SALMON C. BAKER DEAD

Former Plainfielder Passes Away at South Yarmouth, Mass.

AGED SIXTY-SEVEN YEARS.

Established Printing House in New York After Retiring from Dry Goods Business—Funeral Tomorrow Afternoon.

Salomon C. Baker, one of the best known residents of this city for nearly forty years, died Sunday night at his home in South Yarmouth, Mass., where he had been living for the past two years. His death was due to a complication of troubles. Just prior to leaving Plainfield, Mr. Baker had a severe illness and when he improved he and his wife decided to remove to South Yarmouth, the climate apparently agreeing with him.

Mr. Baker was formerly in the dry goods business in New York city, and later he went into the printing business establishing a large and complete plant on West Fifth street. His son, Albert Baker, was associated with him in the business.

Mr. Baker was a charter member of Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum, being on the charter roll. He was also a past regent. Mr. Baker was also a member of the Loyal Association, a branch of the Royal Arcanum, but withdrew from both organizations two years ago, when he reached the age of sixty-five years. Mr. Baker was a member of Columbia Lodge, A. O. U. W., for many years, and was a Civil War veteran, having served the entire time during the Rebellion. He was a member of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., of this city.

Mr. Baker was a member and regular attendant at Trinity Reformed church during his residence here, his wife being especially active in the work of the church. He is survived by a wife, one son, Albert Baker, of this city, and a married daughter, residing in Chicago. The funeral will be held from the late home in South Yarmouth, at 1:30 tomorrow.

AN ORIENTAL TRAVELOGUE

Illustrated Lecture on China and India Given by John M. Whiton.

CUSTOMS OF THE PEOPLE.

Scenes in Burmah, Calcutta and Bombay Particularly Interesting—To Repeat His Lecture Tonight.

Preceding a delightful informal talk, in which he described his travels in China and India, John M. Whiton, of this city, displayed more than one hundred fine views at the Congregational church last night, giving the large audience a clear conception of the people of those countries, their customs and peculiarities. The lecture was given for the benefit of the Sunday school and was a success.

The talk by Mr. Whiton was of such a character that it pleased everyone. He got away from the beaten path of the professional lecturer, and found time to relate numerous interesting incidents about his travels in such an informal way that he held the close attention of everyone.

The speaker referred to the many climates to be found in the countries described, explaining that one could find the most intense heat or cold, excessive dry or rainy districts and the individual taste could always be met. He said that if the people of India were assembled together one would find about seventy different languages and about a dozen different religions. Mr. Whiton referred to the many castes to be found in India, touching briefly on the most important ones. He said that in India it is the opinion that all persons not Hindus are outcasts, but many of the prejudices are passing away. This he said is due largely to the presence of the railroad, soda water, ice, umbrellas and kerosene. Mr. Whiton said that the people find considerable comfort in these conveniences and they are rapidly breaking down the feeling the natives have against foreigners.

Speaking of an effort to introduce our plows in India, Mr. Whiton said that the natives did not take kindly to them because the bullock is so far away from the plow that they cannot twist his tail. While the natives are very anxious to cover their faces they are not all particular about their legs and Mr. Whiton added, "they don't care who sees."

LOCAL YOUNG COUPLE WEDDED IN NEW YORK

Friends of Miss Elizabeth Winn, youngest daughter of Captain and Mrs. W. W. The young couple have been keeping company for some time and yesterday afternoon while on a trip to New York decided to wed. They visited the city hall, where a license was procured and the ceremony performed by Alderman George Delaney. Mutual friends of the bride and groom acted as witness.

His bride is one of the borough's most attractive young women and has hosts of friends. For the present Mr. and Mrs. Zweifel will reside with the groom's parents but later will establish their own home in North Plainfield.

MARTINE LACKS BUT ONE VOTE

He Receives 40 Votes in House and Senate for United States

Senator, 41 Votes Being Necessary for Choice—Smith

Gets 10 Votes in House; None in Senate—Hudson

Man Likely to Swing to Martine at Joint Session Tomorrow.

James E. Martine lacked but one vote when the ballot for United States Senator was cast separately by the House and Senate at noon today, at Trenton, of the number necessary to elect.

His total was 40, James Smith, Jr., of Newark received but 10 votes all of which were cast in the House.

Martine received 31 votes in the House and 9 in the Senate. Smith got ten votes in the House and none in the Senate. The Democratic senators voted so, idly for Martine. Forty-one votes are necessary to elect.

Tomorrow at noon, the Senate and House will meet in joint session for the purpose of electing a United States Senator to succeed John Kean. This afternoon it was announced in Trenton that one Democratic assemblyman would swing from Smith to Martine tomorrow, thereby insuring Martine's election on the first ballot.

In the House former Governor Edward C. Stokes, the primary choice of the Republicans, received 13 votes. In the Senate he got 9 more. Former Governor John W. Griggs, Republican, was given 5 votes in the House. In the Senate former Governor J. Franklin Fort got one vote and so did United States Senator John Kean.

Following is the vote cast today:

House.

Martine—Agnew, Alyea, Ballantine, Boettner, Boorem, Brodhead, Burke, Bunn, Cole, Davidson, Donnelly, Egan, Ford, Geraw, Guffin, Hendrickson, McGrath, Matthews, Ramsay, Kenney, Lafferty, LaMonte, Loughlin, Myers, Mylod, Newman, Simpson, Strietwolf, Taylor, Walsh, Hiners—31. Smith—Backus, Brown, Bracken, Christie, Leveen, Mackey, Martin, McGowan, Phillips, Chalvoy—10.

