TRINITY'S TURKEY TREAT

Three Hundred and Forty People Enjoy Annual Supper.

TO BE REPEATED TONIGHT.

Chinese Laundry, Fancy, Cake and Other Tables Largely Patronized—Mrs. E. T. VanWinkle General Chairman.

No weather however bad can keep the people away from Trinity Reformed church when their annual turkey supper is announced to take place. Last night was no exception to the rule and the supper room in the lecture room of the church was filled with a hungry and anxious assemblage whose appetites were soon assuaged with the best supper yet arranged by the indefatigable women workers of the church.

No less than 340 suppers were served last night and the big hum of conversation which one heard was nothing but the praise being bestowed upon the excellent cooking and splendid service. The supper was served under the supervision of Mrs. E. T. VanWinkle and under the auspices of the Ladies' Christian Work Society of the church.

The supper was not the only thing to attract the diners. Side attractions which included a Chinese laundry, cake, candy, apron and fancy tables, all had their patrons and turned in comfortable sums to the treasury of the society. Particularly was this true of the laundry in charge of Miss Etta Raybert, assisted by Mrs. H. C. Van Emburgh and Mrs. C. M. Dolliver. The scheme was novel and brought results hardly anticipated by the women. Imitation laundry checks were freely distributed among the diners who were instructed to obtain their laundry at the booth for a nominal sum. The packages were worth all that was charged for them and every body including the "laundrymen" was pleased.

Assisting Mrs. VanWinkle, general chairman, were: Reception committee, Mrs. Eliza A. Parse, Mrs. William A. Woodruff, Mrs. Bergen D. Newell and Mrs. Henry VanName; supper room, Mrs. Anna E. Gillem, Mrs. Virginia Chickering, Mrs. Joseph Angerbauser, Mrs. Norman Sears, Mrs. P. K. Dilts, Mrs. Jesse Miller, Mrs. George W. Coles, Mrs. Frank E. Sowden, Mrs. C. W. Higgins, Mrs. Abram Van Cleef, Mrs. John L. Dolliver, Mrs. Van Nest, Mrs. John Ross, Mrs. G. Q. Dolliver and Mrs. Louis Neuman.

The cake table was attended by Mrs. Lafayette Rosenstiel, Mrs. B. Frank Coriell, Mrs. William Addis, Mrs. J. C. VanDeke and Mrs. Philip Vroom; candy, Miss Minnie Williams, Miss Lillian A. Force, Mrs. Emma Smith and Mrs. James T. MacMurray; aprons, Mrs. William Vandevanter, Mrs. Edward J. Cooley, Mrs. Winifred Schomp; fancy table, Mrs. James C. Field and Mrs. Anna Daggett; cake and pie room, Mrs. R. N. Layton, Mrs. R. Stevens, Mrs. Helen Huff, Mrs. R. V. Kinney and Miss Isabelle Hall.

The dining tables were in charge of the following: Mrs. John Beckman, assisted by Miss Leithaus, Miss H. Leithaus, Miss Clara Allen and Miss Koller; Mrs. Henry B. Paul, assisted by Mrs. David Krymer, Mrs. Arthur S. Cole, Miss Edna Cole and Miss Dufford; Mrs. Theodore R. VanZandt, assisted by Miss VanZandt and Miss M. VanZandt; and Miss Mand McAffee; Mrs. H. R. Templin, assisted by Misses Margaret Leggett, Helen Smith and Emily Templin; Mrs. P. A. Van Fleet assisted by Misses G. Enander, E. Enander, May VanFleet and Miss Smith; Mrs. P. A. Emmons, assisted by Misses Edith Bird, Edna Oliver, Edith Richards and Miss Hummel; Mrs. L. B. VanCamp with these assistants: Misses Edna Cole, Helen Crane, Mabel VanDerhoef and Margaret Neal; Mrs. Frank Storr, assisted by Misses Olive Bird, Margaret VanDeventer, Eryna Hoerster and Janette Neal.

John Beckman and A. K. Willett had charge of the coat room; Frank P. Storr looked after the door and William H. Pope raked in the shavings at the cashier's table. There are still a few pounds of the 429 pounds of turkey to be eaten and the supper will be continued tonight for the purpose of serving those who failed to get in on the good things last night. The other attractions will be restocked so that nobody need feel that he or she has been neglected.

Panhandler Banished.
Thomas Carroll, aged forty years, of Pittsburgh, panhandled just once too often in this city yesterday and was arrested by Patrolman Flynn. He was banished from town by City Judge DeMeza this morning.

PUBLIC INSTALLATION OF ARCANUM OFFICERS

The first public installation of officers of Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum, was held last night, when the council entertained in addition to Grand Regent Theodore S. Class, of Westfield, and several other State officers, its women friends. During the evening, following the impressive installation ceremonies, there were excellent addresses by Grand Regent Class, Grand Deputy Anderson, Hugh A. Todd, George M. Christian and D. W. Littell.

These officers were installed by Grand Deputy Anderson: Past Regent, H. W. Satterfield; vice-regent, Hugh I. Todd; orator, George M. Christian; guide, R. G. Hudson; secretary, L. V. P. Wilson; treasurer, D. W. Littell; collector, Edward T. VanWinkle. There were a few officers absent and they will be installed later.

After the business of the evening and the addresses, there was a fine musical program, including a number of banjo solos by Fred VanEps and piano and violin selections by James Denny, which delighted the audience. A feature was the rendition of selections on a phonograph by Mr. Glover, of this city.

The committee in charge of the affair comprised George M. Christian, chairman; Howard W. Satterfield, R. G. Hudson, Robert H. Lowry, A. I. Littell, William T. Carr, Theodore J. Shirley, Marion L. Bullock and L. V. P. Wilson.

MAYOR PUTS A STOP TO STREET LOITERING

Acting on the complaint of citizens, Mayor Moy this morning instructed the police to stop loitering on public thoroughfares. At certain points on Front street and Second street loitering has been allowed to exist for some time and it is to put an end to the practice that the mayor has taken prompt action. Some disappointment has been expressed by members of the force over the fact that it is improbable that the police board will act favorably on their petition for higher wages.

Setting at rest any doubts as to the Mayor's official relation to the police department, Mr. Moy explained today that by provision of the law he is executive head of the city and is therefore head of all departments including the police. In such capacity he intends to conduct his administration. The Police Committee, of which Councilman Randolph is chairman, has only such authority in police matters as it exercises through its membership on the police board. The police board consists of the Mayor, President of the Common Council and the Councilmanic police committee. By virtue of his office, the Mayor is head of the Police Board.

THEY GET DAMAGES FROM AUTO OWNERS.

In the suit of Mrs. Philomena Vieler and Louis Roeder against Mrs. Bertha Briggs and William Briggs, of Murray Hill, tried yesterday in the District Court before William Newcorn the complainants were awarded damages. Mrs. Vieler received $100 and Roeder $25.

The suit was the outcome of an automobile accident in September last on the road between here and Scotch Plains. Mrs. Briggs' defense was that the steering gear of her car broke and she lost control.

Clever Show at Proctor's
"Mr. and Mrs. Robinson," is the title of a clever sketch offered at Proctor's theatre by a company of four. There are many clever and amusing situations. Robert's rat circus is one of the best novel animal acts presented in a long time. Miss Mildred Flora, a clever singing comedienne, and Victor, the boy ventriloquist, complete a fine bill.

Harry Feinberg Sells Out.
Harry Feinberg, proprietor of the Blue Front clothing store, on West Front street, has disposed of the business to Louis Berstein, of West Fourth street, having purchased a thirty acre farm at Spring Valley, N. Y., where he will engage in the poultry business.

—Neuman Bros. sell only the finest butter, including the famous Rockdale print and creamery, and the prices are much lower than formerly.

Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, will preach Sunday morning on the topic: "The Model Church," and in the evening his theme will be: "Manassah." The ordinance of baptism will follow the evening service.

DEATH OF B. F. KRAFFT

Passed Away Alone in His Room at Mt. Clemens, Mich., Sanitarium.

PNEUMONIA PROVED FATAL.

Retired Iron Merchant Had Gone West for Treatment for Rheumatism—He Leaves Two Children.

Benjamin F. Krafft, aged about fifty-three years, who resided at Woodland avenue and Seventh street, for the past two years, died on Wednesday in a sanitarium at Mt. Clemens, Mich., where he had gone for treatment for rheumatism with which he suffered a recent attack. He had been ill with a heavy cold, resembling grip, when rheumatism developed. Deciding to go to Mt. Clemens he got up from his sick bed a week ago today to make the trip.

Mr. Krafft arrived at Mt. Clemens on Saturday. Friends here received a letter from him early in the week, stating that the trip had greatly tired him, but he thought he would improve. It is the opinion among friends here that Mr. Krafft's death was due to pneumonia, which may have developed after exposing himself on the trip. He was found dead in his bed by one of the attaches of the institution.

Mr. Krafft was an iron merchant for a great many years. He removed here from Titusville, Pa., two years ago, where he lived the greater part of his life. He was a personal and warm friend of Louis K. Hyde and Charles L. Hyde, both of whom resided at Titusville. He possessed a great many excellent qualities and was admired by those who knew him. After coming to Plainfield his wife, who had been an invalid for years, died, leaving him a son and a daughter, and a son, Franklin, aged about twelve years, who is a student at the Montclair Military Academy.

A year ago the daughter was married to George Heny, of Titusville, and she and her husband are now living in Ohio. While a resident here Mr. Krafft attended St. Stephen's church. No particulars have been received regarding the funeral, but it is believed that the remains will be taken to Titusville for burial.

SYSTEMATIC "KICKS" WIN, SAYS GOVERNOR

At a welfare conference in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium at Trenton last night, held in connection with the "Know Your City Week," now being conducted in Trenton, Governor Wilson made a brief address. In part he said:

"If people systematically kick they will get something.

"You are just as big as the things you do and as small as the things that you leave undone. The size of your life is the scale of your thinking. You should not be content with merely knowing your city, but should act upon this knowledge. Excellent as is Trenton, there is doubtless much room for improvement. I am honored to be called upon to take part in such a campaign as this, and I shall be glad to do my part, if not as a citizen, at least as a denizen of Trenton."

