Ruth," Miss Eva Browne; "The Maid of the Manor," Volk, Mrs. William De Laney; "Lady Hamilton," Miss Anna G. Fisk. These same pictures will be given tomorrow night at 10 o'clock, while tonight there will be a change of program under the direction of Mrs. L. W. Serrell, called "A Comedy in Actions."

Considerable interest is shown in the handsome $300 oil painting by George Wharton Edwards, the artist, entitled "Sunny Hour." It was greatly admired last night by the throng.

The biggest attraction on the grounds and one that made a decided hit last night, was Judge Runyon's "Senegambian Songsters and Ethiopian Exponents, or in other words, full-fledged minstrel show. Judge Runyon is "orchestra" leader and the members

IST METHODISTS BANQUET

Ministers and Laymen Guests of Men's Club of the Celebrating Congregation.

SOME FINE SPEECHES

Rev. Dr. Snodgrass, S. S. Swackhamer, Dr. J. R. Joy and Others Give Brief Talks.

Gathered around a banquet table in Vincent Chapel last night, a big company of First M. E. Church members listened to informal speeches on church life and the growth of the church, given by clergy and laymen prominent in local Methodism. The occasion was the anniversary banquet of the church, forming a feature of the Methodists' diamond jubilee long to be remembered; the brotherhood of the church was in charge of the affair and the room was decorated with autumn leaves, a large American flag forming the background to the speakers' table. Covers were laid for seventy-five.

The table was in the shape of a mammoth horse shoe, the speakers occupying seats at the "toe," where was the genial toastmaster, Samuel Bingham, chairman of the committee in charge of the affair. Sprays of flaming oak leaves, strewn down the center of the long table formed effective decoration and the place cards were paper-mache autumn leaves.

The evening's speeches were in general in the topic, "The Church," and its various parts were dealt with by the eight speakers of the evening. After the coffee and cheese, Toastmaster Bingham rose and spoke with regret of the absence of Nelson A. Miller, president of the brotherhood, whom business kept from attending, and Rev. George H. Whitney, who was not well enough to be present. Dr. Whitney was to have replied to the toast: "The Church, Its Foundation and Founders," but in his absence, the next toast, "The Church, Its Chapel," was called, and Superintendent James R. Joy of the Sunday-school, responded. Mr. Joy's speech was based on the etymology of the word "chapel"; his "firstly" was "chap," defined and first used in application to a follower of John Wesley, in 1750. The "secondly" of his speech-sermon, the "el" was the ell of an old New England farmhouse, the center of interest for the young people, according to incidents of his boyhood. Summarily he said that the chapel was the organization behind the church where young men, or "caps," first entered upon the activities of church work.

A strong speech was Rev. E. E. Roberson's response to the next toast, "Its Pulpit." The Monroe avenue pastor referred to the pulpit as the center of the church power and discussed its place in the present age. He spoke of present day pulpit fanaticism, and said that the pulpit should be the place where courageous, broad-minded men of backbone make a business of attacking sin. He spoke also of the power of the laity in helping the preacher by sympathy with his cause and cooperation in sustaining his efforts. Henry A. McGee was the next speaker. He spoke of the church pew, saying that the pew should work with the pulpit and act as a support to it. The spirituality of the church should be mental, not the "Hallelujah" demonstrativeness. At the conclusion of this speech, a quartet, composed of Louis Olsen, Barton, Carl Gallup, Vincent B. Miner and Choirmaster J. Edmund Skiff sang two selections.

Greeted with applause as he rose in his chair, Rev. W. C. Snodgrass, whom Dr. McGee succeeded in the parish, spoke on the pillars of the Church. This is his only share in the celebration, for parish work in his Perth Amboy Church has kept him from the anniversary exercises. He said that the real element of strength in church work as in church architecture lie in the pillars of the church—"men and women who walk on the earth, but whose spirits touch the skies." He attributed the success of the church since its foundation to the efforts of such church pillars and concluded with heartfelt best wishes for the success of the parish.

An element of humor enlivened the next speech, by Former Assemblyman S. S. Swackhamer. His toast was "The Tower Clock," but from force of habit he started off with "Fellow citizens" and had begun to summarize the "issues of the present campaign" when he remembered himself. His speech was a delicious mental vacation, "wild word-painting in a blood-shot tone of voice," but in his effort to "come in on the home stretch" he left some good thoughts, comparing the human life to a clock and concluding with an appeal to all to "work under

ANOTHER SUB-CONTRACTOR CAUSES TROUBLE FOR CITY

Determined that the permanent pavement work shall not be delayed beyond a reasonable length of time, City Engineer Gayett started the work of laying brick on Park avenue, between the railroad and Fourth street, this morning. David Bowden, who is connected with the street department is temporarily in charge of the work and Contractor Meeker's men are laying brick.

This action was taken because of the failure of Sub-Contractor Foley, to whom the contract of laying the brick, has not returned to Plainfield since he left here last Saturday. Mr. Meeker has been endeavoring to get in communication with Mr. Foley, but up to today had failed. He expected that he would be back here early this week to continue his work. Park avenue being a busy thoroughfare Mr. Gayett is especially anxious that the work be finished at the earliest possible date, as is also Mr. Meeker.

In speaking of the matter this morning, Mr. Gayett said that he believed Contractor Foley and his men were busy elsewhere and were unable to return here as promptly as desired. The patent mixer in use on Somerset street broke down again yesterday and was still out of commission today. The concrete for the foundation is now mixed by the hand process and good progress is being made. By tomorrow that thoroughfare should be ready for the laying of brick.

BOROUGH FIREMEN MAKE GOOD SHOWING IN LINE

Cheered by more than 30,000 persons who took part in the mammoth firemen's carnival at Perth Amboy last night, the Warren Engine Company, thirty-two men strong, commanded by L. B. Bodine and preceded by the Independent Fire and Drum Corps, made an excellent appearance in line yesterday. They did not land the prize, however, for other companies in line had newer, slicker looking uniforms. In the drilling, however, the local company were the top notchers. The combination wagon from the borough headquarters, drawn by "Nip" and "Tuck," was driven by Lieutenant Elden Smalley and William Gaub was with the apparatus. The other members of the local department marched in line with the Washington Hose Company, which had a big turnout.

The parade was a long one and the firemen marched from 11 o'clock until 4, when the contests took place. The local apparatus did not get back to headquarters till nearly midnight. In the parade volunteer firemen from all towns and villages in this section of the country and from elsewhere took part. In the line of march were about 3,000 men, representing companies from South Amboy, Woodbridge, Port Reading, Roosevelt, New Brunswick, North Plainfield, Summit, Long Branch, Asbury Park, Burlington, Bordentown, Freehold, Englishtown, Metuchen, Rahway and Middletown and Peckskill in New York state.

CHURCH ENTERTAINMENT WAS WELL RECEIVED.

