

STATE PRISON FOR HIM

Horace Codington May be Taken to Trenton to Serve His Term.

NOW IN THE SOMERSET JAIL.

Lawyer Convicted of Misappropriating Funds of Warren Township—Brother Now Home Again.

After fighting in the higher courts of the State a year for his liberty, Horace Codington, of Somerville, a lawyer, well known throughout this section of the State, and formerly a political leader of Warren township, is in the Somerset county jail today, with a prospect of being removed to the State prison at Trenton during the present week to serve a sentence of eighteen months for misappropriating the funds of Warren township unless his counsel succeeds in again securing his release under heavy bail, pending the appeal of his case to the court of last resort.

Joel Codington decided to serve his sentence rather than to continue the legal fight for his liberty. After serving eight months of his sentence, he was pardoned. He returned to his old home in Warren township, where he is now treated as a martyr by the political faction which he formerly controlled.

Horace Codington, his brother, Joel Codington, formerly the treasurer of Warren township, were sentenced by Judge Louis H. Schenck in the Somerset circuit court about a year ago, to serve eighteen and two months, respectively, in the State prison for misappropriating the funds of the township, after one of the most sensational trials in the history of Somerset county.

Horace Codington appealed to the supreme court to have his sentence set aside on the novel ground that Justice Parker had discharged two members of the grand jury selected by the sheriff of the county to consider his case before the members of the jury had been sworn. Justice Parker discharged the jurors for reasons which he failed to make public, after a former grand jury had failed to indict the Codingtons. The supreme court, after considering this and other technicalities and points in the case, sustained the conviction of the lower court a week ago, but Codington, who was out under bail, made no move to surrender or to carry his case to the court of errors and appeals, so he was arrested in his office, and is now making an effort to secure his release on bail.

Received Annual Reports.

The annual meeting of the Sunday-school of Trinity Reformed church, for the reading of reports of the secretary and treasurer, was held at the close of the session yesterday afternoon. The report of the secretary, Chauncey F. Colthar, showed the school to have an enrollment of 661, not including the home department, which has a membership of 350. The average attendance for the year was 354. Charles M. Dolliver, treasurer, reported receipts and expenditures of over $1,300 during the year.

Celebrated Birthday Anniversary.

Mrs. John Gettleson, of 404 East Fourth street, was given a surprise party at her home, last night, in honor of the fifty-sixth anniversary of her birthday. The affair was arranged by Mrs. Charles Johnson, of South avenue, and was attended by a number of members of the Swedish Lutheran church, who also remembered Mrs. Gettleson with gifts. She also received a money order for a substantial amount from her son, Joseph, who resides in Salt Lake City. At 10:30 o'clock supper was served.

Engagement Announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wolf, of 1024 Boston road, New York city, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Stella Wolf, to William Schloss, of this city. A reception will be held Sunday evening, February 5, after 7 o'clock at The Herrnsstadt, 29 West One Hundred and Fifteenth street, New York city. Mr. Schloss is a brother to Moses and Emanuel Schloss, and is employed at the store of S. Scheuer & Co., this city.

Wished Miss Mosher Farewell.

Fourteen members of the Young Women's Christian Association formed a straw ride party to South Plainfield, Saturday afternoon, for the purpose of seeing Miss Margaret E. Mosher off on her trip to Cleveland, O. She left via the Lehigh Valley to Buffalo and the Lake Shore. She is to assume her new duties as physical instructor in the Central High School, Cleveland, today.

FROM THE STABAT MATER

Selections Brilliantly Sung by Quartet at Crescent Avenue Church.

ROSSINI'S IMPRESSIVE MUSIC.

Interpretation By Local Talent Gives Pleasure to Large Audience—Repetition May Be Asked.

The choir of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church was compelled to hold a short levee after the special musical service in that church last night. The singing of selections from Rossini's Stabat Mater having aroused the congregation to a marked degree of religious fervor. Following a brief sermon by the minister, Rev. Dr. John Sheridan Zelle, the quartet under the direction of Organist Alexander Russell, began with the introduction "Lord Most Holy," singing with utmost ease and with beautiful expression the difficult passages of this magnificent portion of the composition. Le Roy Pilcher, tenor, sang the Cujus Animum carrying with absolute fidelity to tone and expression this supreme effort at church music to a finished performance, being particularly pleasing in the recitative portions.

One of the features which was most gratifying to the musical sense was the duet, for soprano and alto "Power Eternal," sung by Miss Lillian V. Watt and Miss Grace Carroll. Much of this selection is unaccompanied and the blended voices of the two young women made an exceptionally brilliant impression. They have never before been heard to better advantage.

A. E. Betteridge, the baritone, in "Thro' the Darkness" outdid any previous performance. Purity of tone and splendid phrasing marked his work and audible murmurs of approbation followed the concluding notes.

The Inflammatus sung by Miss Watt with the other three voices was an impressive and heroic rendition. Miss Watt's resonant and highly trained voice was heard to distinct advantage in this selection.

To Alexander Russell, the organist, much of the credit of the rendition of this music is due. The whole performance showed careful and conscientious preparation and it would be a splendid thing if the music could be repeated for the benefit of those whom the stormy weather kept at home last evening. However, the congregation probably numbered two hundred persons in spite of the rain.

ARRESTED FOR RESISTING PATROLMAN; FINED $3.

William Gray, colored, of Plainfield avenue, got drunk on Saturday night and a friend, Homer Ashley, tried to get him to go home. Gray resisted and in a minute or two the air was filled with loud and profane language emanating from Mr. Gray's protesting person. Patrolman McCarthy heard the disturbance two blocks away, and seeing the cause of the disturbance, placed both men under arrest. He had plenty of trouble getting the men to a patrol box, but managed to signal for the wagon.

While awaiting the wagon both men made a break for liberty, but only Ashley was successful. He was arrested an hour later by McCarthy at his home. Both men were fined $3.

Rev. Brook Had Busy Year.

During the past year, Rev. John Y. Brook, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, preached eighty-eight sermons, administered five communions and five private communions, delivered thirty-five special addresses in and out of the city, delivered forty-two prayer meeting addresses, officiated at eight weddings, conducted twenty-three funerals, received thirty-three members in the church on confession and twenty-two by baptism, baptized twenty-four children and seven adults and made 558 pastoral calls.

His Excuse Failed.

John O'Brien, a tramp, who gave his address as New York city, was given a half hour to get out of town this morning by Judge De Meza in the city court. O'Brien said he came to Plainfield to get ice, but the Judge told him he didn't "cut much ice" here and in fact wasn't needed as the ice was all melted. O'Brien vanished.

MRS. CRAGIN FILES BILL

Wife of a Tennis Player Brings a Counter Suit for Divorce.

ALLEGES HE WAS CRUEL.

Denying Desertion, Claims Husband Was Frequently Drunk and That He Knocked Her Down.

Denying that she deserted her husband, William B. Cragin, Jr., of this city, and charging in a cross bill that he treated her with such extreme cruelty that she was compelled to leave him, Mrs. Maysie Bruce Cragin, of Trenton Junction, has filed in the Court of Chancery at Trenton her answer to the husband's suit for divorce. They were married in New York in 1901 and lived together in Plainfield, according to the husband's petition, until October 12, 1908, when he charges that his wife deserted him and has since refused to live with him. Cragin asks for a separation and that he may have the custody of their daughter, Marguerite, aged three years.

Mrs. Cragin, in her answer, denies the desertion on the date mentioned, and claims that she was compelled to leave her husband June 3, 1908, taking the baby daughter she came to Trenton Junction and has since resided there with relatives. She charges that Cragin was frequently drunk, that he abused and beat her, knocking her against the wall and ill-treating her in other ways. A short time before the daughter was born Mrs. Cragin declares that her husband flew into an ungovernable rage and knocked her down. Then he left the house.

Another charge of the defendant is that she was attacked with appendicitis and that Cragin neglected her and did not call a physician. She asks for a divorce and that the custody of the daughter be given her, and that Cragin may be compelled to support her. Cragin also denies her charges.

SHERMANS TELL COURT THEY ARE TO SEPARATE

Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Sherman, of Harmony street, engaged in a family scrap Saturday afternoon, during which the husband playfully slapped his wife in the face and then chased her outdoors, throwing her clothes after her. Mrs. Sherman appealed to Chief Weiss and the latter attempted to straighten out the domestic tangle, but without success. The husband ranted around, declaring the house was his and he could do as he liked with it, until the officer was compelled to arrest him on a disorderly charge.

Sherman was arraigned before Recorder Dolliver this morning, but the wife refused to appear against him. The prisoner explained to the court that they had agreed to separate and with this understanding the recorder suspended sentence. The thirty-six hours he had spent in a cell was considered sufficient punishment for a lot of sass he had given the chief when he first entered the house.

It is understood that the trouble between the pair grew out of the husband's objection to the way his wife danced with another man at Saengerbund hall, Friday night. They had an argument at the close of the affair and the wife went that night to the home of her mother, fearing to return. She went back to Harmony street Saturday and warfare began in earnest. Mrs. Sherman was formerly Miss Gertrude Codington.

Violated Ordinance.

Victor Salzman, an umbrella maker, of East Third street, was fined $3 this morning in the city court by Judge DeMeza for selling goods without a license. He was reprimanded for not telling the truth about his business. Salzman was arrested by Patrolman Charles Flynn, who collected evidence from residents of the West End before placing Salzman under arrest.

Cotillon at Park Club.

Invitations have been issued by the Park Club for a cotillon to be held at the club on Thursday evening, February 9. The patronesses are Mrs. John L. Watson, Mrs. A. M. Abbott, Mrs. C. W. McGee, Mrs. F. E. DuBois, Mrs. E. T. Wilson, Mrs. H. L. McGee.

Bible Class Banquet.

William N. Runyon's Men's Bible class will give a banquet at the Park Avenue Baptist church this evening. Covers will be laid for sixty. There will be an informal program following the dinner.

ST. STEPHEN'S PARISH

CAKE AND CANDY SALE

Under the auspices and for the benefit of St. Stephen's church, a successful cake and candy sale was held Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. K. Tetsuka, of Belvidere avenue. There was a large attendance and Mrs. Tetsuka provided delightful entertainment for the guests, receiving the praise of all present. She was assisted by Mrs. Lewis Geary, who poured tea and Mrs. Robert MacCreedy, who poured chocolate.

The candy and cake tables were in charge of Mrs. F. W. Carlisle, Mrs. W. W. Coriell and Miss Leslie Curtis. The decorations, which were elaborate, comprised white carnations and maiden-hair fern. The net proceeds from the affair amounted to $65, which will be placed in the church treasury.

FLOOD OF INVITATIONS FOR SENATOR MARTINE

The congratulatory message stage of a victorious candidate being in a transitory stage, United States Senator-elect James E. Martine finds himself in the midst of the invitation phase just at present. From all sorts of organizations, religious, political, literary and what not, the senator is receiving pressing invitations to attend some function—and make a speech.

Having broken all records established by him for keeping silence, Mr. Martine says that he will continue to forego making speeches until he has fully recovered his physical strength. Even the invitation of the famous Gridiron Club, of Washington, to be its guest on Monday night, February 13, does not appeal to him, however much he would enjoy being present. So it is as to invitations received from organizations in Philadelphia, Baltimore, Wilmington and elsewhere. None can be accepted; the physician so orders and the patient accordingly obeys.