Ex-Judge Crane Very Ill.

Former Judge John William Crane is seriously ill at his residence in Union Township, just outside of Elizabeth. He has been confined to his bed for five days. He is seventy-six years old. Judge Crane is one of the best known men in Union county, where he was born and his father before him. He was appointed a Union county judge by the late Governor Werts and for years has been treasurer of the Union County Democratic executive committee. He runs a large farm in Union township and is engaged in the real estate business in Elizabeth.

Dr. Gesswein's Auto Damaged.

While Dr. C. A. Gesswein's automobile was standing in front of his office on Central avenue yesterday afternoon at 12:30, a car driven by a chauffeur for Mrs. E. Marsh, of West Seventh street, dashed around the corner and ran into the Doctor's car smashing the hood and one of the wheels. The accident was caused by the Marsh car skidding against the curb owing to wet pavement.

Mrs. Binn's Funeral.

The funeral of Mrs. Edith Ann Binn, who died Wednesday morning, will be held tonight at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Gates, of East Third street. Rev. F. D. Tildon will officiate and the service will be private. The body will be sent to Bordentown tomorrow for interment.

ANOTHER PLAYGROUND AT THE IRVING SCHOOL

At the meeting of the Playground Commission yesterday afternoon in the office of Mayor George W. V. Moy, it was decided to furnish the Irving school ground with apparatus for the children and it will be ready in all probability when the summer season sets in. It was also determined to open another ground as soon as a suitable one can be found.

The Mayor said in commenting upon the playground scheme that he is heartily in favor of it, and will do all in his power to aid in the establishment of ground. Stillman Field will probably be ready for the use of the city by May 30. Every effort is being made to have it ready for the opening on that date.

LOCAL MEN PURCHASE THE BEATON PROPERTY

The former George A. Beaton property at Watchung and Hillside avenues, has been purchased by Clifford D. Manning and Walter F. Manning. They propose to make two dwellings of the present partially completed structure on the premises and divide the ground into lots. The place has a frontage of 600 feet on Hillside avenue and 265 feet on Watchung.

The property was originally bought several years ago by George A. Beaton, who resided at the time on West Seventh street. It was his intention to erect one of the handsomest residences in that part of the city and work was well underway when he met with business reverses. All operations were suspended and the place has since remained incomplete. The house was all but completed outside of the interior finishing. It is said that the deal resulted in a loss to Mr. Beaton of $20,000.

COMMITTEE DECIDES TO OIL THE STREETS

The Councilmanic street committee held its first meeting of the year, last night, to discuss plans for street and sewer work. Reports of progress were received regarding the present sewer work underway in the west end, and that the work on the pumping station being erected at West Fourth street and Monroe avenue, was being pushed. It is reported that the station will be completed within two months, especially because the contractor is not meeting with as much trouble from water conditions as was expected on Randolph road. Contractor Christie, of Newark, is in charge of the work.

There was also a discussion at it of macadamizing work this summer. It is the purpose of the committee to repair a number of streets and put them in first-class condition. No doubt the plan of oiling the streets as a dust preventative, will be continued, it having given general satisfaction. During the meeting, Mayor Moy dropped in for a few minutes, but did not take any part in the matters under discussion. The budget will be taken up at another meeting.

BEREAN STUDY CLASS ELECTS NEW OFFICERS.

The Men's Berean Bible Study class of Warren chapel at its annual meeting last night, elected these officers for the ensuing year: President, Charles F. Windham; vice-president, Peter A. VanFleet; secretary, Russell Hoagland; treasurer, Henry Irving Dressel.

Reports of the year disclosed the fact that the class is in a flourishing condition, over $85 having been raised and distributed during the past twelve months. A social hour followed at which refreshments were served by the entertainment committee under the direction of Alfred J. Everitt.

Seventh-Day Baptist Church Notes.

"The Second Coming of Christ," will be the theme of the discourse by Rev. Edwin Shaw, pastor, at the Seventh-Day Baptist church, tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock. At the prayer-meeting this evening the pastor will be assisted by Franklin A. Langworthy. Miss Margaret Kimball will lead the Junior C. E. Society meeting tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. The subject of home missions in the United States in the East and North will be the topic of the Senior C. E. society meeting tomorrow afternoon. The missionary committee will be in charge.

HIGHWAYMEN ON TROLLEY

Hold up Conductor Holland at Revolver Point and Get Day's Receipts.

WHILE CAR SPEEDS ALONG.

Robbers Make Off in Woods Near Roselle and Leave no Trace—Only Meagre Description is Obtained.

Two highwaymen held up a trolley car conductor at the point of their revolvers on Westfield avenue, Roselle, last night, securing the day's receipts, $25 from the conductor James P. Holland and nearly frightening him to death. After securing the money they jumped from the car and disappeared in the bushes. The holdup occurred while the car was in motion and motorman James J. Reilly knew nothing of the occurrence until Holland pulled the bell and stopped the car.

This is the first case of the kind occurring in Union county in twenty years and was so successful that but meagre descriptions of the two robbers were obtained by the conductor. One, he declared, wore a light overcoat and light soft hat and was about five feet and a half tall, while his companion was dressed in dark clothing and wore a derby hat. Neither was over 25 years old, but both appeared to be adept hands at the business.

The men took seats in the car at Aldene just as ordinary passengers would, and there was nothing about their appearance to indicate that they were desperadoes. After passing the line between Roselle and Aldene, the two men went to the rear platform presumably to smoke, but after closing the door behind them they pulled revolvers and holding them at Holland's head demanded all the money he had. Holland had no alternative but to hand over the day's receipts.

The holdup was reported to the Elizabeth police and immediate search was begun along the line for the two men, but up to this afternoon no trace of them had been discovered.

ALLEGED PICKPOCKETS TAKEN INTO CUSTODY

James Murray, twenty-eight years old, who says he lives in Binghamton, N. Y., and Joseph Kerr, of New York city, were taken from the 1:30 eastbound trolley at Park avenue and Front street today on complaint of James Patterson, of this city, who accuses the men of being implicated in robbing him of his pocketbook containing between twenty-five and thirty dollars.

Patrolman Messler took both men to police headquarters, where they were thoroughly searched. Neither the money nor the pocketbook was found, but the pair were locked up for a hearing tomorrow morning. It is believed by the police that there were other confederates of Murray and Kerr on the car and that the pocketbook was passed along until the one getting it jumped to the street and made a safe getaway.

THE WEATHER.

Rain tonight or Saturday. Maximum, 39; minimum, 35.

Boys' Club Issues Calendar.

The Junior Boys' Club of Hope chapel has distributed an attractive calendar for 1911. The subject is "Ruth of Biblical History." It gives the date of the meeting every Wednesday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock at Hope chapel and the officers are as follows: Leader, Charles G. August; president, Harold M. Eckert; vice-president, Charles Rice; treasurer, Harry Anderson; secretary, Harry Shiley. Calendars can be had upon application to Charles G. August, 925 West Fourth street.

Plan for Entertainment.

The Men's Association of the Church of the Heavenly Rest held its semi-monthly business meeting in the parish house, last night, when only routine matters were considered. It was decided to hold an entertainment at the next meeting, Thursday night, February 9, and Thomas M. Muir will be engaged to furnish part of the program. Before adjournment last night refreshments were served and a smoker enjoyed.

Mrs. Lizzie Flippin.

Mrs. Lizzie Flippin, wife of Julius Flippin, died last night at the residence of her sister, Mrs. Bettie Pollard, 504 West Third street. The funeral service will be held at the Mt. Olive Baptist church, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. M. W. Vaughn, the pastor, will officiate.

"Sammy" Rothenberg, Plainfield's well known diminutive actor, returned to the city, yesterday after a three months' engagement with the Gnome Motion Picture Company at Nepara Park, N. Y., near Syracuse. With forty other people he posed for moving picture films, acting various parts for the screen comedies and dramas. The Plainfielder participated mostly in Lilliputian roles, being but four feet five inches in height. His partner as a rule was Miss Addie Franck, a tiny actress of thirty-two inches stature. The two will probably go into vaudeville as soon as their contract with the picture company expires as the present rest is only due to bad weather, making outdoor work impossible.

Mr. Rothenberg came home with a severe cold the result of an accident while enacting a scene. He was supposed to be a cave dweller pursued by hunters and had to run over an old tree trunk spanning a brook. In his hurry to get across he made a misstep and fell into the stream, presenting a good scene but one not intended for the story. Bathing in a New York State stream at this season of the year is not a warm proposition and when "Sammy" was fished out his teeth chattered like castanets. He was wrapped up in blankets but the cold still serves to remind him of his icy plunge. Rothenberg is known to the stage world as Sam Woods.

SCHWARTZMAN WANTED TO DROP HIS COMPLAINT

When Judge William G. DeMeza took his seat this morning in the city court to hear the case of the State against Abraham Schwartzman and Charles Kurtzman who were charged by Max Schwartzman with conspiring to defraud him, the latter caused a sudden postponement of the trial by calling Counselor William A. Coddington into the case rather abruptly after having notified his first lawyer, Robert Newton Crane, that he had determined not to prosecute the two alleged conspirators.

Judge DeMeza was rather surprised at the turn of affairs and sought an explanation. Judge Newcorn, for his clients, A. Schwartzman and Kurtzman, said that Mr. Crane was not on hand because the complainant in the case had so notified him, but that he did not propose to submit to any such summary action as his clients had been publicly accused as criminals. He said he thought the case should be brought up again in the regular way and his clients receive the fullest vindication and as publicly as they had been accused.

Judge DeMeza agreed with Judge Newcorn and set the case down for another hearing on Monday morning, ordering Max Schwartzman to have his lawyer in court and the case ready.

LOSES HACK LICENSE FOR SHOOTING CRAP.

For playing craps and fighting in the cellar of the North avenue station, William Bird, William Clarkson and Lemuel Donaldson, were arraigned yesterday afternoon before Judge William G. DeMeza. Clarkson and Bird were fined three dollars each and Donaldson was mulcted $5 besides having his license as cab driver revoked. Donaldson was convicted of fighting last week and warned at the time that a repetition of the offense would cost him his license.

