Spirited Speeches Telling of the Origin and Growth of the Association Movement in This City the Feature of the Prosperous Institution's Big Birthday Celebration.

SOME FOUNDERS TALK

Two Days' Observance in Which Practically the Entire Populace Takes Part Closes With Big Meeting at the Theatre.

Commencing with a big banquet held in the association auditorium Saturday night and attended by nearly a hundred representative men of the city, celebrated by a series of special sermons at the various churches, and concluding yesterday afternoon with a men's mass meeting at the New Plainfield theatre, the celebration of the fortieth anniversary of the foundation of the Young Men's Christian Association in this city has come and gone. The feature of the association since its foundation October 28, 1867, by eight Plainfielders on the instigation of former Mayor Alexander Gilbert and a presentation of the opportunities for men's advancement along lines of physical, spiritual and moral development as set forth from the church pulpits and at the mass meeting yesterday.

At the association auditorium Saturday night the big banquet was attended by three of the original founders, former Mayor Gilbert, H. O. Newman and T. C. Aldrich, who had seats at the speakers' table. J. W. Jackson, the first vice president, and Nelson Runyon, the first corresponding secretary of the institution, were expected to be present but could not. The banquet, which was served at eleven tables in the auditorium, was an excellent meal and was attended by men prominent among the lawyers, politicians, clergymen, physicians and educators of this city.

The speakers, At the speakers' table, J. W. Gavett, president of the association, presided as toastmaster, and with him were former Mayor Alexander Gilbert, the founder and first president of the association here, H. Otis Newman, the institution's first recording secretary, T. C. Aldrich, one of the early corresponding secretaries, W. D. Murray, C. W. McCutchen, H. Raymond Munger, former presidents of the Y. M. C. A., and David E. Titsworth, one of the earlier vice presidents. Rev. A. E. Flinn, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, said grace before the banqueters sat down at shortly after 7 o'clock.

The feature of the evening's speeches was the remarks made by Alexander Gilbert, president of the New York Clearing House. Mr. Gilbert came to the banquet after a strenuous day's work at the pulse of New York's financial situation in which he has been a controlling element during the business troubles of the past week. His speech will be found in another column.

Mr. McCutchen's Talk. Charles W. McCutchen, for five years president of the association, beginning with 1871, was the next speaker. He spoke of the auspicious significance of the formation of the association in this city. Speaking of Mr. Gilbert, the founder, in this connection, he said: "The Young Men's Christian Association is honored in having such a man as Alexander Gilbert as the father of the institution. We ought to feel honored because of the action of this man in the current week. He has stood in the place of the direct need and has put out the corrupt sore of the financial patient, staying a ruling financial panic in this country and perhaps abroad. We ought to feel the honor."

Mr. McCutchen went on to speak of the causes that have made the association work in Plainfield a success. Prominent among those he mentioned the subtle influence which one man exercises over another to change him in the hour of emergency. The influence of Jesus Christ, the speaker said, was just such a fascinating personal influence that is a mutual bond today at the beginning of the association work in this city.

Mr. Murray's Speech. Following Mr. McCutchen, W. D. Murray was introduced as the next speaker. Mr. Murray has been for some time chairman of the Y. M. C. A. international committee, besides having been president of the local association for eleven years, beginning in 1887. He spoke in behalf of the younger, active element of the association, dwelling particularly upon the foreign work in which he has had a large share on the international committee. He gave interesting statistics of the growth of Y. M. C. A. work in foreign countries. All over the world, he said, the rulers and most influential statesmen of the various countries have commended and supported the work, which is now being actively carried on in eleven foreign countries. He concluded his remarks with a powerful appeal to the young men to enter upon the work abroad and voiced a hope that Plainfield would send young men to this great field for work abroad.

W. K. Cooper's Address. The last of the speakers was William Knowles Cooper, prominent in association work in Springfield, Mass. He spoke of the great growth of the Young Men's Christian Association in this country, emphasizing the influence of the association as a means for promoting Christian unity, abolishing denominational divisions and uniting with a strong bond all who call Christ Lord and Master. Speaking of the three fold development of body, mind and spirit, Mr. Cooper said that just as the school house and the church were side by side on the New England hills so were the educational and religious phases of life molded in the work of the association. Physical development will make every man his best as a servant of God and Y. M. C. A. athletics have done much to raise the standard of American gymnastics. Emphasizing the value of the Christian influences the association offers, Mr. Cooper spoke of the boys' department as a miniature Y. M. C. A. and concluded with a summarization of the scope of the institution. Concluding the evening's speeches, Toastmaster Gavett made an appeal for co-operation by the young men in the work, speaking especially of the need of enthusiastic workers on

In the Churches. Yesterday's anniversary services were conducted in the various local churches with out of town speakers in the pulpits in the morning. J. S. Tichenor was at the Crescent Avenue church, William A. Tisdale at the Park Avenue Baptist, J. T. Sprout at the Congregational, C. W. Detrich at Grace M. E. in the morning and the First Presbyterian in the evening, and T. B. Penfield at the First Baptist church in the morning. George A. Warburton was to have been the speaker at the First M. E. church in the morning, but did not arrive in town in time, so that his place was taken by William Knowles Cooper. L. E. Hawkins spoke at the Seventh-Day Baptist church Saturday morning. the churches dwelt particularly upon the anniversary occasion and upon the scope of the association work for the development of body, mind and spirit. Music was a feature at all the services.

The Mass Meeting. The wet weather of the afternoon made the mass meetings rather slimly attended. At Trinity Reformed church, where F. B. Shipps was to have addressed a mass meeting of the Women's Auxiliary, the attendance was so small that the women adjourned to the men's mass meeting in the New Plainfield theatre. President J. W. Gavett, of the local association, was in charge of the meeting, the speaker of which was William Knowles Cooper. On the platform were seated Rev. J. A. Chambliss, H. Raymond Munger, Ernest R. Ackerman, H. Otis Newman, Chas. W. McCutchen, T. C. Aldrich, Su-

WOMAN TRUANT OFFICER PASTOR ADVISES VOTERS

Miss Adelaide Ball Appointed for City Schools by Superintendent H. M. Maxson.

INSTEAD OF POLICEMAN

Mr. Maxson Believes a Woman Officer to Be More Efficient Than a Policeman—Miss Ball's Duties.

Superintendent Henry M. Maxson of the city schools announced this morning that Miss Adelaide Ball, daughter of F. H. Ball, of Franklin place, had accepted the appointment as truant officer of the city schools. Miss Ball will begin her duties at once.

At the last meeting of the city Board of Education, Superintendent Maxson was empowered to appoint a truant officer for the schools and said at that time that he believed a woman could secure the best results. For almost two years there has been no truant officer and before that Florence McCarthy, of the local police force, acted in that capacity for the board of education. Mr. Maxson believes that more can be accomplished by fact toward securing the attendance of children at the schools than by the force of the law.

Miss Ball's work will be for the most part with lower grades of the local schools. A census of the children in attendance at each of the schools will be taken and a card system record will be kept at the city high school. Miss Ball will be in her office there between 9 and 3:30 every school morning, until after all the absences for the day are filed by telephone from the various schools. After this list has been secured, Miss Ball will investigate each case, going to the homes to discover if the children have been sent to school. She will aim to co-operate with the parents, and cases of need, where the child has insufficient proper clothing for attendance at school on cold or stormy days will be referred to the Plainfield Organized Aid Association, which will co-operate with Miss Ball in her work.

ON EXCISE QUESTION

First M. E. Minister Points Out That Democrats Are Silent On Sunday Observance.

"The Church and the Open Sabbath," was the subject of an earnest and interesting discourse delivered at the First M. E. church, last night, by Rev. A. C. McCrea, the pastor. His sermon was largely stimulated by recent utterances of State Senator Ernest R. Ackerman in The Daily Press in which the latter described conditions as he found them on his trip abroad last summer. He spoke especially on the question of the relation of the church to the open Sabbath.

He declared that there is but one stand that the churches can take, that which will advance the cause of civil righteousness and the best interests of a community. "One party," said Mr. McCrea, "declares its position on the excise question which is for the strict observance of the Sabbath, while the other party says nothing. The church and all religious forces should have no hesitation in choosing the party to be supported under such conditions and declare emphatically against the open Sabbath."

