UNION REPUBLICAN, 708 MAJORITY

Union county lined up in the Republican ranks by electing every candidate on the ticket. Justice Fort received a majority of 708 although until a late hour this morning the Democrats were claiming victory. He lost Elizabeth, Rahway, Clark township and Springfield township but won in every other district. In Elizabeth the total vote for Fort was 4,350 and for Katzenbach 5,808. Rahway gave Katzenbach a majority of ninety-six. Last year the county was carried by Martine as Democratic candidate for congress.

The Republican candidates for assembly, Moxon, Pierce and Kirstein went through by small majorities while Tuttle, the Democratic candidate for Assembly from Westfield ran well ahead of his ticket. The total vote for him was 10,048.

Surrogate Parrot was re-elected over Gibby by a majority of 316, the totals being 10,932 and 9,616. A hard fight was made for Gibby in various parts of the county. The largest vote of any of the candidates was polled for the Republican candidate for coroner, Donaldson, who received 11,015 against his opponents' 9,643.

BOROUGH IS REPUBLICAN

Townsend Gets Handsome
Vote as Unopposed Candidate for Mayor.

"My election, coming without a contest, through the nomination of both parties, is a compliment I greatly prize. While I cannot but feel that it shows a confidence in my desire to act fairly and for the best interest of the borough, it is still more significant as indicating a change from conditions that have sometimes prevailed in past years when factional feeling has often interfered with a calm discussion of public questions. Important matters are to be settled by the borough in the near future and much is gained if they are taken up and decided strictly on their merits."

SAMUEL TOWNSEND.

North Plainfield.
With the mayoralty conceded to Samuel Townsend by both parties, the interest in the election lagged in North Plainfield and a light vote was polled. The voters were quiet and there was no disorder or accident during the entire day. Fort had a majority of 214 and the Republican ticket was as usual victorious, though by a smaller majority than last year. Katzenbach ran ahead of his party. Of the 1,200 voters registered, only 943 voted and there was no special contest on either the county or the local ticket.

FORT ELECTED GOVERNOR BY 6,696

PLAINFIELD'S REPUBLICAN

Fort Gets 1,300 Majority—
Runyon Runs Far Behind
His Ticket.

J. Franklin Fort received 1,311 majority in Plainfield, a decrease from the normal Republican majority in previous years. The whole Republican ticket went through here by about the same figure, excepting on the local ticket.

Runyon, for city judge, was badly cut, received only 950 majority. His opponent, Hetfield, Sr., won in the second district of the First ward and the second district of the Fourth ward. Montgomery for councilman-at-large, was cut in the Second ward. The tabulated result will be found in other columns.

In the Second district of the Third ward Robert L. Lee received 154 votes for constable and James Forristal for the same office received 153 votes. The men were nominated more in a spirit of fun. In this same district there were 43 Republican and 18 Democratic tickets scratched: For Justice of the Peace, Dr. George R. Boston, Republican, received 210 votes in the First district of the Fourth ward, 305 in the Second district and 280 in the Third district. Alexander Gordon, Republican, candidate for the same office, received 211 votes in the First district of this ward, 305 in the Second district and 281 in the Third district.

J. Franklin Fort was elected Governor of New Jersey yesterday by a majority of 6,696. Hudson's terrible slump did the trick and defeated Frank Snowden Katzenbach, the Democratic nominee.

Until noon today the Democrats claimed a decisive victory, their figures being based on the returns from Hudson giving them 1,800 majority.

Later and more accurate returns from the Democratic stronghold showed that Katzenbach received but 6,000 majority there. Trading for votes for Mark Fagan, the Republican candidate for Mayor, sacrificing complete returns.

All morning long it was reported that Katzenbach had won by at least 4,000 and these figures appeared to be accepted by the Newark Evening News, which later furnished The Daily Press with the accurate and complete returns.

State Senator E. R. Ackerman, when he learned the correct returns, was jubilant over the victory. He said that it showed that full trust could be put in the people and that the result was a vindication for the Republican administration in which the people had the utmost confidence.

