

HONOR TO HEROES OF VERA CRUZ

Thousands Pay Tribute to Seventeen Who Lost Lives in First Fighting.

EULOGY BY PRESIDENT

Impressive Ceremonies at Navy Yard
—All New York in Mourning with Business Generally Suspended
During Hours of Funeral.

New York, May 11.—Seventeen flag draped coffins on caissons, carrying the bodies of the seventeen men killed in the fight at Vera Cruz, were paid a national, state and municipal homage today. Never before in the history of the city has such a solemn, impressive and profound tribute been paid. Business was suspended during the hours of the obsequies, bells in the churches sounded the message of patriotism and memorial exercises were held in all schools.

When the caissons passed bearing the bodies of those whose deeds will live as a monument to their memory heads were bared and thousands gazed at the flag colored catafalques which contained the victims of treacherous Mexican snipers in silent reverence.

Elaborate preparations were made by the police to prevent disorder along the line of march or a demonstration by any organization opposed to the administration's course in Mexico or not in sympathy with social conditions. This was especially emphasized along Broadway near the Standard Oil building, where Upton Sinclair and members of the I. W. W. have been parading. Nothing occurred, however, to break the congruity of the occasion.

At the head of the cortege rode a group of mounted police, another troop bringing up in the rear. The police cavalry was a feature of the cortege, as the men have been drilling a week for the maneuvers. Thirty-four mounted men rode along the lines, two on either side of each of the seventeen caissons.

There were 250 men around city hall, under command of Inspector O'Brien. When the parade reached the Park square end of the plaza the marine detail, including the men from the Texas and Wyoming, and the naval militia wheeled into line, forming a continuous phalanx from end to end of the plaza, facing the steps of the city hall, where were gathered the various civic bodies, the officials of the administration, the mayor and the school children who sang.

Between the city hall and the Manhattan bridge along the line of march was a force of 200 men under Inspector Caballane. They were distributed about twenty to a block. Fifty men, including the motorcycle men, were stationed at the bridge under Captain O'Toole. The bridge was closed to traffic while the cortege passed.

Borough Inspector Dillon was in charge of the Brooklyn arrangements.

P. H. S. MINSTRELS SCORED BIG HIT

Schoolboy Talent Drew a Capacity Audience in the Plainfield Theatre.

BEST EVER PRODUCED

Show Presented by 1914 Cast Sets a Precedent in School History—Athletic Association Will Net $150 as a Result.

A large audience greeted the Plainfield High School Minstrels presented by the Boys' Athletic Association of that institution in the Plainfield Theatre, Saturday night, and were treated to a program of mirth and music that exceeded by far the greatest anticipations of all. The schoolboy talent did itself credit in the presentation of the numerous original hits and the audience was kept in a round of laughter from curtain to curtain.

Local topics put into verse by the schoolboys lent interest to the affair and the topical song, by one of the end men, on High School subjects, put a fitting finale on the first part of the program. The large chorus in a plantation scene rendered many numbers popular in the world of minstrelsy in a manner that reflected credit on the coaching received from Sewell Ulrich. As the result of the performance the athletic association's treasury will be swelled $150. During the intermission between the parts William Peacock, president of the association, presented Sewell Ulrich, the coach, with $15 in gold and a similar reward was made to Harold Davis, leader of the orchestra. Both responded with short speeches containing words of praise for those who had given their efforts to make the affair the success it was.

This year's production was managed by William Peacock, assisted by Daniel F. McNamee, and the show was widely advertised.

The end men produced a round of good humor before retiring after encores. They were Cortland Fleming, Daniel F. McNamee, Harold Williams, Gerald Linke, Curtis Dall and James Noonan. The minstrel portion consisted of the following numbers: Opening chorus, entire company; end song, "Mammy Jiny's Jubilee," by Gerald Linke; ballad, "When the Twilight Comes to Kiss the Rose Goodnight," by Fred Mills, assisted by the quartet; end song, "Pullman Porters On Parade," by Curtis Dall; ballad, "While the Rivers of Love Flow On," by Irving Manley; end song, "All Aboard for Dixie," by Cortland Fleming; solo, "Oh, Promise Me," by Arthur Martin; end song, "Zip Coon," with original verses, by Daniel McNamee; closing chorus, by the entire company.

The quartet composed of Cortland Fleming, Daniel McNamee, Curtis Dall and Fred Mills rendered several excellent selections. The second part of the show was an original darky act, entitled "The Real Thing." Eddie Ford, Fred Vaughn and Ralph Green took part in this number.

Part three was an original sketch written by Sewell Ulrich, entitled "Samuel Washington, Executive." The following took part, Eynon White, William Peacock, Daniel McNamee, Harold Williams, Leonard Lewis, Gerald Linke, James Noonan, Nicholas Zelmas, Arthur Crone and David Fitch.

