

NEGRO EDUCATOR ADDRESSED 1,200

Booker T. Washington Held
Attention of Large Crowd
Last Night.

TOLD OF UPLIFT WORK

Famous Colored Man Delivered Eloquent and Humorous Remarks, in Which Wonderful Work at Tuskegee Was Fully Described.

Booker T. Washington, the noted negro educator, and head of Tuskegee Institute, spoke to an audience which filled every available seat in the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church last night. His remarks were filled with eloquence, such as has made his great reputation, punctuated with humorous anecdotes about colored people with whom he has come in contact during his many years in his work.

Mayor Percy H. Stewart presided
at the meeting, which was attended by fully 1200 people, introducing the speaker as "a distinguished citizen of the country who has struggled from ignorance and poverty to a position where he leads in the uplift of the colored race." On the platform with the Mayor and Dr. Washington were Alexander Millar and Secretary Herbert E. Parker of the Y. M. C. A.

Dr. Washington after humorous opening remarks said that in these bustling times few stop to think that this is a nation within a nation. There are more colored people in the United States than the entire population of Canada, and enough to equal those in the Republic of Washington. The speaker added that if things continued
in Mexico for a few weeks longer
as they are now progressing, there would be more negroes in the United States than there are Mexicans in that country. The negro question constitutes one to enlist the sympathy and aid of all the people of the United States.

"The negro race is the only one that ever came here on an emphatic
and special invitation," continued
the speaker. "In fact we were sent for, and our passage paid. It has been said that we ought to be sent back to Africa, but I am quite sure that this is a great enough Christian nation to permit us to live here side
by side with the whites."

Dr. Washington then launched into a detailed description of his life,
which began, so near as he can tell in 1858 or 1859. He told about the difficulties which confronted his mother and himself when they were freed and how he went to work in the coal mines of West Virginia as a boy. He overheard two miners talking about Hampton Institute, and made up his mind that he was going to get an education there. He studied at night, and finally walked to the Hampton school, reaching
there with fifty cents in his pocket.
He said that his entrance examination consisted in showing how skillful he was in sweeping and dusting
a room.

After graduation from Hampton,
he taught school, and then went to Tuskegee in 1881 where he started his school in an old shanty with 30 pupils. It has now grown to one of 1600 pupils from 36 states and 17
foreign countries, and has 197 officers and teachers. The institution owns 3,000 acres of land with 97
buildings, counting large and small, valued at $1,500,000, and there is not a mortgage of any kind on the property.

When the school was started it was the ambition of the older blacks
to have their children learn from books and get away from hard work.
They were disappointed when they found that Tuskegee, as it grew, took up farming, the building and mechanical trades, as well as teaching books and the bible. They opposed the institution for a time, but finally have come to learn that the method of instruction adopted is the best for the colored people. Dr. Washington, then told of the practical way in which things are done at the school,
and how the future leaders of the colored race are taught to work.

The point has been reached where prejudice against the school has disappeared, and while there is nothing tangible to indicate it, there has been a change of spirit toward the work. The boys and girls are being taught to be just as happy in the kitchen and on the farm as anywhere.
The negro, it was declared, is just blazing the way, and they are still a young race. The strutting negro, with his fancy clothes is typical of the race thirty years ago. "Our people now live in their own communities in modesty, simplicity, earnestness and service," said Dr. Washington.

He then described the various courses of practical instruction, and told how at commencement the early days are prepared on such practical topics as how to raise turnips, how to cook a simple meal, to illustrate how book education is being articulated into the practical life of the people.

FRIENDLY BOUT MAY RESULT SERIOUSLY

Nine-year-old Boy in Hospital and Amputation of Leg
May Be Necessary.

Because of a friendly wrestling match, in which he participated ten days ago, John Coffey, the nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Coffey of South Second street, may suffer the loss of his right leg. The boy is now at Muhlenberg Hospital where he has been for the past week, while doctors have been making every effort to save the limb. At the present time the outlook is not at all favorable.

Young Coffey was playing with Leo
Wilson son of former Councilman
W. W. Wilson, in the latter's barn on West Third street and the two tried to see which was the best wrestler. In their backward and forward movements Coffey fell from the upper loft to the floor below, striking his right knee a heavy blow in the descent. It injured him badly for an hour or more but he made no mention of the fact to his parents until several days later when he found himself unable to walk. A physician was called and found that the entire knee cap had become infected
from the bruise inflicted by the fall.
It was seen at once that the limb was in serious condition and he was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital where every effort has been made to avoid amputation. All attempts to stop the decay of the bone had proved useless and it will be known within a day or two whether or not amputation will have to be resorted to as a means of saving the boy's life.

KORULIMO SOCIETY CONCERT A SUCCESS

Cantata "Rebekah" Given in a Pleasing Manner Before Large Audience.

The Korulimo Choral Society, of the First Presbyterian church, gave its spring concert in the church auditorium, last night, before an audience of two hundred people. The chorus was composed of fifty voices
and it rendered Joseph Barnby's cantata, "Rebekah." This work contains choruses, solos, duets and trios,
all of which were sung in excellent style. The solo parts were taken by Miss Ruth Sadler, of this city, soprano, as "Rebekah"; Robert W.
Holden, of Newark, tenor, as "Isaac";
and Joseph Porter, of Montclair, basso, as "Eliezer." The cantata took up the entire first part of the program.

In the second part, the ladies'
chorus sang two songs, and the soloists each sang twice. The program was as follows: Part one, Barnby's
"Rebekah", part two, "Songs My Mother Taught Me," ladies' chorus;
"Mother Machree" and "Little Grey Bonnie in the West," Mr. Holden; "Elysium," "Tell Me Why" and "To You," Miss Sadler; "Requiem" and
"Vulcan's Song," Mr. Porter, "Bridal Chorus" from "The Rose Maiden," ladies' chorus.

The leader was Tom Daniel, of Newark. Miss Helen Whitton presided at the piano and Herbert J.
Harold, was at the organ. The executive committee was composed of the following: Frederic L. Palmer, chairman; Mrs. C. E. Herring, Mrs.
Charles E. Steiner, Miss Mildred C.
Beard, Miss Ruth Sadler, Miss Carrie
M. Davis, Miss Marion Englehardt
and Miss A. Cassette Bratton. This concert closes the first season of the society which has been a very successful one and it will reorganize
under the same leadership next fall.

W. H. ROGERS CHOSEN PRESIDENT OF PARK CLUB

The board of governors of the Park Club met at the club, last night and elected these officers for the coming year: President, Wilbur
H. Rogers vice-president, Harry L.
McGee; treasurer, Albert D. Beer; secretary, Alexander Milne.

The club's annual statement has been prepared and will be sent to the members within a few days. The past year has been one of the most successful in the history of the popular club and the prospects for the coming year are equally promising.

TO PREACH IN LONDON.
Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire, of the Park Avenue Baptist church, with his wife and daughter, will spend the summer abroad, and while in London
he and Rev. Dr. J. W. Jowett, pastor of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church, New York, will upon invitation, preach in Spurgeon's Tabernacle. Mr. Maguire has also been invited to address a meeting for men only in Convention Hall, London, on Sunday afternoon, July 5.

WARDEN DAVID ROSS REMOVED

Alleged That He Failed to Use Entire Appropriation to Feed Prisoners.

NAME NEW OFFICIAL

James P. Major Appointed for a Five Year Term—Somerset Freeholders Contract for Oiling County Roads.