"It is not the grocer or the dry goods man that is asking for an open Sabbath, but the men who represent the liquor interest. We do not find any one else asking for a loose enforcement of our Sunday laws. New York city has declared against the open Sabbath and if New Jersey should permit everything to be open the State would soon become a common ground for the lawless and those who care nothing at all about an observance of Sunday."

Mr. McCrea spoke openly and fearlessly on the subject and it was noted that in the congregation were many men prominent in local county and State affairs who afterward took occasion to concur in the opinions expressed by the pastor.

N. G. N. J. BATTALION DRILL TO BE HELD HERE NOV. 9

Anno nouncement is made by the commanding officers that on Saturday afternoon, November 9, a battalion drill of four companies of the Second Regiment, will be held on Hope Common in this city. This will be the first drill of the kind held here since Company K was organized and much local significance is attached to the field day evolutions.

The companies participating will be Co. K, of this city; Co. M, of Somerville, and Co. C and I, of Elizabeth. They will be in charge of Major W. B. Martin, formerly captain of Co. K. Similar drills have been held at Elizabeth and Somerville, and the reason why Plainfield was selected this time is because of its central location.

Conference Delegates Named. Governor Stokes has appointed Major Carl Lentz, of Newark; Charles C. Black, of Jersey City, and Edward A. Armstrong, of Camden, to represent New Jersey at the national conference to be held at Columbus, Ohio, on November 12 for the consideration of the subjects of State and local taxation. The conference will be in charge of the National Tax Association.

WANT TAXES REDUCED? CLEARING HOUSE'S HEAD DEFENDS THE PRESIDENT

Then See That Your Children Faithfully Attend Public School.

THAT'S THE SOLUTION

Every Taxpayer Will Be Interested In This Brief and Lucid Explanation of the Laws.

In reference to inquiries from taxpayers seeking information relative to the Perkins tax law and the reason why it did not reduce the amounts of tax payers bills this year, it seems in order to review the history and the status of the railroad tax legislation. A reporter interviewed Mr. Ackerman on the subject with the following result. Mr. Ackerman said:

"The Legislatures of 1905 and 1906 were Republican in both branches. Legislation of a very important character was passed in the interest of the people among which was the Duffield act of 1905 and the Perkins law of 1906.

"The Perkins law covers the taxation of the main stem at the average tax rate of the State for States used and by a special enactment all of the proceeds of this tax over the above one-half of one per cent, is given to the support of the public schools. The Perkins act means the main stem of a railroad which must extend one hundred feet in width.

"The Duffield act providing for the taxation of second class railroad property means, all terminals, switches, stations and railroad property of every kind, outside of the main stem, and is assessed locally at local rates for the benefit of the localities wherein the property lies. These laws speak for themselves and they tell a truthful tale of the efforts of the Republican party to legislate in the interest of all the people.

New Jersey has no State tax. "The Duffield act has been declared to be constitutional by the highest courts of the State. It cannot be successfully assailed in the State courts."

"The Perkins law has been approved by the Supreme Court and I believe its constitutionality will also be affirmed by the Court of Errors and Appeals.

"Union county's share of school monies to be received from the operation of the Perkins act amounts this year to about $171,000 which sum is being held by the railroads pending the decision of the court.

"If the final result shows that the Perkins act is constitutional there will be a material reduction in the tax rate throughout the county of from 10 to 14 points, which will be equivalent to an average of about $1.20 per thousand dollars valuation, providing, of course, that the local budget shall not be increased. The taxes from the Perkins law will be distributed as follows:

Clark township	$ 340.47
Cranford	6,336.72
Elizabeth	75,327.63
Farwood	2,732.69
Garwood	1,131.52
Kenilworth	841.42
Linden	2,279.56
Mountainside	446.22
New Providence Tship.	899.91
New Providence Bor.	953.70
Plainfield	28,561.77
Rahway	15,768.82
Roselle	4,395.38
Roselle Park	5,089.52
Springfield	2,739.12
Summit	7,969.12
Union	4,819.91
Westfield	10,635.68
Total	$171,269.15

"If the Perkins law had not been contested in the courts these amounts would now be in the treasuries of the school boards of the different municipalities, giving a corresponding reduction in the local tax rate.

"The figures are based on this year's valuations and budgets and cover the money held in abeyance of the railroad companies. As the school attendance has a bearing on the amount the county receives from the State, parents can therefore assist in the reduction of the tax rate by seeing that their children faithfully attend school.

"If the $171,000 for Union county is not paid this year it will be added to the amount to be paid by the railroads for the succeeding year, resulting, of course, in a still greater reduction in the tax bills next fall provided the law is upheld by the courts.

"The Perkins' act in full operation will prove of great benefit to the people, providing care and economy are practiced by local administrations.

PURIFYING BUSINESS

Runs On Metropolitan Banks Due to

Methods of Few Financiers Who

Juggled With Their Funds,

He Declares.

"Many believe that the financial troubles through which we are now passing are due to the unwise utterances of our President, but I want to say right here that, notwithstanding the impetuosity of the man, it is my conscientious belief that four years of Theodore Roosevelt as President of the United States will do more to elevate and purify the moral and business sense of this country than any influence that has been brought to bear upon it in the past decade."

This tribute to President Roosevelt was given by former Mayor Alexander Gilbert, the first president of the local Young Men's Christian Association, in his speech at the anniversary banquet of the institution Saturday night.

Mr. Gilbert is president of the New York Clearing House, and through the financial troubles of the past week in New York city, he has been at the helm of metropolitan finances. Through the days of the tottering of securities and the feverish excitement of those who had their deposits in certain New York banks, he has been in the thick of the fight and at the banquet Saturday night was thoroughly exhausted as the result of the strenuous week at the financial pulse of the city. His speech as a founder of association work in Plainfield follows:

"Nothing but this anniversary of the Young Men's Christian Association could have tempted me to leave my home tonight; I am too full for utterance—not too full of dinner, or of any liquid element, or of emotion, but too full of the mental effects of the stirring week through which I have just passed. I have not had a moment of time to think of this anniversary occasion nor of this speech.

"I have been through the most trying week of my life in New York city, and am absolutely tired out. You know what the stirring events of this week have been. Several financial institutions have been embarrassed, owing to the fact that their control has passed into the hands of men who, departing from the old-fashioned, conservative principles of banking, have used them to promote their own selfish plans and enterprises. Happily, the strong, conservative forces are now in control of the situation in New York; the sober second thought of the people is beginning to assert itself and, with the return of confidence, conditions will be righted and will once more resume our onward march to a great and prosperous future.

"Many believe that the financial troubles through which we are now passing are due to the unwise utterances of our President, but I want to say right here that, notwithstanding the impetuosity of the man, it is my conscientious belief that four years of Theodore Roosevelt as President of the United States will do more to elevate and purify the moral and business sense of this country than any other influence that has been brought to bear upon it in the past decade.

"I suppose a few remarks about the foundation of this association, of which I happened to have been the first president, are in order. The incidents of that meeting forty years ago at my home, where the first impetus of life was given to the association in this city, are still clear in my mind. I remember distinctly that first meeting and all its details—I could almost give the speech that I made when I was elected president.

"It is a pleasure to see these faces of my fellow workers at that time here tonight and to recall the share each had in the formation of the institution. There's Brother Newman, a man who has always been true to the association. I believe that his activity and interest as a founder did more to build up and sustain the interest than was done by any other man. Brother McCutchen here, came in two or three years after the work was started, but I shall never forget his influence in its

In the first half Smith went over the line for a touchdown and Lake kicked the goal. Shortly afterwards, Smith broke through on a punt and threw a Somerville man for a touchdown. After seven minutes of play in the second half, Smith again scored a touchdown. Lake missed a rather difficult

One of our clients owed $48 between four people. His salary is $14 weekly; rent $12 monthly. To have paid $2 weekly to each creditor, combined with rent, would have left only $1 per week to meet expenses, buy clothing, etc.—an impossibility you will agree. He borrowed $50, paid all his creditors, made his future credit good, if ever needed; pays his rent, the loan payments, and has $9 each week to use as his judgment dictates.

