STUDENTS RECITAL

Rutgers College Men Provide a Program of Music and Fun.

AT HARTRIDGE AUDITORIUM.

Entertainment for the Benefit of the Netherwood Reformed Church Last.

Night.

Twenty young men, students in Rutgers College, entertained a large audience in Hartridge auditorium last evening with a program of songs instrumental music and good nature. The concert was under the auspices and for the benefit of the Netherwood Reformed church.

A committee of young women from the church entertained the college boys after the program was concluded with light refreshments served in the banquet room of the auditorium.

The program rendered was a varied one, the glee and quartet selections meeting with hearty approval. Two of the young musicians stood out prominently. Raymond W. Smith, tenor soloist, and E. T. DeWald, violinist. Mr. Smith sang with much expression several songs which showed a highly cultured voice of good timbre. Mr. DeWald surprised the audience with his splendid handling of the violin. His selections were popular and were played with judgment and feeling. Both received hearty encores.

The program:
Part I—"Bow-wow-wow," "Little Tommy went a-fishing," "In a Quaint Old Jersey Town," Glee Club; "Aristocrat March," Stoddard, Mandolin Club; tenor solo, "Woodland Love Song," Hawley, Raymond W. Smith; violin selection, E. T. DeWald; "The Gobbler," Glee Club quartet; "Genec" Waltzes, Levi, Mandolin club; "Mrs. Casey's Boarding House," Glee Club.

These young men formed the Glee Club: First tenors, Smith, Morrison, Morton and Van Ness; second tenors Cooper, Davies, Hunt; first bases, Steelman, Sexton, Briggs, Casala; second bases, DeWald, Connors, Van Mater, Dooling. The mandolin club consisted of Briggs, Casala, Silcox, Chedester, Beckman, Stier and Aken.

In the pastoral with Mr. Pinto appeared Miss Anne Swinbourne, who was seen with him in "The Climax." Miss Eleanor Cleveland was also in the cast. Miss Cleveland and J. Palmer Collins appeared with Mr. Pinto in "The King's Garden." The stage settings were elaborate.

The two productions will be put on at the Maxine Elliot Theatre for matinees beginning Friday, February 17.

PLAINFIELD COUNCIL GLASS INITIATION

One of the eighteen district meetings planned for the State, together with class initiation, was held last night in the rooms of Plainfield Council, No. 711 Royal Arcanum. The meeting was in charge of Grand Vice-Regent Joseph M. Arnold, and the uniformed degree team of Bayonne Council, No. 695, which did the initiatory work, and William Goster, of Bayonne, who is chairman of the committee on state of the order.

There were two candidates for initiation, George W. Hurst and Lewis F. W. Funk, who became members of Greenbrook Council, No. 1725, of this city. The degree work was exemplified in a satisfactory manner by the uniformed degree team from Bayonne.

There were about 250 members of the order present, including representatives from Plainfield Council, No. 711, and Greenbrook Council, No. 1725, of this city; Bridgewater Council, No. 1375, of Somerville, and Bound Brook Council, No. 1339.

After the business of the evening there were interesting remarks by William Coster, Supervising Deputy Grand Regent W. H. Anderson, of Orange; Vice-Regent Charles Hall, of Greenbrook Council; Vice-Grand Regent Joseph M. Arnold and others.

HEAVENLY REST CLUB HAS A BUSY EVENING

The Men's Club of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, which has been very active during the present winter season, held a business meeting and social last night, that drew a large attendance to the parish house. The evening was passed in a most profitable way and served to show visitors how important the organization has become.

Forty members were present at the business session and several important matters were discussed. The date for the club's next dance in the parish house was given as Thursday evening, February 23, and not February 15, as has been erroneously stated. John Howell was elected to membership and indications point to many more additions in the near future.

After the business meeting the gathering was entertained for an hour by Thomas M. Muir, and William H. Pope, who gave songs, stories and instrumental numbers. The artists were liberally applauded at the conclusion of the program. Card playing was taken up and "500" and pinocle were enjoyed until a late hour. Refreshments were served during an intermission.

J. A. Maynard, president of the club, was in charge during the evening, and the assisting entertainment committee was composed of Mortimer Givens, Arthur Calen, John Hallard, A. Jordan and A. Harris.

Y.M.C.A. BOARD'S ANNUAL MEETING

The regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the Y. M. C. A. was held last evening and the following officers were elected: President, James E. Kimball; vice-president, Henry W. Herrman; recording secretary, Albert W. Beers; treasurer, John H. Doane. These are the same officers who served last year.

Clarence W. Spicer, president of the Spicer Mfg. Co., was elected a director to serve three years to succeed O. S. Rogers, resigned. Reports from the various departments of the association were read including those of the physical and boys' departments. Both T. G. Whitaker, physical director, and C. W. Bingham, director of the boys' department, reported increased membership and classes.

The number of paid memberships among the boys is the largest in the history of the association and it is for this as well as several other reasons that greater accommodations are needed for the work. Messrs. Whitaker and Bingham are preparing an exhibition of boys' work to be given on February 27, a detailed program of which will be given later.

King's Daughters Meet.

LAUD THE MAYOR

Ministers' Association Approves Executive's Administration.

NEW MEMBERS ARE ADDED.

Hospital Sunday Changed to Third Sabbath in February—Musical Service on Good Friday.

The Plainfield Ministers' Association, at its annual meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelle, of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, adopted resolutions approving the action of Mayor G. W. V. Moy regarding Sunday closing and expressing the firm belief that the Mayor's orders can be maintained without injury to the religious convictions and observances of the Seventh-Day Baptists, Hebrews and Adventists. The resolutions were supported also by Rev. Edwin Shaw, pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, and Rev. Dr. T. L. Gardner, editor of the Sabbath Recorder, the denominational paper.

A vote of good fellowship and appreciation was given to Rev. John W. Musson, pastor of Temple Baptist church, who is to leave the city to take up the work in Meriden, Conn. It was the sense of the meeting that Mr. Musson had done active and splendid work during his residence here and the members expressed sorrow at the change which removes him from here and wished his Godspeed in his new field of endeavor.

The following letter was sent to Mayor George W. V. Moy and to the members of the Common Council:

"The Ministers' Association of Plainfield, at their regular meeting in December, 1910, appointed a committee to communicate to you their well wishes for the success of your administration as Mayor of our beautiful city and to express their conviction that in safeguarding the morals, sobriety and temporal welfare of our city it should be the aim of the administration, not only to steadfastly maintain our present policy of granting no new licenses for the retailing of spirituous and malt liquors, but to seek a further diminution of their number by refusing to re-license every saloon where there is a sufficiently strong protest from the surrounding property owners, either to the effect that the said saloon is not needed in that locality or, that the proprietor is not observing the regulations imposed upon him by the terms of the license; and that upon such refusal no other license be granted in its place.

"The committee further desires to heartily endorse your recommendation to the Common Council that a Board of Protection be appointed under the act of 1909 to prevent the sale of liquor to habitual drunkards or those likely to become such.

"We also desire to commend you for your earnest desire to secure for our city a more orderly Sunday and trust you will be successful in your efforts to close up all places now engaging in illegal selling on the Sabbath.

"We express the hope that in so doing no violence shall be done to the conscientious convictions of any of our fellow townsmen, Hebrews, Seventh-Day Baptists, Adventists or others who religiously observe the Sabbath held sacred by them and show a proper regard for the Sunday quiet necessary to the more general rest necessary.

"Assuring you of our heartiest support in all your efforts to promote the best welfare of all our citizens, we are on behalf of the association, Yours etc."

The association also decided to hold the annual musical service on Good Friday, a committee comprising Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelle, Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, Rev. John V. Broek, Charles W. McCutchen, Henry A. McGee and Dr. W. H. Murray being appointed to arrange the details.

A communication was received from the Plainfield Sunday School Association requesting that the ministers meet with the association relative to a discussion of plans for the State Sunday school convention to be held in this city next fall.

The association decided to fix on the third Sunday in February of each year as "Hospital Sunday," and the annual offering for the hospital will be received on that day.

Rev. F. St. John Fitch, a retired Baptist clergyman, and Rev. Frederick L. Greene, the new pastor at Hope chapel, and Rev. Royal A. Stout pastor of the Netherwood Reformed church, were elected to membership. The election of officers resulted as follows:

President, Rev. John Y. Broek, of Trinity Reformed church; vice-president, Rev. Edwin Shaw, of the Seventh-Day Baptist church; secretary and treasurer, Rev. Dr. Charles E. Herring.