The Somerset County Board of Freeholders, at a meeting yesterday,
decided not to engage Warden David Ross, of the Somerset County Jail, whose term expires next month, and appointed James P. Major to succeed him for a term of five years at a salary of $75 a month. It is alleged by the freeholders that Warden Ross had received $117.90 over the actual cost of feeding the prisoners last month and the Board decided that the appointment of a new man would mean a saving of about $100 a month. Thirty-five cents a head is allowed for the maintenance of prisoners and it is claimed that Ross failed to use the money entirely for this purpose.

The Board passed a resolution to authorize the oiling of the county roads, the work to be done under the direction of Road Supervisor Gibson
by the Standard Oil Company. This concern has agreed to do the work at $70 per mile and it is estimated that the expense to the county will be approximately $8,000 there being 112 miles of road. A test of a dust preventative will be made on one section of the county road and for this purpose the freeholders decided to purchase ten barrels at the rate of thirteen cents a gallon. Several repair jobs to county bridges were discussed at the meeting and it was voted to rebuild the bridge near the Kinsey farm, Somerville, and the structure on Pluckamin road.

P. J. Kocichia appeared before the body and asked the county to reimburse him for damage done to his tractor and engine when they went through a bridge near Peapack, but the freeholders appeared to be more inclined to furnish him with a bill for damages to the bridge and the matter was left unsettled.

The finance committee reported that the total receipts for the month
had been $1,812.38 and the expenditures $39,300.68. County Collector Allen was authorized to borrow as needed $30,000 in anticipation of taxes.

IRA L. LARUE GIVEN A VERDICT FOR $200

Mizabeth, May 13.—Ira L. LaRue was given a verdict of $200 damages
for injuries received by tripping over a water pipe across the sidewalk in front of 120 East Front street, Plainfield, two months ago. The action was brought against Thomas J. Murphy, owner of the property. The jury was out for over three hours.
The plaintiff was represented by Robert Newton Crane, while William N. Runyon represented the defendant.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT OF MISS ETHEL NIELSON

Miss Ethel Nielson, of East Second street was tendered a surprise party
last evening at her home, when seventy-five of her many friends unexpectedly called on her. The prevailing colors of the decorations of the rooms were pink and white. Dancing was enjoyed during the evening,
while refreshments were served. Mrs.
Arne Nielson, Miss Gladys Mead, and
M. J. Whelan arranged the affair.

Announcement was made during the evening of the engagement of Miss Ethel Nielson, daughter of Christian Nielson, of 1463 East Second street, to John C. Goble, of Lincoln. Mr. Goble is employed as an electrical engineer by the Public Service Corporation, at Somerville. No date for the wedding has been set as yet.

LEAGUES TO CELEBRATE.

The Epworth League of the First
M. E. church will celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the movement at Vancent Chapel tomorrow evening. Members of the other leagues will be in attendance.
An elaborate program has been arranged.

TO HOLD AUCTION.

Robert Murray, the auctioneer,
will hold a sale of a large variety of household goods tomorrow at 328
West Front street, commencing at 2 p. m. The list of advertised articles appear in another column.

Neuman Brothers will offer for tomorrow's trade a fine line of fresh fruits and vegetables.—Adv.

PAINTER KILLED BY FAST FREIGHT

Isaac Rink, of This City, Struck While Painting
Fence at Netherwood.

Victim Died in Station Before Arrival of Ambulance—Survived by Wife and Four Children—Had Lived Here Ten Years.

Isaac Rink, of 966 West Fifth street, a painter in the employ of the New Jersey Central, was struck by a fast freight at the Netherwood station shortly before noon today and died fifteen minutes later while lying on an emergency stretcher near the scene of the fatality. The victim was engaged in painting the iron fence that divides the east and westbound tracks at the station and did not notice the train until he found himself trapped between the fence and the engine.

Efforts on the part of the engineer
to warn the man of his perilous position were futile and he was struck by the forward end of the engine. His body was buffeted back and forth between the fence and the first three cars of the train before the train was brought to a halt and when found by the train crew it was lying close to the rails. The train was traveling west.

A cushion from the cab of the train was converted into a stretcher and the man removed to the station pending the arrival of the ambulance. In the meantime Dr. J. C. Anderson appeared and upon examination pronounced life extinct. The body was removed to Cole's morgue and later taken to the home.

He is survived by a wife, two daughters, Stella and Ethel, and one son, Charles. The man was forty-eight years of age and has been employed by the railroad for a number of years. He has been a resident of this city for about ten years, coming here from Roycefield. He was a member of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church.

BORO SCHOOL PUPILS HAVE HIGH AVERAGES

Estes Small and Miss Jennie Sears Named as Leaders
in Scholarship.

The students of the North Plainfield High School were given a surprise this morning when Principal Albert Earley announced the winners of the senior class honors. It was made known that the averages
were so close that the faculty had a difficult time in making the decisions. Estes Small will be the valedictorian and Miss Jennie A. Sears
the salutatorian.

Small has a four year average of 92.181 per cent, and Miss Sears' average is just 93, less than two-tenths of a point under the first honor. Both of the winners will graduate under the classical course.

Because of the great competition,
Principal Earley announced that there might be an honorable mention at commencement. There were seven other members of the class
with total averages above ninety,
which is considered excellent work
for one class. The faculty is greatly pleased with the averages of the entire class. The final averages of the first nine members of the class are as follows: Estes Small, 92.181;
Jennie Sears, 93; Alene Giddes, 92.66; Mary Bennett, 92.1; Charles Beckman, 91.9; Mary Martin, 91.7;
Lucille Ewart, 91.65; Helen Woodruff, 91.59; and Ashley Burner, 90.4.

JAMES PHILMORES FUNERAL.

The funeral services of James Phil-
more, who committed suicide Sunday, after shooting two other persons, were held yesterday afternoon
at 2 o'clock at the home of his sister, Mrs. Thomas Kane, 403 Berck-man street. Rev. Harris C. Rush, assistant rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal church, officiated. The interment was made in Evergreen cemetery.

DEATH OF INFANT.

Ralph Mortimer Givens, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Givens, of North Clinton avenue, died this morning at the age of five months.
The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at the home of the parents at 4:30 o'clock.

FATALLY INJURED IN TRAIN CRASH

Engineer Trapped in Cab
When Freight Hits "Dead"
Train Near Aldene.

FIREMAN'S BRAVE ACT

Extricates Himself and Rescues Engineer C. H. Hunt From Debris—
Cause of Accident a Mystery—Plainfielders on the Scene.

Traveling in a westerly direction
on the New Jersey Central at an early hour this morning, a fast
freight train smashed into a string of passenger coaches at the siding near the Aldene station, injuring the engineer so that he had to be removed to the Elizabeth General Hospital for treatment. The cause of the collision remains a mystery,
those near at hand at the time claiming that the switch had been left open and others stating that the passenger coaches had been left standing too far out on the tracks.

The two trains came together
with a terrific impact and splinters
of wood and glass were strewn about the freight yards for a distance of a hundred feet. The accident occurred as the westbound passenger train, due in this city at 2:08 this morning was passing the spot and the latter train was brought to a sudden halt. Many Plainfielders were aboard and together with the train crew flocked to the scene of the mishap on track No. 4.

Those first to arrive witnessed the fireman's efforts to extricate himself and finally free his companion,
Engineer C. H. Hunt, of Phillipsburg.
Pinned under a pile of debris Hunt remained conscious and directed the rescue work, although suffering great pain. Taken from the tangled mass of iron and wood he was rushed to the Elizabeth General Hospital where it was said today that he had slight chances of recovery. He is suffering from a compound fracture of the left leg below the knee, a broken thigh and an injured scalp.
Physicians at the institution this morning said that the victim was probably injured internally, but the exact extent of his wounds cannot be ascertained at the present time.

