REMEMBER BOBBY BURNS

Clan Mackenzie, O. S. C. Com-memorates Birth of Scottish Bard.

REFORM HALL WAS CROWDED.

Songs, Poems and Speeches by Clansmen—Bagpipes, Reels and Jigs

Make Merry Evening.

One could almost smell the heather and see the bobbing heads of the red and white thistles last night on Reform Hall, when Clan Mackenzie, No.

Chief Robert Murray.

204. Order of Scottish Clans celebrated the birth of the Scottish national bard, Robert Burns. A program of music both instrumental and vocal, come fine dancing of the kind that recalls to the audience which was composed of Scotchmen and their wives and daughters, the olden time in the Highlands.

Addresses were given by Robert Murray, chief of the local clan; David King, royal treasurer of the order; Grover P. Hannon, who called himself a "near Scotchman." Rev. Thomas B. Ironside, of Morristown, who recited "The Accident to Johnny Patterson;" Edmund L. Mackenzie, in Highland costume; and Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire, who recited an unpublished poem of Burns entitled "Fellowship with God."

Edmund L. Mackenzie spoke briefly of the clan of Mackenzie its origin, history and a accomplishments, mentioning causally that they were fond of kidnapping the women of other clans for which they were not to be blamed owing to the beauty of the kidnapped.

Among the artists who contributed to the evening's entertainment were: Alexander Knox, baritone soloist; J. D. Mitchell, violinist; Miss Edith Bryson, the Scottish Nightingale; Aleck MacGowan, tenor of the First Presbyterian church, who was accompanied by Clifford A. Braider and Mitchell's orchestra furnished some splendid instrumental music.

The features of the evening, however, were the dancing by the Crawford sisters, of Newark; the bagpipe playing by James McIntosh and his brother and the singing of Miss Bryson. The first named young women ranged in age from seven to seventeen. There were four of them and they gladdened the hearts of the clansmen as they pirouetted about the stage in graceful gyrations and figure dancing.

The MacIntosh brothers led the procession into the hall at the opening of the program followed by several of the brethren attired in Highland costume.

Miss Bryson comes by her name of the Scottish Nightingale honestly for she captivated the audience with her sweetly sung poems of the immortal Burns as few can render them. She was greeted with applause on her first appearance and won the hearts of all. She graciously responded to several encores.

The introductory remarks by Chief Murray too the form of a welcome to the big audience. The hall was filled to the doors and standing room was at a premium when the welcome was extended and promises of greater things in the future were given. David King gave a vivid word picture of Scotland with its brags and braes and thrilled his hearers with accounts of the deeds of the ancient chieftains Wallace, Bruce and others.

Rev. Thomas B. Ironside, who is superintendent of the Market street mission in Morristown, pleased the audience with his recitation in the brogue and was loudly applauded.

TWENTY PRETTY GIRLS WITH RUTH ST. DENIS

In her new dances founded on the religion and customs of ancient Egypt, Miss Ruth St. Denis will appear at the Plainfield theatre, Saturday afternoon and night. The curtain will rise at 2:15 and 8:15 o'clock promptly. The new dances are the second in a cycle of Oriental numbers which Miss St. Denis has in preparation and are much more elaborate than were the Hindu numbers in which she appeared last season. She is assisted by a company of some fifty people including a score of pretty girls, and Walter Meyrowitz has written a special score which an augmented orchestra will be engaged to interpret.

No expense has been spared by Henry B. Harris, under whose management Miss St. Denis appears, in giving the dances an adequate production. The four elaborate scenes are made from drawings made from pictures and descriptions in the great museums and libraries of the world and are as authentic as those records permit. There are four scenes showing the banks of the Nile near the Temple of Hapi, a banquet hall in a palace of the Pharaohs, the sanctuary of the Temple of Isis and the sacred plains of Ra.

X-SCIENCE FROM INDIA SAYS REV. MR. PERRINE

Rev. A. S. Perrine, of Newark, who has spent seven years among the savage tribes of Assam, spoke at the Park Avenue Baptist church last evening on "Under the Roof of the World." Rev. Mr. Perrine exhibited a number of curios collected in that country which interested his hearers immensely. He told of the 25,000,000 child widows in India and what the Christian religion is doing toward ameliorating their pitiable condition.

Among the other things of interest touched upon by the speaker was the inception of Christian Science which he declared originated in India. Mrs. Walter Besant was mentioned as one of those who had studied the occult sciences as practiced by the natives for centuries and it was from these psychological practices that the present cult took their fundamental ideas. He mentioned the fakirs who at will could banish bodily pain and sensations and who exercised the wonderful control of mind over matter.

During the evening Chester Chamberlain, the boy soprano, sang solos accompanied by William S. O'Brien, organist of the Church of the Holy Cross.

EPOCH-MAKING VICTORY SAYS SWACKHAMER.

Former Assemblyman Swackhamer issued this statement today on the Martine triumph: "An epoch making victory has been won. We are too close to the event to take the full measure of its vast proportions. Regenerated Democracy has been vindicated; the first act of the administration glows with a principle that can never fade; a vital principle of popular government has been set in adamant; the star of the people's hope is in the zenith; and the names of Woodrow Wilson and Jas. E. Martine are forever identified with one of the greatest reform movements of modern times."

To Slect New Pastor. Following the regular prayer service in the Temple Baptist church, last evening, a business meeting was held at which Edward Baker, Jr., was elected church treasurer and the following committee was appointed to secure a pastor for the church to succeed Rev. J. W. Musson, who has accepted a call to the Main street Baptist church, of Meriden, Conn. Frank Stewart, chairman; U. B. Crane; W. A. Conger; Clarence B. LaRue and Edward Baker, Jr.

Transfers of Local Property. These transfers of local property have been recorded in the office of County Registrar F. H. Smith, Elizabeth: Mary E. Messersmidt to Annetta C. Masker, northwesterly side East Second street, 633 feet north-easterly of Leland avenue, $1; Chas. H. Hand et ux to Annetta C. Masker, southeasterly side LaGrande avenue, 100 feet southwesterly of Central street, $700.

Mrs. Lizzie Slittin. Mrs. Lizzie Slittin, colored, wife of Julius Slittin, of 504 West Third street, died this morning after a short illness. Notice of funeral will be given later.

Playground Commission Meets. The Playground Commission will meet this afternoon in the office of the Mayor at 4:30.

STATE LICENSES FOR BARBERS ARE URGED

The State Barbers' Union favoring the plan to have all barbers in the State licensed and put under the supervision of the State Board of Health, is arranging to have a bill drafted with that end in view and have it made a law at this session of the Legislature. A meeting of representative barbers from all parts of the State has been called for Sunday, February 5, at Hoboken, when the committee appointed for the purpose of drafting a bill will report. The barbers who favor the bill believe that it will have a tendency to make every shop in the State sanitary and will also bring the trade up to a higher standard efficiency. Donato DiLorenzo, of 1219 West Front street, is the chairman of the general committee from the State association and will present the report at Hoboken. It is understood that a majority of the barbers favor the bill.

GOV. WILSON SPEAKS AT NEWARK BANQUET

About 600 members and friends attended the annual dinner of the Newark Board of Trade in the Krueger Auditorium, Newark, last night. Among the latter were Governor Woodrow Wilson, United States Senator Heyburn, of Idaho, and Congressman Julius Kahn, of San Francisco. The Governor discussed "The State of New Jersey," the Senator, "The Legislative Problems of the Day," and the Congressman "The Relations of the Panama Canal to the Trade of the Two Oceans."

Henry S. Emery, who recently was appointed president of the Tariff Board of President Taft, who was not present. Secretary of War Dickinson also was unable to be present owing to the recent death of his son.

GOVERNOR WILSON ON THE U. S. SENATORSHIP

Governor Wilson, when asked whether he had any further statement to make on the choice of Senator-elect James E. Martine, spoke as follows: "It would appear that all you have to do is to let the people know what is going on and they will respond. I feel confident that it is the sincere purpose and desire of the Democratic members of the Legislature to carry out the program of the platform, and it is a matter for sincere congratulations that the Senatorial matter is happily settled and the legislators free to address themselves to the business of the session."

"The whole State must admire the way in which the members of the Senate and Assembly have acted in this important matter."

Senator Osborne had the following comment to make on the election of Mr. Martine: "Regardless of the personality of the men in the contest for the United States Senate, the result will have the effect of firmly establishing the direct primaries and will insure to the people a voice in the election of their representatives in the House in Congress."

"It means that the day has gone by when a seat in the United States Senate can be purchased by the highest bidder, and that there will be an end to the scandals which have so frequently occurred in the past."

"I believe that Mr. Martine will measure up to his responsibilities and that his course in the Senate will justify the anticipations of his friends and the confidence the people have placed in him, despite the detractions to which he has been subjected."

John McGowan, of Park street, Orange, was so-elated by the victory of the direct primary principle in the election of Martine as United States Senator that he bought an American flag, ran it up on the staff on top of his house and declared it should stay there until worn out.

Typos Second Ball. Typographical Union No. 399, will hold its second annual grand ball at Saengerbund Hall on the night of Friday, February 3. It is expected to exceed in attendance that of last year which was a success from every view point.

TO APPEAL ASSESSMENT Levering & Garrigues to Carry County Discision Higher up.

TAXING CONCERN'S STOCK. Company Objects to a Rate on Parts Assembled at Plant's Yard—County Board Refuses to Cancel It.

W. A. Garrigues, of this city, a member of Levering & Garrigues, whose large assembling plant at West Dunellen, furnishes employment for 250 men, and who have a weekly payroll of more than $3,000, told the members of the Middlesex County Board of Taxation yesterday that the firm is considering giving up its plant because of the heavy taxes imposed. The company has paid taxes on a $65,000 assessment levied on plant and equipment, but protests a $50,000 assessment levied on stock in yards.