Under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Christian church, an excellent entertainment was given last night, consisting of reading, recitations, vocal and instrumental music. The program included an instrumental selection by Miss Edith Myers; readings by Miss Helen Woolley, Mrs. Harriet Gibbons and Mrs. William Grannett; vocal selections by Miss Emma Moffett, Rev. Phil. A. Parsons, Miss Anna Bass, Miss Hilda Bennett; recitations by Miss Elsey Townley, Miss Helen Thomson.

Prof. Movem's automatic figures gave orchestra selections and the story of Arnold Winkelried and William Tell. After the entertainment, coffee and cake were served by Mrs. Thomson, Mrs. Edell, Mrs. Townley, Mrs. J. R. Naylor, Mrs. Kitchell, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Edmonds, Mrs. Willett, Mrs. Gibbons, Mrs. Vannaman and Mrs. Manchester, assisted by the Misses Bittle and Donovan. John R. Naylor was master of ceremonies.

Arthur A. Snyder a Benedict.
Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Louise Kramer, of Fanwood, and Arthur A. Snyder, of West Front street. The ceremony was performed at 72 South street, Newark, Saturday night at 7 o'clock, by the Rev. Henry Rose, a pastor of that city. The only attendant was Robert Parsons, of West Front street, an intimate friend of the groom, who was best man. The couple have returned to this city. Mr. Snyder is a machinist.

"LOOKOUT" FELL ASLEEP

Cops Got By Him and Bagged Ten Colored Men in a Crap Game.

AN ONLOOKER "SQUEALS" AT DIAMOND JUBILEE

Testimony of Hazle Cuff Helps to Convict Samuel Thornton, Proprietor of the Place—Fined $50.

Becoming convinced that something in the gambling line was going on at the pool room of Samuel Thornton, located on South Second street just above Plainfield avenue, Acting Roundman-McCarthy and Patrolman Saunders made a raid, on the place at 1 o'clock this morning. They interrupted a crap game that had been in progress for several hours and beside the proprietor arrested Hattie Walker, William Cheshire, James Scott, Harold Hall, William Marsh, Samuel Jones, Hazle Cuff, Joseph Pritchard and Tom Williams. All were arraigned in the city court but were let go with the exception of Thornton who was fined $50.

Officer McCarthy first realized that something was "doing" in the back parlor of the pool room and by listening around plainly heard the jingle of money and exclamations that accompany crap shooting. He secured Patrolman Saunders and the two manoeuvred about until a favorable opportunity offered to get in. Ordinarily this would have been a hard matter, but Hattie Walker, who the police declare was the "lookout," had succumbed to the gentle wooing of Morpheus and was fast asleep at his post. The whole delegation was gathered about a pool table but before the officers could get into the group the dice and money had been whisked away. Only a pack of cards and nine of the men remained, Sam Jones remembering suddenly that he had an engagement with a friend and took his departure through a window to keep it. He was rounded up later.

When the ten faced Judge Runyon this morning nine of them stoutly declared they had only been indulging in an innocent game of pinocchio and that no money was involved. They all told the same story and might have bluffed it out but for the fact that Hazle Cuff became weak in the knees and corroborated everything the cops said, besides giving some more facts. He asserted that at crap and poker had been going on all evening and that the bones were being flipped across the table when the officers came in. He hadn't participated in the game himself, he said, but he had a front seat and knew what he was talking about.

Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., who had been engaged as counsel by Thornton and some of the other defendants, tried to show that "Cuff" had been asleep and that most of his testimony came from a dream. Cheshire, Marsh and Scott were all positive that he had been slumbering and some even went as far as to say he was "full of dope" and had a habit of "seeing things." The allegation of his testimony and it stood good with the court.

William Cheshire was awfully anxious to give full details of the evening's proceedings when he was called to the stand and in his eagerness made a bad break. He started to tell what the men had done at a certain period of the evening and exclaimed:

"Well, after the poker game—hold on, I mean after the pool game was over."

That was as far as he got as the burst of laughter that went around the court room drowned him out and counsel gave him a hurried signal to take a back seat.

This reputation was not gained in a day. We have been fifty years building it. And its existence is YOUR protection—for you know that no garment leaving our store will be below the Watson standard. The suits we are selling today are unquestionably superior to any you could buy elsewhere at $3 to $5 more.

Overcoats of Fashion

Watson Overcoats are always out of the ordinary. In these Fall weights we have set a new standard. The fabrics run from the extreme of fashion to correctly conservative sorts. The tailoring is faultless. Not another store in Newark can show equal style and quality at anything approaching our prices—Watson maker-to-wearer methods account for that.

ed that in future brick pavement work no sand will be used to cover the pavement after the cement is finds a poor water service pipe in the business section of the city, the own-

YALE GOLFERS STRONG.

Six of Eight Survivors at Match Play from New Haven.Ellis Knowles, of Yale, led the field in the eighteen-hole qualifying round of the Intercollegiate Association championship tournament at the Nassau Country Club yesterday with a score of 77. Of the sixteen to qualify seven were from Yale, four each from Harvard and Princeton and one from the University of Pennsylvania. Although the conditions were ideal the collegians failed to score as well as in their matches on the preceding days. Closely following Knowles, who has been a runner-up in one intercollegiate championship and a semi-finalist in a national tournament, were Ralph Peters, Jr., the Princeton captain; Robert Abbott, the Yale captain, and B. P. Merriman, also of Yale, all with 78. It required scores of 85 or better to qualify.Other favorites to win were Abbott, Knowles and Dwight Artridge and as the tournament now stands six of the eight survivors are Yale men. Princeton has one representative in Peters, while Morgan is Harvard's remaining hope.In the semi-final round of the women's open golf tournament at the Essex County Country Club, yesterday, Mrs. S. F. Lefferts defeated
Mrs. N. endleton Rogers by 3 up and 1 to play, thereby putting her out of the tournament.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

The local football eleven will play their first regular game of the season tomorrow afternoon, when they are to meet the heavy team from Elizabeth in a game on the ball field.The season was to have opened a week ago with a game with Metuchen, but the Metuchen players did not turn out in force. The local boys have been holding regular practices and the team is in good shape for tomorrow's game. The bunch from Elizabeth have lots of weight and play well together, but Captain Lake has some new plays which can be depended upon for big gains.Miss Jane Townsend, of Elizabeth, will speak at a neighborhood meeting to be given at the home of Mrs.
C. E. Kelly, of Prospect avenue, New Market, Saturday afternoon. The Theatre Wednesday night, hearing

Colby speak. This town is all for Fort in the gubernatorial fight.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

GOLF.

Robert Abbott returned to his old-time form on Wednesday in his match with West, of Princeton, for the intercollegiate championship, and won out with a low score. This match was considered the best of the day and furnished plenty of excitement for the big gallery which followed the contestants. In the morning Abbott made a 76 and in the afternoon a 75.

