HIS WIFE TAKES POISON WHEN HANAN LOSES JOB

Discouraged because her husband, a section foreman on the Jersey Central, had lost his job through his alleged irregular habits, Mrs. James Hanan, of 121 Cumberland street, Westfield, swallowed lead acetate last night in an attempt to commit suicide. There are six Hanan children and the family has a hard time providing, so when the husband was discharged yesterday, she felt discouraged for the future. She drank a small bottle of the poison and was found, lying on the floor in a comatose state by her oldest son, James. The lad hastened to summon Dr. R. G. Savoy, who worked over the

MINSTRELSY POPULAR

Island.

The "Clans" continued to gather at the Casino yesterday afternoon and evening and patronize the booths and various attractions in an effort to swell the proceeds for Muhlenberg Hospital. In the afternoon there was a large attendance of children, who were delighted with the work of "Speedon," the clever cartoonist. His pictures were very popular with both old and young. At the same time the different booths did a large business.

Last night the attendance was much larger than on the first night and the affair proved one of great enjoyment to all, especially the outside attractions. The minstrel show in the large tent was a stellar outdoor attraction, and Judge William N. Runyon's company gave a fine performance to a large crowd. The songs and jokes kept the audience in good humor throughout. Tonight two performances will be given.

The entertainment in the Casino Hall, given at 10 o'clock, was in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Lemuel William Serrell, and was called "A Comedy of Ations," an original two act comedy in pantomime tableaux by Mrs. Serrell. The time was about 1840, and the series of tableaux depicted the meeting, love, courtship, troubles, reconciliation and marriage of a young couple. There were many amusing incidents including a quarrel over a millinery bill.

"A Comedy of Ations" was represented in flirtation, declaration, acceptance, indignation, consternation, separation, desperation and reconciliation, together with many other "ations," all of which furnished no end of fun for the audience. Willard Wadsworth took the part of the young lover, and Miss Gabrielle McQuaid was his sweetheart. They were assisted by Roy Whitney. The parts were exceptionally well taken.

Harry L. Hall and Lewis G. Timson, "Fido" and "Mut," the hot-dog men, were the most popular pair on the grounds last night. With the assistance of B. Collins Firstbrook, they did a big business in "hot-dogs." They were the warmest things outside of the big log fire which was kept burning throughout the evening. Another popular place was the pan-cake tent. Joseph M. Shellabarger and his assistants were kept busy serving flap-jacks with delicious maple syrup.

There will be a fine program this afternoon for the children and tonight at 10 o'clock the living pictures will again be seen. These caused a sensation on the opening night, it being the opinion that they were the best thing of the kind yet seen at an affair of this kind. George Wharton Edwards, the artist, will assist in arranging the pictures.

The supper room is also doing a large business, many patrons arranging to get their suppers there instead of at home. All of the other attractions will be in full swing today and tonight, as well as on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

State Senator Ernest R. Ackerman and William C. Kinney, president of the Board of Governors of the Muhlenberg Hospital, were the two distinguished gate keepers, last night. The admission this afternoon and tonight will be ten cents for everybody and a large crowd is expected.

The Gathering of the Clans represents all the entire community; people of every degree joining hands to make it a success. The crowds at the fete last night showed that all the inhabitants are heartily interested in the enterprise, all wishing to sustain a worthy institution.

Council to Act on Appropriation.
The Common Council will hold the second adjourned meeting of the month on Monday night, October 28, when it is expected that some disposition will be made of the Board of School Estimate petition, which asked for an appropriation of $90,000 for the new primary school to be erected at Darrow avenue and Essex street. The plan is to ask the council to return that petition and then another one will be presented asking for $100,000, which amount, it is claimed will be needed to erect the school. It is understood that the council is favorable to the disposition of the school board. Speedy action is desired on the part of the board that the work of construction may be started as soon as possible.

New Paved Blocks Opened.
Park avenue, between Second street and North avenue, was opened yesterday afternoon to general traffic, giving an unobstructed thoroughfare between Front street and North avenue.

LOCAL INCORPORATORS IN $500,000 CONCERN

Articles of incorporation were filed with the County Clerk at Jersey City yesterday by A. Gross & Co., who are to engage in the melting and rendering of fat and tallow and to acquire and purchase the business of A. Gross & Co., formerly of Jersey City, but now of Newark. The capital is fixed at $500,000, but the company is to begin business on a paid in capital stock of $252,000.

The incorporators are Charles E. Gross, of New York; Fannis M. Gross, Emma Slavin and Elizabeth M. Conway, all of this city; Mary L. Crowther, of Philadelphia, and David and Helen Mahany, of New York.

NEW MARKET YOUTH STEALS LOCAL MAN'S RIG

Shortly after he had stolen a rig in this city, LeRoy Brown, of New Market, was caught at Lincoln last night as he was in the act of getting away with a runabout taken from Isaac Stout's barn. A nut was missing from the vehicle and a wheel dropped off just as a member of the family came up. Brown was caught and taken to the New Brunswick jail.