John C. Crater.

John C. Crater, formerly of this city, whose critical illness was reported a few days ago, died last night at 5:50 at his home, 121 New street, Newark. He had been ill a long time. Mr. Crater was the father of Mrs. John Tier, Jr., and was a faithful member of Trinity Reformed church. He was well-known here. The funeral will be held at the late residence in Newark, Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, and the burial will be in Hillside cemetery, this city, Monday morning on the arrival of the train leaving Newark at 9:02.

Past Chiefs' Banquet.

The Past Chiefs' Association of the Knights of the Golden Eagle, of this district, will hold a district meeting at the rooms of Freedom Castle, No. 42, Knights of the Golden Eagle, this evening, after which a banquet will be held at the Waldorf Hotel. The association has a membership of nearly seventy and fifty are expected to be present tonight. They will come from New Brunswick, Somerville and this city.

MARTINE'S CREDENTIALS

Governor's Committee to Present Certificate to Senator—Elect Today.

AN INFORMAL CEREMONY.

Escort Committee Appointed by Martine—Fowler, Haskill and Others Send Congratulations.

United States Senator-elect James E. Martine, this afternoon will receive the certificate of election as a successor to John Kean, beginning March 4. The certificate was properly engrossed in the Secretary of State's office yesterday and Governor Wilson signed it, as required by law, just before he left the State House for the day.

The parchment on which was inscribed the authority for Mr. Martine to become a member of the United States Senate will be presented to him at his bed side at his home in Kensington avenue, where he is now convalescing from a severe attack of the grippe, by a delegation of four Democrats selected by Governor Wilson.

They are Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary to the Governor; Judge Mark A. Sullivan, of the Court of Errors and Appeals; Brigadier-General D. F. Collins, Democratic State Committee-man from Union county, and William W. St. John, who personally induced Mr. Martine to become a candidate for Senate in the direct primaries, and who, together with the other three Democrats has been active in aiding the campaign in favor of legislative acquiescence in the direct primary principle.

It was first intended that Senator-elect Martine should receive his certificate of election at the State House, but on account of the fact that he will not be able to be about until the latter part of next week, Governor Wilson decided to send it to him at once in the manner described.

The Governor's committee will be met at the North Avenue station on the arrival of the 5:18 train this afternoon by friends of Mr. Martine, selected by himself, who will act as an escort. They include Mayor G. W. V. Moy, A. H. Atterbury, LeRoy J. Ellis, former Mayor Charles J. Flak, James F. Buckle, William L. Saunders, John A. Gaffney and David T. Kenney. The party will be driven at once to the Martine home.

Late yesterday afternoon, Mr. Martine sent a reply to the telegram of congratulation received from former United States Senator James Smith, Jr., "I thank you for your good wishes," wired Martine, "and am happy to say I am rapidly approaching normal health. So far as the contest just ended is concerned, it was not a struggle between individuals for the attainment of an office, but for the preservation of a principle greater than either of us."

Hundreds of letters and many telegrams continue to be received by the Senator, but if will be some days before he can go through them all much less answer them. Today, Mr. Martine is considerably improved. He is much vexed that he cannot get about for staying abed wears on him.

One letter of congratulation which particularly pleased the senator was from Congressman Charles N. Fowler. There were others from former Governor Haskill, of Oklahoma; E. S. Murphree, of Lincoln, Neb.; President of the State Senate, E. R. Ackerman, of this city; Judge Collins, of Brooklyn; Rev. P. J. Smith, of Jersey City, formerly of this city; State Senator Silzer, of Middlesex county and Horace F. Drake, of Washington, D. C.

United States Senator-elect Martine will take his seat in the Upper Federal House on March 4 next. The term is for a period of six years, and the salary is $7,500 per annum, with an additional allowance of twenty cents per mile for traveling to and from Washington. To Mr. Martine it will mean an equivalent of $10,000 a year for six years, or $60,000. He is also given a liberal allowance for a secretary. Governor Wilson's term is for three years. He receives a salary of $10,000 a year, but is not allowed any fees as perquisites whatever. Senator Frank O. Briggs, the other New Jersey representative in the Upper House, was elected in 1907, and his term therefore does not expire until 1913.

NEWS OF THE WORLD FOR THE BUSY MAN

Sir Charles Wentworth Dilke died in London.

Stocks were strong on a light volume of trading yesterday.

Tom L. Johnson, former Mayor of Cleveland, was reported to be gradually growing weaker.

Owing to the prevalence of the plague in North China, railway traffic has been practically suspended.

Commissioner Fosdick reported to Mayor Gaynor extravagances in the management of Ludlow street jail.

Senator Nelson A. Aldrich, who is seeking rest at Jekyll Island, Ga., was reported much improved in health.

John Mooney testified as an expert before the Railroad Securities Commission in Chicago, favoring federal regulation.

A Canadian reciprocity agreement was sent to Congress by President Taft, with a message urging its prompt approval.

The police raided an alleged gambling house in Fourth avenue, New York, and arrested twelve of the 123 men found there.

The jury in the Schenck poisoning case reported at Wheeling, W. Va., that an agreement was impossible and was discharged.

Judge Kimbrough, instigator of the Danville, Ill., vote selling inquiry was himself a witness before the grand jury; he denied that he had bought votes.

No trace was found of missing Dorothy Arnold, and the police sent circulars broadcast, giving her description, pictures and offering $1,000 reward for news of her.

It was said at Albany that Charles F. Murphy had abandoned William F. Sheehan and that there would be a change in the situation early next week.

The Turkish commissioners now at Bremerhaven, Germany, purchased two vessels from the North German Lloyd Line; they will be used as transports.

John R. Mott and Silas McElree left London on a four months' mission, the object of which is to bring the Eastern and Western churches into closer relations.

Roger Sommer took up six passengers in his biplane, establishing a world's record for a cross-country flight with passengers and a new mark for total weight lifted.

The Belgian Minister of the Colonies read to the Chamber of Deputies in Brussels a report from an American missionary saying conditions in the Congo had been greatly improved.

The New York Central proposed to the Board of Estimate to bridge the interruption of Park avenue, making that thoroughfare continuous in exchange for additional sub-surface rights at the new terminal.

Richard Strauss' first comic opera, "Der Rosenkavalier," was given its first presentation in Dresden before a distinguished audience; the composer was called before the curtain twenty-five times by the approving audience.

The body of Mrs. Mary Eddy Baker was removed from the receiving tomb and buried in a lot in Mount Auburn Cemetery, Cambridge, Mass.; about thirty friends, including the directors of the Christian Science church, witnessed the burial.

Congress.—Senate: The legislative executive and judicial appropriation bill was passed; Mr. Shively spoke against ocean mail subvention and Mr. Cummins on the Lorimer case. House: An inquiry into delay in printing the Ballinger-Pinchot report was ordered.

GRADUATE SCHOOL TO BE READY SEPT. 1912.

The settlement of the details of the erection of the Graduate School at Princeton has been submitted to a sub-committee composed of H. B. Thompson, of Wilmington, Del., chairman of the committee on grounds and buildings of the trustees; Moses Taylor Pyne, chairman of the committee on the Graduate School, and Dean Andrew F. West, of the Graduate School. It is now expected that work will be commenced in the early spring and the contracts will call for the completion of the building, including Thomson Graduate School, the Proctor memorial dining hall and the Cleveland memorial tower, by September, 1912.

The new Graduate School will be purely residential, and while it will not be compulsory that graduate students should reside in Thomson College, it will be found very attractive to do so. Contrary to the theory which Dean West has advocated for a number of years, there will be no separation of the graduate students from the undergraduates of the university.

Mrs. Theodore J. Shirley, of Orchard place, has recovered from an attack of the grip.

Walter Zimmer, of Manning avenue, has returned from a visit with relatives in Brooklyn.

Louis VanZandt, of Fairview avenue, who has been on a business trip in the west, has returned home.

Jack Cannon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Cannon, of Somerset street, has recovered from a recent illness.

Mrs. Louise Morel, who underwent an operation for appendicitis at Muhlenberg Hospital two weeks ago, has improved so nicely that she has been able to return home, but it will still be several weeks before she will be able to go around again.

The last quarterly conference of the Methodist church, will be held in the church tonight, at 8 o'clock. District Superintendent, Rev. Mr. Randolph, of Plainfield, will preside.

Lyness Walpole, Jr., of Park avenue, leaves next week for Metuchen, where he has taken a position as clerk in the Mansion House.

Evelyn, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Johnson, who has been seriously ill, is reported as improving.

The annual township report will be ready for distribution among the taxpayers about the middle of next week.

Mrs. Otto Peterson, of Newark, has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Benjamin Clark, of Prospect avenue.

Edward Heath has returned from a visit with out of town friends.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The choir of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church will sing the "Stabat Mater," Sunday evening.

The young men of the Park Avenue Baptist church are planning for an entertainment to be held Monday night.

Mrs. F. H. Beals has taken Mrs. Frank Vail's place in the elementary department of the Park Avenue Baptist Sunday-school, the latter having gone south.

The women's day of prayer for missions will be held in the Park Avenue Baptist church, Friday, February 10. The women of the local Baptist churches have been invited.

The Sunday-school of the Park Avenue Baptist church will have charge of the mid-week prayer-meeting, Wednesday evening, February 15. Superintendent George E. Hall is now at work on the program.

PERSONAL

Harry Jackson, of Grove street, who has been detained at home for the past two weeks with grip, has recovered.

Mrs. Roswell Hoar, of Fairview avenue, who underwent an operation at her home a month ago, is rapidly improving.

James Fitzgerald, of this city, who injured his shoulder, the result of an accident a month ago, is steadily improving.

Miss Ida Altemus, of this city, has returned after spending a month visiting relatives in Clinton, Hunterdon county.

Mr. and Mrs. John O' Mara, of Rockview avenue, have returned home after spending two weeks in a pleasure trip to Bermuda.