Senate.

Martine—Cornish, Fielder, Fitzherbert, Gebhardt, Johnson, Lowe, Osborne, Critie, Silzer—9. Smith—0.

The Republican vote:

House.

Stokes—Adams, Bacharach, Hand, Jackson, Layden, Mather, McCran, Pikaart, Pine, Radcliffe, Richmond, Thompson, White—13. Griggs—Coles, DeYounger, Turner, Whitecar, Whyte—5.

Senate.

Stokes—Ackerman, Brown, Edge, Frelinghuysen, Gaunt, Leavitt, Lewis, Plummer, Prince—9. Fort—Nichols—1. Kean—Hand—1.

In the House Ford first voted for Congressman Hughes and then changed it to Martine.

In the Senate Hand first voted for Stokes and then changed his vote to Kean, saying that he had been deceived by a report that Kean was not a candidate.

After the vote was taken in each house, the Assembly and Senate adjourned until tomorrow when they will meet in joint session at noon.

There are eighty votes in joint session. Forty-one is necessary for election.

When Mr. Martine's name was presented by Assemblyman Calvin Brodhead, of this city, as a nominee for the United States senatorship, there was a tremendous demonstration, the like of which, it is said, has never been seen in the history of the State. One is composed of successors of William Paterson and the other of those who followed Jonathan Elmer. Paterson and Elmer were the first Senators chosen after the adoption of the Federal Constitution by the united colonies after the country freed itself from British rule.

The term to be filled by the present Legislature will be in continuance of the Elmer series of Senators. James Smith, Jr., during his previous service in the Senate filled a place in the Elmer line, Senator Frank O. Briggs follows the Paterson line.

COMMERCE CHAMBER ADVOCATES MERGER

Resolutions Passed Unanimously for Consolidation

and Bill to be Presented in Legislature.

Not a dissenting voice was heard at the mass meeting held under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce last night when the resolution introduced by L. B. Woolston favoring the consolidation of this city with North Plainfield was read. More than a dozen citizens spoke in favor of the measure and a final vote showed unanimity for it.

About 100 men listened to a short introductory speech by former Mayor William L. Saunders; and after Mr. Woolston had read his preamble and resolution a general discussion was opened. Mr. Saunders said that he earnestly hoped that some one would speak against the proposition merely for the sake of finding out if there really was any possible objection to the contemplated union of the two municipalities. He read from the report of the bi-municipal committee made in 1907 the reasons why the change was desirable and said he never knew of any law which permitted a city to own its water works and sell to other cities. "If we are to have ownership of any public utility," he said, "North Plainfield ought to be in it with you. This movement started fourteen years ago, but the matter has drifted along without any final action. I had an annexation bill drawn at my own expense, but because it was not a consolidation measure was defeated by 161 votes. Afterwards it was generally said that if we had voted on consolidation instead of annexation the latter would have won."

The introduction of the resolution by Mr. Woolston opened the way for discussion. Communications were read from C. W. McCutchen, H. K. Carroll, Henry A. McGee and former Mayor Alexander Gilbert, all of whom wrote in favor of the move excepting Mr. McGee who said that he thought the time to be inopportune.

Those who spoke in favor of the scheme were L. B. Woolston, former Mayor Samuel Townsend, H. Rosenbaum, J. W. Harrison, Meredith Drvden for the Hyde Estate, Peter McDonough, Jacob Voehl, Jr., Mayor N. B. Smalley, J. V. E. Vanderhoef, Herman Schwed, Rev. Ora J. Shoop and Rev. J. O. McKelvey. Rev. G. R. Maguire was called upon for remarks but declined explaining that he was not yet a voter in this city.

The speech prepared by J. W. Harrison was applauded for its many homely but well taken points. He wanted to know where the economy was in making one family live in two houses and why should two separate furnaces be kept alive for one household. "We are living extravagantly," he said, "and until the two municipalities are brought together under one government and one common ideal we are as far away from an economical administration of public affairs as though we were separated by an ocean."

Former Mayor Townsend declared that the apprehension regarding the assumption of debts and what might appear to be obstacles from an economic viewpoint would adjust themselves in time after the merger was effected.

Mayor Newton B. Smalley spoke strongly in favor of the merger telling how hard it was for the borough to get what it wants from the county and what it contributes to the support of it. Plainfield could solve its water problem without any trouble if the borough was a part of Union county and merged with Plainfield. We have not only the water, but a territory which Plainfield needs and needs badly. Part of another county as well as Somerset county ought to be annexed at the same time and then we would have a community worth while. If we can change the county lines as indicated consolidation will easily take care of itself.

The sentiment among the entire audience was favorable to the proposition and procrastination will have no place in the actions of the committee of the Chamber of Commerce into whose hands the drawing up of the bill is to be placed. The resolution follows:

Whereas, Green brook, the county line which separates Plainfield and North Plainfield, is the old, original line which divided Somerset county from Essex county, established some two hundred years ago and maintained after the creation of Union county because it furnished a convenient boundary line requiring neither survey nor monument to

HOW UNITED STATES SENATORS ARE CHOSEN; BALLOTING NOW FOR ONE IN ELMER SERIES

The election of a senator is a Federal function performed by the Legislature of the State. Today each house suspended other business and proceeded to take a vote for senator of the United States. Nominations were made, but they are not necessary, for each member has the right to vote for any man when the roll is called. The record of the vote in each house is entered in its own journal.