The prisoner took the rig in this city from in front of the residence of George VanNest on Marjans place. It belongs to Adam Blair and had been hired from him by William Hedley, of Park avenue. Hedley came out of the house just in time to see the rig disappearing into Front street. He gave chase on a bicycle and catching up with the horse near Rock avenue attempted to stop it by catching hold of the bridle. Brown gave the animal a cut with the whip and it threw Hedley from the wheel. He held to the bridle and was dragged twenty feet when he was thrown down.

Brown smashed a wheel of the Blair vehicle along the road and attempted to get the one at Stout's in place of it.

ABBOTT DEFEATED. Plainfield, Loses in Championship Golf.

Robert Abbott, of this city, was defeated in the semi-final round for the intercollegiate golf championship title in the thirty-six hole round at the Nassau Country Club, yesterday. Many looked for a close match between Abbott and Knowles. The former defeated Knowles in the final round of the intercollegiate tournament at Garden City in 1905, but the table were turned on this occasion. Abbott stood 1 up at the sixteenth green, but Knowles squared the match and finally won 1 up.

A Yale and Princeton golfer will fight it out in the final round today. As a result of yesterday's play Ellis Knowles, of Yale, and Ralph Peters, Jr., the Princeton captain, remain as the only survivors.

William J. Doyle, Following a long illness, William J. Doyle, a former employee of the New Jersey Central, died at his home on Woodland avenue, last night. He was thirty years old and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Doyle, of East Fifth street. He leaves a wife, who is the daughter of William L. Callahan, of Woodland avenue, and two children. He is also survived by a sister, Miss Anna Doyle, and three brothers, Thomas, David and John, all of East Fifth street. The funeral will be held at his late home, Monday morning, at 8:15 and from St. Mary's Church at 9.

Christian Endeavor Rally.

The local Christian Endeavor Union will hold a rally service Thursday night, November 7 at the Seventh-day Baptist Church. It will also be an echo meeting of the State Christian Endeavor convention. Charles F. Windham, Fred Lounsbury, Jr., and Clarence B. LaRue, who attended the convention, will tell of the proceeds. The speaker of the evening will be Rev. Walter Greenway, of Jersey City. R. C. Martin will have charge of the musical program.

Wants $10,000 Damages.

The case of Miss Josephine Murphy against Miss Marguerite Boehm and her father, Ignatz Boehm, to recover $10,000 for injuries received two years ago when the plaintiff was in the employ of Mr. Boehm, was moved for trial before Judge Vall in the Supreme Court, Elizabeth, yesterday afternoon. William Newcorn represents the defendant and James A. Kiernan, of Elizabeth, is counsel for the plaintiff. The trial will be continued on Monday.

John Johnson.

John Johnson, son of Samuel and the late Mary Johnson, died yesterday at his father's home on Park avenue near the Driving park. He was nineteen years old. The funeral will be held at the house Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

TALK ABOUT DUMB LUCK

Painter Full of Booze Drops
Twenty Feet But Only Gets a Cut on the Head.

STIRRED UP WEST END

Police Headquarters Informed He
Had Been Killed and Patrol
Wagon Went Out For the Corpse.

Chief Kiely was straightening up matters at Police Headquarters after court, this morning, when the telephone gave a vicious ring that betokened trouble of some sort. The receiver was at his ear in an instant and the drum was almost cracked by a voice that yelled over the wire: "Say, send the patrol wagon down to Third street - and Muhlenberg place; there's a man been killed by falling off a ladder."

In a couple of jiffies the police vehicle with Patrolman Charles Flynn aboard was speeding to the West End, the officer busying himself on the way down by getting the stretcher in shape for a corpse. Arriving at the street corner designated a crowd about a house indicated the destination and Flynn and Driver O'Gorman hastened to get out the body-carrying apparatus but they were stopped by a man running up to them.

"He ain't dead," was the salute, "he's around back and wants everybody to have a drink with him."

The cops hot-footed it to the rear of the house and discovered N. B. Snell, a painter who lives on Somerset street, entertaining a group of "rubbernecks" with accounts of his ability as a skilled mechanic and what he would do in the way of hospitality if all hands adjourned to a booze camp. Blood streaming down the back of his head showed that he had a fall and bystanders declared he had toppled from a ladder at least twenty feet from the ground. He was knocked unconscious and it was thought at first that he had been killed and the call was sent for the patrol wagon. With a drunken man's luck he recovered before the vehicle showed up, although a sober man would undoubtedly have been fatally hurt, and a cut on his head was all he had to show for the accident.

"You had better go back home," said Snell with an imperious wave of his hand when Flynn took hold of him. "I'm one of the best painters that ever held a brush and I think I'll stay and finish the job."

The cops placed him in the wagon, however, and started for town. Snell thought he was on the way to the hospital and objected to it with all his might. He even attempted to bribe the officers by offering to buy them a drink if they would stop off at a Third street saloon, but Flynn and O'Gorman refused to fall from grace.

When landed safely at Headquarters, Snell mistook Chief Kiely for Judge Runyon and argued like a spellbinder against the injustice of his arrest. He reeled off several yards of talk about his being a good fellow and that if he tumbled off a ladder it was nobody's business; that he could outpaint any painter who ever painted and that it was all the same to everybody concerned he would go back to where he had been working.