A special feature of meet will be a marathon race through the business section of the town which will finish on Parker Field.

PHILLIP H. ACKOR DIES AFTER A BRIEF ILLNESS

Phillip H. Ackor, for many years a successful farmer of Watchung, but more recently a retired resident of Westervelt avenue, the borough, died yesterday, after a two weeks' illness, previous to which he had enjoyed exceptionally good health. Mr. Ackor was in his seventy-first year. He was a member of the First Baptist church, and well known throughout the city.

There survives by a wife, a brother, Daniel Ackor, of Grandview avenue, two daughters, Mrs. Charles Miles and Miss Marjorie Ackor, and two sons, William and Elmer Ackor the latter now residing in Connecticut. The funeral services will be held at the late home, 149 Westervelt avenue, Wednesday afternoon, at two o'clock. The interment will be made at Evergreen cemetery.

WILL MEET TO ARRANGE FOR A COLORED Y. M. C. A.

As the result of a suggestion published in the editorial columns of the Daily Press, active steps will be taken to organize a Y. M. C. A. for colored boys and men in this city tonight at a meeting which will be held in the Mt. Olive Baptist church. A number of influential Y. M. C. A. workers in this city have interested themselves. John Murray is the chairman in charge of the movement and he is being assisted by T. H. Karney and a large corps of workers. Many of those now actively engaged in the Recreation Committee's work in this city have announced their intention of aiding the project.

A bawky fight over a wash tub resulted in the arrest Saturday afternoon, of "Nisck" Petrohe and his "better half," as well as Mrs. Andromeda, all of Race street, the borough. When arraigned before Recorder Hand this morning the plea of guilty was entered and the neighborly troubles were ironed out. The court, however, fined each of the parties $3 for being disorderly.

Four boys, who were driving a delivery wagon of a local merchant along Wilson avenue, the borough, Saturday afternoon, became somewhat impolite in their actions, and three stones at John Pearson, who was returning from work to his home on that thoroughfare. The youngsters were severely lectured when they were arraigned this morning in police headquarters of the borough. Sentence was suspended in each case.

THE HIGH SCHOOL JOB.

That the Board of Education not only intends to protect itself in the future, but also the creditors of contractors who may do school work has been made evident by the attitude adopted in making plans for the completion of the High School building. The lesson of the P. J. Exner Company failure is one that will not soon be forgotten, and the Board will be on its guard in the future.

We understand that in Bound Brook a contract was recently let for a new school building, and in addition to giving a bond for the completion of the work to the satisfaction of the Board of Education the contractor was compelled to give a second one which protects every creditor with whom he does business. Reputable contractors would have no trouble in getting bonding companies to guarantee them in such a case, while those who have shady reputations would be unable to procure responsible surety. This would prevent them complying with the terms of the contract and thus keep irresponsible persons from bidding.

The High School addition has brought serious loss to many creditors of the Exner Company. As we understand it the Board of Education has about $59,000 still in its possession which has not been paid for work already done. The figures submitted to complete the work are $46,700. That leaves a little over $12,000 to be divided between the creditors of the Exner Company, whose claims are said to be about $30,000. In other words the plan adopted by the Board of Education will give the creditors about forty per cent. Had the surety company been called upon to complete the job, the creditors would not have received a cent. It is therefore a matter for congratulation that the plan which has been adopted was decided upon. It is also gratifying to know that local contractors were given the chance to complete the work, after the Exner Company failed.

PUPILS AND BUSINESS.

Reference has been made several times of late to the effort on the part of William Jeffery, president of the Board of Trade, to learn whether or not the graduates of our local grammar and high schools are being properly fitted for business. In answers to queries sent out by Mr. Jeffery, some of the local business men reported that they do not think the graduates nowadays are properly prepared for a business life. Evidently the same complaint has been made in other cities, for we frequently read of plans which are being worked out to make better business men and women of the high school and grammar school pupils.

Up in Boston a score of seniors from the high school recently took letters of introduction from the Chamber of Commerce and visited business men and merchants of the city to get ideas upon the best kind of preparation for pupils expecting to enter commercial ranks after graduation. The investigation, which was originated by the public school department but was carried out by the commercial men's organization, will result in information upon which may be based a practical program of study.

The same educational procedure is one which Plainfield may consider with profit. It has been usual for educators to proceed to outline a study after theories gained from conventions, normal schools, colleges or books. Has it been any wonder that the results have been a failure in many cases, particularly along those lines of study proposing to fit students for life after commencement week? It is not to be wondered at that the New York Board of Education went to the business men, the employers of their pupils, to learn what has been wrong; nor was it strange that the head of the Minneapolis schools asked merchants and employers to submit lists of words most used and usually misspelled by students entering commercial tasks.

