IRISH DANCERS COMPETE

Colleens and Laddies Jig and Reel for Prizes at Harvest Home Affair.

CROWD APPLAUD CONTESTANTS.

Entire Affair Given up to Dancing as it is Done in the Emerald Isle

—Robert McCormack the Originator.

Irish jigs, reels and horn-pipes of the kind danced at Donnybrook and Tipperary were exemplified for the benefit of the younger generation that never saw Erin at the Irish harvest home given in Sebring's Hall, last night. It was a wide departure from the usual dances locally popular but the result was even more successful than the promoters had anticipated. The place was crowded as it never has been before and almost every one remained until the last strains of the pipe resounded. Many of the attendance came from out of town places as far either way as Elizabeth and Sonerville.

The idea of giving a typical Irish dance originated with Robert McCormack. The "owld folks" had been protesting that they never had a chance at the waltz and two step affair that predominate and he decided to give them a night when they could "hit the floor" as they had been taught on the "owld sod." To begin with, he discarded the orchestra accompaniment and substituted proper music. Patsy Triohey on the Irish pipes; Tim O'Rourke with the flute and Dan Donnelly handling the fiddle. Their program included "Mrs. McLeod's reel," "The wind that shakes the barley," "Where the River Shannon flows" and other Emerald airs.

An occasional waltz or two was given for the younger folks but primarily the intention was only for sets and reels. Every time a tune was struck up, it found response in the hearts and heels of colleens and laddies who knew how to step. Those who didn't took keen delight in watching, now and then applauding a particular intricate move.

The general program was carried on until 10:30 when the floor was cleared for the event of the evening, a prize step dance such as is held on the barn floor at the Irish fairs. Men and women took part and separate awards were made for each. The contestants were allowed three minutes each for a jig and a horn pipe, the number of steps, grace and ability being counted. The judges were John Buckley, of Jersey City; James Cuniffe and Robert Murray, of this city. Mr. Murray is an authority on step dancing as seen in Scotland and appeared in Hielan' kilts to carry out the effect. The spectators gathered about the improvised platform and if applause is any criterion, enjoyed every movement of the contest. At the close the prizes were awarded as follows: Women's first, Miss Kate Fritzsche; second, Miss Mary Mack; third, Miss M. Duffy; men's first, Michael Mahoney; second, Charles Martell; third, Stephen Boland. The judges decision conformed with the popular selections.

Following the prize dance, the sets were resumed and continued until two o'clock. The proceeds from the affair will be donated to the building fund of St. Joseph's church.

The success of the affair is largely due to the efforts of Robert McCormack, who acted as general chairman and the committee of arrangements and his assistant Miss Elizabeth Day. The reception committee was composed of Bernard Smith, Edward Conshen, Miss Molly McCann, Miss Catherine Conshen, Miss Nellie Burke, Miss Kate Cassidy, Miss Delia McGerry; entertainment committee, Cornelius D. Guinee, John McLaughlin, John Hurley, Thomas Farrell, Miss Delia Bowen, Miss Annie Bowen, Miss Kate Milken, Miss Annie Milken and Miss Kate Keogh. The floor managers were Joseph F. McCann and Thomas Phelan.

Long Lease for Kurtzman.

Charles Kurtzman, the furrier, signed a lease for a long term of years yesterday for the same store, 178 East Front street, he now occupies on East Front street in the Pitts block, where he has been located for two years. Since coming here Mr. Kurtzman has built up a good trade reputation and announces that in the future he will conduct his business along the same lines thus continuing to merit the support of the public. His experience in his chosen line have made him familiar with the tastes of Plainfield women and he purposes always to have these tastes in mind when preparing his stock. He makes a specialty of storing furs during the summer.

MISSIONARY ADDRESSES

OF CONGREGATIONALISTS

Under the auspices of the Women's Association of the Congregational church a missionary meeting was held yesterday afternoon. Mrs. F. G. Mead, president, and Mrs. John Gray Foster, treasurer, of the McAll Auxiliary, upon invitation of the association, appeared and gave the women a delightful talk concerning the McAll work in Paris, and making a strong appeal for greater support on the part of the women of Plainfield.

These talks were followed by the beginning of the course of study in Turkey, led by Mrs. Charles L. Goodrich. She presented a synopsis of the ancient history of Turkey, giving an account of the recent revolution in that country. At the close of her talk a letter of unusual interest received from the church missionary, Rev. Dr. Cornelius H. Patton, who is in Constantinople, described the first session of the new parliament, which he attended. This letter was dated December 8, last, and is considered to be about the latest information concerning affairs in Turkey which has been received by the churches here. The letter tended to arouse greater interest in the work that the Congregational church is doing in Turkey.

HERE'S A SAD CASE; AN APPEAL IS MADE

An urgent case of need where some money must be quickly raised has been brought to public notice today which we are positive will meet with a ready response from the charitable inclined. The case is an unusually sad one.

William H. Hall, with his wife and six children has been residing at 14 Regent street, North Plainfield. The man is one of those unfortunates who scarcely make both ends meet. He has been working in Hand's brickyard until that closed down some time ago. One of his children, a boy died on December 6 and another on January 6 while his wife passed away at Muhlenberg Hospital last Sunday. Her remains are in the morgue awaiting burial. The funeral expenses of the two children are still unpaid and Hall has no money.

Two prominent business men of this city when they heard of these circumstances yesterday, at once notified the undertaker to proceed with the burial of Mrs. Hall. They ask those who can afford to contribute small amounts through The Daily Press. The money will be used to liquidate the expenses of all three funerals and any amount left over will be judiciously expended in necessities for the unfortunate family.

Mr. Hall is not a drinking man. He is just unfortunate enough to not be able to get along. The Daily Press has already received $10 from sympathizers.

JACK MARTIN SIGNS TO PLAY WITH HIGHLANDERS.

The signed contract of Jack Martin, the local baseball player, was received yesterday by Secretary Davis of the New York American League, and he has been assigned to the first squad to go south early in February. Martin was recommended to Manager Chase of the Highlanders, by Scout Irwin, who feels assured that the Plainfielder will make good.

Martin played with the Clinton Avenue Baseball Club, afterward the Plainfield Baseball Club, for several years, and last summer played regularly with the New Brunswick Sunday team, as well as at Paterson. He is rated as a first-class infielder, usually covering short, and his batting is good.

"Anti-Saloon League Sunday." "Anti-Saloon League Sunday" will be observed in this city next Sunday, when many pulpits will be occupied by speakers representing that movement.

Entertained "500" Club.

Mrs. U. G. Tingley entertained the members of the Tuesday 500 club at her home on Grandview avenue last night. The evening was spent in playing cards and with a program of vocal and instrumental music. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Margaret Wilson and Mrs. A. E. Force and Messrs. U. G. Tingley and A. E. Force.

Week of Prayer Services.

The second of the series of week of prayer services will be held at the Netherwood Reformed church, this evening at 8 o'clock. The subject will be "Repentance," and the pastor, Rev. Royal A. Stout, will be in charge.

GEORGE R. WYCKOFF

SUCCUMBED LAST NIGHT

George R. Wyckoff, aged 47 years, for many years a well-known carpenter in this city, died last night at his home, 216 East Second street, following a long illness from dropsy and kidney trouble. Mr. Wyckoff was born in Bound Brook, but had resided here for the past twenty-five years. He was a member of the Carpenters' Union and was well-known among the members of the craft.

Besides a wife, Mr. Wyckoff is survived by four brothers, William, Lewis, Charles and Edward Wyckoff; also two sisters. The funeral will be held at the late residence, on East Second street, Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and Rev. J. W. Musson, pastor of the Temple Baptist church, will officiate.

FORTY-FIRST CONCERT

OF Y. M. C. A. ORCHESTRA

One of the best of the long series of concerts by the Y. M. C. A. orchestra was given last night in the auditorium. Between the two parts of the splendid program a silver collection was taken which netted a goodly sum.

The assisting soloists were Mrs. Guy Bender, soprano; Miss Emily Moffett, cellist, and Whitney Frazee, cornetist. To one who has followed the fortunes of Mr. Korff's splendid aggregation of instrumentalists it is plain that each succeeding concert is an improvement over the preceding one. The orchestral work was superior to any of the band's previous work, showing a conscientious study and appreciation of the works interpreted.

Miss Moffett, ably accompanied by her sister, Miss Laurabelle Moffett, disclosed a warm and dignified sentiment in her numbers and was compelled to respond to hearty encores. Mrs. Bender was as usual pleasing in her songs and Mr. Frazee evoked applause with his splendid work with his favorite instrument. It was a successful concert.

JUDGE ULRICH CHOSEN EMBASSY ASSN. MEMBER.

The American Embassy association has informed former Judge John Ulrich, of this city, that he has been placed upon the National Advisory committee of the organization. This association is composed of some of the most influential citizens of the country and is of a non-partisan character. It believes with President Taft that the choice of ambassadors for important posts should not be limited merely to men of great wealth and that all ambassadors should look alike and that it reflects on the dignity of the Nation for one ambassador to live in a palace and for his successor to live in a flat.