They led him away to a cell and a physician was called in to make sure that he was not badly hurt. The doctor declared the cut was quite severe but barring it and the booze, he was right side up with care. He will be kept at headquarters until his brain gets clear.

Salvation Army Services.

Captain and L. J. Larkin and Captain George Gray, of New York, will conduct special services in the Salvation Army Hall, on East Second street, tonight and Sunday. This evening at 8 o'clock a free coffee and cake social with a musical program. Captain Gray will appear attired in rags will speak on the social work of the army in New York. The services on Sunday will be held at 11, 3:30 and 8 o'clock. Captain Larkin will speak Sunday afternoon on his work and experiences in the Toms Prison, New York. Both officers are excellent singers and they will present a musical program.

Miss Cooley to Wed.

The marriage of Miss Edith Haviland Cooley, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Cooley, of Westerville avenue, this borough, and Robert Moore Steer, of Baltimore, Md., will take place at the Friends' Meeting House, Wednesday, October 30, at 2:30 o'clock.

At Electrical Convention.

William R. Causebrook, manager of the electric department of the P. S. C. office on East Front street, is in Washington attending a convention of an association of electrical and gas men. He will return home on Tuesday.

BRICK PAVE WORK IS MUCH DELAYED

Councilman Daniel F. Ginn, chairman of the street committee, was astir this morning looking after the interests of the city in the brick paving contract. He says he is much displeased over the progress of the work so far as the laying of the brick is concerned and is using his best endeavors to hurry it along.

Contractor Meeker has failed to get in touch with the brick men to whom was sub-let the contract for laying brick. He says that he sent Contractor Foley several telegrams and cannot get an answer. He decided today that in case Foley fails to make some response before Monday he will engage other men to complete the job.

One explanation of the failure of Foley to return here is that he has a big contract elsewhere and wants to complete that before coming back to Plainfield. His men work very fast and it is his intention possibly to let Contractor Meeker get far enough ahead with the concrete work so that he will not be held up again. Mr. Meeker has a signed agreement with Mr. Foley, wherein the latter agrees to lay the brick for so much a square yard, and he does not believe that the latter would give up his contract without notifying him. Somerset street is read for the brick and on Monday the concrete work will be started on West Front street. In the mean time local men are laying brick on Park avenue under David Bowden's direction.

SENTENCE DAY IN MIDDLESEX.

Negro Assaults of Marks Get Twelve Years Each.

James Wells and William Nixon, negroes, who were convicted of assaulting Israel Marks, an aged clothing dealer, who discovered them robbing his store, were sentenced to twelve years in state prison yesterday by Judge Booram, receiving the extreme penalty of the law. Judge Booram declared that there was not a single mitigating circumstance.

William Raynor, of Perth Amboy, was sentenced to eighteen months in state prison for firing a revolver at pursuers. The court said that the prisoner had attempted to deceive him by stating that he had never been in prison before, whereas he had served two terms for similar offenses.

August Flackhofskey was sentenced to the reformatory for stealing lead from a barge at Perth Amboy. Banslaw Krieger, of Perth Amboy, was sentenced to the reformatory for stealing $250 from a fellow countryman.

GOLF TOURNAMENT.

Fifty Starters in Baltusrol Contest Yesterday.

There were fifty odd starters in the open tournament which began at the Baltusrol Golf Club, yesterday. E. M. Wild, Cranford, and Charles W. O'Connor, of the Essex County Country Club, tied for the low score prize, with 83, and 96 proved to be the highest figure that qualified. Four men had that figure but there was place for only three. James A. Tyng, the Baltusrol veteran was successful, while J. Whitney Baker, C. E. Van Vleet and C. F. Watson, Jr., were those who fell out.

The other Plainfielders in the tournament and their scores were: Dudley H. Barrows, 91; C. B. Morgan, 99; H. D. Hibbard, 105. In the second division, Dudley Barrows beat E. S. Armstrong, South Orange, 3 up and 2 to go. The paly will be continued today.

James B. Gallagher.

James B. Gallagher, well known in Newark as a newspaper writer, died at his home, Passaic Park, N. J., yesterday from a general physical breakdown. He was 39 years old. He leaves a son 8 years old. The funeral will be held tomorrow. Mr. Gallagher began newspaper work in Jersey City, and subsequently was a ship news reporter for two newspapers in New York City. He then went to Newark, where he was engaged in reportorial work up to the time of his illness that resulted in his death.

Mr. and Mrs. Force Surprised.

The relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Force tendered them a surprise party at their home, last night. The affair was a complete surprise, the couple not having the slightest intimation of the visit. The evening was spent playing progressive pinocle and in a social way, after which refreshments were served. There were guests present from Brooklyn, Somerville and this city.

The state officers will be present at the meeting of Washington Camp, Patriotic Order Sons of America, at G. A. R. hall, Monday night.

It was inadvertently stated last night in C. L. Applegate's advertisement that he offers potatoes at 85c. a bushel. That amount will buy a whole bushel at his store.

