

M'CARDELL IS VINDICATED

Jury Awards Him Verdict in Suit Against Courier-News
and R. L. Lee for Libel.

DAMAGES NOMINAL

Plaintiff Couldn't Show That He Had Suffered from Publication of Defamatory Article—Mr.
McCardell Pleased.

In the Circuit Court, at Elizabeth, shortly after noon today, a verdict was awarded Andrew McCardell in his suit against the Courier-News and former Tax Collector Robert L. Lee for libel. Nominal damages, six cents, were given, it not being shown that the object of the alleged scurrilous attack had suffered to any extent as a result of the alleged vicious attack made on him in that newspaper. Mr. McCardell was greatly pleased over the verdict as were his counsel, Walter L. Hetfield, Sr., and Winfield S. Anglemann, both of whom fought for a vindication rather than for heavy damages.

The case went to the jury at noon, after several witnesses had been examined. When the trial, begun yesterday afternoon, was resumed this morning, former Councilman William Starr Bullock was called to corroborate the testimony of former Councilman Stephen Higham and Mr. Lee that Mr. McCardell had uttered the alleged words forming the basis for the suit. Former Mayor James F. Buckle and George J. Tobin for the plaintiff were subsequently called to testify that they were present on the occasion referred to and that they did not hear any such language used by Mr. McCardell, corroborating the testimony of Councilmen Ralph I. Tolles and William L. Gloak, both of whom were also present.

As counsel for the defense, George W. Moy summoned Ralph L. Morrow to the stand to show that Mr. McCardell was alleged to have given The Daily Press permission to publish the alleged defamatory article when suit was about to be brought by him. Judge Vail refused to allow such testimony to be put in evidence. On cross-examination by Mr. Anglemann, Mr. Morrow declared that the article in question had been handed to him on the morning of the same day in which it appeared in the Courier and that he had refused to publish Mr. Lee's article on the ground that it was libelous and defamatory. After both sides had summed up, Judge Vail charged the jury on the law. In a short time afterwards, the jury returned a verdict for Mr. McCardell. The verdict does not carry with it costs of court. No notice of appeal was made by Mr. Moy.

SON SUES FATHER'S ESTATE.

Cut Off in Will, Gets a Verdict of $22 for Board.
South Amboy, Oct. 25.—Thomas Hardy, of this place, was plaintiff in an action in the Circuit Court at New Brunswick yesterday against the estate of his father, George Hardy, for board. The son claimed that his father lived with him for five years; that he had agreed to pay $20 a month board and that at the time of his death he owed $22. On cross-examination, it was brought out that the elder Hardy had not left his son anything in the will and that the suit was not instituted until the contents of the will were known. The jury gave a verdict for $22 to the son.

Honors for Metuchen Postmaster.

C. Mr. Pierson has been postmaster less than a year. He has two assistants at the office, which is one of the busiest in the State for a place of its size.

STREET WORK NOW PROGRESSING FAVORABLY

The street improvement work in the business section of the city is now progressing more favorably. Contractor William Foley, who has charge of the brick work, returned this morning and with the aid of two experts will rush the job as rapidly as possible. The block on Park avenue, between the railroad and Fourth street, as well as Somerset street, will be completed today and the grouting process will be started immediately, so that these thoroughfares may be opened at the earliest possible date.

The brick work will then be started on West Front street, between Madison avenue and Somerset street, with the idea of opening one side of the thoroughfare while the other is torn up. It was decided this morning by City Engineer Garrett that in opening East Front street, only the center shall be disturbed at present. The Public Service Corporation will continue its work of laying the double tracks and upon the completion of that the brick will be laid between the double tracks and eighteen inches on either side, leaving the roadway either side of that open for traffic. This plan was thought best until it is seen what kind of weather is forthcoming. If it remains fair then one side of Front street will be opened at a time so that it will not be blocked entirely during the laying of the brick.

MANY SOCIETY WOMEN

A delightful society event of yesterday was a luncheon given by Mrs. George A. Chapman, of Stelle avenue for Mrs. Gernon and her daughters, the Misses Gernon, of Crescent avenue. More than one hundred invitations were issued to the affair and over seventy-five guests were present. The large room was used for the seating of the guests and this was elaborately decorated with autumn foliage and chrysanthemums.

Annoyed by Stories That He Is Lost.

Metuchen, October 25.—Former Sheriff William Carman has been greatly annoyed by stories circulated to the effect that he has been missing since Monday night, when he attended a lodge meeting in New Brunswick and missed the last train home. He remained all night at the Union Club and hurried home next morning. His family were slightly worried that night and the story grew and spread rapidly that he had disappeared.

Biglow May Row on Yale Crew.

KEPT WEDDING A SECRET

Newspaper Notice Informs
Friends of Marriage of Well Known Local Couple.

CEREMONY LAST MONTH

Performed at Jersey City and United Miss Sarah Elizabeth Hand
and James Wiswall Drayton.

DRAYTON — HAND — At Jersey City, N. J., by the Rev. George H. Mooney, Sarah Elizabeth Hand, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Hand, to James Wiswall Drayton, of Plainfield, N. J.

The above notice inserted in a New York paper this morning informed Plainfielders for the first time of the marriage of two widely known residents, Miss Sarah Elizabeth Hand, daughter of Assessor and Mrs. Charles H. Hand, of Belvidere avenue, and James Wiswall Drayton, of East Ninth street. The announcement came as a great surprise and is still more so from the fact that the ceremony was performed last month but was kept a secret by the couple.

When Mrs. Drayton was asked about the wedding by a Daily Press reporter, she declared there was nothing more to be said. The ceremony took place at the home of Mr. Mooney in Jersey City and only the necessary witnesses were in attendance. They afterward returned to Plainfield and have since been living at their respective homes, saying nothing about the wedding for reasons known to themselves.

The couple will leave today for an extended wedding trip and at its conclusion they will make their home at 1212 Martine avenue, where a new residence completely furnished awaits them.

Both Mr. Drayton and his bride are widely known throughout the city and borough. The latter has always resided in Plainfield and in recent years has been in charge of her father's extensive real estate business. Mr. Drayton has also lived here practically all his life and holds a responsible position in New York.

DAVIS AS BUSINESS MAN.*Hudson Boss Accumulates in 15

Years $540,000 of Realty.

Jersey City, Oct. 25.—In addition to the sixty-five pieces of property in Jersey City, assessed at $275,485, Robert Davis, the Democratic boss of Hudson county, owns $148,000 worth of property in Kearny and Harrison, and $96,000 worth in other Hudson municipalities. Besides, he owns stocks and bonds in various corporations, the value of which he alone knows, but his friends declare that he is more than a millionaire.