Among the recent messages of congratulation received by the senator is one he particularly appreciates. It was a cablegram from former State Senator Everett Colby, who is now in France. Another equally enjoyed came from Mayor Speer, of Denver, Colo., who is himself a candidate for the United States Senate.

Mr. Martine sat up for an hour or so yesterday afternoon and today felt none the worse. His hearing in one ear still bothers him but in the course of a fortnight, the senator believes he will be able to be about again as strong and well as usual. "In a week or two," as he expressed himself yesterday, "I hope again to be the fortunate possessor of very good health."

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

BANQUET TICKETS GOING FAST

Judge John Ulrich, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, received this morning assurance from John W. Perkins that he would be on hand and deliver a short address at the banquet to be held on February 13 in Truell Hall.

Judge Ulrich declares that those who wish tickets for the affair should obtain them at once as disappointment awaits those who leave the matter until the last moment. It is not possible to issue more than 300 tickets for the dinner and they are rapidly being bought.

Delinquents Urged to Settle.

Tax Collector W. R. Townsend stated today that on February 6 he would file the delinquent tax list with County Clerk J. C. Calvert, after which time the delinquents will be obliged to pay an additional forty cents a settlement of their bills. Those wishing to save the extra expense should see Mr. Townsend before February 6.

Suffrage Literature on Sale.

"Right and Strength in Equal Suffrage," an address delivered by former Mayor W. L. Saunders before the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield, has been published in pamphlet form and is now on sale at the stationery stores of Estil, Laing, Field and Olmstead. It is published by the local suffrage league.

DEATH OF MISS CRAMER

Well Known Trained Nurse Succumbs Suddenly of Peritonitis.

GRADUATE OF MUEHLBERG.

Survived By Parents, Two Sisters and a Brother—The Funeral Services On Wednesday.

Miss Margaret Cramer, well known as a trained nurse, died at 1 o'clock this morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. Henry Squires, on West Eighth street, following an illness which began a week ago Saturday. She was engaged in nursing in a family at South Plainfield, when she was taken ill with what she believed to be bilious attack. She left her case, going to the home of Mr. Squires thinking that she would be all right in a day or two. Suddenly peritonitis developed, and her condition was such that she could not be removed to the hospital or undergo an operation.

Miss Cramer was born in the vicinity of Somerville and during the past year and a half she had been making her home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Cramer at 20 West Cliff street, Somerville, while she was engaged in private nursing. Miss Cramer prepared for her chosen profession at the training school at Muhlenberg Hospital, being graduated in the Class of '01. A little later she became associated with Dr. G. W. Endicott, assisting him in his operations and attending to other cases of more or less importance where the services of a trained nurse were needed. A year and a half ago she gave up that position and resumed private nursing.

Miss Cramer leaves her parents, two married sisters, one being Mrs. McMurtry, of Mendham; an unmarried sister, Miss Oliver Cramer and a brother, Frank Cramer, both of Somerville. The remains were taken to the home of her parents this afternoon and the funeral will be held from that place Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The burial will be at Pluckemin.

STRANGE DISAPPEARANCE OF BARTHOLO DAHLGREN

The strange disappearance of Barthold Dahlgren, son of Mrs. Clara Dahlgren, of Sweden, who came to this country in April of last year, has prompted the youth's mother to take up a search which the police of the various cities where the boy has worked have failed in.

Mrs. Dahlgren formerly lived in this city and she gives the only information that can be gathered in regard to her lost son. Upon his arrival in New York he went to Waynesburg, Pa., to learn electrical engineering. From there he went to Rochester, N. Y., thence to Buffalo, where all traces of him have been lost. In Buffalo he was employed in the United States Light, Heat and Power Company.

Young Dahlgren's letters to his folks in Sweden ceased last November, and cable messages and letters sent to him failed to bring any replies. His mother is determined to prosecute the search until definite news of her son is obtained. He is described as being six feet, two inches tall, with brown hair and heavy dark eyebrows. It is not recorded that the boy was ever in Plainfield.

Reward for Dog Poisoner.

Charles Meyer, of Scotch Plains, in today's Daily Press offers a reward of $25 for the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who poisoned his English fox hound on Friday night. The dog was a valuable one and Mr. Meyer feels the loss keenly. It never annoyed anyone and Mr. Meyer did not know that he had an enemy mean enough to poison his dog.

Proctor's New Show.

STATE Y. M. H. A. ELECTS

Louis A. Miller Chosen President of Organizations' State Federation.

PLANS FOR A BIG BANQUET.

Delegates From Newark, Jersey City, Bayonne, Hoboken, Trenton and Plainfield Present.

The presentation of interesting reports for the year, together with a discussion of plans for the future and election of officers comprised the chief business at the second annual meeting of the State Federation of the Young Men's Hebrew Association held with the local association yesterday afternoon. The meeting was held in the Y. M. H. A. building on Grove street. There were about fifty delegates present representing the Plainfield, Newark, Jersey City, Hoboken, Bayonne and Trenton associations. The two last named associations were admitted to membership at this meeting.

Samuel Rothberg, State president, presided at the session. The early part of the meeting was taken up with reports of officers, including that of Mr. Rothberg, which was an excellent one. The finances were also reported to be in good condition. The literary committee through its chairman, Louis A. Miller, reported that plans were underway to hold debates, and among the questions suggested were the following: "Shall United States Senators be Elected by Direct Vote?" and "Shall We Restrict Immigration?" Debates will be held monthly.

It was planned to hold the installation in the evening, but owing to the fact that several speakers could not attend, it was decided to hold the installation and annual banquet later. The executive council will arrange for the date and details; also for the place of next meeting. Invitations were received from both the Trenton and Bayonne associations and doubtless one will be accepted.

These officers were elected: President, Louis A. Miller, of Jersey City; first deputy president, Max Levy, of Hoboken; second deputy president, Benjamin Fineberg, of Trenton; recording secretary, Louis Levy, of Newark; financial secretary, Isadore Redler, of Newark; treasurer, Louis J. Platt, of Hoboken; sergeant-at-arms, Louis Goldstein, of Plainfield. These delegates were present at the meeting:

Newark—Louis Levy, Isadore Redler, Morris Roshkes, Joseph Breit, Sigmund B. Dressler; Jersey City—Louis A. Miller, Herman Levine, Norman Cohen, Joseph Rubenstein, Carl Stern; Hoboken—Louis J. Platt, Charles Wolf, Isadore Friedman, Abraham Hass, Abraham Fine; Bayonne—Max Levy, Irving Solinsky, Louis Newman, William M. Goldweber, Albert Ginsberg; Trenton—Samuel Simon, Solomon Wolberg, Benjamin Fineberg, Herman Mallowitz, George Freeman; Plainfield—Jacob Abrams, Henry Rosenbaum, Louis Goldstein, Harry Taub and Samuel Rothberg.

THOUGHT HE WAS RICH: MUST PAY CAB MAN.

What he had fumbled on Saturday made John Kovata, of Fanwood, think he was a millionaire and in pursuance of the idea he hired a cab driven by Richard Kea at the North Avenue station and was driven to his home. Arriving there he decided that the ride had not been lengthy enough and ordered the cab man to return to this city.

At the end of the journey Kea demanded his fare, $2, but John apparently had not the wherewithal to pay, so he was driven to police headquarters, where he was put to bed to sleep off the effect of his potatoes. This morning Judge De Meza decided that Kovata had been punished enough, but ordered him to pay Kea the ?? or stay in a cell until it is paid.

In the Toils Again.

James Coleman, the alleged chicken thief, who was recently paroled from the Reform School, was arrested yesterday and remanded for a hearing until tomorrow morning at the request of Chief Kiely. Another raid was attempted on Kaminsky's chicken coops last night, but the thieves were frightened off before any fowl could be taken.

Italian Mission Services.

Rev. Theodore S. Boretty preached at the Italian Mission service yesterday morning in Y. M. C. A. hall at 11 o'clock. His topic was "And Little Child Shall Lead Them." There was a Sunday-school session at 2:30 in the afternoon at the East Third street house.

SABBATH LAW ENFORCED

Mayor Moy Closes up Stores as Statute and Ordinance Provides.

PROTESTS ARE TO BE HEARD.

Unfamiliarity With Laws Causes Confusion of Ideas—Statutes Plain To His Honor, Who Issues Drastic Order.

Under orders from Mayor George W. V. Moy, the police notified storekeepers throughout the city on Saturday that they must not open their places of business on the Sabbath under penalty of punishment as provided in section 3 of the amended ordinance of January 4, 1875. As a consequence it was impossible to obtain anything in the way of creature of comforts at any time after 12 o'clock on Saturday night. Not a cigar or package of tobacco was sold in the city and many a sigh was heaved in consequence. Those who had neglected to procure their necessities on Saturday had to forego the pleasure of a smoke or go out of town to buy it.

There was one notable exception to the general rule, however. It was found on the dividing line between this city and the borough. A small store kept by John Consoli is directly on the county line. Part of it is in Somerset county and the other part is in Union. Consoli took the precaution of moving his stock to the Somerset side and with bare walls showing in Plainfield did a splendid business all day in North Plainfield unmolested. Of course, Consoli had advice in the matter before making the change with his stock and it is said that never in his life did he do so much business as yesterday.

What looked like a guide to Consoli's store was a young fellow aged twenty years who stood at the corner of Front and Somerset streets answering those who wanted cigars and tobacco with precise directions as to where they could be obtained. But many who did not get as far as the corner took trolleys for Scotch Plains and other points where their wants were supplied.

This morning much controversy was heard as to the actual meaning of the law. Some went so far as to say that if the stores must be closed then the cabs, railroad trains, automobile garages and trolley must quit their business on Sunday, because the law makes it illegal for them as well as storekeepers to do business for a revenue on the Sabbath.

As to the interpretation of the ordinance by Mayor Moy, he takes it that the day set aside for religious observance means a day from 12 o'clock Friday night to 12 o'clock on Saturday night and not from sundown to sundown at it is interpreted by the Hebrews and Seventh-Day Baptists. He believes he has no choice in the matter and that the law is clear on the subject. Under the old interpretation those who closed their places of business on Friday at sundown opened them again on Saturday at sundown and on Sunday as well, thus having the time on Saturday evening which would make the day less than twenty-four hours long from a law viewpoint.

The business men have engaged counsel to fight the ordinance as construed by the mayor and will bring some action to test its validity before a tribunal whose decision will be final. Today the prime movers in the scheme to test the laws are collecting the sinews of war and some interesting developments may be expected shortly. It goes without saying that the deprivation of the Sunday income will make a big hole in the incomes of those who have been accustomed to do business on Sunday and for this money a strenuous fight will be conducted.

The test of the ordinance under which Mayor Moy acted follows: "No person shall cry or openly expose for sale any wares, merchandise, fruits, herbs, meats, fish, goods or chatties, or keep open any shop, store or place in which said articles are sold, or in which the occupation of barber, shoemaker, blacksmith, silversmith, or other trade requiring the exercise of manual labor is carried on, on the first day of the week commonly called Sunday, except in case of necessity and the sale of milk and medicine. And any person violating this section shall upon conviction thereof be fined in a sum not exceeding twenty-five dollars, or be imprisoned in the city or county jail not exceeding ten days, or both, in the discretion of the court. Provided, however, that this section shall not apply to any person who habitually observes the seventh-day, commonly called Saturday as the Sabbath and who carries on his business within his premises in such a manner as not to disturb the religious observance of Sunday as the Sabbath."

The Duke of Connaught, it is officially announced, will succeed Earl Grey as Governor General of Canada in September.