MAN'S MEMORY A BLANK

Picked Up Near Mount Horeb
Can't Give His Name or Place of Residence

IT'S A PUZZLING CASE

Return Ticket in Pocket Shows That
He Came From New York to This City By Train.

Residents of the farming section back of Plainfield, leading from Mount Bethel to Mount Horeb, are seeking to unravel a mystery that has been thrust upon them through the discovery of a middle-aged man lying in the road near the Kipsley place, last Sunday. His face and head were badly cut and bruised, at first glance giving the appearance of having been caused by a club or some blunt instrument, and when eventually roused to consciousness it was only to reveal the fact that he had almost a total lapse of memory. Continued questioning has failed to derive any information from him and at the present time he is at the home of Mrs. Barbara Pavillard, near Round Top schoolhouse, seeking vainly to recall his name and residence.

The stranger is a French-American and when found wore clothes of good material. Some women passing along the road saw him lying beneath a clump of bushes and they notified nearby farmers of the fact. He was picked up by William Jones, and several others, of Mount Bethel, who revived him and sought to learn what had happened him. The stranger shrugged his shoulders when questioned and smiled affably, despite the battered condition of his features, when asked his name. A search of his pockets revealed a business card of the Dreyfus restaurant, Beech street, Boston, and a return ticket on the New Jersey Central from Plainfield to New York.

In response to a query as to whether he remembered being in Plainfield he said he thought he had but it was impossible for him to recall how he had gotten from the railroad station to the mountain road where he was picked up. He nods assent when asked if he came from Boston to visit friends, but dozens of attempts have failed to get the slightest hint as to the name of the people. He does recall the fact that he had a grip filled with various papers and bits of property and the road near where he was found has been searched thoroughly in the hope of finding it. So far it has not turned up.

From the words dropped now and then by the stranger, it is believed that his home is in Boston and the authorities have planned to search in that direction to establish his identity. He always brightens up when the Dreyfus restaurant is mentioned and it may be that he is known there. It is the general opinion that his memory underwent a lapse through a cerebral affection and that the wounds on his face and head were caused by falling in the road as he sought vaguely to get somewhere. It is also the impression that he may recover in a short time and he will be kept at the Pavillard home until his faculties return. In appearance the man is forty years of age, of slender build and medium height, and has just the suspicion of a mustache.

are afraid to be enthusiastic, they fear the criticism of present day society, they fear to be called fanatics." This is the dictum of Rev. Dr. George Edward Reed, president of Dickinson College, who spoke on "Enthusiasm and Enthusiasts," at the educational meeting conducted at the First M. E. church, last night, in connection with the church's observance of its seventy-fifth anniversary. Speaking with great power of conviction and with excellent rhetorical effect, President Reed, who is one of the leading men in educational circles in this country today, discussed the value of enthusiasm and its power in the world, as exemplified by many instances cited from religious and political history of France, England and the United States. Prefacing his remarks with a word of appreciation at his opportunity to again visit Plainfield and be with Rev. Dr. A. C. McCrea and his wife, who were both graduates of Dickinson College, Dr. Reed said:

"It seems super-arrogation to speak before an American audience on the subject of enthusiasm, but the reputation we have as a people for woman without results for three hours, Dr. W. R. Tubbs was summoned and the two doctors finally brought the woman back to consciousness. A stomach pump was used and the effect of the poison stopped. The conditions of the woman are much improved today, and she will recover.

Hanan has been in the employ of the railroad for many years and has recently promoted to section foreman. It is said he took to drinking heavily some time ago and was warned to quit the habit if he expected to hold down his job. Yesterday, it is alleged, the man was drunk again, and was discharged. Mrs. Hanan went to the authorities in the afternoon to try to persuade them that her husband be taken on again, but she was unsuccessful. Hanan was not at home when his wife took the poison.

being enthusiasts, is not a well sustained one. Herbert Spencer says that we are really indifferent about things that fire the souls of foreigners; we are enthusiasts solely in business matters—not religion or political enthusiasts.

"In a government where the voice of every man as expressed in his ballot counts—and sometimes, indeed, counts several times,—enthusiasm is to be expected. As it is, the army of speakers sent out around election time, the brass bands and the gunpowder burned to get a man sufficiently interested to vote, costs a Prize Not Yet Awarded.

The prize for the best drilled company in line at the firemen's parade at Perth Amboy Thursday has not yet been awarded, and it is possible that the Warren boys may be the winners. They created a lot of favorable comment in the line Thursday and it was announced by the judges that the award was between the Middletown, N. Y., firemen and the borough exempts. The judges got together last night again to decide upon the award, but the local firemen have as yet heard nothing from them.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Broadhurst & Currie's production of "The Lady from Lane's" a comedy with music by George Broadhurst and Gustave Kerker will be the attraction at the New Plainfield tonight.

Of all the attractions that appear this season there is none awaited with as much pleasure as the coming of the merry English musical whirl, "The Earl and the Girl," which holds forth at the New Plainfield Theatre next Monday night. The production is up to the high class that is set for all of the Shubert attractions and will doubtless be witnessed by a large and fashionable audience. Alexander Clark, will play the leading role, ably assisted by Zelma Rawlston, Clara Inge, and 60 other well known Broadway favorites. "The Earl and the Girl," ran for more than two years in the Lyric Theatre, London, and only recently closed a remarkable run at the Casino Theatre in New York City.