The two houses tomorrow assemble in joint ballot meeting in the assembly chamber, and choose officers, the president of the senate invariably being chosen for presiding officer. The journal of the senate in regard to the vote for senator the day before is then read, and then the journal of the assembly. They will show, of course, that the senate gave a majority for one man, and the assembly gave a majority for another; or, at least, did not prefer the same man who had the senate majority.

The presiding officer will then announce that no one person having received a majority of each house voting separately, the joint meeting will proceed to vote for senator. The roll of all the senators and assemblymen will be called alphabetically, and each member will reply with the name of the man he prefers. The secretary will hand the result to the president, who will announce it. If no man has received a majority of all those present and voting, a new ballot will be taken.

The Raritan Junior baseball team has completed arrangements for their minstrel show, which is to be given in St. Bernard's hall, on February 21 and 22. There will be an entire change of program on the second night, which will conclude with a dance.

PLAIN AND FANWOOD.

The many friends of James Martine, both Democrats and Republicans, are rooting for "Jim," in the Senatorial election which comes up tomorrow at Trenton.

The Young People's Choral Union, of the Baptist church, will give an entertainment during the early Spring, no date having as yet been announced.

The Bachelors' Club holds a dance tonight in Excelsior Hall. Suh's orchestra will furnish the music for dancing.

Mrs. Anna Goodwin, of Stanbury avenue, has been entertaining friends from out of town over the week end.

The snow spoiled the excellent skating which had been enjoyed for a week or ten days.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

The Middlesex County Board for the Equalization of Taxes, sitting at New Brunswick today, is considering the appeal of the Equator Park Land Company against the assessment of John H. L. Peters, the borough's assessor. The concern claims that the property is listed as lots when it should be considered as farm land. The assessment when it was known as the Sandford farm was $10,000, while the new figure is $36,000. The borough's interests are being looked after by its counsel, Walter L. Hetfield, Jr. The appeal is the first to be made against Mr. Peters' assessments since the county board was organized.

The residents of New Market are agitating for some sort of regulation fire alarm in place of the present method of ringing the Baptist church bell. The latter is done under considerable difficulty, especially at night, and it is pointed out that if a suitable bell tower is erected in a central spot the alarms can be given better and quicker. The fire department has the matter in hand and will probably secure the improvement.

The first rehearsal of "Madame Jarley's Wax Works," for the second presentation will be held in the borough hall tonight. One of the new features to be introduced is a laughable representation of Peary and Cook discovering the North Pole. The presentation will be made in the Presbyterian chapel Thursday night.

George Rinehart has returned to work with the Central's bridge gang after several weeks enforced idleness by an injured hand.

Assessor John H. L. Peters and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Peters visited relatives at Cranford Sunday.

Dr. and Mrs. P. W. Brakeley have returned home after a ten days' stay at Atlantic City.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Some mischievous boys set fire to Justice Smith's hay field which turned furiously for several hours, creeping close to the residences near by, damaging a row of young trees and necessitating the hiring of men to beat it out.

Thomas Saverd, who sold his farm on the Woods road recently, has bought a piece of property next to the Catholic church and is building a barn. The house will be erected as soon as the barn is finished.

Several sportsmen from here went to New Market to try their luck at fishing, since the dam broke, and succeeded in getting a number of suckers.

Mrs. Sandherr is ill with typhoid fever at Muhlenberg Hospital. Her husband is recovering from the same disease but is not yet able to be out.

William M. Bowers is now in the house recently vacated by Mr. Adams, of Road Ending.

Charles Blackford has taken the position of sexton at the Middlesex Hillside cemetery.

Special Meeting of Classis.

Through the invention the officer on watch can by a turn of the wrist in case of emergency reverse all engines though running at full speed, and set them racing backward. The invention is designed especially for use in vessels equipped with turbine engines as are most of the ships building now. W. R. Montgomery's former confidential man testified that he got $13,000 for the indicted banker from the Hamilton Bank on the day before the institution closed its doors.

David Graham Phillips, the novelist, was shot by Fitzhugh Coyle Goldsborough, a musician, who committed suicide; twelve perforations were found in the body of Mr. Phillips after his removal to Bellevue.

Government losses of from $3,000,000 to $5,000,000 yearly might be shown, it was said, by an inquiry Collector Loeb began into Havana tobacco imports, although the loss was attributed to trade custom rather than fraud.

Governor Dix sent to the Senate at Albany the nomination of William W. Farley, of Binghamton, for State Excise Commissioner, to succeed Maynard N. Clement, of Canandaigua, a Republican, whose term expires in May.

William Sheehan lost one vote when the Senate and Assembly at Albany took their fifth ballot for United States Senator; a statement by Senator Roosevelt that he had been credibly informed that Sheehan had attended a conference at the house of Thomas F. Ryan in this city on Sunday called forth a strong denial from Sheehan.

Congress—Senate: Senator Gamble spoke in support of the favorable report on the election of Senator Lorimer; Senator Flint opposed the Cummins resolution providing for tariff revision schedule by schedule. House: The postoffice appropriation bill was amended by a provision that hereafter all cars of the railway mail service shall be of steel construction.