All this has been accumulated, it is said, since 1892, when the Republicans gained control of the Jersey City Mayoralty. At that time a friend loaned him $10,000 to start the Jersey City Supply Company, which has since done a good business in furnishing supplies to the Hudson Board of Freeholders, Jersey City Board of Works and to other municipalities and contractors therefor throughout the county.

Stanley Robbins, president of the boys' department; Stanley Carner, vice president; Alfred Manley, secretary; Wilbur Dunning, chairman of the religious work committee of the boys, and Russell Morriss, chairman of the social work committee of the department.

During the three days of the convention there will be daily sessions and the policy of the boys' department in association work will be discussed, together with routine business. There will be several special religious services, led by men prominent in Association work in the State. The local delegation will be entertained at the Ridgewood Y. M. C. A.

A simple service was held yesterday in New York city and the body was removed today to her former home at Millport, N. Y., for interment. A memorial service will be held in the Claremont Park church, in the Bronx, Sunday morning, November 3, at 11 o'clock.

READY FOR KATZENBACH

Plans Have Been Completed for the Reception to the Candidate.

ON NEXT WEDNESDAY

No Address at Plainfield, But Remainder of Schedule for County Tour Is Unchanged.

Several changes have been found necessary in the plans laid by the Democratic campaign committee for the tour of Union county to be made by Frank S. Katzenbach next Wednesday, but as far as this city is concerned the schedule originally announced will be adhered to. Owing to difficulty experienced in securing a suitable hall and making satisfactory arrangements for transportation, the committee has decided to eliminate the speech which was to have been made in Plainfield and during the evening the candidate will deliver only two addresses, one in this city and one in Rahway.

Mr. Katzenbach and his party will return to Elizabeth from the tour of the county about 6 o'clock in the evening, and he will then be the guest of General D. F. Collins at dinner at the Elizabeth Club. At 7 o'clock Mr. Katzenbach and his escort will proceed to the Port in carriages.

General Collins has announced that nearly 3,000 Democrats from nearby towns will be in evidence. The procession will make its way up town and at different points the Democratic ward clubs will fall in. There will be no scarcity of red fire and music and from all indications next Wednesday night will be one to remain long in the memory of local Democrats.

When Mr. Katzenbach arrives in Elizabeth at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning he will be met by the Democratic campaign committee and a number of touring cars will be in readiness at the Burklely to whirl the candidate and his party throughout the county. The start will be made as soon after 10 o'clock as possible in order to allow the speakers sufficient time to cover the route mapped out. Barring delays the committee anticipates no difficulty in touching at all the points originally mentioned with the exception of Plainfield, and it is probable that the return to this city will not be later than 6 o'clock.

There will be a meeting of the Colored Democratic Club of Elizabeth on Monday evening at which plans will be completed for participating in the parade next Wednesday and the colored voters are prepared to make their presence felt. They will turn out at least 75 strong.

A meeting of the parade committee of the campaign body has been called for tonight at which the finishing touches will be given to the arrangements for the procession, and all will be in readiness tomorrow.

It is probable that a dozen automobiles will be required to carry the candidate and his party and the campaign committee will take no chances on falling short in this respect. There will be plenty of machines and everything has been done to insure a successful tour of the county.

FINANCIAL HYSTERIA CAUSES SUSPENSIONS

Announcement was made in New York today that the Borough Bank, of Brooklyn, the Harlem Savings Bank, of New York, and a small savings institution at Providence, R. I., had been closed temporarily as a result of the financial condition in the city. The officers of each institution declared them to be solvent and that they would be reopened within a few days.

The condition of the market today was one of hopefulness, the large sums of money being placed to the credit of banking institutions yesterday having a sanguinary effect. It is now generally believed that the worst is over and that while it may take some time to regain a normal condition, it will surely come and that banks and trust companies generally will be generally benefitted by the shakeup.

Mrs. Mary Duffy.

Mrs. Mary Duffy, a former resident of Raritan, died yesterday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ward, of New street. She was seventy-three years old and had lived in this city but a short time. The funeral will be held in St. Bernard's church, Raritan, tomorrow morning and burial will be made in that place.

Fruits and vegetables both in and out of season are always to be found at Neuman Bros. store. Bartlett and sickle pears and table and cooking apples will be features in tomorrow's display.

CLANS' RECEIPTS, $4,242

Mrs. W. L. C. Glenney, Treasurer of the Big Gets, Announces the Gross Receipts.

REPORT OF BOOTHS

What Each Attraction Took In During the Six Days When Society Worked For Charity.

After long and tedious sessions "straightening out accounts" by those in charge of the various booths at the "Gathering of the Clans," the reports of the chairmen and chairwomen of the different committees have finally all been handed in, and Mrs. W. L. C. Glenney, treasurer of the Women's Auxiliary Board of Muhlenberg Hospital, under the auspices of which the mammoth fete was held, announced today that the gross receipts total to $4,242.17. There is a possibility that other money may come in yet, but the reports of the various booths show that this amount was taken in during the six days that society worked for charity.

Mrs. Glenney and her co-workers cannot yet announce what the net receipts of the affair will be, for their work in financing the big fete is but half through. The expenses must be considered and there are scores of bills to be paid before funds which poured in when the Clans gathered can be turned over to the hospital. The "bills against the Clans" are about all in, and within a week, the financial committee will have completed its work.

The gross receipts from each of the booths were announced by Mrs. Glenney as follows this afternoon: Books, $79.47; ball game, $35.41; candy, $312.40; cane rack, $77.31; dinners, $164.85; dolls, $102.55; flowers, $73; fancy work (total receipts from the eight tables), $1,027.64; fortune-telling tent, $13.50; Ingersoll watch booth, $126.96; hot dogs, $181.12; industrial booth, $88.45; ice cream, $31.20; lemonade, $46.61; minstrel show, $109.55; orange grove, $100.09; novelties, $38.65; preserves, $141.02; peanuts and popcorn, $20.42; pancake stand, $74.06; shooting gallery, $35.80; stationery, $266.67; tobacco, $131.28; Welsh rarebit table, $317.13; professional entertainers, on the grounds, $39.12; silhouettes, $93.45; cloak room, $16.97; hat room, $4.55; horse show, $23.10. The amount taken in from admissions during the fete totalled to $439.26 and the donations up to noon today amount to about $77.