Oscar Figman appearing as John Winston in "The Lightning Conductor" a play from the novel of the same name, is said to have a part in which there is a real wit in many of the speeches and some exceptionally good character drawing. Mr. Figman has a most congenial role which he plays capably and it is much the best work he has done in several seasons. Mr. E. A. Weil, his manager, has surrounded him with a most excellent company and provided handsome stage settings. "The Lightning Conductor" will be at the New Plainfield Theatre next Tuesday night.

Next Wednesday night to the New Plainfield Theatre will come Owen Wister's character studies of the West—for "The Virginian" is really that. Mr. Wister, whose knowledge of the west is surpassed by that of no living writer, has, in his Virginian drawn a character at once bold and lovable, and the dramatic effort of binding the series of sketches of that character into a homogenous whole has been done so well that the play is one of the dramatic triumphs of the past two seasons. W. S. Hart will be seen in the title role. He is said to have been declared by the author his Virginian to the life. The company includes players of recognized and tried abilities, many of whom have been associated with the play from the first. Frank Campeau will continue in the role of Trampas.

Mildred and Rouclere and their superb company of twenty artists will present the glittering imaginative fantasy "The Flight of Princess Iris" at the New Plainfield Theatre, next Friday night. It is the one big novelty of the season and is presented with a competent cast of Metropolitan favorites and it is one of the few things of the season you cannot afford to miss.

There's not a dull moment in the brilliant performances. The curtain goes up promptly at 8 p. m. and until 11 it's one continuous, fast and furious rush of mystery and fantasy seasoned with delightful comedy. Ever detail of scenic and stage investiture, electrical and color effect, costuming, beauty and all the other little but important items that go to make up a perfect and exquisite entirety are in the hands of skilled, high-salaried artisans and attendants who are used to catering to the most exacting audiences in the world. Mildred and Rouclere's engagement here on Friday will be a social as well as an amusement event. Among the supporting company are Williams and Melburn, in the Minstrel and the Maid, Plateau and Dunn, the Fitzgibbon Family, Dick Leggett, Arthur Green, Herbert Williams, Robert Sheldon, Mlle. Rene and the Geisha Girl Trio.

When my back hurt the worst cold sweat stood out on me, and if I caught cold it was always settled on my kidneys. I got so bad with these troubles that I had to quit work, but though I doctored faithfully, no medicine struck the right spot, but though I doctored faithfully, no medicine struck the right spot until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Randolph's Pharmacy. TO TEACH VOTERS USE OF MACHINES

Charles O. Fuller, who was the inspector under the voting machine commission, has been retained in the same capacity by Secretary of State Dickinson, who now has charge of the machines.

The secretary of state has written to the city clerks of the principal cities of the state, directing special attention to the provision in the general election law which requires the election of officers of the districts in which voting machines have been placed, to give "instructions as to the use of voting machines to all voters who shall apply for the same," on the last day of registration, which in cities having more than $30,000 inhabitants will be next Tuesday, and in all other municipalities the following Tuesday, October 29.

The letter also requests that special instruction be given "with reference to the inerrancy of the mechanism of the machine and its infallibility, if properly set, in recording the will of the voter; and the ease, convenience and secrecy offered for splitting tickets, especially regarding the manner in which the click of the levers may be avoided, and the fact that the levers may be avoided, and the fact that the levers may be changed at will without recording a vote before the curtain is removed."

It has been demonstrated to the satisfaction of the secretary of state that the machines are infallible if properly set, and if the mechanism should get out of order further operation of the lever is impossible.

Inspector Fuller will be assisted by Edward Christopherson, of East Orange, and their work will be under the supervision of Assistant Secretary of State Smith. There are 361 machines in the state and about fifty of them have been transferred from one location to another. The inspectors will have their hands full in explaining their workings.

The balance of the appropriation transferred by the commission to the secretary of state is but $400 and the expenses of handling the machines will have to be paid, to a large extent, from the secretary's contingent fund.

REV. MR. ROEDER TALKS

President of State Civic Federation
League Says He Claims Relationship With Carl Schurz.

At the closing session of the New Jersey Women's Christian Temperance Union in Lafayette M. E. Church, Jersey City, yesterday morning, the Rev. Adolph Roeder, of Orange, president of the State Civic Federation League, gave the address, speaking on "State Civic Federation," and touching on the political situation in New Jersey.

"The Bishops' law is the issue interesting both parties," he said. "And back of the Bishops' law there is a movement to establish that foreign Sunday in this country. I am a German by birth," he continued, "and claim relationship with Carl Schurz, but not with such men as Carl Lentz."

Mr. Roeder said that while he is a church worker he is not a political worker, but to know that the outcome of the present campaign depends largely upon the women, not only the women of the W. C. T. U., but the entire body of women throughout the state. "Stand by your ideals," he said, "insist on the highest type of public school training and your ideal of womanhood. You do not want the French type of womanhood or the English type; you want the American type of womanhood."