Boston advances a step beyond either New York or Minneapolis; it is sending its pupils out to gather the data essential for making more nearly perfect the preparation of school children for after life. These pupils are backed by the schools and the business men; they return with information gathered by future employees from employers, for whom the schools are seeking to render mutual benefits.

It will be a good thing for educators, pupils, Board of Trade and business men to combine to do what Boston is doing. Boston, the city of books and theory, turned to a city with schools for practical life preparation. The plan promises to bring about beneficial changes in the old center of learning and culture; it would work close to a revolution in the local schools, it would bring about the evolution, much sought, of practical education of the youth and interest them by enlisting them in it.

THE FORUM.

Editor Plainfield Daily Press:

May I add a word to Miss Lawrence's criticism of Mrs. Blatch's reply to Mayor Mitchell? Mrs. Blatch, it seems to me, was singularly unfortunate in the example she chose for refuting the Mayor's statement that the women will get the vote when enough women want it.

She pictured a number of railroad men discussing the acceptance of an air brake for trains. Presumably this air brake came well recommended, but would not any sane railroad men insist on a practical demonstration of its work, and if it did not prove more effective than the brakes already in use, would they not, in the interest of the public refuse to go to the risk and expense of a change?

Has equal suffrage been so successful as to call for a change which seems to so many not only needless but dangerous?

In answer to this question let me quote from a letter to the New York Times. The writer begins by referring to the prominence given to Colorado by the Suffragists quoting a "Suffragist of national reputation" as asserting "that the women of Colorado have taken her government firmly in hand and may now be said to run that great State," and then goes on to say:

"But suddenly, in a most dreadful and dramatic manner, Colorado, stands revealed as a State in which government has completely broken down. So inept and inefficient has she shown herself that she has been compelled to admit that she cannot enforce her own laws and to go to the humiliating length of begging for Federal aid. Now, either the information disseminated by the Suffragists is erroneous or the women voters are largely responsible for this sad condition of affairs."

Again the writer quoted, says: "Since the days when Edward O. Wolcott and Henry M. Feller gave Colorado a standing in the United States Senate out of all proportion to her general importance there has been a steady and marked deterioration in the character of her public servants. Other States have purified their elections, but Colorado's remain corrupt."

She elected Guggenheim to the Senate in the same year that New Jersey dropped Dryden. The great leaders of whom she now boasts are men like Judge Lindsay, who, undoubtedly sincere and well meaning, are so lacking in balance and judgment that they frequently injure the excellent causes they espouse."

Would it not be wiser to test the suffrage "air brake" somewhat longer where it is already installed before extending its use?

ENDRESS SAYS AUTO TRUCK IS HUMANITARIAN AGENT

In the opinion of Mr. Fred Endress of the Reo Motor Car Co., the automobile truck is the greatest humanitarian agent the world has known.

"The Auto Truck," said Mr. Endress, "has done more to eliminate animal suffering than any other invention of which I have ever heard. I hope the time will come when it will be a criminal offense for any business concern to use horse-drawn commercial vehicles. If the truck were a luxury, solely within the reach of the large business establishments, there might be some excuse for retaining horses in commercial service, but it has been actually proven that a truck can be purchased and operated more cheaply than a horse or team and wagon. I, for one, will certainly pray for the complete emancipation of these dumb brutes from the slavery of commerce."

The next section back was reserved for the relatives of the dead, the citizens' committee, the officers of the national guard and the naval militia. Further back were the officers of the United States army, the officers of the navy and beyond a section for special guests.

In the left hand section of the stand, beginning in front in the order given, were the United States senate delegation, state assembly and senate, naval officers of the escort and aids, aldermen, relatives of the dead, the citizens' committee, officers of the navy yard and special guests.

The ceremonies were brief and simple, consisting of a hymn by the band, a prayer by Chaplain Cassard of the navy, an address by President Wilson, a prayer by Rabbi Wise and benediction by Father John B. Chidwick, formerly a chaplain in the service.

Secretary Daniels said: "Mr. President, I have the solemn honor of presenting to you the names of the nineteen sailors and marines, who baptized the flag of the nation in their blood. They were young men. The oldest was thirty-nine and the youngest nineteen. These men with a willingness and a devotion which merits our praise gave all that they had and all that they hoped for in our country."

"I hand them to you, Mr. President, so that they may be preserved in our national archives."

President Wilson, with the list of the dead sailors and marines in his hand, said in part: "I know that the feeling which characterizes those that stand here and the whole nation is not to be expressed in oratory or eloquence. It is far too deep for ordinary speech. For my own part I have a singular mixture of feelings. The feeling that is uppermost is one of profound grief that these lads should have to go to their death, and yet there is mixed with that grief profound pride that they should have gone as they did, and if I may say this out of my heart a touch of envy of those who were permitted to quietly, so nobly, to do their duty. Have you thought of it, men, here is a roster of the navy. The list of men, officers and enlisted men and marines, and suddenly there swim nineteen stars out of the list—men who have suddenly gone to a firmament of memory, where we shall always see their names shine. Not because they called upon us to admire them, but because they served us without asking any questions and in the performance of a duty which is laid upon us as well as upon them."