Attorney Carlos Gallup represented the appellants and called Mr. Garrigues to prove that large quantities of iron and steel, received at the West Dunellen plant, are really in transit through the State and not subject to taxation here. In many particulars the case resembled that of the Susquehanna Coal Co., which was decided by Judge Reilstab in favor of the taxing municipalities last week.

"Our company comes into direct competition with the great Steel Corporation," declared Mr. Garrigues. "When we receive an order for structural iron work we must get various parts rolled in the big mills of the Steel Corporation, keeping in touch with all the large mills to see what sizes of steel are being rolled at certain times. We have no mill of our own."

"It thus frequently happens that several mills will get orders to each roll some parts of the iron or steel required to fill one of our contracts. These mills as they finish milling our work, will place the shipment on cars consigned to our New York wharf. The way bill, however, will be marked to allow us stop-over privileges on the shipment at West Dunellen."

"Sometimes a lot of steel will come to our plant in the morning and will be moved on again the same day. At other times it may remain longer while we wait for other needed parts. All that is done at West Dunellen is to assemble the various parts, sometimes drilling a few holes necessary to the fitting of certain angles, and then send the goods forward to New York for delivery."

Both Mr. Garrigues and his attorney declared that the product thus spoken of is not on the market at any time in this State, and absolutely no profit is derived by the concern on the material itself, the profit being made in the work of constructing the buildings called for by the firm's contracts.

Judge W. A. Coddington, of this city, speaking on behalf of the taxing authorities of Piscataway township, declared his conviction that the assessment should be confirmed in full. He said that the moment the iron and steel pieces were unloaded from the cars at West Dunellen, the "in transit" theory of the appellants was destroyed, and the property became taxable. The County Board, by unanimous vote, decided to confirm the assessment. Levering & Garrigues have given notice of an appeal to the State Board of Taxation.

P. H. S. GIRLS DEFEAT EAST ORANGE TEAM.

East Orange High's girls' basketball team went down to defeat yesterday afternoon when they met the P. H. S. girls' team. The score was 17 to 4. The first half was evenly contested the score at its end being 5 to 4 in favor of the local girls, but after that the strong and accurate throwing and excellent team work of the Plainfield girls proved too good for the Misses from Orange and they could not score another point.

Miss Jessie Stewart was the star for P. H. S., making 12 of the 17 points scored.

Col. C. W. Fuller to Speak. Colonel Charles W. Fuller, of Jersey City, has accepted an invitation to speak at the first annual banquet of the Chamber of Commerce on February 12. Col. Fuller is reported to be a witty after-dinner speaker. He was at one time a member of the State Assembly and a former superintendent of public instruction and is now one of the counsel for the Standard Oil Company. Judging from present indications there will be a fine array of talent at the banquet.

THOMAS O'GORMAN OUT OF POLICE DEPARTMENT

Establishing a precedent, the Police Board last night, decided that Mayor Moy and City Judge William G. DeMeza be provided with keys to Police Chief Kiely's private office at police headquarters. Most of the evening was spent in considering the budget for that department for the coming year. It is expected that there will be no increase in this item of the budget.

Mayor Moy notified the board that he had not re-appointed Thomas O'Gorman as a special and therefore the latter was no longer connected with the department. On the eve of the mayor taking office, an unsuccessful effort was made in the Common Council to have O'Gorman advanced from a special to a regular. He had been serving in the capacity of driver of the patrol wagon. His appointment as a special expired on December 31. A reference was made to a roundsman vacancy but the matter was not considered. Some minor matters were touched upon but no definite action taken.

WM. A. CODDINGTON WINS APPEAL FOR CIRCUS MAN

At the morning session of the Middlesex County Tax Board yesterday, a reduction of $3,000 was given Leon Washburn proprietor of Washburn's Road Show, who had been assessed $4,000 on the ponies, elephants and other live stock kept by the circus man in winter quarters on the River road, in Piscataway township.

W. A. Coddington, of this city, appeared to argue against the reduction but when he was informed that the animals were all removed from their winter quarters prior to May 20, the taxing date, he withdrew his objections. The only animals on the farm at present are a team of horses and a team of ponies.

MILLION DOLLAR CONCERN ORGANIZED IN MIDDLESEX

Amendments to the articles of incorporation of the Hudson and Middlesex Telephone and Telegraph Company, filed with Secretary of State on June 4, 1901, were filed yesterday with Middlesex County Clerk Gannon, following a resolution adopted by the stockholders on Jan. 31, 1910. The Board of Directors advised the amendments at a meeting held Jan. 8, 1910.

The amendments were filed to obliterate errors appearing in the original articles, and also because the stockholders had decided to increase the capital stock from $250,000 to $1,000,000. The stock was formerly divided into 2,500 shares of preferred stock, at $10 per share, and 2,500 shares of common stock at $100 per share.

The new division is: 2,500 shares of preferred stock, at $10 a share and 9,750 share of common stock at $100 per share. The corporation, under the revised articles, has 1,305 shares of preferred stock and 1,284½ shares of common stock outstanding.

The purpose of the company, as is generally known, is to erect and operate telephone and telegraph wires in the following counties of New Jersey: Hudson, Essex, Union, Middlesex, Mercer, Ocean, Burlington, Gloucester, Salem and Camden. The principal office is at 185 New Brunswick avenue, Perth Amboy, with William J. Lansley named as agent.

PLAINFIELD COUNCIL HOLDS INSTALLATION.

The first public installation of officers of Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum, will be held this evening at 8 o'clock. Grand Regent Theodore S. Class, of the State of New Jersey, will be the guest of honor and the principal speaker. The installation ceremonies will be highly interesting and impressive, not merely to the members of the order, but to all their friends, who have been invited to be present.

The committee of arrangement has also prepared a fine musical program and have invited the women friends of the members. The committee in charge comprises George M. Christian, chairman; Howard W. Satterfield, R. G. Hudson, Robert H. Lowry, A. I. Littell, William T. Carr, Theodore J. Shirley, Marion L. Bullock and L. V. P. Wilson.

BASEBALL PITCHER'S FINGERS AMPUTATED

Charles A. Frederickson, of Spooner avenue, son of Police Captain Christian Frederickson, met with a painful accident at the Scott Press Works yesterday morning, which badly mangled his right hand and almost cost him his arm. He was testing out a four-deck press being prepared for shipment to a firm in Dallas, Texas, and had placed the machinery in motion on slow speed. A revolving roller caught his hand, crushing it badly before he could draw back.

Frederickson was hurried to the office of Dr. Pittis, where it was found necessary to amputate two fingers, while two others were lacerated to the bone. In the event of the press having been on high speed it is a certainty that the entire arm would have been mangled. The victim has been prominent as a baseball pitcher and the accident will put him out of the box as the two fingers removed are the most essential in twirling.

The accident seems doubly unfortunate at this time as Frederickson returned to work only a month ago, after a two weeks wedding trip to Binghamton, N. Y. He married Miss Marie Thomas, of Spooner avenue, on New Year's eve.

FIFTH ANNIVERSARY OF LOCAL DAY NURSERY

The fifth birthday anniversary tea and reception of the Day Nursery was held at the nursery, yesterday afternoon, and was the most successful in the history of the institution. The rooms were thronged throughout the afternoon with friends and well-wishers of the work, including many who are not identified with the King's Daughters, under whose auspices the nursery is maintained. The donations this year were also greater than ever before, the store house being filled with just the things needed for the nursery, for which the King's Daughters are grateful.

Tea was served by the Silver Cross Circle of the King's Daughters of which Mrs. H. C. White is the president. She was assisted by these members: Mrs. F. O. Ball; Mrs. E. T. Wilson; Mrs. A. L. Williams, Jr.; Mrs. Francis E. DuBois; Miss Elsie Suffern; Miss Helen Phillips, and Mrs. H. L. McGee.

In addition to the donations of dry groceries, etc., a considerable sum of money was left at the door. The King's Daughters are working earnestly for a new building, the present one far outgrowing the present needs. Mrs. M. E. Edgerton left $5,000 for the Day Nursery and $5,000 for the camp work, and in the near future it is hoped that these bequests together with other means available will go a long way toward securing adequate quarters for the carrying on of the work. Mrs. Frank W. Jones, as president of the City Union of the King's Daughters, with others received the guests yesterday.

CHIEF MACDUFF ENTERTAINS IN HONOR OF BURNS' BIRTHDAY

A number of the admirers of Scotland's peasant bard assembled at the home of Chief MacDuff, last night, to celebrate the 152nd year of the poet's birth. There was no need of the "lion rampant" or of thistles or other national decorations to tell that it was a Scottish celebration.

After satisfying the inner man with haggis and athol brose, the rest of the evening was spent in singing Burns' songs and reciting his poems. At 11 o'clock the company joined in singing "Auld lang Syne," with the greatest enthusiasm.

Charged with Desertion.

Stelle Randolph, of New Market, was arrested yesterday on West Fourth street, on a warrant issued by Justice Clark Rogers, on a charge of desertion. The complaint was made by Randolph's wife. A hearing will be given Randolph on February 3, in New Market. W. A. Coddington will appear for Piscataway township at request of Mahlon Dayton and Justice Von Minden will defend Randolph.

Hearing on Assessment.

A hearing before the county Board of Taxation, of Middlesex county was held on Tuesday in Dunellen, to hear the appeal of the Equator Realty company against the assessment of the property known as Equator Park on Bound Brook road. Wilson Frederickicks gave expert testimony relative to real estate values in the tract and the board reserved its decision.

There will be a dime sociable held under the auspices of the Home Department of Hope chapel tomorrow night at the residence of Mrs. Weber, 408 West Third street. 8 o'clock is the hour.

CONGRATULATE MARTINE

James Smith Jr., Gov. Wilson and Bryan Send Senator Messages.

SCORES OF TELEGRAMS ARRIVE

Farmer-Orator Will Not Be Out for Two Weeks—W. W. St. John Started Boom for the Plainfielder.

Scores of telegrams continue to pour in on United States Senator-elect James E. Martine. From every State in the Union and from men prominent in all walks of life and of many shades of political belief, messages of congratulation have been received. Despite his illness, the senator insists on reading them as fast as they arrive.