W. C. T. U. HEARS REPORTS OF THE STATE CONVENTION.

Reports from the State W. C. T. U. convention held at Jersey City last week, were presented at a meeting of the local union held in the rooms on Madison avenue, yesterday afternoon. Those who reported were Mrs. P. H. Bennett and Mrs. M. Winter, while Mrs. E. A. Parse also had something to say about the State gathering. The delegates told in an interesting manner of the various features of the convention, including the Bible readings, the reports of the State officers showing the great progress being made along the lines of temperance. The reports afforded much encouragement to the local members in their work. Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson, who is county president of the union, gave her report on Sunday, but she added a few words yesterday to the other reports.

At a business meeting of the union arrangements were completed for the fair to be held at the rooms on Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. The committee in charge stated that all the details are well in hand.

Thomas J. Kane.

Thomas J. Kane, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kane, of West Third street, died this morning in Muhlenberg Hospital where he had been undergoing treatment the past six weeks for a complication of troubles. He was thirty-two years old and had resided in Plainfield all his life until a few years ago when he went to Brooklyn. He was a mason by trade and was in the employ of his uncle, a contractor. When the illness began which ended in his death he decided to come to the home of his parents and from there entered Muhlenberg. Surviving him are two brothers, Martin and Michael Kane, and one sister, Miss Winifred Kane. The funeral arrangements have not been made.

Several Men Want Contract.

Several men who desire the job of carrying the mails between the post office and railroad station, have submitted bids for the work. Ambrose Withrow, colored, at present holds the contract, it having been sublet to him by the man who originally had it. He is one of those who has bid for the contract. No announcement will be made by the postal authorities as to who the lowest bidder is until November 1.

"KINGSTON COTTAGE" DESTROYED BY FIRE

"Kingston Cottage," at Lake Hopatcong, the handsome summer home of Mrs. Eustice, of New York, was known to Plainfielders, was entirely destroyed by fire early last night. The cottage was unoccupied and what started the blaze is a mystery. The few people now at the lake were unable to stay the progress of the fire and beside it had gained such headway that their efforts would have been futile.

The cottage was located close to the "Ithaca Cottage," and occupied a prominent site at the head of the River Styx. Frank Weed, of the borough, who left yesterday for the lake to spend a few days fishing, was among those who witnessed the conflagration.

Mrs. Eustice and her family left the cottage a few weeks ago, taking all the necessary precautions to protect it during the winter season. The fire was not discovered until the whole dwelling was enveloped in flames and it was impossible to discover in what part of the building it started.

This is the second cottage at the lake that has been destroyed by fire within two weeks. "Casadora," the former summer home of F. T. Woolhull, having fallen prey to flames on October 14.

BASKETBALL SCHEDULE FOR LEAL'S SCHOOL TEAM

Though the local basketball season will not begin for more than two weeks, Manager Dudley Brown, of the Leal's school five, has already scheduled eight games with high schools and preparatory schools and is arranging for others. The schoolboys will open their season with a practice game with the Y. M. C. A. team at the association gymnasium Monday night, but the first scheduled game by the management is with the five from the New York Collegiate School, which will be played here Friday afternoon, December 6.

Manager Brown has completed arrangements for the use of the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium for the home games of the season, and five of the eight contests scheduled so far will be played in this city. Of the out of town games, the first will be with Betts Academy, and the local five will go to Stamford, Conn., for the game late in January. This is the longest of the out of town trips, the others being return games with Pennington Academy, at Pennington, and with the New York Collegiate School, at New York city. Both of these games will be in February. This return game with the New York Collegiate will conclude the season, coming February 28.

The schedule, as arranged to date, was given out by Manager Brown today as follows: Friday, December 6, New York Collegiate School, at Plainfield; Monday, December 10, Hudson River Military Academy, at Plainfield; Thursday, December 13, Kingsley School, of Essex Fells, at Plainfield; Friday, January 17, Pennington Academy, at Plainfield; Friday, January 24, Betts Academy, at Stamford, Conn.; Friday, February 7, Cartaret School, at Plainfield; Friday, February 21, Pennington Academy, at Pennington; Friday, February 28, New York Collegiate School, at New York.

The majority of the games will be played in the afternoon, and Manager Brown has arranged as far as possible to leave Saturdays free because of the probability that games in the local interscholastic basketball league will be played Saturday. The representatives of the schools to be represented in the scholastic league have not as yet held a meeting to form the league or arrange a schedule. Other dates are pending with schools in the vicinity, but no other dates have as yet been secured.

MARRIED BY THE RABBI AT THE ARLINGTON HOTEL

In a simple ceremony performed by Rabbi Max Davidson at the Arlington Hotel on Somerset street last evening, Miss Lena Jacobson became the wife of Jacob Jacobson. The bride and groom were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Morris Farban, and there were about twenty-five present at the ceremony, which was performed in the hotel parlor. The bride has only been in this country a few months, having come over from Russia in August. Jacobson is in business in New York and has been staying at the Arlington Hotel. The couple will make their home in the borough.

At the conclusion of the ceremony a reception was held at the hotel. The evening was passed informally, and later a collation was served.

S. Scheuer & Co. promise a big display of fruits and vegetables tomorrow morning. Give them a call.

LOCAL MAN A SUICIDE

Discovery of Jacob Scharf's Body Leads to Story of Murder Mystery.

POLICE LEARN FACTS

Stabbed Himself With His Own Knife
—Formerly Worked at Pond's and Lived On West
Fifth Street.

After several New York detectives had worked the greater part of yesterday on the theory that a murder mystery was to be unravelled, they succeeded in establishing the fact that the body of a man found in Madison Square Park, Wednesday night, was that of Joseph Scharf, of Plainfield, and that he had committed suicide. The story of a park pedestrian to the effect that he had seen three men get out of a cab and proceed to a tree beneath which the body was discovered a short time afterward, is what led to the "mystery."

The police were at first inclined to believe that Scharf had been murdered in some nearby place and carried to the park and the impression was strengthened when it was learned that the man had been stabbed through the heart but not through the clothing. A dragnet was thrown out and several people who were known to have been in the park at about the time the "mysterious" cab drove up, were arrested and held as witnesses. They were afterward released.

In the search conducted by the detective they came upon a knife a few feet from where the body was found, afterward identified as Scharf's, and they learned that he had been acting queerly at the Waverly Hotel on Eighth avenue, where he lived. The only thing about the whole affair that remained a mystery was the man's reason for stabbing himself beneath his clothing.