Five persons were injured, two perhaps fatally, when an automobile crashed into a trolley car at Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

The cruiser Des Moines went ashore at the mouth of Annapolis Harbor, but later was floated, apparently undamaged.

At Tammany Hall it was said that Murphy's support of Sheehan in the senatorship fight would be withdrawn on February 1.

George Gordon Battle, in an address defending the courts, declared legislation that was justifiable had always been upheld.

J. A. D. McCurdy, who hopes to fly from Key West to Havana, was again prevented from making the attempt by unfavorable weather.

Carefully placing a bird, a cat and a dog, her pets, where they would be safe from asphyxiation, an aged woman ended her life by inhaling gas in New York.

The Kingston Chamber of Commerce opposes the Royal Commission's plan for a trade representative in Canada, saying that the United States is Jamaica's natural market.

Mexicali, on the California border, and two towns in Vera Cruz have been captured by the insurgents; the murder of an American girl by bandits, near Casas Grandes, was reported.

A great crowd in Guayaquil marched on the palace of President Alfaro and, though restrained by troops, forced a renunciation of the plan to lease the Galapagos Islands to the United States.

The annual report of Dr. Andrew S. Draper, State Commissioner of Education, made public at Albany, showed last year to be one of the most important for the schools in the history of the State.

Eight thousand Russian laborers on the Eastern Chinese railway have struck, owing to fear of plague and the refusal to discharge native laborers; troops have been called out; the disease continues to spread.

"The United States Tobacco Journal," in its current issue, estimates that the federal government has lost between $75,000,000 and $100,000,000 in twenty years by improper classification of imported tobacco.

Patrolman Reilly stopped a procession of anarchists, headed by a man waving a red flag, which was marching to the Japanese Consulate in New York to protest against the punishment of the Kotoku conspirators.

Evidence which was expected to prove of importance in solving the mystery of the escape of the murderer of Elsie Sigel was obtained by the customs inspectors in their recent raids on Chinese opium dens in New York.

MRS. SCHENK IS OUT OF PRISON.

Mrs. Laura Farnsworth Schenk, wife of John O. Schenk, whom she was charged with attempting to poison, was released on her own recognizance by Judge Jordan in the Criminal Court, Wheeling, Va., Saturday, the bail being left at $10,000. A few minutes before she had been served with papers in a divorce action filed by her husband in which it was stated that application will be made February 4 for an injunction to restrain her from communicating with or harassing her husband, or from interfering in any way with her children, Virginia and Robert Schenk, or from entering their house on the island there. The amount of alimony will also be argued at that time. A counter suit for divorce is being prepared by Mrs. Schenk's counsel, and the papers, it is said, will be served early next week. Since John O. Schenk neglected to announce that he would not be responsible for the debts contracted by his wife, it is held that he will be called upon to pay the costs of the late trial, about $100,000.

Immediately after the announcement that she was at liberty Mrs. Schenk, accompanied by her counsel, went to her tower-room in the jail, where plans for her immediate future were made. Soon afterward she entered the automobile of Attorney J. J. P. O'Brien and was driven to the residence of Mrs. Lasch, her island neighbor, who had testified for her during the trial. It is said that she will make her home there for the present.

AMONG OUR NEIGHBORS

SOMERVILLE.

The Camp Restless Club has elected the following officers: President, Karl Vanderbeer; secretary, Samuel Ayres, Jr.; treasurer, George R. Nevins; manager of camp, Paul Beardslee; assistant manager, Sherman Brunt. This organization has established a popular camp at Lake Hopatcong, and is the scene of many social gatherings. The club this week voted several improvements for the camp next year.

Louis P. Gaston, of West Cliff street, and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Richards and P. C. Miller, of Raritan, left on Thursday for a three weeks' trip through the West Indies, touching Jamaica, Panama and several South America ports.

Miss Helen Nevins, of East High street, is entertaining her cousin, Miss Marion Nevins, of Flemington.

Mrs. A. A. Lawton returned Saturday from A. R. where she had spent the week with relatives.

H. F. Galfin and daughter, Elizabeth, of South street, are spending a week at Atlantic City.

Arthur Reed, of New York, is visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Alvah A. Clark.

Miss Della Tingley, of Frankfort, is spending a week at Livingston Park.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

Constable Robert L. Pierce was called to the home of Charles Vail in New Market Friday night, because of a disturbance being created there, the result of a beer party. He arrested Vail, Mrs. Thomas Finerman and William Flynn. When brought before Justice Rogers, the last named was ordered to leave the village and the other two were released in their own recognizance to appear this afternoon.

PERSONAL.

Miss Grace Wilson, of Long Branch, has been spending two weeks at the home of Harry Piddington, of New Market.

Rev. H. N. Jordan, pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, is recovering from a severe attack of the grip.

Captain and Mrs. B. A. Cole, of Washington avenue, have been entertaining friends from Jersey City.

The Holy Name Society of St. John's church attended communion in a body at the church yesterday.

The G. E. club will be entertained tomorrow night by Mrs. G. Nelson, of New Market.

Mrs. Hannah Roantree, of New Market, has been visiting friends in Newark.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The week end meetings which are being held in the Methodist church by the pastor, Rev. George Hollingshead, were continued Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings. Owing to the bad weather last night's meeting was not attended by a large audience; however, the interest shown is most encouraging and the meetings will be continued for several weeks.

A chimney fire at the home of Mrs. Frank Hosinger on Park avenue last night at 6:30 called out the department. Fortunately the blaze was discovered in time and the quick action of Edward L. Hand in bringing into play a handy garden hose, prevented a serious conflagration, the blaze being extinguished when the firemen arrived.

Mrs. H. B. Saunders, of Washington Valley, has been called to Newport News, Va., on account of the illness of her husband, Capt. Saunders, who has been south for several months in the interest of the Lloyd Marine Insurance Co.

An interesting meeting of the Epworth League was held last night in the class rooms of the Methodist church.

Principal S. Dana Townsend, of the public schools, spent Saturday and Sunday at his home at Orange.

The weekly meeting of the B. Y. P. U. was held last night in the parlors of the church.

Miss Sadie Lee, of Front street, entertained friends from out of town over Sunday.

PHILLIPINE VOLCANOS SPECTACULAR ERUPTION.

After being dormant for many years, the volcano Taal, in Batangas Province, is again active. The eruptions began at 2 o'clock Saturday morning and were accompanied by three heavy earthquakes and followed by ninety lesser shocks. No damage was done by the quakes.

The eruptions abated somewhat Saturday evening, though frequent shocks continued during the day.

Plainfield Council, No. 294, Jr. O. U. A. M., will entertain the members of Windfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., this evening. The affair will be an informal one, followed with refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. August Kleinke, of Watchung avenue, are stopping for a time in New York city.

Miss Rose Verdon, of Somerset street, who has been detained at home by illness, has recovered.

Miss May Wyckoff, of Somerset street, who has been visiting relatives in Newark, has returned.

Miss Margaret Van Fleet, of this city, is visiting her brother, William H. VanFleet, of Findern.

The Misses Mabel and Rae Hooley, of Rockview avenue, who are ill with scarlet fever, continue to improve.

Among guests registered at the Prince George Hotel, New York, are Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Davies, of this city.

ELIZABETH PASTOR SAYS FAREWELL.

Elizabeth, Jan. 3.—The Rev. Herman G. Blaschke, for four years pastor of the First German Presbyterian church, Third street, preached his farewell sermon last night. He handed in his resignation several weeks ago. It was accepted by the Elizabeth Presbytery.

In his discourse Mr. Blaschke referred to the pleasant association existing between him and members of the church since his coming here. He expressed regret at leaving.

In the morning he bade farewell to the Sunday-school. He will be given a reception this evening and will move to Orange this week, pending an appointment. Last Sunday he preached in the German Presbyterian church, Jamaica, L. I., where there is a vacancy. Whether or not he will go there he was not prepared to state.

Mr. Blaschke came here from Jeffersonville, Sullivan county, N. Y., and during his pastorate has reduced the church debt from $16,000 to $12,000. The church has grown in membership and at present is one of the largest German Presbyterian churches in the country.

No action has been taken by the congregation toward filling the vacancy.

SPORTS News and Notes

BASEBALL.

Mike Donlin is through with baseball for good. This declaration was drawn forth by Fred Tenney's recent attempts to bring the former Giant back to the diamond as a member of the Boston National League team.
Mangar McGraw had given his consent to the negotiations. Donlin, who returned to New York Friday,
says Tenney began writing appealing letters while Donlin was appearing in vaudeville in Chicago. "He even wanted to come over to Chicago and argue it out with me," Donlin said. "But I wired him to save the trouble and expense if his only business was to try and convince me that 'Boston' would look good on my manly chest. I am done, and that goes."

Catcher Bill Carrigan, the star
backstop of the Red Sox, will not play ball this year, according to the last word from Boston. A few days ago President Taylor sent the catcher an ultimatum, asking him either to sign his contract or else announce his intention of quitting organized baseball. Mr. Taylor received a letter Friday stating that under no consideration would Carrigan accept the terms of the contract and that all negotiations might as well be called off. This means that Carrigan probably will remain in Dewiston,
Me., this summer.

A "rump" parliament of the I. L.
League, held in Chicago, has deprived Waterloo, Ia., of its franchise, given it to Quincy, Ill., and adjourned, subject to the call of the chairman, without in the least disturbance the equanimity of the owners of the Waterloo franchise and the three clubs aligned with them.
According to those engaged in the matter of ousting Waterloo, the action settles the squabble in the league. According to Waterloo and the clubs on its side, the action merely throws the fight into the courts.

Eddie Karger signed up with the Boston Red Sox Friday. He was the twenty-third player to sign a contract. The men are falling into line rapidly, so as to be on the band wagon when the big trip to the coast starts.

Harry Schlafly, second baseman of the Newark Indians, who, with Charley Dooley, owns the Tryg club, expects to start the season with the following lineup: First base, Claude Rossman, formerly of Detroit; second base, George Smith, formerly of Buffalo; shortstop, Schlafly; third base, Eddie McDonald, of Toronto;
outfielders, Duffy, Corcoran and possibly Jimmie Jones, now with Montreal; catchers, Vandegrift and one to be obtained from Buffalo. First baseman McGamwell may be traded to Scranton.

the Brooklyn National League club,

Rainy Day Specials

The inclement weather of the past few days has given us an opportunity to test our new "RAINY DAY SPECIAL" idea.

These "RAINY DAY SPECIALS"
of ours, as we told you Sunday, are placed on sale whenever it rains or snows. Our buyers usually have a good thing or two in reserve for such purposes, but if they don't happen to have any special merchandise on hand when the drops begin to fall they go to work and MAKE a special—they reduce some article from regular stock. Mind you,
"RAINY DAY SPECIALS" are never advertised in the papers—we simply put them on sale without saying a word. You, of course, must have confidence enough in us to take our word for it when we tell you they're worth coming for.

All day Friday and Saturday
groups of people could be seen here
and there throughout the store
LOOKING FOR THESE SPECIALS,
and every table or counter that displayed a "RAINY DAY SPECIAL"
was the centre of attraction.

Whenever it rains come to the Bamberger store and look for the red girl with the umbrella. Get the RAINY DAY HABIT—It's a good one.

who is now in Porto Rico, is quoted as saying that he will try to take his team to Porto Rico after the 1911 season. The plan includes a visit to Bermuda and Cuba, and if carried out will be the first time an American club has played in Porto Rico. Incidentally Ebbetts was pressed into service as umpire of games between local nines at San Juan.