J. A. Smith & Bros.' Denial.

The undersigned are informed that a report has been circulated to the effect that the Ackor, Merrill & Condit Company had bought out the business of J. A. Smith & Bros., grocers, of 151 West Front street, Plainfield, N. J. Such a report does a grave injustice to J. A. Smith & Bros., and we desire to deny that there has ever been the slightest foundation for such a statement. ACKER, MERRALL & CONDIT COMPANY.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

There was a large and appreciative audience at the entertainment given Monday night at Friendship Hall for the benefit of the piano fund of the New Market school. The program consisted of vocal and instrumental selections by local talent and the principal feature was the entertainment by J. Wotley Gangloff, of West Dunellen, who made a great hit as humorist and story teller. The proceeds of the affair make the new piano a certainty. A committee consisting of the teachers and pupils is in charge.

Funeral service, which will be private, will be held from the house Friday afternoon at two o'clock.

Human Life Seems Centered In Stomach. All Else Is Secondary.

The immense success which has followed L. T. Cooper during the past year with his new preparation has exceeded anything of the kind ever before witnessed in most of the leading cities where the young man has introduced the medicine. Cooper has a novel theory. He believes that the human stomach is directly responsible for most disease. To quote his own words from an interview upon his arrival in an eastern city: "The average man or woman cannot be sick if the stomach is working properly. To be sure, there are diseases of a virulent nature, such as cancer, tuberculosis, diabetes, etc., which are organic, and are not traceable to the stomach, but even fevers can, in nine cases out of ten, be traced to something taken into the stomach. All of this half-sick, nervous exhaustion that is now so common, is caused by the stomachic conditions, and it is because my remedy will and does regulate the stomach that I am meeting with such success."

"To sum the matter up—a sound digestive apparatus that is doing its full duty, getting every particle of vitality out of all food by transferring it to the bowels in a perfectly digested state—this above all else brings health."

Mr. A. C. Brock, chef of the Brock Restaurant, Market District, Boston, Mass., who is a staunch believer in Mr. Cooper's theory and medicine, has this to say: "I had chronic indigestion for over three years. I suffered terribly, and lost about thirty pounds. I was a physical wreck when I started this Cooper medicine, a month or so ago. Today I am as well as I ever was in my life. I am no longer nervous, my food does not distress me in the least, and I have a splendid appetite. I am gaining flesh very rapidly—in fact, at the rate of a pound a day. I would not believe any medicine on earth could have done for me what this has done. It is a remarkable preparation and Mr. Cooper deserves all his success."

We recommend the Cooper preparations as being remarkable medicines.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

GOLF.

Upward of one hundred entries have been received for the annual fall open golf tournament of the Country Club of Atlantic City, to be held tomorrow, Friday and Saturday. As this will be the last save one of the Northern tournaments this season the amateurs are especially anxious to pay another visit to the course by the sea.

It was back in 1899 that the first golf tournament was held there. Since then, besides being the scene of many stirring matches, the course has also been the battle ground for several championships. In 1901 the amateurs gathered for the national tournament, which was the first important competition where the new golf ball proved a factor. Walter J. Travis went to Atlantic City fully intending to use a solid ball, but in practice the day before the start of the tournament he played with a lively ball, and was so impressed with its advantages that he then and there renounced the gutty and used the rubber core the next day and throughout the whole tournament. How he defeated his old rival, Findlay S. Douglas, in a match that went thirty-eight holes and later beat Walter Egan in the final round is a matter of history.

The Intercollegiate Golf Association also held one of its championships there, and J. G. Lindsley, of Harvard, won the individual title. Harvard also won the team competition. Another contest out of the ordinary was the exhibition match, in which Harry Vardon beat the best ball of Douglas and Herbert M. Harman. The match was a thirty-six-hole affair, and the four times open champion of Great Britain won by 9 up and 8 to play. At the time the course was pronounced by Vardon to be more like a British seaside links than any other he had seen during his travels in this country.

Only last spring the Women's Eastern Golf Association held its second annual championship tournament in conjunction with the tri-city matches for the Clement A. Griscom trophy. Miss Mary B. Adams won the title, after a sensational play-off of a tie with Miss Fanny C. Osgood. The Boston women also won the team match.

Conditions for this week's tournament call for an eighteen-hole medal play qualifying round, contestants to qualify in six sixteens. Those who make up the first sixteen will continue on at match play for the governors' cup, second sixteen for the president's cup, third sixteen for the Atlantic City cup and fourth sixteen for the Northfield cup. Special cups will be offered for the fifth and sixth sixteens. All matches will consist of eighteen holes, and on Saturday there will be an eighteen-hole medal play handicap.