The smash resounded for a long distance and attracted a large crowd of spectators. The "dead" passenger car on the siding was completely demolished by the impact and the engine of the freight train was considerably damaged.

EARLE CEASERO WAS ONCE A COW-PUNCHER

Talented Singer Who is to Appear Here Had Eventful Career.

The song-recital to be given at the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium tomorrow evening, by the celebrated young tenor, Earle Ceasero, promises to be one of the musical treats of the season for Plainfield. This being the first appearance of the tenor in this city,
there will be an especial interest attached to the event. Ceasero comes to Plainfield widely known as a great singer—after triumphs in the West and Middle West.

Possessed of a rich, robust tenor voice of beautiful texture, wide range and flexibility, together with a perfect control, a great critic, writing of the work of Ceasero, has acclaimed it
"Triumphs of diction, finesse of style, the climax of vocal art." With a splendid sense of poetic values, his art has the quality of sympathy,
which communicates itself to his audiences through his subtle refinement
—an artist and a gentleman, with a charm all his own. Born in the eastern part of Pennsylvania, and educated entirely in this country, Ceasero stands forth as a splendid example of Americanism in art.

One of the interesting facts concerning the tenor (though little known), is that he was at one time
a cow-puncher in the West, and also served the State of Wyoming as a deputy sheriff, in which position he had many interesting adventures.
Ceasero will offer a most interesting program at his recital tomorrow evening, and will be assisted by the Misses Marguerite VanZandt and Helen George, pianists of this city,
and by Wendell C. Glover, Plainfield's popular young accompanist. No admission fee will be charged.

NARROW ESCAPE FOR AGED RAILROAD MAN

John Ackerman Fell From Eastbound Train Near North Ave. Depot.

While passing from one coach to another as the 7:55 train, bound for New York pulled into the North avenue station this morning, John Ackerman, an aged man, was jolted from the platform of the train to the ties sustaining a severe scalp wound. The train was going slowly at the time and the fact that the train was stopped within a short distance of the spot where he fell probably saved the victim's life.

Ackerman was picked up by companions nearby at the time and his blood covered countenance led many to believe that he was fatally injured.
The aged man was stunned by the blow but soon revived and refused to go to the hospital in the ambulance that had been summoned. He was taken to his home 302 Central avenue and was reported as resting comfortably this afternoon.

The victim is a demurrage checker
in the employ of the New Jersey Central and as was his usual custom he went as far west as Rock avenue this morning and was returning to the freight house when the mishap occurred.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS STRONG IN THE STATE

Local Delegates Attending
New Jersey Convention
Being Held Today.

Six members of Watchung Council
Knights of Columbus, are in Atlantic City today attending the opening ceremonies of the New Jersey convention, which opened in St. Nicholas Hall, last night. David Doyle and Greenwood are the officers delegated by the local council for representation and they are accompanied by George Tobin, Frank Burke, Joseph
O'Keefe and A. A. Cannon.

The delegates attended St. Nicholas church this morning, where a sermon was delivered by Rev. William Keyes, of New York, who is State chaplain.

The State Secretary's report shows
the number of councils of the order to be sixty, a new council at Westfield having been instituted this year. New members admitted during the year
totaled 1,200. The total membership in the State now is 12,300. Degrees conferred: First, 140; second, 66; major degree, 26 times.

David Doyle, of this city, was named by Deputy Edward Sweeney, of this State, to serve on the committee for the location of the next convention; Raymond O'Donnell, of Sonerville, will serve on the credentials committee, and George H. Reilly, of Westfield, is a member of the initiation committee.

PRESENTS TWO BANNERS TO MISSIONARY SOCIETY

Mrs. Charles W. McCutchen, of the First Baptist church, has presented two banners to the Women's Baptist Foreign Mission Society of the East Association which meets in the M.
Pleasant Baptist church on Friday.
One will be given to the individual society having the largest percentage
of its members present and the other to the society which has added the greatest number to its membership
as a result of the every-member campaign.

Mrs. Gabriel Reid Maguire, of the Park Avenue Baptist church, as president of the society, has received the banners and will make known the winners Friday. It is expected that the local Baptist churches will be well represented at the meeting.

ELKS OPENING SEAT SALE.

The opening sale of seats for the Elks' annual minstrel show will take place at the box office of the Plainfield Theatre tomorrow morning. No reservation will be made and the rule of first come, first served, will be strictly adhered to by the management. This year's show promises to be a record-breaker and lovers of amateur minstrelsy should not miss
it. The performance will be given next Wednesday and Thursday night.

P. H. ACKER'S FUNERAL.

The funeral services of Philip H.
Ackor were held this afternoon at his late residence on Westervelt avenue,
many friends and acquaintances especially from Watchung, his former home, being in attendance. Rev.
Dr. Philip B. Strong, pastor of the First Baptist church, of which Mr.
Ackor was a member, officiated. The interment was made at Evergreen cemetery.

RUMOR TAMPICO HAS FALLEN

Mexican City, Says Unconfirmed Report, Has Been Taken by Pancho Villa.

BATTLE RAGING ALL DAY

Mexican General Has Loaded Train
With Provisions and Levied Money Tribute From Merchants of City.

Washington, May 13.—A report
was received here this afternoon that Tampico has been taken by the Mexican Rebels under General Villa. It is unconfirmed but the fall has been expected hourly.

Vera Cruz via Gavelston, May 13.
(From A. J. Rorke, Central News Correspondent.)—Fighting between the Rebels and the Federals at Tampico proceeded fiercely during the night. About 200 Americans including 60 Pierce oil employees arrived here today from Mexico City.

Despatches received here this morning said that Federal Commander Zaragoza was preparing to evacuate Tampico. It was said that Zar-agoza had two engines and a large number of cars loaded and in readiness to rush him to San Luis Potosi.
The messages said that Zaragoza had levied tribute to the extent of 150-000 pesos on merchants in Tampico.
Those who are unable to pay their share in cash contributed merchandise. It was apparent that Zaragoza intends to leave little behind him.
Federal army stores arrived at Saltillo today.

Washington, May 13.—Tampico is tottering to its fall. Word to this effect was received today from Admiral Mayo who reported to the navy department that the Constitutionalists were closing in on the city which appeared to be doomed. The despatch added that the besieging forces expected to occupy Tampico before nightfall. Admiral Mayo expressed his opinion that the Constitutionalists stood a good chance of realizing their object. The firing has been incessant since midnight and the fort is reported now to be rimmed with smoke and flame.

A record was established in the sending of Admiral Mayo's message.
It required just 23 minutes to send it from the flag ship by wireless to Rear Admiral Badger at Vera Cruz, thence from that port to Washington by cable and telegraph lines. The record is considered remarkable.

Thus far the casualties have been very heavy, Admiral Mayo reported.
Instructions have been sent to him
to communicate twice daily with the Navy Department on conditions there and the progress of the fighting.

It became known today that the Navy Department had refused permission to several American oil men
to return to the oil field above town on board an American gunboat. Fear is expressed for the consequence following upon the appearance of an American gunboat in the Panuco river and the department has made every effort to discourage refugees from returning and resuming work at the oil wells.

Secretary Bryan has sidestepped
the responsibility for the complications arising between the United States and the Mexican Federal Government as a result of the forcible seizure of Lobos Island.