GOLF.

American golfers, especially those in this part of the country, will be greatly disappointed if the report to the effect that the projected visit of the American team to America next summer has fallen through proves to be true. Among those who had been named as likely to come here was Michael Scott, several times winner of both the open and amateur championship tournaments of Australia.

The course of the Columbia Golf Club at Washington has been abandoned. In fact, this well known organization has undergone decided changes during the last year, even to the altering of its name to the Columbia Country Club. Henceforth the Columbia golfers will travel out in the direction of Chevy Chase, where a new home has been found and where it is expected to have a fine course.

It is possible that the next open championship tournament of the Western Golf Association will be held over the links of the Kent Country Club, of Grand Rapids, Mich. This organization has applied for the attraction. The last competition of importance decided there was the Western open in 1904, when the late Willie Anderson won with a seventy-two hole score of 304. The same year Anderson won the national open at Glen View with 303.

Whereas, This line runs almost parallel with Front street, the main thoroughfare of Plainfield, and is only a stone's throw away, and because of the Watchung mountains running in the same general direction, the growth of North Plainfield follows the line of this brook and Front street, because nature so directs it, and them." Mr. Whiton also spoke of the value of the "silver persuader" while traveling in those countries. Everyone has a body servant and they are most useful.

Mr. Whiton first displayed a number of interesting views taken in China by himself, and then a large number of views taken in India, touching Burma, Calcutta, Bombay and the country districts. Mr. Whiton was accompanied by Mrs. Whiton on the trip. Mr. Whiton will give another illustrated lecture this evening on the above topic at the Seventh-Day Baptist church under the auspices of the Men's Club.

MARTINE LACKS ONE VOTE

never been seen in the House. It was a marked contrast to the reception given Smith's name when offered by Assemblyman Macksey, of Essex.

Senator Harry V. Osborne, of Essex, nominated Mr. Martine in the Upper House, where there was also an ovation. Mr. Smith's name was not mentioned there.

In the House, Assemblyman Mathew nominated Mr. Stokes, while in the Senate Senator Leavitt made the speech.

While the balloting was going on, there was a mad rush about the State House caused by friends of Martine attempting to get in. The corridors were packed with humanity and there was a wild scene of joy when the result was announced.

In the conference of the Democratic Senators and Assemblymen last night, James E. Martine received 33 votes; James Smith, Jr., 14; Congressman William Hughes, of Paterson, 2, and F. S. Katzenbach, of Trenton, 1.

The conference was attended by all the Democratic members of the Legislature except Assemblyman George B. Cole, of Warren county.

After wrangling for nearly an hour over the question of who should be the Democratic choice for State Comptroller to succeed Harry J. West, whose successor will be chosen February 21, the successful candidate finally being Edward I. Edwards, of Jersey City, the Senatorial question was taken up and disposed of in a few minutes.

The name of Mr. Martine was presented by Assemblyman Brodhead; Mr. Smith's by Assemblyman McGowan, of Essex; Mr. Hughes' by Assemblyman Ford, of Hudson; and Mr. Katzenbach's by Assemblyman Taylor, of Monmouth. Very brief remarks were made in offering the name of each candidate.

The name of Congressman Hughes was brought into the affair as a surprise by Mr. Ford. The presentation of Mr. Katzenbach's name was not an entire surprise, as Mr. Taylor had frequently expressed himself as being very favorably disposed to the former as a possible successor to Senator Kean.

On roll-call the result was as follows:

For Martine—Senators Johnson, Osborne, Fielder, Gebhardt, Silzer, Fitzherbert, Low, Price and Cornish; Assemblymen Alyea, Hinners, Mylod, Boettner, Ballentine, Lafferty, Kenny, Davidson, James Agnew, Simpson, Donnelly, Egan, Griffin, Walsh, Strietwold, Geran, Hendrickson, Bunn, Burke, LaMonte, Newman, Brodhead and McLaughlin.

For Smith—Assemblymen Backus, Bracken, Brown, Phillips, Leveen, McGowan, Chalvey, Machsey, Martin, Christie, McGrath, Mathews, Booraen and Ramsay.

For Hughes—Assemblymen Ford and Meyer.

For Katzenbach—Assemblyman Taylor.

Absent—Assemblyman Cole. As foretold Mr. Martine received the solid support of the Democratic members of the Senate. During the roll-call, Senator Osborne, minority leader announced that there had been a conference of the Democratic Senators early in the evening and he had been authorized to say to the conference that they were all in favor of Mr. Martine.

The conference considered two candidates for the comptrollership—Mr. Edwards and William M. Williams, Mayor of High Bridge. The former's name was presented by Senator Fielder and the latter's by Assemblyman Mathews. Mr. Edwards received 40 votes and Mr. Williams 10, following which the former was accorded the unanimous vote of the conference.

GRIP STILL EPIDEMIC IN CITY AND BOROUGH.

There is a mild epidemic of the grip in the city and borough and the local physicians are kept unusually busy fighting the dread disease. Among the numerous cases of grip are these: Thomas Davis Judson, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. John Judson, of John street; F. Rollin Williams, of 811 West Fourth street; Mrs. Nellie Baldwin, of Spooner avenue; Earl Cooke, young son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Cooke, of the borough; Hugh B. Sweeney, of Liberty street; Charles Graves, of South Second street; Mrs. Edward O. Clark, of 981 West Fourth street; Mrs. C. G. August, of 935 West Fourth street, and Mrs. George O. Stevens, of 931 West Sixth street.