Mrs. Charles Hebbard, of Syracuse, N. Y., has returned after spending the past week with her sister, Mrs. M. H. Ewart, of Fairview avenue.

GIVES $50,000 TO UNIVERSITY.

Mrs. Florence O. R. Lang, wife of Henry Lang, of 99 South Fullerton avenue, Montclair, has presented $50,000 to Cornell University for the erection of a building in which to house shops in connection with the Sibley College of Mechanical Engineering. The gift by Mrs. Lang was made in memory of her father, Jasper Raymond Rand; her uncle, Addison Crittenden Rand, and her brother, Jasper Raymond Rand, Jr. The latter was a graduate of Sibley College of the university, class of 1897. The father and uncle were the owners of the Rendrook Powder Company and the founders of the Rand Drill Works.

The Rand family located in Montclair many years ago. One of the most beautiful parks in the mountain, Rand Park, was given to the municipality by Jasper Rand. A carved stone seat in front of the First Congregational church is a testimonial of the liberality of his widow, herself since deceased. The $20,000 swimming pool at the Military Academy, with other gifts toward educational work, were made by an aunt of Mrs. Lang now residing in California.

Nearly two years ago Mrs. Lang gave $50,000, now in the hands of the Montclair Art Association, to build a combined art gallery and museum. This structure will be erected in the near future, as soon as a site for its location can be selected. It will be known as the Rand Museum and one room will be set apart as a testimonial to Mrs. Rand, Mrs. Lang's mother.

The new building at Cornell will be of reinforced concrete and will be located east of the present shops of the college. Work on its construction will be begun as soon as plans are completed. This will be the first of three buildings which the university trustees consider essential to the development of Sibley College.

SPENT $200 TRYING TO PAY DEBT OF $10.

During the past seven years the Postoffice Department has spent $200 in a fruitless attempt to pay a debt of $10. The creditor has not been located and the officials of the department have no reason to believe that he will be found in the next seven years, but they will keep the search going.

George W. Weart, postmaster of Deal, N. J., in 1903, paid the government $10 to make good the loss of a package. Two years later the package was found, and an investigation showed that it never arrived at Deal. In the meantime Mr. Weart died.

Then the long chase started. His only heir were two sons, both of whom had gone west. James T. Weart, the older son, was traced through the middle west, but all trace of him was lost at Bakersville, Cal. Another son, George S. Weart, was believed to have located in Butte, Mont., during the latter part of December, but the letter came back unopened.

John Ward, Son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ward, of Clinton avenue, is ill with an attack of scarlet fever. Dr. F. J. Hughes is in attendance.

nual meeting," says Mr. Calkins.

"Bylaw 10 was amended contrary to the wishes of the Garden City club and a few other clubs. Of course, Mr. Ward followed instructions and voted against this great reform, which finally, is an accomplished fact. Hereafter we do not play golf by the St. Andrews rules. If St. Andrews should amend the rules tomorrow the change would not be in force in this country. We now have our own rules—namely, the St. Andrews revision of 1908 which we approved; in fact, which we participated in making. We have now adopted that revision as our own code, and unless we amend it of our volition there will be no further change made."

GOLF.

Leighton Calkins, president of the Plainfield Country Club, takes exception to a recent statement by John M. Ward, relative to the much discussed question of golf, threshed out at the meeting of the United States

Golf Association. He says that Mr. Ward's statements are misleading. In that he says that as a delegate from the Garden City Golf Club, he was under instructions to bring about the retention of the Schnectady putter. Mr. Calkins challenges that assertion, claiming that Mr. Ward was under instructions to oppose any amendment of Article 10 of the by-laws. He further claims that the Garden City club instructions were silent on the Schnectady putter.

Change in Billing "Foreign Messages."

FOLLOWING the suggestion of many of our subscribers, that bills for tolls, or "foreign messages," be rendered as promptly as possible, we are adopting a new method of billing for such messages. Heretofore charges for "foreign messages" sent during any month have appeared on the bill for the second month following, or, some thirty days after the "foreign messages" were sent. After a careful study of the whole accounting problem, a change has been decided upon, by which the billing of "foreign messages" will be brought up to within ten days of the end of the month during which messages were sent.

To make this change effective at once, and to bring the billing up to date, the bills to be sent out February 1st will carry charges for "foreign messages" for the month of December, under the old method, and up to and including January 20th, under the new method. Subsequent bills will cover charges for "foreign messages" from the 21st of one month up to and including the 20th of the next month. For instance, the March 1st bill will include such charges from January 21st up to and including February 20th.

In addition to bills being rendered as promptly as possible after the "foreign messages" are sent, a memorandum will accompany the bill showing the dates on which the "foreign messages" were sent. The additional data will aid the subscriber in checking his accounts.

MARKET & HALSEY STS.

Denver, Brooklyn, New York, Newark

A Denver woman, unable to match a certain piece of goods in her city, sent East to her sister, who lives in Brooklyn, and requested her to try and secure the material for her.

The Brooklyn woman first tried the Brooklyn stores and then the Manhattan shops. Failing in her mission she came to Newark and finally ended up at the Bamberger store.

She found an exact match for her goods, and, what is more, our price was exactly thirty cents a yard less than she expected to pay.

The fact of the Brooklyn matron finding just what she wanted here, after exhausting both the Brooklyn and the New York stores, did not impress us very strongly, because we have experiences of this kind every now and then. It was what this woman SAID that pleased us most. We'll repeat it:

"I've always done my trading in New York and Brooklyn, but I have been treated with so much courtesy here today, and I find that your values are so much better than I have been used to, that I think I shall do at least part of my buying at Bamberger's hereafter."

SOME STATE NEWS BRIEFS

Grief over the death of her husband resulted in the death Wednesday of Mrs. Kate Smith at 210 Erie street, Camden. She was seventy-four years of age.

Thomas W. Sayre, son of Pilot Louis Sayre, of Cape May, has received his commission as postmaster of West Cape May and has taken charge. He was high man in the civil service examination.

Fifty residents of Midland Park Borough met Wednesday night and organized a board of trade. Forty-one signed the membership roll, officers were elected and committees were appointed.

Accused of assault and battery on his white wife, a bride of a few months, William Martin, colored, of Spruce street, was committed to jail in default of bail from the Camden Police Court Wednesday.

By a majority of thirty-three the voters of Haddon Heights Tuesday evening decided to build a thirteen-room addition to the present High School building. The election carried with it a $30,000 bond issue.

Rev. R. C. Walker, who has been preaching in the First Presbyterian church at Greenloch, has tendered his resignation, owing to ill health and a desire for more time to pursue his post-graduate course at Princeton.

Supreme Court Justice Garrison, in Camden, Wednesday, assigned lawyers Patrick H. Harding and Howard L. Miller as counsels for Clem Ridgeway, colored, who was indicted for the murder of Herbert W. Hibbs, a former city fireman.

A fall of thirty feet from a battleship at the New York Shipbuilding plant, Camden, is likely to prove fatal to Arnold Pascoe, twenty-two years old, of 434 Viola street. At the Cooper Hospital it was found he had a fractured skull, a compound fracture of an arm and internal injuries.

A trolley car of the Riverside Traction Company, going at a forty-mile-an-hour clip, jumped the tracks on a straight road at Beverly Tuesday night and ran upon the sidewalk and into the lawn of A. E. Russ, where a stout tree stopped it and demolished the front. William Parsons and a foreign passenger were slightly injured.

Relatives of Santa Elie, of Johnstown, Pa., who died from asphyxiation in an Atlantic City hotel, are grieving because they could not attend the funeral or claim the body because of their poverty. They were advised by the police that the body was again identified by residents of Hammon, who say that it is the corpse of Leonore Capuccio, of that place.

Driving directly in front of a Reading train at Arkansas avenue, Atlantic City, late Wednesday afternoon, Morris Gots, of 2395 Baltic avenue, was hurled from his wagon as the train struck it and thrown ten feet to the side of the tracks, where he lay as if dead. The wagon was reduced to kindling wood, but Gots sustained only a few bruises, and after he had received treatment at the City Hospital he was sent to his home.

After a mysterious absence of ten days from his home and baking business in Collingswood, John Weissner was taken home Tuesday night by his wife, who went to Washington in answer to a telegram from him to meet him at the railroad station there. After waiting half an hour in suspense, Mrs. Weissner recognized her husband entering, and there was a tearful reunion. Weissner said he did not realize where he was until he came to himself at the capital.

From figures submitted from the county officers in Gloucester, under the salary system, the clerk's office alone shows a gain. The cash receipts in the sheriff's office were $2,394.31, while the salaries and other expenses were $4,623.66, showing a deficit of $2,229.35. In the surrogate's office the receipts were $464.77, as against $4,738.57 for salaries and other expenses. The cash receipts in the clerk's office were $7,927.57, and the expenses $7,419.33. As a whole, there is a deficit of only $132.93.

A report that Carl, their eight-year old son, had been killed while sledding shocked Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Thompson, of Paulsboro, Wednesday afternoon, and Mrs. Thompson was almost in collapse, when the boy, alive and well, dashed into the house. He had been tumbled off his sled and rolled down an embankment, but was not hurt. While he was at supper the family physician and an undertaker appeared at the house. Efforts are being made to locate the author of the report.

SENATE NIGHT SESSION PLAN IS ABANDONED.

An effort to start a movement to do away with night sessions of the Senate has been abandoned because of lack of support. Senator John D. Prince, majority leader in the upper branch, was father of the plan and worked hard for it, but he found himself almost alone in the effort. Opposition to the plan came chiefly from business men in the Senate who look upon the night session as just so much time saved. They say that a large amount of business can be transacted Monday nights and that without this evening session another whole day each week would probably have to be devoted to their legislative duties.

MIDDLESEX TAX BOARD

MAKES $8,000 REDUCTIONS

The Middlesex County Board for the Equalization of Taxes visited Dunellen in a body, yesterday, for the purpose of viewing the property of the Equator Park land company, the assessment of which had been protested. The board went over the premises in company with assessor John H. L. Peters, Mayor William Sanford, Postmaster Henry Garretson and W. S. Frederick. They afterward held an executive session in Taylor's Hotel and voted to reduce the assessment from $35,000 to $28,000.