The Secretary of State disavowed any knowledge of the note given the light keeper on the island by the commander of the destroyer Panning, certifying that the island and the light house had been taken from the keeper by force.

The monitor Ozark, it became known definitely today will remain at Lobos Island. This has been the intention of the Navy Department since the Monitor left New York. Instructions for the seizure of the light
had been given to the destroyer fleet commander more than a week ago.

It is believed that the island will be utilized as a naval rendezvous because of its advantageous position.
The matter of the seizure of the island has been fully explained to the
A. B. C. mediators by Mr. Bryan. The matter was laid before them in its most pleasant aspect, it is understood the secretary asserting them that

The members of Relief Hose Company will hold their regular monthly meeting in the rooms on Anderson street tomorrow evening.

Mrs. John Berger has almost entirely recovered from her recent illness.

Word has been received here by relatives from Walter Beckman and also from Russell H. Coleman, who are on the battleship New Jersey. Both youths took part in the taking of Vera Cruz, and their letters give interesting accounts of the capture and holding of that city before turning it over to the regular army. They have sent to relatives copies of Mexican newspapers.

Somerville

Mrs. William J. Chambers, State President of the Mothers' Congress of Alabama, is spending some time with her brother, C. M. Dumas, and family in this place. Mrs. Chambers attended the recent session of the annual convention of the D. A. R., at Washington, D. C. Her home is at Montgomery, Ala.

Manager Parker's team will open the baseball season here on Saturday afternoon, playing a strong aggregation from Westfield. The Somerville boys will put up a strong article of ball and will make every effort to capture the initial game, but will have to go some to do it. The boys will give a ball in Germania Hall on Friday evening for the benefit of the team.

George N. Benbrook has made a number of photos of the old Second National Bank building, which is shortly to be removed to a new site on bridge street. F. G. Thomas recently unearthed an old picture of the building torn down a number of years ago to make room for the present Thomas apartments. The building at that time was used by Schott & Dakin, hardware dealers, and by George W. Sanborn as a cash and blind factory.

The services at the Methodist church next Sunday evening will be given over entirely to the Epworth League Silver Jubilee, the celebration of its twenty-fifth anniversary. Short addresses on the work of the league will be given by the pastor, Rev. M. D. Church; Miss M. Elizabeth Bagg, who is superintendent of World Evangelism for the Elizabeth District, and by Miss Elsie Wirtz, of Bound Brook, leader of the Plainfield Group organization.

Miss Emma Kleinschmidt, of Bloomfield, has been spending a few days in town with friends.

Several from this place attended the funeral of Mrs. John Meehan, at Plainfield, yesterday. Prior to her removal to Elizabeth many years ago, Mrs. Meehan had long been a prominent resident of Somerville, and was the mother of the late James Meehan, at one time Prosecutor of Somerset county. Before her removal from this place the family resided in the Wallace house, now known as Washington's headquarters. She was survived by three daughters and one son.

colored people.
"From an educational point of view, you can hardly realize the conditions in poverty stricken districts in the south. There is one county which I visited recently in which $22.50 is spent annually for the education of the white child, and $1.20 for the negro. That pays too high a compliment to the intelligence of the negro child. We do not need or crave sympathy because of our race. All we want is help. Personally I thank God for the opportunity to have a part in the uplifting of the colored people."

Dr. Washington then told of the success of colored people as land owners, farmers, grocers, druggists, bankers, and in scores of other ways. He said that they had a hard time keeping up with the American white man, because the latter progresses faster than the citizens of any other nation, but in spite of the fact 69 per cent. of the negroes today can read and write, as compared with three per cent. fifty years ago. The changing relationship between the races in the south is making progress better. The relations today are more rational. "I have never seen a more cordial spirit exhibited toward the colored people by the white men in the south than is the case today," said the speaker. "We are at last exerting an influence, by which we are becoming less frequent, and our people are being treated as human beings as they become more intelligent."

Dr. Washington then told of the need of money for operating expenses at the school, which costs $275,000 a year to run. There is an endowment fund of $2,000,000, and other revenues bring in with it a total of $125,000 annually, so that there is left each year $250,000 to raise to keep the 1,500 students. Students pay their own board in labor and cash, and provide their own clothes, books and traveling expenses, but are wholly unable to pay $50 required for tuition. Dr. Washington called attention to the fact that it costs the government several millions annually to support the Indians, but the negroes have never asked for a cent from that source. He said that every dollar received was devoted to teaching the fundamentals.

Mayor Stewart announced that a collection would be taken for the work, and when this was done the meeting closed. The amount received was $282, and it included a check for $100 from a well-known Plainfield woman.

WASHINGTON SCHOOL MEETING

Addressing an audience of five hundred colored men and women, Booker T. Washington, leader of his race, was given a remarkable ovation at the Washington School, yesterday afternoon, when he spoke prior to attending an evening meeting at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, where he was heard by an audience that filled that edifice.

Members of the Public Recreation Committee present included Mayor Percy H. Stewart, Dr. Henry M. Maxson, G. Stuart Simons, Walter H. P. Vessey and Herbert E. Parker, all of whom gave words of welcome and encouragement.

ROD AND REEL

The kingfish are coming up the coast and a few of them have been caught in the surf during the past few days. A fishing enthusiast of that place says that the first one of the season was taken at Long Beach Sunday, while he was fishing the surf. This is good news for the surf fishermen, who usually wait for just such information before they get ready for the summer fishing.

"Sea bass! Sea bass! Here they are, boys!" was the cry that swept along the docks of the Taurus Sunday while that boat was anchored at the Klondike Banks. Twenty-five sea bass were caught during the day and they made the fishermen feel as though a good season was ahead of them. It is a strange thing, but there is a certain class of fishermen that go out to the fishing banks, and would rather catch two sea bass than a dozen blackfish or even a codfish. Last Saturday a number of fishermen were looking for the bass, but the best they could do were codfish and blackfish.

Every person above the age of fourteen who wishes to go fishing will have to take out a license which will cost him $1.15. The law was made at the last session of the Legislature, but will not go into effect until January 1, 1915. The license when taken out will permit a person to hunt with the same license.

The shad which came up the Raritan river a few weeks ago is running in much larger numbers now than any previous time this season, and the fishermen who were discouraged by the slimness of their catches in April are hopeful of some big hauls to swell their profits before the season closes in June.

The many fishermen of this city who fish around the Highlands, will be glad to hear that flounders are plentiful in and around the Highlands. The flounders are also plentiful up the Shrewsbury river.

Sea bass will be caught at the fishing banks Sunday if the weather is fair. A large number were caught in the pound nets during the past week.

A law has recently been passed eliminating the spearing of all fish. The law went into effect on April 9. Many of the foreigners as well as citizens of the city and county have made a habit of going spearing for suckers, carp, etc., at Weston's Mill and vicinity.

The fishing season for pike will be opened on Wednesday, May 20, while the season for bass will not open until June 15. The anglers of the city will get their rods ready for the opening day which always means the big catch. Pike and bass is plentiful in the Weston's Mill pond. The local anglers will find the pike and bass more plentiful than ever in this pond.

BASEBALL NOTES

Jacksonville and Savannah are putting up a hot fight for leading honors in the South Atlantic League.

The Davenport team got the jump on the other Three League members by winning nine of the first ten games of the season.

With the exception of Sam Crawford and Joe Jackson, the American League heavy hitters have not shown anything worth while with the war club.