As the Nation believes in appropriating annually over $200,000,000 preparation to keep on a hostile footing with other nations that we can well afford to expend three million dollars to promote friendship with them. A bill is now before Congress introduced by Congressman Lowden of Illinois, providing for the purchase or election of Embassy Legation and consular buildings and which the association is very vitally interested in and will lend its influence in the direction of its passage. Judge Ulrich has accepted the honor.

TEMPORARY WELL BEING SUNK AT PUMPING STATION.

A temporary sump well is being sunk by contractor, J. A. Christie, of Newark, on Monroe avenue near the pumping station in connection with the additional sewer connections which are being made. The well is for the purpose of draining the permanent one and is three feet lower than the latter. Pumps not less than 8" centrifugal will be used on this well.

The mild weather and the absence of snow has made it possible for the street men to clean out the surface outlets and do other work in connection with the surface drainage. The street committee will probably meet within a week or two to go over the work done during the past year on the city streets and roads.

John Ritter.

John Ritter, aged 70 years, a well known resident in the Washington Valley section, died yesterday afternoon at his home on the Valley road, after a long illness. The funeral service will be held tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock from St. Joseph's church, North Plainfield, where a solemn high mass of requiem for the repose of his soul will be offered. The burial will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

TO DANCE FOR CHARITY

Cup Bearers Circle of King's Daughters Plan "Kinder Sinfonie."

AT THE PARK CLUB HOUSE.

Edingham Pinto, Misses Helen Stevens and Margaret Curtis to Appear—Orchestra Under Direction of S. F. Smith.

What promises to be one of the most unique and entertaining events of the season is the "Kinder Sinfonie" being prepared by Cup Bearers Circle of the King's Daughters, to be given at the Park Club auditorium on the evening of February 12, under the direction of S. Frederick Smith, organist and choirmaster of Grace Episcopal church. Some thirty young women will take part in fancy costumes and there will be solo and duet dances.

The fancy dances will be under the direction of Edingham Pinto who will also take part in one of the duets with Miss Helen Stevens. Miss Margaret Curtis will display her ability in one solo and besides the dances and symphonies a pantomime will be given by some twenty-five young women. The titles of the two symphonies are "Jolly Sleigh Ride," by Romberg and "Fringles Sinfonie," by H. Mohr.

An orchestra composed of members of the Circle will furnish the music for the dances and other events as follows: Pianos, Misses Edith Mellick, Louise Booth, Ruth Waldo and Dorothy Burke. Violins, Misses Helen Harmon and Ann Waldo and Mrs. Violet Truell Johnston.

The others who will take part are Mrs. Gifford Cooley, Mrs. M. E. Perkins, Mrs. Hartley Mellick and the Misses Helen Timpon, Ruth Van Fleet, Mildred Berry, Grace Carroll, Helen Adams, Katharine Titus, Hope Ivins, Helen Moody, Leontine Huntsman, Annie Fisk, Dorothy Fisk, Edith Mellick, May Faber, Anna Garrigue, Marion Brown, Helen Stevens, Eunice Watson, Lillian Kins, Ethel Most, Gladys Peck, Madeline Ashwell, Muriel Ashwell, Susan Wharton, Alice Titus, Ruth Titus, Grace Burke, Constance Wilcox, Marion Hall, Emily Poucher, Margaret Carpenter, Elizabeth Flanders, Lucy Budlong and Beresford Letecher.

The proceeds of the entertainment are to be devoted to the charities carried on by Cup Bearers Circle in the city.

PRESENT DAY PEOPLE OF MEXICO DESCRIBED

An interesting paper on "The Present Day People of Mexico" was presented by Miss Margaret W. McCutchen at the meeting of the Home Missionary Society of the First Baptist church held yesterday afternoon in the lecture room. After describing the Federation of twenty-seven states, not unlike our own United States, Miss McCutchen told of the varieties of temperature in the country the result of the varied altitudes of the hills and plains and described the Indian villages as not unlike in appearance those of Africa. The haciendas or estates, she said, were almost like feudal castles with all ways a church, a priest, a doctor and 1,000 or more peons or slaves. The ignorance and indolence of this class, which is also indisputable, she gave as a serious obstacle to progress in Mexico. They were born in debt, lived in debt and left an inheritance of debt to their children, she said. The women of Mexico were described by Miss McCutchen as secluded, lovers of home and devoted to their religion. The Indian women in their adobe cabins, she said, had a life of hard realities and generation followed generation, bare-headed, bare-footed and empty minded.

The Mexican religion was spoken of as paganism baptized. The work of Protestants was begun in 1856 and after more than forty years there are not more than 25,000 members of the Protestant church. A hopeful sign of the times, she said, was the broader-minded attitude of the Roman Catholic church toward the efforts of Protestant workers. Mrs. Reuben Knox, the president, added some items gleaned during a two months' stay in Mexico last Spring.

A devotional service led by Mrs. Frank W. Jones, preceded the paper.

DEATH COMES SUDDENLY

TO MRS. CHARLES TAYNOR

Mrs. Elizabeth M. Tynor, wife of Charles Tynor, died suddenly at her home on Chatham street, early this morning. She retired in her usual health and spirits early last evening, but became ill at 1 o'clock. Dr. Zeglio was sent for but she died soon after his arrival. Heart trouble is assigned as the cause.

Mrs. Tynor was thirty-six years old and had lived in this city practically all her life. She was a member of Warren chapel and an active worker. Beside her husband, she is survived by five children. Mrs. Horace Adams, of Johnson avenue, is a sister. The funeral arrangements have not been made.

BUILDING OPERATIONS

NOT MANY JUST NOW

Building operations in this city have not been very brisk since the beginning of the year, but it is likely that if the present weather continues favorable a perceptible increase in this activity will be noticed. Most of the work now going on or in contemplation is in the nature of alterations to buildings.

Walter F. Emmons, of Leland avenue has been issued a permit for the erection of a frame garage on his property and Frank Spalluto, of George street, will build a 25 foot barn on his property near Hill street.

Mrs. C. B. Lawrence, Jr., will build a three story and basement brick dwelling on Hillside avenue for which Alexander Milne has the contract. Nathan Bloom, of New York city, will erect three frame dwelling houses, each for two families on West Fifth street near Plainfield avenue. Mr. Bloom will do his own work.

U. B. Crane has had plans accepted for a meeting room to be built at 303 Filmore avenue. This will be a frame structure 28 by 42 feet and only one story. Frank McInerney and L. T. Tittsworth will build for Dr. O. B. Whitford on Lenoax avenue a two-story frame dwelling, and Enoch Berry will build for himself a two-and-a-half story frame dwelling on Leland avenue near East Second street. Permits for all the above have been issued by Building Inspector T. O. Doane.

GEORGE H. FROST TO TOUR SOUTH AMERICA.

Accompanied by George S. King, of Philadelphia, George H. Frost, of Watchung avenue will leave New York on Saturday on the Hamburg-American liner "Blucher" for a tour of South America. The itinerary includes Punta Arenas, Sandy Point, the southern most city in the world, and a trip up the Pacific coast to Valparaiso.

From Chile the globe-trotters will cross the continent on the trans-Andean railway and will visit Buenos Aires and Rio Janeiro, taking the steamer from the latter port for home. Messrs. Frost and King will be gone about three months. The southern trip will take the travelers through the Straits of Magellan.

Charles Fury Administrator.

Charles J. Fury, formerly of Somerville, and at one time part owner in a business in North Plainfield, but now proprietor of the Hotel Sterling, Trenton, was appointed by Surrogate Bullock yesterday as administrator of the estate of the late Mrs. Elizabeth Fury. The application for the naming of an administrator was made by the heirs. No inventory of the estate has yet been filed with the surrogate. Mrs. Fury died last week without leaving a will.

Missionary Societies Meet.

The women's home and foreign missionary societies of the First M. E. church, held their monthly meetings in Vincent chapel, yesterday, the foreign society meeting in the morning and considering the subject "Western Women in Eastern Lands," and the home society considering the subject of "Cuba," in the afternoon. There was a large attendance of women at both meetings.

Home Missionary to Speak.

Miss Miriam Woodberry, one of the most interesting representatives of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the Congregational church, will address the mid-week meeting at the Congregational church, this evening at 8 o'clock. She will present certain phases of the home mission work.

A. W. Johnson, of Duer street, is not able to go to business on account of knee trouble, not being able to bear his weight on his leg.

FUNERAL SERVICES OF

'UNCLE JESSE' HATFIELD

The funeral services of Jesse B. Hatfield, who died suddenly on Monday morning, were held at 11 o'clock this morning at the late home on West Front street and were largely attended by relatives and friends. The double affliction which has come to this home in the recent death of Mrs. Hatfield on Thursday last and which was followed so closely by the death of Mr. Hatfield, has aroused deep sympathy for the family.

Rev. John Y. Brook, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, of which Mr. Hatfield was an attendant with his wife, conducted the services. He read appropriate Scripture selections and made a short address in which he referred impressively to the double affliction which had befallen the home, concluding his remarks with a fervent prayer in which he invoked the divine blessing on the bereaved ones.