Walter Johnson, the Washington
pitcher, says he will not sign a contract unless he receives a salary of $7,000 for the coming season. Johnson hung up the world's record for strikeouts last year. The Washington club has agreed to pay $6,500
to Johnson, but the big pitcher remains obdurate and declares that the other $500 must be handed over before he will agree to go South.

GOLF.

According to a man who attended the recent annual meeting of the Western Golf Association everything went through as per program agreed upon at a protracted conference held prior to the main session. All were of one mind that it would be foolish to urge the continents of North America and South America and islands pertaining thereto to join, but there was considerable discussion as to whether the amendment should be so worded as to take in all of the United States as well as Canada.
It was finally decided that for the present, at least, it would not be advisable to annex more than Canada.

There is a general feeling in the Western association that Silas H.
Strawn, the Chicago man recently elected president of the United States Golf Association, should have a chance to "make good"—in other words, get the parent organization
out of the narrow rut through which,
according to the West, it is now laboring.

A rather important resolution drafted by Crafts W. Higgins, was adopted without a dissenting vote, which means that it is practically certain to be passed at the next meeting. It will have the effect of making the Western Golf Association an association of associations. The resolution follows:

Be it resolved, That the president
be and is authorized and instructed to appoint a committee of three to prepare for submission to the next annual meeting an amendment to Article 8 of the constitution of this association to this effect:

"That the majority of the board of directors of this association shall be composed of representatives of other associations within the territory of this association; that each of such associations shall have the right to nominate respective candidates to represent them on the board of directors of this association in such manner as they severally shall determine; that the names of such representatives shall be filed with the secretary of this association not later than the 1st day of October in each year, and be by him immediately reported to the chairman of the nominating committee of this association; that the said nominating committee shall select from these various representatives named by the several associations the candidates for a majority of the board of directors of this association, provided, however, that in case a sufficient number of associations have not filed with the secretary of this association by October 1 the names of enough representatives to afford such majority the nominating committee shall have the power to select from among the officers and directors of other associations which have not filed the names of representatives the remaining number of candidates necessary to make a majority of the board of directors of this association."

GRAND JURY FINDS NO EVIDENCE OF BRIBERY.

The Union County Grand Jury
made a presentment Saturday to the effect that it had investigated the story of attempted bribery in connection with plans for the proposed Elizabeth High School and found no proof which would warrant it in finding an indictment. It had been reported that attempts had been made to bribe Commissioner Wenke, late president of the Board of Education. In its presentment the grand jury said:

"The statements of Commissioner Wenke are unsupported by any authentic facts or corroborative evidence. We believe such statements were indiscreetly made and without sufficient warrant."

THREE FUNERALS IN PHILLIPSBURG FAMILY.

The funeral of a mother, sister and daughter was conducted with one service in Wesley M. E. church, Phillipsburg, Saturday. The three women were victims of asphyxiation
from gas in their home last Tuesday night. Three hearses conveyed the bodies to the cemetery.

The dead were Mrs. Rebecca J.
Robinson, Miss Jennie Osborne and Mrs. Joseph Freyberger. Rev. O. M.
West officiated and twelve relatives
of the victims acted as pallbearers.

The Junior Mission Band of the First Baptist church, will give an entertainment at the church on Saturday, February 11.

THE FORUM.

FAVORS MUNICIPAL CONTROL.

Editor, The Daily Press:
I notice with much surprise your editorial of a few evenings since advising the Council to enter into a new contract with the water company for another term of ten years with a privilege of three or four more ten-year terms.

Of course, you attended the conference when Mr. Bergen was present and heard him say that under no circumstances would they cease supplying our underground waters to outside towns and cities as far as Elizabeth. You well know that this underground supply has not been sufficient for ten years past for Plainfield and those outside towns.

These cities and towns are growing very rapidly and will draw more and more on Plainfield's supply. We have but a small water pressure now in our hydrants, although the city pays the water company a good round sum for it. We are not getting what we pay for and we can point to the loss of VanDeventer Hall, the Babcock block and other buildings by fire for the lack of the promised pressure.

Where will we be in ten years from now unless something is done at once to curb the capacity of this company.

They absolutely refused to make a new contract on the condition of supplying Plainfield alone with its own waters.

The Council should either dig its own wells for the city or go to the Lamington River and at the same time start an injunction proceeding against the water company, and see if we cannot stop this diversion to other towns on the strength of the case of Meeker vs. City of East Orange.

WILLIAM M. STILLMAN.

SUNDAY CLOSING.

Editor, The Daily Press:
Our Mayor states that he has been placed in power by the citizens of this city to enforce the laws as he finds them and therefore he is closing up certain stores on Sunday.

He states that he has no discretion in the matter, and must enforce the laws as he finds them. He should therefore stop the sale of all Sunday newspapers, close all automobile garages, stop every freight car and all passenger trains, except two each way, arrest every automobile driver and bicycle rider, send every golf and tennis player to the city jail whether they are playing on their own private grounds or on public grounds, stop every trolley, arrest every dentist and lawyer who works in his office on Sunday, and stop any factory working over time; in fact, to carry out his policy he has assumed a large contract. He has no right to stop and persecute a few, and let the mass go without attention.

As to Seventh-Day Baptists there are but two stores here of that persuasion so far as I can find out. These are exempt if they in the words of the statute habitually abstain from following his or her occupation or business, and uniformly keeps the Seventh day of the week as the Sabbath.

There is no decision in this State as to the word Sabbath. In Connecticut and New England Sunday by law is a solar day; viz., from daylight on Sunday to dark in that day. We must go to the Bible for the interpretation of the word "Sabbath."

This begins Friday at sundown and ends on Saturday at sundown. Our statute has used the word "Sabbath" and we must be governed by the highest authority as to the meaning of the word; viz., "God's word," the Bible. He instituted it for the good of man, set its boundaries and man cannot charge the divine law one iota.

At the present time matters of immense interest are before us for proper settlement, city water, sewerage and other city improvements must be settled to the city's advantage. It would seem that it would be good policy for our Mayor to join hands with the Common Council and the various city departments and all seek to work harmoniously for the city's best interests. We need at the present time above everything else harmony, and concerted intelligent action by our city government if the important problems before us are to be properly solved.

If our Mayor would drop the little things and attend to the large problems before us he would best serve the city's interest at the present time.

A MONTCLAIR MOUSE HAD TOBACCO HABIT

The young men employed in the office of Kenneth D. Owen, former Town Surveyor of Montclair, in that town, have been puzzled for the last several weeks by the mysterious disappearance of their cigarettes. If one of the young engineers laid a "butt" aside for a moment it would disappear, and on several occasions even the packages in their pockets were rifled.

The mystery was solved yesterday when Alfred Barr, one of the office force, found that a mouse had made a nest in an empty milk bottle that was hidden in a corner of the closet which the engineers used as a wardrobe. The milk bottle was snugly lined with the cigarette paper and tobacco and a whole mouse family was comfortable in the cleverly-constructed warren. Barr killed the entire family by stopping up the bottle and turning into it a stream of illuminating gas.

IN HOBBLE SKIRTS MEN MOB NEGRO SNEAK THIEF

Three Keyport young men, dressed as women in hobble skirts and peach baskets hats, with handbags dangling from one arm, started out last night in an effort to capture the sneak thief who held up eight women and girls last week at Keyport.

George M. Mason, Sallat T. Young and Judson Hopla, the three "women," walked down the darkest streets in Keyport, where these hold-ups have occurred. Not long after parting Mr. Young, the originator of the scheme, was walking between Church and Cross streets when a negro sprang behind him and threw his arms around his waist, at the same time trying to wrench the handbag from his arm.

Mr. Young got a firm grasp on the thief and said: "You're the very man I'm looking for." A struggle ensued, but Mr. Young proved more than the negro's match, and when the thief found his would-be victim was a man he begged his captor to let him go. Mr. Young signalled to his companions, who were only a block away, and the three "women" took the thief to the jail.

The negro was Henry Johnson, 40 years old. Over 200 people gathered at the Town Hall at the hearing held before Justice of the Peace A. M. Walling, and some of the husbands and relatives of the women who had been held up, presumably by the negro, were so wrought up over the matter that there were rumors of lynching. Justice Walling held the negro for the Grand Jury without bail and later he was taken to Freehold, it being thought the county jail would be a safer place under the circumstances.

Among those who have been held up recently, some of whom were robbed, were Mrs. Thomas Walling, Frances Sprout, May Boice and Myrtle Walling.

CHAMOIS COLLAR CASES.
Stiffen two chamois disks with cardboard and lace them to a sidepiece two inches deep. Lace by punching both disks and sidepiece with round holes (use a paper punch or a nutpick if you haven't the former useful article), and then threading with silk cord the color of the chamois.

Overcast lacing on the sidepiece along its top edge, and within this tack a chamois-color silk drawn up with ribbons.

Make this of a size to hold collars and you have a little gift that bachelor maid and bachelor man will find equally useful and acceptable.

HE WANTS AFFIDAVITS AS BAD EGG REMEDY

Written guarantees as to the age of eggs, backed by affidavits if necessary, are the best tonic for the egg-producing industry of New Jersey, according to Professor H. R. Lewis, of the State Agricultural College, who addressed the Farmers' Institute in Roseland at Caldwell, Saturday night.

Professor Lewis said the single combed white leghorn was the star of the poultry farm, for its eggs commanded the best prices in the markets. New Jersey, owing to its nearness to great markets and its soil and climate, is one of the best poultry States in the Union, equalled only by Rhode Island and California.

In ten years, Professor Lewis said, New Jersey's production of poultry has grown in value from $4,000,000 to $10,000,000.

LEGISLATURE TO GET SUNDAY OPENING BILL

With the opening of the Legislature tonight for the fourth week of the session, the lawmakers are expected to get down to the actual business of passing bills which the Senatorial contest held up.

It is expected that the Senate and House will sit tonight and Tuesday morning and afternoon, when adjournment will probably be taken for the week. There is a disposition in the Senate to do away with the Monday night sessions, but the House will not consent, the Assemblymen thinking too highly of the evening opportunity of speaking to crowded galleries.

A Local Option bill and an Anti-Cigarette bill are likely this week to follow Assemblyman Bunn's bill to prohibit treating in saloons, and then the temperance reform movement of the session will be well in hand. It is expected, too, that representatives of interests in the large cities and the summer resorts will be on hand with an "open Sunday" measure or two, just to keep things lively. It is doubtful, however, if any raid on the excise regulations will be accomplished in either direction. Gov. Wilson would not sign an "open Sunday" bill and the Democratic House would never pass a Local Option act.

Tonight will doubtless bring in a flood of bills. Real work of the session will not get under way until the middle of February, and then it will be a case of hustle until late in March or early in April when final adjournment will be reached.

Mrs. Alfred P. Palmer, of this city, is registered at the Chalfonte, Atlantic City.

THIEVES PROTECTED, A RECTOR CHARGES WILL INTRODUCE BILL TO AMEND DEATH ACT

Thieves who recently looted churches in Englewood and Tenafly were able to command political influence which prevented their indictment by the Bergen County Grand Jury, according to charges made public Saturday by the Rev. A. E. Montgomery, rector of the Episcopal Church of the Atonement, at Tenafly. A copy of the charges has been sent to Governor Wilson, with a request that he order an immediate inquiry.