Christy Mathewson says the Pirates are going to be dangerous contenders for the National League pennant. Past records show they always have been.

The fast work of the New Orleans team has caused quite a surprise in Southern League circles. Last year the Pelicans were outdistanced and finished in the cellar.

The Pittsburgh Pirates belong to the western division in the National League, while the Pittsburgh Federals are registered in the eastern division of the new organization.

"Miser" Brown's St. Louis Federals seem to have a genuine catcher in Chapman. He is regarded as a better thrower than either of the other backstops—Hartley or Simon.

Outrigger Jack Dalton evidently means to stick with the Brooklyn Superbas this time. Since his return from Newark, Jack has clouted the gill well over the 300 mark.

Young Acosta, the Cuban, is making a fight for the right field job with the Washington team. Moeller is a great fielder, but the Cuban, it is said, is a better batter.

Del Gainer, the Detroit first sacker, says he would welcome a trade that would land him with the Boston Red Sox. If young Burns continues his brilliant work for the Tigers it is likely that Del's wish will be gratified.

It is said that Pitcher Ray Caldwell, of the Yankees, has cut out the bright lights and is beginning to take his work seriously. Caldwell has the goods and will prove to be a wonderful slasher if he keeps himself in condition.

P. R. S. ATHLETES TO COMPETE IN A MEET

Interclass Competition Scheduled for Next Week by Manager Day.

Manager Alfred Day, of the Plainfield High School track team, has arranged an inter-class field meet for Thursday and Friday afternoons, May 21 and 22. Every boy in the school will be eligible to compete.

There will be no entrance fee or individual rewards, but a banner will be presented to the class winning the most points. The events scheduled to be competed for on Thursday are: 100 yard dash (senior); 100 yard dash (junior); half mile run (senior), and one mile relay race.

The events which will be held on Friday are: 220 yard dash (senior); 440 yard dash (senior); pole vault, mile run.

AFTER LOCAL ATHLETE.

Ralph Runyon, the local high school pole vaulter, received a letter yesterday inviting him to join the Irish-American Athletic Club. Runyon has been cleaning up in all the Metropolitan school meets. He recently joined the Pastime Athletic Club so will probably be unable to consider the Irish club's offer.

ELEVENTH HOUR GAME.

Manager Williams, of the Plainfield High School baseball team, arranged a game with Woodbridge at noon today, to be played on Parker Field this afternoon.

HENRY SIEGEL.

Indicted Merchant Who Left Country For Europe.

SIEGEL AGREES TO RETURN ON OLYMPIC

Sends Wireless to Pacify the District Attorney.

New York, May 13.—Henry Siegel, indicted merchant, whose secret departure on the steamship Olympic on last Saturday has roused the district attorney, promised to return to this country on the same ship on which he sailed away. That will give him about five days in London with his daughter and grandchildren, to see whom was the only purpose, he says, of going away under cover.

If Siegel does not depart from the vessel at Plymouth on Friday, as he says, but instead goes on to Cherbourg and there leaves the vessel, he will be placed promptly under arrest. If he does hurry from the ship at Plymouth he will be under the constant surveillance of Scotland Yard men, who have been requested already by District Attorney Whitman to keep constantly in touch with every movement of Siegel while in England. So long as Siegel remains in England and makes no move that is suspicious he will be free from arrest, but at the same time he must be true to his promise as to the day of his return.

John R. Stanchfield and Lemuel E. Quigg, both attorneys for Siegel and for Frank E. Vogel, Siegel's partner, succeeded yesterday in making such an arrangement with District Attorney Whitman so that Siegel will have a few days with his daughter. The district attorney was not inclined to be so lenient with Siegel, because of the suspicious manner in which he left the country, but both Stanchfield and Quigg gave every personal assurance of their belief in Siegel's return.

WOMEN DYNAMITED IN ROOM.

Mother and Daughters Victims of Mysterious Explosion at Kingston.

Kingston, N. Y., May 13.—Mrs. Edwin Hinkley and her two daughters were seriously injured here by the explosion of three sticks of dynamite thrown mysteriously into their bedroom. The mother's injuries may result in blindness.

Mrs. Hinkley and her daughters were aroused by a noise in their room. They arose to investigate, and a blinding explosion buried them to the floor.

SURGERY TAMES WILD MAN SLAYER

Brain Operation Gives Vicious Brute New Character.

DISPOSITION NOW THE BEST

Described as a Human Being of the Lowest Order When Put in Prison, Undergoes Magic Transformation and May Get Pardon—Blow Held Responsible For Condition.

At the direction of the New Jersey court of pardons a full investigation is being made into the strange case of Jonas Szikely, confined in the state prison at Trenton, and as a result it is possible that at the next term of court the man may receive a pardon. The account of the operation on Szikely's brain a few months ago caused a sensation in the medical world. The story is best told in the official report:

"The case of Jonas Szikely, who is serving a sentence of thirty years from Oct. 10, 1910, for murder, is one of extraordinary interest. It is reported to us that when he was brought to the state prison he seemed little more than a giant brute, with a savage, forbidding countenance, uncouth habits, grabbing his food, spilling it over himself while eating, and in general of about as low an order as it seemed possible for a human being to be."

Blow on Head Caused Injury.
"He had received a terrible blow on the back of his head near the top, which had been inflicted, as the prison authorities understood, in the struggle during which the murder was committed."

"During nearly three years after being received at the prison he was kept under close guard, and, while he seemed never to have exhibited any disposition to injure any one, he looked and acted like such a typical brute that the authorities never felt disposed to take chances with him. During all of this time the prisoner would frequently and suddenly cry out, although he gave no other indications of having any localized pain."

"About six or eight months ago the visiting physician, Dr. Martin W. Reddan, decided to operate by removing part of the skull to see if there had been a splinter of bone driven in at the time he received the blow on the head so that it pressed upon the brain. The operation was performed, the splinter of bone was found and removed, thus relieving the pressure, and as the patient was coming out of ether the attendants were astounded to hear him utter fragments of the English language, which, since he had come to prison, no one had ever heard him speak, and upon his entirely coming out from the influence of ether and recovering the surgeon and all the prison authorities were wonderfully surprised to find that, instead of the brute features and expression of before the operation, the man now exhibited a bright, kindly, humane countenance, quite intelligent, and has since shown one of the kindest dispositions to be found anywhere."

Ignorant of Subsequent Events.
"He is constantly helping everybody, doing little things for the other prisoners' comfort and working with perfect obedience and cheerfulness, so that everybody, prisoners and authorities alike, have become particularly fond of him."

"He has no recollection of anything which has happened since he had the impression, as he was going home from his work, that he was being 'held up' until he came out of the ether after the operation."

"He knows nothing of his trial, nothing of the struggle at the time the murder was committed, never heard the name of the man who was killed, does not know how many men took part in the struggle nor anything about the events of his arrest, trial, conviction and incarceration."

"From the representations made by the surgeon and by the prison authorities, your committee think it was quite possible that this man may, by the blow received at the time the struggle commenced wherein a man was killed, have been at once transformed from a conscious, responsible human being into the irresponsible condition under which he has existed up to the time of the operation and that while in that condition may have killed a man and been tried and convicted without any one realizing his mental irresponsibility. If this is so, of course, no murder was committed, and now that the man has been restored to himself he should receive a full pardon."

A School For Storekeepers.
A "school for storekeepers," consisting of a three day course of lectures and demonstrations, has been opened at the University of Kansas, with several hundred country merchants from all parts of the state in attendance. The course was arranged by Professor D. C. Crossant to give the small town and country storekeepers new ideas in business, advertising and store management.