"Duty is not an uncommon thing. Men are performing it in the ordinary walks of life all around us all the time, and they are making great sacrifices to perform it. That which gives men like these peculiar distinction, is not merely that they did their duty, but that their duty had nothing to do with them or their own personal and peculiar interests. They did not give their lives for themselves. They gave their lives for us, because we called upon them as a nation, to perform an unexpected duty. That is the way in which men grow distinguished and that is the only way by serving somebody else than themselves. Are you sorry for these lads? Are you sorry for the way they will be remembered? Does it not quicken your pulses to think of the list of them. I hope to God none of you may join the list, but if you do you will join an immortal company."

"So while we are profoundly sorrowful, and while we have the deepest sympathy for the friends and relatives of these lads, who for the rest of their lives shall mourn them, though with a touch of pride, we do not go away from this occasion cast down, but with our heads lifted and our eyes upon the future of this country, with absolute confidence of how it will be worked out."

"War is a sort of dramatic representation, a sort of dramatic symbol of a thousand forms of duty. I never went into battle, I was never under fire, but I fancy there are some things just as hard to do as to go under fire. I fancy that it is just as hard to do your duty, when men are sneering at you, as when they are shooting at you. When they shoot at you they can only take your natural life, when they sneer at you, they then can wound your heart, and men who are brave enough, steadfast enough, steady in their principles enough to go about their duty with regard to their fellow-men no matter whether they are hisses or cheers, men who can do what Rudyard Kipling, in one of his poems wrote, 'Meet with crime and disaster, and treat those two imposters just the same,' are men for a nation to be proud of."

"When I look at you I feel as if I also and we all were enlisted men. We are expected to put the utmost energy of every power that we have into the service of our fellow-men, never stirring ourselves, not conceding to think of what is going to happen to ourselves, but ready it need be to go to the utter lengths of complete sacrifice. As I stand and look at you today, and think of these spirits that have gone from us, I know that the road is clearer for the future. Those boys have shown us the way, and it is easy to walk on it because they have gone before and shown us how. May God grant to all of us that vision of patriotic service, which here in solemnity and grief and pride is born in upon our hearts and pockets."

At the conclusion of these ceremonies the firing party, consisting of the marine company of the United States steamer Tanager, marched in front of the stand and, facing south, fired three volleys. Taps sounded on the bugle concluded the ceremony.

The caskets were then forwarded by the naval authorities to the next of kin of the deceased.

Elaborate ceremonies in which it is estimated 50,000 persons will take part have been arranged in Chicago in honor of Samuel Meisinger, the Jewish boy who was one of the first victims at Vera Cruz. Meisinger was the only one of the victims whose home was in Chicago, and after his death was reported his only brother, Meyer Meisinger, wrote President Wilson that he was ready to take his brother's place in Mexico if needed.

EDWARD COLFAX HELD ON CHARGE OF THEFT

Arraigned before City Judge W. G. DeMeza in the city court, this morning, charged by Robert Kirkwood, of 147 Randolph road, with having taken $20 from a bureau in the latter's home, Edward Colfax, of South Plainfield, was held to await the action of the Grand Jury in bonds of $200 which were furnished by Patrick Kaine. The complainant alleges that Colfax, who was a visitor at the Kirkwood home on the night of April 17, entered one of the living rooms on the second floor and took the money from a pocketbook which he hid in the drawer. His testimony was corroborated by Harold Kirkwood, a thirteen-year-old brother, who claims that he saw the defendant take the money.

On the stand the defendant denied having taken the missing money, but admitted that he was with one Tony Rogers, of Newark, when the latter stole the $20. He testified to having seen the Newarker open the drawer and get away with the pocketbook. Colfax told conflicting tales in his story, however, and the court decided that the evidence of the thirteen-year-old witness for the prosecution was sufficient to hold the prisoner for the Grand Jury.

CHARGED WITH THEFT OF RIG VALUED AT $300

Arraigned on two charges of larceny, Thomas Johnson, colored, was held to await the action of the Grand Jury when he appeared before City Judge W. G. DeMeza, this morning. Johnson, who was employed by Jacob Sklarew, proprietor of the Surprise Store on West Front street, is alleged to have taken a horse valued at $150 and a two-seated carriage of the same value, from his employer's barn Friday night. The accused was apprehended in Newark, Saturday morning by the police of that place and turned over to Chief Kiely. He is said to have sold the outfit for $30.