There was a large number of beautiful floral tributes from relatives and friends, which almost covered the bier. The burial was in the family plot at Somerville, beside the remains of Mrs. Hatfield, who was interred on Saturday. The pallbearers were B. F. Tallamy, H. B. MacDonald, H. H. Taylor, George Cornwall, Frank Weed and Charles Johnson.

NEWARK CONFERENCE

WEDNESDAY MARCH 28

The annual session of the Newark Conference of the M. E. church, will be held in Central M. E. church, Market street, Newark, commencing Wednesday, March 29, and continuing for one week. Bishop H. W. Warren, of University Park, Colorado, will preside at all sessions of the conference. While it is a little early to make any predictions, it is the belief that no changes will be made in the city or borough, invitations having been extended to the local Methodist pastors to remain another year.

There is a report, however, that many changes will be made, especially in the northern end of the State. The members of the century church Newark, where Rev. Dr. C. L. Mead was formerly pastor, were anxious for his return, but in the meantime he has gone to Baltimore, which is part of another conference, and there is little likelihood of his returning. He left Hoboken to go to Baltimore. His transfer to Hoboken caused such a stir in the Newark church. It was at the time that Rev. Dr. A. C. McCrea was transferred from the First M. E. church, to the pastorate held by Dr. Mead.

FUNERAL OF RAILROAD VICTIM HELD TODAY.

The funeral of Patrick Gorman, one of the two men killed on the Central railroad at Westfield, Friday, was held in St. Rose's new Catholic church, Short Hills, this morning. A solemn requiem mass was said by Rev. J. T. Brown in the presence of relatives and friends. Burial was made in the church cemetery in the family plot of his aunt, Mrs. Boyle.

The identification of Gorman was made at Cole's undertaking rooms in this city by Mrs. Boyle and a sister. He made his home in both Summit and Milburne at various times and was well known in both places. He had been to Westfield in search of a position when the accident occurred that resulted in his death.

Sears Fell From Cart.

Ellsworth Sears, 28, colored, fell from a train at the east bound station last night, shortly after 6 o'clock and so badly bruised that it was found necessary to sew up several cuts in his face. Patrolman McGinley found Sears and took him to the office of Dr. Pittis where his wounds were dressed. He was afterwards locked up on a charge of intoxication. Sentence was suspended by Judge DeMeza this morning on Sears' promise to leave town.

Book Party at Y. W. C. A.

There will be a "book party" at the Young Women's Christian Association rooms on the evening of January 24. Those who attend are requested to bring a book if possible for the library. The party will be under the auspices of the library committee.

A Sign of Spring.

George H. Parker saw a flock of eighteen blue robins in the vicinity of Stoney Hill on Monday. Farmers consider the appearance of this bird as a sure sign of an early spring.

MARTINE MUCH BETTER

Senatorial Candidate, Suffering With the Grip, Greatly Improved Today.

SMITH IS STILL IN THE RACE.

A Conservation Estimate Gives Mr. Smith 22 Votes—Necessary to Elect on Joint Ballot of Legislature 41.

James E. Martine, candidate for United States Senator to succeed John Kean, who has been ill with an aggravated case of grip for ten days, is much improved today. He spent the morning reading Gov. Wilson's inaugural address and going over his mail. It is expected that he will be able to be about again next week.

That James Smith, Jr., is still in the race for the United States Senate became apparent yesterday when there was engaged for him in the Trenton House a suite of ten rooms, which he will occupy with his headquarters, including James R. Nugent, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, beginning next Monday, when the Democratic majority of the Legislature will have another conference preparatory to the vote for Senator. The houses will vote separately on Tuesday with a joint session on Wednesday. The Smith forces are declaring that they will be able to control the Democrats in caucus and will win in the joint session.

Both houses of the Legislature met for a few minutes yesterday morning and adjourned until next Monday evening, remaining only long enough to attend the inauguration. Martine's forces are also predicting the election of their man on the first ballot. They declare the lawmakers will not be bound by caucus action. An impartial estimate gives Smith a slight lead at this time, although he is by no means sure that he can hold all of his men in line. His main object now is to force the lawmakers into caucus, but if he fails to do this the fight will be an open one in joint session. This estimate was prepared by a conservative observer of political affairs.

For Smith—Senator Low, of Ocean; Senator Cornish and Assemblyman Cole, of Warren; Senator Price and Assemblyman Mayer, of Sussex; Assemblymen McGrath, Ford, Cristie, James and Martin, of Hudson; Assemblymen Backes, Brown, Bracken, Phillips, Leveen, McGowan, Shalvey and Macksey, of Essex; Assemblyman Matthews, of Hunterdon; Assemblymen Ramsey and Booram, of Middlesex; Assemblyman Taylor, of Monmouth; and Assemblymen Burke and Bunn, of Morris. Total—24.

For Martine—Senator Gebhardt, of Hunterdon; Senator Silzer, of Middlesex; Senator Osborne and Assemblymen Milod and Butler, of Essex; Assemblymen Egas, Donnelly, Simpson, Davidson, Kenney and Griffith, of Hudson; Assemblyman Lafferty, of Gloucester; Assemblyman Walsh, of Mercer; Assemblyman Steitwolf of Middlesex; Assemblyman Goran and Hendrickson, of Monmouth; Assemblyman Newman, of Ocean; Assemblymen Brodhead and McLaughlin, of Union. Total—22.

Doubtful—Senator Johnson of Bergen; Senator Fitzherbert, of Morris; Assemblyman Agnew and Senator Filder of Hudson; and Assemblyman Balentine, of Essex. Total—5.

Necessary to control caucus, 26; necessary to elect on joint ballot, 41. Mr. Balentine has said he would not vote for Smith, but is not committed to Martine. Some of Smith's men are claiming some of the votes here accredited to Martine and the Martine people claim some accredited to Smith, notably Senator Johnson, of Bergen, and Assemblyman Bunn, of Morris. Few of the Legislators have actually committed themselves to Smith or Martine, and it would not be surprising to see most of them break away and bring about the selection of a compromise candidate. It takes 26 votes to control the Democratic caucus and 41 votes to elect on joint ballot and at this time neither Smith nor Martine have enough votes to control either.

The two houses will vote separately on Tuesday and jointly on Wednesday.

The senatorial situation was enlivened yesterday at Trenton by an impassioned interview with "Jim" Nugent who is the chairman of the Democratic National Committee, but who is more particularly the chairman of the Smith committee. Mr. Nugent is usually a very calm individual, but yesterday something moved him to cut out diplomatic verbiage and to speak apparently, at Rid Yourself of Unnecessary Burdens—A Plainfield Citizen Shows You How.

Don't bear unnecessary burdens. Burdens of a bad back are unnecessary.

Get rid of them.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure bad backs.

Cure lame, weak and aching backs.

Cure every form of kidney ills.

Lots of local endorsement to prove this.

Mrs. John Driscoll, 753 West Third street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "The public statement I gave several years ago concerning my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills was correct and still holds good. I suffered from a dull pain across my back which clung to me incessantly. Hard work increased my misery and at times I also had headaches and dizzy spells. I tried plasters and remedies of various kinds but without relief. Doan's Kidney Pills, which I finally procured at Randolph's Pharmacy relieved me and for that reason I heartily recommend them."

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

No musical comedy in recent years has won the unanimous praise of the New York critics in such unqualified measure as has "Madame Sherry," which Woods, Frazee and Lederer are now presenting in New York, at the New Amsterdam, and which will be seen here in all its beauty and completeness at The Plainfield theatre, next Monday night. Adapted from a French original which has charmed Paris, Berlin, Vienna and London for the past three years, "Madame Sherry" has been revised for the American stage by Otto Hancorback and given a most enchanting musical setting by Karl Hochma. "Madame Sherry" sparkles like champagne and its twenty-two musical numbers are positively infectious in their idea and manner of construction, and its cast numbers such musical comedy celebrities as Edward M. FAVOR, Tessa Kosta, Edith Sinclair, R. Emmett Lennon, Emilie Hayward, Joe Smith Marba and the wonderful chorus which has been the talk of Manhattan ever since the opening night. A special orchestra and massive scenic production further add to the attractiveness of "Madame Sherry."

CHRISTIAN FIELD

The Men's Conference Bible class will have charge of the prayer-meeting at the First Baptist church this evening.

"My Grace Sufficient for Thee," will be the subject of the mid-week meeting at the Crescent Avenue church this evening.

The quartet choir of the Crescent Avenue church will sing the "Stabat Mater," next Sunday evening. Organist Russell will be in charge of the musical service.

Danish Lutheran services will be held this evening in the Swedish Pilgrim church, West Sixth and New streets, with preaching by Rev. N. H. Nyrop, of Brooklyn.

A sacred concert will be given at Bethel chapel on Sunday evening, January 29. No charge will be made for admission but a silver offering will be received at the door.

A drama entitled, "Uncle Horace from California," will be rendered at Bethel chapel tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock under the management of the Circle of Earnest Workers.

THE I. G. H. CIRCLE ELECTIONS OFFICERS AND HOLD A SOCIAL.

The I. G. H. Circle of the West End Tabernacle at a meeting held Monday afternoon elected these officers for the coming year: President, Miss Bertha Stryker; vice-president, Miss Florence Weaver; secretary, Miss Irene Mattox; treasurer, Miss Laura Miller.