One telegram that particularly pleased him was from William Jennings Bryan, who sent his heartiest congratulations. He was equally delighted to hear from his opponent, former United States Senator James Smith, Jr., who withdrew from the contest when his fight became hopeless. Mr. Smith wired: "Congratulations. Hope your health will soon be restored so as to enable you to enjoy your high office."

Allan Benny sent this sentiment: "God reigns. Democratic Jersey is back on the map and good old Jim has at last come into his reward. Hurrah for today." State Senator Gebhardt, of Hunterdon, put this message on the wire as soon as the result was announced: "I congratulate our State and yourself heartily." Then the bosom friend of the farmer-orator boarded a train for Plainfield and in an hour was closeted with Martine reviewing the fight. It was the Hunterdon county man who boomed Martine three years ago and succeeded in getting for him the solid Democratic vote when Frank O. Briggs, Republican, was elected to the United States Senate.

Among the first to congratulate the senator was his strongest supporter, Governor Woodrow Wilson. The Governor telephoned his congratulations and made an appointment to confer with him as soon as the senator is well enough to go to Trenton. From Assemblyman Calvin E. Brohead, of this city, who nominated Martine in the House, this message was received: "Heartiest congratulations on your great victory."

Republican County Chairman Frank H. Smith sent the following message to Mr. Martine today: "Congratulations and best wishes for a successful administration."

Job H. Lippincott, of Jersey City, sent the following message to the Senator-elect: "Allow me to congratulate you. It was a just victory."

Telegrams were also received from John A. Smith, Haddon Heights; Captain James Parker, Perth Amboy; Louis H. Brown, Trenton; Thomas J. Peterson, Elizabeth; Eugene Burke, Trenton; Benjamin W. Hughes, Rahway; J. T. Hague, Springfield; Bernard McLean, New York; Lloyd A. Treadway, Morristown; Charles Stillwell, Morristown; Assemblyman McLoughlin, Elizabeth; R. D. Gibby, Trenton; Mayor Alfred A. Stein, Elizabeth; John J. McGowan, Newark; Edward Nugent, Elizabeth; J. P. MacMasters, Elizabeth; Thomas J. Prickett, Trenton; A. Moore, Philadelphia; the Weeks family, Montclair; M. T. Cronin, Bayonne; the New York World; M. L. Mann, New York; former Mayor Dunham, Middletown, N. Y.; George Baldwin, Summit; W. J. Curtis, New York; E. H. Wright, Newark; M. L. Scudder, Newark; Herman B. Walker, Washington, D. C.; J. J. Bergen, Trenton; W. G. Malach, Elizabeth; Frederick G. Hyer, Rahway; J. C. Conover, Freehold; George C. Clay, New York; G. T. Weber, Morristown; George W. Driver, Washington, D. C. Twenty-two residents of Madison joined in one telegram of congratulation.

Mr. Martine is somewhat fagged out today as the result of the excitement of yesterday but he is mending slowly and it is expected that he will be able to leave the house in a fortnight. Many of his townsmen called to pay their respects yesterday, but few were allowed to see him.

Former Mayor William L. Saunders stated today that the plans for the public reception in Mr. Martine's honor would be deferred until the Senator fully recovers. His first public utterance of a political nature will be made on the occasion of the Chamber of Commerce dinner at Truell Hall, Monday night, February 12. He will be given the position of honor at the right of the toastmaster by virtue of his office and it is believed that he will give his views on the current political problems.

The election of Martine, and the events leading up to it, must be

AMONG OUR NEIGHBORS

WESTFIELD.

In order to settle the question as to whether there has been any wrongdoing by members of the Council in furnishing supplies to the town while members of the Council, Mayor John A. Dennis has appointed a special committee of the Council to investigate any charges that any citizens may make in this respect. The committee is composed of R. S. Middleditch, E. H. Oswald and H. W. Evans. There have been rumors that it has been the practice of several men on the Council to furnish supplies for the various departments in which they are interested. To either quiet these rumors or to show whether they are grounded on fact, the Mayor has appointed this committee.

Westfield Retail Merchants' Association expect to make the annual dinner of the association, which is to be held on February 21, one of the most notable of the year. As planned, members from similar associations all over the State are to be invited as well as prominent speakers whose interests are with the retail merchants. It is also probable that at this dinner a move will be inaugurated to form a league of the Retail Merchants' Associations of the State.

SOMERVILLE.

The Try Again Society of the First Reformed church has elected the following officers: President, Miss Evelyn Slater; vice-president, Frank Barnes; secretary, Geneva Cowen; treasurer, Mrs. Arthur Suthen; librarian, Herbert Slater.

A meeting was held at the parsonage of the Methodist church last evening, for the purpose of organizing a mission study class, under the leadership of the pastor, Rev. M. D. Church.

Fisher. The plaintiff, a boy of fourteen, had the thumb of his right hand torn off in the cog-wheel of a machine at which he was working.

While sitting in a side window of a caboose of a Philadelphia and Reading Railroad train Tuesday, the head of Arthur V. Hayes, a brakeman twenty-five years old, of Conshohocken, Pa., came in contact with the side girder on the bridge at Fortyninth street, Bayonne, and he was rendered unconscious. Hayes was taken to the City Hospital.

Three hundred dollars damages for injuries received in alighting from a Shore Fast Line trolley car at Atlantic City, in July last, was awarded in Mays Landing Tuesday, to Mrs. Rebecca Beard, in the Circuit Court. She had asked for $5,000, claiming that she had suffered lasting injuries from the fall, caused, she asserted, by the conductor starting the car before she had alighted.

Frederick Sigman, of Moorestown, applied in Camden for a divorce. He alleged cruel and barbarous treatment by his wife. In the bill Sigman declares that his angry spouse chased him out of the house with a red-hot poker, then tore a board from a pigsty and struck him. Other domestic infidelities included throwing dinner plates and that she went through his pockets for small change.

While running before the wind off Hereford Inlet early Tuesday morning, a large pound boat, loaded with fish net, ran aground on the shoals, and, listing dangerously, lay exposed to the heavy sea. The Tatum's station life-saving crew, after the hardest kind of work, managed to float the boat, which had been but slightly damaged. The craft was bound from Long Branch to Chincoteague, and the journey was resumed soon after the boat had been floated. About to direct a crew in repair, work on the Delaware River bridge of the Pennsylvania Railroad at Delair, Tuesday, Robert M. Lister, a foreman, found the body of a man who had probably fallen from a train and been killed. The body was removed to the Camden morgue. A looking-glass with a picture of Reading, Pa., firemen on the back was found in the pocket of the man's trousers, and in the sweat-band of the hat was found the initials "M. J. McG." The man had red hair, with a stubby mustache, was about forty years old and weighed about 180 pounds.

BILL FOR PHILIPPINES.

The Time of Holding Elections Are Prescribed.

Washington, Jan. 26.—A bill prescribing the time for the holding of Philippine elections has been introduced by Representative Olmsted of Pennsylvania. It provides that the present members of the Philippine Assembly shall continue in office until October 16, 1912. Elections are to be held in 1912 and each four years thereafter, the successful candidates taking office on the succeeding October 16. The present resident commissioners at Washington are to continue in office until March 4, 1913. Their successors are to be elected by the Legislature of 1912, and the election of commissioners is to take place thereafter each four years.

POSTCARD FOR INDEXES.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 26.—A new domestic postcard is being issued by the Postoffice Department, designed primarily for index and library purposes. It is smaller than previous issues, three by five inches, and white with red printing. The stamp is a profile head of Abraham Lincoln looking to the left.

The new card will be issued in sheets of eighteen when desired in that form for printing purposes. The sheets are two cards wide by nine cards long. To be valid for postage the cards must be cut to regulation size.

SPORTS News and Notes

BASEBALL.

Johnny ("Dots") Miller, of Kearny, yesterday signed a contract to play with Pittsburgh next season. The Keystone sack artist, who has been with Pittsburgh for two seasons, was given a big boost in his salary by Barney Dreyfuss. Miller had the contract for several days before returning it to the Pittsburgh club. When he signed up with the Pirates a year ago it was with the understanding that he was to get an increase this year if his work was satisfactory. When the contract came along this part was entirely satisfactory. The player said yesterday that his injured leg had responded to treatment, and that it was as strong as ever once more. He expects to get back into his batting stride this season. Miller is preparing to go to Hot Springs, Ark., where the Pirates will do their spring training.

Charley Herzog has filed a claim with the National Commission for $350 against the Boston club. The third baseman declares he was suspended last season without cause, and wants his salary for the time he was laid off. At the time of Herzog's suspension it was said that he had the managerial bug and wanted to depose Fred Lake as boss of the Doves. Lake says that Herzog came into the dressing-room at the Boston grounds one day last season before a double-header, and, in the presence of Dovey and Lake said: "I am done playing ball." He took off his uniform, threw down his glove, and left for home. Lake said Herzog often made requests for his salary during the time of his suspension, but the manager would not agree to give him money that he did not earn.

The New York Nationals have fourteen pitchers, seven of them new ones. Mathewson, Crandall and Drucker of the veterans are considered O. K., but there is doubt about the chances of Ames, Raymond and Wiltse. Marquand is uncertain. The new pitchers are Rudolph, of Toronto; Hendricks, of Vreeland, Mich.; Tesreau, of Shreveport; Shonts, of Dallas, Texas; Nagle, of Elmira; Rustenhaven, of Cheyenne, and Jenkins, of Pekin, Ill. Hendricks is a husky left-hander, who is said to have great control.

It is not believed by the officials of the Giants that Vice-President Page's objection to the Shean-Shaffer trade will have any effect on the transaction. President Russell approved Tenney's action in the matter. Page says he will fight the deal when the board of directors of the Boston club meets. He says: "I look on Shean as a player with a bright future, a local man, and a favorite, while the chances are that it would be hard to get Shaffer back from Japan."