Scharf was well known in this city and was employed until two months ago in the blacksmith department at the Pond shop. He boarded at the home of Charles Heper, of West Fifth street, and left there when he lost his position. He announced to the family and friends that he was going to New York to seek a place and that if he did not he would return. Cards in his pocket giving his Plainfield address led to his identification.

MISS ARLINE BROWN WINS ORATORICAL CONTEST.

Her Selection, "A Daughter's Sacrifice," Declared the Best
by Judges.

The silver medal oratorical contest held at the First Presbyterian church last night, under the auspices of the W. C. T. U., was largely attended and a success. There were a number of contestants for the prize, and after careful deliberation the judges awarded the medal to Miss Arline Brown, whose selection, "A Daughter's Sacrifice," was considered the best. The judges were Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring, H. C. Krebs and Kenneth Robie, and the medal was presented by Mrs. T. C. Bodine.

An excellent programme was given as follows:

Song, "America," piano solo, Miss Grace George; recitation, "Old Soapy," Miss Florence Fowler; vocal solo, "The Fairy's Lullaby," Mrs. Charles Clarke; recitation, "The Sober Hat," Miss Edna Doughty; piano solo, "Imps and Sprits at Work," Miss Beatrice Miner; recitation, "The Result of Treating," Miss Ida Englehart; piano solo, "Pilgrim's Chorus from Tannhauser," Miss Ruth Wean; recitation, "The Christmas Story," Miss Mary T. "Formal" Charge of Murder.

New Brunswick, October 25.—Geo. Thompson, 12 years old, and his brother, Thomas, 14, are in jail here on formal charges of murdering Abe Kaufman at Avenel on Sunday last. They will be held to await the coroner's inquest on Saturday. While County Physician Suydam did not find any marks or evidence of violence at the autopsy, Coroner Bishop decided that it would be better to hold the boys pending the inquest on account of the many stories as to a fight in which the Thompson boys are alleged to have beaten the Kaufman boy.

Window Breakers Fined.

Fred Meeker and Charles Bunn, who were arrested Wednesday night for breaking a plate glass window in a Somerset street saloon while on a drunken spree, were fined $3 apiece by Recorder Dooliver at the session of borough police court last night. The North Plainfield justice also specified that they should pay for the damage, and this they consented to do before their freedom was granted.

With Election Day a little over two weeks off, both parties in the borough are finally stirred to activity in the majority fight. The Republicans, who will support Frank Wynkoop for mayor, are the more active, and the local G. O. P. is solidly organized. The supporters of Harry Swackhamer, the Democratic candidate, have been working quietly, but have accomplished practically as much. Those who know say that the fight will be a very close one this year. Both candidates are employed out of town during the day.

Mr. Wynkoop on the Central railroad and Mr. Swackhamer in the coal business in New York city. But the two are well known among the vot-

This is the Square Pot Found only in
Boynton Furnaces

Did you ever operate a furnace made with the old-fashioned round fire pot, with its sloping sides to catch ashes and retard combustion; its grate bars of uneven length constantly requiring raking; its big waste of fuel?

Then you will appreciate the many advantages of the square fire pot used exclusively in Boynton Furnaces. Walls are perpendicular, instead of slanting; a touch of the shaker removes all ashes without clogging or the necessity of raking.

Gives 25 per cent greater heating efficiency than any other pot of equal diameter

This is the only construction in which the grate bars operate with even motion under the whole fire bed, giving quick, perfect combustion and the fullest benefit of every ounce of fuel.

There's but one square pot—found in all Boynton Furnaces. Your plumber, steam-fitter or tinsmith will gladly show you.

There are BOYNTON heating plants of all kinds. Ask about our Round or Sectional boilers for steam or hot water. Also ranges.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

FOOTBALL.

Annapolis expects a hard game with Lafayette tomorrow. Edwards, of Princeton, will referee the game and Dr. Carl Williams, of Pennsylvania, will officiate as umpire.

Lyon, Carlisle's right guard, sprained his ankle in practice this week and will be unable to play against Pennsylvania tomorrow.

The biggest change at Pennsylvania since the football season began was made Wednesday by Coach Torrey, of Montclair, when he shifted Draper, the big tackle, to centre rush. Draper is fast and weighs 200 pounds and Torrey believes he will be just the man to oppose Schultz, of Michigan, in the Ann Arbor game November 16. Schultz is also a big man, tipping the beam at 230 pounds.

Conover, the Lafayette halfback, who has been on the side lines for the past three weeks with water on the knee, resumed practice this week, and distinguished himself by making a fifty-five-yard run for a touchdown.

Captain O'Donnell, of the Holy Cross team, has been shifted to fullback, and should make one of the stars of the Eastern colleges.

Schultz, who is playing centre for Michigan, is, according to some of the best football critics in the country, the best man at that position in the colleges.

Lafayette and Lehigh are now directing their attention to the preliminary work for their annual game. All previous games were more for the purpose of outlining the available material.

Waldo Pierce, who scored Harvard's touchdown against the Navy on Saturday, promises to be one of the most valuable men to the Crimson eleven.

Carlisle has games with three of the four big colleges—Penn, Princeton and Harvard.

"Pop" Leuder is using his new line-bucking play with success at Cornell. Had it been perfected for the Penn State game the result might have been different.

Levine, Pennsylvania's former star end, is coaching the University of Tennessee, and is meeting with great success.

Yale's work this season has not been so spectacular as that of the Tigers, but the Blue coaches have developed something that the Tigers lack—team play.

With Wylie kicking almost as well as Coy for Yale, the latter may be shifted to end, for which he is qualified.

Michman's line is not very delicate this year. Schultz, the centre, weighs 220; Graham, right guard, 205; the tackles 190 and 195, and two 210-pound men are working for left guard.

At Yale and Princeton the hardest work of the coaches is to discover glaring faults. There is fear that the players may become too confident after rolling up big scores.

We are, at the present time, the only Optical Experts in America who can examine an eye.

We mean exactly what we say.

If you have ever had your eyes tested for glasses, you know the methods used by people who claim to examine the eyes and fit glasses,

and they all use the same methods,

no matter where you go, to the high priced Specialist or to the 5 and 10 cent stores. They use the same old test types hung on the wall, and try on a lot of glasses, asking you "Can you read this letter?" and "Does this line look blacker?" until you are so confused that you cannot tell which glasses are correct.

After your Optician does a lot of guessing and has your eyes all out of shape, you think you have been examined.

Think this over and you can readily see that you have been doing your own examining, and that is no doubt the reason you have had trouble to

The Dammers Scientific Method is entirely different and is the only cor-

This "know how" makes Watson suits by far the best value in Newark.