There are scores of other victims. Miss Grace Vail, of Elmwood place, who has been quite ill with typhoid fever, is slightly improved.

ON THE JUMP

MOST boys are like jack rabbits anyway—continually on the jump. If it isn't coasting down hill and steering with his toes, it's skating, or what is worse, sliding on a half iced sidewalk. Then there is the regular wear that frozen ground is sure to give. So that all in all an ordinary boy is pretty rough on his footwear, particularly at this season of the year.

Introduce him to a pair of 'Steel Shod' Shoes that are built for this sort of wear—not so dainty as some mothers would like to have them, but they'll stay with the boy. These shoes are

$2.50 to $3.75

Sizes 2½ to 5½. Sold exclusively by us.

THINK NEWARK MAN IS WESTFIELD "TURPIN."

Pending action by the Union County authorities, Frank J. Yeomans, alias Frank E. Oliver, arrested in Millburn Friday and who is believed to be the highwayman who figured as a "Dick Turpin" in hold-ups in Westfield and Springfield townships, is in custody at the Newark courthouse.

Yeomans will be turned over to the Union County police, as there is an indictment there against him charging highway robbery. There is a charge of carrying concealed weapons against him in Newark, but this will be dropped. It was made after a loaded weapon had been found upon him when arrested.

The indictment against Yeomans charges the robbery of Peter Koenig, an aged man of Westfield. Koenig was robbed of $3.50, which he had in his pockets. He was compelled to walk two miles at the point of a revolver and collect $15 due him for wages.

This money the highwayman also appropriated after Koenig left the house of his employer. Enoch Miller. Threats to shoot if there was trouble so frightened Koenig that he obeyed the thief's behest without revealing his danger, and did not tell about it for some time afterwards.

The man was arrested by Police Chief Thomas Hurley on suspicion of knowing something about the robbery of the F. L. Minton home in Chatham turnpike. The Millburn authorities were unable to connect him with the Minton robbery. The charge of carrying concealed weapons was then made against him.

Vaccination is Urged.

The presence of small-pox in the southern part of the State, namely Salem county, where there are reported eighteen cases and two deaths, has given rise to the importance of vaccination in this vicinity. Some people maintain that as there is no cases of the disease here there is no necessity for vaccination. In the opinion of some people Plainfield may not escape the dread disease since it has found its way into the State, and are advising persons who have not been recently vaccinated to allow their family physician to vaccinate them. Recently five deaths from small-pox were reported in Philadelphia.

Funeral of Mrs. J. D. Runyon.

The funeral services of Mrs. John D. Runyon were held at the late home, Park avenue and West Fifth street, at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and were largely attended. Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, pastor of the First Baptist church, conducted the services, and was assisted by Rev. Dr. Edward Judson, pastor of the Judson Memorial church, New York city, who was a friend of the family for many years. Both made remarks of eulogy concerning Mrs. Runyon. There were many beautiful floral tributes. The burial was in Hillside cemetery.

"Cole 30-1911" in Town.

Roy Woodhull, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Woodhull, of West Front street, appeared in town yesterday with a "Cole 30-1911," which he was demonstrating among his friends. The car is graceful in its lines of construction and is thoroughly equipped with all the latest appliances. Mr. Woodhull was formerly with A. C. Thompson, the automobile dealer on Park avenue. He is now connected with the Wallace-DeWilde Co., of Newark.

MADAM SHERRY PLEASES BIG PLAINFIELD CROWD.

Lena Abarbanell will have to look to her laurels. As Yvonne Sherry, a convent girl in Madame Sherry, that captivating little leading woman, Tessa Costa, is ideal in the role. Yes, she plays the part even better than Miss Abarbanell. Blessed with the freshness of youth, a charming voice, pretty face and pleasing manner, Miss Costa made a big hit in Woods, Frazee and Lederer's production at the Plainfield theatre last night.

Miss Emilie Hayward as Lulu, an actress and dancer, demonstrated amply that she was particularly fitted for the part as did Edward M. Favor as Theophilus Sherry. The stage settings were particularly elaborate.

Burglar Scare in East End.

Police headquarters was notified last night by Mrs. F. G. Mead, of 537 East Front street, that a suspicious light was showing in the home of Albin Trojan, 511 East Front street. An investigation by Roundsman Higgins and Patrolmen Kelly and O'Keefe showed nothing in the house disturbed. The light which was in the cellar was evidently left burning by the furnace tender. The family is away just now.

PROBLEM'S LEGAL PHASE

W. S. Angleman Quotes the Law Bearing on the Water Question.

SOME STATISTICS OVERLOOKED.

Brief Prepared by Counsellor at Request of the Public Affairs Committee of Special Interest.

At a meeting of the public affairs committee of the Common Council in the Mayor's office on Wednesday evening, Counsellor W. S. Angleman called the committee's attention to certain recent changes in the law of New Jersey relating to water as affecting the proposed municipal supply for Plainfield and also called the attention of the committee to the fact that in estimating the proposed expense for a supply taken from the Lamington river these changes had not been taken into account.