Stanley Robison, owner of the St. Louis Nationals, has offered St. Louis fandom a rich prize. If Manager Roger Bresnahan lands his Rajahs in the first division and keeps them there the coming season, Robison stands ready to expend more than $100,000 to erect concrete stands just as soon as Roger fulfills his part of the arrangement.

GOLF.

At the annual meeting of the New Jersey State Golf Association held in New York, F. H. Thomas, of Morris county, was elected president, to succeed H. V. Keep, who retired after two years of service. Seven of the twenty-six organizations holding membership in the association were represented as follows:

Morris County Golf Club, F. H. Thomas; Baltusrol Golf Club, J. H. Woodward, 2d; Englewood Country Club, John Munroe; Essex County Country Club, W. J. Kingsland; Montclair Golf Club, Jason Rogers; Yountkah Country Club, George B. Martin; Forest Hill Field Club, W. T. Chisholm.

In the absence of W. C. Shoup, the report of the secretary-treasurer was read by Mr. Munroe. This showed a balance on hand of $468.30, within a few dollars of last year's figures.

The Morris County Golf Club made a provisional offer of its course for the annual championship tournament. It was explained by Mr. Thomas that work on the projected trolley line might occasion some inconveniences, but he did not believe that work on the road would be in evidence by the first week in June, the usual time set for the New Jersey state fixture. It was voted to leave the question to the new executive committee. In accordance with New Jersey State Golf Association custom the president has the power of appointing the secretary-treasurer and other committee members. A vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Keep for his efficient service during the two years he acted as the association's chief executive.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

No offering for the current season gives promise of more delightful entertainment than Ruth St. Denis in her new dances of ancient Egypt which Henry B. Harris will present at the Plainfield theatre, Saturday matinee and night, January 28. The new dances reflecting the religion and customs of ancient Egypt in which Miss St. Denis will appear are more elaborate than her other offerings and require the services of some fifty persons, in addition a special orchestra is required to interpret the incidental music written by Walter Meyrowitz. There are four elaborate scenes which Henry B. Harris has spared no expense to make pictorial of the period.

Robert Dumont, of the borough, is detained at home by illness.

Mr. and Mrs. George Endicott, of Prince George county, Va., are visiting relatives in this city.

Mrs. O. T. Waring, of Park avenue, is seriously ill at her home, having suffered a relapse of a former trouble.

classed as one of the most curious pages in political history. The direct cause of it was a newspaper man, W. W. St. John, an old-time friend of the Plainfield "Farmer-Orator." Mr. St. John was at one time city editor of The Daily Press and is an ardent Democrat. He is engaged at present as a newspaper correspondent at Trenton for this and other papers. This is the story:

The direct primaries law was brought about by a determined Democratic minority who forced it on a reluctant Republican majority. One of the men who had advocated such a measure up and down the State for a score of years was Martine. He had become the champion of the direct primaries when it was looked upon as a socialistic idea and when its adherents were the subjects of bitterest denunciation. But Martine, who has the courage of his convictions always, never faltered.

When the bill became law and the time for closing nominations on Sept. 13 last drew near not a Democrat had filed his petition to be placed on the ballots for United States Senator. Less than a week before Sept. 13 St. John said to some fellow newspaper men: "It's a shame that there is no Democrat taking advantage of an opportunity created by Democrats." There was silence for a few moments, then St. John said: "I have it; we'll get 'Jim' Martine to make the race."

Rev. G. R. Maguire was humorous in his speech on "Scots the World Over," and received an ovation at the end of his rendition of the poem by Burns.

The affair was a success both financially and artistically and it is likely that the next entertainment of the club will have to be given in a larger auditorium, judging by the attendance last night. A supper followed the entertainment.

Following the entertainment and supper of Clan Mackenzie last night, the pipers and about thirty of their friends adjourned to the home of Chief Robert Murray where they serenaded the popular Scotchman and kept up the festivities of Burns' birthday until early this morning.

goods than if you had paid all cash. Come in and let us explain the plan to you.

SENATOR-ELECT MARTINE WAS SERENADED.

About thirty-five friends of Senator-elect James E. Martine celebrated the victory of the popular Plainfielder last night, by using a drum and fl corps as a means of expressing their joy at his election to the United States Senate. The men and a hundred boys marched about the centre of the city burning red fire and finally wended their way to Mr. Mar-tine's residence on Kensington avenue, where after playing a military march they gave "Jim" three hearty cheers and returned to North avenue where they disbanded.

The noise did not cause Mr. Martine any inconvenience, in fact, he rather enjoyed the fun although he could not take part in it.

P. H. S. NOTES.

The sophomores practically cinched their chances for the interclass championship yesterday by again defeating the seniors in a one-sided game. The score ended at 28 to 18.
Good and Robinson starred for the sophs, while Busse and Shrager played best for the seniors.

At a meeting of the Boys' Athletic League of the Plainfield High School today it was decided to have a track team to represent the school in competition during the coming season with other high schools and preparatory establishments in the nearby cities. The local school has not had a track team for several years, but it is believed that now there is enough good material to form a fine team. Active preparations will not be begun until the mid-year examinations are over. James Lindsey is acting Captain and Edward Jenkins is manager. The latter has already received invitations to enter his team at games.

Following the basketball game between the P. H. S. team and the Alumni on Saturday evening there will be an informal reception and dance for all the members of the High School and their friends. An admission will be charged.

Rutgers Preparatory team will be the opponents of the P. H. S. team on Saturday afternoon in the local court. The game begins at 3:30.

In the District Court.
Several minor suits between landlord and tenant were decided by Judge William Newcorn in the district court this morning, as well as contract suits brought by the New York Telephone Company. Judgments were rendered in favor of the plaintiffs in these cases on proof.

The Men's Berean Bible study class of the Sunday school of Warren chapel will hold its annual business meeting in the chapel this evening.
Officers will be elected for the coming year. After the business meeting there will be a social time.

FEDERATION OF CHURCHES
AT TRENTON TOWORROM

Plans for the organization of the Inter-church Federation of New Jersey have been practically completed and the delegates from the various state denominational church bodies such as the Methodist conference, the Presbyterian synod, the Baptist Convention and similar organizations, will meet at Trenton tomorrow in the First M. E. church at 10:30 a. m., to form the new federation.

Rev. Hugh B. MacCauley, D. D., pastor of the Fourth Presbyterian church, Trenton, and secretary of the Eastern district of the Federal council, which is the central congress of the National Inter-church Federation, has sent out notices to all delegates who are to convene.

Bishop Lines, of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Newark, has been invited to preside.

The organization will be considered, and when decided, bylaws will be adopted, officers elected and committees appointed.

The object of the federation is to manifest the essential oneness of the Christian churches of the state in Jesus Christ as their divine lord and Saviour, and to promote the spirit of fellowship, service and co-operation among them.

More particularly the object is to prevent overlapping in church work, to promote civic righteousness and put up a united front, against the evils that threaten the church.

In the afternoon there will be a conference on work of the Interchurch Federation, beginning at 2 o'clock. Governor Wilson has agreed to address the conference.

There are 1,800 pastors in the state, and each has received an invitation to attend the conference.
Following the addresses there will be an hour for discussion in "The Work of the Inter-church Federation of New Jersey."

A Correction.

On Monday an item was published relating to Miss Lillian Ward's search for the anonymous writer of a letter and her letter to Postmaster Bird requesting information. It now appears that Miss Ward was seeking a position as a secretary which she states the man offered, and was not looking for a husband. The Daily Press cheerfully makes this statement in justice to Miss Ward. Postmaster Bird disclaims any responsibility for the first report.

Watching Engine Company Dance.
The Watching Chemical Engine Company conducted a social dance in the North Plainfield Township Association Hall at Watchung, last night. It was attended by about 100 young people. The committee in charge of the affair was headed by Chief Titus and John Mobus.

VEILING JEWELS.

The fashion of veiling has been extended to the veiling of jewels. It is the fad in London to wear all the pendants and brooches of precious stones that one can muster and then hide their glittering under a veil of chiffon so they appear as a glowing part of the underdress.

The Oriental embroideries, and garnitures which are used in the early spring have reappeared also with this veiled effect and they are very beautiful when their Eastern vividness of color in partly obscured by veiling of dark or definite mole or gray.

Gowns of gold or silver tissue or trimmed with broad gold or silver embroideries are veiled with chiffon and volles. Even valuable old lace trimmings or evening gowns are only suggested for they, too, are partly covered by thin veiling.

Gave Benefit Euchre.

Mrs. David T. Kenney, of West
Elm street, gave a euchre at her home yesterday afternoon, for the benefit of St. Mary's convent. Forty friends were in attendance and enjoyed the game. Prizes were awarded Mrs. Calvin E. Brodhead and Mrs.
George H. Mehl. Refreshments were served in conclusion.

N. P. A. A. to Present Play.
The North Plainfield Athletic Association has arranged to give a dramatic production early in March.
The play selected for presentation is the popular comedy, "What Happened to Jones." The parts were received yesterday and the cast is now being selected.

Rev. Thomas Francis, of Jersey City, will give a Bible reading in the church at Duer street and Craig place tomorrow afternoon at three o'clock. The subject will be "The second chapter of John." All interested are invited. There will also be service in the evening at 7:45.

Get the Hook.

"Where are you going my pretty maid?"

"I'm going to Fishhook, sir," she said.

"And where may that be, my pretty maid?"

"At the end of the line, you jay!"
she said.—Boston Transcript.

Ginger Before Breakfast.

If you are inclined to feel heavy and bad tempered in the morning when you rise, says a well-known physician, try taking a piece or two of preserved ginger. For some reason it seems to sweeten the temper with the digestion and makes a healthful as well as palatable before-breakfast dainty.

The Young Women's Missionary Society of the First Baptist church is planning to give a supper and entertainment in the church in the near future.

Two Suits from Auto Accident.