Since his arrest another complaint has been lodged against the defendant by Thomas Delever, of 209 West Front street, who alleges that Johnson took a set of harness from his stable the same night. The accused waived examination on both charges, being held in $200 bail for horse stealing and $100 for the larceny of the harness.

THE BOSS IS STRONG FOR SCOOP'S SPRING SPEED

RUNYON SHINES
IN BIG EVENTS

Plainfield High School Athlete Places His Team in Fifth Place With Ten Points.

DID BRILLIANT WORK

Alfred Day, Also of Plainfield, Adds a Point in One Mile Run, Coming in Fourth—Runyon Sacrifices One Medal by Flip of Coin.

Ralph Runyon's two first places and a fourth netted by Alfred Day totaled up ten points for Plainfield High School and placed that institution in a tie for fourth place among many contenders in the annual interscholastic games of the Princeton Club, of Newark, conducted on the Academy Field Saturday afternoon. Runyon displayed his best form of the season in this meet and gave a pretty exhibition of pole vaulting. He made nine of Plainfield's points taking first in the pole vault and tying for the top notch position in the running high jump with Lyle Hutchings, of Central High School. A gold medal was offered as first prize in the event and when tossed for by the dead-locked opponents the Central High School man called the lucky turn and Runyon had to go unrewarded.

Although not extended to his best efforts in the pole vault Runyon cleared the bar at nine feet ten and three-fourths inches in copping the gold medal. Lasser, of Central High was second, and Erskine and Walthew, of Newark Academy were tied for third place. In the high jump the competition was close and out of a large field of contenders the fighting gradually narrowed down to Hutchings and Runyon who cleared five feet, five inches.

In the one-mile run, Alfred Day romped home in fourth position with the ever victorious Charles Boughton, of Central High, in first place. Boughton has been Day's rival in a number of mile runs during the past inter and the local boy has always found the Newarker too speedy for him. Stanley Daggett, of East Orange High School, was second; and Charlie Allen, of Central, was third. The winner covered the route in four minutes, forty-four and three-fifths seconds.

Westfield High School, with five entries, scored but one place which netted it two points and ninth position? In the Junior 300 yard run, C. Ewing, of Westfield, was third, covering the distance in 38 1-5 seconds. Representatives of sixteen schools competed in the games. In addition to the point trophy, which went to Central High School, of Newark, with a total of 52 1-5 points, medals were awarded the first three men to finish in each event. The winning of the meet gives Central the first leg on the new trophy donated by Ronald Ross.

BEATY TOTALS 8 POINTS.

Russell Lawrence Beatty of this city, captain of the Columbia University track team, took first place in the 16 pound shot event and second place in the 16-pound hammer throw in the dual track meet between Columbia and Syracuse at the latter place Saturday afternoon. Beatty threw the iron ball 45 feet, 7 inches for the first place. Columbia won the meet by the score of 59 to 58.

LOCAL MAN WINS.

R. W. Poucher, of this city, took second for Yale in the mile-run held in connection with the Yale-Princeton track meet at New Haven, Saturday afternoon. The event was won by J. D. MacKenzie, of Princeton in 4:24 3-5. Yale overcame the Tigers in the point scoring tallying 87 2-5 to 16 3-5.

PLAINFIELD TEACHER IN GIANT'S UNIFORM

Carl Johnson May Become a Regular Member of McGraw's Catching Staff.

Carl Johnson, formerly manual training instructor in the local public schools who resigned to join the Jersey City team of the International League, has come under the wing of Manager McGraw, of the New York Giants and during the next couple of weeks will don a Giant's uniform for a tryout with that aggregation. On the southern trip of the Skeeters Johnson did the bulk of the backstop work but was injured shortly after the team's return to the North and had been laid up until two weeks ago.

Since his recovery he has been doing the regular practice work with the International Leaguers but the Jersey City club's big corps of backstops put him out of his job while he was hurt. Manager McGraw's attention was attracted to the former school-teacher's work last week and he borrowed the catcher for the game against West Point Saturday afternoon which the Giant rookies won by a count of 7 to 2. Johnson's debut in a Giant "rookie" uniform was so auspicious that it now seems possible that McGraw will make efforts to get the Jersey City manager to turn him over for a tryout with the big leaguers.

In Saturday's game Johnson handled the cross-fire of Williams and upheld his end of the battery work in excellent fashion. Those who saw the game herald the Plainfielder as a coming leaguer and it would not surprise many to see him in a Giant uniform among the regulars before the season gets far under way. The Jersey City Club has a surplus of catching talent and will probably consent to the player's release.

THREE DOUBLE PLAYS, TWO HITS, 27 PUT OUTS, ETC.

Albin Carlstrom, formerly short-stop on the Plainfield Pets, has won a permanent place for himself at first base on the Buffalo team of the International League through his clever fielding and hard hitting. In Saturday's double header against Baltimore he was the bright star of his team's two brilliant victories.