FLYNN'S PRISONER

Local Detective Corralled Fugitive Bridegroom by Clever Ruse.

AVARICE CAUSED HIS UNDOING.

Hoped to Enmesh Mrs. Redmond and Get Her Savings Too

—Will Be Brought Back.

Detective Sergeant John Flynn added another to his long list of sensational captures yesterday afternoon by getting Charles Goskioski in Brooklyn, after the latter had purchased his ticket for Russia and had made all his preparations to skip with the balance of the money obtained from his young bride on Monday.

Goskioski made the fatal mistake of not being satisfied with $725 secured from the bride, but had laid plans to secure $400 more from his former boarding mistress and this proved his undoing.

On Wednesday evening Goskioski telegraphed to Mrs. Mary Redmond, of the borough, to meet him at an address in Brooklyn. The telegram was brought to Chief Kiely and translated. It made the way for the capture of the swindling bridegroom and plans were immediately put in operation to this end. Accompanied by Detective Flynn Mrs. Redmond disguised beneath the folds of a thick black veil kept the rendezvous at a saloon near the Adams street police station in Brooklyn. Goskioski was not there when Mrs. Redmond called while Detective Flynn and an officer from the Brooklyn detective bureau waited outside, but it required only a minute or two for the proprietor of the saloon to bring the man into his place.

He was told that there was a woman waiting for him outside the door and Goskioski went out. As he appeared around the corner Flynn approached him, saying, "Do you know where Carleton avenue is?" "No," replied Goskioski, "I haven't lived around here very long. I belong in Rochester." Just then Mrs. Redmond raised her veil to get a good look at the fellow and nodded to Flynn, which was a signal to nab the man. He protested that he was an honest laborer and that he had done nothing wrong, but his protests availed him nothing and he was lugged off to the Adams street station, where he will remain until proper extradition papers are made out and signed by Governor Dix.

The reason why Goskioski telegraphed to Mrs. Redmond is believed to have been for the sole purpose of attempting to get her to draw her money from the bank and quietly elope with him for Russia. But it is not believed that Mrs. Redmond would ever have reached the czar's domains. The complaint on which he is held in Brooklyn is one signed by City Judge William G. DeMeza, charging grand larceny. Besides $640 in cash a ticket for Russia was found in the prisoner's pocket. It will require thirty days for the issuance of extradition papers.

DUNELLEN DOGS IN Durance Vile

Four dogs, prisoners in a chicken-coop, several men, residents of Dunellen and New Market, and Justice of the Peace Clark Rodgers, are mixed up in a case that soon will go thundering down the lines of time as a "bird" or several birds, like-wise dogs.

Word reached Mrs. S. G. Van Hoesen, the S. P. C. A. special agent, yesterday, that several dogs were confined in a coop at Dunellen without food and water. Upon investigation Mrs. Van Hoesen found the animals on the premises of S. G. Latham, of Dunellen, held prisoners on charges of killing chickens. The matter, which will be the cause celebre of the year, will probably come up in New Brunswick next week.

In any event the dogs will be humanely cared for while they are awaiting trial.

CARE OF THE BRAIN

Will S. Monroe Gives Lecture on "Mental Work and Mental Fatigue."

TEACHERS COMPOSE AUDIENCE.

Professor of Montclair State Normal School Tells of Needs of Rest and Proper Exercise.

Professor Will S. Monroe, of the Montclair State Normal School, gave an interesting lecture on "Mental Work and Mental Fatigue," to the teachers of Plainfield and North Plainfield at the Somerset School yesterday afternoon. He said in part: "All forms of mental activity are caused by a union of protoplasm with oxygen. One great function of every person is so to live as to store up protoplasm. Everything we do involves a re-arrangement of brain cells. The cells wear down with activity just as coal wears down in a fire.

"At birth the brain is composed of all the cells that it will ever get. The problem is how to develop existing cells not to create new ones. This is done through mental exercise. The psychology of the lazy man is that he has not thus increased the storage capacity of his brain cells.

"Brain cells differ from muscle cells in this, that nature builds up the latter, but not the former.

"Brain activity produces poisonous waste, as coal burning produces ashes. This brain waste must be removed or the whole system is clogged. Sedentary life is unfavorable to the elimination of waste products; hence the mental worker is in danger of having these poisonous elements thrown back on his system, the effect being the same as when the ashes of a furnace are thrown back into the fire. Long and frequent vacations are necessary to the mental worker if the system is to be freed from these waste products.

"The signs of fatigue are often seen in the general appearance of the person, known as 'the tired look.' Another sign is the inability to control voluntary movements. St. Vitus dance is fatigue neurosis. Another sign is the alteration of disposition—a tendency to be irritable and impatient. The sensory powers are lowered. After several hours in a picture gallery the mind fails to take in the fine points of the paintings; and after several hours at the opera the ear distinguishes less and less the tones of the various instruments. The mind cannot grasp things when it is fatigued. Those who are but slightly acquainted with a foreign language find it almost impossible to speak that language when their brain is tired.

"One cause of fatigue is the infrequency of rest pauses. In Germany schools are required by law to give pupils at least ten minutes of rest every hour. Experiments have shown that three recesses in three hours greatly improve the work as compared with three hours of continuous application.

"Gymnastics as ordinarily practiced in schools is no substitute for rest. It requires even more concentration than mathematics. Rest means relaxation and refreshment. An extended recitation period is as senseless as a regime that provides for one meal per day of three times the usual quantity.

"The condition of the atmosphere has a bearing on fatigue. Pupils tire much more readily during the fall and spring than during the winter. Monotony in school work, as elsewhere, also causes fatigue.

"During periods of rapid physical growth nature absorbs at least twenty per cent. of a pupil's energy. Hence but eight per cent. is available for school work.

"To avoid fatigue there must be the right kind of nutrition. Pupils usually eat enough in bulk, but not wisely in kind.

"A large number of cases of mental breakdown result from insufficient sleep. High school pupils should have at least nine hours of sleep in a day, and younger pupils more. Social interests that keep pupils up late do much more harm to children than the studying they do in school."

Just a Hobo.

James Moran, who claims Philadelphia as his residence, fell afoul of the local police last evening while panhandling on West Front street. He slept in a cell and this morning was sent on his way by Judge DeMeza. Mr. Moran was just a hobo.

SNOWBALLED WOMAN CRIES FOR HELP

Amanda Smith, colored, did not take kindly to the shower of snowballs thrown at her last evening on Watching avenue shortly before 5 o'clock and started up the street toward the Crescent Avenue church yelling "murder" at the top of her voice. Just as she arrived at the corner of Watching avenue and Sixth street she slipped and nearly fell but quickly recovering her equilibrium she continued running until she reached the shelter of the church. Here she made a stand and demanded protection from the passersby.

Several persons, among them two brave men, stopped long enough to inquire the cause of Amanda's fright, but being told that it was just snowballs passed on without interfering with the gang of small boys who seemed bent on tantalizing her. There was no policeman in sight, but there was an old gentleman, who afterwards refused to give his name, went for the boys and capturing one held him until he got the names of the others and who promised to report the occurrence to police headquarters this morning. He failed to appear and the boys are still at liberty.

It goes without saying that if caught it will go hard with them.

HORACE CODINGTON RELEASED ON BAIL

After remaining in the Somerset county jail for a week while his counsel was procuring new bondsmen and also a writ to carry his case to the Court of Errors and Appeals, Horace Codington, now under sentence of eighteen months for misappropriating the funds of Warren township has been released on $2,500 bail. A special session of the court was held to effect Codington's release.

The amount of the bail under which Codington was formerly released was $2,000, and his uncle, William R. Codington, and John Bornman, collector of Warren township, were his bondsmen, but after the decision of the Supreme Court confirming his conviction, Judge Case raised the amount of bail to $2,500, and required new bondsmen. After a delay of several days Surrogate William J. DeMond and Lewis M. Codington consented to become the convicted lawyer's bondsmen, and they were accepted by the court.

After his release Codington held an informal reception at his office, where about twenty of his friends had gathered to congratulate him on his new lease of liberty.

LINCOLN AS LEADER PICTURED TO PUPILS

H. W. Herrmann, of Rockview avenue, gave a very forceful talk to the Borough High School pupils this morning on "Lincoln as a Leader of Men." He showed by illustration from the lives of David, Ahab, the Emperor of Germany, the Czar of Russia and the Emperor of China the truth of the adage, "Like Leader, Like People." Lincoln was a great leader, and he has made the American people more and more like him.