An automobile accident last September is responsible for two actions brought in the district court this morning against Mrs. Bertha Briggs and William Briggs, of Murray Hill.
Both are for $500 and are brought by Louis Raeder and Mrs. Philomena Vielberg, of the same place. Damages to horse drawn vehicles and personal loss are involved in each suit.
Francis J. Blatz represents the plain-

Arthur Voorhees was a recent victim of the grip but is able to be out again.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

An inspection of the fire hydrants by Chief Charles Meyer was made several days ago. Two hydrants were found frozen slightly and the pressure on the Mountain avenue main was found to be so low that the hydrants would be of no service in case of fire. The attention of the Water Company has been called to this and the trouble will be remedied.

H. P. Greenwood, of Cameron avenue, returned home yesterday after a two weeks' visit with relatives in Georgia.

Miss Hattie VanNest, of Martinsville, is spending a few days at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Martha B. Colthar, of Duer street.

Dr. and Mrs. M. L. Clawson, of Park avenue, are entertaining the latter sister, Mrs. Eugene Carpenter and son, Eugene, of Oneida, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Brown, of New York, are parents of a boy born to them on Sunday. Mrs. Brown was formerly Gussie B. Wade, of this city.

Rev. and Mrs. G. W. Osmun, of Winsted, Conn., are visiting Mr. Osmun's brother, A. H. Osmun, of this city. Mrs. Osmun is pastor of the M. E. church at Winsted, having been there two years.

Mrs. J. E. Corlies, of Central avenue, in company with Mr. and Mrs. J. Howard Wright and Mr. and Mrs. J. Dunbar Wright, of New York, left yesterday in the steamship Celtic of the White Star Line, for Algiers, where they will pass the remainder of the winter.

VICTOR BRAZILIAN SUES FOR HIS COMMISSIONS.

The suit of Victor Brazilian against Fred McGillivray, of Linden, came up in the district court this morning, and decision was reserved by Judge Newcorn until the copies of the state of complaint and contract shall have been presented to him and read. Brazilian is seeking to recover commissions alleged to be due from McGillivray on sale of eight acres of land in Linden.

The suit has been in progress for several weeks and because Judge Whittemore, of the Elizabeth district court drew the contract he is barred from trying the case.

Deed Commissioners Go. Secretary of State Dickinson had placed on the desks of the members of the Legislature yesterday at Trenton the list of commissioners of deeds whose terms expire next May. There are several hundred of them and successors to them will be chosen at a joint meeting of the two houses February 21, the same day Edward I. Edwards, of Jersey City, will be elected State comptroller, to succeed Henry J. West.

National Tennis Championship. W. B. Cragin, Jr., formerly of this city, is the chairman of the tournament committee in charge of the national indoor lawn tennis championships to be held at the 7th Regiment Armory, 66th street and Park avenue, New York city. The men's championships will be held from February 11-18 inclusive and the women's championships, March 6-11 inclusive. Play will be called at 10 o'clock each morning.

Turkey Supper Tonight. Everything is in readiness for the annual turkey supper to be held at Trinity Reformed church, tonight and tomorrow night, under the auspices of the Ladies' Christian Work Society. The women will provide a fine turkey supper for a nominal price, and there will be other attractive features.

Entertainment and Social. The Parent-Teacher Association of the Irving School has arranged for an entertainment and social to be held at the school, Monday evening. Rev. Franklin K. Mathews, of Scotch Plains, will make an address and there will be a fine musical program, followed by a social hour and refreshments.

Mrs. Lansdale's Mother Dead. Mrs. Lansdale, wife of Rev. J. Tucker Lansdale, pastor of Marconier chapel, Oak Tree, has received word of the death of her mother at Baltimore, Md. There will be no services at the chapel on Sunday.

AT THE PLAY.

She took a seat in front of me;
Alas, I gave a sigh,
For looming up I saw a hat
At least twelve inches high.

I could not see the stage at all.
So gave a little cough;
It was enough—she took the hint,
Also her bonnet off.

I gave a smile, one little smile,
And then dumbfounded sat,
For coiled upon her head the hair
Was higher than the hat!

HOPE ON.

Be of good cheer. In six months we will again be thinking of starting on our vacations.

Welcome.
Hail to the oyster!
Give him his due:
Fine when he's broiled, but Lost in a stew.

Engaged.
"I was never so surprised in my life!"
"Why should you be?"
"Why, you used to hate and despise him."

"I guess you haven't heard all the news, have you?"
"What haven't I heard?"
"Have you heard that he has a touring car?"

Recollections.
"Sweet were the days of childhood, John."

"Indeed they were, Bill."

"I will never forget the day I gave you a thrashing, John."

"Now, look here, William Jonesby; you know quite well I would have licked you in a jiffy if I hadn't had a sore thumb on my right hand, where I got hit with a baseball!"

The Practical Maid.
They had been engaged for exactly 47 seconds by the cuckoo clock.

"Clara, dear," queried the happy youth, who had a streak of romance running up and down his person, "will you promise to love me forever?"

"I'd like to, George," replied the practical maid, "but I really don't expect to live so long."

Hence His Embarrassment.
"Thanks, mum," said Wandering Will. "It's kind of yer to gadder yer husband's Prince Albert, but I don't wear dem garments no more."

"Why not? Is a Prince Albert coat too formal?"

"Tain't dat, mum. Dem long tails is er invitation to every dog walk sees me to take hold."

Explaining to Jones.
"I say, Jones, dine with me at the house to-night, will you?"

"Certainly, with pleasure. Will your wife expect me?"

"No; that's the beauty of it. We had a quarrel this morning and I want to make her mad."—Peekskill Palladium.

PLENTY OF COMPANY.

"I married because I was lonely."
"Well, don't kick. You have four children."

Still Picking.

He tried to pick the winner
Among the racing nags:
To-day he'll earn his dinner
For he is picking nags.

Too True.

Yeast—I see an average orange tree produces 20,000 oranges and an average lemon tree 8,000 lemons.

Crimsonbeak—And yet the average man gets handed more "lemons" than oranges.—Yonkers Statesman.

A MIGHTY FORTRESS.
The Famous Rock of Gibraltar and Its Armament.
A GUN IN EVERY CREVICE.

The Place Stood With Food and Munitions of War to Stand a Siege of Seven Years—An English View of the Cannon Studded Stronghold.

"An enemy's fleet could be sent to the bottom in ten minutes before getting within five miles of Gibraltar. Not even a torpedo boat could succeed in entering the bay unobserved on the blackest night." That sums up the opinions of the most eminent naval experts as to the impregnability of the world's greatest fortress.

But disappointment awaits the sight-seeking visitor. The rock, though barren, is covered with luxuriant vegetation—not a fort prominent, not a gun to be seen even with the most powerful glasses, no discernible armament magazines, no strongholds, only a peaceful, prosperous harbor and a sleepy, straggling town.

It is night, and the maneuvers are on. Swift playing searchlights transform the bay into a sheet of shimmering silver upon which are seen majestic British warships and elongated flying shadows, the torpedoes. Guns answer guns out of every conceivable crevice and corner, blending in one deafening uproar, while scores of shells plow the water for miles around.

Sentries are everywhere; infantry parties crouch in the shadows; hundreds of gunners stand ready behind hundreds of guns in these mysterious labyrinths hewn out of the solid rock—"the galleries." The vicious barking of Maxim guns gives contrast to the deep toned baying of these mammoth pieces of ordnance, the mere report of which cracks stone roofs and bursts doors and whole windows. Could any fleet live through the murderous hail of gigantic shells?

Gibraltar never sleeps. By day and night two perfectly equipped signal stations, proudly flaunting Britain's flag of ownership, unceasingly sweep the seas around to a distance of fifteen miles on a clear day, instantly reporting the coming and going of each vessel. Sentries guard all the prominent forts, magazines and gateways; gunners sleep beside their guns; engineers are ever ready beside the powerful searchlights.

Modern "needle" guns, the finest in Europe, are installed on all the most prominent points. They are unreachably from the sea, even as they are undiscernible, owing to the skill with which they are painted and draped to match the surrounding vegetation, while huge screens drop automatically before them as each shell is fired. They have a range of fifteen miles and could drop shells on Ceuta, in Africa, opposite, quite comfortably. One gun weighs 110 tons and is capable of throwing a shell weighing three-quarters of a ton. In that marvel of engineering under great difficulties, the galleries, are concealed guns for every day in the year.

These galleries are divided into three sections, entry to which is guarded, while one is closed even to high officers, containing preserved stores, munitions of war, rainwater (for Gibraltar has no springs) and a complete condensing plant—all calculated to outlast a siege of seven years.

The firing is the most mathematically perfect imaginable. The surrounding waters are mapped out into squares, upon which certain guns are kept ready trained, so that it is almost impossible to miss. During practice targets are towed across the bay, the object being to hit the water a few yards in advance of them.

Although the sentries have now been reduced, a few years ago 158 were needed daily, the most important point being the north front, where English sentries face Spanish sentries. But the mere pressure of an electric button by the officer of the guard would cause a miniature earthquake on the neutral ground.—Cassell's Saturday Journal.

Haggis as the Scotch Make It.
To make haggis take the heart, tongue and small liver of the sheep, one pound of bacon, four ounces of crumbs of bread, the rind of one lemon, two eggs, two anchovies (sardines may be used), a quarter of a teaspoonful of pepper and two teaspoonfuls of salt. Chop the heart, tongue, liver and bacon, mix thoroughly, add the breadcrumbs, the anchovies, chopped fine; the lemon rind, grated; then the pepper and salt. Beat the eggs and pour them over. Pack this into a kettle or mold, cover and boil or steam continuously for two hours. Turn it on a dish and serve very hot.

A Clever Cook.
Mrs. Nurich was in the jewelry store. "Here are some new souvenir spoons we have just got in," said the clerk, placing a tray for her inspection. "Oh, ain't those lovely!" she exclaimed. "I must have some of those! Our cook makes such lovely souvenirs!"—Argonaut.