Congress Adds to National Forest.
Nearly 17,000 acres have been added by congress to the Caribon national forest, Idaho. This is one of the first of such additions through congressional action and is the largest so far made by direct legislation.

CENSOR THE SONGS

Several newspapers and magazines in New York have recently begun an agitation for a censorship of popular songs, which is daily growing stronger. More power to the movement! The wonder is that the people who make it their business to protect the public morals did not protest long ago. The authorities lost no time in getting censors for moving pictures and plays, but it seems as though all of them have tin ears
when it comes to the so-called popular song. The composers have been getting bolder and bolder, until at the present time the lasciviousness is almost akin to defiance.Questionable phrases are set to catchy choruses that induce young people to repeat them everywhere,
without the least sign of blushing,
because it is a song. If they repeated the words, without the music, in a public place, the people would consider them an insult. Vulgarity seems to pervade every ballad brought out recently, and the question arises, "when are they going to stop?"There is an old saying about giving some people an inch and they will take a mile. The 1914 song writers are in this class and the sooner a board of censors is appointed,
the better it will be for the community at large. There is plenty of good music available at all times, and for all purposes, without harmonizing indecency and forcing unwilling ears to listen to it. Let the censorship
come, and let it come quick.

WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES CHANGING.

Where once women's clubs were organized exclusively for personal culture, study of art or music or literature, and in special cases, for some special line of charity among the destitute, the predominating object of these bodies of women today
is the promotion of the community
beautification and the city serviceable.
While retaining the original idea of the cultivation of theory, the women are working more and more through their clubs and their club committees for playgrounds, parks
and parkways, clean up observance, care of lawns, tidiness of streets and alleys, vacant lot cultivation, vocational education, school and home gardens, neighborhood and school social centers, beautification and municipal improvement in general. Even the city government is receiving their attention.This transformation is to be seen in Plainfield as well as in other communities. Here it may be said that the women's clubs and women individually have ceased to discuss and debate matters of ancient history and far-off races to consider action at home. They have to a great degree supplanted the men in community improvement work after tiring of the latter's good intentions tempered by delay. It is true, also, that these women are accomplishing many things of importance for their communities.

Nor is this interest of the women without reason. Woman's chief concern is her home. She has discovered that she helps make her home better for herself, her husband and her children by making the city better and more beautiful. She has learned that home cannot be perfect

in an imperfect city, so she sets about to make the city more nearly perfect. City administrations generally have accepted her services as a valuable asset and they are ever ready to collaborate with the club movements.By accepting their new duties
along the line of civic wakefulness
the women have lost nothing, for they have retained their literary departments as formerly conducted.
They are but enlarging their activities and it is pleasing to note what they are doing throughout the country to advance the community and social welfare of their cities.

TUTTLE'S PLAN.

From time to time the Daily Press
has called attention to the wasteful methods of the government, particularly in the distribution of free seeds, which so often are sent out to constituents, without regard to whether or not they really do any good, or are even wanted. It has been suggested that the seeds be turned to good use, and sent to school children and others who really could get some good from them, instead of persons who have not the slightest desire for them.Congressman Tuttle has adopted a plan for seed distribution which is in keeping with the other progressive and effective things that able representative has done. He distributes practically all of his quota through the schools of the district, some of which have school gardens. The latter are becoming an interesting feature of school work, especially in the rural communities, and might well be copied here. Certainly they encourage interest in the flowers and vegetables on the part of the children. The Congressman also makes it a rule to send seeds only to citizens who ask for them. It is gratifying to learn that at least one representative turning to good use what many others throw away.The death of William L. Garrett takes from the city one of its best known and oldest inhabitants, a man of unusually fine character, and one who until very recently was identified in an active and influential way with the growth of Plainfield.Small boys and their bigger brothers, to say nothing of the sisters, fathers, mothers, uncles, aunts, and all the rest will lay aside all other & Bailey circus will on that day pay its first visit to Plainfield in eighteen years.One of the younger lawyers in the city will be the contributing editor for Saturday. He will write about a phase of legal work which is of interest to the layman.

BIPLANES COLLIDE, 2 KILLED

British Army Aviators Meet in Head-
on Smash.Aldershot, England, May 13.—A head on collision between two army bi-planes flying 800 feet in the air occurred here, resulting in the death of two men and the serious injury of a third.One of the biplanes was being piloted
by Captain Edward Anderson and the other by Lieutenant C. W. Wilson.
Captain Anderson and his mechanic, Carter, were dead when taken from the wreckage of the two machines and Lieutenant Wilson was seriously injured.Both aeroplanes were speeding at a tremendous rate over the parade ground of the famous army post and smashed together with a terrific crash.
Both machines were completely wrecked and came tumbling to the ground from the great height.

DEMONSTRATES A NEW FIRE RESISTING PREPARATIONThe value of a patent preparation made by the Gibraltar Fire-Resisting Paint Company, as a preventive against the destruction of property
by fire, was demonstrated on Watchung avenue, near East Front street,
by W. T. Runyon, of Newark, treasurer of the company. At that time a miniature house, built for the purpose, and covered inside and out with the patent paint, was set on fire. It burned twenty minutes and went out without a drop of water being used.
Thirty-five minutes were consumed in burning the pine columns, the blaze finally going out of its own accord.Fire Chief T. O. Doane was present and gave a brief talk of interest
in which he endorsed the preparation
as a safe preventive against the ravages of fire, and he pointed out the special merits of the paint, as did also
Mr. Runyon. The miniature house is now on exhibition in the window of Woolston & Buckles shop on North avenue, where the preparation can be secured and its value explained.NAMED AS A MEMBER OF LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEEMrs. S. G. VanHoesen, the local agent for the S. P. C. A., was among those who attended the Inter-State Conference of the Vivisection Investigation League held at the Savoy Hotel, New York city, yesterday afternoon. The purpose of this league is to investigate the matter of vivisection, as well as vaccination and other allied interests. In connection with the meeting there was a luncheon.State Senator Baine, of New York,
Prince Trobiski and Mrs. Caroline
Earl White, of Philadelphia, the last named, one of the pioneers in the movement, were the speakers. Mrs.
VanHoesen was made a member of the legislative committee, one of the most important, and the honor was tastefully appreciated. There were guests present at the meeting from New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Boston and New Jersey.

has accepted the design of the New York architects, Tracy & Swartout,
for the construction of the $2,000,000
auditorium to be erected as a George Washington Memorial in Washington, marking the culmination of an effort which began over four years ago. With the acceptance of the design and the fact that Congress has already made a grant of the site for the structure, the future looks bright for the raising of the additional amount of money required and the early completion of the great work.Tracy & Swartout, the former Levitts Tracy, of this city, were one of thirteen competing firms, of which five were from New York. McKim, Mead & White also entered the competition. The successful firm's drawings depict a fine Colonial building,
with pillared front, and square
ground plan. The main interior feature will be the great auditorium, seating 6,000 people, artistically arranged in the form of an ellipse, with the stage at one end
and a deep balcony encircling the whole. The architects prefer to call their design American in type, instead of Colonial, although in general appearance it presents the feature of a dignified and inspiring.LOCAL WOMAN INSTITUTE'S

CAVALRY DASH TO CAPITAL NEXT; REFUGEES TELL THRILLING STORIES

Tentative Plan of the War College For Advance on Mexico City.