The property was formerly known as the Sanford farm and is understood to have been bought by the complaining company for $40,000. The member alleged that they had paid more than the place was worth and that it should not be considered as lots as had been done. The appeal was the first that has been made against Mr. Peters since the tax board was organized.

WEST END HOTEL BURNS.

LOSS PLACED AT $40,000

The West End Hotel at Asbury Park, was partly destroyed by fire yesterday morning. The fire, which is believed to have been caused by a defective flue, burned the entire fifth story before it was checked. At one time the Ocean Hotel, adjoining, in Asbury avenue, appeared to be doomed, but aid was summoned from neighboring towns and the firemen by hard work were able to confine the blaze to narrow limits. The wind was light, a condition that contributed to save the Coleman House and several nearby hotels.

The West End Hotel was conducted by Mrs. F. L. TenBroeck, who had just completed arrangements to lease it to a New York man. The property is valued at $85,000 and the fire loss is estimated at $40,000.

At midnight Joseph Ten Broeck, son of the proprietor detected smoke. He aroused the family and a general alarm was sent to the Fire Department. For a time there was a constant ringing of alarms, which brought the departments of Ocean Grove, West Grove and Bradley Beach.

Streams were poured on the Ocean Hotel from the West End porch. Other streams were sent up from the courtyard in the rear, thus preventing the spread of the flames down Kingsley street. In the effort to confine the fire the entire hotel was flooded. It is believed the damage can be repaired in time to open the West End as usual for the summer season.

SCHOOL OF METHODS PROGRAM ANNOUNCED

The eighteenth annual session of the School of Methods of the New Jersey Sunday-school Association, will be held in the High School building, Asbury Park, July 5-12. Sessions will be held from 9 to 12 in the morning and from 2:30 to 4 in the afternoon.

The programs will include section work for the beginners, primary, junior, intermediate and adult departments of the Sunday-school, with lectures on the Bible and Bible study. There will be open parlaments on live topics concerning Sunday-school movements, material and management conducted by leading experts in Sunday-school work in the United States.

The chief lecturer will be Rev. Dr. Robert W. Rogers, professor of Hebrew and Old Testament Exegesis in Drew Seminary. He is one of the few Americans whose books and articles on life and literature of Semitic peoples are acknowledged as authoritative in both England and Germany. The general topic of his lectures is "Genesis and Recent Researches." Persons desiring further particulars can obtain them from Miss Alice B. Hamlin, 335 Board street, Newark.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

The second presentation of "Madame Jarley's Wax Works," in the Presbyterian chapel, last night, was again greeted by a capacity attendance. The performance moved off even better than when first given and the new scenes were warmly received. The closing set, a representation of Peary and Cook discovering the North pole, was very good. After the explorers had planted the national colors the drapey fell back and the Goddess of Liberty was revealed. The participants then sang "America" in chorus, among the specialty numbers between scenes were mandolin and guitar duets by Mr. and Miss Frecdon. The promoters of the entertainment are more than pleased with the results and now have another performance in view. The Ladies' Aid Society of the First Baptist church, have asked that the "wax works" be given there some time next month and it has been acted upon favorably. The date will be set within a week or two.

The contract case of the Dunellen Coal and Supply Company against H. C. Smith, of the borough, scheduled for trial in the District Court at Plainfield, yesterday was settled amicably before being called. The defendant settled in full the contested claim. The plaintiffs were represented by R. P. VonMinden and Smith by Messrs Nash and Blatz.

The Union Club, a local social organization will conduct an initiation dance in Junior Hall tonight, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Field and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Vall comprise the committee of arrangements.

John F. G. Kinney has practically completed the work of the interior decorating at the Park Hotel. He is also engaged in the decorating work at W. G. Runyon's new office on Front street.

Miss Eleanor Dodwell has been spending the past two weeks with friends at Little Falls and will probably remain two weeks longer.

Invite Pastor to Return.

The third quarterly conference of the Mt. Zion A. M. E. church, held Wednesday night, was largely attended. The reports showed splendid success during the past four years and the pastor, Rev. J. T. Diggs, was unanimously invited to return next year. The presiding elder was urged to use his influence to have the pastor returned when the annual conference meets in Newark, April 26 next.

Y. W. C. A. Annual Exhibition.
The annual exhibition of the Young Women's Christian Association gymnasium classes will be held in the Y. M. C. A. "gym" tonight. Admission will be by ticket only. The program will begin with a grand march and will include folk dancing and a basketball game between two teams from the association, one representing "Yale," and the other "Princeton."

PACT WITH CANADA TO LOWER LIVING COST

Urging immediate ratification of the proposed tariff reciprocity treaty with Canada, President Taft late yesterday sent to Congress a draft of the document and an executive message.

The basis of the tariff treaty with Canada is in part as follows: Reciprocal lists on leading food products such as wheat and other grains, dairy products, fresh fruits and vegetables, fish of all kinds, eggs and poultry, sheep and other live animals.

Also certain commodities now free in one country are to be made free by the other, such as cottonseed oil, by Canada, and rough lumber, by the United States. Tin and terne plates, now dutiable in both countries, are made mutually free.

Mutually reduced identical rates on secondary food products such as fresh meats, canned meats, bacon and hams, lard and lard compounds, canned vegetables, flour, cereal preparations and other foodstuffs, partly manufactured.

Mutually reduced rates on a list of manufactured commodities, which includes motor vehicles, cutlery, clocks, and watches, sanitary fixtures, satchels and similar leather goods, plate glass, brass band instruments, printing ink and miscellaneous articles. Agricultural implements, such as plows, harvesters, threshing machines and drills are reduced by Canada to the United States rates.

BABE NAMED FOR HIM; GOVERNOR APPRECIATIVE.

Governor Woodrow Wilson is appreciative of the honor bestowed upon him by Mr. and Mrs. Frederick G. Johnson, of Montclair, who named their son, who was born last Saturday, Woodrow Wilson Johnson. Governor Wilson, who was made acquainted with the fact that the baby had been given his name, yesterday, acknowledged the honor in the following letter:

"My Dear Mr. Johnson:—I am greatly complimented by the honor you have done me in naming your son after me, and I can only express the hope that nothing will ever occur in my life which will make you regret having given him my name. I hope that I shall live to make his acquaintance. Cordially and sincerely yours,

"WOODROW WILSON."

Miss Bertha M. Bicknell.

Miss Bertha Mae Bicknell, daughter of Stephen and Harriet Bicknell, of Watchung, died yesterday afternoon after a long illness. The funeral will be held on Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the late home, the service being conducted by Rev. Lewis Bond. Interment will be made in Hillside cemetery.

TINY BIT OF GROUND.

What May Be Done With a Plot Twenty by Fifty Feet if Well Cared For.

A space 20 by 50 feet may under intensive culture be made to yield fresh vegetables for a small family through half the year. With 40 by 50 feet or 50 by 100 there can be a garden spelling riotous plenty.

Have the spading done as early as possible, use thoroughly rotted manure and supplement it with some good commercial fertilizer, either broadcasted and raked in or put in hills or drills.

It is a waste of seed, strength and time to plant a garden in poor soil. The seed will come up, the spindling plants will be harder to work than if they were luxuriant, and the resultant crop will be mostly conspicuous by its absence. So, if it be impossible to do more, make small rich beds, four feet wide and as long as the manure holds out, and sow them crosswise with such things as radishes, lettuce, cress, parsley, beets and onions. Make the rows a foot to eighteen inches apart or sow the radishes broadcast. Lettuce also yields more for broadcast sowing. Pull out the thickest as soon as edible and leave the rest to grow. Radish tops make excellent greens, something better flavored than mustard. By sowing thickly you can have dishes of greens.

Say the garden is 40 by 50 feet, this is something what the planting of it should be: Dwarf early peas, medium early and late peas, beets, early and later; beans in succession, including bush limas; carrots, radishes, tomatoes, cucumbers, peppers. Do not adventure upon corn unless it be sweet corn planted on the pea space as a second crop, to come in just before frost. Make an asparagus bed all across one end of the plot, setting two-year-old roots and fertilizing the bed heavily in early summer just after cutting ceases.

Peas are so hardy they may be planted before snow is past, provided, of course, the ground is right when they go in. Make it fine and light, cover the seed at least three inches deep, then tramp the earth over them, setting the feet so one track touches the other. A quart of seed will sow a hundred feet of drill the proper thickness. An ounce of beet seed will sow the same row length.—Circle Magazine.

A MINISTER'S STORY.

It Didn't Have the Intended Effect Upon the Congregation.

It is said that a New England minister once told the following story just before the collection was taken up:

"I have heard of a man, prosperous and well to do, who went to church one Sunday and put a cent—just a plain copper cent—in the collection box."

"On the way home he was overtaken by a sudden heavy shower and, having no umbrella, crawled into a hollow log by the roadside to keep himself dry until the downpour was over. "Soon the log began to swell, and the water it got the more it swelled until the sides finally closed in on the prosperous citizen and held him in a grip like a vise."

"The rain ceased, but the unfortunate man was unable to move hand or foot. He shouted for help, but no one heard him. He was about to give up in despair when he suddenly thought of the cent he had dropped into the collection box that day, and it made him feel so mean and small that he crawled right out of the log without any further trouble."

"Now, if you expect to get caught in a shower and be obliged to take refuge in a hollow log on the way home, by all means put a cent in the contribution basket! If you don't anticipate a crisis of that sort—well, you will know what to do when the basket is passed."

The minister expected a shower of silver and bills to follow this story, but unfortunately just as the collection began a black cloud passed overhead, it suddenly began to sprinkle, and the pennies fairly rained into the contribution basket. Only one quarter, a solitary dime and a lone nickel were found among the coppers, and they got in before the shower began. The congregation, it seems, had all left their umbrellas at home, and they were not taking any chances.—New York Times.

Got the Number.

Police Captain—You say that an automobile containing several persons sped along the street and struck down an old man? New Officer—Yes, sir. Police Captain—And that after chasing this auto for several blocks you finally succeeded in getting the number? New Officer—Yes, sir. Police Captain—Good! What was the number? New Officer—There were just four persons in the car, sir.—Circle Magazine.