Lincoln possessed but five books; but he read during his early life every book to be found within a radius of fifty miles. A debt of eleven hundred dollars that was placed on his shoulders by his business partner forced him to take up surveying. This took him about the country, made friends for him, and caused him to look toward the law. His work as a lawyer on the circuit made more friends, and he became a political leader. At fifty-two he had grown to be the most powerful man in the nation.

On becoming President he appointed to his cabinet his greatest political rivals, and showed himself to be superior to them all.

He gained the supreme confidence of the people because of his loyalty to right, truth, and justice.

Rev. Dr. Herring Returns.

Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Charles E. Herring have returned from Rochester, Minn., where the doctor underwent a delicate operation performed by the well known surgeons the Mayo Brothers. The operation was a success in every way and Dr. Herring has been permanently relieved of a trouble of long standing that of an obstruction in the neck. He will probably not preach on Sunday, but will attend the services in his church.

CARNEGIE'S GIFT FORMALLY MADE

Handsone Public Library

Building to be Erected With

His $50,000 Cash

Present.

TO FRONT ON COLLEGE PLACE.

Following a conference with Mayor Moy yesterday afternoon, Dr. Leonard Waldo, president of the Plainfield Public Library's board of directors, the formal announcement is made that Andrew Carnegie has given $50,000 to that institution, as exclusively told in The Daily Press yesterday. Dr. Waldo, was in communication with the ironmaster this morning. The philanthropist's secretary was informed that Plainfield welcomed his gift and would gladly comply with the conditions. Mr. Carnegie then made known his contribution.

As Mr. Carnegie does not wish any of the money to be used in altering the present library building at Park avenue and West Eighth street, a handsome new building will be erected in the rear of the present quarters to face on College place.

It is undecided yet whether brick or concrete will be used in the structure, as the architect has not been engaged. It is more than likely, however, that concrete will be the building material. The structure will be eighty feet front on College place and will have a depth of twenty feet not including the stock room in its rear. The lot has a frontage of 160 feet.

The collection of some 29,000 volumes excepting those on some special subjects will be housed in the stock room of the new structure. The tiers will have a height of twenty feet and will be built in the most approved method.

The medical, law and music collection will remain in the present building. The art, scientific and curio collections will also be kept in the old building as it is Mr. Carnegie's wish that those features not be placed in the new library which is to be his gift and which is to be used entirely for strictly library purposes. Moreover, the administration offices will be in the old building.

When the new building is erected, some alterations and improvement will be made at the old building, but the expense for this will be met out of a separate fund.

It cannot be stated at this time as to when the work will be begun, but it is expected that ground will be broken early in the spring.

As the municipality contributes a large sum annually for the support of the Public Library there are no obstacles in the way of the directors accepting Mr. Carnegie's contribution. As is his custom, he stipulates that the city provide for the maintenance of the institution, and therefore the way is clear for the directors.

The present structure was devised to the city in the will of the late Mayor Joh Male years ago. At the time the building was fully large enough for the purpose but it has long since become totally inadequate for the growing needs.

Rev. E. D. VanHorn to Preach.

WESTFIELD.

An effort is being made by Westfield hotel-keepers to have the time at which they must close their bar-rooms extended from 11:30 o'clock, the time now set for closing by ordinance, to midnight. There has always been complaints by the hotel men that they have had to close at least half an hour too early and an effort will be made to have the Council by ordinance give them until 12 o'clock.

Westfield Board of Education has practically made up the budget for this year and will ask the voters for $75,000 to run the schools at the annual school meeting next month. An epidemic of measles that has been among the pupils has seriously cut down the average attendance for the past month, as many as thirty scholars being absent on account of the disease at one time.

This Boiler is a Coal Saver

Why? Because it is a BOYNTON and has the BOYNTON square fire pot, which increases fire surface about 25% over other boilers of like diameter. The BOYNTON "square pot" is the greatest improvement yet devised in heating systems. It is square at the corners, hence clear free of cinders and ash each time the grate is turned. That means a live fire, always, and plenty of draft. See your dealer about the

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

Frank Daniels comes to the Plainfield Theatre for one night only, Saturday, February 11, in a new musical comedy production credited with extraordinary success abroad. It is "The Girl in the Train," a Viennese production by Lee Fall, the famous composer of "The Dollar Princess," and under its original title of "Die Coehiedene Frau," it has been played and sung in most of the cities of Europe, and is now running in Berlin and London. Charles Dillingham secured the American rights and engaged Harry B. Smith to make the adaptation from the German of Victor Leon, who is well known as the librettist of "The Merry Widow." In making the American production Mr. Dillingham engaged Mr. Daniels for the hilariously funny role of the Judge of the Divorce Court, who is called upon in his professional capacity to decide the merits of a delicate case. The first act shows the divorce court in Amsterdam, Holland, with a wife pleading for freedom because her husband on a railway journey had given up his sleeping compartment to a fascinating actress. A talkative sleeping car conductor mixes things up, and it appears that the lock of the stateroom door was broken, so the testimony is conflicting, though it is suggested that there isn't a line of a suggestion of anything in this entire production that could possibly be offensive to good taste. The comedy arises from the absurd rulings of the Judge, who promptly falls in love with both the actress and the wife, and renders decisions calculated not to offend either. He therefore grants the divorce to the wife, but makes a special ruling that the actress leaves the court without the slightest stain on her character. The second act shows a masquerade ball, where the husband tries to win back the wife, and the judge is alternately swayed, first by the ex-wife and then by the actress. The last act shows a fete in a picturesque seaport town of Holland, and there all ends of the plot are satisfactorily adjusted. Mr. Dillingham has surrounded Mr. Daniels with a capable company, in which Miss Sallie Fisher appears as the young wife, and Miss Vera Michelson as the actress. There are a dozen other principals, and a singing and dancing chorus of sixty. The staging and costuming are highly effective, the first act being costumed entirely in Delft blue, the second act is almost entirely green, and the third act is a riot of pink and white.

News and Notes

BASEBALL.

Eddie Collins, the Philadelphia Athletics' star second sacker, is telling the following story about Babe Vickers, when the big heavier was a member of Connie Mack's team. The Michigan man, who was once a terror to batters in the Nutmeg circuit, had a favorite trick of passing heavy hitters in pinches.

However, Collins recalls a game in which Rube failed to turn the tricks to advantage, and Larry Lajoie, the Frenchman, for whom no twirlers have any terrors, was the stickler who sent Rube to the woods.

The Athletics were playing in Cleveland; it was a sizzling-hot August day—just the kind of a lazy afternoon that is in tune with the peculiarly listless motions of Vickers when he is practically invincible—and Rube was sent in by the foxy Connie Mack to trim the Forest City team.

For the first eight innings Rube proved an enigma to the Naps, and the pellet looked like a blue fly buzzing and cutting a lightning fast zip through the humid atmosphere. In the mean time the best the Athletics could do was to squeeze one lone tally across the plate.

It was in the ninth inning, score 1 to 0, two out, with a Clevelandite on third and second. Connie was going through a series of contortious wig-wagging with his scorecard from the bench, meaning for Rube to walk Larry and take a chance on Bill Hinchman.

Rube was wise and undertook to follow instructions. He got three quarters done, but on the fourth ball became a little careless, and although it was outside and beyond the reach of an ordinary individual, it was just to the liking of the mighty Larry, who is ordinary with extra as a prefix. Crash! bang! ball and bat collided. Noise of fence and ball meeting. Larry kissed out for two into right and two Naps romped home, curtain and funeral music for Rube.

Manager Hal Chase, of the New York Yankees, in a letter to Frank Farrell, owner of the New York Americans, reports that he has signed an outfielder by the name of Wilkinson, who is a student of St. Mary's College, San Jose, Cal., from which Chase was graduated. The manager of the Yankees believes that Wilkinson will make good, as he is a good hitter, fast runner and a quick thinker. The new player will not report for the Southern training trip, but will join the Yankees on their arrival in New York, on Saturday, April 1.

Fred Snodgrass, who played in the center garden for the New York Giants last year, sent in his signed contract from California yesterday. Snod in his letter reports that he is in good condition and will be glad to report to Marlin, Texas, for training. At the present time every man who is on the reserve list of the Giants has signed with the exception of Leo Drucke, the pitcher. The latter will turn his contract over to Manager John McGraw when the men gather at the training camp.