WAR department officers in Washington, who have been working on a cavalry plan of advance against the City of Mexico, believe they have perfected an arrangement by which they can force the Mexican troops under General Maas to abandon their defenses along the Mexican and International railways. The accomplishment of this plan would be followed, in the event of the Mexicans making a stand at the City of Mexico, by the use of artillery in laying siege to the Mexican capital.

The scheme as it now stands would require the use of six regiments of cavalry, contingents of the signal corps, with wireless telegraphy field outfits, and an aviation squadron. Having tentatively worked out this idea, the military authorities have called Brigadier General James Parker, commanding the First cavalry brigade, to Washington from the Texas frontier.

As now contemplated the cavalry movement scheme would comprise a series of detours from the railroad by the cavalry in its movement westward from Vera Cruz, but always with the view of closing in upon the City of Mexico after forcing the retirement of the Mexican federals along the two lines of railway. It is believed by Another Revolt, Led by Velasco, Now Threatened. Yucatan Aflame.

Villa, would not cause any great surprise in the federal capital, according to conservative observers among returning refugees.

General Velasco is said to be grievously discontented concerning the failure of the government in Mexico City to support him properly in the defense of Torreon, and he is declared to have stated that he would never again lead a column of troops against the rebels.

The fall of Torreon and the subsequent disaster to the federal troops are asserted by General Velasco to have been entirely due to the failure of the war department to heed his appeal for ammunition at a time when he says it was perfectly feasible for it to have reached him.

American Women Attacked. Shocking stories of the ill treatment of American women by Mexican soldiers were told by refugees from the GENERAL VELASCO, WHO MAY HEAD ANOTHER REVOLT IN MEXICO.

Medina agricultural colony arriving at New Orleans. About 100 Americans were isolated there in danger of death or torture until they were rescued and finally brought to this country by the Monterey and other ships.

Henry M. Pierce of Canton, Tex., told a story of a Mexican crime, which he said was typical. He said:

"William H. Shope lived in Medina with his wife and two daughters, aged nine and eleven. Shope was shot dead by Mexicans, and his wife and daughters were treated with extreme brutality. Rescued finally, they had to be taken to the Tierra Blanca hospital. Nothing was done to bring the offenders to justice. The mother finally escaped from the country with her children and got on a ship that went to California. This happened before the Tampico affair."

Mrs. A. F. Meissner and her eight children were among the refugees brought by the Monterey. She said that she and the children were thrown into a foul prison at Cordoba and kept there two days practically without food. Their clothing was taken away. When they boarded the Monterey at Vera Cruz they had no shoes and their clothing was pieces of rags sewed together.

Mobs' Passions Inflamed. There were about twenty missionaries among the refugees brought by the Monterey, including representatives of the Baptist, Methodist and Presbyterian denominations.

The Rev. George H. Brewer of New York was accompanied by his wife and two children. He was in charge of the Baptist missions in Mexico, with headquarters in Mexico City.

"Yes, thank God, we managed to escape," he said, "but he only knows what has happened to the friends and co-workers left behind us. There are many good people in Mexico, but they are incited to riot by the military leaders, who profit by their patriotic display."

"When the Vera Cruz news reached Mexico City we were driven to take shelter in a hotel. Here we hid ourselves while the howling mobs swarmed the streets, cursing and yelling 'Death to the Gringos!'"

"When we finally managed to get to the coast we discovered that Misses Hayes and Wheeler, two American girls doing missionary work in the republic, were missing. I have every reason to believe that they were incarcerated in the jail at Saltillo."

Tortured, Bought Release.

Case H. Harwood, an American financier of Aguascalientes, one of the recent refugees to reach Galveston, Tex., says that with $6,000 in gold he purchased the release of his wife and himself from Mexican bandits. His cattle and stock were confiscated, and his home was burned. He was awakened in the night by bandits, and he and his wife fled. They soon were captured, he said, and then he purchased freedom for his wife and himself.

"I was tied to a tree half a mile from home," said Mr. Harwood. "Mexicans blindfolded me and told me to prepare to die. I could hear the cries of my wife. She begged for my life. As they were measuring off paces intending to shoot me I told them that I would give the money. I was released and conducted them to the place where my money was hidden. After they obtained it I was told to leave the country at once and did."

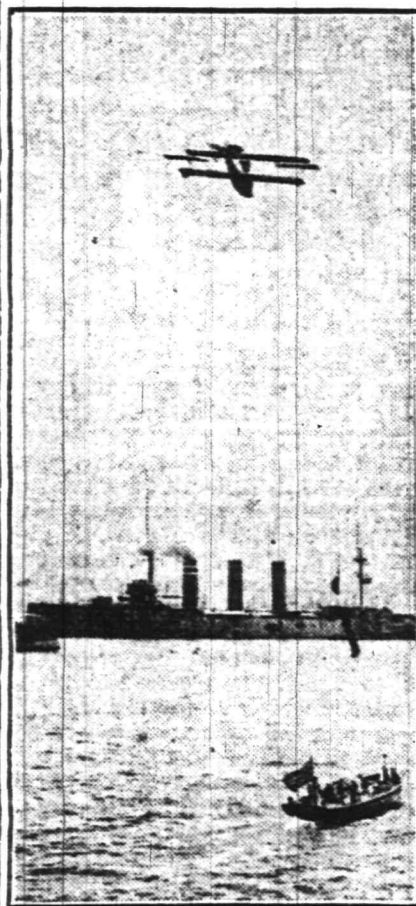

Peril in Yucatan.

G. L. Germon, former acting American vice consul at Progreso, who reached New Orleans, says that the Americans in Yucatan are in a perilous situation. According to Mr. Germon, circulars have been distributed in Progreso ordering Americans to get out of the country.

Conditions forcing the departure of Americans from Mexico after the taking of Vera Cruz are described in a letter received by the Presbyterian board of foreign missions in New York from the Rev. J. T. Molloy.

"Peaceful Yucatan went wild at the report of the taking of Vera Cruz, and the cry of 'Death to the Americans!' was attended with such demonstrations as to make all feel that the only prudent thing to do was to flee without delay," wrote Mr. Molloy. "Our presence in Merida or in Progreso not only endangered our lives, but exposed our people to attack on our account. In an anti-American demonstration demonstrations against our religion were mixed with cries of 'Death to the Americans!'"

"The home of a well known business man was approached by a mob crying 'Death to the Americans!' They tore off the top of an auto that was standing at the door, turned the machine over, shot into the house, broke in the door and but for the arrival of the police would have demolished the house."

HYDROPLANE OVER UNITED STATES CRUISER CHESTER AT VERA CRUZ.

The family escaped by going upon the roof.

"There was no communication with Mexico City, no chance to send a wire to any part of the world; there was no way out but to take an English freight boat bound for Mobile, and we gladly took it."

"I think it is only fair to the people of Yucatan to say that, left to themselves, they would have behaved well, but the people were inflamed by false reports. Extras were got out one after another, bogus telegrams were circulated, such as 'Vera Cruz has fallen, bathed in blood, but she fell bravely; even women slew Americans'; the blond faced brutes are marching for the center of the republic; 'Mexicans, now as ever let us cry 'Viva Mexico.' One thing was clearly seen—the whole uprising was brought on by officials."

An American Heroine.

How an American woman, the wife of the American printer at Monterey, carrying an American flag, rushed past the federal outposts and through the rebel forces, reviled and insulted as she passed, and fought her way to the American consulate seeking a physician for her husband, who had been wounded by a federal shell at their place just outside of Monterey, was told by one of the first refugees to reach Washington. Her husband, J. S. Carnahan, pictured the heroic daring of this frail little American woman, clinging to her United States flag at a time when the flag of her country was a signal for attack.