The circle has a membership of nine girls, who meet every Friday afternoon at each others homes for sewing. The following are members: The Misses Bertha Stryker, Frances Weaver, Irene Mattox, Laura Miller, Mary Norgard, Anna Nuss, Maude Lancaster, Beatrice Weaver and Carrie Pennoyer. Following the business Monday, a social time was enjoyed.

Theatre Entertainment Pleasures. The high-class motion picture and musical entertainment being offered at The Plainfield theatre, matinee and evening, on days when regular plays are not booked, is being enjoyed by persons who are especially fond of this sort of entertainment. The pictures are the best obtainable and are operated in a way that entirely eliminates the flickers usually noticed in such pictures. The musical part of the entertainment is also of a high-class, including violin, and vocal selections and dramatic readings. Two shows are given each day, at 3 and 8:20, with a change of pictures every day.

Swedish Church Elects Officers. Officers were elected at the annual meeting of the Swedish Lutheran church, held Monday night, as follows: Financial secretary, E. J. Hellstrom; cashier, E. Fosmand; trustees, E. Johnson, C. Johnson, Christopher Hove, Albert Gilbert; deacons, Messrs. Martinson, E. Johnson and John Gettelson. It was decided to raise the salary of the pastor, Rev. John Estlund; also that of the organist, Miss Svendsen. The church has a membership of fifty-eight and there are sixteen children in the Sunday-school.

inciple, as tending toward standardization), but they amended the bylaws of the association which now require us to play according to the St. Andrews rules. The new bylaw requires us to play according to the revision of 1908, enacted and adopted jointly by St. Andrews and by the United States Golf Association, except insofar as such revision may hereafter be amended by us. In other words, if St. Andrews should amend the rules in any particular in the future, the change would not apply in this country. No rules will hereafter obtain in this country unless affirmatively adopted here.

"In addition a resolution was adopted directing the appointment of a special committee to confer with St. Andrews on the subject of the adoption of a universal code of rules for the whole world. The resolution went further and authorized this committee to confer with any recognized national golf association in any country. The powers of the committee are broad and are aimed at the establishment of a uniform code of rules, which all prominent countries and associations shall have a voice in enacting.

"It was not felt that St. Andrews could reasonably decline to co-operate with us in this. Nor was it felt that we would be disloyal to the interests of a world-wide game to take this stand. While fully recognizing all that St. Andrews has done in the past, the United States Golf Association has decided to put up with St. Andrews in a courteous and dignified manner that it cannot continue to legislate by itself and hope to have other countries follow blindly without voice or vote.

"It is hoped that St. Andrews will recognize our earnest desire to establish uniformity and will fall in line. If not, as many of us have been pointing out, the responsibility for separate codes in different countries will be their, not ours.

"St. Andrews has for decades and almost for centuries borne the brunt of the work. St. Andrews is not asked to share its responsibility with other countries where the game is played and loved in equal measure. Admitting the great service performed by St. Andrews in the past, the United States Golf Association proclaims itself unable longer to abide by any rule in the making of which it has had no opportunity to be heard.

"It is now going to be up to St. Andrews to agree to the principle of 'mutuality of obligation' as regards the playing rules of the game, or to decide to paddle its own canoe. Believe the sentiment in Great Britain will support our decision and that St. Andrews will fall into line. In any event, we have now the respect not only of half a million of golfers in this country but all other countries where golf is played.

"Fortunately the arguments of those who felt that this action would be ungenerous or disloyal to an ancient organization did not appeal to our association. There was practically no support given to that argument. It was conceded to be a practical question for us to decide for ourselves, without excitement and as becomes gentlemen and golfers."

BASEBALL

King Cole, the young twirler who pitched the only game the Cubs won during the world's series, believes that he has found a way to put a new twist on the horsehide. Cole says:

"I discovered an odd freak of a curve just after the season closed. I practised it in Bay City and found out that it might be turned into a winner. I thought that if I could perfect it it would be just the sort of a delivery to baffle hitters who take a mighty swat at the ball, like Hans Wagner and Sherwood Magee.

"I'm going to work hard during the spring training trip and perfect that curve, so as to have it in good working order by the time the season opens. Then you watch and see."

Home papers of Messrs. Magee, Wagner, Konechky, Mitchell and Doyle please copy. They may be interested.

Johnny Evers' broken leg seems to have mended in record time, and he expects to go South with the team instead of joining it later in the season. He is credited with the following statement in a letter written at his home in Troy:

"I expect to be back in Chicago about January 20, and I hope the weather is cold, so I can go skating. I have been doing that here and find it is helping my ankle. The stiffness is going out and I feel sure now that I will be ready to play ball in the first game."

To Celebrate Bobby's Birthday. Clan Mackenzie, Order of Scottish Clans, has about completed its arrangements for the celebration of the anniversary of Robert Burns' birthday on January 25. The affair will be held in Reform Hall, and among the features will be the musical program by McIntosh Brothers, champion bagpipe players. A fine program has been planned and the affair will be followed by a banquet.

SPORTS

News and Notes

GOLF.

The United States Golf Association, at its annual meeting, not only declined to bar the centre-shafted clubs, but went further and specifically amended the association bylaws so as to permit it hereafter to legislate for itself, if it so wished. It also voted to confer with St. Andrews with a view to establishing a general code in all countries. This is a distinct victory for Leighton Calkins, of this city. In discussing the subject, Mr. Calkins says:

"Full reports from the annual meeting of the United States Golf Association, held last Saturday in Chicago, show that broadminded and liberal views prevailed, and an important step has at last been taken in the direction of practical uniformity in the playing rules. Not only did the delegates decline to accept the St. Andrews rule barring centre-shafted clubs (which nearly every delegate admitted to be absolutely unnecessary and unfavourable for any existing evil and also vicious in principle, ways apparently, "from the heart out."

"This situation, all goes to show the strength of a newspaper campaign," Mr. Nugent said. "There wouldn't be anything to it if it was not for the newspapers."

"I want to tell you something. Who is responsible for Wilson? When they stood up in the convention and all were for Katzenbach they bowed to the will of one old man, James Smith, Jr., and chose Wilson?"

Mr. Nugent was much wrought up. He clinched his teeth and fists and looked as if he really meant what he said.

Alleged Thieves Freed.

Mrs. Joseph Wagner, John Busse and William Cashman, alleged coal thieves, arrested by Central Railroad detectives on Monday were given suspended sentences of $10 each this morning by City Judge William G. DeMeza. Busse pleaded guilty to trespassing on the railroad company's property, but denied stealing as did Mrs. Wagner. Cashman said he stole a ride on a coal train from Lincoln to Plainfield, but did not steal any coal nor did he see any stolen by Busse. He saw Mrs. Wagner picking up coal along side the tracks.

Plainfield Defeats Westfield.

The Plainfield High School hockey team defeated the Westfield team in a fast game at Westfield, yesterday afternoon, by a score of 4 to 2. Both teams played a fast game and developed good team work. Westfield took the lead in the first half and scored two goals, but in the second half the local boys completely outplayed their opponents. Church scored the first goal for the Plainfield team and this was followed with two by Bristol and one by Vandeventer. Another game will be played here tomorrow.

Ruth St. Denis Coming.

Ruth St. Denis, the Somerville girl, in conjunction with W. W. Androff's Russian Court Balalaika Orchestra, has been booked to appear at the Plainfield theatre, on Saturday, January 28. This production has been making a sensation in New York this winter, and is at the New Amsterdam theatre, where matinee performances are being given.

Sails for Germany.

Miss Missouri Martin, of Park avenue, left yesterday morning on the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse for Berlin, Germany. She will be abroad about six months.

—The boys' basketball team of the Plainfield High School will meet Lehigh School five at the Y. M. C. A. Friday afternoon at 3:30. This will be an interscholastic contest.

NEW LIBRARY BOOKS

WELL WORTH READING

Following are some recent books in the Public Library:

Chesterton, Gilbert Keith—What's Wrong With the World. "There is no need to say that Mr. Chesterton's latest book is in its main features a counterpart of its predecessors. In no part of his book is Mr. Chesterton more startling, and to our mind more convincing, than in the chapters on education."

Galsworthy, John—Justice. "This play is an arraignment of both the English divorce laws and prison system. Its literary qualities are such that it reads far better than many plays that were never intended for the stage."

Garrison, Wendell Phillips—Letters and Memorials.

Hamilton, Allen McLane; Intimate life of Alex. Hamilton. "The grandson of this conspicuous figure among a group of distinguished men has here undertaken to reveal all that could possibly be learned from extant documents of the real and intimate life of Alexander Hamilton."

Johnston, Sir Harry Hamilton—Negro in the New World. "The title of this volume of 500 pages hardly does justice to the author's comprehensive and thorough treatment of his subject. The book is of great interest and permanent value; and it should be in the library of every American who cares to devote a little thought to one of the largest problems of today."

Lincoln, Joseph Crosby—Cape Cod Ballads and Other Verse.

Littell, John Stockton—Historians and the English Reformation.