It is expected that Jerome D. Travers, of Montclair, the national champion, will compete. Travers played at Atlantic City in the spring tournament, winning the low score prize in the qualifying round, but losing at match play. This was one of the few occasions in which he met defeat during the last season. Fred Herreshoff won the chief cup, defeating Dr. Simon Carr, of Philadelphia, in the final round.

A card to show in a dazzling way the exceptional shots a player may accomplish in a sequence of rounds has won for John T. Duff the cup given by the green committee of the Dunwoodie Country Club for the lowest score of selected holes made during the season at competitive medal play. The card represents the best holes made in playing fully 1,800 holes, for Duff has been on the course for at least 100 eighteen hole rounds. His selected score for the 5,748 yard course was 29, 32-61, while the strict Metropolitan Golf Association par is 32½, 38-70½. Going out the especially heartbreaking holes to the others in the races were Duff's 3 on the third and his 2s on the fourth and seventh. On the in holes he had the par figures beaten on every green but the fifteenth, getting the half stroke advantage on the fourteenth, sixteenth and eighteenth and a full stroke on the other greens. The length and strokes are compared in this summary.

Secretary Calkins of the Metropolitan Golf Association has sanctioned the dates of November 28, 29 and 30 for the open tournament of the Country Club of Lakewood.

According to the last of decisions by the St. Andrews rules committee, if there is no local rule a ball played onto a putting green other than the one that is intended must be played from where it is. It is customary in this country to place the ball off the wrong green, but not nearer the hole, without asking what the local rule is. In answering a question as to what should be done when in playing from soft ground the clay or mud and the ball adhered to the face of the club, the committee stated there was no rule to govern the case. The members were of the opinion that the player should have shaken the ball off the club, without penalty, at the spot where the incident occurred.

Many changes are to be made on the course of the Arsdale Golf Club, East Orange, including new holes in place of the eighth and ninth, as the

Fine Sale Lace Curtains, Portieres

A Manufacturer thought it wiser to make a generous reduction than to have returned to him a large shipment lace curtains that he sent weeks later than the contract called for. Under the circumstances it pleased us, as it offered an opportunity for a sale of curtains out of the ordinary—new curtains from their original packages, much under regular value. The portiere bargains are advantageous purchases here and there, assembled to make a stir in a line wherein special prices in fine grades are scarce. Two great sales in one.

A Piano You'll Like

The first few consignments of Pianos from the makers convince us that our new piano, bearing our own name, is going to attain immense popularity: first of all because they are excellent instruments in every way; splendid in construction, sweet in tone, easy to the touch; second, because of the moderate prices we ask for them—$250 to $400.

We realized long ago that our piano family was not complete because it contained no piano with our name on it, and excellent as the other makes were we felt that we should have one that would be identified only with this house. After months of planning and urging we secured one of the best piano making concerns in the country to produce a piano for us on the lines we desired at a cost that would not be prohibitive; so we gladly present to your notice the

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL.

Health is Worth Saving, and Some Plainfield People Know How to Save It.

Many Plainfield people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Sick kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health, but there is no need to succumb nor to remain in danger when all diseases and aches and pains due to weak kidneys can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. Here is a Plainfield citizen's recommendation:

Mrs. M. Newman, of 536 West Third street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "For some time I was a constant sufferer from various kidney ailments, among which were violent headaches and a continuous pain in the limbs, which gave me no rest, day or night. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, and sent to Randolph's pharmacy for a supply. They seemed to take effect at once and soon after I began using them, my head got better, and the pain and stiffness left my limbs and joints. I heartily recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for such troubles as mine."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

present seventh green is to be extended to take in both holes. A clubhouse is to be built of the most modern style, as the present building is inadequate for the large membership. The club is to issue stock to raise the cost of the improvement. A large proportion has been subscribed for, and President Angus Sinclair has appointed as a financial committee E. S. Miller, W. E. Kastendie, D. C. Nale, A. H. Gussman, D. G. Mason and S. C. Downs.

FOOTBALL.

A cold analysis of the Princeton-Carlisle game easily might show that there was not the strength in the Princeton team that the sixteen points points would indicate. The effective work done in advancing the ball was done in streaks, and it could be argued that there was not the reliability in advancing the ball that may be needed to win from Yale. Suppose the Indians had not fooled the outside kick of the Tigers in the first half that put the latter within scoring distance. Again, the second touchdown was the result of a sudden, unexpected play that for the moment caught the Indians unawares and was not due to steady, irresistible progress, such as is one gauge of a team's strength. Still again, Harlan kicked a difficult goal from the field, which is a matter of individual skill and which no team can very well prevent.