In the first, a 3 to 2 verdict for the Bisons, he cracked out a two bagger, scored one run, and made eleven put-outs and one assist. He also figured in two double plays. In the second game, which went for thirteen innings and was won by Buffalo by a count of 1 to 0, Carlstrom registered a hit and sixteen putouts. He also figured in his third double play of the day. The former local boy has yet to make his first fielding error of the season and his work is the object of much interest to fans along the league's circuit.

MILLER VISITS PARENTS.

HOPE GAME OFF.

The baseball game scheduled to be played between the Hope Chapel team, of the Sunday-school League, and the Jefferson Democratic Club nine, was called off Saturday afternoon owing to wet grounds.

TRINITY DROPS OUT.

The Trinity Sunday-school League baseball team has announced its intention of retiring from the league race and the Governing Board is now seeking a substitute.

REVERSIBLE BATTERY
TRIMMED SCHOOLBOYS

Leal School Aggregation Fell to Alumni After Running up Early Lead.

Leal School players sprang another surprise Saturday afternoon when they turned the unexpected in holding the fast traveling Alumni aggregation to a 10 to 9 score in a well-played game. The pick of former school teams returned for the big match of the year on Crescent Oval and the old timers were given a good run for their hard earned victory. Faber and Voorhees twirling for the undergraduates, held the slugging come-backs to ten scattered bingles, while the schoolboys managed to face the deliveries of Tilney and W. T. Glenney for a dozen hard swats.

The 1914 team rang up a big lead in the first two rounds of play and apparently had the game sewed up until the stretch stanza rolled around when the graduates got their willows working and poked out enough bingles to account for five dents in the home platter. Stevenson, Vandeventer and Faber wielded the willow with telling effect for the Leal crew while R. Schoonmaker, Daniels, Tilney and Dumont did some healthy cloaking for the winning club.

Eight errors charged up to the losing side gave the opposition loop holes in which to spring rallies on numerous occasions while the graduates played air-tight ball in a majority of the sessions, holding the error column down to four.

Although Manager Jimmy Montross had previously announced that the Dunellen baseball team would hold its initial tryouts on the Washington avenue field Saturday afternoon, the trials were deferred owing to the rain and next Saturday a practice game will be played with a Dunellen factory nine.

The season will be ushered in on Decoration Day when the team plays Somerville at that place. Manager Montross announced today that he had signed the following players for the club this season: Joe Albert, Scotch Plains; Francis Raegney, Bound Brook High School; Wall, St. Joseph Club, of Bound Brook; Han-

Monroe Avenue Aggregation Beaten Out When Rivals Score in Eighth.

Park Avenue Baptist ball tossers registered a 5 to 4 victory at the expense of the Monroe Avenue combination, of the Sunday-School League, Saturday afternoon. A feature of the game was the hitting of Wall r, who accounted for a trio of healthy swats during the engagement.

SECOND ONE-HIT, NO-RUN
EXHIBITION FOR JENNINGS

Harry Jennings twirled his second one-hit, no-run game of the season

Saturday afternoon for the Rutgers team on the New Brunswick diamond against the New York University aggregation, whitewashing the opposition with a count of 4 to 0. He also has a no-hit, no-run game to his credit. Jennings pitched the N. Y.

U. game in a downpour of rain and the solitary bingle came in the ninth, and was a two-bagger from the bat of Parlache.

Jennings, who has become the sensation of the college pitching world, is a protegee of Manager Dorfinger, of the local team, and pitched several clever exhibitions on Parker Field last year. In Saturday's game he caused eleven Metropolitan sluggers to whiff the air on strikes and allowed two free tickets to first.

ROD AND REEL

Reports of striped bass catches over on Great Kills, Staten Island, have come in during the last few days, and some of these gamey warriors have been caught by Jersey fishermen at Keansburg.

Several Plainfield anglers who like to battle with the "stripers" are now at Maryland points, and it would be good news to others to learn that the fish have struck in nearer home.

Trout of good size are plenty in Sullivan County streams in New York, according to a letter received by a local enthusiast.

Ling are running good at Long Branch and some big flounders and eels are running at the coast resorts in that section.

Expert fly waders are hooking many trout in New Jersey streams that are under the legal size and as a consequence many large catches are minimized by the number thrown back into the water.

Many flounders are being caught off Freeport, the fish running from a half pound to a pound and a half. Several Plainfield fishermen anchored off Gildersleeve's yesterday and came back with 124 fine specimens.

New Jersey motorists are becoming enthusiastic over the trout prospects in the Northern part of the State and many parties go out daily for the speckled beauties that are plentiful in that section.

Plenty of the nice sized trout can be found in the brooks in the vicinity of Hackettstown. This place has recently become a mecca for anglers and many flock there every day.