Lucas, Edward Verrall—Second Post. "This addition to 'The Friendly Library' is a supplement and companion to the anthology of letters called 'The Gentlest Art.' It is so vital and fresh in its choices that one reads it continuously as if it were a logically fashioned whole, instead of a mass of parts."

Maeterlinck, Maurice—Mary Magdalene; a three-act Biblical play.

Moody, William Vaughn—Faith Healer; a drama.

Murat, Caroline—My Memoirs.

"Autobiographical reminiscences which the Princess Caroline Murat, granddaughter of the great Murat, King of Naples, left unpublished at her death in the summer of 1902. Many famous persons appear in her pages, notably the Empress Eugenie, whom she seems to have cordially hated, and the Emperor himself, whom she judged more kindly."

Piatt, Thomas Collier—Autobiography of Thomas Collier Piatt.

Sharp, Elizabeth Amelia—William Sharp.

Taft, William Howard—Presidential addresses and state papers from March 4, '09, to March 4, 1910. "This second volume of Mr. Taft's addresses and writings covers the period from his nomination to the end of his 13,000-mile tour of the country. They comprise a discussion of those larger questions so vital to the nation including his opinion on such matters as Cuba, the corporation tax, postal savings banks, the tariff, conservation, Alaska, the Philippines, the Republican party's promises."

Tanner, Amy E.—Studies in spiritualism. "Dr. G. Stanley Hall, with whom Dr. Tanner worked in her investigation of spiritualism, in his introduction to this volume declares it to be a searching, impartial, critical estimate of the work of the psychical research society and expresses his belief that it will bring into vogue a sounder and more scientific attitude toward spiritualism. She gives special attention to the work of the English society on telepathy and related phenomena, and draws from her evidence the conclusion that telepathy and spirit communication are unsupported by any valid evidence."

Villard, Oswald Garrison—John Brown, 1800-1859. "The author believes that fifty years after the Harper's Ferry tragedy, the time is ripe for a study of John Brown, free from bias and prejudice. He has left no stone unturned to make the smallest detail accurate and the result is a minute and judicial biography, which will appeal to all students of this thrilling and dramatic period in American history."

Women's Educational and Industrial Union—Vocations for the trained woman.

Wright, Chester Whitney—Wool Growing and the Tariff.

PETROLEUM AND PLANTS.

The influence of petroleum on the growth of plants has been studied by Kryz. The experiments were made by watering plants by stramonium and plantain with water containing 10 per cent. of petroleum. No injurious effects were produced unless the petroleum accumulates in considerable quantities about the roots of the plants—that is to say, when it is possible for petroleum to be absorbed by the roots. The application of petroleum makes the soil physically and physiologically dry, and the plant gradually perishes in consequence of the difficulty of absorbing water. No directly poisonous action of petroleum, like that which it exerts on animal organisms, occurs in the case of plants. The fermentation of solutions of sugar is not checked by an addition of petroleum.

HERE AND THERE.

The bashful young man with the rocking chair habit apologized when he found himself sliding across the room, chair and all, toward the girl on the piano stool. Several times during the evening that involuntary trip across the carpet was repeated, to the evident distress of the shy young man. The next time he called the young man picked out the same animated chair, but though he rocked vigorously it remained rooted to that spot. Presently he bent down and examined the rockers. Each rocker had been bandaged in two different places with wide velvet ribbon. The girl on the piano stool smiled.

"I put those velvet bands on the rockers for your benefit," she said. "You can rock just as easily with them on, but your chair will not budge half an inch all evening."

"Ah, thanks," said the young man, but he eyed the intervening distance disapprovingly, and it seemed doubtful if he appreciated her efforts to make him comfortable.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

Don't shout till you're out of the woods. Don't say that this is the mildest winter you ever experienced, for the winter isn't ended yet. In point of fact, however, the season thus far has been remarkable. It started in vigorously like the "good old-fashioned" kind. Snow fell in November; it was cold, the ground was frozen away down deep, the streams were low and the water was scarce. Then came rains and such mild, melting weather that some were in doubt whether our Christmas was "green" or not. The frost went out of the ground almost completely. The New Year set in with three days of rain and high temperature, and since then there have been but five days when the mercury fell below the freezing point, and even then only a few degrees. Of course the croakers shake their heads ominously and say "Oh, but we'll have to pay for all this! The spring will be very backward, etc." but the optimist takes each day as it comes and says every nice one is clear again. Still, the weather has been unusual for this midwinter season.—Newark Evening News.

EMPLOYER'S LIABILITY COMMISSION REPORTS

The State Commission appointed by Governor Fort to investigate the question of employers' liability has filed its report with the Governor. The report was given to the Legislature this week.

The commission thinks that an act which would compel an employer to compensate an injured employee, without regard to the fault or negligence of the employer, would be unconstitutional.

"We are advised," says the commission, "that as the law stands at present the employer is held liable only when the accident is due to his fault or neglect. He is not liable (a) when the negligence of the employee contributes to the accident; (b) when the accident is due to a natural risk of the employment; (c) or when the accident is due to the act of a fellow servant."

After discussing the theories of contributory negligence, assumption of risk and comparative negligence in a technical manner, the commission states, that, while it is unable to recommend the passage of a compulsory compensation act, it recommends the elective act which is included in the bill which was given in the newspapers last week. This is done with the expectation that such an elective act will be generally accepted by both employers and employees for the following reasons:

By the employer, first, because his liability is limited and he is thus relieved of the danger of harassing law suits for excessive damages; second, by reason of the abrogation of the defenses of "assumption of risk" and "fellow servant," the position of the employer who refuses to accept the elective law will be less tenable; third, because he can, in a large measure, add the expense to the cost of manufacture and recover it in his selling price; fourth, because he can readily insure his liability.

By the employee, first, the practical certainty of settlement in accordance with the schedule, as against the uncertainty of an appeal to common law rights; second, promptness in settlement, as against the "law's delay;" third, all of the money is paid to the injured person, or his dependents, as against the heavy attorney fees and court expenses of the suit at law.

The commission was appointed by Governor Fort pursuant to a Senate resolution passed last year, and is composed of William B. Dickson, of Montclair; J. William Clark, of Newark; John T. Cosgrove, of Elizabeth; Samuel Bottrill, of East Orange; Colonel Walter E. Edge, of Atlantic City, and E. K. Mills, of Morristown.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, pastor of the First M. E. church, received two adults on probation at the morning service, Sunday.

The fourth and last quarterly conference of the First M. E. church will be held in Vincent chapel, Wednesday night, January 25.

The Junior Epworth League of the First M. E. church will meet in Vincent chapel, Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Miss Mary Randolph is the superintendent in charge.

Rev. and Mrs. J. O. McKelvey will hold their evening "at home" in Warren chapel tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. Members and friends of the chapel are cordially invited to attend.

The older members of the Congregational Sunday-school will hold a social Friday evening in the Sunday-school rooms. The games will be under the direction of Miss Addie Eastman.

The Young People's Association of the Crescent Avenue church will meet Friday evening at 8 o'clock for mission study classes, under Miss Harriet Holloway, Miss Brown and Rev. Dr. Zelle.

The regular monthly meeting of the Missionary and Aid Society of Warren chapel will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in the chapel. Miss Harriet Holloway will make an address.

The Women's Home Missionary Society of the Crescent Avenue church has started a box of useful articles for a family under the care of the Board of Ministerial Relief and will meet at the church Friday afternoon to further this work.

The members of Young Ladies' Aid-Society are invited to the home of Miss A. M. Ruschki for tomorrow night. They were entertained last Thursday evening by Dr. Ida Hunt at her home on Prospect avenue. She showed and explained different things about electricity and X-rays.

MOTOR CLUB BANQUET AT NEWARK MONDAY

Festoons of incandescent lights stretched beneath the great blue canopy that will completely conceal the roof of the big First Regiment Armory, Newark, will shed a brilliant glow over many exhibits at the coming Newark Automobile Show, which is now just one month away, as it opens on February 18, a month from today. The lighting effect during the week's motor car exhibition will be far more beautiful than anything that has hitherto been attempted in the last three local shows, and upward of 6,000 incandescent lamps will be utilized, in addition to the big cluster of lamps that already provide illumination for the armory.

The streamers of lights will be festooned from the present clusters, about midway between the domed roof and the floor, and they will extend in every direction so that there will be no dark spots in the coming show. A row of lights will be placed beneath the balcony for the entire distance around the building, and more lights will be used on top of the bandstand and on the columns marking the aisles. In addition there will be a special lighting scheme carried out on the exterior of the structure, and the whole Sussex avenue approach will be brilliantly illuminated throughout show week.

A dozen 250-watt Tungsten lamps will be suspended at intervals on the Jay and Hudson streets sides of the building and these will make the section light for a considerable distance. It is estimated that nearly 10,000 lamps will be used for the combined lighting within and outside.

Arrangements were practically completed for another feature that will be attractive last week, and it is expected that Stewart Carl Schwartz, of the New Jersey Automobile and Motor Club, will conduct a restaurant in the large squad room on the fourth floor of the armory.

Steward Schwartz plans to carry out his portion of the show along the broadest lines. The New Jersey Automobile and Motor Club will also have a large room on the main floor of the armory set aside for club members, and here motorists from all sections of the State will be hospitably received. Secretary A. B. LeMassena is making the arrangements for the club headquarters, which will probably be the large library near the entrance to the show floor.