We offer only thoroughly high-grade suits—every seam strong; every strain-point reinforced, every out-of-sight detail as perfect as the visible parts.

Flight of Princess Iris," will be the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre tonight.

A pretty love story, giving rise to unbounded and wholesome fun, is a decided novelty, but this is the combination furnished in "Lena Rivers," the most brilliant comedy drama success of the season, and to be presented at the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow afternoon and night, by an exceptionally clever company headed by Miss Blanch Crozier.

Joseph Santley is probably the youngest actor-author on the stage in America as well as the highest priced actor of his years. The young man has just passed his eighteenth birthday, yet he is generally regarded as being one of the best equipped of the younger generation of players. In his younger years young Santley made for himself a host of friends by his realistic portrayals of the stellar roles in various plays, most of which were written especially for him. This season he appears not only as the star, but part author as well of a play, "Billy the Kid," which as the title implies, deals with the free life of the western country. It is reported to be a strong story, logically told, and to offer to the star many opportunities. The production is reported as being very elaborate and the supporting company an exceptionally strong one. Young Santley is to present "Billy the Kid" at the New Plainfield theatre next Wednesday night.

POWDER AND BALL.

It is proposed to grade French troops not according to height, but to length of stride.

The gunpowder used in the various armies of the world is made up from different formulas, which are carefully guarded.

Experiments have recently been made with an inflammable paste on bullets. When the bullet leaves the muzzle the paste ignites, leaving a stream of smoke behind it and enabling the marksman to watch its course and if necessary correct his aim for the next shot.

THINGS THEATRICAL.

Annie Russell is to appear in a new play called "Paid in Full."

Nance O'Neill is not to appear in "His House in Order," in which John Drew is to star.

It is claimed for "The Merry Widow" that it is the biggest success in light opera since "Erminie."

Wilton Lackaye is to appear in "The Bondsman" in New Orleans and other prominent southern cities.

George Broadhurst has completed the scenario of a play in which Douglas Fairbanks is to star next season.

Mrs. Leslie Carter is to make a tour in "Du Barry," "Zaza" and "Camille." John Luther Long is writing her a new play.

Henry W. Savage has made a proposition for a tour of the United States by the company now playing "The Gypsy Baron" in Leipzig.

Four companies are now playing George Broadhurst's "The Man of the Hour." The original company will remain for its second winter at the Savoy theatre, New York.

Gertrude Quinlan, who played the role of the boarding mistress' daughter in "The College Widow" and made a big hit, is to play the leading comedy role in "Tom Jones."

CHURCH AND CLERGY.

An Esperanto church has been established in Constantinople. Its object is to afford facilities for worship to visitors of all nations.

Rev. Thomas W. Walker of the Woodlawn Baptist church, Augusta, Ga., has married 820 couples during the thirty years of his ministry.

A new Episcopal diocese cannot be created in England until a $250,000 fund has been raised voluntarily, this being to provide income for a $9,000 annual salary for a Bishop.

Rev. William E. Toll, who has just entered on his new duties as archdeacon of the Chicago diocese of the Episcopal church, was born in Bedford, England. He was ordained in Chicago, however, by Bishop Whitehouse in 1871.

The three Methodist denominations of England, now united as one great church, will issue from its book room a ten cent monthly, a two cent magazine suitable for family reading and localization and later a denominational newspaper.

MODES OF THE MOMENT.

A great deal of gold trimming will be seen this season, and of that old gold, some of it of an almost brownish tinge.

White costumes will be worn quite throughout the winter, even for street and visiting, and with these gold trimmings suggest themselves quite as a matter of course.

Velvet is tremendously popular this season, and especially suited to the styles, as the smooth fitted effects show up the richness of velvet much better than other modes.

Broadcloth is the cloth par excellence this season. It always has held its own in the very front rank of fabrics used for street costumes, but this year its scope extends beyond that, to dinner and evening gowns.

Some of the most effective of the swirling skirts are made plain, close fitting around the hips, as prescribed, and not too rippling from the knees, so that large medallions or motifs of braid set in at regular intervals around the bottom will show up well.—New York Post.

LAW POINTS.

The right of the legislature to prohibit contractors for the public work of a municipal corporation to exact from their employees more than eight hours of labor daily is sustained in Keefe versus People (Colo.), 8 L. R. A. (N. S.), 131.

Repudiation, after becoming of age, of a contract to pay for merchant disbursements which had been furnished to the promisor during minority is held in Lamkin & Foster versus Ledoux (Me.), 8 L. R. A. (N. S.), 104, not to revert title in the vendor.

The right to sell the property of a charity under execution issued on a judgment rendered for the nonfeasance, misfeasance or malfeasance of its agents or trustees is denied in Fordyce versus Woman's Christian National Library Association (Ark.), 7 L. R. A. (N. S.), 485.

FRIENDSHIP.

A really good friend is so rare that to lose one is a tragedy.

There are plenty of good friends for those who deserve them.

The greatest pity in the world is when two friends who have been useful and agreeable to each other quarrel.

When an unmarried man loses a friend by death he goes to the funeral. After he is married he sends his wife.

Have you one friend in the whole world whom you would be willing to hear everything you have said about him behind his back?—Atchison Globe.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

How kind people are to the man who is going to die!

No man is as wretched as he imagines himself to be.

You can't realize how little money there is in a five dollar bill until you break it.

If you want to know what a man's weakness is, let him do the talking, and he will mention it.

The church will not hold all who want to see a wedding, but you bet there are seats to spare at every funeral.

RAT IN COLLEGE GIRL'S LAP BREAKS UP PARTY

CAT MAKES PRESENT TO COEDS AND UNIQUE ACROBATIC PER-FORMANCE ENSUES.

New York.—Discussions of pedagogics and the "higher thought" were rudely interrupted when a small gray kitten walked into the Bryn Mawr tea-rooms, at One Hundred and Twentieth street and Broadway, and deposited a huge gray rat in the lap of one of the college girls who were drinking tea and discussing political economy.

The cat was Maltie, a gray Maltese kitten pet of Mrs. McCarr, proprietress of the establishment, patronized exclusively by Barnard and Columbia college girls.

Maltie, accustomed to praise on similar occasions, decided to display her captive to the amusement of her mistress' guests, but, to her utter amazement, a stampede ensued. The ladies, Maltie thought, were utterly lacking in appreciation, for immediately it was discovered there was a rat in their midst pandemonium reigned.

Pandemonium Reigned.