Boynton Square Pot Furnaces

The latest and most important improvement in furnace construction is the patent Square Pot used exclusively in Boynton Furnaces and making them the most easily operated, the most economical, the most efficient heaters in the world.

The Square Pot, unlike the old-fashioned round pot, has a grate area equal to that of the ashes, cleaning as well as the sides as in the middle.

The walls are perpendicular, hence no clogging, resulting in quicker and more sensitive combustion, less waste of fuel, and a constantly active radiation.

Grate bars of equal length and motion; the ash pit is square and deep—everything is designed to reduce your work to a minimum.

Settle the heating question at once by letting your plumber, steam-fitter or tinsmith show what the square pot means to you. Found only in Boyntons.

There are BOYNTON heating plants of all kinds. Ask about our Round or Sectional Boilers for steam or hot water. Also ranges.

Mission or Arts and Crafts FURNITURE.

Here is furniture for all the people—for the modestly furnished cottage or the most palatial home, furniture suitable alike for the living-room, library, den, hall, professional or business men's offices, clubs, cafes, hotels, billiard rooms, etc.

Simple in outline, solid in construction, restful to the eye, Mission or Arts and Crafts furniture has come to occupy a prominent place in almost every home, and you will hardly find an office nowadays not equipped with mission furniture. Mission furniture is so wholly sensible and so immensely serviceable that it is no wonder it appeals to every one. And even if it were not so desirable in every other way its low price would win for it much favor.

Naturally this great furniture store devotes much space to the show and sale of mission pieces—more space this year than ever, and this space is so crowded that hardly an aisle is left to walk thru. You can see here practically everything needed for home or office furnishing and many novelties you have never seen and not thought of. The variety is stupendous. Doubtful if any house in the country shows a greater diversity, and mind you, this stock comes from the very best factories in the country, the most of it the product of Stickley Bros. Co., Grand Rapids, Mich., whom we represent in Newark.

We illustrate a few of the moderate priced pieces now on our floor and give you this little list to indicate the price range:

Mission Side Chairs, $2.50 to $14.50.
Mission Desk Chairs, $4 to $10.50.
Mission Armchairs, $5.50 to $44.
Small Mission Rockers, $4.50 to $18.50.
Mission Arm Rockers up to $48.
Mission Hall Settees, $12.75 up.
Mission Sofas, $24.50.
Mission Tables, $2.60 to $112.
Mission Writing Desks, $9 to $100.
Mission Lamps, $9 to $31.50.
Mission Cellarettes, $12 to $51.
Mission Footstools, $4 upwards.

SHERIFF'S SALE—In Chancery of New Jersey. Between John C. Kenyon, complainant, and Margaret J. Thomas et al., defendants. Pl. fa. for sale of mortgaged premises.

By virtue of the above-stated writ of fieri facias to me directed I shall expose for sale by public vendue, at the Sheriff's office, in the city of Elizabeth, N. J., on WEDNESDAY, THE TWENTY-SEVENTH DAY OF NOVEMBER, 1907.

at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day, all that tract or parcel of land and premises hereinafter particularly described, lying and being in the city of Plainfield, in the county of Union and State of New Jersey.

Beginning at a point in the proposed new southerly side line of Randolph road, distant thirty feet at right angles from the centre thereof, and in line of lands in the estate of Philip G. Voorhees, deceased, and running from thence with the line of that land, southerly six hundred and ninety-nine and twenty-six one-hundredths feet to a point in the southerly side line of Randolph road, thence with the line of the Cameron avenue lot, thence to form a division line between the parties hereto northerly along the rear line of the Cameron avenue lot six hundred and seventy-eight and five one-hundredths feet, more or less, to the proposed new southerly side line of Randolph road, thence southerly thirty feet southerly from the centre thereof at right angles, thence with the proposed new southerly side line of Randolph road westerly two hundred and one and twenty-six one-hundredths feet, more or less, to the point and place of beginning. Being lots numbered one hundred and thirty-two (132) to one hundred and thirty-eight (138), inclusive, and also lot number one hundred and seventy-three (173), on map entitled "Map of Laramie Park, situated in the city of Plainfield, N. J., September, 1905, F. J. Hubbard, civil engineer, Plainfield, N. J."

It is understood and agreed that no building shall be erected within forty (40) feet of the southerly side line of Randolph road, as above described, and that any building erected on any of the above-described property shall be erected for no other purpose than that of private dwelling, and the cost thereof shall not be less than two thousand dollars.

Being the said premises conveyed to the said Ira L. La Rue by deed of Joshua D. Loizeaux, trustee, and wife, dated January 23, 1906, which deed is recorded in the Union County Clerk's office in book number 460 of deeds, pages 326, etc.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

FOOTBALL.

Harvard coaches have adopted the Yale plan of building up a team, whereby the best two men for a place must oppose each other and fight it out.

Germany Schultz, the Michigan centre, according to reports from the West, is a wonder, and the Wolverines count on him to keep Dwyer, of Pennsylvania, out of every play.

Walter Camp and the Yale coaches are anxiously awaiting the arrival at New Haven of Frank Hinkley. The latter was responsible for the introduction of the forward pass at Yale and the improvement in the working of this pass is expected upon the arrival of Hinkley.

Many members of the first eleven of the College of the City of New York are on the hospital list. Capt. Linton has a sprained ankle and Kohn has water on the knee.

Princeton has run up a total of 237 points and is easily ahead of other teams in scoring. Pennsylvania is second on the list with 189 points.

Schedules are largely guesswork. The Lafayette eleven, like Princeton, have made double figures in every one of its games, with one exception. There has been a noticeable sameness in the number of points made against all opponents.

The Stevens Institute team has recovered from the drubbing it received at the hands of Princeton. The team is improving and, with the exception of Trayer, all the regular players are practising daily.

Annapolis coaches are not satisfied with the performance of Richardson at fullback and Magruder is getting a try-out in the position.

The struggle for positions on the Carlisle team is still keen, and a merry fight is being waged between Bowen and Gardner, veterans, for end positions.

The list of football mishaps this season has assumed quite respectable proportions and five fatalities have been recorded. However, every one of these occurred in games where the players were little more than boys, who probably forgot the rules in the excitement of the moment. Leonard J. Clarkson, a student at Norwich University, was the first fatality recorded, his death being diagnosed as heart failure induced by his exertions in a football scrimmage. Thomas Betram, a schoolboy of Portage, Pa., was killed in the head during a game and succumbed to concussion of the brain. Eugene Bourne, of Salt Lake City, was another who died from a similar injury, and Leo Strahmeyer, of Iowa City, had his spine fractured in a prep school game. The latest victim was Albert Flowers, of Zanesville, O., whose skull was fractured, causing death.

SPORTS.

The closeness of that individual track championship contest at the P. H. S. track meet Friday shows that there are two crackerjack athletes in the school.

That Phelps-made borough high school eleven did things on the gridiron again Saturday in the game with the boys from New Brunswick. P. H. S. take notice.

Bromfield won the tennis title at the city high school, but he has left school now, so it looks as if Rubenstein, the runner-up, were the champion of P. H. S. after all.

There is a big advance sale of tickets for the minstrel show to be given next Saturday evening in the high school auditorium for the benefit of the athletic association.

The Leal's school basketball team will play a practise game with the Y. M. C. A. five at the association gymnasium tonight.

DEFENDS THE PRESIDENT

half. He is as ready and willing now as then to give the helping hand. He can never lose his interest in Plainfield nor his interest in the man who needs his help. Brother Titsworth, too, came along in the fullness of time, and has helped the work a lot. The application of these founders, and the consistent work of others, all materially assisted in building up the work.

"Men bonded together by Christian ties or Christian obligations have a higher and a broader view of life than others. They are actuated by the better impulses toward the enduring life. I believe that it was the word 'Christian' in the title of the association that made the work endure and grow to its present magnitude. The eight founders did not know at the start what their efforts would accomplish, but the Young Men's Christian Association has lived to make good, and now ranks among the strongest branches in the State. I take great pride in the feeling that I had a very small part in the organization of this association."

FARMERS' INSTITUTES.

One to Be Held at New Market November 14.