A meeting of the National League magnates for the purpose of adopting a schedule has been called for by President Thomas J. Lynch for Tuesday afternoon at Hotel Breslin, New York city. Little trouble is expected at the meeting, as it is said most of the magnates are satisfied with the way the playing dates have been allotted.

Charles L. Herzog's claim of $366.66 against the Boston National League club for salary during his suspension from July 7 to August 1 inclusive was disallowed by the National Baseball Commission in a decision promulgated at Cincinnati yesterday. The commission found that "the Boston Club was justified in suspending the player for his arbitrary disregard of discipline."

A contract has been signed by the officials of the Detroit Americans with the Monroe, La., baseball officials securing the training rights in that city for five years. The advance guard of Tiger players will report at Monroe for training on Monday, February 27.

Peter Cassidy, who will manage the Wilmington club of the Tri-State League, is on the lookout for players. He is anxious to secure some of the recruits who will be tried out by the various clubs in the Eastern League for his team. It is likely that Peter will land several who will fail to make good in the Barrow circuit.

First Baseman Flynn, of the Pittsburgh Pirates, sent in his signed contract to Manager Fred Clarke yesterday. In all probability Flynn will be used as a catcher. Should Fred Hunter make good at first base, which is likely, Flynn will be kept to help out Gibson behind the bat.

CARNEGIE'S FINE GIFT.

It was with considerable pleasure that the people of Plainfield learned yesterday that Mr. Carnegie has given $50,000 for the purpose of erecting a new Public Library. Coming at this time when the community is unable to finance the plans of the board of directors because of the manifold demands of several other worthy public and private institutions, the gift is twice welcome. The munificent donation will provide a handsome and commodious a library building as may be found in any city of its size in the east.

Long ago, the present structure was found totally inadequate for the needs. The ever increasing collection, now the third largest public library in the State, made the conditions altogether too cramped and totally unsuited for the purposes. Convinced of this, the splendid body of men having the institution in their charge, set about to find a remedy. New quarters or enlargement of the present one was considered imperative. Their time, energy, influence and ability were brought to bear and the result is that as told exclusively in this paper yesterday, Mr. Carnegie has come forward in his characteristic way and we will have a building suitable for the purposes.

THE WATER REPORT.

Taxpayers generally will be much interested in the report of the Councilmanic water committee, which was published in full in last night's issue. A careful reading of the findings of the painstaking investigators will reveal the fact that the committee is as one for a publically owned water supply system. The only difference of opinion is as to the better means of obtaining that end. Purchase by condemnation is favored by all but one of the members, Mr. Holt's exception being based on his belief that it would be preferable to build an independent plant.

It will be noted that in the majority report, the legal proceedings against the private company are with a view of definitely ascertaining whether the purchase is within the means of the municipality and whether, as the suit progresses, the city finds it will be able to meet the necessary bonded obligations in operating the system. For its conscientious and efficiently directed efforts the taxpayers owe the committee a vote of thanks.

The man who does his duty as he sees it deserves encouragement and hence the timely action of the Ministers' Association in upholding Mayor Moy for his enforcement of the Sabbath observance laws and ordinances must be most gratifying to the city's executive.

REV. GABRIEL MAGUIRE IS AS BUSY AS EVER.

Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, is the firm believer in the old saying that a minister should wear out instead of rust out. This is shown by his many engagements for the next week. Sunday morning he will preach on "The Model Woman," and later in the day will conduct a funeral service. In the evening he will preach on "Something that is Better Felt Than Told."

Monday morning he will address the New York Baptist Ministers' Association in New York and in the evening will lecture in the Commercial High School, Brooklyn. Tuesday afternoon he will attend a conference of Baptist ministers in the Clinton Avenue Baptist church, Newark, and that evening will lecture in the Reformed church at Astoria, L. I. On Wednesday night he will lecture in the Madison Avenue Baptist church, New York city; Thursday evening he will lecture at Bay Shore, L. I., and on Friday night will lecture for the Board of Education of New York city.

That Ice Deal.

The statement yesterday that the Crystal Ice Company had made arrangements with the Plainfield Ice and Supply Company to distribute the product of the hygeia plant the coming season, was not intended to infer that MacDonald & Ivamy had sold its equipment and good will to that concern. MacDonald & Ivamy dealt directly with the Crystal Ice Company and were not a party to the arrangements made by the Crystal Company with the Plainfield Ice and Supply Company.

Neuman Bros. will have for tomorrow's trade a full line of new White Label goods including whole asparagus, asparagus tips, fancy peas, stringless lima beans, Maine corn and Jersey tomatoes, the quality of which is unsurpassed.

DYING AT 136 YEARS.

Oldest Woman in World Remembers George Washington.

At the age of 136 years, and undoubtedly the oldest white woman in the world, Mrs. Lucy Owens is dying at the home of her daughter, a centenarian, a few miles west of Longview, Texas. Mrs. Owens was born in North Carolina when the Revolutionary War broke out, and three years later saw George Washington. She is the only living person who has seen the first President. Many have questioned her age, but investigation of records shows that she gives it correctly.

Up until a year ago she could see and hear exceptionally well, and could walk about her room with the aid of a crutch. Until recently stricken she sewed without the use of glasses.

WILSON MAKES DENIAL.

Brands False Sensational Reports of Talk With Nugent.

Governor Wilson yesterday took occasion to deny the sensational reports published in yellow newspapers in this State and New York regarding an interview between himself and James R. Nugent, chairman of the State Democratic Committee. The Governor declared the stories were without foundation.

Before making the denial the Governor called into his office a Trenton newspaper man, who, it is said, sent out the false reports and administered a severe reprimand. In addition the Governor wrote to the newspapers represented by the man, telling them the stories were false.

A Turkey Supper.
The women of Marconier chapel will conduct a turkey supper at the home of Mrs. Eugene Van Court, Oak Tree, on Thursday evening, February 23. From the interest already manifested the attendance will be quite large. The proceeds will be for the benefit of the chapel fund.

In the Borough Court.
Raymond Smith, arrested on a disorderly charge, was fined $2 by Recorder Dolliver, this morning.

Ernest Sharp and family, of Evergreen avenue, have gone to New York for the balance of the winter.

GOVERNOR WILSON PRAISES CLEVELAND

Governor Woodrow Wilson, of New Jersey wrote a letter which was received yesterday by former United States Senator John F. Dryden, President of the Cleveland Memorial Association, who is now engaged in raising $100,000 for a memorial at Princeton to the late President of the United States.

This is the text of the letter: "I am sure that the project to erect a noble monument to Mr. Cleveland at Princeton must appeal to men of all classes and of all political affiliations throughout the country. Mr. Cleveland had the happiness before he died of knowing that the whole country recognized his sterling worth and his great and conscientious services to the country. Partisan feeling died entirely away, and men everywhere saw in him a great character which had given him eminence and commanding influence in our politics and in our National policy. A monument to such a man, erected in a university town, where young men from all parts of the country may see it and reflect upon the lessons of conduct it represents, would surely be one of the most fitting inspirations of patriotism and public duty that could be conceived."

The fund passed the $85,000 mark last Wednesday night.

Gave Benefit Euchre.

Mrs. T. H. Sullivan, of Park avenue, gave a delightful euchre at her home yesterday afternoon for the benefit of the scholarship of Mount St. Mary's College. The affair was a great success, about sixty persons engaging in the play twelve hands. Some prizes were awarded the winning contestants. Refreshments were served in conclusion and a general social time enjoyed for about an hour.

Because the Westfield Middlets cancelled the basketball game with Grace church choir team last Wednesday, arrangements have been made to play the game on February 15. It will be a fine game as both teams are evenly matched. The game will be called at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

Neuman Bros. have received a large assortment of vegetables for tomorrow's trade, the price on which is very much lower than formerly.

THE MICROSCOPE.

It Has Its Prototype in Every Spherical Drop of Water, as Most Inventions Have in Nature.

Nature offers a free microscope whenever one is wanted. She has been dealing in free optical instruments and optical phenomena ever since the first dewdrop formed or the first raindrop fell earthward. Every dewdrop and raindrop and spherical water drop has all the powers and principles of a microscope. To get one of nature's microscopes in operation take up a drop of water between the two points of two sharpened sticks, say matches, and hold the drop over the minute object to be examined. The result will be that the object will be magnified about three diameters. The supposed invention of the microscope was nothing more than shaping a piece of glass into an imitation of a water drop so as to be easily handled. Spiders have made suspension bridges for ages. The rough edge of sword grass gave the inventor the idea of the reaper blade for the harvester. The buzzard has been using the aeroplane for flying a good many centuries. By tapping on an end of a long beam the man at the farther end can hear you telegraphing, the sound traveling through the timber. Fishes have been using bladders of wind for countless years. Water has been a camera ever since the world had sunshine.