Dudley H. Barrows was missed as a member of the Princeton team in the intercollegiate golf tournament. However, judging by the kind of a game put up by Yale, it is doubtful whether his presence would have had any bearing on the result.

All professionals are invited to a tournament at Providence on Friday and Saturday of next week. The first day's play will be a thirty-six hole score competition at the Agawam Hunt; with four-ball matches the next day on the Wannamoisett links. There will be $300 in prizes.

The events at the Plainfield Country Club tomorrow will be the weekly competition for the Golf Committee, Green Committee cups and continuation of play for the Autumn cups, Classes A and B.

FOOTBALL.

The Commercial High School, of New York, will be the opponents of the P. H. S. on Hope Common tomorrow, and it will be the first severe test for the local school boys this season.

The Michigan faculty has placed a ban on the training table and quarters. This action was taken following the stand made by the fraternities of the university who pledged themselves to aid the maintenance of a training table for the football candidate, which is contrary to the provisions of the western conference.

Princeton will send a heavier team against Yale on November 16 than she has for several years, and the Tiger coaches expect to carry off the honors. The Tiger line is very aggressive on offense, but much slower in defensive play.

More attention will be paid to the forward pass at Cambridge. The ends are slow in getting down the field under points. The Crimson players showed considerable weakness in the contest with Williams on Saturday.

Among the promising new men upon whom the Princeton coaches are working are Buckingham, left tackle; MacFadden, right guard; Waller, right guard; Siegling, right tackle; and Brown, right end.

Secret practice is now the order at Princeton and New Haven. How long the secret sessions will continue is not definitely known, but it is thought that the gates will be thrown open again after Saturday's contests.

Two hundred members of the Princeton Club will attend the Yale-West Point game at West Point tomorrow to get a line on Yale in anticipation of the game between the Tigers and Old Eli on November 16.

Cornell coaches gave Shean a trial at fullback this week. The scrub star worked well and will receive further consideration from the coaches.

Although football is barred at Columbia the interest in the sport shows no signs of dying out among the students. A special train has been chartered to take 500 White and Blue enthusiasts to West Point tomorrow.

Bob McCallie yesterday was declared eligible to play on the Cornell eleven, and will probably be first choice for right halfback on the Red team. He is quick at picking out an opening and hits the line low and hard.

Teddy Roosevelt, Jr.'s injury is not as severe as at first thought, and it is expected that he will be out with the Harvard players in practice in less than a week.

(Other sporting news on page eight).

CLOSED PORTALS.

The Loyal Temperance Legion at its meeting in the W. C. T. U. rooms Wednesday afternoon discussed plans for an entertainment to be given in the near future.

Two candidates will be initiated by Plainfield Council, No. 293, Jr. O. U. A. M., Monday night and a report will be received from the entertainment committee.

Owing to a lack of a quorum the past councilors of the local Jr. O. U. A. M. could not hold a meeting Wednesday night. Another date will be set for organization.

Will Hold Old-Time Revival. Commencing tomorrow there will be two weeks' old-time revival services at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church. The subjects for Sunday will be "A Modern John the Baptist" and "Man's Natural Greatness." The subjects for the other services will be as follows: October 21, "A Name to be Proudly Worn;" 22, "Get Off the Fence;" 23, "Are 'Conscience and Doing Right' Safe Guides?" 24, "A New Route to Heaven;" 25, "Sick Folks Cured;" 27, "Am I My Brother's Keeper?" and "A Strong But

To--Asks for

With a view of advancing movement which calls for a revision of the Constitution of the New Jersey State Civic Federation has prepared a circular asking questions to assist the voter in arriving at a decision. It is the intention in this way to cure a general expression of opinion. If the voter considers the constitution satisfactory in its form it is only necessary to return no change is favored, but if it is deemed advisable a number of questions are to be answered. "The completed circular is forwarded to Rev. Adolph H. Orange. The letter which is intended to break the ice for the movement throughout the state is presented follows:

"The New Jersey State Civic Federation has in the past accomplished a number of matters of more importance. It now feels prepared to undertake a task which at the set seems of greater difficulty delicacy than any it has hitherto undertaken. This task is no less the alteration of the Constitution of the State of New Jersey, either by a series of amendments or by the action of an entirely new document.

"Its officials realize that to be one of some magnitude, and it will require considerable time and effort. They are therefore prepared to slowly in the premises, and to each topic of consideration as time as will be used. The plan of procedure thus far developed is one of gathering data to start with and in order to do so it is proposed to submit to those citizens of the state who are members of the organization and to others who are interested in series of questions which have been cast in the following form:

"1. Do you think that the Constitution of the State of New Jersey is satisfactory and adapted to the needs of the state at the present day under the conditions now prevailing?"

"If the answer to this question is 'Yes,' no further data are called for. But if it be 'No,' the following additional questions are submitted:

"2. If not, what specific features do you consider inadequate and unsatisfactory?"

"3. In what way would you remedy these features? Would you 'a. Omit them entirely?' 'b. Alter them?' In what way?"

"4. What portions of the present document could be cut out?"

"5. What additional paragraphs should it contain?"

"These questions are on the subject as such. An additional suggestion is suggested by the method of procedure. At present a Constitutional Convention is a political which does not appeal to citizens, since the interests conserved are largely alien to the real interests of the state. As at present conducted a Constitutional Convention degenerates rapidly into an arena for conflicting political interests and for exercise of bossism in one or the other of its forms. It may be desirable to devise some other method of organizing a convention for that purpose. It has been suggested that a Constitutional Conference take the place of the political function and that to such a conference such men and women should be called as have the welfare of the state at heart and have proved their interest in that welfare in public ways.

"In view of this the following questions have been formulated:

"6. Do you favor a Constitutional Conference?"

"7. What have you to suggest to the program of such a conference?"

"8. Whom can you suggest to work for and in such a conference?"

"9. Where would you hold such a conference?"

"10. And when?"

"All the members of the New Jersey State Civic Federation, all clubs, women's clubs and individuals interested in the topic are cordially invited to give such response to above questions, after deliberation and discussion, as they seem to deserve, and to send the results of their deliberations to Rev. Adolph H. Roeder, Orange, N. J.

"A copy of the Constitution can be secured from your Senator or Assemblyman, or from the shelves of any convenient public library."

The Name Lusitania.

The Cunard company, following its longestablished habit of naming its ships after the classic subdivisions of Europe, lighted upon "Lusitania" and "Mauretania."

"The first is the ancient name of the country included by the Lusitanii, which included the greater part of modern Portugal and ran over into the present Spanish provinces of Estremadura and Toledo. The second, of about same age, comes from across the strait of Gibraltar, where the Phoenicians, the present Morocco or about--New York Times.

The First M. E. Church diamond committee is fortunate in having Rev. Dr. George Edward

Reed as speaker for the Epworthian night. Dr. Reed is one of the most distinguished preachers in America. He is a leader in the Episcopal church, and is a member of the party of the vast denomination which he so ably represents.