Secretary Franklin Dye, of the State Board of Agriculture, has announced the list of proposed farmers' institutes to be conducted throughout the State during November and December. The list includes twenty-five meetings, two of which are to be conducted in Mercer county. The first will be at Pennington on Saturday, December 7, and the other at Windsor on Thursday, December 19.

The Hunterdon county institute will be at Locktown on Friday and Saturday, December 20 and 21. Burlington county is to have four meetings. The first will be at Wrightstown on Monday, December 9; the second and third at Moorestown, December 10 and 11, and the fourth at Mt. Holly on December 18.

Middlesex will have two meetings, one of which will be at New Market, on November 14, and the other at New Brunswick on December 6. The other institutes will be conducted in the farming centres of the various counties.

If the funds allow, other institutes will be arranged and will be conducted during the latter part of January and the first of February.

The thirty-fifth annual meeting of the State Board of Agriculture will be held on January 15, 16 and 17, at the State house.

Bowling Meeting Tonight.

The meeting of bowling enthusiasts with a view to organizing a fall and winter tourney will be held in the Plainfield Bowling Academy promptly at 8 o'clock. Representatives from teams at Somerville, Raritan, Bound Brook and Westfield will be in attendance.

ELECTION FORECASTINGS

Leaving Essex Out, Fort Has a Big Lead Over Katzenbach Now.

SITUATION MAY CHANGE

Democrats' Predicted Landslide in Hudson Would Defeat the Republican Nominee.

The last week of the campaign opens with Fort much in the lead. His chances are improving, too. Perhaps he lost a little ground during the last week in North Jersey, but there was no loss in South Jersey, unless possibly it was in Atlantic county. The feeling against the bishop's bill in that locality is decidedly better. But what was possibly lost by Fort in Atlantic was gained in the other counties. The pluralities that Fort will poll between Cape May and Mercer counties promise to be very large. It looks as though these pluralities alone might win the victory. In addition, the Republicans are reasonably sure to carry Mercer, Somerset, Union, Morris, Middlesex, Bergen and Ocean counties. Monmouth and Passaic appear pretty close. Because Mercer is Katzenbach's home county the Democratic leaders hope to carry it. It is doubtful, but the plurality may be quite small.

Where does Democratic confidence come in? A party leader and organizer claims that Katzenbach will get 20,000 plurality in Hudson, 3,000 in Passaic, 5,000 in Essex, 1,500 in Warren, 1,000 in Hunterdon and 1,000 in Sussex. If that happened, it would probably elect him. But the figures are too high unless a Democratic landslide is in the air, of which there is not the slightest indication. While a much closer and more accurate estimate can be made a week from today, here is an estimate from a most conservative source, computed according to the outlook today:

Republican—Atlantic, 1,000 plurality; Bergen, 1,200; Burlington, 3,000; Camden, 7,000; Cape May, 1,300; Cumberland, 4,000; Gloucester, 1,600; Mercer, 1,000; Middlesex, 1,200; Monmouth, 500; Morris, 1,800; Ocean, 1,500; Passaic, 1,000; Salem, 1,000; Somerset, 1,000; Union, 2,000—total, 30,950.

Democratic—Hudson, 12,500;

Hunterdon, 1,500; Sussex, 1,200;

Warren, 1,800—total, 17,000.

This purposely leaves Essex out of the calculation. It looks as though the result would be very close in that county, and especially as between Fort and Katzenbach. Conditions may change several times before election. The variance in the claims of the two county committees shows how much at sea both are. The Republican chairman asserts Fort will get from 10,000 to 15,000 plurality. The Democratic chairman gives Katzenbach from 6,000 to 12,000 plurality in the county. Half of the extreme plurality claimed by the Republicans would, according to the above estimate, give Fort 20,000 plurality in the State, while the extreme Democratic claim in Essex would still leave Katzenbach in a minority if the other counties voted as indicated.

"THE CONQUERING HERO."

Squire Resigns.

Governor Stokes received and accepted Saturday the resignation of George A. Squire, president of the Board of Managers of the State Reformatory at Rahway, where the Hahn Investigating Committee unearthed so many scandals. Squire left the State during the investigation, and could not be served with a subpoena to compel his further testimony before the committee. Governor Stokes then wrote to him that he must appear and testify or resign his office. Squire declares in his resignation that his move is due to ill-health.

PRESIDENT OF VASSAR TO MAKE ADDRESS HERE

Among the entertainments planned for the coming week one of unusual interest is to be given Thursday evening by Miss Hartridge at the Casino for Dr. James M. Taylor. Dr. Taylor is president of Vassar College, which owes its present position to his ability and his untiring efforts in its behalf. He is not only an able and magnetic speaker but a man of delightful personality and social charm.

After his address, which will be delivered at half past eight, Miss Hartridge will hold a small reception in order that he may renew his acquaintance with his old friends here and that some of the older pupils and their parents may have the pleasure of meeting him.

Dr. Taylor will spend Thursday night as the guest of Miss Hartridge and will visit the elementary department of her day school on Friday morning.

JERSEY GUNNERS DON'T LIKE LICENSE PROJECT.

Gunners here are not in favor of the idea of B. C. Kuser, the new president of the New Jersey State Fish and Game Commission, who wishes to tax every hunter a fee for a license, whether he resides in the State or not.

Kuser's proposition is to charge residents of the State a nominal license fee, and to tax non-residents $10 each. With this money he proposes to establish a monster game preserve and propagate various kinds of game, fish and fowl.

Local sportsmen say that there is much game in the woods, even though the gunners have been uncommonly numerous in recent years, and that there is no need to tax the local residents for game breeding.

Mrs. Mary P. Bradley.

Mrs. Mary P. Bradley, mother of J. L. Bradley, of Watchung avenue, died at her home in Newark on Saturday. Mrs. Bradley was descended from Revolutionary stock, her ancestors having been among the early settlers of New Jersey. The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, from her late residence, 24 Webster street, Newark.

MEDAL OF HONOR MAN
BROTHER OF J. R. TRUETT.

Captain Edwin M. Truett, a brother of John R. Truett, of this city, and who was one of four brothers, all of whom fought for the Union in the Civil War, died at his home in Washington on October 12. He was a native of Wisconsin and was sixty-six years old. Captain Truett had lived in Washington about thirty-five years, being employed in an official capacity in the internal revenue bureau of the treasury department.

In the Civil War, Captain Truett served from 1861 to 1864 in Company E, Twelfth Wisconsin Infantry. For conspicuous gallantry in action near Atlanta, Ga., July 21, 1864, he was awarded a medal of honor by act of Congress. He was an original member of the Medal of Honor Legion, and at the time of his death was secretary of the Medal of Honor Club, of Washington. For the last thirty years he served as treasurer of the Washington Humane Society. He is survived by a wife.

Wild Man Hunt.

An Italian who is believed to be demented was caught after an exciting chase in the woods near Cliffside yesterday afternoon. Before being secured the man overpowered one patrolman with a club and severely bit the right hand of another. He was locked up in the Hackensack jail. His identity is not known.

perintendent Henry M. Maxson and W. D. Murray. Singing was a feature of the service, and the Lotus Glee Club quartette, of New York, of which Charles L. Lewis, of this city, is a member, rendered several selections. E. C. Martin led the singing of the meeting, and several gospel hymns were sung during the service. Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan acted as accompanist. After the reading of a selection of scripture by Rev. J. A. Chambliss, pastor of the First Baptist church, President J. W. Gavett, introduced William Knowles Cooper, the speaker of the afternoon. Mr. Cooper said in part:

"The Young Men's Christian Association today holds in its grasp the solution of the problems of the community that every young man must face. The association is a source of help because of its relationship with the churches, for the problem of the two organizations is the same. The physical department of the association offers the solution of the city business man's problem for exercise. In these days of the 'quick or the dead' success depends upon fine personal development and health of the man. The counsel of the Y. M. C. A. physical director offers the solution of the question: 'What must I do to be saved physically?'"