Positive Reasons.

The Minister—Mackintosh, why don't you come to church now? Mackintosh—For three reasons, sir. Firstly, I donna like yer theology; secondly, I donna like yer singin'; and, thirdly, it was in your kirk I first met my wife.—Dundee Advertiser.

Essentials of Oratory.

"I have my speech nearly completed."

"I suppose you have marshaled your arguments in serrated ranks?"

"No; I haven't taken up that part of it. But I have selected my anecdotes."

—Washington Star.

CUPID'S PIPES

By MARION DEXTER

[Copyrighted, 1909, by Associated Literary Press.]

Jan Vanderstreet was without doubt and by unanimous consent, especially his own, the leading citizen of the little painted village of Dykheld.

Therefore when he imparted to his fellow citizens the information that he had bought a large tract of land in America, where fortunes were to be made in an incredible hurry, half a hundred very substantial and phlegmatic Hollanders marshaled their families after grave deliberation and embarked with him, after selling their queer little painted houses and tulip gardens and cows with true Dutch thrift.

Jan Vanderstreet took with him his wonderful collection of pipes, famed throughout all Gelderland and even beyond that beautiful district. He also took with him what he valued almost as much as his pipes—his very buxom and still blooming wife, his blooming daughter, Ankie, and his blooming orphaned niece, Johanna de Koop.

The only member of the party of Holland adventurers who was not truly substantial, according to sound Dutch standards, was Dirk Van Pelt. Mynheer Vanderstreet had frowned on his admission as a member of the solemn exodus. But Dirk had cunningly used such un-Hollandlike haste in putting his entire patrimony of $1,000 into the speculation that he had an interest in it before the more deliberate mynheer knew it.

Jan Vanderstreet did not like this at all. The trouble was that Dirk was altogether too fond of Ankie. If the broad shouldered, sturdy, handsome youth had only exhibited enough sense to be fond of some one not in the Vanderstreet family the mynheer might have felt quite glad to have him in the party, for Dirk was not at all disagreeable to anybody, with his kind smile and his readiness to help every one who needed it.

Mynheer Vanderstreet determined to keep close watch during the voyage. But what could one do on shipboard? Could a worthy Dutchman of five and sixty be expected to go on guard over his daughter when all the men folk were smoking their pipes on deck, telling tales of the past and speculating about the future? Truly not.

The chaperonage of Ankie was therefore left to her mother. But even on shipboard that industrious Dutch housewife could not be idle, and when one has a huge stocking and a ball of yarn, also a set of knitting needles, in hand it is not always convenient to follow a will-of-the-wisp of a girl.

Besides, Johanna was always with her cousin, and loveliness when a third person is present is not so easy to carry on. At least so argued Mynheer Vanderstreet, forgetting that there is a language of the eye which expresses as clearly as speech what is in one's heart and that a pressure of the hand may convey an assurance of love just as plainly as if one said aloud, "I love you."

Although Dirk had little opportunity of telling Ankie of his love by word of mouth, that he was her devoted slave and wished for no greater happiness than to call her his wife, Ankie knew what was in his heart, because she returned his love.

By the end of the voyage Dirk knew that her heart was in his keeping, and he determined to wrest from the soil of the prairie a living that would entitle him to old Vanderstreet's respect.

Busy days followed the arrival of the Hollanders in the little Iowa settlement. Ground was broken, teams purchased, grain sowed and houses erected.

The Vanderstreet residence was the most pretentious in the place, but the cottage built by Dirk Van Pelt was as pretty a little Dutch home as any romantic girl would wish.

Vines were planted and soon grew about the porch, a bed of tulips flaunted gayly colored blossoms in the front yard, and a kitchen garden flourished in the rear.

Things soon prospered with Dirk and after six months of anxious waiting he ventured to call on Jan Vanderstreet to ask for the hand of his daughter. The mynheer, with unusual promptness, immediately gave Dirk to understand that he wished to hear no more of the matter and very politely intimated that the doors of the Vanderstreet residence would be closed thenceforth to him.

Disappointed, but not discouraged, Dirk went slowly home, vowing to himself with genuine Holland determination that he would never give up the girl he loved.

His resolution was strengthened by the sight of Ankie standing at the window holding out a letter, which she dropped and he picked up.

The letter told him that she would be his, with or without her father's blessing, and bade him have patience.

Dirk continued to work his little place industriously, hoping to hear from Ankie. But three weeks elapsed before he had an opportunity of talking with her. He left her presence, feeling much encouraged, and fell asleep that night more hopeful. He was awakened from sweet dreams of his love by the cry of fire.

Throwing on his clothes, he rushed from the house. The town was already aroused, and down the streets the people came running in all stages of dress, the clatter of their wooden shoes making as much noise as the modern fire engine.

"It is Jan Vanderstreet's!" some one screamed. "The place is doomed!"

On hearing these words Dirk ran faster than before and outstripped the crowd. When he reached the house he found the family coming out, laden with plunder, and heard Mistress Vanderstreet exclaim: "No more must we go back! It is not safe, and it is better to lose one's goods than one's life!"

"But my pipes! My precious pipes!" cried old Jan, all his phlegmatic restfulness gone. "I must get them!"

His wife seized him firmly by the arm.

"That you shall not do. Everything is safe. I will not let you risk your life for a set of worthless pipes."

"Worthless pipes!" thundered Jan. "How dare you speak so? They are a part of my life. I have been collecting them all my life long, until now more than a hundred hang in my rack. And must I lose them all because of your hard headedness? Let me go, I say; let me go!"

He struggled wildly in her grasp, but it was in vain. Mistress Vanderstreet was a very strong and a nobly determined woman and held him in so firm a grip he could do naught but writhe and groan.

Dirk Van Pelt had a great emotion and reached a great determination with an almost mercurial swiftness. He knew that the rafters of the blazing house would fall in soon—might tumble in crimson ruin at any moment. But not in vain did he have in his veins the blood of the wonderful race that cut the dikes and drowned their beloved land rather than yield it to the invaders.

He went to a tank of water and wet his coat. Throwing it over his head, he plunged into the burning house, not heeding the shrill cry of distress which issued from the lips of the trembling Ankie.

Five minutes of dreadful suspense followed, during which the rafters fell in and sent the sparks flying upward in a mad shower. Surely no one could live in such a place. Ankie, moaning piteously, sank to the ground, heedless of the crowd of spectators, and burst out into wild weeping.

Suddenly a shout of joy arrested her attention, and, sitting up, she saw through a mist of tears the form of Dirk, issuing from the burning house. He staggered like a drunken man under the weight of a huge rack which held the precious pipes, not one of which was missing.

Straight to the man who had refused him his daughter's hand stumbled Dirk Van Pelt. Then as old Jan took the burden from him the young man felt senseless at his feet.

When he opened his eyes, Jan Vanderstreet was standing by him, tears streaming down his cheeks. He took Dirk's hand, saying brokenly: "A house one can soon acquire, but such a treasure of pipes—ah, that takes a very lifetime to acquire. Such a deed as yours, Dirk, is worthy of any reward. What can I do to repay you?"

Raising himself on his elbow, Dirk summoned Ankie, who was hovering near. Then, with a determined glance, he signified to her father what reward he wished.

"So," said Jan slowly, "you still want Ankie? I have already told you she was not for you, but—take her, Dirk Van Pelt. She is yours. Ah, what a collection of pipes! What coloring! What noble bows and what grand stems!"

"Ankie is worth all the pipes that ever were made or ever will be made," protested the happy lover, holding her hand tightly in his own and gazing adoringly into her tender blue eyes.

"Perhaps so," perhaps so," muttered Jan absently, "but such pipes as mine"—He turned and summoned a man to help him carry the rack of matchless pipes to a place of safety and left the lovers still looking happily into each other's eyes.

Arbitrated.

Conversation among travelers is frequently absurdly trivial. After several days together, as on shipboard, every one is idle and talks about the most unimportant matters with the deepest interest. R. H. Milligan in a book entitled "The Jungle Folk of Africa" recounts with what complacency the conclusion was reached that the thirteen colonies should never have rebelled and that the blame was all on the side of England.

One man, moreover, disclosed the fact that he always wore safety pins instead of garters and decanted upon his preference with such enthusiasm that he made at least one convert.

One night we put in practice the principle of arbitration, of which we were all adherents. An argument had arisen among us as to which was the more simple of the two currency systems, dollars and cents or pounds, shillings and pence. At last, the captain arriving, we decided to refer the matter to him and to surrender our judgment to his arbitration.

The captain, an Englishman of the very stolid sort, after a period of reflection replied very slowly and with all the gravity of a judge:

"Pounds, shillings and pence is the simpler system, for don't you know that when you are told the price of a thing in dollars and cents you always have to convert it into pounds, shillings and pence."

There was a little objection to this theory, but in general it was perfectly satisfactory so long as the voyage lasted.

In Practice.

"What kind of an auto are you going to buy?"

"A secondhand one."

"Good as new, I suppose."

"It ought to be. It has killed three men."

One Would Do It.

"You know what I'm going to do?" whispered the girl as she looked around at the crowd that was beginning to be so sleepy and that still stayed on. "I'm going to give a party and shut the Chinese fashion of telling them when to go. I'm going to get up as they do and say: 'I'm sorry, but it's time for you to go home. Here's your hat.' I think it will be a mighty fine thing. So few people know when to go home. Don't you think so?" "Mighty fine," he answered, "but you don't intend ever to give but one party then, I see."—Exchange.

Whirligig.

The first carriages used in Britain were called whirligigs. They are mentioned as having been in use at about the middle of the fourteenth century. Edward III. drove up in one to a tournament at Smithfield, which seems to have had some claim to resemble a triumphal car. And when Richard II. was flying before Bolingbroke his mother rode in a carriage with a canopy supported on pillars and surrounded with curtains that could be drawn up at pleasure.—London Saturday Review.

Caught on the Rebound.

The old man was lecturing his more or less wayward son on the evils of getting up late in the morning.