He is a member of Dickinson College, one of the oldest institutions of learning in this country, and as head of the Reed law school, one of the best of legal education on the continent, he is best known to fame.

One of these institutions owe their present standing largely to his efforts. Until recently, the doctor was Librarian of Pennsylvania, and at the present time he is one of the most prominent figures in that community. Dr. Reed's topic tonight will be "Qualities That Win."

The subject on which he is well qualified to speak.

Franklin Fort makes the favorable impression everywhere he goes as he did among the Democrats on the occasion of his recent visit here. Frank S. Katzschbach will be a hopelessly beaten man long before election day. It was strange, but nevertheless true, that the morning after Mr. Fort had spoken to the people here, none had more praise for him than some conservative Democratic leaders. "He's the man for me; I like his frankness," was the way one prominent

Democratic leader expressed himself, and this appeared to be the sentiment of all who heard the straight-from-the-shoulder campaigner.

When it comes right down to facts, no speaker, excepting Fort, made as much hit at the Republican mass-meeting as Assemblyman W. W. Smalley.

PUSHED THE BEAR ASIDE.

Surveyor Tells of Experience He Does

Not Care to Repeat.

To walk right up to a monster bear and try to shove it out of the way and then escape without so much as a scratch is an experience of a lifetime. Harry I. Engelbright found it so a few days ago in Diamond canyon, above Washington, says a Nevada City correspondent of the Sacramento Bee.

The young man, son of Congressman Engelbright, has just returned from the upper country, where he has been doing some surveying, and relates his thrilling experience. It was coming on dusk, at the close of the day's work. In the brush-lined trail he saw protruding what he thought were the hind quarters of some stray bovine. He walked up and gave the brute a shove. It came to its haunches with a snort that made his hair rise and caused him to beat a hasty retreat. The big brute looked around and then shuffled off into the woods. It was either asleep or else so busy eating ants from an old log that it failed to hear the young surveyor, whose foot-steps were deadened by the thick carpet of pine needles. Later it was learned that the same bear, a monster cinnamon, had killed a dog earlier in the day. The dog ventured too close and with one blow of its paw the big beast sent it hurtling yards away, dead as a doornail.

ALL RELIGIONS IN LONDON.

Faithist Community Latest Addition to Its Queer Sects.

The Faithist community which has established a modest footing in Baltham, and whose comprehensive gospel ranges from the creation of man to the "glory and labors of the gods and goddesses of the Etherian heavens," is the latest addition to the long list of London's religious sects, which are now almost as many as the days of the year. In London the Chinaman burns his incense stick in more than one joss-house in the east end, the Mahometan has his mosque, the Malayan his temple, near St. George's street east; the Parsees worship the sun in Bloomsbury, the Mormons have a mission in Islington, and in many parts of the metropolis the Buddhists and Ancestor Worshipers perform their strange rites. Of Christian sects in London there are at least 300, including the Coklers, the disciples of William Sirgood, the Walworth shoe-maker; the Peculiar People, who prefer prayer to physicians; the Sandemanians, the followers of Joanna Southcott, the prophetic serving maid; the Shakers and the Seventh Day Baptists.

Ghost Plant of Oregon.

While picking berries at East Twentieth and Skidmore streets Sunday Miss Charlotte Lindsay came upon a ghost plant, says the Portland Oregonian. This plant is of rare occurrence in western Oregon, and this is the first time that it is known to have been found in or near Portland. The ghost plant was known and much praised by the Indians of Oregon in times past, and is sometimes known as the Indian pipe plant. It is said the Indians believed that it had great remedial qualities and made from it a lotion which they considered curative for the eye. It is a tall, waxlike plant about eight inches high and its bloom resembles a waxen cup.

Snap for Amateurs.

Amateur photographers who wish to turn their art to a commercial account by selling snapshots to their human victims have discovered a new field of endeavor. They haunt riding academies and the equestrian paths in the parks and photograph the riders. Men on horseback have a weakness for being photographed. Many a rider who could not be persuaded to pose for a photograph in conventional attitude or garb is quite willing to be taken astride a fine horse and any photographer who can snap him successfully is sure of a market for his pictures.

One Way Round It.

A minister says that one Saturday he was strolling along the shaded bank of a pretty stream when, unobserved, he approached a group of small boys, who were comfortably clad in jacket and trousers only. One freckled face little fellow stepped to the edge of the bank, turned his back to his companions and said: "Say, one of you fellows push me in, will yer?" "What for?" his chums demanded in chorus. "Aw, me mudder made me promise I wouldn't go in swimmin'; go on an' push!" the conscientious youth replied.

Diplomatic Salesman.

An elderly woman entered a shop and asked to be shown some tablecloths. The salesman brought a pile and showed them to her, but she said she had seen those elsewhere—nothing suited her. "Haven't you something new?" she asked. The man then brought another pile and showed them to her. "These are the newest patterns," he said. "You will notice the edge runs right round the border and the center is in the middle." "Dear me, yes. I will take half a dozen of them," said the woman.

An encouraging feature of the affair was the booth in charge of William R. Townsend, secretary of the Muhlenberg Hospital League of Mercy. He was kept very busy receiving applications for membership, each one agreeing to contribute the amount set opposite their names annually to the hospital. Last night over $500 was subscribed.

Tomorrow afternoon and night the popular price of ten cents will be charged for admission, which will include the living picture entertainment and it is hoped that the patronage will be large.

In response to a request for free local service for the use of the committee, the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company volunteered to install enough equipment to care for the demands of the large audiences expected. The Casino is therefore wired for extension telephone service. There will be telephones in the office, the cloak room, the rathskeller, and in numerous booths throughout the building. Local service will be rendered free by courtesy of the company, and all charges for local calls will be for the benefit of the fair. Pages will be in attendance, in the well-known blue uniforms of the company. They will summon from the porches and tents persons who are wanted at the phone, and will act as messengers in various ways to make the telephone service adequate. The equipment used will be three direct trunks from the central office terminating in a switchboard, and extension stations throughout the building.

METHODISTS BANQUET

the eye of the clock in the work of the master. "The organ," said Rev. Dr. McCrea, the next speaker, in reference to his toast, "is an instrument, equipped with keys, pedals and stops. That word 'stop' reminds me that there are other speakers. You've all had plenty of opportunity to hear me, I'll stop."

This was the concluding speech of the regular list of toasts, but the toastmaster called on George M. Rittenhouse, who spoke of the old relationships renewed by the anniversary celebration, alluding particularly to George Cornwall, who was called on for a few remarks. Mr. Cornwall spoke briefly; he welcomed his old friends and said that among the young men he recognized some of the members of the infant class in his day. After his speech, the banquet broke up, the diners singing "Auld Lang Syne" as the good-byes were said.

The committee in charge of the affair consisted of Samuel Bingham, James R. Joy, Dr. Frank French, John Henry and Stephen H. Tugwell.