"The educational opportunities in the association make possible advancement to the young man by boarding influences for advancement. It has a big bread and butter significance to the young man seeking educational advancement. Then, too, the Y. M. C. A. is a great power as a religious force. It is eternally true that a man is essentially a religious animal. No man here dares to say that he is entirely devoid of religious emotion, or that there is no God. Religious life can be sacrificed only at an awful peril and a terrific loss in these days. There is a broad field his reinstatement and was reserved by Manager Burnham for next season in the regular way, the national commission claims jurisdiction over the player. Burnham has been requested to remove Wiltse's name from the reserve list. The commission also made it plain that Wiltse could be retained by Newark on payment of a price, not named. Burnham refuses to make an offer for him and says that he will lay the matter before the National Association in New York tomorrow.

for religious work in connection with the association and each should feel personally responsible for supporting this need of workers. The work will enrich your civic life, too, by making you first and foremost right with God. The services of every man can be used."

OUR BEER IS STRONG
SAYS BELGIAN CULPRIT

Louis Christie, a Belgian who came to this country three months ago, got drunk Saturday night and developed a crazy streak at Third street and Plainfield avenue as friends were taking him home. He knocked his helpers down and ran around like a wild man until Patrolman Saunders stopped him.

When he was arraigned in court this morning a cousin appeared as interpreter. He informed Judge Runyon that Louis was certainly drunk but he had a good excuse to offer.

"What is it?" the court asked. "Why, Louis says he always drank beer in Belgium but he never got drunk. The beer in this country is made too strong but he didn't know it until it was too late."

The excuse brought a laugh from everybody in the room and as Louis moved away under a suspended sentence, a sympathetic bystander whispered to the cousin a simple recipe for weakening the amber fluid.

Ancient "Public Penance."

One of a number of ancient manuscripts which have just come to light at Taunton, in England, bearing the date 1424, refers to "orders of public penance," imposed on persons behaving badly in church, calling each other names, and other offenses. The offender had to stand in the middle aisle of the church during the whole service and sermon, generally wearing a white sheet and holding a white wand. After the sermon a full confession had to be made and pardon asked before the whole congregation. One instance of this form of punishment occurred at Skilgate in 1703, when Jane Webber made a confession of quarreling and fighting with another woman in church during service.

Where Mark Twain Had Gone.

When Mark Twain was working hard on one of his earlier books that brought him fame he sailed for Europe with his family. He kept up his writing on shipboard, leaving it only for brief recreations. One day an approaching storm drove him to the cabin, and as he retired to work he left word with his daughter, then a very little girl, to explain his absence. "If they ask for me," he said to her, "say that I won't be long; I have only gone to write an anecdote." A little later a passenger accosted the child: "Where has your father gone?" "He won't be gone long," lisped the child; "he'll only going to ride a nanny-goat."

Tin Mines in Malaya.

A correspondent from the Malay peninsula states that the projected railway from Hongkong will be likely to traverse the rich mineral regions of Siamese Malaya. Lang Suan has a tin supply that cannot be exhausted in a hundred years to come, while the same may be said of Renang. There are 70 mines in the region of Lang Suan, most of which are worked by natives, but the European concessions in the latter place, as well as in Renang, are exceptionally encouraging and already are giving excellent returns. There is no lack of capital, even the natives making themselves better acquainted with modern machinery and bringing it into use.

Giving Herself Away.

"Gracious, Katherine, why are you blushing?" "I—I never was so embarrassed in all my life. That handsome young man kissed me in the dark hallway and then said: 'I beg your pardon, I thought it was your sister.'" "And what did you do, my dear?" "Why—why, I was so flustered I thought I was being introduced to some one and said: 'The pleasure is all mine!'"

Annoying.

"I suppose your family had a good time in Europe." "Well," answered Mr. Cumrox, "I don't think mother and the girls enjoyed themselves all the time. You see, they had so much trouble figuring foreign money back into dollars that every now and then they were embarrassed by finding they had accidentally ordered something that wasn't expensive."

The Result of Habit.

"Just think what professional habit will do for a man!" "In what way?" "I know a fellow who used to belong to a minstrel troupe, and he says daily custom so hardened his sense of shame, that he never heard mention of the family skeleton in the closet without wanting to rattle his bones."

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

The popular young actor, Joseph Santley, has a great big success in his new play, "Billy the Kid." If the verdict of the recent engagement in New York can be relied upon, Play and actor were not only well remembered, but the theatres at which the play was presented were packed at each performance. The play is a wholesome one, yet at the same time it is as full of dramatic climaxes as a nut is full of meat. The scenes are all laid in the great southwest, New Mexico, and are presented in four acts. The first shows the exterior of the big house on the "Home ranch," the second, the interior of the "broken heart" saloon; the third, the dining room of a hospitable Colonel's home and the last is placed in the same locality as the first. Mr. Santley is supported by what is said to be one of the strongest companies that has been got together this season and the production to be a most elaborate one. Star and play will be the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre next Wednesday night.

Decided interest has been manifested in this country over the American production of the new English comic opera, "Tom Jones," which Henry W. Savage will present at the New Plainfield theatre Thursday night, with a specially selected cast and a special orchestra. "Tom Jones," offers much that is novel and for this reason has a distinctive quality of public appeal. It is not a musical comedy, but more on the order of comic opera, and in contrast to the general tone of musical comedies it is old English in atmosphere and melody. The story is based on Henry Fielding's famous novel of Eighteenth Century romance and adventure. The narrative is vigorous, the characters strong and the comedy pronounced. The libretto itself would make a clever play. But this strength is enhanced by a musical score in the best vein of Edward German, the leading English composer of the day. Mr. German has caught the true quality of old English music, and the glees, madrigals, solos, choruses and other songs, and the spirited dance music possess a charm both for those who like popular airs and for the skilled musicians. When "Tom Jones" was produced at the Apollo theatre in London, it made a decided hit and its music was whistled and hummed in the street and played at home. The American production of "Tom Jones" ranks with that of "The Merry Widow" in the degree of interest that has been awakened.

Those who have read the thrilling story of the New York Madison Square Roof Garden homicide and the circumstances which led to the tragedy, will now be able to see the whole drama enacted by a Mitten-thal Brothers company next Friday night at the New Plainfield theatre. The play is written by Hal Reid, and is entitled "A Millionaire's Revenge." All the famous scenes have been painted from photographs of the various places of interest and a company of twenty-five people selected for figure and temperament to portray the roles of the principals in the affair.

In James O'Neill's elaborate revival of "Virginus," which appears at the New Plainfield theatre next Saturday night, direct from its New

Mr. Barnes.

By ARCHIBALD CLAVIER GUNTER

A Sequel to MR. BARNES OF NEW YORK

Copyright, 1907, DODD MEAD & CO., N.Y.

"Thank you!" Barnes gives Emory a grateful grip, adding, earnestly: "Now, let's look over this affair. There's money enough in the pockets of one or two of these people to carry the feud to the ends of the earth. A few moments ago I told you about Edwin's bride following the man she thought had killed her brother to Egypt. Now, when I walk down Broadway on a pleasant evening from the theater, I'm not going to be looking over my shoulder for a dagger in my back. There's only one way to settle this affair."

"How's that?"

"Squelch it!" says Barnes, savagely, "by killing those who would murder me and my kin."

"But, the French government?"

"The French government won't prevent my defending myself. In Corsica itself France has practically never interfered in vendettas. As I wired, you have obtained as far as you can, a list of all the relatives of Musso Danella. Barnes looks over the paper Emory has given him and observes: "All, except Correggio Cipriano Danella, Musso's half brother, are practically French."

"Yes," says Emory, "except there's a cousin—a kind of knockabout fellow, Enrico, who's Corsican also—I didn't get him till late. You'll find his name at the bottom of the page."

"Where is he?" asks Barnes.

"Oh, Enrico's about the Riviera some place, I reckon. They say he's always near a gaming table when he's got any money in his pocket. When he hasn't, Enrico don't care what he does to get more," answers the detective.

"But, from your report, Correggio, the brother, is now in Marseilles. We'll take this Correggio first. He has a country estate near Serra in the island and spends the balance of his time chiefly in southern France; is intensely Corsican," returns Barnes. Taking from his pocketbook the fragments of the note Maud had given him—the one that had produced Marina's nervous stroke—he places them before the detective, and asks: "Is this Correggio Danella's handwriting?"