All that is one way of looking at it. But it is not necessarily the right way. It contains "ifs" and it takes away credit from Princeton where she is deserving of much credit. The fact remains that the Nassau men were equal to their scoring opportunities when the arose, and of still more importance is the fact that they created opportunities. The way the Tigers played football last Saturday recalled a pronounced characteristic of DeWitt's successful eleven of 1903. It was cool, patient and watchful in looking for the moments which invited an action that made for victory, was drilled and proficient in being ready when the right moment arrived. The offence was streaky and uneven just as it was in the Cornell game, but there were clearer heads than there were in the Cornell game. While the more speed than power criticism still holds good, the power was there for that first touchdown.

Nearly every Saturday produces something different in the way of encouragement for the various big elevens, and last Saturday it was Princeton who derived the most encouragement from the results. Pennsylvania defeated Lafayette comfortably and is bracing up some, but there was not much of a cheering nature in the games played by Harvard and Yale. Granted that the Indians were cracked up beyond their real strength, they nevertheless are a strong team, strong enough to make the strongest extend itself. Furthermore, even though they did not play their best game on the wet field and did not do or show the form they did against Pennsylvania, it takes good football to beat them by 16 points. Princeton's good football may have been in streaks, but there were enough of the streaks to count heavily in the final returns.

The football team of the Holy Cross Club won from the Westfield A. C. in a game played at Westfield Saturday afternoon. The score was 10-0.

(Other sporting news on page eight).

BIG VOTE POLLED YESTERDAY.

1,092 Ballots Cast for Proposition and 1,472 Against It—Fourth
Ward One-Sided.

Decisive defeat met the scheme to "saddle" a part of the support of Muhlenberg Hospital on the city, the result of the special election showing a majority of 376 against the scheme to levy a tax of one-third of a mill on every $100 of taxable property. The stand taken by The Daily Press which was admirably supported by representative citizens, who generously contributed their views to the people through the columns of this paper, was largely responsible for the defeat of the proposition. The Daily Press was the only paper to take a decided stand in the matter and the vote shows that the people agreed with its argument. It was considerably manifestly unjust and illegal to appropriate the people's funds towards the support of a private institution over which the local government has no control.

Taxation with representation, in just proportion, would no doubt have met with the approval of the public but the proposition in the form presented to the people yesterday could never have received general support.

The vote on the scheme follows:

MARTINE AFTER OTHERS
FORGOT BROTHER "DAN"

Going to the polls in the First district of the Second ward yesterday to cast his ballot for Frank S. Katzenbach, Jr., for Governor, James E. Martine, who was defeated for the gubernatorial nomination by Katzenbach, was surrounded by a crowd of admirers, many of whom were Republicans. When the "Farmer Orator" had cast his ballot he declared that he had performed a sacred duty.

"I have done what I have been asking thousands of others to do during the last four weeks. I have voted for the next Governor and my brother will do likewise."

"No he won't," shouted a Republican, "he's not registered."

"The dickens he isn't," said Mr. Martine, getting much excited. "Well, he will vote if he has to go before the county judge to get permission. It's a good joke on me, though. I've been drumming up other votes and forgot all about 'Dan's' ballot."

Colonel Dietrich, who was a personal friend of Abraham Lincoln and General Grant, refused to cast his ballot by the new-fangled voting machine.

"Do you think I am such an imbecile," he said to a Daily Press reporter, "that I can't cast my ballot without that infernal machine. I wanted to vote the Republican ticket to get at that James Smith, Jr., of Newark. I'm a friend of Martine, but I won't be insulted by being made to use that machine. To the dickens with it. I won't vote."

Colonel Dietrich, who is a staunch Democrat, then aimed his oratory at "That man Dickinson, who enslaved us with that dickens of an infernal machine. I would get up in the night to vote against him."

AFTER THE P. S. C. AGAIN

Mr. Depew Informs Common Council that it is Not Living Up to Agreement.

TO HAVE NO GROVE RAILS.

Establish New Side Linings—Ordinance Restricting Frame Buildings' Additions Introduced.