The Rev. Mr. Montgomery did not attempt to place the responsibility for the political influences at work with the Grand Jury, but he characterized their results as a sad miscarriage of justice. He declared that he was well advised in making his charges and that his charges had been read and approved by the rector at Tenafly, who as justice of the peace had held several confessed thieves for the Grand Jury, only to find that they were released.

"I am not basing a condemnatory conclusion upon an isolated instance," Mr. Montgomery said. "The situation of which I complain is a continuing one, with many examples to bear out the charge that something keeps thieves who operate here out of jail when the Grand Jury at Hackensack takes over the power of prosecution. I cannot fix the responsibility. That is why I am appealing for full publicity. And I hope after general attention has been focused upon the matter that a determination may be had which will terminate the present scandalous situation. It extends not only to the thieves from whom our church has suffered, but to men reputed to be receivers of the goods stolen from the church. In one specific case which I mention in my formal letter of protest the stolen goods were wraps of members of the congregation, and I know that the Presbyterian church and parish house have suffered as badly as ourselves."

Prosecutor Wright said last night that the charges of the rector are false. He said that in the last year only one case had been thrown out, and that because there was not sufficient evidence. "These charges are based on cases two and three years old," he said. "There has been nothing of that kind as long as I have been prosecutor and as there will not be."

BOROUGH BOYS PILFER A SUNDAY DINNER ORDER.

John Colder, Edward Colder and Andrew Judge, three borough boys, were arrested by Recorder Doliver this morning on a disorderly charge preferred by the police. The three were arrested by Chief Weiss after they had stolen nearly the entire Sunday dinner grocery order, left on the rear porch of a Grove street residence, Saturday afternoon. It is alleged that they had repeatedly annoyed the housekeepers in this way and other residents near Grove street and Linden avenue.

The boys were lectured by the court and promised not to repeat the offense. To make sure that tabs were kept on them, Judge was ordered to report regularly to Rev. Father Miller and the Colder boys to Rev. J. O. McKelvey, acting as probation officers.

PARALYSIS FATAL TO MRS. CHARLOTTE BARBER.

Mrs. Charlotte Barber, widow of Nelson Barber, died shortly before noon today at her home, 336 Somerset street. Death was the result of a paralytic stroke which she suffered two weeks ago.

Mrs. Barber was a native of Asbury, Warren county, but had lived in this vicinity for twenty years. She had many friends in both the city and borough. Surviving her are one son, Johnson Barber, and a daughter, Mrs. William Schenck, both living at the mother's address. Funeral arrangements have not been made.

An Organ Recital.

The music at Grace P. E. church yesterday afternoon in the 42nd organ recital by S. Frederick Smith, organist and choirmaster, was beyond reproach. Mr. Smith thrilled the congregation with the two numbers by Giumant, sonata and pastoral. Dubois' "Messe de Marriage" was also beautifully played.

Musical Service at Bethel.

A musical service was held at Bethel chapel last night under the direction of the choir. Several special anthems and solo numbers were rendered in a manner that pleased the large audience. A silver offering was received at the door.

Assemblyman Charles M. Egan, of Hudson county, will at tonight's session of the Legislature, at Trenton, introduce a bill to amend the death act, so as to wipe out in New Jersey the doctrine of law which Justice Gummere was once severely criticised for following.

The death act provides, as it now stands, that in the event of the killing of a person by accident the person responsible shall be liable for the amount of the pecuniary loss to the next of kin, by the death of the victim, and no more.

Thus, in the case of a very young child, who earns nothing and is, on the contrary, an expense to the parent, or in the case of an aged man who has become too feeble to work, the recovery in a suit of damages would be merely nominal, or, as the sensational newspapers misstated when Justice Gummere gave his decision in the case of the killing by a trolley car of the boy of Abraham Graham, the amount to be recovered cannot be more than $1.

Assemblyman Egan says he believes that this theory of law is all wrong and that New Jersey should recognize the life of a child as of greater value. His amendment to the death act will provide that the minimum amount to be recovered in a suit for the killing by accident of a human being, whether it be an infant in arms or one tottering to the grave, shall be $10,000.

Senator Leavitt, of Mercer, will introduce a bill to permit commercial travelers to carry more baggage than at present without paying for the excess. The real purpose will be to permit them to carry their sample trunks as ordinary baggage.

GOVERNOR WILSON'S MANY APPOINTMENTS

Interest in the appointments that the Governor may make has been revived by the passing of the United States Senatorship. Needless to say, the Governor is confronted with a mountain of applications. There will be no lack of material when it comes to filling any vacancy.

Governor Wilson has probably had less to say regarding patronage than upon any other of the important subjects that he has been called upon to consider since his election. In this connection he has emphasized only one point, that fitness will be a matter of first consideration. No doubt he will give weight to the recommendations of county organizations and influential Democrats in making his appointments, but the importance of fitness of the appointees will be emphasized. The Governor is first convinced that the indorsed has special fitness for the job.

HORTICULTURE

FERTILIZING THE GARDEN.
With Waste Material and Stable Manure It Can Be Made Very Productive.

A variety of plants with a variety of plant food requirements are grown in the garden. To meet the growing needs of all these different plants many different kinds of fertilizers must be used on the garden soil. The garden gives large yields in proportion to the area cultivated, and no labor and means should be spared to make it yield abundantly.

It is well to begin to fertilize the garden soil early in the winter—in fact, just as soon as the crops are harvested in the late summer and fall. Ashes are very good to use for fertilizing the garden.

The winter and spring rains leach out mineral elements of the ashes and carry them to the roots of the fruit trees, bushes and vines for early feeding when spring growth begins.

The dirt waste about the dwelling can be utilized in the garden soil better than in any other way, and in a few years the fertilization amounts to considerable.

About twice each week the cow lot can be cleaned with the rake and shovel, and the scrapings should be removed to the garden and dumped in piles. By spring gardening time these small piles are decomposed and in a fine condition for working into the soil either for vegetables or for the flower beds.

Cow manure is mild and safe to use with the tenderness of plants, as very little heat is given off in decomposition. That which has remained in small heaps over winter in the garden works up in the spring as fine as the finest garden loam and is one of the best all around garden fertilizers that can be used.

The droppings from the poultry houses should also be cleaned out regularly during the winter and either applied direct to the garden soil or mixed with stable manure and applied thinly over the surface.

Where coal ashes or other similar absorbing material is used with the droppings there is less danger of overfertilizing the soil with them. The ashes absorb and hold fertilizing elements, and when they are worked into the soil they give up these fertilizers as plant foods and at the same time improve the texture of the soil, making it light, friable and very easy to work. Absorbing material should always be used with poultry droppings, since it makes the poultry house more sanitary and almost doubles the value of the manure.

Where not enough refuse about the home can be secured to properly fertilize the garden during the winter, use manure from the animal stables. In the spring all the coarsest portion should be raked from the garden and hauled to the fields.

HOWELL PEAR A FAVORITE.

A Beautiful Fruit With a Good Taste That Has Always Proved a Good Seller.

This attractive group of pears are of the Howell variety and are ideal for early autumn use. In appearance they are soft, light yellow in color with occasional handsome, finely shaded cheeks. They are thickly sprinkled with minute russet specks, which often grade into darker patches. The flesh is quite firm, moderately rich, but somewhat variable in quality, due probably to difference in soil conditions. The Howell has a pleasant aromatic taste and melts like butter when eaten. The tree is a good, vigorous grower, with erect branches, and the fruit is remarkably fair and a good seller.

Use of Good Seed.
It is very important to use grass and clover seed of good quality. The best grades of all seeds are always cheap in the end. The weed seeds so commonly present in the cheaper grades of seeds, together with the low vitality of these cheaper grains, are responsible for a large percentage of the pasture and meadow troubles.

Hauling Manure Regularly.
Manure can be hauled and scattered over some portion of the farm every month of the year to good advantage. It is much better to leave it on the land than in the barnyard or in piles near the farm buildings. The manure spreader is a wonderful help in lightening the work of unloading and obtaining an even distribution over the soil.

Pear Blight.
Pear blight very often affects apple trees, and whenever it is discovered every particle of the diseased parts should be cut out, or if very bad the entire tree should be burned.

LOW BRIMMED HATS

They Are Not Suitable to All Types.

New Late Winter Models Show Large Quantities of Feathers—Most Popular Shades Are Gold and Yellow.

Women have often been accused by men of making themselves look ridiculous with their clothes, but this is the first time they have laid themselves open to the charge of hiding their light under a bushel, of concealing their charms to the extent of making themselves unrecognizable. Yet some of the winter hats are more like extinguishers than anything else. Often it is impossible to tell who's who under the hat.

Besides the fact that you can't recognize the person beneath without bending down and peering under the brim, the capotes are made of the craziest combinations of material. A hat seen in a shop window recently had a foundation which was an old brocade sofa cover veiled with chiffon in a Parisian design. The inevitable fur edging was present, of course, and this was further graced by a square piece of gold embroidery at the side. At the edge of the square of embroidery was sewed a gold tassel, and the heterogeneous combination was not only pronounced exceedingly smart, but was very expensive. It found a buyer at once, and many like unto it from other pieces of the sofa cushion sold like hot cakes.

Odds and ends of cretonne pieced out or with the flowers of the cretonne applique on a velvet foundation have also turned up as hats this season, and the very latest idea is flowers made of little pieces of fur sewed or glued upon petal foundations.

It seems that the milliners have had rather an easy time of it this year, for we have never come to a time in the history of fashions when so much individuality was allowed and so little was displayed. Most of the women one sees on Fifth avenue or in the tea rooms at 5 o'clock might be twins except for disparity of age and size. But the black velvet suit and the close fitting hat, fur edged and coming down well over the face, have become almost uniform, these suits and hats having been turned out by the million by calculating merchants for an unthinking public.

The prevailing fashions of today are made for the so called new type of American girl, who is smaller than the Gibson girl of ten years ago and who in appearance suggests Slavonic ancestry more than Anglo-Saxon. She is supremely well suited to the Russian and Japanese effects in dress which are now so apparent. The moujik cap and the Cossack bonnet bring out all the interesting beauty of her face and seem to belong to her. The barbaric colors and embroideries are hers by right of inheritance, and she should continue to wear them. The Celtic type looks out of its element peering from a sinister frame of fur. It takes larger and more flowing styles to set off the beauty of the Anglo-Saxon type.

The new hats for late winter show quantities of these charming feathers on wide shaped black velvet hats. The most popular shades are gold and yellow. The French ostrich plume or short ostrich feather is also expected to be very popular and to replace the willow.

Using Old Wool.

Don't you who crochet and knit often have odd lengths of wool of various colors left over, so small you can do nothing with them? Of course you do, especially now that the Christmas deluge has just subsided. Well, here is a way to get rid of them and to make things worth while in the bargain.

Tie the pieces together haphazard, but keeping the same weights together. Take long needlefuls and work in the shell stitch such articles as hug-mitts, tea cozies, cushion covers, bed throws, etc., according to the weight and amount of wool you have.

A word as to the various varieties of crocheting and knitting wool might not come amiss. Shetland zephyr, Shetland wool and ice wool are of about the same weight; so are cashmere yarn, Spanish worsted and Dresden Saxony, and Germantown zephyr, Shetland floss and knitting worsted. With this as your guide you can utilize your old wool if you make only children's reins with it.

NEW TURBANS.

They Are Particularly Conspicuous on Account of the Lavish Display of Feathers.