At the present time practically every motorcar dealer in New Jersey has been heard from regarding space to show their cars, and nearly all have their applications on file with the show management. As the allotment of spaces is scheduled for the later part of the coming week, the date is January 27. It is desired that all who are intending to show cars shall send in their applications before next Wednesday, in order to avoid confusion at the last minute.

An effort is being made to have all applications on hand before Saturday and wherever possible this is desired. Practically 90 per cent. of the dealers in the State as well as a number from New York, have already bid for space and when the allotments are made next week, it is probable that every standard make of cars sold in this State will be included in the exhibit.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

The local Holy Name Society and the A. O. H., have decided to give a fair the first three nights following Easter Sunday for the benefit of St. John's church. The preliminary committee have been appointed and permanent ones will be named within the near future. The fair will be held in the new hall and will be on a par with those of previous years.

Patrick Tharpy, of the borough, was one of the contestants in the prize Irish jigs and reels at the Irish harvest home in Plainfield, last night. He made an excellent showing and was vigorously applauded at the finish but failed to receive an award. There were twelve dancers competing.

The flashlight pictures of the "Madame Jarley" groups taken at the close of the entertainment, last week, have been developed with excellent results. Charles Johnson was the photographer.

Mrs. Charles Dineen and daughter, Miss Margaret Dineen, visited sister Oandine at Atlantic City from Saturday to Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Apgar are still confined to their home by illness. The condition of the former has been quite serious.

Adam Dealaman, of Washington avenue, who has been seriously ill with pneumonia, is now somewhat improved.

BOUND BROOK ITALIAN FLEECE OUT OF $900

Salvatore Finelli, who keeps a tailoring shop on Main street, Bound Brook, is still hunting about the State and New York city for two dapper looking Italians who fleeced him out of $900 last week by a very old game. Finelli had not been reading the newspapers, or he would not have fallen such a ready victim.

The two strangers arrived in Bound Brook last week and at once went to the tailoring establishment. One of the men was measured for a suit of clothes, and during the course of a conversation, the stranger stated that he had lived there during the building of the Port Reading Railroad through Bound Brook about twenty years ago. He said at that time there was an Italian boss on the road who was in the habit of accepting a bonus of $5 from each workman he employed. The boss, he said, moved to Virginia and amassed great wealth, and his conscience troubling him, decided to pay back, if possible, the money he took from the workmen. In order to do this it would require about $2,700. Finelli and the two strangers to produce $900 apiece.

They wanted to make Finelli custodian of the money to pay it out as the claimants would come to his store, and he was to advance $900 and for it the strangers would give him $1,000 which they appeared to have in a package.

Finelli went to the Bound Brook National Bank and drew the $900 and went directly to Newark where, with the other men, he placed his money in a package. He was requested to ascertain the time a train would leave for Virginia. He returned shortly and was handed a package supposed to be the one of $1,000. On some pretext, the strangers excused themselves to return in a few minutes, but they never came back.

Finelli's suspicions were aroused at the length of time it took the men to return, and on opening the package discovered he had a lot of worthless paper.

Finelli is a hard working tailor who had just begun to prosper in Bound Brook, doing a nice business and his friends greatly sympathize with him in his loss. He went to New York and in the Ragoes gallery recognized a picture of one of the swindlers who had just served a term in Sing Sing.

MEANS TO START SENATE IN OPERATION ON TIME.

President Ernest R. Ackerman, of the Senate, intends that the upper branch of the Legislature shall meet on schedule time.

There was a grasp of surprise in the Senate chamber Monday night, when the President brought the gavel down with a bang at 8 o'clock and announced that the Senate would be in order. The gavel also seemed surprised at being so summarily used, for its head flew off and narrowly missed the heads of the hard-working clerks in front of the President's desk.

"I am going to be a stickler for beginning on time," said President Ackerman. "There is no reason why time should be lost by delay."

New Market Firemen Elect.

The New Market volunteer fire department held its annual meeting Monday night, and elected the following officers: President, A. G. Nelson; vice-president, B. DeWitt Gilles; financial secretary and treasurer, C. T. Rogers; recording secretary, W. T. Piddington, Jr.; chief, C. T. Rogers; first assistant, H. J. Piddington; second assistant, Alex. Stillwagon; foreman, G. A. Schenck; first assistant, F. F. P. von Minden; second assistant, George Harris; steward, H. Y. Krooks; representative to F. R. A., R. F. P. von Minden. The reports showed the department to be in a flourishing condition.

Defended Her Well.

Defending her old oaken bucket at one of the oldest wells in the town, Mrs. Aramatha Zelf, of Ward street, Hackensack, was arrested Monday. She was held under $100 bail to appear at a hearing next Wednesday. For a year or so the Hackensack Board of Health has been crusading against wells and many a relic has disappeared of late. Mrs. Zelf paid for tests of the water in her well and claimed the results were satisfactory to her. For many years the water has been drunk and no cases of illness have been reported. While the police were taking the woman to Justice Bratt's office a gang of men closed the well.

Operation a Success.

A telegram has been received from Mrs. Charles E. Herring, stating that her husband, Rev. Dr. Herring, successfully underwent an operation at Rochester, Minn., yesterday, and the prospects for an early recovery are excellent. The operation was performed by Mayo Brothers, celebrated surgeons at Rochester.

Harvard Students Number 6,279.

The Harvard University catalogue for the year 1910-1911, just issued, shows a total enrollment at that institution of 6,279, a decrease of twenty-nine from last year's figure. The formation of a New Jersey Club is now under way.

WANTED—Salesman of

NEWS OF THE WORLD FOR THE BUSY MAN

Stocks and bonds were strong and active yesterday.

Surrogate Thomas, of New York, died from apoplexy.

Senator Aldrich's plan for financial reforms was made public by the National Monetary Commission.

It was announced that the New Haven road had sold a note issue of $10,000,000 for property expansion.

Eight men were killed and one was probably fatally injured by a boiler explosion on the battleship Delaware.

Mrs. Asquith was an amusing witness at the suit of Mrs. Horace West against her father-in-law at London.

Hayti and Santo Domingo have signed a convention of peace and troops will be withdrawn from the frontier.

Twenty-seven members of the German submarine "U 3" were rescued after the craft had become fast in the mud at Kiel.

The Union of American Hebrew Congregations began its twenty-second annual council, and discussed "American Judaism."

Argument in the Standard Oil case was closed and that in the corporation tax case was begun in the United States Supreme Court.

Colonel Jara, Minister of War in Paraguay, has forced President Condra to resign and has taken charge of the affairs of the republic.

Dr. W. G. Furness, of New York, was killed by being crushed under his automobile, which he drove into the elevator shaft of a garage.

Lewis Nixon pointed out that nothing in existing treaties prevented the fortification of the Panama Canal, which he regarded as a necessity.

The will of Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy was admitted to probate in Concord, N. H.; the proceeding does not effect suits of her son and adopted son.

Congress—Senate: Mr. Purcell attacked Secretary Ballinger; the postal subvention bill was considered. House: The army appropriation bill was passed.

Mr. Shoringer, president of the American Chamber of Commerce, in Paris, said that tariff revision by schedule was strongly approved by its members.

Mayor Gaynor asked City Chamberlain Hyde for a full explanation as to how and by whom city deposits were made in the Northern Bank, which failed.

Henry F. Lippitt will be elected by the Rhode Island Legislature on joint ballot by a majority of one to succeed Nelson W. Aldrich in the United States Senate.

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge in a contest before the Massachusetts Legislature showed that on joint ballot he would have sufficient number of votes to re-elect him.

Two shots were fired at M. Briand, the French Premier, in the Chamber of Deputies, by a madman; M. Mirman, Director of Public Relief, was hit in the leg by one of the bullets.

Preparations are being made at Peking to check the plague; the legations are gathering supplies and making ready for isolation; deaths in Moukden have reached two hundred daily.

Champ Clark, Governor Harmon, of Ohio, Senator Bailey, of Texas, and other prominent men addressed a Democratic harmony meeting at Baltimore; the tariff received much attention.

In naming the new Election Board, Mayor Gaynor passed over two district leaders on the old board, holding that they were not eligible, and intimated that he would prefer to have a single commission.

WANTS FINAL CLOSING OF LAWMILL AT 3 P. M.

The only thing that enlivened a dull session of the Senate Monday night was the presentation by Senator Silzer, of Middlesex, of a joint resolution fixing the hour for adjournment on the last day of the session at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Speaking for immediate passage of the resolution, Senator Silzer said its object was to destroy the ridiculous fiction whereby, though adjournment was fixed by rule for 3 p. m., the session lasted until 3 next morning through the simple procedure of stopping the clock. He said that its passage now would make it plain from the very start that there was to be no all night session at the close.

Senators Prine and Frelinghuysen said that they both liked the idea contained in the bill, but thought it ought to lie over for a few days. It was accordingly held up, the yeas and nays, on a motion to suspend the rules, showing a strict party vote.

Collector is Accused.