Ordinances to establish side lines on Watchung avenue, between the railroad and Crescent avenue and on Madison avenue, between West Fourth and West Seventh streets, and one to lay out and open Evergreen avenue, between Park and Hillside avenues, were adopted at the November meeting of the Common Council, Monday night, after the usual public hearing was granted. No one was present to speak for or against the adoption of the ordinances.

Residents of West Sixth street, between Monroe and Clinton avenues, petitioned for six lights, and Henry H. Apgar and others asked for the extension of a light on West Eighth street. Both were referred and later the petition of Mr. Apgar was granted.

In a communication R. Henry Depew took exception to apparent failure of the Public Service Corporation to replace the old trolley tracks on West Front street with the modern grove rail, as it promised to do in return for the privilege of double tracking its line. He recalled the statements of Councilmen Ginna and Mellick made at the meeting when the P. S. C. petition was granted, to the effect that the company should abide strictly by the terms of the contract and that the city should give the company a square deal. He believed that the company was getting considerable for practically nothing aside from the share of the expense of brick paving and urged that steps be taken to see that grove rails were laid on West Front street between Park and Madison avenues. The matter was referred.

The offer of Mrs. Frances M. Gross, of West Seventh street and Darrow avenue, to settle a sewer assessment for $44.07 was accepted, an error having been made in the original assessment. The P. S. C. informed the Common Council that several electric lights, as ordered, have been erected and are now in use. Warren B. Travell, who has the contract for erecting the pumping station machinery in connection with the southside sanitary sewer was given an extension of time to December 31, 1907, to complete the work. Building Inspector Doane reported the granting of twenty-four building permits. Clerk Horace G. Adams, of the district court, reported for the past month receipts of $112.52, expenditures of $34.29, with a balance of $78.23.

President Daniel stated in reference to the work of securing a new contract with the P. S. C., that conferences have been held with the company, and progress is being made. On motion of Mr. Mellick the committee was instructed to report on or before the December meeting.

On motion of Mr. Tooles the request of Watson Whitteley for the correction of a sewer assessment was denied, it not being within the power of the Common Council to grant the petition. Mr. Ginna reported back the petition of Miss Anna E. Lincoln, adding that her complaint had been attended to by the street committee. On motion of Mr. Montgomery the petition of J. M. Owens and others for a light on Lee place was granted. Two resolutions offered by Mr. Tooles provided for the borrowing of $10,000 on two separate notes of $5,000 each for sewer improvement work. Another resolution by the same member providing for the borrowing of $10,000 for brick pavement work, was also adopted.

At the suggestion of Mr. Mellick the New Jersey Central will be requested to see that the stone steps leading from Watchung avenue to the railroad station on the northside of the tracks are lighted at night, and at Mr. Tyler's suggestion the company will be asked to have a light placed near the Watchung avenue bridge to light passengers getting off the last car on the long commuter trains arriving in the evening. An ordinance introduced by Mr. Hibbard, chairman of the fire and building committee, sought to prevent the building of additions and extensions to frame structures in the thickly settled portions of the city within three feet of any other building. The exact application of the ordinance was not clear to Mr. Tyler and other members and it was referred back to the committee for further consideration. It was the opinion of Mr. Tyler that the purpose desired might be defeated under the wording of the ordinance, although Mr. Hibbard explained that Corporation Council had given great care and thought in the preparation of it. On the motion to refer the ordinance back Councilmen Buxton, Hibbard and Daniel voted in the negative and Councilmen Ginna, Gloak, Mellick, Montgomery, C. C. Randolph, Tolles and Tyler in the affirmative.

When the Common Council adjourned it did so to meet on Monday night, November 18.

BOARD OF EDUCATION HEARS MR. LOVELL'S REPORT.

At the regular meeting of the city Board of Education held at the high school Monday night, routine business, including action on the usual big budget of bills, occupied the time of the session. Mr. Abbott was the only member absent. The custodian's report for the past month was read, showing $5,700.20 received from the tax collector and a balance of $10,033.84 on hand. The amount from taxes is much less than last year.

Leander N. Lovell presented the financial report, which will be made public within a few days. It is the first report under the new system of keeping the school accounts, adopted last year. The medical report from Doctors Tomlinson and VanHorn showed that during the past month 321 pupils have been examined and stated that examinations would be continued. Superintendent Maxson secured the ratification of his appointment of Miss Adelaide G. Ball as city trustee officer and announced that the annual report of the city schools was practically ready and would be issued about January 1. He announced the division of the current school term and the vacations, which have already been made public.