Surprised On Fifth Anniversary. In honor of the eighth anniversary of his birthday, Kenneth Bennett, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Bennett, of Watchung avenue, was given a surprise party yesterday afternoon. A dozen of his girl and boy friends visited him.

VALUES OF CEDAR CHESTS.

Immunity Against Moths Only for a Short Time.

Old-time cedar chests are coming again," says the manager of a department store. "They have been entirely disused, but the call for them has not been many years. Still, once in a while a customer would come in and say to be satisfied with any cedar chest. The idea was to have a cedar chest for the purpose of the cedar's resinous odor of the cedar, which is entirely disused, and that clothing in a cedar box was forever safe against any damage by destructive insects. The notion, however, is only in part. A new cedar chest does not confer partial immunity for woolen goods; but in the course of a few years, the cedar loses its fragrance and is no more of a protection than a piece of pine or any other wood. The idea cannot be got out of the cedar's heads that the odor of cedar is the death of moths, and as long as they believe it and also use plenty of cedar, as most of them do, the belief in the efficiency of the cedar is no possible harm."

DOO SURE OF HER CATCH.

Young Woman Just Missed Hooking Prize of the Season.

After Rothschild, the richest bachelor in England, had a close call with a young man. Rothschild's mother had managed to get the heir to the Rothschild millions interested in her daughter, and the daughter did all she could to lead the interest up to the point of a marriage proposal. One night, at a watering place, after Rothschild had retired to his room, he heard voices under his door which he recognized as those of a young lady and her mamma. He proposed yet," asked the old man. "Not yet," answered the daughter, "but I'll have him hooked before long, if only I can endure his company. Tonight he bored me almost to death talking about his kangaroos. I'm sorry," said Rothschild, putting his head out of the window, "to have you with tales of my animals. I'll be glad to have you with me, I shall never do so again."

Did Duty Under Difficulties.

A gatekeeper in the employ of the New Jersey railway company was recently the hero of an amusing incident. His wife being ill, he went himself to look after the goat, but the stubborn creature would not let him come near it. He had always been accustomed to have this operation performed by its mistress. After many fruitless efforts, he at length decided to put on his wife's clothes. The experiment succeeded admirably, but the man had time to doff his disguise before the train approached, and the gatekeeper ran to his accustomed post. His appearance produced quite a sensation upon the officials of the passing train. The case was reported and an inquiry instituted, which, however, ended in his favor, as the railway authorities granted the gatekeeper a gratuity of 10 marks for his faithful discharge of his duties.

A Woman's Right.

Whether the right to go through a woman's pockets is guaranteed by a marital endowment of all his goods, or whether it is a constitutional right in the pursuit of happiness, or whether it is just because she needs the money and will have it, or whether it is a law, or whether it is essentially feminine privilege has long been accepted as one of the necessary duties of married life, says a writer in the Baltimore American. Few men would take the matter into court even if there was a chance of success, because the cost of a suit is much cheaper in the long run than alimony, and few courts would regard for their own dignity and prohibit wives from going through their husbands' pockets, when there is no earthly way of preventing them.

Bucolic Style.

The farmers made fortunes on the land, didn't they? "Yes, indeed," replied the railroad official, "and by the way, the strategy we are getting them to use in our parlor cars. You know the farmers have always been prejudiced against parlor cars. 'Why was that?' Well, they said the cars didn't look anything like parlors at all. That set me to thinking, so we fitted up several special parlor cars with waxed floor, horse-hair furniture and old-fashioned photograph albums and now you couldn't pay the farmers to ride in any other car but the parlor."

Pennsylvania Highways.

The highways of Pennsylvania have a length of 99,777 miles, according to figures collected by the office of public works. Nine miles have been surfaced with stone under the direction of the state highway department, 10 miles have been so surfaced by private companies, and 10 miles have been more or less improved with stone or gravel by private companies. There are 2.21 miles of road per square mile and one of road for every 63 inhabitants.

Romance of Modern Trade.

The fact that a man to-day can sit in a restaurant overlooking the city, and embark or at a table with the trees at the edge of the water, and dine on fresh salmon from the waters of California, and Alaska shows graphically the industrial efficiency has given rise to modern trade, remarks a newspaper.

THE PEACE CONFERENCE

Who queried The Hague conference? That promises to be the paramount international question next Boston Herald.

Mr. Choate thinks the peace congress "sowed some good seed." The difficulty is that it's a long time till harvest.—Washington Times.

Whatever else The Hague conference may have done, it will certainly not take a gun from the hands of a single soldier in the world. It will not dismantle a solitary warship. It will not close one arsenal or chill the forging of a cannon anywhere.—Philadelphia Press.

Earl Dunmore a Confederate Captain

It is not generally known that as Captain Charles Murray the deceased Earl Dunmore served with the Confederacy of America for three years, and in 1862 was a participant in the adventurous attempts at blockade running of that period. He commanded the steamer Nashville when it ran the federal blockade on April 24, 1862. Afterward he joined General Robert E. Lee and remained with him for several months.—London Telegraph.

French Decorations.

There are today at the Palais Bourbon half a dozen ushers who fear the "palmes academiques" on their black coats. We have also a guardian of the peace who is an officer of the academy, only this brave policeman modestly does not exhibit his ribbon. As for the holders of the palmes academiques who scarcely know how to read and write, they are legion.—Paris Intransigent.

JUST THE SAME AS CURRENCY.

Third Son Felt He Had Nothing to Reproach Himself with.

William Knoepfel, of St. Louis, has invented and hopes to patent a secret plowing method for the cure of baldness. "A genuine cure for baldness," said Mr. Knoepfel the other day, should make a man very rich. Why, men grow rich on fake cures. It is amazing, it really is, what fakes some of these cures are. Yet there's money in them." Mr. Knoepfel gave a loud, scornful laugh. "In their crookedness they remind me," he said, "of the third son of the old eccentric. Perhaps you have heard the story? Well, an old eccentric died and left his fortune equally to his three sons. But the will contained a strange proviso. Each heir was to place $100 in the coffin immediately before the interment. A few days after the interment the three young men met and discussed the queer proviso and its execution. 'Well,' said the oldest son, 'my conscience is clear. I put my hundred in the coffin in clean, new notes.' 'My conscience is clear, too,' said the second son. 'I put in my hundred in gold.' 'I, too, have nothing to reproach myself with,' said the third son. 'I had no cash at the time, though; so I wrote out a check for $200 in poor, dear father's name, placed it in the coffin and took in change the $200 in currency that I found there.'"

THE LOAD OF THE LAZY.

This Man Worked Hard in His Own Particular Way.