Of course the little "top" hat, as a few milliners call the closely fitted turban of fur and velours, has had its day, and it is not surprising that the price having reached the attainable, makers are exploiting new and more expensive models.

Wings are the most general trimming, such lovely wings that one's appreciation of the beauty submerges the humane instincts—iridescent wings, snowy feathers and all the made varieties that are more attractive than ever.

Some of the turbans are combinations of fur and wings, each being applied in square or pointed tabs that are turned back over a malines or satin foundation.

Breasts are run through slots in fur crowns and on brims. Feathers are used to edge fur wings, and fur edges feather forms.

As to the place at which wings rise to the millinery occasion it would be difficult to say. They are everywhere, of all sizes and shapes, and give a fairly durable ornamentation for hats. They are decidedly less expensive than plumes and are invariably becoming. So what more can you require?

FOR THE STOUT WOMAN.

An Attractive Advance Model of Spring and Summer Skirts For Conservative Dressers.

The new skirts for spring and summer are interesting, and some models are so attractive that even the most conservative dressers will not hesitate to copy them. Such a design, and one that is not difficult to complete, is pictured here.

This model may be effectively developed in silk, woolen or tub materials and is especially desirable for the latter, as it is not difficult to launder.

To make the skirt from any material all the pieces of the pattern should be laid on the goods and cut out before commencing to baste. The gores are joined according to the notches, beginning with the front gore and working toward the back on either side. The plaits at the side of the front gore are pinned, basted and pressed in position before the skirt is tried on.

If it is necessary to make any change in the skirt in order to have it fit over the hips the material should be taken up or let out, as the case may require, at the side gores. If considerable alteration is required the result will be more satisfactory if the goods are taken up or let out a little at each gore; otherwise the change will throw the lines of the seams out of proportion at the waist line.

The seams can be effectively finished in the regular way, then opened and pressed flat, or they can be stitched flat in tailor fashion.

The waist may be finished with a narrow belt or with a facing. The latter is preferable for stout figures, as it is flat and does not increase the waist line.

The lower edge of the skirt must be turned up the desired length and hemmed.

A pretty and serviceable skirt for wear with tub waists could be made from dark blue serge in one of the new weaves. It would be quite attractive developed in broadcloth, cashmere or chevrot.

To develop this skirt four and one-eighth yards of thirty-six inch material or three and one-quarter yards of forty-four inch fabric will be needed.

Household Glue.

To make a liquid glue that will keep for years break some pieces of glue and put them into a bottle, adding to them a little whisky. Cork the bottle tightly and set it aside for a few days, when the glue will be ready for use without the application of heat, except in very cold weather. In this case the bottle should be placed in hot water for a few minutes before the glue is used.

SHERIFF'S SALE—In Chancery of New Jersey. Between The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, complainant, and Mary Jane Kelly, executrix, et al, defendants. Fl. fa. for sale of mortgaged premises.

By virtue of the above-stated writ of fieri facias to me directed I shall expose for sale by public vendue, at the Sheriff's office, in the Courtroom, in the City of Elizabeth, N. J., on

at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day, all that certain lot or parcel of land and premises situate, lying and being in the City of Plainfield, in the County of Union and State of New Jersey, and bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at a point formed by the intersection of the northwesterly line of Fourth street with the northeasterly line of Clinton avenue; thence running along the northwesterly line of Fourth street north forty-nine degrees twenty-two minutes east three hundred and thirty-two feet and ninety-nine hundredths of a foot to a corner; thence north forty-three degrees thirty-five minutes west five hundred and ninety-four feet and eighty-eight hundredths of a foot to a corner; thence south forty-seven degrees forty-six minutes west three hundred and forty-nine feet and forty-nine hundredths of a foot to a corner in the northeasterly line of Clinton avenue; thence along the northeasterly line of Clinton avenue south forty-five degrees fourteen minutes east five hundred and eighty-six feet and twenty-six hundredths of a foot to the point of place of beginning.

The above description is taken from a survey made by P. A. Dunham, C. E., Plainfield, N. J., April, 1895.

Being the same premises conveyed to John Lavery by the two following deeds: The first made by the First National Bank of Plainfield, dated January 15, 1887, and recorded January 22, 1887, in the Union County Clerk's office, in book 187 of deeds for said county, on pages 69, etc.; the second made by Margaret E. McLaughlin, dated May 21, 1888, and recorded May 31, 1888, in the said Clerk's office, in book 200 of deeds for said county, pages 30, etc.

The Most Industrious Store in Newark---The City of Industry

Another Great Day of Bargains in the Remnant Sale

We complete the inventory of our stocks on Tuesday night. Before we close the books we want to get rid of every Remnant and every Oddment in every stock in the house--from Pianos to Ribbons. Every short length of goods, every little lot, every broken size, every seasonable article or garment is to be disposed of if it's "in the wood" to do it. Our policy will not be one of "conservation." We will show a reckless disregard of values. We will seek in the most strenuous manner to mow down every little pile of goods, to throw out all the little odds and ends--to sell at any price almost what things will bring.

Thousands of Dollars' Worth of Goods Will Go Without Profits
Tables Everywhere Will Be Piled High With Goods Priced at Less Than Cost--Every Department Will Participate in This Big Event.

German Steak.
To a pint of cold minced lamb add two stalks of finely chopped celery and a tablespoonful of parsley. Stir in a tablespoonful of melted butter, the crumbs of three large crackers, half a teaspoonful of salt, one-eighth teaspoonful of pepper, one teaspoonful of green mint chopped fine, one beaten egg and enough water to moisten. Shape into a steak and place in buttered pan. Bake for thirty minutes, basting three times. Use two tablespoonful of vinegar to which a tablespoonful of melted butter has been added. Cover the top of the steak with cracker crumbs mixed with egg yolk and replace in oven to brown. Serve with a garnish of parsley and sliced lemon.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Another Insomnia Cure.
For sleeplessness fill a hot water bottle and place it under the ankles. It works better there than at the soles of the feet. Put a rather small amount of very cold water in another rubber bottle and lay it on the head. The cold water is more comfortable than ice, which seems exciting rather than soothing. At first, says a woman who has tried this cure, I would get to sleep in about an hour and wake again as the water heated. The cold water would have to be changed four or five times during the night. Then once changing was enough, and now if the brain begins to spin after I lie down for sleep I put on the cold water bottle and am asleep soon for the whole night.—Harper's Bazar.

Beards and Barriers.
In England barristers were at one time strictly prohibited from wearing beards. In the "Black Books" of Lincoln's inn there is an order, dated "All Saints' day, 1542," which enacts that "Mr. Gernyn, oon of the Fellowship, shall before the xijth day of the instant month of November shave off his beard and afterwards to kepe the same in like sorte, upon the payne to be exilled from the Fellowship." A few years later, in 1557, the order was somewhat relaxed: "Item, that none under the degre of a knight or benchor were any bearde above 1ij. weekes' growinge, upon payne of xls. for every weeke after monycion."—London Chronicle.

Ceremonial Citron.
A valuable and somewhat curious variety of citron is cultivated along the shores of Albania, western European Turkey. It is known as the "Casenla" or "Esrog" (Hebrew). It is a small citron, weighing not more than twenty-five drams, just large enough to be held in the hand, and is thus used in the religious ritual by the Jews all over the world during the celebration of their feast of tabernacles. Such a citron, if sufficiently small, without blemish and possessing a somewhat extended nozzle, is valued at from $4 to $10 each. These citrons are mostly exported from Parga, Turkey, and not from Corfu, as is generally supposed. A few are said to grow near Diakovto, Greece.

He Backslid.
An Atchison man who recently "confessed religion" and became a member of the church says his family, and not his associates downtown, are responsible for the backsliding that followed within three weeks. He says his wife and the girls were in a conspiracy to impose upon him, to work him for money, to make him do more work around the house and to submit to all sorts of tyrannies without grumbling. "He can't object," he overheard his wife say, "for he has religion now and is bound to be meek and humble." Three weeks of this drove him into a frenzy, and one day he backslid so vehemently and forcibly that his wife and daughters were left speechless.—Atchison Globe.

A Lover of Candor.
Impecunious Man—I wish you would be so kind as to lend me a sovereign. I'll pay you back in a few days.
Candid Friend—If you had asked me for the loan in a candid and straightforward manner I would have loaned you the money, but asking me in the way you did causes me to distrust you.
"I don't understand you."
"You asked me to be so kind as to lend you a sovereign?"
"Yes."
"If you had been candid, you would have said to me, 'Be so stupid, be such an ignominious ass, such a hopeless idiot as to lend me a sovereign,' and you might have got it."—Pearson's Weekly.

A Joke on Offenbach.
Offenbach, the famous opera bouffe composer, had an insatiable thirst for success and fame combined with a vanity that occasionally played him a sorry trick. Once he was going down the Rhine on a steamer, among whose passengers was the Duke of Nassau, a fact of which the composer was in blissful ignorance. As the steamer approached its last stopping place the bank of the river was seen to be covered by a dense throng of people, who were shouting and waving their hats. A band on the pier was playing a march from one of Offenbach's operas. As the boat touched the pier Offenbach stepped to the rail and bowed and waved his hat to the people in acknowledgment of this flattering ovation.
"It is glorious to be received in a foreign land like this!" he remarked to his companions.
But his self complacency received a rude shock the next instant when the duke's adjutant appeared and said in a rough and unfeeling manner: "Get out of the way, will you, and let his highness show himself!"—London Standard.

Cavanagh, Forest Ranger

The Great Conservation Novel

By HAMLIN GARLAND

Copyright, 1910, by Hamlin Garland

Lize, under the spur of her dream, talked on with bitter boldness, berating the town and its people. Gregg listened to her with expressionless visage, his eyes dreamily fixed on Lee's face, but his companion, the old herder, seemed to palpitate with shame and fear. And Ross had the feeling at the moment that in this ragged, unkempt old hero was the skeleton of one of the old time heroes. He was wasted with drink and worn by wind and rain, but he was very far from being commonplace.

CHAPTER XII.

THE LAW STEPS IN.

"HERE they come again!" called Lize as the hurry of feet along the walk threatened another attack. Ross Cavanagh again drew his revolver and stood at guard, and Lize, recovering her own weapon, took a place by his side.

With the strength of a bear the new assailant shook the bolted door. "Let me in!" he roared.

"It's dad!" called young Gregg. "Go away, you chump!"

"Let me in or I'll smash this door!" retorted Gregg.

"You smash that door, old Bullfrog," announced Lize, "and I'll carry one of your lungs away. If you want to get in here you hunt up the judge of this town and the constable."

The old rancher muttered a fierce curse, while Ross explained the situation. "I'm as eager to get rid of these culprits as any one can be, but they must be taken by proper authority. Bring a writ from the magistrate and you may have them and welcome."

Gregg went away without further word, and Lize said: "He'll find Higley if he's in town, and he is in town, for I saw him this afternoon. He's hiding out to save himself trouble."

Lee Virginia, with an understanding of what the ranger had endured, asked: "Can't I get you something to eat? Would you like some coffee?"

"I would indeed," he answered, and his tone pleased her.

She hurried away to get it, while Cavanagh disposed his prisoners behind a couple of tables in the corner. "I guess you're in for a night of it," he remarked grimly, "so make yourselves as comfortable as you can. Perhaps your experience may be a discouragement to others of your kind."

Lee returned soon with a pot of fresh coffee and some sandwiches, the sight of which roused young Gregg to the impudent remark: "Well, notice that! And we're left out!" But Edwards shrunk into the shadow, as if the light hurt him.