VACATION FRIENDS MEET.

Ram's Horn Camp Guests Reunite at Reception and Dance.

One hundred and fifty young people from this city, Newark, Elizabeth, New York, Brooklyn and Easton, who were guests of Ram's Horn Camp, Lake Hopatcong, last summer, enjoyed a reception and dance at the Casino Monday night. The affair was arranged and conducted by "Jack" Hall, who was the managing head of the summer resort place, and was a success in every particular. Suhr's Imperial orchestra furnished music for the dancing and rendered an informal program during an intermission.

The dance was the first of a series of similar affairs that will be conducted during the winter with the idea of continuing the pleasant relations began in vacation time.

The Sesame Club will meet tomorrow morning at the home of Mrs. S. H. Vooghees, of Madison avenue.

P. H. Latourette, the auctioneer, will sell the personal property of the Blackwell estate at auction tomorrow at 1 o'clock, on the premises between Oak Tree and New Dover.

THE UNDERGRADE WON

Alumni Team Defeated by City High School Football Team.

NEW STYLE FOOTBALL PLAYED.

Double Forward Pass, Basketball Passing and Quarter-Back Run Makes Lighter Team Victorious.

Though outweighed many pounds to the man, the city high school football team clearly demonstrated the advantages of the open style of play on Hope Common yesterday morning, scoring three touchdowns against a team made up of the younger alumni of the school by a combination of trick plays and forward passes. The score was 22 to 6. The opposing team played straight, line-bucking football and were repeatedly held for downs by the good defensive work of the undergraduate team, on which Loizeaux and Lyness broke up play after play.

The game was witnessed by a crowd of nearly 500 pupils of the school and enthusiasts of the game. The undergraduates played fast football from the whistle. They received the kickoff and the fourth time they lined up over the ball, Doane got the ball on a long forward pass and ran 25 yards for a touchdown. Phillips kicked the goal and when the alumni got together again the score was 6-0 against them and but three minutes of the time was gone. Receiving the ball on the next kickoff, the alumni eleven rushed it to the undergraduates' 2-yard line, where they were held for downs. They soon recovered it, for the school boys were forced to punt, and Jack Douglass went over the line after a series of smashing plays through the left wing. Flanders kicked the goal and the half ended soon afterwards with the score a tie.

But it was in the second half that the mystifying, basketball tactics of the undergraduates won the game. Time after time the forward pass was used, the ball hurried through the air eighteen or twenty yards at a time, was caught in each instance without a fumble, and the alumni team, and with them the old style of scholastic football, went down and out before the accuracy rather than the power of the opposing team. The alumni kicked off, and on the very first line-up, Doane got the ball by the air line and ran forty yards without interference for the schoolboys' second touchdown. The pass had been clear over the scrimmage line and he had a clear field ahead. But still the undergraduates weren't satisfied. With the score 11-6 in their favor, Loizeaux passed the ball to Murphy, and he threw it nearly twenty yards to Snyder, who ran the intervening thirty yards for the touchdown. The play, a double forward pass, was accurately executed, and caused a big uproar among the rooters; even the alumni could not help commending the play. Phillips missed the goal, and the alumni braced up and had the ball see-sawing up and down the field for many minutes. There was lots ofunting, and finally Loizeaux, took the ball at quarter-back, and ran sixty yards for still another touchdown. Phillips kicked the goal.

After this, the high school put in several substitutes and the teams had a punting contest until time was called. The line-up and summaries: P. H. S.—Doane, Snyder, le; Fountain, Lyness, it; Morris, Sewell, Jr.; Tittsworth, c; Fleming, rg; Hammond, rt; Phillips, re; Loizeaux (captain), Riffert, quarter-back; Bingaman, Caldwell, Smalley, rb; Murphy, lb; Lyness, Bingaman, fb; P. TOWNSHIP CANDIDATE SPOKE.

Despite the heavy downpour of rain Saturday night the Township Improvement Society meeting held at Berkeley Heights was well attended. Frank C. Shaffer, the president of the society, in opening up the meeting said that the society is not a political organization, but was composed of a majority of the voters of the township Republicans and Democrats, the object of the special meeting was to discuss thoroughly the matter of electric lights, reducing the number of the board of education from nine to three, and the readjustment of the assessments of the township.