Well Posted.
"What was that musty old explorer talking about?" inquired the languid lady. "Progressive Patagonia." "And how do you play it?"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

It is not the quantity of the meat, but the cheerfulness of the guests, that makes the feast.—Clarendon.

Sacrifices For the Service.
Hundreds of men in England stifle themselves in order to enable their sons to keep a position in one of the services. I know of a particular case in which a father manages to keep a son in the navy on an income of barely £300 a year. The sailor boy takes £100 of this, and the rest of the family—I believe there are five—manage to squeeze through without getting into debt on the other £200.—London Sun.

Tenants in Persia.
In Persia the tenant is absolutely at the mercy of his landlord, who can even seize upon the persons of himself and his family and reduce them to a sort of slavery till arrears of rent and interest are worked off, and this is true of most countries under despotic rule. Tenants are generally tenants at will and can be dispossessed on most frivolous pretexts.

Looking Forward.
When Kaiser William II. was a small boy he was discovered by one of his tutors drawing a map of Africa. When he had finished he wrote the word "Germany" across the paper. "What are you doing?" asked the teacher. "That is not German territory." "That is all right," retorted William. "When I am kaiser it will be."—London Mail.

The Word "Rajah."
Literally the word rajah means king, and maharajah the great king or ruler over several kings, but generally speaking the titles rajah, maharajah and nawab have no greater significance than the words feudal lords as used in mediæval times in Europe. Many of them have been made by the will of the reigning chief, many bestowed for meritorious acts and deeds.

Her Mistake.
There is a frigid coldness between a young man and his best girl for which her absentmindedness is not altogether blameless. "So you've come at last!" said he the other night. "Why, I'm sorry," she replied. "It's only 7, and I promised to be here at 8." "H'm, but you've mistaken the day. I've been waiting here since yesterday."

He Had Had Enough.
A stage carpenter one day approached his manager for an increase in wages. "Why," said the manager, "I don't quite see my way to giving you a rise. You have nothing much to do. Half the time you are merely standing in the wings listening to the play." "Yes, sir," replied the carpenter, with a wry face as he turned to move away. "That's just it!"—London Mail.

The Word "Doll."
The word "doll" may be taken as meaning the same thing as "idol"—that is, an image—generally speaking, an image of the human form. The French word "poupee" and the German "puppe" were derived from the Latin "pupa," the word used for a chrysalis (insect stage), the earlier kinds of dolls being remarkably like the pupae of insects. Our word puppet is derived also from the same root.

How He Gained Prominence.
"This Mr. Muggins is one of your prominent men, I suppose?" "Oh, yes." "What did he ever do?" "Nothing at all. You see, he has always kept in the background when anything was to be done, so that he could criticize those that do it. That's what's made him so prominent as a citizen."—Chicago Post.

Easily Fixed.
"I see where a scientific feller says there's a dark planet goin' to hit the sun an' end the world," says the man on the cracker barrel. "Hub!" observes the man with his heels on the stove. "I reckon we needn't bother much about that. I spoke to our congressman about it this mornin' an' he'll introduce a bill makin' such acts a violation of interplanetary commerce."—Chicago Post.

Why They Were Fresh.
Once, when taking breakfast at a hotel in Richmond, John Randolph complained that the eggs were not fresh. "If you want fresh eggs, waiter, always buy them in Chesterfield" (a county just across the James). "How come Chesterfield eggs better'n Henrico eggs, sah?" "Because, you rascal, the Chesterfield people are too poor to keep their long!"—Argonaut.

When She Made Cake.
"This lovely angel food," said she, tasting the cake at the high tea. "Did you make it? Wonderful. I never tried to make angel food but once. I took all day to make it, walking very lightly while it was in the oven, hardly daring to breathe. Then when it was done I put it in the sideboard. The next morning they had to use a derrick to move the sideboard in order to sweep under it. That is, that's the story my husband tells about it. You know how husbands are."—New York Press.

Up Against It.
The suffragette leader was addressing a meeting of the Cook Ladies and Chambermaids' Union. "You women should all have a voice in the affairs of the nation," she exclaimed. "You should assert yourselves. You should be entitled to a vote." Hereupon a seker after information arose and in a voice of conviction said, "That would mean that we should have to live in one place for at least six months, wouldn't it?" It was not until then that the suffragette leader fully realized what she was up against.—New York Times.

THE HABERDASHER

A HAUNTED ROOM.

The Mysterious Light That George Cary Eggleston Defied.
There was and perhaps still is a room in a certain house in Virginia which was supposed to be haunted. Every time a person slept there he would be sure to wake after awhile to find the whole room pervaded by a dim yellowish gray or grayish yellow light. It was very dim at first, but it increased steadily till the occupant of the chamber fled from the nameless terror in panic. Mr. George Cary Eggleston was not to be daunted by these tales and accordingly decided to try a night there. In "Recollections of a Varied Life" he tells what happened.
It was about midnight when I entered the room. It was raining heavily, and the wind was rattling the stout shutters of the eight great windows of the room.
I went to each of those windows and minutely examined it. They were hung with heavy curtains of deep red. Having completed my examination, explored the closets and bolted the door, I went to bed. The great four poster was inexpressibly comfortable, and the splash and patter of the rain as it beat upon the window blinds was as soothing as a lullaby. I forgot all about the experiment in which I was engaged, all about ghosts and their ways, and went to sleep.
After a time I suddenly awoke to find the room dimly pervaded by that yellowish gray or grayish yellow light which had so disturbed the slumbers of others in that chamber. My awakening was so complete that all my faculties were alert at once. I felt under my pillow and found the pistol still where I had placed it.
Instead of springing hastily from bed, I lay there for a time, watching the weird light as it slowly, almost imperceptibly, increased in intensity. I decided that the gray distinctly predominated, but in the meantime the steady increase in the light and its pervasiveness warned me, and I slipped out of bed.
The rain was still beating heavily against the window blinds, and the strange yellowish gray light was still slowly but steadily increasing. I was resolute, however, in my determination not to be disturbed or hurried by any manifestation. In response to that determination I glanced at the mirror and decided that the mysterious light was sufficient for the purpose, and I resolved I would shave.
Having done so, I bathed in the rapidly increasing light. I was deliberate, however, in donning my clothing, and not till I was fully dressed did I turn to leave the room.
I turned the key. A second later I was out of that chamber, and the oak door of it was securely shut behind me. I went down the great stairway, slowly, deliberately, in pursuance of my resolution. I entered the large hallway below and thence passed to the oak wainscoted dining room, where I sat down to breakfast with the rest of the company.
It was 9 o'clock of a dark, rainy morning. The grayish yellow light was daylight.

A Woman's Sacrifice.
Three years ago a startling tale came to light concerning a prominent business man in Austria. He found himself on the brink of ruin, and his wife came to his rescue at the cost of her own life. Leaving an overheated room one night, she walked up and down a stone flagged passage, barefoot and with nothing on but a nightdress, till she caught a chill which she aggravated by a series of reckless acts. Inflammation of the lungs set in, and she died shortly afterward. Her husband obtained the large sum of money for which her life was insured, and with this he was able to pull through the crisis successfully. He married for a second time within three months of his first wife's death. This husband did not get off scot free, however. A servant in his employ had overheard the conversation in which the heroic young wife had told her husband her intention to die for his sake. The servant informed the police. Then the insurance companies contended it was a case of suicide and sued successfully for the return of the money. The husband was prosecuted for being an accessory to his wife's death and received the punishment he well merited.

A Great Dog Town.
The greatest dog town in Great Britain, if not in the world, is Haverfordwest. There are a great many men in the town who live wholly and make a good living by breeding, buying and selling dogs. Although the population is only 6,000, at least 6,000 dog licenses are issued annually, and there are also a large number of exemptions. Almost daily there are more dogs than people in the public streets, though valuable animals are never allowed to run loose. Haverfordwest dog breeders are known for their working terriers, show terriers, pointers, setters and spaniels, which are daily traded for big sums through the fanciers' journals and go everywhere. It is the home of the Sealy ham breed of terriers, the origin of which has puzzled the keenest sportsmen. One fancier's kennel recently sold by auction realized £200, but £25 is not an unusual price for a single dog, while £50, £70 and £80 are almost common. The quaint old town, with its mixed Welsh, English and Flemish population, is almost the hub of the dogs' universe.—Fur News.

Folks, the Big Bargains in Furniture and the Easy Terms Are at Greene's

"Clam" Yourself, Furniture and Carpet Buyers, Calm Yourself.
All this talk you hear about "frenzied furniture sales" doesn't mean that the world is going to blow up or even that Halley's comet is coming back to try to hit us again. As a brain-storm expert would express it, it is a strong case of "Dementia Furniturino." When it has all blown over 'twill be discovered that the sun still shines.

Seriously, the town is flooded with manufactured "Sales" because several stores found their salesmen growing restless and stale through lack of exercise and in desperation are trying to "set the town afire." But say! Thank goodness we weren't born yesterday! You work too hard for your dollars to let "hot air" get 'em away from you. Investigate if you will, BUT BELIEVE US, in the end you'll wind up at "OLD RELIABLE GREENE'S," the safe and sane store that gives you a square deal all the time. No "come ons" here—no frame ups—no tricks of any kind. Just honest goods at honest prices on honest credit terms, where everything's marked with PLAIN-FIGURE PRICES, where everything's exactly as advertised and where the people in back of the business think so much of their reputation and of your intelligence that nothing is done in serving you that isn't in harmony with our motto: "Satisfaction guaranteed to every customer!"

SWEET REFRESHING SLEEP
A soft, elastic felt mattress acts as a tonic on tired nerves and will do more good than the ministrations of an entire medical college. There is rest, exhilaration and new life in this soft elastic mattress. A feeling of complete comfort and soulful content pervades the entire being. The mind and body are rested, and, besides, you're assured that the sanitary bedding is as pure and sweet as the odor from a garden of roses.

CHAPTER IX.

THE DOCTOR SEES LIZE.