In answer to a question Mr. Roeder explained the local option law in all its phases. Concluding he said: "The Bishops' law will be retained. No man in his proper sense whether his name begins with an F or a K will attempt to tamper with the Bishops' law."

Before closing the convention decided the place to hold the next convention in 1908. Mrs. Eleanor C. Maurer, county president of Atlantic county, extended an invitation to have the convention in Atlantic City, which was accepted.

The final service of the convention this morning was led by Mrs. Mary L. Woodruff, of Flemington, who gave a Bible reading for mothers and daughters, taking the life of Joshua for her parable. She urged the women to keep in touch with the Lord that they might reach out and avail themselves of the opportunity He puts in their way to do good.

Mrs. C. Lippincott, of Morristown, gave the report of the department of franchise. She said in part: "The women of New Jersey are coming to realize that the principles of equal suffrage for all citizens are just and right. An evidence of this was given at a recent county convention, when nearly every woman rose in response to the question whether they would like to exercise the privilege of the ballot."

Mrs. Lippincott said that the W. C. T. U. women were using every effort in the interest of franchise legislation and petition and that much has been accomplished.

The committee on resolutions offered a resolution commending the action of the fire department of Hackensack and Somerville in excluding intoxicants from their recent parades, and advised similar action on the part of the fire companies in different localities, and that a copy of the resolution be sent to each fire department.

A resolution was also adopted to uphold the Bishops law in all its restrictive features "as a step toward the ultimate annihilation of the liquor traffic in New Jersey."

A further resolution was adopted to petition the President of the United States and the Secretary of War against the playing of Sunday baseball and other games at the army and navy posts.

Last Game of the Season.
Probably the last local baseball game of the season will be played at Crescent Oval this afternoon between the local Y. M. C. A. and Brooklyn Y. M. C. A. teams. The Brooklyn aggregation is considered one of the strongest in the Metropolitan district.

WE LACK ENTHUSIASM

party from four to ten millions of dollars every presidential election. And at that, only two-thirds of the people vote. I consider that the astonishing lack of enthusiasm in the discharge of political duty is a shameful thing in the political life of our people today.

"There is also a marked lack of enthusiasm in religion. There is nothing gratifying in the progress of the Christian church today, there is no appreciable religious growth. Methodists always claim to be enthusiasts, but it is becoming hard now to even make headway against the sweeping tide of worldliness, and the small attendances, listlessness, lethargy and want of energy and life is bringing severe comment on the church today.

"The average man is offended to be called an enthusiast, for the quality when applied means that the man has a marked lack of poise and is governed by his emotions. Enthusiasts are despised in a community. But there has never been a single great movement in the world's history which was not the result of enthusiasm. Leaders of religion and politics from the very beginning of history have all been red hot enthusiasts. Carlisle says that 'Enthusiasm is the fundamental qualification of all great souls,' and none of the really great men have anything to say against it. An enthusiast is a person with a soul on fire—a man able to kindle others by the fire burning in his own breast. Such men have lifted the great world and pushed it forward.

"People are afraid of being called enthusiasts, because enthusiasm is often confounded with fanaticism. I will tell you the difference: A fanatic is one who becomes stirred and excited over something of infinitesimal moment; an enthusiast is one whose feelings are aroused over something of tremendous moment to individual and society. Largeness of the idea differentiates the two. People are afraid to be called enthusiasts because of the present rank of culture. We are but half educated. There is a more general culture, more uniform education in Japan, though a young nation, than there is in America today. Culture makes a person critical, and thus brings a waning of enthusiasm. The fear of what Mrs. Grundy will say always keeps us on guard.

"This difference to proprieties has penetrated into religion. I like to see enthusiasm in the church—in the pulpit and in the 'amen corner.' Every church today needs at least one good, red-hot Christian enthusiast. The trouble with our churches and sermons is that there is too much reason and too little religion of sensibility; too much intellect and too little heart.

"An enthusiast cannot be superficial in his thinking. Let every one of you think continually of his relationship to God and your careless lethargic Christianity will become flaming enthusiasm. Enthusiasm involves identification with a cause at a cost. The young men of today have no enthusiasm, for they are not with a cause. Let them become interested in politics, religion, education or philanthropy and they will become enthusiasts. In conclusion let me say that I believe that the greatest power for kindling enthusiasm in man's soul is to have in him a sense of the presence of God, quickening him by the Divine presence within.

James R. Joy, superintendent of the Sunday school, presided at the meeting and prayer was offered by Rev. W. W. Youngson, D. D., pastor of St. James M. E. Church. Elizabeth, Rev. W. F. Anderson, who will preach tomorrow evening, gave the benediction. Music was a feature of the service and Miss Bertha Van N. Willis' solo was well received. Choir-master J. Edmund Skiff was at the organ.

The week's services in celebration of the diamond jubilee will conclude tomorrow. The Rev. Bishop John Heyl Vincent, D. D., L. L. D., will be the speaker at the church both morning and evening. Dr. Vincent, for whom Vincent Chapel was named, came on from Indianapolis today, and is staying at the home of his brother, Charles Vincent, at Fanwood. He will preach at the morning service at 10.30 and will address the Sunday-school in Vincent Chapel at 3.15.