Help yourself to nature's store of all things man needs, but never say anything about the invention. Nature invented; you can only arrange and combine facts.—St. Louis Republic.

EARLY BALLOONING.

Some Odd Ideas That Prevailed in the Eighteenth Century.

As far back as 1844 the American public were led to believe that the Atlantic had been crossed in a balloon. On May 23 in that year the New York Sun published a detailed account of an aerial voyage from Liverpool to Charleston, which purported to have been accomplished by "the steering balloon Victoria in a period of seventy-five hours from land to land." Five columns were devoted to the description of the journey and to a scientific account of the balloon, of which a wooden was given, and an air of verisimilitude was added by a list of eight passengers, one of the names mentioned being that of Harrison Almsworth, who was then at the height of his fame.

At the end of the eighteenth century balloons were all the rage. Then, as now, enthusiasts predicted a time near at hand when war would either be an awful matter of the annihilation of armies and forts by bombs from above or would cease altogether through the abolition of frontiers and the fusion of nations. Prophecy went even further.

Canals and roads were to vanish and the space occupied by them to be restored to agriculture. And ships (if any still existed) when caught in a storm would be grappled by the mast from balloons above and safely conveyed into port or even carried over mountain ranges.—Chicago News.

London's Police Press.
An article in the Illustrated English Magazine gives an account of the printing department of Scotland Yard and the astonishing amount of work it turns out. Four times a day a broadside is issued to all the police officers. At 9 in the morning the first is sent out, giving an inventory of all property lost. At noon is issued a list of all persons missing, and this often occupies several pages. At half past 6 the broadside contains both subjects, and also at half past 10. A habitual criminal register is distributed and every few days an account of persons released on tickets of leave. A sheet of missing articles is sent to every pawnbroker, and as many as 4,000 copies of this document are needed. This is only a small part of the work done by the Scotland Yard press.

When You Can't Sleep.
There is an odd theory, which many people believe and which is certainly harmless, that sleeplessness may often be cured in the following odd way: Move your bed out into the room so that no part of bed or covers will touch the wall. Then place under each corner of the bed a piece of rubber or a rubber overshoe or set the caster in a thick glass dish. Then go to bed, making sure the covers do not touch the wall. Thus the bed and yourself will be cut off from all electric contact with floor or wall. Such absence of electric contact, it is claimed, will make you sleep better. It is said to have cured stubborn cases of insomnia.

How to Open a New Book.
The best way to open a new book without risk of injuring it is to place it on its back upon a smooth or covered table, let down the fore and then the hind board, hold the leaves in one hand and open a few of the fore and afterward the end leaves until you reach the center of the volume. Do this several times and you will not break the back of the book.

Made It Very Clear.
"How do you suppose she manages to keep up appearances on her husband's income?"
"What is her husband's income?"
"I don't know; but, of course, it can't be as big as it would have to be if they could afford to live as they do."—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Reluctant Candidate.
During a local election in a German town only one man appeared at the nomination desk.
"Whom do you nominate?" inquired the official.
"Myself," was the answer.
"Do you accept the nomination?"
"Well, no."
The officer laughed and said:
"Then we must try again. Whom do you nominate?"
"Myself."
"You accept the nomination?"
"No."
A subdued "Donnerwetter!" escaped the lips of the perplexed official, but he went on:
"For the third time, whom do you nominate?"
"Myself," came the invariable reply.
"Do you accept the nomination?"
The man rose up, and a smile of satisfaction spread over his face as he answered proudly:
"Having been three times solicited by my fellow citizens to accept the nomination, I can no longer decline to accede to their wishes." He then retired.

The Opal.
In judging an opal color is of the greatest importance. Red fire or red in combination with yellow, blue and green is the best. Blue by itself is quite valueless, and the green opal is not of great value unless the color is very vivid and the pattern very good. The color must be true—that is to say, it must not run in streaks or patches, alternating with a colorless or inferior quality. Pattern is an important factor, the several varieties being known as "pin fire" when the grain is very small, "harlequin" when the color is in small squares, the more regular the better, and the "flash fire," or "flash opal," when the color shows as a single flash or in very large pattern. Harlequin is the most common and is also popularly considered the most beautiful. When the squares of color are regular and show as distinct minute checks of red, yellow, blue and green it is considered magnificent. Some stones show better on edge than on top.—Exchange.

Kept Them Dancing.
A Washington official, speaking of blunders in the diplomatic service, told of a mistake committed by an American in Afghanistan. He said:
"This American entertained the shahzada for three days, giving him a very handsome suit of rooms in his house. The morning of the shahzada's arrival the American host visited him in his apartment and was amazed to see the royal guest and his entire staff hopping about the floor in the oddest way. They conversed politely and gravely; but, instead of walking, they hopped, taking great leaps of eight or nine feet. The host ventured to ask the reason of this hopping. The shahzada politely replied:
"You see, this carpet is green, with pink roses here and there. Green is a sacred color with us, so we are obliged to hop from rose to rose. It is good exercise, but rather fatiguing, I confess."

A Lively Office.
In his recollections in Blackwood's Magazine Sir Robert Anderson tells an amusing story of the days when he was employed at the home office. On his arrival one morning at the office he found a note from Sir James Fergusson's private secretary—his intimates called him "Creep"—announcing that at 3 o'clock precisely an old hat, lately the property of the chief clerk, would be kicked off from the end of the corridor and requesting the favor of Sir Robert's presence. When Big Ben struck 3, Sir Robert heard Creep's cheery voice ring out, "All on side; play!" They all turned out and the game began. On emerging from an unusually hot scrimmage Sir Robert became conscious of the presence of a stranger at his side, a timid little Frenchman, who meekly inquired, "Is this ze office for ze naturalization?" Sir Robert adds, "It was!"

Why He Cried.
The sympathetic neighbor asked: "Is your little brother ill this morning, Johnnie?" I heard him crying in the most heartrending manner.
"No; not exactly," Johnnie explained, "but Willie pulled down a jug of molasses on himself in the pantry, and mother has been trying to comb his hair."—Exchange.

Livingstone.
Of Dr. Livingstone it was said by Stanley that the missionary lived for years among the most cruel and ignorant savages in the world, but he never fired a shot in anger, never "clubbed or clouted or bawled or blasted." His manner was that of a "cool, wise old man who felt offended and looked grave."

Circumstances Reversed.
Unkempt Smith—Mister, would you kindly help a poor man as is all in, down and out? Jocular Citizen—Why, certainly. Just climb the fire escape on that skyscraper across the street and walk in on the top floor. Then you will be all out, up and in.—Judge's Library.

It's Good Point.
"But," asked the long haired young man, "is there nothing at all about poetry that you like?"
"Yes," replied Crabbe. "Whenever I see a poem it makes me feel good to realize that there's no law to compel me to read it."—Catholic Standard and Times.

No grip is so hard to shake off as that of early convictions.—Maurice Thompson.

NEWS OF THE WORLD FOR THE BUSY MAN

Stocks were dull, but generally higher yesterday.

A sewer inspector was the first of the officials of Queens placed on trial for graft to be convicted.

President Taft left Washington for Columbus, Ohio, and Springfield, Ill., where he is to speak on reciprocity.

Count Apponyi, the Hungarian statesman, visited Congress and made a speech to the House of Representatives.

Secretary Wilson, in a letter to the National Grange, asserted that reciprocity with Canada would benefit American farmers.

The search for the ghouls who desecrated the mausoleum of ex-Congressman William L. Scott, at Erie, Penn., produced no clues.

George S. Griscom, Jr., who returned from Italy, said he could tell nothing of the disappearance of Miss Dorothy H. C. Arnold.

It was learned that a new grand opera, by Arthur Nevill, would be sung in English at the Metropolitan Opera House, New York, this season.

The New York Central's application for permission to lay more tracks in Eleventh avenue was held up for three weeks by the Board of Estimate.

Governor Dix's plans to abolish the Advisory Board of Consulting Engineers, Improved Canals, was generally opposed at a legislative hearing at Albany.

Chairman Hooker of the State Highway Commission replied at Albany to Governor Dix's charges of extravagance made in a speech here on Wednesday.