LEE VIRGINIA said goodbye to Mrs. Redfield with grateful appreciation of her kindness, and especially of her invitation to come again, and the tears in her eyes profoundly affected the older woman, who, with a friendliness which was something more than politeness, invited her to come again. "Whenever floating Fork gets on your nerves we'll be very glad to rescue you," she said in parting.

Hugh Redfield the girl thoroughly understood and loved, he was so simple hearted and so loyal. On the way to the office he said to Lee, "I will talk to the doctor if you like."

"I wish you would," she responded fervently.

She remained in the machine while he went in, and as she sat there a train passed on its downward eastward run, and a feeling of loneliness, of helplessness, filled her heart. Now that she was within sight of the railway the call of the east, the temptation to escape all her discomforts, was almost great enough to carry her away, but into her mind came the thought of the ranger riding his solitary way, and she turned her face to her own duties once more, comforted by the words of praise he had spoken and by the blaze of admiration in his eyes.

Redfield came out, followed by a small man carrying a neat bag.

"You'd better sit behind, doctor," said Redfield. "I shall be very busy on this trip."

"Very well," replied the other, "if Miss Wetherford remains beside me; otherwise I shall rebel."

He began by asking a few questions about her mother's way of life, but as Lee was not very explicit he became impersonal and talked of whatever came into his mind—motorcars, irrigation, hunting, flowers, anything at all—and the girl had nothing to do but to utter an occasional phrase to show that she was listening. It was all rather depressing to her, for she could not understand how a man so garrulous could be a good physician. She was quite sure her mother would not treat him with the slightest respect.

After all, he talked well. His stream of conversation shortened the way for her. Soon they were rolling quietly up the street to the door of the Wetherford House.

They found Lize on duty behind the counter, as usual. Her face was dejected, her eyes dull, but as she caught sight of the strange little man she cried out, "Why didn't you bring me a man, Reddy?"

"Hush, mother!" cautioned Lee. "This is the famous eastern physician."

"You can't be famous for your beauty; you must be brainy," she remarked to herself in the stranger's hearing. Redfield presented "Dr. Fessenden of Omaha."

She started again on contemptuous ways, but was stopped by the little man. "Get down out of that chair!" he commanded. "My time is money!"

Lize flushed with surprise and anger, but obeyed, and Lee Virginia, secretly delighted with the physician's imperative manner, led the way into the lodging house. "I'll look after the cash, mother," she said. "Don't worry."

"I'm not worrying," she replied. "But what does that little whelp mean by talking to me like that? I'll swat him one if he isn't careful!"

"It's his way. Please don't anger him. You need his help."

The doctor interferred. "Now, madam, strip and let's see what's the matter with you," whereupon he laid off his coat and opened his box of instruments.

Lee fled, and Redfield, who had remained standing beside the counter, could not repress a smile. "She's caught a tartar this time."

"Poor mother! How dreadfully ill she looks today! I hope the doctor will order her to rest."

"But will she obey? I've argued that with her. She keeps saying she will, but she won't."

It was nearly 1, but the customers were coming in, and the girl, laying aside her hat and veil, took her seat at the cash register, while Redfield went out to put his machine in order for the return trip. She realized that she was now at close hand grapple with life.

Her glowing cheeks, her pretty dress made her a shining mark, and the men began at once to improve their opportunity by asking, "Where's Lize?" And this embarrassed her, for the reason that she did not care to go into the cause of her mother's temporary absence.

Perceiving her nervousness, Nell Ballard raised loud outcry over a mistake she made in returning change, and this so confused and angered her that her eyes misted with tears, and she blundered sadly with the next customer. His delight in her discomfiture, his words, his grin, became unendurable, and in a flash of rage and despair she sprang to her feet and left them to make triumphant exit. "I got her rattled," he roared as he went out. "She'll remember me."

The diners were all smiling, and Gregg took a malicious satisfaction in her defeat. She had held herself haughtily apart from him, and he was glad to see her humbled.

Leaving her place behind the counter, she walked through the room with uplifted head and burning eyes, her heart filled with bitterness and fire. She hated the whole town, the whole state at the moment. Were these "the chivalrous short grass knights" she had heard so much about—these large souled "western founders of empire?" At the moment she was in the belief that all the heroes of her childhood had been of the stamp of Nell Ballard.

In the hall her pride, her sense of duty, came back to her, and she halted her fleeing feet. "I will not be beaten," she declared, and her lips straightened. "I will not let these dreadful creatures make a fool of me in that way."

Thereupon she turned and went back, pale now, but resolved to prove herself the mistress of the situation. Fortunately Redfield had returned, and his serene presence helped her to recover complete control of herself. She remained coldly blank to every compliment, and by this means she subdued them.

The doctor, appearing suddenly in the door, beckoned to her, and leaving her place, she crossed to where he stood. "Your mother needs you," he said curtly. "Go to her and keep her quiet for an hour or two if you can."

"What is the matter, doctor?"

"I can't tell you precisely, but you must get her on a diet and keep her there. I will write out some lists for you after my luncheon."

Lee found her mother sitting in such dejection as she had never known her to display, though she fired up sufficiently to say: "That cussed little thimblefinger has been throwing a great big scare into me. He says I've got to get outdoors, live on raw meat and weak tea and walk five miles a day. That's what he says," she added in renewed astonishment at the man's audacity. "Who's at the cash?"

"Mr. Redfield," replied Lee. "I'll go right back."

"No, you won't. I'm no dead horse yet." She struggled to her feet and started for the cash register. "I won't let no little Omaha doughie like that put me out of business."

Despite all warnings she walked out into the dining room and took her accustomed seat with set and stern face.

while her daughter went to the table where the doctor sat and explained her inability to manage her mother.

"That's your problem," he replied coolly. Then rapidly, succinctly and clearly he went over the case and laid out a course of treatment. Out of it all Lee deduced that her mother was very ill indeed, though not in danger of sudden death.

"She's on the chute," said Fessenden, "and everything depends upon her own action whether she takes the plunge this winter or twenty years from now. She's a strong woman, or has been, but she has presumed upon her strength. She used to live out of doors, she tells me, during all her early life, and now, shut in by these walls, working sixteen hours a day, she is killing herself. Get her out if you can and cut out stimulants."

As he rose and approached the counter Lize shoved a couple of gold pieces across the board. "That wipes you off my map," she grimly declared. "I hope you enjoyed your ride."

"It's up to you, madam," he replied, pocketing the gold. "Good day!"

"I'll be down again in a day or two," called Redfield.

The machine began to purr and spit and the wheels to spin, and Lee Virginia was left to face her mother's obstinate resistance alone. She felt suddenly very desolate, very weak and very poor. "What if mother should die?" she asked herself.

Gregg was standing before the counter talking with Lize as Lee returned, and he said, with a broad smile, "I've just been saying I'd take this hotel off your mother's hands provided you went with it."

In the mouths of some men these words would have been harmless enough, but coming from the tongue of one whose life could only be obscurely hinted at the jest was an insult. The girl shuddered with repulsion, and Lize spoke out:

"Now, see here, Bullfrog, I'm dead on the hoof and all that, but neither you nor any other citizen like you can be funny with my girl. She's not for you. Now, that's final! She ain't your kind."

She turned to Lee. "I'm hungry. Where's that grub chart of mine?" Lee brought the doctor's page of notes and read it through, while her mother snorted at intervals: "Hah! Dry toast, weak tea, no coffee, no alcohol. Huh! I might as well starve! Eggs—fish—milk! Why didn't he say boiled live lobsters and champagne? I tell you right now I'm not going to go into that kind of a game. If I die I'm going to die eating what I blame please!"

The struggle had begun. With desperate courage Lee fought, standing squarely in the rut of her mother's daily habit. "You must not live up here any longer," she insisted. "You must get out and walk and ride. I can take care of the house, at least 'til we can sell it." (To be Continued).

NEW COLLEGE BLDGS.

TO BE FINISHED IN 1912

The settlement of details of the erection of the Graduate school, at Princeton, has been submitted to a sub-committee composed of H. B. Thompson, of Wilmington, Del., chairman for the committee of grounds and buildings of the trustees; Moses Taylor Pyne, chairman of the committee on the Graduate school and Dean Andrew F. West, of the Graduate school. It is now expected that work will be commenced in the early spring and the contracts will call for the completion of the buildings, including Thomson Graduate school, the Proctor memorial tower dining hall and the Cleveland memorial tower, by September, 1912.

The buildings, which are already started out, will be erected on the golf links, about 100 yard northwest of the golf club house, and the plans will cause the relocation of the present Pennsylvania railroad station, which will be situated near where the freight station now stands. A broad avenue will be laid out leading from the new Graduate school to the central campus by crossing below the gymnasium and running eastward to the vicinity of the Palmer physical laboratory. The plans of the buildings proper call for a dormitory of square proportions, two or three stories in height, and constructed about a quadrangle. This will be known as Thomson college and will provide accommodations for ninety to one hundred men. A part of the ground floor will be given up to general commons. To the west wing of this dormitory will be added a smaller courtyard, flanked by the Proctor memorial dining hall. A splendid architectural feature of the building will be the Cleveland memorial tower which will be constructed at the southwest corner of the large quadrangle.

The new Graduate school will be purely residential, and while it will not be compulsory that graduate students should reside in Thomson college, it will be found very attractive to do so. Contrary to the theory which Dean West has advocated for a number of years, there will be no separation of the graduate students from the undergraduates of the university. The former is in no sense independent of the latter, but an integral part of it, and, in fact, the crown and completion of the university's system of liberal studies, in which the four-year undergraduate course is, and always will be, the indispensable foundation.

TO PROBE CHARGES

AGAINST OFFICIALS

Councilmen Middledith, Floyd and Evans, appointed by Mayor John A. Dennis, of Westfield, to investigate the charges of Councilman Hohenstein that other members of the council besides himself had sold their goods to the town, have agreed to serve and the much-looked-for investigation may begin in real earnest early next week. Before officially accepting their appointments the committee will have a conference with Attorney Oliver.