There were present at the committee meeting, Councilmen Mygatt, Holt, Clay, Tolles, Montgomery and Gloak. At the committee's request, Mr. Angleman has submitted the matter in printed form, which by courtesy of the committee this paper herewith presents as an interesting contribution to the present discussion.

In the discussion of a proposed municipal supply of water for Plainfield and the consideration of a report on such supply by Mr. Fierstein, certain changes, or rather certain legislative and judicial pronouncements, of the law relating to water have seemingly been overlooked. Both the report and the discussion appear to be based on the law at it was supposed to exist in 1905.

Prior to that year the State control of water was generally accepted as being limited to water in running streams except where the tide ebbs and flows, and in such navigable streams as would be classed as public highways.

In that year, however, an effort was made by a water company to convey water from a point on the Passaic river in this state to Staten Island for domestic and public use, to fulfill a contract that had been made with the city of New York, the island being then and still part of that city. The New Jersey legislature passed an act forbidding any corporation or individual to transport water out of the state (Pamphlet Laws of 1905, p. 461), and as the water company persisted in its effort to do so, the attorney general filed a bill in the court of chancery on behalf of the state for an injunction. An injunction was granted by Vice Chancellor Bergen, now Justice Bergen, on the ground that the state is the paramount owner of the water in all running streams, except what is required by riparian owners for reasonable and customary uses on their land, such as watering cattle and irrigating gardens and farms. It was held that all the rest of the water in any stream must be allowed to take its natural course. This injunction was unanimously sustained by the Court of Errors and Appeals, the highest court in our state, Justice Pitney, now Chancellor Pitney, writing the opinion. This case is McCarter, Attorney General vs. Hudson County Water Company, and the decision of the court of chancery is reported in 70 New Jersey Enquiry Reports, at page 525, and the decision of the Court of Errors and Appeals in the same volume, at page 695. The case was subsequently taken to the Supreme Court of the United States, and the decision of the courts of this state was affirmed. (209 United States Supreme Court Reports, page 349). That related only to water running in streams, and not to water found beneath the surface of the ground.

That decision has already had far-reaching consequences. In the year 1907, and shortly after the decision of that case, the legislature passed an act asserting control over all water running in streams, and created a commission to take charge of it; and provided in the same act that no municipality or water company could take water from any stream for public use without the consent of the commission and on terms to be prescribed by it. The act also provided that whenever an application for a supply of water should be made a public hearing must be had on notice, and all municipalities and other parties interested in the proposed source of supply might present their objections, and the interests of all parties must be respected and safeguarded in case permission should be given to the applicant to take any water at all from a running stream. The act may be found in the pamphlet laws of 1907, at page 633, and distinctly says that after the hearing referred to the commission shall decide whether the plans proposed by the applicant for permission to divert water "are justified by public necessity or reasonably anticipated public use, and whether such plans interfere unduly with the opportunity of other municipalities to obtain a water supply by the taking of waters necessary for their use, or whether the reduction of the dry-season flow of any stream will be caused to an amount likely to produce unsanitary conditions or otherwise unduly injure public or private interests." The foregoing quotation from the 1907 act is of special importance.

The bearing of this decision and statute on the question of a water supply now under discussion in Plainfield will appear clearly if we suppose that an effort should be made to obtain a supply from the Passaic river at Berkeley Heights, one of the sources of a supply for Plainfield proposed by Mr. Fierstein in his report. He says it is not possible to build a reservoir at Berkeley Heights, and, therefore, the required supply must be pumped daily from the river, and then filtered and otherwise treated to make it clear and fit to drink. He also says that the dry weather flow of the river at that point is nine million gallons a day, and he proposes a plant to take eight million gallons a day, which is considered not too large in view of the rapid growth of our city.

The following cities and towns are now being, or have been, supplied exclusively from the Passaic river below Berkeley Heights, namely: Paterson, Passaic, Montclair, Nutley, Glen Ridge, West Orange, Orange, Bayonne, Harrison and Kearney, and they are all increasing in population. What possible chance can there be to get a supply of water for Plainfield from Berkeley Heights against the objections of those towns?

It may be said that Plainfield need not go to the Passaic river for a supply, but may go to Hacklebarney on the Lamington or Black river, where these objections would not apply. This is largely, although not entirely true. But there is a difficulty quite as serious to be confronted at Hacklebarney which also grows out of recent changes in the law of this State relating to waters and water rights.

Until recently it was supposed to be the law of this State that the Legislature could authorize a municipality or a water company to take water from a running stream for public use without making compensation to any of the owners of property below the point of diversion except those who had developed water powers, or had sites where water power might be developed. It was upon this view of the law that the report of Mr. Fierstein seems to have been compiled. In estimating the costs of obtaining a supply of water from the Lamington river at Hacklebarney he estimates the cost of acquiring water powers and sites for water powers between Hacklebarney and New Brunswick, by purchase or condemnation, at $180,000, but makes no estimate of the amount to be paid to other owners of land along the river. (See Mr. Fierstein's report, pages 23 and 156).

In the case of Paterson vs. East Jersey Water Company, decided by Vice Chancellor Emery in May, 1908, it was held, for the first time in this State, that the Legislature can not authorize a municipality or a water company to take water from a running stream without making compensation to all the owners of land along the stream below the point of diversion, whether they own water powers or sites where water power may be developed or not. That case is reported in 73 New Jersey Equity Reports, page 49, and goes into the matter thoroughly, being fifty-four pages in length. That case was taken to the Court of Errors and Appeals, and the decision of the Court of Chancery was unanimously affirmed last November, for the reasons given by Vice Chancellor Emery in the able opinion above noted.