"Remember," he said, "that it was the early bird that caught the worm." "But how about the worm, dad?" queried the youth, who thought he had his sire up in the air. "Where did his reward for getting up early come in?" "I am informed," replied the old man gravely, "that the worm was on his way home—hadn't been in bed at all." And, there being nothing more to say, the young man said nothing.—Chicago News.

The Keys of the Universe.

In the year 1094 William Patterson, founder of the Bank of Scotland, conceived the grand project of planting on the isthmus of Darien a British colony which, in his own words, "should secure for Great Britain the keys of the universe, enabling their possessors to give laws to both oceans and to become the arbiters of the commercial world." This colony was actually founded at a place still known as Puerto Escoces, but its people were subsequently forced by the Spaniards to evacuate and return to Scotland.—Argonaut.

Talk and Money.

Talking about promises," said a promoter, "some of these moneyed men, with their mouths full of millions and their quite empty hands, reminded me of a barber. This barber said one day as he shaved me:

"That's a fine pup of Simmonds'. I'd give anything for it."

"Well, it's for sale, isn't it?" said I.

"The barber burst into sneering laughter.

"Oh, yes, it's for sale," said he. "But do you know what Simmonds wants for it? Why, $2!"

Making Himself Solid.

"Step this way, ladies and gentlemen," exclaimed the lecturer in the dime museum, "and gaze upon one of the greatest wonders known to medical science—the ossified man, a human being, perfectly normal in every other respect, but who has turned to stone."

"How did he get that way?" came a voice from the awestricken throng.

"Love," replied the lecturer, lowering his voice confidentially; "love did it. He fell in love with a beautiful maiden, tried to make himself solid and overdid it. We will now pass on to the—"

A Hearty Welcome.

"Is it not true that you farmers are hostile to balloonists?" ventured the young aeronaut who had descended in the barnyard.

"Why, no, stranger," laughed the old farmer as he came forward with a pitchfork. "We are always glad to have a balloon land on our place."

"I'm certainly glad to hear it."

"Yass; the last one that landed here came in handy. I used the ropes to tie the steers, packed corn in the basket and cut the gas bag up and made overalls for all the farm hands. Welcome, stranger, welcome!"—Exchange.

She Wanted a Title.

A title gives the right to embroider a coronet on the body linen. It is pleasant in a railway train to pour scent on a coroneted pocket handkerchief. La Marechal Niel thought so. I dare say, in the summer of 1890. Her husband escaped the carnage of one of the battles fought that year in Lombardy. He also assured against heavy odds and the terrible blunders of the general staff victory to the French. His wife was with him when his marshal's baton was brought in with a letter from Napoleon III. Niel thought Mme. Niel would have melted into tears from joy. Instead of that her mouth fell. "You are marshal, you are," she said. "That does not make me duchess."—London Truth.

The Blowgun.

The blowgun is still popular for hunting birds among the Kosaati Indians of Louisiana. This weapon consists of a tube, usually of cane, about six feet long, rubbed smooth on the inside with an implement made for the purpose and, carefully straightened with the aid of fire. Slender pointed darts about eight inches long are used as ammunition, each one wrapped neatly along a third of its length with twisteddown or cotton to make it fit the inside of the tube. The hunter places a dart in the tube, which he raises to his lips and aims at his game; then a quick puff of the breath drives the little dart flying with sufficient force to impale and kill a small bird or squirrel.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

N. Y. AMUSEMENTS.

Henry Miller attributes the success of his new play, "The Havoc," which is attracting capacity audiences at the Bijou Theatre, New York, to the fact that the author of "The Havoc" makes the husband in his stage story a sane, decent American business man. "For my own part," says Mr. Miller, "I am not so afraid of the tired business man as of the tired theatre-goer; and I feel that Author Sheldon just had in mind the fact that the brutal husband had had his day at the theatre, and, as a novelty, he would introduce the kind husband. The public will accept fairy stories, and I don't think it is expecting too much to ask them to believe in the possibility of such a human being."

"Over Night," the new farcical comedy by Phillip H. Bartholomae, which opened at the Hackett theatre, with practically no preliminary exploitation, and which, owing to the large number of other openings was practically ignored by the New York press on the inaugural night, has made a remarkable hit, and is now creating more interest than any farce presented in recent years, with the exception of "Baby Mine," William A. Brady's other remarkable comedy success at the Nazimova. Not only the public, but also the newspaper critics have awakened to the fact that "Over Night," is an unusual play, and that, as a vehicle for creating laughter, it has an originality and individuality all its own.

POE ITEMS DISPOSED OF AT THE STEDMAN SALE.

Interesting Poe items were disposed of at the continued sale at Anderson's, New York, of the library and autograph collection of the late Edmund Clarence Stedman, who at one time resided at Cedarbrook farm in Plainfield. A letter which attracted special attention was one of three pages written by Poe a week before Dr. Thomas Dunn English, of Newark, made his accusations against that author. In this letter, which was addressed to Joseph M. Field, the actor and journalist, father of Kate Field, Poe speaks of the impression caused by "The Raven" in England, and quotes Elizabeth Barrett Browning in admiration of his work. The letter brought $490.

A Poe letter written in answer to a charge of a young Philadelphia poet, Hirst, that Poe plagiarized Keat's "Endymion" in the poem, "Ulalume" was sold for $365.

A daguerreotype portrait of Poe in a morocco case, with a note inserted by Mr. Stedman, "This is the best portrait in all respects of Edgar Allan Poe." This one went through the Boston fire when in the possession of Fields, Osgood & Co., was sold for $250.

Edmund Clarence Stedman's original manuscript of "Alice of Monmouth," 117 pages, with the author's corrections, was sold for $605.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

At the Plainfield theatre tomorrow afternoon and night, Henry B. Harris will present what gives promise of being one of the great novelties of the season when Ruth St. Denis appears for the first time in this city in her new creation founded on the religion and customs of Egypt. The curtain rises at 8:30 sharp. Out of the large number of dancers brought fame within the past few years not many have survived and conspicuous among them is Miss St. Denis. Her Hindu numbers were of exceptional quality, artistic to a degree and offered a divertissement quite out of the ordinary. The new dances in which she appears this season are the second of a cycle of Oriental numbers she has in view and ancient Egypt was selected because of its great influence on modern civilization, and for the fact that it was in the land beside the Nile that the art of dancing first reached its fullest perfection. There the dance was a part of every religious ceremony and many of the old wall pictures now extant show the dancing women about the altar.

The Most Industrious Store in Newark—The City of Industry

Hats for Little

We are closing out all kinds of Trimmed and Untrimmed Hats at the most ridiculously little prices we thing we have ever quoted. We don't want to have a hat left from the Winter stock. We want everything fresh in the Spring time, and we are willing to sacrifice almost the entire stock, to say nothing of the profits, to clear out every vestige of the stock.

The Big Low-Priced Feature is a collection of many hats, good for present wear, trimmed in a variety of pretty styles, with wings, feathers, flowers, ribbons and ornaments; large hats and small ones; medium hats, too; styles to suit every face; colors harmonize with every complexion; worth up to $7.50, yet priced at .95. 350 Trimmed Hats that have been seeling up to as high as $15 will be offered at the same time, while they last (and you had $3.95 better come early), at only .33. Untrimmed Hats—A limited quantity, but the bargains are great and will make it worth your while coming—shapes that have been selling at $3 to $7, to be closed out; while they last at .33. No phone, mail or C. O. D. orders.

$1.50 Razor and 50c Strop 75c

These are our famous Hahne special razor, which, as you probably know, has a most dependable blade of finest steel and is making a reputation for itself because of its excellence and low price—$1.50. We are going to sell the Hahne razor, and with each razor we will give a genuine cowhide strop, worth 50c—the outfit, tomorrow, for only 75c.

This offer is made to introduce our Cutlery Department to the notice of those men who are not regular visitors to our store.

Negligee Shirts

$1 TO $2 KINDS FOR 79c.

This is a clean-up—every shirt must go, even tho it is perfect, at a price that bears no semblance to its value.

High Grade Shirts of white Madras, Chambray and Fine Percales, in neat stripes and figures; plain or plaited bosoms; coat styles with cuffs attached; hand-laundered; $1, $1.50 and $2 grades, priced, while the lot lasts at 79c.

50c Neckwear 29c

Come, men—take your pick of hundreds of scarfs, all of them of a very good class, made of excellent silks, in new up-to-date patterns and colorings, in open end, four-in-hand styles; not a tie in the lot that is not worth the full price of 50c. We promise you a treat when you buy them at 29c.

The Overcoats are of excellent cheviots, fancy mixtures, and include the famous Hahne & Co. Two-in-One Coats.
These are the Suits and Overcoats that are regularly sold at the fair prices of $10 to $15; you may choose from them Saturday at $7.50.

Overcoats for Boys

Overcoats and Reefers taken from our regular stock—all this season's production, including Chinchillas, Kerseys, Cheviots and Mixtures with collars of velvet; good juvenile styles; not all sizes in every style, but a full range of sizes the lot running from 2 1/2 to 17 1/2 years; values running to $3.98; take your pick of any at $1.85.

When all the circumstances of this sale are considered, even our competitors must confess that the values we offer are unequalled. Most of the prices are lower than the prices quoted a year ago for similar goods. The sensational element in that statement is lost until you remember that goods are higher due to the cry of good times approaching, yet our prices are lower than a year ago.

HERE AND THERE.

Dr. Marshall H. Saville, professor of archeology at Columbia University, has just returned from the wild regions of Ecuador, bringing back the most complete collection in the world of relics of Ecuador's lost tribes.

The most interesting of the professor's narratives relates to a gold rush in the heart of Ecuador—a rush which his party profited by in a novel way.

In digging an irrigation trench near Angel, Caraso, laborers hit upon an ancient tomb containing not only some rare specimens of pottery, beads and other things usually buried with the bodies of the old-time Indians of that country, but many gold and silver ornaments as well.

The discoverers figured that the gold and silver made into ornaments were extracted from ore bodies thereabouts. Shortly the gold rush was on and the hillside near Angel were soon lined with excavators.