"I can't tell, but I'll find out for you," answers Elijah, then his eyes begin to roll, as he mutters: "Whew! Judging from the part of it I can read, that's a nasty document."

"Yes, though I don't think we've got the worst of it, it is as crafty as it is cruel. It was given to the bride not entirely recovered from the agitation of that horrible wedding night to so shock her delicate and already overtaxed nerves that we cannot move away from here. Some devil in Marseilles is trying to hold us here till these bloodhounds arrive from Corsica and have time to act. Here's another note in the same handwriting that puts me in," remarks Burton, moodily. "I received it at my hotel half an hour ago. It's the Corsican custom to give a delicate hint to the doomed." He reads:

"Have a care of yourself! This is thy warning. Remember death is on you and your spouse and your offspring, born and unborn."

"Pleasant reading for a man with his wedding day just ahead of him," snarls the New Yorker. "That's what makes me as vindictive as they are."

"Do you think with this in your hand," whispers Emory, impressively, "you should have a wedding day. I've heard such monstrous reports about them from Perrier, the French detective, who went over these once—"

"Not until this is finished," interjects Burton, with a moan of disappointment.

The detective's comment makes even Barnes' regular pulse beat slower. "Well, what are your plans to meet this?" asks the American criminologist.

"My plans are very simple," says Barnes, tersely. "I'm going to get our women in a safe place and then—then the hunted becomes the hunter!"

"But how are ye to get the women safe? Someone may be potting 'em while ye're rounding up the others! How are ye going to fix that?"

The American's plan, as he whispers it to Emory, is so adroit that the detective emits a triumphant whistle and says: "Gee whiz, just the idea!"

"Everything must be ready for tonight," directs Barnes. "No other Corsican steamer than the one on which we arrived will come to-day. By tomorrow I hope to have the ladies reasonably beyond pursuit."

"All right. I think I can fix it for you."

"Meantime," says Barnes, "see if you can find what cables bearing on this matter have been received from Ajaccio and to whom addressed."

"That will be difficult!"

"Not if you give the telegraph clerks enough money."

"Yes, most anything can be done the way you spend money, Mr. Barnes." This last issues from Emory's smiling lips as the American is writing a check. "I'll report progress to you not later than one p. m.; that'll give you time for your arrangements."

Coming from this to the Grand hotel, Barnes shortly strolls into Lady Chartris' parlor and has an interview with that matron which places her in the seventh heaven of delight.

"You think of going to Nice?" he suggests; he would have proposed some little Italian watering place, but knows that the widow will only consider the spot where Van Bulow, the young German diplomatist, is located.

"Yes, I've concluded to remain there a few weeks until the season absolutely ends," responds Lady Chartris, "only the good hotels are so cruelly expensive."

"Well, there are some lovely and retired villas on the little Bay of Villefranche, a 20 minutes' carriage drive from the Promenade des Anglais. Supposing you engage one?"

"Do you think I'm a Croesus!" screams the widow in horror. "Do you want to ruin me? Do you suppose I have your pocketbook, Mr. Barnes of New York?"

"That's exactly what I want you to suppose, my dear Lady Chartris. I'll pay for the villa; you occupy it. In about a week from now, Mrs. Anstruther and probably Enid will be your guests; perhaps Edwin and I also for a little while. But you are to say nothing about that. You'll keep Tompkins, Enid's maid, and take her up with you. The villa is to be rented by you and entirely in your name."

"And you pay the running expenses?"

"With pleasure."

"Oh, Mr. Barnes, how magnificently generous."

"Don't leave here earlier than the day after to-morrow. In fact, that is the day you must leave, but make your arrangements quickly after you reach Nice. You'll have no trouble in finding an unoccupied villa at Villefranche; it's so near the end of the season. Be sure its grounds run to the water and have a landing place. You will say nothing of our going to Nice to anyone—especially your child," he remarks, commandingly, tempering his words, however, by adding: "Maud is too young to keep a secret."

"Yes, childish tongues will babble," smiles the widow as Burton goes moodily away.

Mr. Barnes' features are still very solemn, as early in the afternoon, after another interview with Emory, he says to Enid, who is in consultation with him: "You think Marina is well enough to be conveyed in a carriage a mile or two?"

"Why, certainly, she is out of bed now. Don't fear for her courage as regards herself, Burton. It is my brother the dear girl is alarmed for."

"This morning," remarks the American, under his breath, "I had hoped, with Edwin's aid, to get you, Enid and Marina to England, where three or four London bulldog detectives and the fear of the British hangman would have probably kept Mrs. Anstruther safely from murderous pursuit until I had settled the affair. But now this devilish letter has given her such a shock that we dare not immediately subject her to the fatigue of the long railway journey to London."

As he shows it to them and they try to decipher it, Barnes hastily explains how he had purchased the mutilated letter from Maud Chartris with maroon glances.

"And that awful child concealed it from us!" cries Enid. "Her mother should be told immediately."

"What, and have Lady Chartris rush tremblingly back to London when, without danger to herself, she can do us a grand turn in Nice?"

"In Nice? How?" Enid asks, astonished.

"Tell you in a minute," replies her fiancé. "The fourth quarter probably contains the internal portion that caused the bride's alarm for you, Edwin, for her fears I know are not so much for herself, as for you. Now I, with your assistance, am going first to make Enid and Marina safe."

"How?" demands the English girl, whose face has grown pallid.

"By Lady Chartris. She's going to take a secluded, water-washed villa at Villefranche in her own name. House rentals have to be reported to the municipal officials. With the name of Lady Chartris attached to it, no one will guess that we will occupy it."

"But Prunella Chartris would fly from a vendetta as she would from the smallpox," says Edwin.

"Quicker!" cries Enid.

"Quite right, but Prunella Chartris shan't hear of a vendetta. We'll turn up at Villefranche, Edwin, in about four days, leave the ladies there, amply guarded, and then you and I, my jolly seagods, will turn out attention to our Corsican friends. We will be foot-loose, and can do the hunting and killing, if necessary, and settle the affair in some way definitely and forever."

Barnes' manner is lighter than his heart.

"You'll find me with you," answers the English lieutenant. "This is the second time, because she loved me, that my bride has been driven to despair. But how do you expect to get Enid and Marina from Marseilles unnoticed by the people that are already awaiting us to the villa near Nice?"

MORSE CLINCHES TROPHY

His Play at Park Club on Saturday Will Win for Him President's Cup.

LEADS FOR ANOTHER

All Scheduled Events Will Be Concluded On Election Day—Much Interest Taken.

The weekly competitions for the President's and Golf Club cups and the last regular play for the October cup, were the events of interest at the Park Golf Club on Saturday. All the scheduled events will be concluded on Election Day and there is special interest at this time in the finish of the various competitions.

It is practically a certainty that Charles B. Morse will win the President's cup. He has 20 1-2 points and the only player who can possibly overtake him is Dr. H. K. Carroll and he leaves on Saturday for a trip to California. The leading point-winners for the President's cup follow:

Charles B. Morse, 20 1-2; Dr. H. K. Carroll, 18; W. V. Byard, 14; Rev. C. L. Goodrich, 13 1-2; Reuben Knox, 9; Charles A. Reed, 8.

Those who have qualified for semi-final play for the October cup are as follows: Rev. C. L. Goodrich, J. B. Betts, Charles B. Morse and W. V. Byard. This will probably be started on Saturday. The postponed semi-final match for the September cup was played on Saturday and Charles B. Morse defeated R. V. Carpenter, by 1 up in 19 holes. He will probably play the final match with W. V. Byard on Wednesday.

Charles B. Morse also leads in the competition for the Golf Club cup, scratch event, with 20 5-6 points. In this competition is in the other Dr. Carroll is a close second with 20 1-2 points, while W. V. Byard has 16 1-2; Rev. J. O. McKeelvey, 14 1-2; Rev. C. L. Goodrich, 12 1-2, and Charles A. Reed, 11.

These scores were returned on Saturday for the President's, Golf Club and October cups:

Reuben Knox, 98, 14-84; L. R. Thurlow, 103, 16-87; J. B. Betts, 115, 25-90; Charles A. Reed, 100, 9-91; W. V. Byard, 104, 10-94; S. H. John McCutchen, 105, 8-95; Dr. H. K. Carroll, 106, 11-95; Rev. C. L. Goodrich, 104, 8-96; R. V. Carpenter, 115, 18-97.