If, therefore, an effort should be made by Plainfield to obtain a supply of water from the Lamington river at Hacklebarney, it would be necessary to pay not only $180,000 estimated by Mr. Fierstein as the damage to water power and sites for water power, but compensation must be made to the owners of every foot of land along the stream from Hacklebarney to tide water. The Lamington River rises several miles north-east of Hacklebarney and empties into the North Branch of the Raritan river about eighteen miles south of Hacklebarney; that is, on both sides of the stream between Hacklebarney and the North Branch of the Raritan River there are about thirty-six miles of riparian land. The rule of damages to riparian land for diversion of water that naturally runs along or through the land, is the difference in the market value of the land before the diversion and afterwards.

Mr. Fierstein states in his report, page 34: "If a dam be built at the site mentioned (Hacklebarney) for the purpose of supplying Plainfield with 8,000,000 gallons of water daily some years hence, there will be some months each year when, the natural stream flow at the site being less than 8,000,000 gallons daily, water would be drawn from the reservoir and none would flow down stream from the 26.85 square miles of watershed above the dam." That is, for some months of each year the stream would be dry. The territory through which the Lamington River runs is just west of Bernardsville, where the price of land is already high and is rapidly increasing in value. It is, therefore, manifestly impossible for any one to foretell what injuries in Morris and Somerset counties would award to their friends and neighbors as compensation for abstracting practically all the water in the river during the summer months.

But the right of riparian owners to compensation does not stop at the point where the Lamington river empties into the North branch of the Raritan. It extends to tide water at New Brunswick, a further distance along the North Branch of the Raritan, and along the Raritan itself, of more than twenty miles. Damages, however, between the point where the Lamington empties into the North Branch and tide-water at New Brunswick would not be so great as the damages along the Lamington itself, because Plainfield at no time would take the entire flow between the point where the Lamington empties into the North Branch and tide-water.

There was a supplement passed last year to the 1907 act above noted, extending the jurisdiction and supervision of the State Water Supply Commission over well, sub surface or percolating water supplies. (See Pamphlet Laws of 1910, p. 551).

In view of the above noted statute laws and decisions would it not be well, before expending a cool million or so of the taxpayers' money, to find out just where the present water company stands legally, it being claimed by some that the water company's charter is not good legally, and just where the city stands in relation to the water company's claimed rights to take Plainfield's water?

RECORDS BROKEN IN RUN TO WASHINGTON

It was the design of the New Jersey Central Railway, who were running The Daily Mail special train, to achieve for the benefit of your special correspondent, Mr. W. R. Holt, a record journey from Jersey City to Washington, a distance of 227 miles.

Ever since the Pennsylvania Railway opened its river tunnels and magnificent station in New York city the rivalry of the two systems has been intense, and the New Jersey Central, handicapped by the necessity of conveying passengers by ferry across the Hudson River, has treated the public to a regular riot of speed. Between Philadelphia and New York they have sent two trains hourly throughout the day which traverse the ninety-two miles in ninety-six minutes, according to the time-table, but as a matter of fact these trains frequently land their passengers ten minutes ahead of time.

It was 4:04 a. m. when our special train, consisting of a Pullman car, a combination day coach, and an Atlantic type engine, started. The temperature was a dozen degrees above zero, while a tempestuous wind opposed our progress. Alarming news had just been telegraphed to the train-despatcher's office. "Two freight cars," shouted an official, have been unroofed sixty miles ahead of us. We subsequently learned that the flying mass of broken timber was whirled against an express train as it was passing the goods train, smashing the headlights of the express locomotive, battering the smokestack and handrails, and crippling the engine-driver, who was picked up unconscious and bleeding beside the track.

Despite the wind we accomplished the first eighty-four miles to Wayne Junction in eighty-four minutes.

Here a curious incident delayed us six minutes. The engines were about to be changed when it was discovered that our engine was frozen fast to the tender by the condensed steam and the water picked up from the track-tanks. The ice had formed an armored casing over the coupling gear. With pickaxes and buckets of boiling water workmen attacked the impediment and secured the engine's release.

The Daily Mail special train then proceeded to Baltimore, ninety-four miles further on. In stretches here we made our fastest time. Fifteen consecutive mile posts flew past us at intervals of 50 seconds or less. One mile was completed in 44 seconds—at a speed of practically eighty-two miles an hour.

Again and again, however, we were forced to slow down for various reasons. Once a frozen signal refusing to work caused us to stop for five minutes.

Baltimore was reached at 7 hours 23 minutes 30 second, and the remaining forty-four miles were covered in 44 minutes. The train rolled into Union Station at Washington at 8:11 a. m., having accomplished the journey of 227 miles, in the teeth of a gale, in 4 hours 7 minutes, or 247 miles.

"A record!" triumphantly shouted Mr. Charles H. English, the "passenger trainmaster" of the company who accompanied us. "We have finished the journey in seven minutes less than the best previous performance."—London Daily Mail.