Two local men returned home last night with forty-two good sized trout after a two day's trip in Monmouth County.

Some fine mackerel are running in Corson's Inlet just at present and several weighing eight and ten pounds have been hooked.

There is good reason for having the closed season on black bass in the spring. Bass do most of their spawning in April and early May, and at this time of year are laying close in shore, especially in lakes, where they seek beds of rushes in which to lay their eggs. Anglers have frequently picked up bass during the early days of the season that were full of spawn. As the female fish are ravenously hungry at this time of the year and are also so near in shore, it is a very simple matter for the eager, standing on the land, to catch numbers of bass if the water is at all well stocked. It is manifestly taking the fish at a disadvantage, and were there no law, conditions would mean the destruction of many millions of unladen spawn. Also the fish are at spawning time of rather poor quality for food.

CHRISTY MATHEWSON

MAY OFFICIATE HERE

World Famous Baseball Star

Wanted as Umpire of Charity Ball Game.

As the result of a meeting held in the home of Dr. Ben Hedges, Saturday night, those in charge of the lawyers-doctors ball game to be played on Parker Field Saturday afternoon, June 1, will start practice in real earnest during the next few days and all of the recruits have been ordered to get into fighting trim. Efforts are being made to secure Christy "Big Six" Mathewson, the peerless twirler of the New York National League Club, to officiate at the all-important Plainfield diamond session and present indications look pretty bright for that date. "Big Six" is a brother-in-law of Dr. Crear, one of the enthusiastic promoters of the coming event, and the latter holds out high hopes for the engagement of the big fellow on that date.

Other features have been arranged that will tend to make the affair the biggest event of its kind ever arranged for a Plainfield audience and a number of committees are busy working on the proposition among these being the following: Committee on stunts, V. W. Nash, Jr., chairman; committee on grounds, Dr. F.

BRIDAL COUPLE SURPRISE FRIENDS

Mrs. Joseph Vance and Dr. J. A. Miles Interrupt Church Service to Be Married.

The congregation which gathered at Holy Innocents Episcopal church, Dunellen, yesterday afternoon, was considerably surprised, when just prior to the recessional, a bridal party walked down the aisle to the altar and met the rector, Rev. J. A. Pheltz, who was called upon to officiate at the service.

The bride was Mrs. Joseph Vance, of Center street, Dunellen, and the bridegroom was Dr. J. A. Miles, of Denver, Col. W. H. Brokaw, of Philadelphia, a brother of the bride, gave her in marriage. Miss Rita Brokaw, a sister, was the maid of honor. The ring ceremony was used. The couple will reside on Center street, Dunellen, for the present.

Dr. and Mrs. Miles met in Denver a year ago, when the bride was taking a trip across to California. A correspondence began which soon resulted in an engagement and the marriage yesterday. Dr. Miles arrived in the borough a month ago, to arrange for the wedding. The bride conducted a boarding-house at Dunellen for several years. Only a few intimate friends knew of the approaching wedding, hence the surprise when the bridal party walked into the church yesterday. After the ceremony congratulations were offered.

CIRCUS WOMEN LEAD CONTENTED AND PROTECTED LIFE

It is gypsying on a grand scale, is Barnum & Bailey "circus" and the women and children of the big institution are gypsies on a salary, but probably the healthiest, happiest, most generous, most interesting nomads in creation. They predominate in the personnel of the tented amusement colossus. There are little ones by the score and mothers, wives, sisters and sweethearts almost innumerable.

When one sits in a circus seat and watches some boy or girl scarcely bigger than a minute performing a hair-breadth feat, one perhaps may wonder what they do when they are not driving a tentful of spectators to the verge of hysteria; where they come from; who are their parents, and what fathers and mothers are doing while their off-springs are courting death and laughing in its face.

The spectator who grows very grave over the thought that these children earn their daily bread and butter in this fashion does not guess that the parents are almost invariably circus performers themselves; that it is more than likely that the man who is tossing the youth in the air is his father, or that the woman who holds the miss suspended a hundred feet in the air is her own mother, and that these children are so tenderly cared for as is any boy or girl who sleeps every night in a real bed instead of in a sleeping car berth.

Mrs. Emma Talbot is the "mother" of the Barnum & Bailey circus. Her life is devoted particularly to the welfare of the women and children performers under tents. Her official duty is matron of the women's dressing rooms. She supervises their wardrobes, mends sudden breaches in the tarlatan and bespangled skirts, and cares for her charges in case of illness or accident. In short, she is a general chaperon, hospital nurse, friend and counselor alone. Men and women go to her with the petty troubles that are bound to occur in the uncertain and strenuous existence they lead.