It was said in court by a lawyer that General Thomas T. Eckert made two wills, a prior testament to that under contest by a son being in favor of a granddaughter.

Great Britain and Austria-Hungary signed a convention providing that differences relating to existing treaties be referred to the arbitration court at The Hague.

The British Parliament practically went on record as favoring the reciprocity agreement between the United States and Canada by rejecting Austen Chamberlain's amendment to the address in reply to the speech from the throne by a vote of 324 to 222.

A motion to delay consideration of the reciprocity agreement was defeated in the Canadian Parliament and the Finance Minister, W. S. Fielding, announced that the agreement would be ratified subject to favorable action by the United States.

Congress—Senate: Mr. Beveridge spoke in favor of the Canadian reciprocity agreement, and Mr. Bristow, of Kansas, in advocacy of direct election of Senators; bills designed to protect the uniform of soldiers and sailors from discrimination at public resorts and for reorganization of the consular service were passed. House: A reappointment bill making the number of Representatives 433 after March 3, 1913, was passed.

N. Y. AMUSEMENTS.

Henry Miller's remarkable play, "The Havoc," has begun its second month at the Bijou Theatre in New York. This intensely interesting and superbly acted play is one of the few emphatic hits of the present season and is drawing capacity audiences to every performance at the Bijou Theatre. A heavy advance sale for six week ahead justifies the prediction that Mr. Miller's new success will enjoy the longest run the Bijou Theatre has had since David Warfield in "The Music Master" left Broadway for his two years' tour of the United States.

At the Astor Theatre, "The Boss," Edward Sheldon's great play, with Holbrook Blinn in the star role of Michael Regan has won a tremendous popular success. "The Boss" is the sensation of the hour in New York. The play tells the story of a man who has gained riches and power by insistent, bulldog methods, and who for a time compels all who come in contact with him to bow to his will. The regeneration of the man through the power of love is the great motive in the play. As Regan, Mr. Blinn has won the triumph of his life. Emily Stevens, Frank Sheridan, Howard Estabrook, H. A. LaMotte and other distinguished players are in the cast.

CONSIDER TOWNSHIP EXPENSES TOO GREAT

Members of the Greenbrook Protection Association attended the meeting of the North Plainfield Township committee, at Watchung, last night, for the purpose of entering a protest against what they considered the extravagant methods of the committee. They urged that more economy be practiced and cited the fact that the taxes have been constantly increasing for several years. In this connection they requested that lighting districts be set apart in the Greenbrook section, which was favored by the committee.

W. deLaR. Anderson, chairman of the committee, in answer to the protests of the Greenbrook residents, stated that it had been and is still the policy of the committee to keep the taxes at the lowest point and not to be extravagant. The committee was a unit in curtailing unnecessary expenses. He said that since 1872, year by year under this policy the taxes have increased until now they are out of all proportion to the benefits received and it was evident from this result that it is a poor policy. Mr. Anderson said that he believed in an up-to-date business like expenditure of township funds. Where a dollar can be spent and $10 value or service received, he considered it to be good business for the township. He recalled the fact that the fire department recently saved $6,000 worth of taxable property to the township and the committee voted $5 to the fire company for the service. Edward Canning and John Herrman were appointed policemen for the Watchung district and Charles Meyer for Scotch Plains. No appointment was made for the Greenbrook section, it being explained that none is needed at present. The rest of the time was taken up with the transaction of routine matters.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

The girls' basketball team was defeated yesterday afternoon by the girls' team from Westfield High by a score of 11 to 7. It was one of the hardest fought games of the season and only the familiarity of the Westfield girls with their own court enabled them to win. The lineup: Plainfield—Forwards, Misses Durar and Stewart; center, Miss Douglas; guards, Misses Stiles and Wean. Westfield—Forwards, Misses Griffiths and Gladwin; center, Miss Pinchon; guards, Misses Tice and Bourne. Referee, Miss D. T. Day.

Jack Zeraga has been elected a member of the advisory board of the Boys' Athletic Association to fill the vacancy made by the retirement of Gardner Bristol.

New candidates for the baseball team are having their tryouts in the High School gym. Yesterday afternoon Captain Russell had a squad of promising material go through a few preliminary stunts in pitching and catching for the purpose of limbering up muscles for the outdoor practice which will begin as soon as the weather permits. There are several promising candidates for the pitcher's box.

Lincoln's Birthday was observed at the assembly in the High School this morning with the following program: Songs by the school; march, "Meu of America;" address, Rev. George A. Warner, on "The Great American." The closing song was "Captain, My Captain."

CAMBRIDGE, MD., DELEGATES DUE HERE TODAY.

The delegation of citizens from Cambridge, Md., which plans to inspect the local sewage system and street pavement, is expected to arrive here this afternoon. The delegation will be comprised of Henry Lloyd, former Governor of Delaware; Herbert W. Haddon, civil engineer, residents of Cambridge. The delegation will be received by H. W. Marshall, Henry L. Hall, A. L. C. Marsh and George L. Babcock, a committee appointed by Mayor Moy for the purpose.

The party will be taken about the city in an automobile and shown every courtesy on the tour of inspection. While here the delegation will also meet the councilmanic street committee and have a talk with the members regarding the streets and sewage system of the city.

Dr. Charles Moldenke to Lecture. Dr. Charles Moldenke will give another one of his lectures for the benefit of the Evangelical Lutheran church, Grove street and Mercer avenue, Wednesday evening, February 15. This lecture is a continuation of the one he delivered last year and describes his voyage in southern waters. Those who have heard his previous lectures will be glad of this opportunity to hear more. They are very entertaining and instructive.

Library Closed Monday. The circulating department of the Plainfield Public Library will be closed on Monday, the day following Lincoln's birthday. The reading room will be open from 2 to 6 with an assistant in charge.

SAY LADY DECIES LIKES TO SMOKE

When Lord Decies and his bride, formerly Vivien Gould, reached Brunswick, Ga., about noon yesterday over the Atlantic Coast Line, en route to Jekyll Island to spend their honeymoon, Lady Decies furnished a sensation by puffing a cigarette in full view of several hundred persons gathered at the depot to get a look at the bridal couple. When the train arrived Lord and Lady Decies were at lunch in the dining car. The people at the depot gave a cheer as soon as the train stopped.

When Lord and Lady Decies had finished lunch the bride took a seat at a window in full view of the curious crowd, produced a cigarette from a jeweled case, lighted it and coolly began to puff. The crowd broke into a cheer as Lady Decies puffed the cigarette, and she seemed to enjoy the applause.

In a few minutes the couple left the car Atlanta and walked to the wharf, a distance of 100 yards, between two lines of spectators, who cheered. Lord Decies lifted his hat and Lady Decies bowed. Instead of going into the saloon they took a seat in full view of the crowd. As the boat left the wharf they both waved goodby to the onlookers.

Lord and Lady Decies go to Jekyll Island at the invitation of Edwin Gould, an uncle of the bride, whose cottage has been prepared for them, and one of his yachts will be at their disposal.

JERSEY TO GET 2 MORE CONGRESSMEN

There will be 433 members of the House of Representatives in the Sixty-third Congress as compared with 391 in the present House. The bill reported by Representative Crumpacker, of Indiana, from the Census Committee in the House at Washington, yesterday, providing for reapportionment on this 433 basis, was passed by the House late yesterday afternoon.

There was no record vote on the passage of the Crumpacker bill, but previously a substitute offered by Representative Campbell, of Kansas, proposing to retain the membership of the House at its present total, was defeated, 131 to 171. The Democratic side voted solidly against the Campbell proposition, and their strength, supplemented by the votes of a good many Republicans who ignored the action of their recent party caucus, gave the proponents of the increase in the House membership a clear majority of 40.

Sixteen Republicans, 15 of whom are Regulars, ignored the action of the party caucus which approved the 391 bill, by voting for the measure passed yesterday.

The house has seldom seen more disorder than during the consideration of the reapportionment bill. Practically every member who tried to explain or does an amendment he had offered, he is howled down. Democrats and Republicans alike hooted and booed, banged their desks and yelled "vote," and "regular order," until the member on his feet gave up in despair.

The Crumpacker bill passed yesterday, and the Senate will acquiesce as a matter of course. It provides an increase of 42 members. The States of Alabama, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Louisiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Montana, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Utah and West Virginia will get in one member each. The States of Illinois, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Texas and Washington will gain two members each, and California and Dakota will gain three members each. The total of 433 was selected because it was the lowest number that would prevent any State from losing a representative.