SOME TIMELY TOPICS OF BORO'S SCHOOLS

The cold weather having made outdoor fire-drills inadvisable in the borough schools, a system of indoor drills has been established. This consists of all the elements of the outdoor kind except that the lines are halted at the doors just as they are ready to pass out. All classes stop as soon as the fire-gong ceases to ring. Thus the indoor drills gives practice in quick and orderly formation in lines, the monitors open the doors and unlock the gates, the teachers assume their positions at the head of the line, and in fact every detail is accomplished except the march outside of the building.

Drills are given at least twice a month, in accordance with a standing resolution of the Board of Education. A report of these drills is made to the board at each regular meeting in writing, filed and a record made on the minutes of the secretary. The drills are given under various conditions, so as to give exercises to the pupils in any emergency. For instance, last week a drill was given just when all the high school pupils were passing through the halls to their various classrooms. At such time the pupils halt where they may happen to be until the teachers are at their stations, and then the pupils follow in lines. A few weeks ago a drill was given while the primary pupils were marching through various rooms. Exercises of this character train pupils to act systematically in every situation that may arise, and the danger from fire is reduced to a minimum.

The regular time required to send the 800 pupils of the Somerset school out of the building in perfect order is one minute and forty seconds.

A class in manual training has been organized in the primary grades of the borough schools to consist of all pupils who are above the age of eleven. The proper age for fourth grade pupils is ten or eleven. Pupils older than eleven have for some reason been retarded in their progress. Manual training is often more interesting and beneficial to such pupils than the other class lessons. A class of this kind organized last year proved to be very successful. When an interest has been aroused in one subject, it often leads to interest in other subjects.

One of the drawbacks to the efficiency of medical inspection in the borough schools consists of the fact that there is no legal authority to compel the attention of parents to the defects reported by the school physician. Cases sometimes arise, for example, in which a serious defect of the eyes is noted, and the examiner sends a letter to the parents recommending that the family physician be consulted; but nothing is done about it by the parents. Indeed not infrequently the medical inspector draws upon himself the wrath of parents for reporting the defects he has found. Thus the children suffer, sometimes throughout life, because of this indifference and neglect. Sometimes, too, parents do not know how to treat the children for the defects reported. It would seem that a trained nurse, who would follow up the reports of the medical examiner, could be of very material service in securing proper treatment for the children, and insuring their speedy return to school, with faculties improved.

Some time ago a pupil was examined in a certain school by the physician, who found that the sight of one eye was entirely gone, and that of the other was rapidly deteriorating. For at least three preceding years the examiner had found the same defects, and had sent notices home in regards thereto. But nothing had been done. A very vigorous effort was then made to induce parental action, resulting in a half-hearted course of treatment that may or may not do some good. But there was grave danger of this child becoming entirely blind ere maturity was reached, thus causing lifelong misfortune to him and much expense to his people.

Some children who are thus neglected become public charges in time, and the people are taxed to support them in various institutions. On this basis it would often be economy to use public moneys to cure disorders during their early stages rather than incur the greatly increased expense of prolonged maintenance later in public institutions.

REAL BASEBALL GAME PLAYED ON LAKE ERIE.

The novel experience of witnessing a baseball game on the frozen surface of Lake Erie, off the south shore of Kelly's Island, was the pleasure of nearly 2,000 islanders Sunday afternoon.

A regulation diamond was marked off on the ice and the rules of the national game were followed.

The teams playing were dubbed the Elfers and the Porters. The Elfers won by the score of 22 to 20. Residents of Middle Bass, Put-in-Bay, Lakeside and Marble Head attended the game, going to Kelly's Island on ice boats. The idea of playing winter baseball has made a hit with the islanders, and hereafter this will be the winter sport. Another game will be played next Sunday.

NEWARK'S ELKS TAKE THREE STRAIGHT GAMES

The Newark Elks' bowling team came to Plainfield last night, and carried off all three games the in the match with the local Elks on Johnny Campbell's alleys. The match was not a spirited one from a local standpoint, for the Plainfielders were not up to their usual form. There was only one double century, Johnny Campbell putting up a score of 211 in the second game. Chauncey Stout was next high man with a score of 194 in the first game.

The Newarkers took the first game by a score of 874 to 837, the second by a score of 907 to 853 and, the third by a score of 836 to 792. Ohler was high man for the visitors, rolling a 221 in the second game. Sell put up a 192 in the first game and then duplicated the figures in the third game. The scores:

PASTOR AND WIFE GIVEN A BIRTHDAY SURPRISE.

The officers and members of the Bible class of the Temple Baptist church, tendered a surprise to Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Musson, at their home last night, in honor of the latter's birthday. The coming of the self-invited guests, thirty in all, was entirely unexpected by the victims but they quickly made everyone at home. A general social time was enjoyed during which Mrs. Musson was presented with a handsome silver tray in honor of the natal event. Refreshments were served at a late hour.

Koch's Tuberculin Cure.

WESTFIELD NO MATCH FOR LOCAL HIGH TEAM

Plainfield High School walked away from Westfield High in a basketball game played on the local's court, the final score being 49 to 23. Poor shooting and guarding contributed largely to the defeat of the visitors although they passed well and developed some fast team work. They could not connect with the basket. The first half ended with the score at 21 to 5.

Both teams played raggedly in the second half, little judgment and poor passing marked the play. Only the Plainfielders' good shooting enabled them to add to their score. Manley, Clarke, Ricketts and Woodhull all contributed to the big score by their safe shooting, while Bristol and Karr played a good defensive game. Underwood, Elliot and Sissenson did the best work for Westfield High.