NEW YORK CHAMPS

WINNERS IN SOCCER

The Cameron football team, champions of the New York Amateur Association Football League, had a narrow escape here on Saturday, where the Plainfield Football Club led the visitors by 2 goals to 0 at the end of the first half. Thereafter, however, the Camerons played exceptionally fast and tallied four times, winning the game with two goals to spare.

Spaulding and Jamison played the star game for Plainfield, making the two tallies for the locals. For the winning side, Hastings and Cameron scored two goals apiece. So far in this series neither the Camerons or the McGregors, of Yonkers, have been defeated. Saturday's game was witnessed by a large crowd. The line-up:

Camerons. Position. Plainfield.
Sheridan. Goal. Hoyle

Guthrie. Right back. Craig
Saunders. Left back. Mitchell
McArthur. Right half back. McCombe
Curry. Centre half back. Call
Ewen. Left half back. McGregor
Lane. Outside right. Spaulding
Hastings. Inside right. Sutton
Cameron. Centre. Jamison
Clarke. Inside left. Gould
Goals, Hastings (2), Cameron (2), Spaulding, Jamison. Referee, Mr. Clark.

PLAY CONCLUDED FOR COUNTRY CLUB CUP

Play for the Golf Committee and Green Committee cups was concluded at the Plainfield Country Club on Saturday. The fine weather attracted a large number of enthusiastic golfers to the course and many good scores were made. Although the weekly competition came to an end Saturday, there will be a competition for consolation cups in the same classes. The drawings will be made early this week.

As stated a few days ago, Frank O. Reinhart won the Golf Committee cup with a total of 16 7-10 points, and C. C. Burke is the winner of the Green Committee cup with a total of 24 1-3 points. These two competitions have aroused considerable interest throughout the entire season, especially because of the fact that the committee made two classes, A and B, the latter for those who are entitled to larger handicaps. From time to time members of this class improved their game to such an extent that they soon found themselves in class A. Altogether the scheme proved to be very satisfactory.

The best scores for the Golf Committee cup on Saturday were as follows:

Arthur Murphy, 84, 11-73; W. T. Glenney, 85, 9-76; J. A. Lane, 93, 15-78. These scores were posted for the Green Committee cup: W. L. C. Glenney, 104, 23-81; W. F. Merrill, 109, 25-84; C. P. Hamilton, 111, 25-86.

HUNT CLUB CHASE.

Ride Over a 12 Mile Course Saturday.

The members of the Watchung Hunt Club met at the Mt. Pleasant Schoolhouse Saturday afternoon at 2:45 and enjoyed their weekly chase. The course selected was through Iselin on the Lehigh Valley Railroad, to Rahway and Pompton, covering a distance of about twelve miles. There was not a spill or accident of any kind, although the territory included some difficult jumps.

The club has been agreeably surprised this season over the courtesy of the farmers over which grounds the members hunt, especially in the case of new lands. On Election Day the club will probably meet at New Market, where lunch will be had, and then over new lands in the vicinity of Stelton.

Those who joined in the chase on Saturday were Lewis E. Waring, master; Charles W. Flisk, Harvey Flisk, Harry A. Bourne, Daniel Runkle, W. H. Wilsey, C. F. Wilsey, C. E. S. Bellows, Paul Harrison, Charles Kelley, Christopher Conins and Miss Gertrude Noe.

Will Play in Professional Tourney.

"Marty" O'Loughlin, the "pro" from the Plainfield Country Club, leaves today for Brookline, Mass., where tomorrow, Wednesday and Thursday he will take part in the open tournament of the Eastern Professional Golf Association. He will meet all the crack "pros," but it is even money that "Marty" will get a place.

New York Golfers Win.

For the third year in succession the New York golfers, led by Walter J. Travis, had no trouble in winning chief honors on the tri-city matches for the Robert W. Lesley cup, at Brookline, Mass., on Saturday. Robert Abbott, of this city and Yale, was a member of the New York team and defeated his opponents by 1 up.

Thomas Kane's Funeral.

The funeral of Thomas J. Kane was held in St. Mary's church this morning, when a solemn requiem mass was said. A large gathering of relatives and friends was in attendance, many of the latter coming from Brooklyn where the young man had been employed. Father Bogan conducted the mass and assisted by Rev. Fathers Delehanty and Schiolla. Burial was made in St. Mary's cemetery, the pall bearers being Eugene Finnegan, Philip Murphy and Harry Murphy and Harry Flood, of Brooklyn; Edward Connors, John Carly and John J. Hines, of this city. The floral tributes were unusually numerous, so many of them being set pieces that two coaches were required to carry them.

John Hand Camp, No. 28, Sons of Veterans, will meet tomorrow night and must several candidates.

PERSONAL.

Raymond Coriell, formerly of this city, but now of Mamaroneck, N. Y., has been visiting friends in town for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Clawson, of Bethlehem, N. H., are spending a few days in Plainfield prior to their departure for the south for the winter.

Mrs. Nellie E. Jones, a specialist in nursing who has been attending some well known families in this city, returned to her New York home today.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Beekman, who were recently married at Hurlingham, will make their home in this city, the groom having leased a house on West Front street.

Kicked Him in the Face.

In the city court this morning, Wade Jones and Harry Parker, colored, were arraigned on a charge of quarrelling and fighting at Front and Somerset streets, Saturday night. During the mix-up, Jones knocked Parker down and kicked him in the face, the marks being plainly visible when he stood before the desk. The testimony was conflicting as to what had caused the trouble and the part each took in it and the matter was adjourned until tomorrow for the purpose of getting witnesses.

Had Nothing to Do With Theft.

The police declared today that they had fully exonerated Robert Morley from any connection with the theft of $18 and a pair of trousers from the home of James Manson at Third and Liberty streets, Friday night. He had been at the house just previous to the time the matter was reported to the police and was wanted merely to get a statement as to what time he left. He went to headquarters as soon as he learned his story was needed and gave all the information he could.

Bible Classes at Y. W. C. A.

Miss Emily Cramp Taylor will give the third of her four talks on "The Crises of the Christ," tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the Y. W. C. A. At 7 o'clock Miss Ethel Colton's class will meet to study the third chapter of Matthew. All young women are welcome at both these classes. Any young woman who would like classes organized for other days or hours is invited to address the Bible Study Committee, 212 East Front street.

Special Service Postponed.

On account of the inclement weather and the small attendance, it was decided last night to postpone the special service at the First Baptist church one week. Ernest K. Coulter, the president of the Big Brothers' Movement of New York city, was to have made an address. He was present, but after a conference with the pastor, Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, it was arranged to have him speak next Sunday night.

William A. Schutt.

William A. Schutt, a former well known resident of the borough, died Saturday night at his home on West One Hundred and Twenty-fourth street, New York. He was sixty-five years old and leaves a family of sons and daughters. The funeral will be held at his late home tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock and the body will be brought to this city on the 2 o'clock train for burial in the First M. E. cemetery.

Funeral of Vincent Flynn.

The funeral of Vincent Flynn, the young son of Detective Sergeant and Mrs. John Flynn, was held at the parents' home on West Front street yesterday morning. The service was private and was conducted by Rev. Father Bogan. Burial was made in St. Mary's cemetery.

Thirty Days for Old Offender.

Lud Frazee, who has been appearing in the city court at almost weekly intervals on drunk and disorderly charges, was in line this morning and got thirty days straight. Lud made a plea for a fine instead of imprisonment but it had no effect on the judge.

Vail Again On Trial.

Charles T. Vail, the former Plainfielder charged with the burning of the postoffice building at West Portal, was placed on trial for the second time at Flemington, Friday. At the conclusion of the first trial the jury was unable to reach a verdict. Several new witnesses were placed on the stand and Vail also testified in his own behalf before court adjourned. The trial was resumed this morning and will probably be finished by this afternoon.

PADRONE SYSTEM SCORED

City Court Case Shows It to Be Little Short of Slavery.