One of the neighborhood loafers sat comfortably smoking his foul pipe, according to his daily custom, in the prescription room of a drug store. He was soliloquizing aloud to the clerk. Here is a sample of his sound, contented philosophy: "I'll tell you what! A man is mighty miserable if he ain't got nothin' to do, when he ain't workin' at somethin'. I know it—I've tried both ways an' I find that there ain't nothin' that makes a man more miserable than doin' nothin'. But, you know, there's two kinds of work; one of them is where a feller goes to work at six in the mornin' an' works with his hands till six at night. The other is where a feller sits around an' thinks. I ain't never happy unless I'm workin', but I don't believe in that first kind of work. I believe in thinkin' all day long, an' that's harder than the other kind. I can tell you—just try it if you don't believe me, a man is mighty miserable when he ain't workin'."

Old Shell Exploded.

A curious scene occurred on the premises of a Paris locksmith, recently. For the last 15 years a shell, which dated back to the siege of Paris in 1870 had been used by a rag and bone merchant as a sort of pestle. The merchant attached a handle to the shell. Some time ago the handle broke off, and the locksmith was asked to repair it. Having made a new handle red-hot, he drove it into the office of the shell. There was a tremendous explosion. The locksmith and his apprentice were blown several feet away, while pieces of the shell were driven clean through the woodwork and the window of the shop, and were found buried in the brick walls of the courtyard. Every window in the house was smashed, and large pieces of the shell were found buried in the ceiling, but by a miracle nobody was hurt.

Magnifying Choir Leader's Voice.

In the old village of Braybrook in Northamptonshire, England, is a monster trumpet, five six inches in length, and having a bell-shaped end two feet one inch in diameter. The trumpet is made up of ten rings, which in turn are made up of smaller parts. The use of this trumpet—only four of the kind are known to exist at the present day—was to magnify the voice of the leader in the choir and summon the people to the church service. At the present time neither the choir nor the service is in need of this extraordinary "musical instrument," but the vicar of the church takes care of the ancient relic and is fond of showing it to all visitors.

No Two Mouths Alike.

Dr. Paul Prager, an Austrian army surgeon, who has made a special study of methods of identification, recommends that prisoners should be identified by the shape of their palates. Dr. Prager declares that the method would be much more reliable than any at present used, for among the thousands of molds he has taken of the interior of the human mouth he has failed to find two which even slightly resembled each other. Although the teeth alter greatly with time, the markings of the palate remain unchanged throughout life.

Scriptures Reversed.

The hobo who had been sleeping under a tree on the roadside awoke and irritably began scratching himself. "The good book is full of truths," he said, "but things have changed slightly. Nowadays it is the ant that goes to the sluggard." After which it was a case of not yet a little slumber, not yet a little sleep.

Grown Timid.

"So you contend that watered stocks and mergers constitute a public benefit," said one commuter. "I don't exactly," answered the other. "But I don't think it's best to interfere with the great financiers, as the first thing some of them think of when they are annoyed is putting up the price to the consumer."

SUNFLOWER PHILOSOPHY.

Extremes of heat make more loss than profit and gain.

The average town is never as unsatisfactory as when providing entertainment for a loafer.

What has become of the old-fashioned man who could quote from the Bible better than his wife?

What has become of the old-fashioned person who called a wagon filled with household goods a "fittin'?"

Every young man in love with a pretty young girl underestimates the time it will take to learn how to do it.

Even the man who paid for the parlor furniture isn't to be trusted alone with it and a jack-knife, and nothing to do.

Don't slop over in giving compliments. A slop-over compliment is never taken seriously, and is liable to be offensive.

There isn't much in the world but work. Even people at summer resorts must do a lot of rustling around to have a good time.

About the time when a man reaches the age when he has time to read, his experiences have been so much more thrilling than those found in books that he can't find interest in them.—Atchison (Kan.) Globe.

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR.

When a man is glad to be bald-headed it was red.

One way to have a big family is to be able to support it.

A bank account is something you would have if you didn't need it.

A girl will swear it's a love letter even if it's a first-of-the-month bill.

A man can have all his other vices overlooked by going into politics.

No matter how many times a woman gets married she keeps on hoping for better luck.

One comfort about being in jail must be how nobody can make you go on family picnics.

Children have very sweet dispositions not to resent being told they look like their fathers.

If it weren't for the money to be saved a man could give up drinking and smoking without any trouble.

Open-work shirt waists would be something scandalous if they were worn to sleep in instead of in public.—N. Y. Press.

REFLECTIONS FOR EACH DAY.

Monday—Mountains of difficulty always appear steeper at a distance.

Tuesday—When a man builds castles in the air he leaves out the trouble.

Wednesday—Life without love is like flowers nurtured without sunshine.

Thursday—Success in war, like charity in religion, covers a multitude of sins.

Friday—Good fortune sometimes comes to us in a very shabby-looking carriage.

Saturday—Modesty seldom resides in a breast that is not enriched with nobled virtue.

Sunday—Not education, but character, is man's greatest need and man's greatest safeguard.—New York Evening Telegram.

FATIGUE.

It puts a chasm between seeing and acting.

Fatigue lowers all the faculties of the body.

Important questions must not be decided when one is fatigued.

It is a condition which in the nature of things we cannot avoid.

The only thing to do with fatigue is to get rid of it as soon as possible.

It destroys will power. Fatigue is a destructive agent like sickness and death.

But it is important to know how to deal with it if we wish to keep away from important blunders.

It makes a break, somehow, between the message that comes into the brain from the outside world and the messages that go out.

BY THE WAY.

The less a man has to do the more he is apt to be pressed for time.

If you have anything to say, go to bed and think before talking next day.

Success was never won by comparing your product with your neighbor's.

It is a very small position that does not give a man a chance to spread himself.—Uncle Dick, in Madison Journal.

Vented Back Coats.

AND OTHER STYLES FOR MEN.

Experience has taught us that small things oftentimes influence men in choice of their clothing. Here, for instance, is the Vented Back Coat—not a new thing, but a feature continued from the Summer season by some designers because of its great popularity. Some designers passed it by; others continued it, so we are able to present both styles, and men can pick at their pleasure. One of our most exclusive makers sends us a design with the middle vent—which strikes us as particularly clever, and this coat has a slightly shaped back and is cut with high lapels in front. The suits are made of Scotch mixed effects in brownish hues, grays, etc., some of them with several color tones. The tailoring is faultless, of course.

Prices 18.00 to 22.00.

Other Suits for men 7.00 to 25.00.

Youth's Suits 5.00 to 22.00.

Trousers 1.00 to 10.00.

Fall Top Coats and Raincoats 7.00 to 35.00.

Fancy Waistcoats 1.00 to 7.00.

'Our Own' Boys' $5 Suit

We are featuring these suits at $5 because of the popularity of the price—so many parents do not want to pay more, and here we are giving more for that price than any other store in town.