Ross thanked Lee formally, but there was more than gratitude in his glance, and she turned away to hide her face from other eyes. Strange place it was for the blooming of love's roses, but they were in her cheeks as she faced her mother, and Lize, with fresh acknowledgment of her beauty, broke out again: "Well, this settles it. I'm going to get out of this town, dearie. I'm done. This ends the cattle country for me. I ought to have turned you back the day you landed here."

The feet halted. A sharp rap sounded on the door.

"Who's there?" demanded Lize.

"The law!" replied a wheezy voice. "Open in the name of the law!"

"It's old Higley," announced Lize. "Open the door, Ross."

"Come in, law," she called ironically as the justice appeared. "You look kind of nice eaten, but you're all the law this blame town can sport. Come in and do your duty."

Higley (a tall man with a rusty brown beard, very much on his dignity) entered the room, followed by a short, bullet-headed citizen in a rumpled blue suit with a big star on his breast. Behind on the sidewalk Ballard and a dozen of his gang could be seen. Sam Gregg, the moving cause of this resurrection of law and order, followed the constable. Higley opened upon Cavanagh: "Well, sir, what's all this row? What's your charge against these men?"

"Killing mountain sheep. I caught them with the head of a big ram upon their pack."

"Make him show his commission," shouted Gregg. "He's never been commissioned. He's no game warden."

Higley hemmed. "I—ah—oh, his authority is all right, Sam; I've seen it. If he can prove that these men killed the sheep we'll have to act."

Cavanagh tried to relate how he had captured the men on the trail. "The head of the ram is at the livery barn with my horse."

"How about that?" asked Higley, turning to Joe.

"I guess that's right," replied the insolent youth. "We killed the sheep all right."

Higley was in a corner. He didn't like to offend Gregg, and yet the case was plain. He met the issue blandly. "Marshal, take these men into cus-ody." Then to Ross: "Well, thank you of your care, Mr. Cavanagh. You may appear tomorrow at 9."

It was a farcical ending to a very arduous thirty-six hour campaign, and Ross, feeling like a man who, having rolled a huge stone to the top of a hill, has been ordered to drop it, said, "I insist on the maximum penalty of the law, Justice Higley, especially for this man!" He indicated Joe Gregg.

"No more sneaking, Higley," added Lize, uttering her distrust in blunt phrase. "You put these men through or I'll make you trouble."

Higley turned and with unsteady solemnity saluted. "Fear not my government, madam," said he and so made exit.

After the door had closed behind them Cavanagh bitterly complained. "I've delivered my prisoners over into the hands of their friends. I feel like a fool. What assurance have I that they will ever be punished?"

"You have Higley's word," retorted Lize, with ironic inflection. "He'll fine 'em as much as $10 apiece and confiscate the head, which is worth fifty."

"No matter what happens now, you've done your duty," added Lee Virginia with intent to comfort him.

Lize, now that the stress of the battle was over, fell a-tremble. "I reckon I'll have to go to bed," she admitted. "I'm all in. This night service is wearing."

She did indeed resemble the wreck of a woman as she lay out upon her bed, her hands twitching, her eyes closed, and Ross was profoundly alarmed. "You need the doctor," he urged. "Let me bring him."

"No," she said huskily, but with decision; "I'm only tired. I'll be all right soon. Send the people away. Tell 'em to go to bed."

For half an hour Cavanagh remained in the room waiting to see if the doctor's services would be required, but at the end of that time, as she had apparently fallen asleep, he rose and tiptoed out into the hall.

Lee followed, and they faced each other in such intimacy as the shipwrecked feel after the rescue.

When they were quite alone Lee said, "You must not go out into the streets tonight."

"There's no danger. These hoodlums would not dare to attack me."

"Nevertheless you shall not go," she declared. "Wait a moment," she commanded and re-entered her mother's room.

As he stood there at Lize Wetherford's door and his mind went back over her brave deed, which had gone far to atone for her vulgarity, his respect for her deepened. Lee Virginia opened the door and stepped out close beside him.

"Her breathing is quieter," she whispered. "I think she's going to sleep. It's been a terrible night! You must be horribly tired. I will find you some place to sleep. Please don't go till after breakfast," she smiled wanly. "I may need you."

He understood. "What did the doctor say?"

"He said mother was in a very low state of vitality and that she must be very careful, which was easy enough to say. But how can I get her to rest and to diet? You have seen how little she cares for the doctor's orders. He told her not to touch alcohol."

"She is more like a man than a woman," he answered.

She led the way into the small sitting room which lay at the front of the house and directly opposite the door of her own room. It was filled with shabby parlor furniture, and in one corner stood a worn couch. "I'm sorry, but I can offer nothing better," she said. "Every bed is taken, but I have plenty of blankets."

"WELL, NOTICE THAT! AND WE'RE LEFT OUT."

There was something delightfully suggestive in being thus waited upon by a young and handsome woman, and the ranger submitted to it with the awkward grace of one unaccustomed to feminine care.

They faced each other in silence, each filled with the same delicious sense of weakness, of danger, reluctant to say good night, longing for the closer touch which dawning love demanded, and yet something in the girl defended her, defeated him.

"You must call me if I can be of any help," he repeated, and his voice was tremulous with feeling.

"I will do so," she answered.

Still they did not part. His voice was very tender as he said: "I don't like to see you exposed to such experiences. It angers me to think that the worst of these loafers, these drunken beasts, can glare at you, can morose. As the training was judgment, he was being drawn into closer and closer union with this daughter of violence, and he added: "You may not see me in the morning."

"You must not go without seeing my mother. You must have your breakfast with us. It hurt us to think you didn't come to us for supper."

Her words meant little, but the look in her eyes, the music in her voice, made him shiver. He stammered: "I—I must return to my duties tomorrow. I should go back tonight."

"You mustn't do that. You can't do that. You are to appear before the judge."

He smiled. "That's true. I'd forgotten that."

Radiant with relief, she extended her hand. "Good night, then. You must sleep."

He took her hand and drew her toward him; then, perceiving both wonder and fear in her eyes, he conquered himself. "Good night," he repeated, dropping her hand, but his voice was husky with its passion.

CHAPTER XIII.

THE OLD SHEEP HERDER.

THE ranger was awakened in the first faint dawn by the passing of the girl's light feet as she went across the hall to her mother's room, and a moment later he heard the low murmur of her voice. Throwing off his blankets and making such scant toilet as he needed, he stepped into the hall and waited for her to return.

Soon she came toward him, a smile of confidence and pleasure on her lips. "How is she?" he asked.

"Quite comfortable."

"And you?" His voice was very tender.

"I am a little tired," she acknowledged. "I didn't sleep very well."

"You didn't sleep at all," he declared regretfully.

"Oh, yes, I did," she replied brightly. These two ardent souls confronted each other in absorbed silence with keener perception, with new daring, with new intimacy, till he recalled himself with effort. "You must let me help you if there's anything I can do. Remember, I'm your big brother."

"I remember," she answered smilingly. "And I'm going out to see what my big brother is to have for breakfast."

Cavanagh found the street empty, silent and utterly commonplace. He went forth to his duties with a deepened conviction of the essential lawlessness of the state and of America in general, for this spirit of mob law was to be found in some form throughout the land. He was disgusted, but not beaten. His resolution to carry out the terms of his contract with the government remained unshaken.

He carried with him also a final disturbing glimpse of Ediza Wetherford's girl that did indeed threaten his peace of mind. There was an involuntary appeal, a wistful depth, to her glance which awakened in him an indignant pity and also blew into flame something not so creditable—something which smoldered beneath his conscious will. She had not escaped her heritage of passion, and her glances, innocent as they were, roused even in him something lawless.

His pony plodded slowly, and the afternoon was half spent before he came in sight of the long, low log cabin in which was the only home he possessed in all America. For the first time since he built it the station seemed lonely and disheartening. "Would any woman for love of me come to such a hearthstone?" he asked himself. "And if she consented to do so could I be so selfish as to exact such sacrifice? No; the forest ranger in these altitudes must be young and heart free; otherwise his life would be miserably solitary."

He was just dishing out his rude supper when the feet of a horse on the log bridge announced a visitor.

With a feeling of pleasure as well as relief he rose to greet the stranger. "Any visitor is welcome this night," he said.

The horseman proved to be his former prisoner, the old man Edwards, who slipped from his saddle with the never failing grace of the cow man and came slowly toward the cabin. He smiled wearily as he said: "I'm on your trail, Mr. Ranger, but I bear no malice. You were doing your duty. Can you tell me how far it is to Ambro's camp?"

There was something forlorn in the man's attitude, and Cavanagh's heart softened. "Turn your horse into the corral and come to supper," he commanded with western bluntness. "We'll talk about all that later."

Edwards accepted his hospitality without hesitation. "I'm going up to take Ambro's place," he began after a few minutes of silent eating. "Know where his camp is?"

"I do," replied Ross, to whom the stranger now appeared in pathetic guise. "Any man of his age consenting to herd sheep is surely hard hit by the rough hand of the world," he reasoned, and the closer he studied his visitor the plainer he felt his ungoverned past.

"I suppose Gregg paid your fine?" he said.

"Yes."

"In any other town in the state you'd have gone down the line."

He roused himself. "See here, Mr. Ranger, you've no warrant to believe me, but I told you the truth. Young Gregg got me to ride into the range and show him the trail. I didn't intend to get mixed up with a game warden. I've had all the confinement I need."

"Well, it's a closed incident now," interposed Ross. "We won't reopen it."

Make yourself at home. The stranger, hungry as he was, ate with unexpected gentility, and as the hot coffee sent his cheerful glow through his body he asked, with living interest, a good many questions about the ranger and the forest service.

"You fellows have to be all round men. The cowboys think you have a snap, but I guess you earn your money."

"A man that builds trails, lays bridges, burns brush, fights fire, rides the roundup and covers seventy-five miles of trail every week on $50 per month and feeds himself and his horses isn't what I would call enjoying a soft snap."

"What do you do for?"

"God knows! I've been asking myself that question all day today."

"This playing game warden has some outs too. That was a wild crowd last night. The town is the same old hole it was when I knew it years ago. Fine girl of Lize Wetherford's. Lize has changed terribly. I didn't expect to see her have such a skin of silk as that girl. She sure looks the queen to me."

Cavanagh did not greatly relish this line of conversation, but the pause enabled him to say: "Miss Wetherford is not much western; she got her training in the east. She's been with an aunt ever since her father's death."

"He's dead, is he?"

"So far as anybody knows, he is."

"Well, he's no loss. I knew him too. He was all kinds of a fool. He got on the wrong side of the rustler lineup. Them Wetherford women think a whole lot of you. 'Fears like they'd both fight for you. Are you sweet on the girl?"

"Now, see here, old man," Ross retorted sharply, "you want to do a lot of thinking before you comment on Miss Wetherford. I won't stand for any nasty talk."

Edwards meekly answered: "I wasn't going to say anything out of the way. I was fixing for to praise her."

"All the same, I don't intend to discuss her with you," was Cavanagh's curt answer.

The herder fell back into silence while the ranger prepared his bunk for the night. The fact that he transferred some of the blankets from his own bed to that of his visitor did not escape Edwards' keen eyes, and with grateful intent he said:

"I can give you a tip, Mr. Ranger," said he, breaking out of a silence.

"The triangle outfit is holding over cattle on the forest than their permits call for."

"How do you know?"

"I heard one of the boys bragging about it."