Before the excitement subsided at least 3,000 tombs had been opened and several hundred thousand dollars in gold, silver and precious stones had been marketed. All the ornaments of gold and silver went into the melting pot, but other relics found in the tombs were not of a marketable value and thousands of them were gathered up by the Saville party.

The collection will probably go to the American Museum of Natural History. The data, secured by the party shows that the district explored was densely populated by a highly civilized people at some time prior to the beginning of the fifteenth century. The explorers came across the remains of stone forts commanding the summits of some of the passes, erected probably to resist the invasion of the Incas about 500 years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. James D. Atwood, of Wellsley, Mass., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Smith, of Grandview avenue.

Mrs. Alfred W. Dunavan, of East Second street, is visiting relatives at Summit. Mr. Dunavan will spend Sunday there, returning home Sunday evening with Mrs. Dunavan.

The Good the Ill Wind Blew

By VIRGINIA BLAIR

(Copyrighted, 1909, by Associated Literary Press.)

"Nothing could be more unfortunate," said Miss Cynthia. "Mazie agreed dejectedly. 'If she had come at any other time.'"

"She will expect to be entertained," Miss Cynthia chimed in.

Mazie, tying on her veil before the mirror, decided: "We can have some good times with the girls. But there won't be any men, and Constantia can't exist without men."

"Nonsense," said Miss Cynthia. "She'll have to when she comes to Hilton."

Mazie talked the situation over later with Serena Sears.

"You see, I met Constantia at the seashore the summer I went with the Merrills, and I had lovely clothes, and we lived at the best hotels and did everything in the most approved way."

"I told Constantia that when I was at home with Aunt Cynthia I didn't have all the advantages and that my outfit with the Merrills was just their farewell treat before they went abroad. But Constantia can't understand what life at Hilton is, and she will expect a gay time."

"Well, it's an ill wind that blows nobody any good," said Serena sentimentally. "Perhaps she will live us up a bit."

"Constantia could live up to a nunnery," Mazie told her, "but Hilton is hopeless."

Letters coming from Constantia told of her preparations.

"She is getting lots of pretty clothes," Mazie reported to Serena, "and where is she going to wear them?"

But Serena, true to her name, would not worry. "She will delight our eyes with them," she said. "I haven't seen an up to date gown for so long that I'd rather gaze on it than on a Rembrandt."

The day of Constantia's arrival Mazie put the big old fashioned house in order, while Aunt Cynthia baked delectable things.

Serena Sears came in the afternoon. "If Constantia hasn't the good taste to enjoy this lovely old room and Aunt Cynthia's tea and muffins and cocoa-cake she's a benighted individual," said she.

"But think of Constantia trailing pale blue broadcloth on this old rug!" wailed Mazie.

Mazie walked to the station, but she brought Constantia back in the only cab the town afforded. It was shabby and ramshackle, but the little horse was plump, and so was the driver.

"We feed people and animals well in Hilton," Mazie explained to Constantia. "Eating is our only diversion."

Constantia dimpled. "I think Hilton is dear," she emphasized.

But after they had driven a little way she said suddenly, "Mazie Langley, I don't believe I have seen a single man since we left the station."

"There aren't any," Mazie informed her. "I warned you. I told you in my letters that Hilton was dead as a doornail."

Constantia's laugh rippled. "Oh, you goose," she said, "as if I cared! It will be a rest, if the girls are nice—a sort of bachelor girls' paradise."

Mazie nodded. "There is nothing for men to do in these Hampshire hills," she said, "and except a few merchants and the minister and the doctor there aren't any."

"Well, I wish Bobbie Dwyer could hear that," Constantia murmured. "Who is Bobbie Dwyer?" Mazie demanded.

"Bobbie," Constantia explained, with elaborate and strangely earnest scornfulness, "is a lord of creation. I was engaged to him until one day he tried to dictate to me! Then, of course, I broke it off and told him there were some worse things than being an old maid, and he flung back at me that he should live single, for he could never trust a woman again, and then I told him that an old maid was happier than a bachelor, and he said if I tried it I'd find out, and, oh, I wish you had heard us!" And to spite of the tragedy of her regret Constantia laughed. "And I'm glad there aren't any men here—I hate them!"

Mazie's face glowed. "We will have a lovely time if you feel that way," she said.

Just then the ramshackle cab rounded a curve, and there was the old house, with Aunt Cynthia at the window and the light shining out behind her, and they went in and had tea and muffins and little cakes, and Mazie feasted her eyes on the picture Constantia made in her modish gown.

The next day Serena Sears came over.

"Mazie told me how pretty you were," she said quaintly, "and I told her I'd rather see you than a picture, but you are better than a whole art gallery."

And that afternoon a lot of girls came, pretty and fluttering creatures, who hung about Constantia admiringly.

"I love girls," she said when they had gone away.

That night more girls came, and in the afternoon there was a girls' tea, and at night a feminine galaxy came over and sat around the fire and popped corn and sang college songs.

When Constantia and Mazie went to bed that night the pretty guest remarked, "I love girls," but her voice lacked eager enthusiasm.

Several days later Serena Sears gave a dance.

"Of course there won't be any men," she said, "but we can all dress up and dance with each other, and the girls are crazy to see that white chiffon of yours, Constantia."

But when Constantia was arrayed in all her glory she surveyed herself thoughtfully in the mirror. "It seems a bit wasted," she murmured. "Bobbie always liked me in white."

The dance was not a great success. It lacked something, and that something Constantia said equivocally was men.

In the days that followed the girls still fluttered and admired, but Constantia looked at them with speculative eyes.

"It's a pity," she said over the tea-cups to Mazie, "that so many lovely girls should not marry."

"I thought old maidism was the happiest state," Mazie ventured.

"Of course for me," Constantia said hastily, "but for you and Serena and the others—oh, you ought to meet some nice men!"

And all that evening she was dreamy, and before she went to bed she wrote a letter.

Then she planned to give a cotillion before she left town.

"I will have the favors and refreshments sent out from the city," she said. "Everybody here has been so kind that I want to be hostess before I go."

Aunt Cynthia was induced to consent, and the girls of Hilton got out their best gowns.

When the caterer came with his list of assistants Aunt Cynthia sought Constantia in a great state of excitement. "You have ordered far too much," she said.

There was a faraway look in Constantia's eyes. "They will eat it up," she promised.

"But girls have such delicate appetites," Aunt Cynthia protested. "Oh, girls!" Constantia murmured and dropped the subject.

But when she came downstairs to greet her guests she was so radiantly beautiful in pink and silver, with her eyes like stars, that Mazie caught her breath as she looked at her.

"Constantia!" she cried. "What has happened?"

Just then from without came the "honk-honk" of a motor horn, which was echoed by another and another, and as Mazie flung open the door, with the bery of pretty girls behind her, there rolled up to the step a big red car in which were half a dozen radiant youths, and in the second car and in the third and the fourth, so that in all there were twenty-four men to match the twenty-four girls that Constantia had invited.

"I told Bobbie to bring them," Constantia said as she made the introductions, and when they had all danced away together she said to Bobbie Dwyer, who was hanging over her sorrowfully, "Men have their place—at a dance."

"How about husbands?" he demanded very promptly and authoritatively. Constantia dropped her lashes over her happy eyes. "Oh, well," she capitulated, "I should hate to condemn you to bachelorhood, Bobbie, dear!"

But it was Serena who summed things up when three months later half a dozen engagements were announced in Hilton, among them Mazie's and her own.

"I told you the ill wind would blow some good," she said. "It blew Cupid into Hilton with Constantia."

Tale of a Car Ticket.

There was a goodly proportion of young men in the Sixteenth street car when she got in. It was a car with seats running longwise, so that the doubly blessed youths on the opposite side of the car could gaze to their hearts' content. And gaze they did, for never did car carry lovelier freight.

Unaware that her advent in the car had changed the heart action of any of its passengers, her glorious brown eyes glanced serenely along the palpitating line of masculinity opposite as she tore a ticket from her strip and placed it between her rosebud lips while she replaced the strip in her tiny purse. Lucky ticket!

The enraptured young man nearest the door would have parted with a five spot to possess that equivalent of four and one-half cents. But here comes the strangest part. The conductor also noticed this most delectable resting place of mummy's car ticket. And the conductor was young and not half bad looking, and the conductor was also smitten. A tiny hand reached up to the distracting mouth and, removing the ticket, handed it to the conductor. It is said that he blushed. Certain it is that he took the fare tenderly between two fingers and glanced at it pensively. Then—and the young man nearest the door is ready to swear to it—he deposited it carefully in an inside pocket, far removed from the storing place of all common tickets. And the question is, What did he do with it?—Pittsburg Press.

In a Perfume Factory.

Musk is perhaps the most valuable and delightful of all perfumes, yet the redner as he opens the musk pods must wear thick cloths over mouth and nostrils, so repulsive is the odor that the pods emit. Indeed, this odor, inhaled for any length of time, causes nosebleed. Civet, karagulla, and ambergris have in small quantities a delicious perfume, but in large quantities they smell so abominable as to give the worker nausea. The Hawthorn blossom is delicately sweet, and perfumers prize it highly, yet a roscupful of Hawthorn blossoms smells like a charnel house. This, too, is true of the interose.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

HOME

Or Are You Just
Boarding Somewhere?

By natural instinct all women are home-makers, and no matter how humble, no matter how small, a home means the difference between happiness and discontent. Pick out a vacant house or flat TODAY, and tomorrow we will transform it into a cozy little home for you and your better half. Don't bother about the money.

It is not necessary to have a bank account before you can own a home. Greene's will take a vacant house and turn it into a cozy little home for you and allow you the use of the furniture while paying for it.

BEAVER RANGES ARE BEST BY ACTUAL TEST

The bane of common ranges is their uncertainty—you are never sure "where you are at" with them. Sometimes they burn fiercely; at other times you can't get any heat. Why not have a "worry-proof," easy-working, smooth-working range like the "Beaver," when it costs no more than the other kind. Don't be a slave to your range, but get a "Beaver" and have liberty.