Let us prove it. Come in and see the collection of suits we offer at $5. Here are all of the latest color effects as well as the staple blue serge in fast color; cut in Yoke, Norfolk, Double-breasted, Single-breasted, Double-breasted, Derby-Back and Plain Double-breasted Coat Styles and in Russian and Sailor Styles. There is every style here that you will see elsewhere and many that no other store will show you. A number of the suits include an extra pair of knickerbockers. There are sizes for boys of 3 to 18 years, and you can pick any in the lot at $5. This is the only house in Newark selling Boys' Yoke Norfolk Suits for $4, $5 and $6. Suits with extra trousers for as little as $3.75. Others at $4.50, $5, $6, $7.50 to $18.98.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

The joint appearance of two such eminent and delightful exponents of dramatic art as Herbert Kelcey and Etta Shannon is always sure to arouse the keenest possible enthusiasm on the part of our playgoing people and it will therefore form an occasion of rare joy to welcome them at the New Plainfield Theatre tonight in a new play, one which is said to measure the talents of Mr. Kelcey and Miss Shannon to a nicety, and to introduce a supporting company of unusual excellence.

"Bridge" is the title of the play to be presented, and comes from the pen of Alicia Ramsey, who is a familiar person in the playwrighting world.

Avoid paying doctors' bills, by going to see the great laughing success "The Lady from Lane's" which will be the attraction at the New Plainfield Theatre tomorrow night. When it is stated that the lyrics are by George Broadhurst and the music by Gustave Kerker it is unnecessary to say anything further in praise of this comedy with music. Broadhurst & Currie have engaged a great cast which is headed by Thomas Wise and Truly Shattuck. Ida Hawley, Adele Rafter and Walter Percival are other New York favorites in the company.

edy "The Earl and the Girl," will appear at the New Plainfield Theatre Monday night. "The Earl and the Girl" is one of the most successful musical offerings that has been produced in years, the music is delightful and it contains all the good parts of a clever musical comedy, and most important of all, it has the swing and dash and melodic charm which fascinates. known favorites will be seen in the presenting cast, including Alexander Clark, Zelma Rawlston, Clara Harry B. Lester, Jessie Lesuer, Elaine Anderton, Leonie Frank Lavarne, Chas. C. "Al" Wilder, W. J. Sully and other clever people.

Mr. Oscar Figman has returned from a season under the management of E. A. Well in the farcical comedy "The Lightning Conductor" and from the novel of the same name by Harry B. Smith. The charm of a production and the assurance of a splendid supporting company will fill the New Plainfield Theatre overflowing when the play is presented in this city next Tuesday night. The story deals with the incident of an automobile tour through the country by a charming and rich young man and a poor woman in company with an aunt.

La Shelle, will be seen at the New Plainfield Theatre next Wednesday night. Most book plays are disappointments to those who go to the theatre expecting a realization of their ideals formed in the course of reading. But when the novelist and dramatist are one and the same person, then there is hope that the stage will not destroy the impression made by the book. "The Virginian" is a dramatic and atmospheric, and deeply interesting play, and as a stage representation of frontier life, is an addition to American dramatic art.

SUPREME COURT JUSTICE WILL BROOK NO DELAY

In the Somerset County Courts in Somerville yesterday, former Vice Chancellor James J. Bergen made his first appearance as a justice of the Supreme Court. Owing to the illness of Justice Barker, Justice Bergen has been assigned to the Somerset, Morris and Bergen circuit to look after some of the most important business, and will take up the two murder cases in Somerset.

Richard Stryker, who is charged with shooting and killing his father, John C. Stryker, near Readington, last August, was arraigned and pleaded not guilty. He has employed Clark & Case to defend him. His trial was fixed for Tuesday, Oct. 29. Justice Bergen announced that there would be no delay in these cases; that he would begin the trials on the day set, and would open court at 9 a. m. every day and adjourn at 5 p. m. He said the work had got behind enough.

Favors Home Rule.

In the course of an address which he delivered at Atlantic City last night, Frank S. Katzenbach, the Democratic candidate for Governor, for the first time in the present campaign gave a suggestion of his attitude toward the question of "home rule" in regard to restraints on the sale of liquors. The hint was given in a few sentences of his speech, in which he said that each community has certain local problems which it should settle for itself without the interference of other bodies.

SPOILED COURSE OF LOVE.

Young Man Misunderstood Answer of His Charming.

There was once a bashful young policeman, whom we will name George X., who was in love with a young lady, but was too backward to propose to her. One night, however, he plucked up courage and went to her house. After being seated with her on the sofa, he said, "Mary, I love you." The young lady, who was looking for this for some time, dropped her eyes and murmured, "Ditto, George." To her surprise and disappointment he changed the subject and finally went away. The next day he was talking to some brother policemen at the fence of a large field of cabbages. "Boys," said George, "what does ditto mean?" "Why," said one of them, pointing to a very large cabbage, "do you see that cabbage, George?" "Yes," said George. "And do you see that one next to it?" "I do," said George. "Well," said the other, "that second cabbage-head is ditto to the first one." "What!" roared George, "did that confounded girl call me a cabbage-head?" And he went his way and refused to be comforted.—Judge's Library.

A Little Touch of Nature.

A boy of 12, and a woman, aged three times 12, sat side by side in a Broadway car. They were strangers. The boy's little blue jacket was pulled out at the seams, the woman wore a last summer's hat. Both were very tired. They sat sideways and occasionally they nodded drowsily. Once during a spasmodic cranial movement, their faces almost touched. Then they braced back and looked at each other. The woman smiled. "Are you tired?" she asked. "Awful," said the boy. Then he smiled, too. "Are you?" he asked. "Awful," said the woman. Then they smiled some more, and somehow neither felt quite so tired after that.—New York Press.

Patrick's Will.

An elderly gentleman, who knew something of law, lived in an Irish village where no solicitor ever penetrated and was in the habit of arranging the disputes of his neighbors and making their wills. At an early hour one morning he was aroused from his slumbers by a loud knocking at the gate, and putting his head out of the window, he asked who was there. "It's me, yer honor—Paddy Flaherty. I could not get a wink of sleep thinking of the will I have made." "What's the matter with the will?" asked the amateur lawyer. "Matter indeed," replied Pat, "sure I've not left myself a three-legged stool to sit down upon!"

What He Wanted to Know.

How early in life the value of "solid" gold and "sterling" silver is impressed on us is illustrated by an incident told with much enjoyment by a delegate from Mississippi who attended a recent convention. One of his neighbors calling to bid him good-speed brought his six-year-old son with him, and to amuse the youngster he was shown the aquarium where numerous gold fish glittered and glistened. After gazing at them in admiration for a few moments he was asked what he thought of them, and in reply said: "They're pretty, but are they solid?"

Look Forward with Hope.

Put all your past failures behind you, forget them, let the dead past bury its dead, don't cry over spilt milk, the water that is past never will turn the mill, yesterday's flowers never will bloom again, last year's apples are dead sea fruit, the spoken word can't be recalled, and the hour glass of time when its sands are run never can be refilled. The past is behind, the future ahead. Forget the one, look with hope to the other.

ENGLISH ETCHINGS.