Roselle's Borough Auditor John Gasey, in submitting his report for 1910 to the Borough Council Monday night, recommended that the council have the bonding company that furnished Borough Collector Abram L. Burdick's bond send an expert here to go over the collector's work. The auditor declares that while Mr. Burdick was honest he was incompetent, and had not completed his work in his opinion. Former Mayor Louis V. Ebert closed his administration by accusing Mr. Burdick with being incompetent.

The Most Industrious Store in Newark--The City of Industry

ANY SUIT OR OVERCOAT - $15

Garments Marked $20, $22.50, $30, $32.50 and $35

Every Suit and Overcoat in our stock included—No Reservations. This is an all-embracing sale of Men's Clothing—one of the most sweeping and far-reaching sales we have ever conducted in our Clothing Store—and it is going to stir hundreds of men to action tomorrow.

Think of being able to pick from this great stock any Business or Dress Suit, any Dress or Storm Overcoat, any Full Dress Suit, any Tuxedo Suit, any Prince Albert Suit, regardless of the marked prices, which run from $20 to $35, for only $15.

The sale is based on our sincere desire to have a clean field for Spring operations—a bona fide clearing sale that will include every Suit and Overcoat in the stock.

Our Clothing, as is well known, comes from the most representative makers in America, the materials are excellent, the tailoring faultless, the styles pleasing alike to conservative and ultra-fashionable dressers. At our regular selling prices this clothing is not surpassed, if equaled, by any other Newark store, and this opportunity to make any selection from the entire stock is as important to economically inclined men as it is unusual. Come tomorrow and pick the Suit or Overcoat you like best and pay us only $15.

ANY BOYS' SUIT OR OVERCOAT - $5

Cavanagh,

The Great Conservation Novel

INTRODUCTION.

My Dear Mr. Garland—You have been kind enough to let me see the proofs of "Cavanagh, Forest Ranger." I have read it with mingled feelings—with keen appreciation of your sympathetic understanding of the problems which confronted the forest service before the western people understood it and with deep regret that I am no longer officially associated with its work, although I am as deeply interested and almost as closely in touch as ever.

Western frontier people faced life with a manly dependence on their own courage and capacity which did them and still does them high honor. Some of them were naturally slow to see the advantages of the new order. But now that they have seen it there is nowhere more intelligent, convinced and effective support of the conservation policies than in the west. The establishment of the new order in some places was not child's play. But there is a strain of fairness among the western people which you can always count on in such a fight as the forest service has made and won.

The service contains the best body of young men I know and many splendid veterans. It is nine-tenths made up of western men. It has met the west on its own ground, and it has won the contest—an episode of which you have so well described—because the west believes in what it stands for.

I have lived much among the western mountain men, differed with some of them and worked with many of them. Sometimes I have lost, and sometimes I have won, but every time the fight was worth while. I have come out of it all with a respect and liking for the west which will last as long as I do. Very sincerely yours,

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

CHAPTER I.

THE DESERT CHARIOT.

LEE VIRGINIA WETHERFORD began her return journey into the mountain west with exultation. From the moment she opened her car window that August morning in Nebraska the plain called to her, sustained her illusions. It was all quite as big, as tawny, as she remembered it, fit arena for the epic deeds in which her father had been a leader bold and free.

Her memories of Roaring Fork and its people were childish and romantic. She recalled vividly the stagecoach which used to amble sedately, not to say wheezily, from the railway to the Fork and from the Fork back to the railway in the days ten years before when she had ridden away in it a tearful, despairing, long limbed girl and fully expected to find it waiting for her at Sulphur City, with old Tom Quantan still as its driver.

The first hint of "the new west" came to her by way of the pretentious Hotel Alma, which stood opposite the station at Sulphur and to which she was led by a colored porter of most elaborate and kindly manners.

This house, which furnishes an excellent dinner and an absorbing mixture of types both American and European, was vaguely disturbing to her. It was plainly not the old time west—the west her father had dominated in the days "before the invasion." It was indeed distinctly built for the tourist trade and was filled with all that might indicate the comfortable nearness of big game and good fishing.

Upon inquiry as to the stage she was amazed to hear that an automobile now made the journey to the Fork in five hours and that it left immediately after the midday meal.

At 2 o'clock, as the car came to the door, she entered it with a sense of having stepped from one invading chariot of progress to another, so big and shining and up to date was its glittering body, agleam with brass and glowing with brave red paint.

As they whirled madly down the valley the girl was astonished at the transformation in the hot, dry land. Wire fences ran here and there, inclosing fields of alfalfa and wheat where once only the sagebrush and the greasewood grew. Painted farm houses shone on the banks of the creeks and irrigating ditches flashed across the road with an air of business and decision.

For the first half hour it seemed as if the dominion of the cattlemen had ended, but as the swift car drew away from the valley of the Bear and climbed the divide toward the north the free range was disclosed, with few changes save in the cattle, which were all of the harmless or harmless variety, appearing tame and spiritless in comparison with the old time half wild broadhorn breeds.

Lee began to wonder if she should find the Fork much changed—her mother was a bad correspondent.

Her unspoken question, opportunely asked by another, was answered by an old woman passenger. "Oh, Lord, yes! Summer tourists are crawlin' all over us sence this otto line begun. 'Pears like all the bare armed boobies and crosslegged little rips in Omaha and Denver had jest got to ride in and look us over. Two of them new hotels in Sulphur don't do a thing but feed these tenderfeet. I s'pose pro-bi-bition will be the next grand stand play on the part of our town lot boomers. We old cowpunchers don't care whether the town grows or not, but these hyer bankers and truck farmers are all for raisin' the price o' land and taxin' us quiet fellers out of our boots."

The girl was brought back to the vital phases of her life by the harsh voice of one of the men. "Lize Wetherford is goin' to get jumped one o' these days for sellin' whisky without a license. I've told her so too. Everybody knows she's a doin' it, and what beats me is her goin' along in that way when a little time and money would set her straight with the law."

The shock of all this lay in the fact that Eliza Wetherford was the mother to whom Lee Virginia was returning after ten years of life in the east, and the significance of the man's words froze her blood for an instant.

The young fellow on the back seat slowly said, "I don't complain of Lize sellin' bad whisky, but the grub she sets up is fierce."

"The grub ain't so bad; it's the way she stacks it up," remarked another. "But, then, these little flybit cow towns are all alike and all bad, so far as hotels are concerned."

Lee Virginia, crimson and burning hot, was in agony lest they should go further in their criticism.

She knew that her mother kept a boarding house, and while she was not proud of it, there was nothing disgraceful in it. Happily, the conversation turned aside and fell upon the government's forest policy, and Sam Gregg, a squat, wide mouthed, harsh voiced individual, cursed the action of Ross Cavanagh, the ranger in the district above the Fork. "He thinks he's secretary of war, but I reckon he won't after I interview him. He can't shuffe my sheep around over the hills at his own sweet will."

The young fellow on the back seat quietly interposed. "You want to be sure you've got the clinch on Cavanagh good and square, Sam, or he'll be a-ridin' you."

"He certainly is an arbitrary cuss," said the old woman. "They say he was one of Teddy's rough riders in the war. He sure can ride and handle a gun. 'Pears like he thinks he's runnin' the whole range," she continued, after a pause. "Cain't nobody so much as shoot a grouse since he come in, and the supervisor upholds him in it."

Lee Virginia wondered about all this supervision, for it was new to her.

Gregg, the sheepman, went on: "As I tell Redfield, I don't object to the forest policy—it's a good thing for me: I get my sheep pastured cheaper than I could do any other way, but it makes me hot to have grazing lines run on me and my herders jacked up every time they get over the line. Ross run one bunch off the reservation last Friday. I'm going to find out about that. He'll learn he can't get 'arbitrary' with me."

The old woman chuckled. "'Pears like you've changed your tune since '98, Sam."

He admitted his conversion shamelessly. "I'm for whatever will pay best. Just now, with a high tariff, sheep are the boys. So long as I can get on the reserve at 7 cents a head—lambs free—I'm going to put every dollar I've got into sheep."

"You're going to get thrown off altogether one of these days," said the young man on the back seat.

Thereupon a violent discussion arose over the question of the right of a sheepman to claim first grass for his flocks, and Gregg boasted that he cared nothing for "the dead line." "They've tried to run me out of Deer Creek, but I'm there to stay. I have 10,000 more on the way, and the man that tries to stop me will find trouble."

The car was descending into the valley of the Roaring Fork now, and wire fences and alfalfa fields on either side gave further evidence of the change in the land's dominion. Down past the courthouse, refurbished and deeper sunk in trees, Lee Virginia rode, recalling the wild night when 300 armed and vengeful cowboys surrounded it, holding three cattle barons and their hired invaders against all comers, resolute to be their own judge, jury and hangman. It was all as peaceful as a Sunday afternoon at this moment, with no sign of the fierce passions of the past.

The car crossed the Roaring Fork and drew up before two small shacks, one of which bore a faded sign, "The Wetherford House," and the other its fresher paint, "The Wetherford Cafe." On the sidewalk a group of Indians were sitting, and a half dozen slouching white men stood waiting at the door.