His cosmopolitan point of view, founded on travel and residence in many countries, gives special authority to his utterances on present-day political conditions. Mr. Collier's second article is entitled "The Gateway to India," and deals particularly with Bombay, where he was a guest at Government House. He gives a comprehensive view from

MODIFICATIONS IN SKIRTS.

Fortunately, the extreme exploitations of a fashion die a quick and decided death on this side of the sea, and the hobble skirt has been hobbled as quickly as was compatible with its scanty lines out of style. In its place the lower line has been widened and modified to give a delightful variety of line at the lower part of the skirt.

Some of the new models suggest other days, when the voluminous folds were looped up at the side by cords and jeweled chains. Indeed, one skirt exploited by a daring designer has given a decidedly raised line at the front and side, with a long sweep towards the back. Shoes designed especially for the gown should be worn with a costume of this type. It is doubtful, however, as to whether this new idea will be accepted by us.

Trains are appearing on evening gowns. Woman, despite the fact that short, round-length dresses are very comfortable, still cling to a type of dress that gives her dignity and emphasizes her grace. A train undoubtedly does these things, therefore the makers have heeded the call and are giving us more modifications than ever.

There is the square court train, made extra and hanging in a straight sweeping line from the waist or shoulders to any length on the floor. Pointed trains are very narrow and swish to and fro quite like serpents—with all the allurements of the sinuous. Round trains and fishtail trains are also in evidence. The latter are used on draped dresses.

Double and triple effects are produced by a combination of these. A pointed tunic of lace, for instance, is draped over a square train, and so on.

Great effects are possible at the trailing fabrics or colors are used. Modified lines are accentuated, and, if beautiful, make assurance doubly sure.

The lower line of the skirt is decidedly coming into its own.

Cavanagh, Forest Ranger

The Great Conservation
Novel

By HAMLIN GARLAND

Copyright, 1910, by Hamlin Garland

She uttered all this in a new voice, with steady voice and with bright eyes, but Lee Virginia could feel beneath her harsh inflections the deep emotion which vibrated there, and her heart went out toward the lonely woman in a new rush of tenderness. Now that she was released from the necessity of excusing her mother's faults—faults she could now ignore—now that she could look upon her as a loyal friend, she was moved to pity and to love, and, rising, she went to her and put her arms about her neck and said: "This won't make any difference. I am going to stay with you and help you just the same."

The tears came to the old woman's eyes, and her voice broke as she replied: "I knew you would say that, Lee Virginia, but all the same I don't intend to have you do any such thing.
You've got to cut loose from me altogether, because some fine chap is going to come along one of these days, and he won't want me even as a stepmother-in-law. No; I have decided that you and me had better live apart. I'll get you a place to live up in Sulphur, where I can visit you now and again,
but I guess I am elected to stay right here in the Fork. They don't like me, and I don't like them, but I have kind of got used to their ways of looking at me sideways. They don't matter as much as it would up there in the city."

Lee turned back wistfully toward the story of her mother. "Where did my mother meet my father? Do you know that?"

"No, I don't. It was a runaway match, Ed said. I never did know who her folks were, only I know they thought she was marrying the wrong man."

The girl sighed as her mind took in the significance of her mother's coming to this wild country, leaving all that she knew and loved behind.
"Poor little mother! It must have been very hard for her."

"I am afraid she did have a hard time, for Ed admitted to me that he hadn't so much as a saddle when he landed in the state. He hadn't much when I met him first, but everybody liked him. He was one of the handsomest men that ever jumped a saddle. But he was close mouthed. You never could get anything out of him that he didn't want to tell, and I was never able to discover what he had been doing in the southern part of the state."

As she pondered on her changed relationship to Lize, Lee's heart lightened. It would make a difference to Ross. It would make a difference to the Redfields. Traitorous as it seemed, it was a great relief, a joy, to know that her own mother—her real mother—had been "nice." "She must have been nice or Lize would not have said so," she reasoned, recalling that her stepmother had admitted her feeling of jealousy.

At last Lize rose. "Well, now, dearie,
I reckon we had better turn in. It is getting chilly and late."

As they were about to part at the door of the tent Virginia took Lize's face between her hands. "Good night, mother," she said and kissed her to show her that what she had said would not make any difference.

But Lize was not deceived. This unwonted caress made perfectly plain to her the relief which filled the girl's heart.

Lee Virginia was awakened some hours later by a roaring, crackling sound and by the flare of a yellow light upon her tent. Peering out, she saw flames shooting up through the roof of the ranger's cabin, while beside it, wrapped in a blanket, calmly contemplating it, stood Cavanagh with folded arms. A little nearer to the bridge Redfield was sitting upon an upturned box.

With a cry of alarm she aroused her mother, and Lize, heavy eyed, jagged with sleep, rose slowly and peered out at the scene with eyes of dull amazement. "Why don't they try to put it out?" she demanded as she took in the import of the passive figures.

Dressing with trembling haste, Lee stepped from the tent just in time to see Swenson come from behind the burning building and join the others in silent contemplation of the scene.

There was something uncanny in the calm fraction of the three strong men.
Slowly, wonderingly, the girl drew near and called to Cavanagh, who turned quickly, crying out: "Don't come too close and don't be frightened. I set the place on fire myself.
The poor old herder died last night and is decently buried in the earth, and now we are burning the cabin and every thread it contains to prevent the spread of the plague. Hugh and Swenson have divided their garments with me, and this blanket which I wear is my only coat. All that I have is in that cabin now going up in smoke—my guns, pictures, everything."

"How could you do it?" she cried out, understanding what his sacrifice had been.

"I couldn't," he replied. "The superior did it. They had to go. The cabin was saturated with poison. It had become to me a plague spot, and there was no other way to stamp it out. I should never have felt safe if I had carried out even so much as a letter."

Dumb and shivering with the chill of the morning, Lee Virginia drew nearer, ever nearer. "I am so sorry,"
she said and yearned toward him, eager to comfort him, but he warn-ingly motioned her away.

"Please don't come any nearer, for I dare not touch you."
"But you are not ill?" she cried out, with a note of apprehension in her voice.

He smiled in response to her question. "No; I feel nothing but weariness and a little depression. I can't help feeling somehow as if I were burning up a part of myself in that fire—the saddle I have ridden for years, my guns, ropes, spurs. Everything relating to the forest is gone, and with it my youth. I have been something of a careless freebooter myself, I fear, but that is all over with now." He looked at her in the face with a sad and resolute glance. "The forest service made a man of me, taught me to regard the future. I never accepted responsibility till I became a ranger, and in thinking it all over I have decided to stay with it, as the boys say, 'till the spring rains.'"

"I am very glad of that," she said.
"Yes; Dalton thinks I can qualify for the position of supervisor, and Redfield may offer me the supervision of this forest. If he does I will accept it—if you will go with me and share the small home which the supervisor's pay provides. Will you go?"

In the light of his burning cabin and in the shadow of the great peaks Lee Virginia could not fail of a certain largeness and dignity of mood. She neither blushed nor stammered as she responded, "I will go anywhere in the world with you."

He could not touch so much as the hem of her garment, but his eyes embraced her as he said, "God bless you for the faith you seem to have in me!"

Redfield's voice interrupted with hearty clamor. "And now, Miss Virginia, you go back and rustle some breakfast for us all. Swenson, bring the horses in and harness my team.
I'm going to take these women down the canyon. Asd. Ross, you'd better saddle up as soon as you feel rested and ride across the divide and go into camp in that little old cabin by the dam above my house. You'll have to be sequestered for a few days, I reckon, till we see how you're coming out.
I'll telephone over to the Fork and have the place made ready for you, and I'll have the doctor go up there to meet you and put you straight. If you're going to be sick we'll want you where we can look after you. Isn't that so, Lee Virginia?"

"Indeed it is," replied the girl earnestly.

"But I'm not going to be sick," retorted Cavanagh. "I refuse to be sick."

"Quite right," replied Redfield, "but all the same we want you where we

"I WILL GO ANYWHERE IN THE WORLD WITH YOU."

can get at you and where medical aid of the right sort is accessible. I'm going to fetch my bed over here and put you into it. You need rest."

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week
Beginning Feb. 12, 1911.

Topic.—Lessons from great lives.—II.
Joseph.—Gen. xli, 14-15. (Consecration meeting.) Edited by Rev. Sherman H.
Boyle, D. D.