Fifty thousand dollars a year is spent on Regent's park, in London. A syndicate has been formed for the purpose of making roads out of London for the use of motor cars.

King Edward rules over more Mohammedans than the sultan of Turkey, over more Hebrews than there are in Palestine and over more negroes than any sovereign of Africa.

When North Gosforth church, near Newcastle, England, which had never been consecrated, but in which services had been held regularly, was put up at auction not a bid was made for the property.

It is calculated that English now leave in millions for the continent every summer. Ten years hence, home, says London Truth, it may be necessary to leave a caretaker in charge of England while the community is absent abroad.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS.

Alla Nazimova has opened in "The Master Builder," by Ibsen.

Frank Gilmore has been engaged by the Shuberts as leading man to Mary Manning to play Jerome Bonaparte in "Glorious Betsy," Mrs. Rida Johnson Young's play.

Miss Ida Fuller, who has been appearing in vaudeville in Europe for a number of years, recently made her appearance in the New York theatre in a new Parisian spectacle act entitled "La Societe."

Dennis O'Sullivan is a new Irish star who is under contract to Joseph Brooks to star in "Peggy Macree," beginning about the first of the year. His success in London, Dublin, Belfast and other cities has been great.

PITH AND POINT.

Every man who borrows trouble pays ungrateful interest.

You were never fairly discussed behind your back in your life.

Most people will make any sacrifice to gratify their fool streak.

Mend your own faults, and the faults of others will not be so apparent.

How many opportunities there are and money! And how few opportunities to make it!

You hear people say sometimes they do not care much for compliments. Nothing in it. All of us love a compliment.—Aitchison Globe.

Mistakes of Drug Clerks.

"There is one loss sustained by druggists that very few people know about," said the experienced clerk. "That is in the prescriptions that have to be made over, the same as clerks, stenographers, writers and artists, no matter how painstaking, frequently have to do their work over. The most careful drug clerk in existence is bound to make mistakes sometimes in measuring and mixing. He may pour in too much of some kind of liquid or sift in too much of a certain powder. In most cases the overdose would not really affect the value of the medicine, but the conscientious clerk isn't going to take any chances of murdering anybody, so he throws away the whole mixture and makes up another prescription."

"Try One of My Betels."

In Siam they don't offer you a cigar or a cigarette, but a betel nut. There every one carries a supply of them in a neat little ivory box, not unlike the snuffboxes of our ancestors. The betel nut is a narcotic, but it is much more harmful. Those who chew it suffer from inflamed gums, and they generally lose their teeth. The betel is a species of climbing plant, with a leaf not unlike ivy. It yields a crop of nuts, which are ground to a powder. This is mixed with a similar powder derived from the areca nut and made into a paste, which is wrapped in pieces of betel leaf.

An Ambitious Prince.

When Prince Edward, son of the Prince of Wales and heir apparent to the British throne, was about nine years old he said to his nurse one night before going to sleep: "You know that some day I shall be king. Well, when I am I shall do three things. First, I shall make a law that no one is to cut off puppy's tails, for that is very cruel. Then I shall make a law that no one is to put bearing reins on horses, for that is another cruel thing. And I shall try to do away with all sin."

Colliers as Scouts.

This year's army manoeuvres in Italy are signalized by the introduction of the dog as an element in tactics. A small group of scouting and messenger dogs is attached by way of experiment to the First army corps and if the results are deemed sufficiently good dogs are likely to be largely used by the intelligence department. It is worth noting, too, that the dogs selected as pioneers in this work are Scotch collies.—London Globe.

The results of the long and thorough research into the nature of cancer conducted at the Pasteur Institute in Paris are nil, except as showing that the disease is neither contagious nor hereditary and that it can be combated only by a surgical operation. It seems obvious that nearly everything yet remains to be learned about cancer.—Boston Globe.

"Yaas," said Cholly, "I confess I prefer dear old England to this country. I should like to be a subject of the king."

"Vain longing," retorted Miss Pepprey. "Of course you can never be anything but an object."—Philadelphia Press.

An Illustration

One of our clients owed $45 between four people. His salary is $11 weekly; rent $12 monthly. To have paid $2 weekly to each creditor, combined with rent, would have left only $5 per week to meet expenses, buy clothing, etc.—an impossibility you will agree. He borrowed $50, paid all his creditors, made a "turn-around" credit good, if ever needed; pays his rent, the loan payments, and has $2 each week to use as he judgment dictates.

THE HALL OF FAME.

King Leopold of Belgium has bought the Chateau Lormoy, near Paris, and will furnish it luxuriously.

General Weyler has just finished writing his memoirs of the time when he was governor general of Cuba.

In the new stables of Banker Mortimer L. Schiff on Long Island his blue blooded cattle will have stalls done in white tile and will eat from white porcelain receptacles.

Lieutenant Colonel Lize Halford, at the age of sixty-four, is now retired. The place with which President Harrison rewarded him for faithful services has made him comfortable for life.

Dr. Thomas S. Heaton, of Boston, caught off the coast of Nova Scotia with a hook and line an albatross twenty-five inches high, thirty-six inches from beak to tail and seventy-five pounds in weight.

The queen of Roumania is ardently pursuing her philanthropic idea, which first took practical shape last year, of collecting the blind of her country in one city, which her majesty has given the name of "Vatra Luminoasa."

Augustus Wood of Lebanon, N. H., started in recently on his fifty-fifth consecutive year of service in one shop as a machinist. Mr. Wood claims the distinction of having worked the longest term of continuous service in the same shop of any person in New Hampshire.

Patrick Mahoney, of Brookfield, Mass., has filed a claim against the federal government for three days' pay due him since 1862. He says he was working in the armory at Springfield during the Civil war and had three days' wages coming to him when he learned he was about to be drafted into actual service.

Dr. Elwood Meade, formerly chief of the bureau of irrigation of the department of agriculture and now living in Laramie, Wyo., has accepted the office of chief of irrigation investigation for Australia, which was recently tendered him by the British government. The place, it is stated, carries with it an annual salary of $15,000.

He served with distinction during the war, after which he began the study of law, which he has practiced ever since, and is at present collector of internal revenue at Kansas City.

GOWN GOSSIP.

Long skirts are well on the floor at front and sides and moderately trained.

Many of the new cloth and velvet skirts are graceful of line, but quite devoid of trimming.

The short sleeves has had its day. In so far as coats are concerned, and its throne is tottering even in the realm of bodices.

Princess skirts with some clever modification of the bretelle idea will appear, but must be very original and successful if they are not to look commonplace.

It is one of the fads of the moment to introduce a Japanese sleeve into a mannish coat and vice versa. Many of the most elaborately trimmed coats have severely plain coat sleeves.

There is no doubt that short sleeves will appear upon a fair percentage of the dressy winter bodices, but the revolution has begun, and the woman who would be chic will have at least one or two of her pretty house frocks and dinner gowns made with long, close fitting transparent sleeves.—New York Sun.