In the evening, Bishop Vincent will speak at the final service of the big anniversary celebration. His topic will be "Two Great American Preachers." In the morning the collection will be to defray the expenses of the anniversary celebration. There will be special music at all of tomorrow's services.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

If the automobile line wishes to prove a success it should keep to its schedule time. A party seeing the auto on its way to the Lehigh Valley depot waited one hour and a half for its return trip to Plainfield, but it did not show up, and it was supposed to have gone down Maple avenue, instead of Plainfield avenue as advertised, consequently it was too late to go to Plainfield when the auto made its appearance on the next trip.

A meeting was held of the Volunteer Fire Company in Temperance Hall last night and matters of importance were transacted. Two new members were elected, and a committee appointed to make all necessary arrangements for a ball to be given Election Eve, proceeds to be used as the fire department deem proper.

Berlin has a restaurant where a beefsteak prepared in the highest style of culinary art costs $4.50, and the waiter expects a tip of 50 cents.

There was last year only ninety department stores in Germany, where such stores have aroused a much more bitter animosity than in the United States.

PASSING OF THE ROUND-UP.

Railroads Reaching Into Cattle Country Will End Picturesqueness.

That most picturesque feature of cattle raising on the western plains, the great "round up," will soon be among the things of the past. The railroads are stretching their long lines through the very heart of the range country and in place of the terminal station at which thousands of cattle were gathered from the surrounding country to be shipped to eastern markets there will be many stations at convenient distances and within easy reach of the diminishing herds that still crop fatness from the buffalo grass. The range "round up" was always a thrilling sight. Cattle by tens of thousands were sought out from the hills and valleys by scores of range riders, those bearing brands to be cut out in herds by themselves. There were many days of hard work for the cowboys, followed by many other days and nights of drinking and carousing, which lasted until the last train started on its eastern way. The great range is rapidly passing and in its place is coming the fenced pasture of the small farm. This change is gradual, but rapid. Thousands of range cattle are now sent to the corn states every year to be fattened for market, but with the development and settlement of the great range country the grass-fed steer will soon be a curiosity in the large stock yards.

HE'LL STICK TO HIS PIPE.

One Man, at Least, Has the Courage of His Convictions.

One particular objection many of the men patrons have to the big palatial hotels in the cities is that they can't smoke their favorite pipes in the public halls without becoming the cynosure of all eyes. "The other evening," said a guest at the St. Regis, "I sat down in one of the comfortable armchairs in the hall to enjoy my old pipe that's been my constant friend for the last seven years. There were several people sitting near me most of whom were men, and one or two were smoking cigars or cigarettes. I didn't see a pipe in sight anywhere, and that made me a little uncertain as to whether I should be violating an etiquette rule of the house. I drew out my briar and, after I had got it going comfortably, I noticed that the guests near me began to melt away by ones and twos, until presently I was left with a good share of the hall to myself. Some of them did not leave the hall altogether, but moved to seats farthest from me. Of course, I knew what the cause was, but I didn't care. In my opinion, the man who smokes a pipe is a heap sight better than any dozen men who smoke cigars and cigarettes."

New Interest in Chemistry.

The establishment of pure food commissions has inspired many young men to take up the study of chemistry with a view to securing a position on one of those commissions. Scores of men, who already have qualified for the regular drug store trade are now devoting additional time to the study of extra courses in chemistry. All hope to gain a federal appointment as an expert on pure foods. Not more than one-third of the ambitious fellows now immersed in experimental laboratories will get the position they are working for, but the public will profit indirectly by their present enthusiasm because every last one of them will become more competent druggists through their studies of the adulterations of foods.

Belling a Rat.

You have probably read or heard that the best way to rid a house of rats is to catch one and fasten a bell about its neck. A boy in Delaware tried the experiment two months ago. He was badly bitten in making the bell fast, but he turned the rat loose and expected the tinkling of that bell would have great results. It did have. In the first place, the rat who wore it was constantly on the move all night, and the tinkling bell kept the family awake, and in the next the sounds brought scores of new rats to the house. Instead of being afraid of the bell, they were charmed with the music. Another rat's tied a harmonica to his neck and the rodents would have had a dance every night.

A Peripatetic Investment.

When the scallop is full grown it is able to swim with great rapidity by opening and closing the valves of its shell. This curious fact, says What to Eat, was unknown to an unfortunate Frenchman who undertook a few years ago to establish a scallop plantation on a quiet New England beach. He deposited several thousand scallops in shallow water, expecting them to breed, but when he looked for them the next day all of them had fled.

A Difference of Extremes. Some one wrote in a paper that a cure for fatigue after a hard day was to hold the feet in mustard water for ten minutes, but, reading hastily, the lady read, "hold the face in mustard water for ten minutes." She tried it, but did not continue the cure for ten minutes by any means, and she did not go shopping for several days afterwards.

A Cynical Instructor. "Father," said little Rollo, "what is a great man?" "A great man," my son, is one who manages to gather about him a corps of assistants who will take the blame for his mistakes while he gets the credit for any good ideas."