From what can be learned the investigation committee intends to get busy next Monday night, when the first public meeting will be held at the Town Hall. The first thing the committee will do will be to summon Councilman Hohenstein before them and ask him who the parties are that sold goods to the town while members of the council.

Councilman Middledith said last night that the investigating committee was not going to be a joke, but a committee which means business, and if the charges are true the practice will be stopped in Westfield.

HERE AND THERE.

Among the relics owned by Plainfielders, perhaps none is prized more highly than one possessed by William H. Shotwell, of Fairview avenue. It is a hammer which was made by Squire Runyon, of Greenbrook, for his father, Freeman Shotwell. The latter gave him the hammer about forty years ago and he has had it ever since. Squire Runyon was the father of Judge Nelson Runyon and grandfather of Former City Judge William N. Runyon. Mr. Shotwell presented the hammer to William N. Runyon today, believing that he will appreciate and value it as he has for so many years.

MAY FIND LAW TO TAX COLD STORAGE FOODS.

If it is lawful to tax coal supplied stored within the State, why is it not lawful to tax the contents of cold storage plants within our borders? This is a question now being investigated by the tax officials of Hudson county.

Tuesday Mark Fagan and Joseph McLean, members of the Hudson County Tax Board, paid a visit to the State house, Trenton, for the purpose of securing a copy of the decision handed down by Judge Reilist in the United States Court a few days ago upholding the right of the municipalities of the State to tax the great supplies of coal stored up here for transportation to other States. They announced that it was their intention to use the decision as a guide to assist them in their investigation of the legality of taxing the great quantities of food supplies for months and years at a time in the storage warehouses in their county. They were of the opinion that an enormous new revenue might be derived by making such assessments. They intimated also that they might turn their attention to the Standard Oil Company's supply of oils stored at Bayonne.

FORT LEAVES SATURDAY FOR A TRIP ABROAD.

Former Governor John Franklin Fort will leave Saturday morning for Europe as the first stage of a trip that will take him practically around the world before he returns to his home.

Mr. Fort will go to Lisbon, Portugal, on the Cleveland, which leaves Hoboken at 11 o'clock Saturday morning. His trip will include a tour of the principle cities of Europe. It is expected that he will be away until the latter part of August.

S. P. C. A. IS IN FAVOR OF STATE CONVENTION

With the idea in view of holding a convention of all State societies of the S. P. C. A., it was decided at a meeting of the Elizabeth district of the society to communicate with all the branches of the association in New Jersey and get their views on the matter.

The society feels that it has done extremely well during the past year and hopes that with the co-operation of the people of Elizabeth more good than ever before can be accomplished.

A report was read at the meeting last night from the American Humane Association, with which the society has become affiliated, stating that the year 1910 has been "red letter" one for the association. The number of anti-cruelty societies in the country had increased from 364 to 415, with a corresponding increase in the work accomplished, 1,347,185 animals having been cared for in the United States during the past year. Humane education has been introduced into all the public schools of Porto Rico and a good beginning has been made in the same direction in the Philippines and Hawaii. A campaign has been carried on in Congress for the more humane transportation of live stock and great work has been done for the reformation of slaughter-house conditions and the fur seal abuse.

BUNN OPPOSES "BUNS."

Introduces Anti-treating Bill to Make All Drink Alone.

If the measure introduced by Assemblyman Bunn, of Morris County, becomes a law it will be unlawful to ask a friend whom you meet in a third cure establishment "what will you have?" The bill introduced by Mr. Bunn is a direct blow at treating in saloons. It is in favor of what is known at the "Dutch treat," that is, every man pay for what he wants and what he gets. Mr. Bunn believes that in this way the number of "buns" carried home will be greatly reduced.

Other bills introduced yesterday were as follows: Mr. Boettner—Gives George W. Stevens, who was injured at an encampment January 28, 1908 a pension of $50 per month.

Mr. Meyer—Repeals the act of April 21, 1909, requiring the issuance of personal licenses to hunt game.

Mr. Thompson—Authorizes town councils by ordinance to establish the office of comptroller therein, who shall be elected by the voters of the town for three-years' term.

Mr. Thompson—Gives Mayors of towns veto powers to be exercised over ordinances when in five days after passage; a two-thirds vote to be necessary to pass over veto.

Mr. Lafferty—Forbids net fishing in the Delaware River below Trenton Falls between sunset Saturday night and midnight Sunday night.

Mr. B. H. White—Amends the act relative to attachment proceedings and the effect as supersedeas of writs issued out of the Supreme and Circuit Court over district and justices' courts.

MAY REDUCE LICENSE FEE IN CITY OF ELIZABETH.

The Elizabeth Board of Excise at its meeting on February 7 will probably take steps to reduce, it is said, the license fee from $500 to $300, which it was formerly.

The saloon-keepers say that the present fee is too high and that many of them cannot make a living if it is kept up.

The board last night, at the request of Rev. Joseph B. Ferguson, pastor of the Greystone Presbyterian church, refused to grant a license transfer from Foley & Middleton, of 32 First street, Elizabethport, to John M. Miller, 60 Casplan street. Foley & Middleton were closed by the Peter Breidt Brewing Company, which holds a lease on it. Miller had the store in his building rented to a grocer, but forced the latter out, intending to run a saloon in the place himself.

Last night's action of the board leaves him with an empty store on his hands. Mr. Ferguson's objection was that no saloon was needed in the neighborhood.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Fericks, of Totenville, S. I., have been entertaining Mrs. Lena Cole, of Westfield.

Miss Gladys Peek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Peck, of Myrtle avenue, is planning a world-round trip in company with friends.

IT WAS NOT REFERRED.

An Instance in Which Abraham Lincoln's Words Were Turned Back Upon Himself.

General Robert Avery, who was wounded almost fatally at Chancellorsville and recovered just in time to lose his right leg at the big on Lookout mountain, told an anecdote of Lincoln which shows the great president's appreciation of the fitness of things and his unflinching fund of humor.

"When I had recovered from the effects of the amputation," said General Avery, "a very dear friend of mine who had served long and faithfully as a regimental quartermaster was an applicant for a position as brigade quartermaster. He filed it with me, and after it had been properly briefed and indorsed I made it my business to put it before the president. There was a long line of people waiting to see Mr. Lincoln when I arrived at the White House; but, seeing I was a wounded man, he came over to me. 'I'll take my turn, Mr. President,' I said, and he turned to receive his visitors.

"The man ahead of me also had a request for an appointment—a letter which Governor Bramlett of Kentucky had indorsed. 'Respectfully referred to President Lincoln,'

"Governor Bramlett requests that I be appointed," said the man from Kentucky. President Lincoln took the letter. 'Why,' exclaimed Mr. Lincoln, 'this doesn't show that Governor Bramlett requests anything. It says simply "Respectfully referred." That means he just passed it along. If you can get Governor Bramlett to request me I'll do it. "Respectfully referred" is only a polite way of getting rid of a person.'

"He was sitting at his desk at the time, settling lower and lower down in his chair until only his head seemed to show. I presented the papers of my friend. He read them and said, 'Why, yes.' Then he wrote on a card, 'Respectfully referred to Mr. Stanton,' the secretary of war.

"This won't do, Mr. President," I said to him. 'Why not?' he asked. 'Because you have just said to that man from Kentucky that "Respectfully referred" is a polite way of getting rid of a person.'

"The president slowly rose out of his deep seated chair until he looked seven feet tall to me, and then he began to laugh. 'You've got me,' said he, and then he wrote on a card, 'Appoint this man.'—New York World.

THE BURYING BEETLE.

Dead Mice and Birds Secreted as Food For Its Young.

People often wonder what becomes of the dead mice and dead birds, for, though birds and mice are constantly dying in large numbers, hardly one is ever to be seen. The fact is that they are buried by beetles. Buchner gives a brief account of them as follows:

"Several of them unite together to bury under the ground, as food and shelter for their young, some dead animal, such as a mouse, a toad, a mole, a bird, etc. The burial is performed because the corpse, if left above ground, would either dry up or grow rotten or be eaten by other animals. In all these cases the young would perish, whereas the dead body lying in the earth and withdrawn from the outer air lasts very well.

"The burying beetles go to work in a very well considered fashion, for they scrape away the earth lying under the body so that it sinks of itself deeper and deeper. When it is deep enough it is covered over from above. If the situation is stony, the beetles, with united forces and great efforts, drag the corpse to some place more suitable for burying. They work so diligently that a mouse, for instance, is buried within three hours. But they often work on for days, so as to bury the body as deeply as possible. From large carcasses, such as those of horses, sheep, etc., they only bury pieces as large as they can manage."

There can be no doubt of the intelligence of these strange insects, as a gentleman discovered in a rather curious way. He desired to dry a dead toad, and for that purpose he fastened it upon the top of an upright stick. The burying beetles, however, were soon attracted by the smell, and, finding that they could not reach the toad, they undermined the stick, causing it to fall with the toad, which was then duly buried.—Our Animal Friends.

A Comforting Word.

A woman whose colored maid was assisting her in trying on a handsome new gown the other day got a shock when, after looking in the pier glass and admiring her really handsome figure as displayed in the new garment, she remarked to the girl:

"Julia, all I need now is a new face."

"Deed, Mrs. Dyer," replied the colored girl, "I wouldn't worry if I was you. I saw a lady the other day no better lookin' than you are."—New York Press.

Time to Do Something.

Mrs. Mimms—Mary, it was 1 o'clock this morning when you got in. I heard you. Mary—Well, ma'am, if I was you I'd take something to make me sleep better. I took my shoes off down in the kitchen and didn't make no more noise than a cat would. I've been kind of worried about you for a good while."

Satisfied.

Mrs. Skowier—You will have to go, Mary. I can't put up with your impertinence any longer. I'm sorry I can't give you a recommendation. Mary—It's all right, mem. My leaving alive will be all the recommend I need.—Boston Transcript.