The poet has said:
Lives of great men all remind us
We can make our lives sublime
And, departing, leave behind us
Footprints on the sands of time.

But in these lines, as in many others, there is much poetic privilege, or what is usually called "poetic license." It is not always literally true that men can make their own lives sublime even by studying the lives of others who have done so. But it is true that lives may be made better and higher than they are by studying especially the lives of men who have reached a high place in life against great difficulties, provided the life following the example also possesses the abilities to achieve great things. Their latent talents are simply aroused and awakened into active energy by the inspiration of one who, having the ability, has used it.

But all men cannot be great and sublime. Life's duties are of various kinds—some distinguished and some humble. Some require great gifts, and some demand but insignificant abilities, but all are needed to make the world's work complete. But, if anything, the great work harder than the different lower classes. Moreover, God rewards each in proportion as he is faithful to his position, whether it be high or humble. If a king rules well he is no more in the sight of God than his most humble servant. In this way God equalizes men in their different gifts and places of labor.

Of all the men who have lifted other lives the best examples are to be found in the Bible. In this respect the life of Joseph is one of the most supreme, because he possessed a spirit and life of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, who lived the only perfect life that was ever lived in this world after Adam's sin and fall.

His entire career was one of inspiration. He was born in a home of wealth and was the favorite son of his father, Jacob. Certain dreams pointed to his rule over his brethren, which he seems to have related with considerable pride. This, with the favoritism of his father, also manifest, caused his brethren to hate him, the result being that he was sold to men going to Egypt, who there sold him to Potiphar, a member of the king's household, and soon afterward thrown into prison. Here he interpreted two dreams of his fellow prisoners which came true, as he said, and one was executed and the other released to his old position in the king's household. But, released himself, he forgot Joseph, whom he had promised he would recommend to the king's mercy. Then the king had two dreams which were as one, and, no one being able to interpret, he recalled Joseph, who interpreted the king's dreams concerning the seven years of plenty and seven years of famine and was given charge of collecting and storing up grain in the seven years of plenty and for this purpose was next to Pharaoh, "the first man in the kingdom." Until his death he had great influence in Egypt, and his people prospered until gradually they were enslaved, when "a king arose who knew not Joseph."

In his life many lessons that should lift other lives may be found, of which only two will be mentioned.
First.—The first lesson is the supreme one. Joseph was always faithful to God. In his father's home he was an obedient son, else he would not have been the favorite son. When sold into Egypt and finally thrown into prison under a false and cruel charge he still put his trust in God, and when made first in the kingdom, next to the king, he was still mindful of God and ascribed the ability to interpret dreams to Him, and when rolling with Pharaoh in peace and power he stayed close to God. To this greatest of all can his splendid success be attributed. No one can reach true fame or real greatness without following Joseph in this respect. All else of greatness is but temporary and flimsy except God be behind it.

Second.—Joseph is the best type of Christian in the Old Testament. The Bible is a true record of the characters it portrays. The sins as well as virtues of its characters are all told. But of Joseph nothing evil is recorded except his pride in telling the dreams of his youth. He treated all alike. He was no respecter of persons. He told the dreams of his fellow prisoners with the same readiness that he interpreted those of the king. He saved Egypt in its awful crisis and Israel at the same time. His supreme mission, like that of Christ, was to save, and his names both mean Saviour. Like Christ, he resisted temptations.

WHEN USING MARABOU.

It is not surprising to find that the softness and beauty of marabou have been seized by designers of scarfs and wraps and used to give decoration, in addition to the delightful warmth that is required on chilly evenings. The scarf or wrap has been emphasized in the season's costume to such an extent that the suggestions given should be received with open arms by "designing" women.

There is a long, simple cape of chiffon in gorgeous flame-color, forming a beautiful background, upon which the two rows of brown marabou are placed. The edging of any garment with marabou is very simple. You will notice that if two rows have been used a consequent doubling of the charm results.

A striped effect is given in the straight scarfs of chiffon, puffed or shirred between each row of the feathers. This simple form can be tied or draped in soft folds around the shoulders, the color kindly harmonizing with any shade of an evening dress.

Embroidered silk of a dull tapestry blue is not too gorgeous to be made more beautiful by the addition of marabou. A straight panel of quilling and embroidery is relieved at each side by a plain band before the soft brown edge is used.

What marabou will do for a peacock blue satin wrap is shown by one beautiful model from Paris. A deep shawl collar, deep cuffs and the edging of the wrap are given by this attractive "fur." No other trimming is required for this effective and easily constructed outer garment.

For the fortunate possessors of winter marabou sets here are ideas that surely should be crystallized into charming coverings. The ones who cannot resist the tempting display of these scarfs can purchase the downy trimming and fashion it into delectable shapes.

She Wasn't Afraid.
A crowd gathered on the street to watch a handsome fox terrier that was running about, nose in air. White froth was running from the dog's mouth.

"He's mad!" yelled a fat man. The fox terrier stood in the center of the group with wide open eyes, either too mad or too frightened to move.

At this juncture the policeman arrived. A dozen voices began to tell him that the dog was mad; that it must be killed; that it had been snapping at the children; that it began to froth when it passed a pool of water, and how best to shoot.

A tall, quiet looking woman pushed through the crowd and started toward the dog. A dozen men yelled at her. Two or three men grabbed at her. She picked the dog up and started out of the crowd. The policeman stopped her with:

"Madam, that dog is mad. He must be shot. Look at the foam coming out of his mouth."

"Foam!" she said contemptuously. "That's a cream puff he was eating."

Printing a Coin on Linen.

The print of a silver coin or medal may be made on silk or linen by dipping the fabric in a solution of nitrate of silver and stretching it over the face of the coin until the image is imprinted. The linen is sensitized by dipping it into a solution of nitrate of silver, made by dissolving sixty or eighty grains of nitrate of silver in one ounce of water. Wet the portion of the cloth which is to receive the impression in the solution and when nearly dry draw it over the face of the coin and tie it at the back. Expose to a weak light, and in a few minutes the raised design of the coin will appear on the linen. As soon as the print is dark enough remove and wash in clear water. When nearly dry iron it smooth with a warm iron, placing a piece of tissue paper over the print. In printing from the coin or medal it is advisable to paste a piece of paper on the reverse side, so that the silver will not come in contact with the sensitized fabric.

Student of Shakespeare.

The office boy sat in the corner busily engaged in reading a book. Strange to say, it was not "The Adventures of Bunko Jim," "Daisy Dean, the Demon Detective," nor even a thrilling narrative of more or less correct life on the plains. He was reading Shakespeare.

An expression of peace and joy was on his face that caused those who knew him to wonder if he had at last experienced a change of heart. His eyes sparkled, and his whole expression was one of happiness. Finally he turned to a worker at another desk.

"Say, Jim," he said, "I've got a question for you. Did you ever read Shakespeare?"

"Yep," was the reply.

"And d'yer know what he talks about?"

"Yep."

"Den maybe you can help me."

"What is it?"

"Well, I want to know which was de man, Romeo or Juliet?"—Youth's Companion.

Losing His Mind.

"Mother, guess you'd better send for th' doctor," gasped Uncle Charlie Seaver as he sank into a chair and rocked back and forth, holding his gray head. "Sakes alive! Ye haven't been and got the misery in yer head, have ye, Silas?" gasped his astonished wife, dropping a pie tin.

"I dunno what's the matter, but I've always had a hunch my mind'd go some time. It's cum, I guess. I noticed th' trouble first last week when I plumb forgot to go up an' swear off th' $100 assessment till it was too late. Then I neglected to go to th' school meetin' last night to fight agin the new commissioner. But, wuss and wuss, I didn't guess within eleven pound seven ounces of th' weight of Wal Weaver's big hog killed today. I guess my mind has gone all right. I'm about all in."

Tuning Forks.

The tuning fork was the invention of John Stone, royal trumpeter, in 1811. Though the pitch of forks varies slightly with changes of the temperature or by rust, they are the most accurate means of determining pitch.

Tuning forks are capable of being made of any pitch within certain limits, but those commonly used are the notes A and C, giving the sounds represented by the second and third spaces in the treble stave.

An Incentive.

"Won't you try to love me?" he sighed.

"I have tried," she replied kindly, but firmly.

"My rich aunt has just died," he went on.

"In that case, dear, I will try again."

A Blunt Answer.

Mother to her daughter:—You'd better accept Peter, my dear. He is a nice boy, though he may not be handsome. After all, good looks fade, don't they, papa? Father—Rather!—File geode Blatter.