SEVEN MEN COMPLAIN

Story Related to Judge Runyon Calls For Severe Condemnation from the Magistrate.

A condition of affairs similar to slavery but without one of its redeeming features was found to exist in this city through a court case brought before Judge Runyon this morning. It came about through complaint preferred against Serafini Ferig, who is what is known as a padrone, that he had practically robbed laborers and then turned them away from their living quarters without a cent in their pockets. Seven men appeared against the accused, only one of whom was able to speak a word of English, and the story told made a deep impression on the magistrate.

According to the testimony, Ferig makes a practice of getting laborers for local contractors, paying a New York agency $2 for each man signed over to him. He charges this $2 against them and also the sixty cents car fare, a sum they have to pay out of the first money they make. They are taken to a so-called boarding place on Lake street and it is this place that called for especial condemnation from the judge.

The English-speaking complainant asserted that the building was formerly a stable and that it had accommodations for eight horses. The lower floor has been housing thirty-five men and the upper sixteen, making forty-one for the structure. In the morning and at night the inmates were served with beer, bread and bologna, the combination being called breakfast and supper. They sat on piles of straw to eat it and the same spot had to serve as their bed for the night. Despite these conditions, Ferig charged the majority of his boarders twenty-five cents a night for the "bed" and the meals cost them about thirty cents each. The proprietor ran no chance of loss as it was deducted from the pay of the men before they received it.

The complainants stated by interpretation that with the exception of the one who spoke English they had arrived in this country from Russia about four months ago. Ferig brought them out to Plainfield Thursday and they were put to work on the East End sewer Friday, their wage being $1.60 a day. They remained on the job until Saturday night and thought everything was satisfactory but when they returned to the Lake street "hotel" and had something to eat, Ferig turned them out. He declared they were not wanted any longer but when they asked for what money was due them he declared there was none. He followed it up by telling two of the laborers, one a boy of sixteen, that they were indebted to him and took from them $1.25, every penny they had. All were then sent away to make out as best they could.

Fellow-laborers took the seven to another place and they had shelter Saturday night, but yesterday they tramped the streets. The police picked them up last night and when the story was learned, Ferig was summoned to court.

Judge Runyon probed deeply into the case and learned in addition to other things that Ferig sold beer at the barn and he could be held on a charge to that effect. He made the defendant cower by the lecture given him but said that he would waive any attempt to hold him for the beer selling if he would pay the seven men the two days' pay, minus thirty cents carfare and a fair proportion for the miserable accommodations provided them. Ferig readily assented and produced the money immediately.

"This is rather an unusual way to dispose of an illegal liquor case," the judge remarked, "but it is the only way I see to get these poor fellows out of town. I had no idea that such a condition of affairs existed in this city and keep in mind, Ferig, the police will watch you and your place in the future. The system you have is nothing more than slavery, only slaves had a bed and were not turned out into a storm after their day's toil."

Broke Steel "Come-Along."

Arrested on Somerset street by Chief Marshal Weiss Saturday night, Christian Fortesque, a husky Dane who has been in this country but a few months, almost made his escape by breaking the heavy steel chain twister handcuff by which the Chief was holding him. Fortesque gave a great tug, and although the Chief held on, twisted apart one of the links of the heavy steel "come-along" and was free, leaving the officer holding what was left of the broken chain in his hands. The Chief had little trouble in recapturing him. At the hearing this morning before Recorder Doliver, the big Samson had been tamed and with the effects of the liquor worn off, meekly paid the judge a five spot to secure his freedom. Chief Weiss will put the broken "come-along" in the trophy case at headquarters.

HE WILL OBEY PUBLIC'S WILL ON EXCISE MATTERS

Frank S. Katzenbach, Democratic nominee for Governor, declared Friday night that he would obey the will of the people in regard to the excise question. It was the first statement on that subject he has made during the campaign.

"There are many important issues in the campaign," Mr. Katzenbach declared. "I do not consider the excise question the most important. A Republican opponent has made many inconsistent statements. I have remained silent and therefore have been consistent. If I am elected Governor I will obey the will of the people as expressed through the Legislature."

"In the final analysis of the excise question, as in all other matters, it must be settled by the people, and their desire will be expressed by their votes, and thus through the Legislature. This is the only expression I will give of the excise law during the remainder of the campaign."

Pupils Recital.

The pupils of Miss Carrie C. Dewey gave a piano recital in the parlors of the Crescent Avenue church Saturday afternoon. About two score were present and the various numbers of the program were rendered with accuracy and expression which called forth genuine applause.

Those taking part were: Lawrence and Elmer French, Miss Ruth Voorhees, Miss Edith Schwartz, Miss Edith Richards, Miss Elizabeth Browne, Miss Edith Lowrie, Miss Jane Brower, Miss Caroline Slau-son, Miss Martha Camp, George Murray, Miss Hannah Bingham, Miss Constance Pittis, Miss Kate Elliott, Miss Laura Bristol, Miss Jennie Nelson, Miss Florence Smalley.

Railroad Suit Still On.

The cases of Samuel Obolsky and Julius Velinsky, of this city, against the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company, which was begun in the Circuit Court before Judge Vail last Thursday, is still on today. William Newcorn represents the complainants. The suit is brought to recover damages for injuries received in an accident on the Lehigh Valley Railroad, near Oak Tree, when the complainants were injured. On Friday, Rose Stierer, of Fanwood, and Dr. William H. Anthony, of this city, were called as witnesses.

Special Musical Service.

The quartet choir of the First Presbyterian church, under the direction of Clifford A. Braidor, organist, gave a special musical service at the church, last night. There were solos, duets, trio and quartet selections by Miss Anna Case, soprano; Miss Jessamine Burd, contralto; F. C. Iglehart, Jr., baritone, and E. Maxwell Honeyman, tenor. Miss Alice C. Miller assisted at the piano. The various numbers were enjoyed by a large congregation.

Miss Susan Hewlett Searing.

Miss Susan Hewlett Searing, daughter of the late Dr. Gideon N. Searing, died Saturday afternoon at the home of her nephew, Rev. A. S. Peck, of Woodland avenue. She came to this city from Hempstead a year ago and had been ill most of the time. She is survived by two brothers, Charles A. Searing, of Glen Ridge, and Samuel G. Searing, of Jacksonville, Fla.

Rasores Club to Meet.

The Rasores Club will meet tomorrow morning with Mrs. W. W. Howland, of Rockview avenue. If the weather is stormy the meeting will be held with Mrs. H. E. Bowen, of Watchung avenue. Birthday topics, "Hugh Miller," and "Richard B. Sheridan."

—Always the largest and best display of fruits and vegetables at Neuman Brothers. Plenty of table and cooking apples tomorrow at special price.

with a 10-year Gold Seamless Wire frame.

We are, at the present time, the only Optical Experts in America who can examine an eye.

We mean exactly what we say.

If you have ever had your eyes tested for glasses, you know the methods used by people who claim to examine the eyes and fit glasses, and they all use the same methods, no matter where you go, to the high priced Specialist or to the 5 and 10 cent stores. They use the same old test types hung on the wall, and try on a lot of glasses, asking you "Can you read this letter?" and "Does this line look blacker?" until you are so confused that you cannot tell which glasses are correct.

After your Optician does a lot of guessing and has your eyes all out of shape, you think you have been examined.

Think this over and you can readily see that you have been doing your own examining, and that is no doubt the reason you have had trouble to get glasses correct.

The Dammers Scientific Method is entirely different and is the only correct way to fit glasses.

NO DROPS USED. Those who have been examined for glasses by men who claim to examine eyes by the old, incorrect way, which is done by everyone who supplies glasses but us, will be greatly surprised by our scientific and wonderful methods of fitting glasses.

We correct your eye defects by looking in the eyes, taking the exact scientific measurements of the focus and shape of the eyes.

NO QUESTIONS ASKED, no trying glasses on your face until we have determined your exact optical error.

This is absolutely the Highest Class work done in Fitting Glasses in America. Don't suffer with Head-ache.

We have produced astonishing results from brain-ache, nervous debility, insomnia, dizziness, nausea, watery eyes, blurry vision and other troubles caused by eyestrain. We have corrected by the use of glasses cross eyes and Astigmatism by our scientific methods.