As Lee went past the hotel porch her heart beat hard and her breath shortened. In a flash she divined the truth. She understood why her mother had discouraged her coming home. It was not merely on account of the money. It was because she knew that her business was wrong.

What a squalid little den it was! How cheap, bald and petty the whole town seemed of a sudden! Lee Virginia halted and turned. There was only one thing to be done, and that was to make herself known. She retraced her steps, pulled open the broken screen door and entered the cafe. It was a low, dingy dining room filled with the odor of ham and bad coffee. At the tables ten or fifteen men, a motley throng, were busily feeding their voracious jaws, and on her left, behind a showcase filled with cigars, stood her mother, looking old, unkempt and worried. The changes in her were so great that the girl stood in shocked alarm. At last she raised her veil. "Mother," she said, "don't you know me?"

A look of surprise went over the older woman's flabby face—a glow which brought back something of her other self, as she cried, "Why, Lee Virginny, where did you come from?"

The boarders stopped chewing and stared in absorbed interest, while Virginia kissed her blowsy mother. "By the Lord, it's little Virginny!" said one old fellow. "It's her daughter."

Upon this a murmur of astonishment arose, and the waiter girls, giggling, marveling and envious, paused, their platters in hand, to exchange comment on the newcomer's hat and gown. A cowboy at the washing sink in the corner suspended his face polishing and gaped over his shoulder in silent ecstasy. Some of the men came forward to greet her, and though she had some difficulty in recognizing one or two of them (so hardly had the years of her absence used them), she eventually succeeded in placing them all.

At length her mother led her through the archway which connected the two shanties, thence along a narrow hall into a small bedroom, into which the western sunset fell. It was a shabby place, but as a refuge from the crowd in the restaurant it was grateful.

Lize looked at her daughter critically. "I don't know what I'm going to do with a girl like you. Why, you're purty—purty as a picture. You were skinny as a child. I'm fair dazed. Great snakes, how you have opened out! You're the living image of your dad. What started you back? I told you to stay where you was."

"I had no place to go after Aunt Celia died. I had to come home."

"You wrote they was willing to keep you."

"They were, but I couldn't ask it of them. I had no right to burden them, and, besides, Mrs. Hall wrote me that you were sick."

"I am, but I didn't want you to come back. Lay off your things and come out to supper. We'll talk afterward."

The sitting house, the rooms and hallways were all of that desolate shabbiness which comes from shiftlessness joined with poverty. Everything on which the girl's eyes fell contrasted strongly with her aunt's home on the Brandywine—not because that house was large or luxurious, but because it was exquisitely in order and sweet with flowers and dainty arrangement of color.

She regretted bitterly that she had ever left her eastern friends. Her mother, in truth, showed little pleasure at her coming and almost nothing of the illness of which a neighbor had written. "It was, indeed, this letter which had decided her to return to the west. She had come, led by a sense of duty, not by affection, for she had never loved her mother as a daughter should—they were in some way antipathetic—and now she found herself an unwelcome guest."

With aching head and shaking knees Virginia re-entered the dining room, which was now nearly empty of its "guests," but was still misty with the steam of food and swarming with flies. These pests buzzed like bees around the soiled places on the tablecloths, and one of her mother's first remarks was a fretful apology regarding her trials with those insects. "Seems like you can't keep 'em out," she said.

With desperate effort Lee conquered her disgust. "Never mind, I'm tired and a little upset. I don't need any dinner." Hastily slipping a cup of coffee, she tried hard to keep back the tears, but failed, and no sooner did her mother turn away than she fled to her room, there to sob unrestrainedly her despair and shame. "Oh, I can't stand it!" she called. "I can't, I can't!"

"MOTHER, DON'T YOU KNOW ME?"

She felt herself alien and solitary in the land of her birth.

Lize came in half an hour later, pathetic in her attempt at "sneaking up." She was still handsome in a large featured way, but her gray hair was there and her face laid with a network of fretful lines. Her color was bad. At the moment her cheeks were yellow and sunken.

She complained of being short of breath and lame and tired. "I'm always tired," she explained. "Pears like sometimes I can't scarcely drag myself around, but I do."

A pang of comprehending pain shot through Virginia's heart. If she could not love she could at least pity and help, and, reaching forth her hand, she patted her mother on the knee. "Poor old mammy!" she said. "I'm going to help you."

Lize was touched by this action of her proud daughter and smiled sadly. "This is no place for you. It's nothing but a measly little cow town gone to seed—and I'm gone to seed with it. I know it. But what is a feller to do? I'm stuck here, and I've got to make a living or quit. I can't quit, so I stagger along."

"I've come back to help you, mother. You must let me relieve you of some of the burden."

"What can you do, child?" Lize asked gently.

"I can teach."

"Not in this town you can't."

"Why not?"

"Well, there's a terrible prejudice against—well, against me. And, besides, the places are all filled for next year. The Wetherfords ain't among the first circles any more."

Lee Virginia remembered Gregg's charge against her mother. "What do you mean by the prejudice against you?" she asked.

Lize was evasive. "Since I took to running this restaurant my old friends kind of fell off, but never mind that tonight."

(To be Continued)

Their Money's Worth.

Two men—an Englishman and a Scotchman—were traveling from Aberdeen to London in the train. They reached Carlisle without exchanging a word, and during the stoppage there the Englishman got out and had some refreshments. When he got back to his compartments he had left behind the Scotchman sitting where he had left him and looking more sour and solemn than ever. "It's a long wearisome journey," said the Englishman when the train started by way of making conversation.

The Scotchman looked at him with an angry frown. "So it ought to be!" he replied, frigidly. "It cost fifty-nine and ninepence!"—London Globe.

POOL CHAMPIONSHIP MATCH ENDS TONIGHT.

The second night's play in the match for the pool championship between Alfred De Oro and W. H. Clearwater left the players in the same positions as at the conclusion of Monday night's clash. De Oro played a consistent game without having to have recourse to any sensational shots and at all times held his rival safe.

Clearwater seemed to be suffering from stage fright and would not take any chances on leaving a set up for De Oro who would invariably clear the table after such a break. De Oro made a run of sixty-four which is within twelve of the record.

PRINCETON SHARES HER MILLION FOR CHARITY.

Various seats of learning and Presbyterian churches, missions and charities are beneficiaries by the will of Mrs. Emily H. Moir, probated in New York Monday afternoon. The value of the estate is not given, but it is expected that appraisals will show it aggregates at least $1,000,000.

Mrs. Moir's next of kin, two nieces and six grand-nieces and grand-nephews, are each left one-twenty-fourth of the residuary estate. To Tuskegee Institute and Howard University similar bequests are made. Harvard, Princeton and Lincoln universities each will get one-twelfth of the estate. The Presbyterian Board of Missions for Freedmen and the Presbyterian Board of Relief for Disabled Ministers will receive $5,000 each, and the Presbyterian Boards of Home and Foreign Missions each one-fortieth of the residuary estate.

Mrs. Susan Eastman, of Conway, N. H., who is visiting her daughter, Miss Adie Eastman, of Grant avenue, will leave for home on Saturday morning.

JOHNNY DOVE TELLS OF EARLY EXPERIENCES.

Johnny Dove, the Scotch minstrel, a member of the Al. G. Field Greater Minstrels, which appears at the Plainfield theatre this afternoon and tonight, is a product of New Jersey and was born in New Brunswick. This is Mr. Dove's first visit to Plainfield for several seasons, but it is not likely that he will ever forget his first experience here.

When aspiring to break into the show business he answered an advertisement in a prominent dramatic paper, and secured a position as general comedian with a medicine show that was playing the towns near here. Without knowing what his salary was to be he packed his belongings, which consisted of a ham sandwich and a pair of clip shoes, and started for Bound Brook on foot. Arriving in that village late, hungry and footsore, he learned that the troupe had already left for Plainfield. After eating heartily of his sandwich he started to hoof it on to the show. When he finally caught up with the cure-all entertainers he was about all in, fagged out and nearly famished.

"Whenever I see a cracker," said Mr. Dove, "I always tip my hat to it, no matter what breed it belongs to, for I really believe I owe my life to that inviting morsel. When I arrived in Plainfield on that memorable occasion I was nearly starved and crawled into the theatre on my hands and knees. The first things I espied was at plate of property crackers that the company used in one of the acts. Without waiting to even introduce myself I pounced upon that bunch of dusters and nearly choked to death when one of the crackers got stuck in my throat. After hanging on to the end of a garden hose for some time I regained consciousness, and the next night appeared as "Chimmie Fadden, the Powery Boy," and have been in the show game ever since."

Several of Mr. Dove's friends from New Brunswick have engaged seats for the minstrels tonight and Johnny can expect an ovation when he appears in his famous Scotch specialty.

Chrysanthemum Club Dance.
The Chrysanthemum Club held an invitation dance, last evening, at Debele's Hall. The feature of the evening was a "Moon Dance," which made a decided hit. Sub's Imperial Orchestra furnished the music for the occasion. During an intermission at midnight refreshments were served. The committee in charge of the dance comprised William H. I. Cubberley, Charles A. Doeringer and R. A. Metler.
H. R. Halloway, of East Seventh street, is slowly improving from a recent delicate operation.