STORIES OF THE SECRET SERVICE

BY CAPTAIN PATRICK D. TYRRELL.

STORY No. 5

The Boscobel Koniackers

Being an Account of the Capture and Conviction of the Band of Counterfeiters Operating in Wisconsin in 1878.

By CAPTAIN PATRICK D. TYRRELL.

Added by Miner, Ballard obtained valuable information from the engraving department of the government. In 1862 Ballard produced for Miner and Henry C. Cole a plate of the one dollar United States treasury. His next was a plate of the two-dollar bill of the National Shoe & Leather bank, of New York. From that he went to $10 counterfeit of three national banks of Poughkeepsie, the $20 bill of the Shoe & Leather bank, and then to the $100 and $500 "old issue" United States treasury notes.

Ballard had a comfortable residence at No. 225 West Fifty-third street, and here was supposed to be a painter. He left home every morning at seven o'clock to go to the carriage factory, in which he was interested, but instead of going there he went to No. 256 Rivington street, where his brother John lived, and where the counterfeiting plant was located. The neighbors at No. 256 Rivington street believed Ballard to be a watchman in the custom house, and he left there regularly in the evening to go to work, but in reality went home. He lived this dual life without detection for years.

The government at that time had a contract with the Glenn mills, at West Chester, Pa., for its entire output of the celebrated "fiber" paper, the mills being run under supervision of government officials to prevent the paper or the secret of its manufacture being stolen. Ballard, in addition to being a high-class engraver, was the only man in the world who could successfully make this paper outside of the Glenn mills. As an engraver, chemist, paper-maker and ink manufacturer, Ballard

There was no evidence that the Ballards accomplished much in the line of producing "coney" while in the west.

It is only fair that I here call attention to the fact that from this point any credit accruing to the secret service for the ultimate discovery of the engravers and producers of the $100 Wilkesbarre, Boston and New Bedford bills should be bestowed on A. L. Drummond and other operatives in the eastern division of the service. In the west we had first found the bills, determined beyond doubt their eastern origin, showed the connection between Conway and the Ballards and indicated that in Conway's associates while in the east the secret service would probably find the producers of the bills.

As I have pointed out, the Ballards had given Conway credentials when he started east which, with his arrest and conviction for horse stealing, was sufficient to satisfy the eastern contingent that he was a safe man with whom to "do business." I had carefully preserved Conway's testimony at his Springfield trial, in which he told of his places of residence and some of his movements in New York, and forwarded them to headquarters, although Conway probably had no idea that the information he gave at that time would be of any value to us. It proved, however, to be of much service to the eastern operatives in unearthing the crowd that issued the bills which Conway had "shoved" in the west.

There were in the United States in the year 1879 but four men capable of producing such high-class plates as those from which had been printed the $100 bills received in Chicago from several western points. These were Charles F. Ulrich, Benjamin Boyd, Thomas Ballard and Charles H. Smith. Each of these men possessed a distinctive style, which was familiar to the members of the secret service who had made these things the subject of long study. Ulrich's method was to lay before him a genuine bill of the issue he intended to counterfeit and laboriously and as faithfully as possible copy it on steel.

Boyd was the inventor and sole owner of a process whereby he transferred by the use of acids a reproduction of the genuine bill on to a steel plate, after cutting the plate by the lines transferred. Ballard used the copying process, but his work was much finer than Ulrich's, and had a distinct character under the microscope. Smith was at that time an engraver in the employ of the United States treasury department, and his work showed clearly the distinctive character of government engraving. Boyd was in prison, and the work on the bills was apparently not that of Ballard nor Ulrich.

For some time the secret service officers had had pretty accurate information of the operations of the band to which Smith belonged. W. E. Brockway was the leader of this crowd and enjoyed the distinction of being the first man who used the electrolytic process. He was also a fine chemist, but Smith did the engraving. For years Smith had been employed by the government in engraving plates for currency and bonds, and his character was supposed to be above reproach. I do not know how he became entangled with Brockway. The third principal member of this crowd was James B. Doyle, who owned a 600-acre farm near Bradford, Ill. Doyle had a brother-in-law named Thomas Shotwell, who was a counterfeiter.

Through Shotwell, presumably, Doyle had met Dr. Parker, Louis Sleight and other well-known western counterfeiters, and had made a trip to New York, where he had formed the business connection with Brockway and Smith. When he came west he brought with him some of the same bills we were trying to trace. Doyle's visit to New York had been reported to headquarters by the western division, and he was "piped" in that city by Operative Kenoch, at the order of Chief Operative Drummond.

When Doyle left the eastern metropolis for Chicago, Kenoch was on the same train, and Doyle was arrested as he stepped from the train in Chicago. He was tried and convicted. At the time of his arrest he had in his possession counterfeit United States bonds representing $204,000. These also were from plates made by Smith. They were absolutely perfect with the exception of a slight inaccuracy in the margin on one corner, and would have made the government a lot of trouble if they had not been confiscated.

Smith worked in the treasury department engraving room on genuine plates