"Much obliged," responded Ross. "I'll look into it."

Edwards went on: "Furthermore, they're fixing for another sheep kill over there too. All the sheepsman are armed. That's why I left the country. I don't want to run any more chances of being shot up. I've had enough of trouble. I can't afford to be hobnobbing with judges and juries. I'm just a broken down old cowpuncher herding sheep in order to keep clear of the liquor belt."

This seemed reasonable, and the ranger remarked by way of dropping the subject: "I've nothing to say further than this—obey the rules of the forest and you won't get into any further trouble with me. And as for being shot up by the cowmen, you'll not be disturbed on any national forest. There never has been a single herder shot nor a sheep destroyed on this forest."

"I'm mighty glad to hear that," replied Edwards, with sincere relief. "I've had my share of shooting up and shooting down. All I ask now is quiet and the society of sheep. I take a kind of pleasure in protecting the fool brutes. It's about all I'm good for."

He did indeed look like a man in the final year of life as he spoke. "Better turn in, Cavanagh said in kinder tone. "I'm an early riser."

The old fellow rose stiffly and

LET GEORGE DO IT.

If you want a paper Sunday.
A shoe shine or a smoke,
You'll have to get it Saturday.
Or the dealer will get "broke."

For thus the mayor has ordered
And to him we must bow
He was elected mayor
And sales, he'll not allow.

But there's kicking and there's snealing.
And they're knocking him for fair,
But to him they all are kneeling
And crying "George, be Square."

They wanted him for mayor
So he would clasp "the lid"
They said "Let George Do It!"
And George surely did!

BOY A LIVING TORCH.

Rushes to Street, Clothing Ablaze—Painfully Burned.
Six-year-old Domenico Palo, of Bloomfield, is suffering from painful burns about the face and chest, the result of his clothing catching fire
in some mysterious way Saturday.
With his clothing making him a living torch the youngster ran into Bay street, that place, while his mother stood by, too terrified to assist him. Walking along by the Mountainside Hospital William H.
Pierston, of 40 Park avenue, Bloomfield, saw the burning youngster.
Quickly taking of his coat he wrapped it round the boy and then rolled him on the ground. The flames were soon smothered and the boy taken to his home.

OSTRICH FOR TEDDY.

Phoenix to Give Him a Rare
Omelet.
El Paso, Tex., Jan. 30.—The Southwest is eagerly awaiting the visit of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, who goes to New Mexico after attending the meeting of the Cattle Raisers' Association of Texas, at Phoenix, Ariz., on March 18.
Arrangements are being made to entertain the colonel at an unusual breakfast, the chief dish of which will be a specially prepared omelet made of one ostrich egg. It is also proposed to have a roasted ostrich
in the centre of the breakfast table.
The breakfast will be given in the open. One thousand citizens of Phoenix are expected to attend.

Party of Mrs. J. R. Blair.
In honor of her birthday anniversary, a party was given to Mrs.
James R. Blair, of 78 Duer street, Friday evening. The affair was arranged by Mrs. Adam C. Blair, and a large number of relatives and friends gathered to enjoy the informal program, which included vocal and instrumental music and games,
after which a fine supper was served. Mrs. Blair was the recipient of a large number of gifts; also many happy returns of the day.

SECOND REGIMENT PLAN FOR SEVERAL EVENTS

The battalion camp fire scheduled to take place at the Second Regiment Armory at Trenton, February 8, will be held February 6 instead.

The committee in charge has arranged a program that will include vocal and instrumental selections, a tug-of-war, a basketball game, a black-faced act, boxing and wrestling and music by Winkler's band. There will be no military duties that evening and the men will not be required to wear their uniforms. A luncheon and punch will be served, and there will be a plentiful supply of tobacco, pipes and cigarettes.

The officers of the battalion have also planned a big public dance in the armory on Washington's Birthday evening.

The committee in charge of the dance includes Captain John M. Rogers, Company E; Lieutenant Clarence S. Morton, Company A; Lieutenant Richard Stockton, Jr., Company E; Lieutenant Fred V. Drake, Company B; Lieutenant William C.
Burroughs, Company D, and Lieutenant Joseph R. Ashmore, battalion staff.

HUDSON CITY Y. M. C. A. MEETS DEFEAT HERE

The Y. M. C. A. basketball team defeated the Hudson City Y. M. C. A. five on the local courts. Saturday night by a score of 46 to 25, getting revenge for several defeats during the past few weeks. The local aggregation was in fine form and gave the visitors a stiff fight. At the end of the first half the score was 20 to 11 in favor of Plainfield. The lineup:

Plainfield—forwards, Fritts and Rickett; centre, Manley; guards, Naylor and Gavett; subs, Richardson and J. Gavett.

Hudson City—forwards, Kelm and Hagar; centre, Schwartz; guards,
Krehr and Leiser.

Between the halves there was a game between the Ajax and Social Five teams, Ajax winning by a score of 25 to 14. The lineup:

Ajax—forwards, McNamee and Peacock; centre, Dunning; guards, Brynaski and Glover.

Social Five—Forwards, Porter and Crusen; centre, Good; guards, Carter and Mills.

Next Saturday evening the Trenton Y. M. C. A. team will meet the Plainfield five.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

Mr. Wilton Lackaye's new play,
"The Stranger," in which he will be seen at the Plainfield theatre Saturday matinee and night, February 4, 1911, is conceded to be a success in every particular. Its atmosphere is southern; Danville, Ga., is the scene of a struggle between the new south
and the old, and the story unfolded has to do with the rivalries of business men trying to shake up the sleepy town and those who want to have no change from the ancient conditions. Mr. Dazey has surpassed himself, master as he is of stagecraft and especially of southern character and speech. The lines abound in wit and wisdom—in dialect and opportunity for illustration of mind ranging from the statesman to the colored mammy who is the finest kitchen queen in Georgia, sub.

In "The Stranger," Mr. Lackaye has a play in which his talents are seen at their best. He acts with a finish, refinement and yet a power that suggests still greater power in reserve and that makes his work a delight. He is receiving the most cordial receptions and no end of congratulations over the assured success of his comedy-drama. The scene of the play being Southern, gives opportunity for picturesque stage em-bellishments and L. S. Sire, under whose management Mr. Lackaye is appearing, has taken full advantage of this fact, while the company in support of Mr. Lackaye includes such talented artists as Muriel Starr, Edna Conroy, Frank Burbeck, H. S.
Northrup and others.

MANY SEEK $6,000 JOB.

Candidates for Jersey Road Commissioners Await Wilson's Action.

Fifty or more Democratic candidates are anxiously awaiting Gov.
Wilson's announcement of the appointment of a State Road Commissioner to succeed Col. Frederick Gilkyson, whose term has expired. The office is worth $6,000 a year, with an automobile and chauffeur maintained by the State. The post has been held by Mercer county men ever since its creation, and an effort is being made to land the place for Joseph S.
Hoff, of Princeton, chairman of the Mercer County Democratic Committee.

The Democrats are afraid to urge their claims too strongly, for the Governor not long ago declared that he would not appoint to office any man who thrust himself forward, declaring that good men could be found without self-advertisement.

Robert Adrain Dead.

Robert Adrain, considered one of the most brilliant lawyers in the State and at one time a State Senator, died this morning at his home in New Brunswick after a long fight with a mortal illness. Mr. Adrain was city attorney of New Brunswick, and his reputation as a lawyer was State-wide.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Newton Drake, of Verdon street, were in Trenton Saturday bidding goodbye to their daughter, Mrs. Thomas Davis, who with her husband, an engineer, left yesterday morning for Oklahoma to stay for some time.

PARALYZED GIRL WALKS AFTER PRAYERS FOR HER

Friends of Miss Gertrude Neeb, of Reading, Pa., believe in the efficacy of prayer as they never did before.
Miss Neeb was employed in a department store here last Christmas.
She fell and was removed to her home. Local physicians treated her and a doctor from the University of Pennsylvania was called, but none could give her relief. The case was diagnosed as a congestion of the spine and Miss Neeb lost the power of her lower limbs.

Several days ago the family heard that miracles were performed through prayer, and at length they called in a local religious worker to pray with them. The girl was healed in about four minutes, being able to walk downstairs and about the house ever since, which she had not done since the fall. The religious worker takes no credit upon himself for the healing, but says it is simply a direct answer to the prayers that were offered up for the girl by her many friends.

Rev. J. Wallace Matin, the minister in charge of the Christ Episcopal church, Reading, often visited the girl before the healing took place, and also since. He, too, it is said, is convinced that the girl was healed through prayer.

UNION POULTRYMEN TO FORM AN ORGANIZATION.

An association is to be organized
of the poultry raisers of Union county for mutual education and assistance. The meetings are to be conducted along the lines adopted by States Institutes of poultry husbandry. One or more meetings will be held each month, when timely subjects will be discussed, bulletins
read, questions answered and experiences exchanged.

Any one raising poultry will find these meetings both interesting and instructive, and it is hoped that a large number of people will attend.
The first meeting will be held Wednesday, February 1, at 8 p. m., at the courthouse, Elizabeth. In the Union County Board of Agriculture room No. 12. Further information can be secured by communicating with F. Warren Sumner, 456 Rahway avenue, Elizabeth.

GOVERNMENT PREVENTS HER MARRYING INDIAN.

Intervention of the Federal authorities has prevented the marriage of Miss Madeline Sullivan, the pretty daughter of well-to-do Chicago parents, to Plenty Hawk, a rich Crow Indian ranchman.

According to messages received by the girl's mother, Plenty Hawk has been placed in jail on the Crow Agency, near Cheyenne, Wyoming, while the young woman has been ordered to leave the reservation and sent back to relatives in Sheridan.

Upon receipt of the message Miss Sullivan's mother wired her daughter to return to Chicago, her home.
Ever since she has been a child Miss Sullivan has declared she would marry an Indian, and she was determined to wed Plenty Hawk, even though her parents opposed.

Will Organize Building Loan.

Garwood, Jan. 30.—Garwood is shortly to have a building and loan association. Councilman Albert J.
Beckley, Fire Chief Frederick J.
Dushanek, Tenement House Inspector Richard Watt and other prominent men of the borough are hustling to organize what will be known as the Garwood Building and Loan Association. With the rapid development here and the prospects of many people building homes in the future
the need of a local building and loan association has been felt and the idea originally started in the fire department. The men interested in forming the association have already sold over 300 of the necessary 500 shares to start the association. When 500 shares are sold a meeting will be called for organization.

Elizabeth Baker Arrested.

Elizabeth Baker, Jan. 30.—When the bail of Enrico Russo, a baker, who is charged with conducting a house in Court street, Elizabeth, was increased, he was unable to raise the amount, $3,000, and was taken into custody on a sheriff's process by Detectives O'Brien and Mulcahey and Constable Seeland of the sheriff's office. He and a half dozen other men were arrested a week ago in the Court street place. The young woman claimed they were being detained by force. They are being held as witnesses.

Milk Co. Employee Reports Hold-up.

Learning of the trolley hold-up
Thursday night, William Kebler, a driver for the Borden Milk Company, Friday reported that he was held up
in Westfield avenue, Roselle Park, early Thursday morning by two young men answering the description of the trolley bandits. Kebler was on his way to Elizabeth, when the men stopped his horse and one climbed into the wagon. He drove them off.

Howell Division, Sons of Temperance, will hold a dime social tonight at the home of Mrs. Terry 331 East Third street. There will be a musical program and refreshments will be served.