Pedagogics were forgotten. A wild flourishing of skirts to the accompaniment of screams announced the sudden agitation on the part of the strong-minded young.

Added to the commotion made by the Barnarders was the panic of the waitresses. The tray-bearing Hebes became a prey to the same wild terror. Trays were dropped, tea spilled, eggs scrambled by mistake rather than intent, while the waitresses climbed to safety on the tables.

At last a man came to the rescue. A negro porter coolly chased the offending rat to the street, while a young woman—a teacher, who ought, if only for example, to have preserved her equilibrium—screamed hysterically: "That wicked cat! Take the poor, little rat away from the monster!"

Meanwhile tabby, who had sought admiration and encountered disgrace, made a few biting remarks in feline language regarding her sex not calculated to improve the cultured atmosphere for which Bryn Mawr is noted.

YOUNG NIMRODS BAG COW.

Owner Reports Affair to Authorities,
Who Will Check Gamekeepers.

Wardner, Idaho.—After having availed all the literature describing the adventures of "Lynx-Eyed Larry" and other mighty hunters of the prairie, two Wardner youths, Harry Monger and a boy named Cook, set out to follow the examples of these illustrious gentlemen. A 22-caliber rifle having been procured, the two set out in quest of big game, which is, unfortunately, scarce in this district.

After some hours' hunt the best that had turned up in this direction were the cows out at the Collins ranch. The boys suddenly came face to face with the cows coming round a bend in the road and immediately took a shot at one of them, striking one of the best just below the backbone and making a wound that disabled it.

It happened that one of the Collins boys was behind the herd and had not noticed the game hunters, and when he came forward and demanded an explanation, the excuse was put forth that the boys thought the herd was going to trample on them, and shot in self-defense.

The matter was at once reported to the authorities and further steps will be taken at once. Collins, the proprietor of the cow, is a poor man who runs a dairy wagon in Wardner. He is the owner of a large family, and the loss of the cow is a severe blow to him.

Dog Yanks Mad Bull Away.
Stroudsburg, Pa.—Herbert Reicke, aged 85 years, was saved from a horrible death by a faithful dog. The aged man was knocked down and gored by a bull. The dog then caught the bull by the nose and held on to it with great tenacity. While the bull was bellowing around and trying to shake off the dog Reicke escaped.

Car Can't Kill This Baby.
Altamora, Pa.—"The old fender knook me down; holt me head," said Alton Fluke, aged two, as he scrambled to his feet, after being hurled some distance by a trolley car.

It was a narrow escape, and the fender saved him. He has been struck several times by trolley cars and never seriously hurt.

GOWN GOSSIP.

Longcloth coats festooned with black satin ribbon are among the elegant novelties that will be favored this winter. They are to be worn over longcloth skirts similar in shade, but untrimmed soutache will be seen on most of the cloth dresses and cloaks.

Many of the long wraps are fashioned with a great deal of fullness at the back, which may be left in gathers or brought into a box plait, and these are usually given a bordered effect by a band of the same fur cut on the cross-grain. Similar bands form the finish for the sleeves.—New York Post.

WEIRD STORY TOLD OF REINCARNATION

SOUL OF BRITISH OFFICER
KILLED IN BURMAH REENTERS BODY OF NATIVE CHILD.

TELLS ALL ABOUT SLAYING

Another Boy a Major Drowned While Boating—All Circumstances of Disaster Related with Minute Fidelity to Facts.

Rangoon.—Within the last few weeks a most extraordinary case of alleged reincarnation—claimed to be the soul of a British officer—has made its appearance in Burma. It is the second of its kind in recent years, and has accordingly attracted widespread attention.

Reincarnation is a fundamental doctrine of Buddhism, and a reincarnation of a human identity, in human form, though changed in outward aspect, is called a "minza." As a rule, the "minza" is a very ordinary looking child, in no way different from his childish companions.

A few years back A. W. Tucker, district superintendent of police in Paga, was killed by a gang of dacoits, whom he had rashly attacked at close quarters, after discharging his revolver and without waiting to reload it. His call to his orderly to fetch ammunition gave the clue to the dacoits, and they killed him.

Just about the time this tragedy was being enacted in one part of the district, a humble Burmese woman gave birth to a baby boy, who in time, before the days of his babyhood were well over, claimed to be no less a personage than the murdered police officer.

So circumstantial were his accounts of the encounter with the dacoits as to appear the narrative of an eye-witness, and when questioned on various other points in connection with the life of the deceased officer he is asserted to have answered with such exactitude that the Burmese people who flocked to hear him discourse were convinced of the truth of his assertions. Peculiarities of action and speech were faithfully reproduced, and generally, quite a sensation was created.

Within the last few weeks a still more interesting case of "minza" has made its appearance, and we quote the account of a Rangoon Times correspondent from Melkilla:

"There is a little blue-eyed, light-haired boy here, between three and four years old, the son of hard working and matter of fact Burmese parents belonging to the laboring classes, who until quite recently prattled like any other child of that age. The other day, however, he astonished his mother by gravely claiming that he was the late Maj. D. J. Welsh, border regiment, come to life again, and went on to describe the house where he had previously lived, the number of ponies he had and other personal matters.

"His mother was frightened, and called in the neighbors, to whom the queer albino repeated his story, describing how he and two others—a lady and a gentleman—were drowned in the Melkilla lake in a boating accident during a storm at night in March, 1904, when the three and only occupants of the boat perished.

"That's the year in which Mrs. Reade, Lieut. A. W. Quinlan and Maj. Welsh, both of the border regiment, did lose their lives in this manner as consequence of omitting to put down the center board of their sailing vessel.

"Large crowds assemble daily to hear the little child-mane speak. Of course skeptics will say that it is a 'put-up job.' The answer to this is that Burmese coolies are not given to romancing to such an extent. Several methods have been applied to test the genuineness of the child's utterances, and people are satisfied that he has not been tutored.

"The parents would have to be wide awake sharpers to succeed in foisting such a story on the public through the instrumentality of a mere infant, and there is no suggestion that they are not what they appear to be, simple-minded folk."

GOLF.

An outline of American ideas on the rules is to be sent by the United States Golf Association to the rules committee of the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews, Scotland, without awaiting the advance copy of the revised rules that board has offered to send to this country for suggestions. The St. Andrews committee has a revision under way, the first since 1897. Its chairman, Capt. Burn, desired the American views on the work prior to the final report of the committee to his club. As this report is due in May the United States Golf Association to save time will send across a code based on the views of American players. Whatever it contains that appears good to the Scotch committee may as a consequence be used in the revised rules without awaiting a reply in the spring based on the advance copy of its report.