William Jeffery explained the vital points of these matters, very carefully in a 45-minute speech, and was stopped several times by long and united applause. Of the two candidates for membership of the Township Committee, Henry S. Fullerton, Republican, was the only one to show up. He had to drive over two miles in the heavy rain, arriving a little after nine o'clock. Mr. Fullerton, in an address to the society, stated that it has always been his policy to keep the tax rate as low as possible, but that if the voters want electric lights, they felt the same way as he, for he wants them and will do everything he can to facilitate the early installation of the same in the Resolutions were passed unanimously thanking Mr. Fullerton for declaring himself on up-to-date matters, and promising him the support of the society. Two other resolutions were passed, one that the number of the board of education be reduced from nine to three, the other resolution was that the assessments of the township for the purposes of taxation be readjusted, and that William Jeffrey was appointed a committee to see the assessor and the county board and report the proper and direct way to accomplish the same.

A Sequel to MR. BARNES OF NEW YORK

Then he opens the second letter from the American detective, dated June 2d. It contains a receipted bill from the Grand, that he had paid for Mr. Barnes, and also a statement that young Bernardo Salicetti had arrived from Ajaccio on the Wednesday boat, but so far as Emory could discover, had met no one in Marseilles, though he had received some telegrams.

"Lady Chartris Runs Up Stairs, and Returning, Places an Epistle in Burton's Hand."

"I am onto this young Corsican cock-a-doodle," wrote the detective, "and as I find he is leaving for a trip along the coast toward Nice I shall follow him to see if he will lead me to the head villain."

"I've also written to Perrier, whom you can trust, to look out for you. His address in Nice is 239 Rue Palermo. You mention to him 'Venetia,' and he'll know you and reply, 'Marseilles.'"

It ended with a curious postscript. "I have just discovered that young Salicetti's first stop is St. Tropez."

Mr. Barnes has very little time to turn these communications over in his mind, for he is interrupted by a sudden swish of short skirts and Maud, standing beside him, demands: "How much for mamma's other suit?"

"I don't believe I want him, Miss Bribery and Corruption," mutters Burton, being anxious to reflect upon Emory's letters.

"Not curious to know of the man who brought mamma home yesterday?" she asks eagerly, "the chap who kissed her sure, but whether her hand or her lips, I couldn't see," grins the girl.

"Indeed, who is the ardent gallant?" sneers Barnes, indifferently.

The answer that comes strikes the American's nerve centers.

"Count Correggio Cipriano Danella," remarks Miss Chartris, affably. "You know his poor brother, Musso, is dead."

"What, the fellow who gave Marina the letter in the Marseilles depot that made her faint?" The light of battle springs into Barnes' face. "You put me within ten paces of that gentleman with the scar over his eye, Maudie," he remarks slowly, "and you shall die of bonbons."

Here Miss Chartris shocks his nerve centers again.

"Oh, he's not scary at all!" cries Maud, indignantly. "That dissipated looking creature is not Correggio Cipriano Danella. Corsican hat and plumes—so romantic—in deep black—so sad—manners like a dancing master—quite actor-like, too. He buttered me all over with compliments till my pigtail stood on end with joy. While he was primping after her drive, we played roly polly on the green and I told him how a chap who had a kind of family likeness to him had mashed Marina and passed her a billet doux that knocked her silly in the Marseilles railroad station."

"Then somehow he jollied me along till I got gay and told him how anxious you were to buy the letter from me, and I—I only had sold you the three-quarters of it that I had picked up on the floor of the depot—the part that didn't give anything away."

"Then you have the other part?" Burton's tone is so searching, his manner so severe that Maud dare not tell him, and falters out a lie: "Of course, I haven't. Didn't I tell you I only picked up what I gave you?"

Barnes has risen and is striding determinedly back to the house, a definite resolution upon his set face.

BOOK TWO.

CHAPTER VII.

Maud's Confidences.

Miss Chartris pursues him along the walk between the citron and the orange trees, asking affrightedly: "Why do you look so terrible?"

For Barnes is meditating sardonically: "If it were only the scar-faced devil, I'd kill him on sight as I would a rattlesnake. But this one who has turned up here, the real Correggio Cipriano Danella, what has he done to me that I can at present justly destroy him? Neither Emory nor myself, from the signature on his check, could say dastard threat against my coming bride would make me send Clip to the devil in very short order. But I must have proof."