It is in the dressing room tent that one may obtain a glimpse of the real life of the circus women. If there is to be no parade on account of low trolley wires, or torn-up streets, or weak bridges, or tardy arrival, or a downpour of rain, the women of the circus pass the time in delicious idleness of in the execution of the most domestic of duties until luncheon. A bareback rider, Ella Bradna or Laura O'Mears, or Victoria Davenport, may be busily engaged at her hand sewing machine taking stitches in her "second costume." Mrs. Talbot is arranging for the cleaning of a hundred spectacle gowns. A troupe of Russian, German or French women acrobats are playing chess on a trunk or reading. Quips and jests fly about the tent. The best of good nature prevails everywhere. Perhaps one of the Russian women may produce her samovar and everybody will take tea, though this pleasant function is more often reserved for the respite allowed the circus women between the end of the afternoon performance and dinner time, a period given by the men of the show to base-ball or checkers.

The circus woman is modest and good. No women could live more protected lives. The performance is not over until 11 o'clock, and all must be in the cars of the circus train by midnight, when the train is usually locked for the night.

Many of the Barnum & Bailey women acrobats, equilibrists, aerialists and equestriennes who will be here next Friday are foreign. They have homes abroad, and work industriously in leisure hours to beautify them. Bird Millman is trying this season to complete an entire bed set of Renaissance lace, cover and pillow shams. Emily Silbon, twitted for her economy, is wont to reply: "Well, it is another brick in my house—every dollar I save." She is buying a home for her mother and sister.

Anyone who witnesses the performance of these female athletes must marvel at the strength, skill, nerve and endurance that a woman is capable of. They like their business. They have no special dietary. They eat when they feel like it; eat heartily, too, and of everything they crave. Their remuneration varies from $50 to $350 a week, with maintenance. The best of them, and of course, the few, command the latter sum.

WALPOLE HELD IN $1,000 BAIL AS A FUGITIVE

Lynus Walpole, Jr., was arraigned in the city court this morning to answer to an indictment found by the Federal authorities in New York under the Mann White Slave Act and held under an additional $1,000 bail as a fugitive from justice in New York State. He has been out on $1,000 bonds pending trial before the Union County Grand Jury on an indictment found in the State and was re-arrested Saturday afternoon.

John P. Owens, counsel for the prisoner, is making efforts to raise the necessary bonds and Walpole anticipates liberation this afternoon. The New York authorities have indicted the local young man on three separate counts and applications for extradition papers will be made by Governor Glavin, of New York State, to Governor Fielder.

WALPOLE HELD IN $1,000 BAIL AS A FUGITIVE

WOMAN AND SON SHOT

Mrs. Stiles remained conscious during the interval between the shooting and the arrival of the ambulance and in a statement to Chief Kiely accused Phillimore of doing the shooting. She denied having any knowledge of his presence in the house until he appeared in her room shortly after 8 o'clock and alleged that he had come there for the express purpose of killing her. Phillimore, with a bullet in his brain, was removed to the hospital shortly after the shooting but never regained consciousness.

News of the triple tragedy was soon heralded about the central portion of the city and the house was surrounded by hundreds of spectators while the police were conducting their investigation.

That Phillimore's crime was premeditated seems a certainty. Before going to the Stiles home Saturday night the man visited his sister, Mrs. Thomas Kane, at 403 Berckmap street. He appeared to be irrational at the time and leaving his personal effects with his relative went from the house declaring that he would never return alive. Other carefully planned details indicate that the deed was not committed as the result of an instant's passion on his part.

Louis Stiles' escape from instant death was little short of miraculous. Standing only three feet from his intended victim Phillimore aimed at the young man's heart and the torso flesh directly over the vital organs remains as evidence of the accurately aimed shot. The bullet struck a bone near the elbow and was removed at the hospital yesterday. His injury is not serious and he was discharged last night.

As a result of the wounds in her head, Mrs. Stiles lost considerable blood and when removed to the hospital her condition gradually grew critical.

TOMORROW is a fatal word. People who always put off things "until tomorrow" never succeed in life. There are many people who are convinced that our store is the one best place to buy on credit—that travel as far as they may they cannot do better in terms, prices or goods. But they put off calling on us. They intend to call "tomorrow," "next week" or "next month." Then when the time comes they MUST buy they find it inconvenient for some reason to call on us. Our Leaders Are Responsible for Our General Conditions As a Race

And if we will follow the same old policy which our leaders have outlined for us it will take a hundred years. And we will be in the same old rut. We must change our policy in all matters to help the general conditions of the Negro. A cut through the woods will bring peace and prosperity to our race in three to five years. The white race is not against the colored race, but we are against ourselves. We have the same rights as the white race, but we fail to see this problem as it confronts us as a race today.

If we will learn to spend our money in our race it will help the general conditions and bring us to better times in a short period. The beautiful tracts of land in and around Westfield means money on short notice to those who are trying to help their condition.