President Daniel Chauncey, Leighton Calkins and W. Fellowes Morgan, as a sub-committee of the United States Golf Association's executive committee, has the work in hand. Circulars asking for opinions on any changes thought desirable in the rules have been sent to about 300 golf clubs and to prominent players and the report of the sub-committee will be a consensus of the answers. On the adoption of the report by the executive committee it will be forwarded to the Royal and Ancient committee.

"The rules, especially with the points to be added by the St. Andrews committee based on questions sent to it since 1897, are comprehensive and fair," said one of the sub-committee yesterday, "although our players have different ideas regarding some of the penalties. For instance, some think that disqualification is too severe at medal play for teeing before the marks on the teeing ground and that a penalty of one stroke would be more equitable. Suggestions of this nature will be made on a number of the rules. But the report will be mainly a plea for clearness in definitions and a rearrangement to make the rules a better working code. The rules should show at a glance what may or shall not be done on the tee, through the green, in hazards or in putting."

FOOTBALL.

School boy athletes are in contest at the Plainfield Driving Park this afternoon for the gold medal offered by The Daily Press to the athletic champion of the Plainfield High School. Murphey, the winner last year, is entered in all the events.

The borough football eleven will meet the fast team from the New Brunswick High School tomorrow morning on the Westervelt avenue grounds. The game will be called at 10:30.

Bromfield and Rubenstein will meet in the final round for the tennis title of the city high school on Briggs' court this afternoon. Bromfield has won two sets out of the necessary three to claim the championship cup.

Leal's boys will play their first basketball game of the season Monday night, when they meet the Y. M. C. A. five on the association floor. The school five has been practicing for the past two weeks.

"CENTRAL PARK"

Was—Is—Will Be

IT WAS, only about a year ago, just a pretty farm. IT IS to day the finest building site in Plainfield, with broad avenues macadamized their entire width, concrete curb, sidewalks, trees, gas, electric light, in fact all improvements. Nearly $100,000 expended in new and handsome dwellings, now ready for the market.

WHAT IT WILL BE we hardly dare predict, with contracts out for even more extensive improvements and twelve more handsome residences.

Central Park is that beautifully situated tract bounded by Park, Prospect, Hillside and Thornton Avenues. Lots selling rapidly—Prices very low—Great investment or speculative opportunities.

CHAPTER I.
The Shock in the Marseilles Depot.
"I wonder if I can head off those cursed Corsican murder enthusiasts!" muttered Mr. Barnes, of New York, as he stands on the deck of the French steamer with Marseilles looming up in the heat mist ahead of him on a May morning of 1883, after the escape of the bride party from Corsica.

There are very few passengers,
Barnes' gold having sent the steamer back on her return voyage to Marseilles within two hours after her arrival at Ajaccio.

His glance is turned contemplative-ly beyond the whirling, eddying wake of the propeller's foam toward that curious island of a semi-medieval race, 200 miles behind him, whose rugged mountain slopes and chestnut valleys are the home of that undying revenge that the Corsicans think is noble; that they worship, idealize and call "the Vendetta."

The representative of New York fashion, American sportsmanship and modern materialism, who has fitted to the island and plucked not only the young English Lieutenant, Edwin Gerard Anstruther, but his bride, Marina, the daughter of the Paolis, from the meshes and entanglements of a feud that only ends with death, notwithstanding his reward is to be the hand of the beautiful girl he loves, emits a low, contemplative, melancholy whistle.

He mentally glances back and sees the house of Musso Danella in the moonlit chestnut groves of Bocognano, and Marina in her bride's gown, her sensitive, passionate face flamed with that weird mixture of undying love and uncanny horror as she shuddered from the arms of the man she had just sworn to cleave to through life and muttered: "Antonio's murderer!"

Next he remembers the strange proof that brought back the wild happiness to the bride's face as she learned there was no taint of her brother's blood on Edwin Anstruther, her husband; that her horrible belief was due to circumstantial evidence and the jealous and crafty plot of Musso Danella, her guardian, the man lying dead upon the floor of the bridal chamber, Tomasso's dagger in his hand; and then had fallen fainting into her bridegroom's arms.

With this, the mind of Mr. Barnes reverts to his desperate efforts to get the whole party to Ajaccio before the natives of the little commune of Bocognano learned they had now another to avenge, and to the death of Marina's brother on the beach in the duello had been added that of Danella, their old-time friend, and to his pen-sants their kind maestro and proprietor.

Additional concern makes the face of the American even more grave as he mentally hears the distant ringing of the rifles on the mountain side as the carabinieri shot old Tomasso Monaldi, who having become an assassin, had fled as a bandit, as the party made their weird ride to the Corsican seaport.

"If no deaths had followed the appearance of Marina's husband and me in the island, perhaps the accursed affair might have slumbered and died out," reflects Barnes, gloomily; "as it is, there's no telling where the devilish thing may end. If they have money enough to pursue us, holy poker, they may even include me in the scrimmage."

A little, delicately gloved hand laid upon his arm interrupts his meditation. Miss Enid Anstruther, standing beside him, looking like a joyous fashion-plate in a light Parisian traveling dress, whispers archly: "Thinking of me?" then suddenly ejaculates in almost frightened tone: "Oh, I hope not!
Your face is so moody, dear." Blushes spring upon the sensitive face, and his young English fiancée whispers with a piquant pout: "Gloomy, and going to marry me in three days? That's not very complimentary, Burton."

"No, in two, if we can make quick connections for London," answers Burton, rapturously. "One day is past.
But I wasn't thinking of you, young lady," he continues, tenderly, giving her delicate cheek a caressing, proprietary pinch; "I was thinking of—"
"What we left behind us," shudders his vivacious betrothed. "Don't let us think of that weird horror, when—"
when— The radiance of her blue eyes and the blushes on her fair cheeks suggest the rest.

"When our wedding day is so near," whispers Burton, tenderly. "I would be very happy, too, if our Corsican friends would only forget it." He checks himself, biting his lip and adds:
"However, the modern world is before us. I can see the Pharos light-house and the Ile des Perdues."

"Why, we are nearly at Marseilles," ejaculates Enid.
"Yes, only breakfast between us and every-day France," returns her escort.
"Now just run down and direct Thompson to get your traps together and then tell Edwin to hurry Marina. They should be on deck. You know as soon as landed, we'll get right on to London. We can probably catch the morning train."