A moment later her mother sweeps affably down to him. During Barnes' perusal of Emory's letters and enjoyment of Maud's confidences, Prunella has made a toilette that seems more elaborate than would be called forth by the arrival of relatives.

"What, back again so soon?" says the widow, pleasantly, leading Barnes to her parlor.

"Yes," observes that gentleman, "I forgot to mention that the reason you could treat us en famille is that tomorrow I am about to wed."

"Enid!" screams the lady. "Oh, you darling boy!" and gives him a sudden, whole-souled kiss. After a moment she says deprecatingly: "This sudden mating will not permit of a grand wedding." Then, her eyes growing excited at the thought of social success, she exclaims: "Of course, the town is growing deserted, but Adelaide Carington at the De la Mediterranee, Milly Portman of the De Rome and Lilly Vivian at the Hotel des Anglais, are three charming English girls who will be delightful bridesmaids for Enid. Besides, Edwin could invite the officers of her majesty's Opal, which is lying off Monte Carlo. Oh, it shall be the most important wedding this season in the Riviera."

"It is the most important wedding to me," remarks Barnes, solemnly, "but it will be the most private one. Enid and I are only anxious to be wed. I must beg you to say nothing about this to anyone." The gentleman's tone is deferential but imperative. "To-night I shall drive into Nice and see the pastor of the English church. Here in this parlor, to-morrow evening, he shall say, by the blessing of God, the words that will make my darling mine."

"Oh, of course, if you so desire it, Burton," answers Prunella, affably. "I suppose Enid thinks she can manage some kind of a wedding gown by to-morrow evening."

"Anyway, that's the time," observes Barnes, quietly. All the while he is studying Lady Chartris, wondering if her appearance has attracted Correggio Cipriano Danella, or whether the Corsican has in some subtle way learned this is the retreat of the pursued, and is here on account of family vengeance.

"There is slight possibility that a man of 35 can be attracted by cosmetics," muses the American. Then he suddenly asks: "Has anyone called here for me?"

"Nobody, I believe. The only person I observed in Nice who knew you was la Belle—" Lady Chartris' cheeks glow with modest blushes of an English widow as she checks herself in the mentioning the awful Blackwood.

Barnes blushes also. When a man of the world is about to wed youth and purity, the follies of his wilder youth seem shameful things. So he cuts off this mention of the great American adventures by saying shortly: "Mr. Emory, my agent, has not been for me yet?"

"Why, no, I haven't heard of Emory since we left Marseilles," remarks his hostess.

"Ask your servants, please. This matter is important."

Lady Chartris goes out and after a few minutes returns and says that she has questioned everyone in the house and they all assert that nobody since their arrival at the villa had called and asked for Mr. Barnes. "But if you don't bring your party on shore," prattles Prunella, "they'll be late for dinner, and—my goodness! I had forgotten—I have an engagement in Nice this evening, so I'll have to be leaving immediately after."

The additional tint upon the lady's cheeks shows that it is a love tryst.

"All right, I've got to see that minister," replies Barnes, easily, "so, if you'll be so good, you can drive me in to Nice. Now I'll get our party on shore." He lights a cigar and strolls rapidly down to the little landing place between ilex trees and oleanders, the thoughts of his coming nuptials raising his spirits.

"Since the new Danella is here, I'm glad to know it," he thinks. "A discovered danger is better than a hidden one. Who the deuce is that scar-faced scoundrel?"

Emory was to be here by the 4th—this very day. It's nearly expired and no signs of the detective, a man that Barnes knows is prompt in his appointments. "What can this mean?"

This is his reflection as he is in the boat being rowed alongside of the Wildfowl, for Edwin has had the yacht warped tolerably close to the landing stage, and the little pleasure vessel, looking like a slovenly merchant schooner, is now lying not over a hundred yards away from where the soft waters flap lazily upon the grounds of Lady Chartris' villa.

Barnes climbs hastily on board, takes the lieutenant to the retirement of the stern and rapidly tells him of the appearance of the true Correggio Cipriano Danella. "This complicates matters," he whispers. "The scar-faced scoundrel we could have put out of the way without compunction, but

Mr. Gethin now has thirty saddle and jumping horses at the grounds, among them "Rifle." The jumping horses and this class of instruction is in charge of Richard Donnelly, who has schooled some of the most famous hunters and jumpers in the country.