Miss Anstruther's answer makes Burton chew his moustache; she says:
"If Marina is strong enough."

"Strong enough? She's got to be strong enough. We must get out of France. The further we are away from Corsica, the better. In France they don't need a reciprocity treaty to take us back to that medieval island.
There is no telling what devilish complexion the natives of Bocognano may put upon the two dead men we left behind us. I don't want to alarm you —I wouldn't say this to Edwin or his bride—but the sooner we are out of France, the better."

"And you think that will be the end of the matter?" asks his fiancée, clinging closely to his arm as if Mr. Barnes were potent to save her from the whole Corsican race.

"Well, I think it would have been had we got away without old Tomasso, killing Count Danella and the French carabinieri shooting old Tomasso. As it is"—Barnes pauses suddenly and asks abruptly: "Did poor old Tomasso Monaldi have any close relatives? Not so very close, either. Cousins, even to the second and third degree often take a hand in these barbaric feuds."

"I believe while I was there," answers Miss Anstruther, "I heard a daughter spoken of. Etheria, she was called—the betrothed, I understand, of that medieval young cavalier who acted as bridesman and made that awful Smollet speech to Marina. Young Bernardo Saliceti, a member of the local governing body, ambitious to be elected to represent Corsica in the French chamber of deputies."

"Humph, a young Corsican swell betrothed to the daughter of the man killed on the mountain. Besides, I've heard the dead Musso speak of a half-brother, Corsican on the mother's side
—one Corregio Cipriano Danella. De Belloc mentioned him as we rode down the mountain. Corregio lives most of the time in southern France, but has the damnable ethics of his island," mutters Burton, then he suddenly checks himself, for Edwin Anstruther is bringing his bride up the companionway to the deck.

Every time her eye lights on her bridegroom, the flush of happiness transforms the bride's face into a dream of passionate loveliness. Each time she touches the arm of Edwin

"And You Think That Will Be the End of the Matter?"

Anstruther, Barnes notes that her slight fingers cling to the young Englishman's stout muscles as if to be certain a living husband is beside her and she is not bereft. Still there is a confidence in the young Corsican lady's bearing that makes the American, who now considers himself as her physician, more hopeful of her physical strength.

"Ah, Marseilles is ahead of us, dear Dr. Barnes," she says, her dark eyes lighting up in their enthusiastic southern way. "To-morrow, Paris; the next day, London, where, Edwin tells me, you hope to be happy, happy as—"
"As I am," interjects Anstruther.
"Enid has promised to make you so, hasn't she, my boy? And I'll see that she does it. No delays for trousseau; minister to the maid and sentence executed at once on that young lady who is putting her head over the taffrail to hide her blushes, which she'll pretend come from the sea air."

"Please attend to Marina's blushes,
Edwin; they're enough for any man to take care of," laughs Miss Anstruther.

"Yes, and take Mrs. Anstruther in to breakfast," commands Barnes, deftly giving Marina her English name, thinking it will impress upon her that she is no more a Corsican.
"Breakfast!" says Mr. Anstruther, promptly, and leads his bride into the dining saloon.

"Though I am not married, I am hungry also," remarks Enid, sugges-tively.
"All right, step in quick," returns
Burton, but pausing at the cabin door,
he whispers: "Excuse me a moment.
I see an old friend forward."

"What you are not going to sit by my side?" pouts his fiancée.
"In a minute. Order my breakfast for me."

A minute later he is standing among the few third-class passengers in the extreme bow of the boat, addressing an old Corsican, who, costumed in his

SPARROW NEST OF MONEY.

Greenbacks Worth $15 Recovered from Eaves of House.

William McGrath of Belleville, N. J., walked into his bedroom several days ago and saw a sparrow fly from the top of a clothes closet out through an open window.

There was a green piece of paper in the bird's bill, and McGrath at once thought of a roll of money he had left in the closet. He found that many of the bills had been stripped from the roll.

He decided to watch and see if the bird came back. The window was left open, and the other day McGrath saw a sparrow fly into the room. He waited a few minutes and it came out again and went to a house about a block away, flying in the eaves.

McGrath obtained a ladder and got permission from the occupant of the house to climb up to the eaves, and was rewarded by finding a nest made of greenbacks and straw. There were $5, $2 and $1 bills there, aggregating about $15, but in pieces.

McGrath is now trying to piece the bills together.—N. Y. World.

SIGN OF SERVITUDE.

In Persia women are held in little esteem and it has been said with some truth that to wear the dress is to be a slave.

FESTIVAL OF THE WELLS.

Custom of Unknown Origin Observed Each Year in England.

The annual custom of decorating the wells of the village of Tissington, in the heart of the peak of Derbyshire, which for centuries has taken place on Ascension day, was duly observed.

Many visitors joined with the villagers in the thanksgiving service held in the church. There a procession was formed, and each of the five decorated wells was visited, psalms and Ascensiontide hymns being sung.

Upon the stone frontage of the wells a wooden structure covered with a layer of clay had been placed, and flowers had been wrought into exquisite mosaics, with scriptural passages interwoven.

The origin of the celebration is involved in obscurity, but the uninterrupted continuity of the observance in recent years may be due to the circumstance that during a terrible drought in Derbyshire the Tissington wells did not fail.—London Standard.

Dachshund Proved Innocence.

A black and tan dachshund gave evidence in a law court in New York recently. He belongs to Mrs. Fanny Hensling, whose neighbors complain that he howls all night long. In support of their contention they exhibited photographs of the dog with his mouth wide open, taken from windows overlooking the Henning's back yard. One witness swore that the dog barked 234 times in seven minutes, so the judge suggested calling the dog. In he came, leisurely, walked to the witness chair and climbed into the net, yawning lazily and blinking in the sunlight. The court ushers tickled him in the ribs, rubbed his head roughly, pinched him, and even pulled his ears. He appeared to be so well bred that not so much as a whimper was heard. The judge said that the neighbors had evidently been disturbed by another dog.

HOW BIRDS FLY.

The long feathers of a bird's wing are fastened to the bone. It is this which gives the wing the strength and surface wherewith to beat the air.

Robin's Strange Nesting Place.

At the Crown, Cricklewood, England, the public house at which all the motor omnibuses from the Elephant and Castle and Victoria and the horse buses from Charing Cross to Cricklewood stop, a robin built in a gas lamp.

The nesting place is within the reach of anyone standing on the ground. At one corner of the lamp a very small piece of the glass is broken, and through the hole the robin gained access to its new home. A family of four young robins has been reared and can be seen in the corner of the lamp.