The Carnahans have lived in Monterey for more than fifteen years. They were both under fire during the two battles at Monterey.

Mrs. Carnahan said they had been forced to surrender their horses and automobiles when the rebel leader, General Gonzales, took the city.

Mrs. Carnahan saw the flag of the United States dragged in the mud and torn by the Banda de Guerra, led by General Massieu, in company with the mayor of the city and his officers and the governor of the state, Salome Bolla, who rode about the town of Monterey proclaiming that the United States was going to invade Mexico and calling upon all citizens to take up arms against the invaders.

If you have a really desirable house or apartment to rent, your "ad" will constitute GOOD NEWS to some anxious people in this city.

CLOWN ARMY COMING WITH CIRCUS

A perfect horde of clowns is coming to this city next Friday with the Barnum & Bailey circus, the glad assurance is given, and side-splitting hilarity will prevail during the performances. To the boy and the older boy, his father, there is nothing in all the varied catalog of the circus that compares with the crude and genuine mirth the white-face cut-ups provide.

The clown is an inherent part of man's attitude toward life. There have always been clowns in the past; the world for its cleverest and most original clowns. Their comicallies are a ceaseless joy of creation and burlesque. Jim Rutherford, Art Jarvis, Jim Rossi, Pierre Kerfeyer, Flatiron and Scapiron, J. Jerome, Denver Darling, Hart Brothers, Pat Valdo, Butch Siegrist and Ernest Anderson are among them. Their names are synonymous of mirth unrestricted wherever the circus is known.

The fun of the modern clowns lies in their original conceptions, their grotesque costumes and their mechanical effects, and it is quite effectively and spontaneously uproarious as that in the days of the one-ring circus. Dogs, pigs, goats, roosters and even a kangaroo are their allies; aeroplanes, fire engines and patrol wagons give aid; they dress like policemen, rufes, dudes, young and old women, Suffragettes, Highlanders and giraffes; giants and midgets walk side by side.

Barnum & Bailey have ransacked the world for its cleverest and most original clowns. Their comicallies are a ceaseless joy of creation and burlesque. Jim Rutherford, Art Jarvis, Jim Rossi, Pierre Kerfeyer, Flatiron and Scapiron, J. Jerome, Denver Darling, Hart Brothers, Pat Valdo, Butch Siegrist and Ernest Anderson are among them. Their names are synonymous of mirth unrestricted wherever the circus is known.

SUNDAY BASEBALL IN CENTRAL NEW JERSEY.

What number of people favor Sunday baseball in this section is indefinite, and would be difficult to ascertain. Taking the crowds that attended Sunday games in Scotch Plains last year as a criterion they are considerable. On the other hand it is easier to judge the number against Sunday baseball and other forms of Sabbath desecration, easier because they have at various times taken a definite stand against it. The indications in Plainfield are that Plainfielders do not want Sunday baseball, but there are some who would like to have it in some nearby town easy to reach. Many have asked us to advocate the reorganization of the Scotch Plains team, but that is practically out of the question for this year at least. Sunday ball has always been a paying proposition at the Plains, but the only move that will result in the formation of a team this year will be the selection of a new manager, for Joe Alberts has definitely stated that he will not conduct Sunday baseball at that place again. New Brunswick, therefore, is the nearest place to Plainfield which encourages the Sunday recreation and local fans who really require a certain amount of the sport can find it at the little town on the Raritan any Sunday afternoon during the next five months.

A GOOD MOVE FOR LIDGATE.

Eugene Lidgate's removal to the York team of the Tri-State League was an exceedingly good one for the Fanwood youth, for it gave him an opportunity to break into the sport regularly. Manager Johnny Dunn, of the Baltimore Orioles, probably figured this all out before he let the youngster go. Liddy has the makings of a leaguer in him and the Tri-State circuit is just the place to draw everything he has to the surface. Since going to York he has been putting up a crackerjack article of baseball and his performance has been so good that he has already displaced his predecessor. Daily work is what Liddy needs and now that he is getting it we expect to see him rise to the Class A circuit.

A victory for North Plainfield this afternoon, and things look pretty dubious for the Leal nine, will mean a first place tie on the interscholastic league calendar. A deadlock this early in the season should lend interest to the race and the game between Plainfield and North Plainfield Saturday afternoon will have a little added interest injected into it if this situation comes through as anticipated. Local fans are waiting for this opportunity to size up the two schoolboy aggregations and the contest Saturday presents conditions entirely favorable to good workouts.

In the spring, when green begins to show its welcome color on the lawns; when buds swell and burst on bush, vine and tree; when the robin's song is heard and his red breast is seen about our homes, the young (and old) man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of fishing. And who is there with sufficient courage to criticize this typical fancy of the true sport? There are plenty of local anglers of the thirty-second degree variety in this city and many of them are taking advantage of the abundance of the finny tribe in this section.

Queries, Comment and Answers

Sporting Editor:

Query—Kindly give me a simple formula for frosting windows. One that can be used at home on ordinary panes of glass? G. S. P.

Answer—An old recipe book says that a "fair imitation of ground glass" can be obtained by washing the glass over with a saturated solution of Epsom Salts applied hot and with a brush. We cannot vouch for it but give the recipe for what it is worth.

Sporting Editor:

Query—I read in the paper some time ago that Jim Thorpe, the noted athlete, was sold by Manager McGraw, of the New York Giants, to a minor league team. To what club was he sold? F. A. H.

Answer—The report was erroneous. Thorpe was never disposed of by McGraw and is still sporting Giant regalia.

RAHWAY HAS GREAT TEAM.

East Orange High School's team was obliged to taste defeat at the hands of the Rahway High School nine in a game of baseball played at Ashland Field, East Orange, yesterday afternoon, the final score reading 9 to 1. That the Rahway clan can play real baseball was proved in convincing style to the handful of loyal fans who braved the cold to see the contest. The visitors fielded almost faultlessly, a bad heavy by the shortstop being the only error chalked up against them; they batted well, getting eleven safe singles, and in all showed good baseball.

Sporting Editor:

Query—Is it necessary to take out a license to fish in New Jersey waters? K. T. E.

Answer—A license is unnecessary this year, but during 1915 every fisherman over the age of fourteen years will have to pay a fee of $1.15. This fee will also cover a hunter's license.

Sporting Editor:

Query—What is a mail order business? L. K. M.

Answer—Big business houses get out catalogues and price lists of their goods trying to get rural (and small town) customers to order from them by mail.

Sporting Editor:

Query—After the death of my husband, a hotel keeper sent me a bill against him. Am I compelled to pay it? J. B. C.

Answer—Consult a lawyer.

RIFFERT MAKING GOOD.

Jack Riffert, one of the best all-around athletes in the Plainfield High School in 1910, has earned a regular berth on the Swarthmore College team and has been putting up a great article of the pastime for that aggregation. In yesterday's contest with Delaware College he accounted for two of his team's six safe hits and played an excellent game in the field. Riffert formerly performed in right field for Plainfield High School baseball teams and was also a clever football player, holding down the quarterback job. He lives in Bound Brook.

GREAT OVATION FOR NEW LEAGUE

Perth Amboy's Entrance Into Professional Baseball to Be Auspicious Event.

RANDOLPH WILL PITCH

Local Slab Artist Selected to Meet Connie Mack's Athletics Sunday Afternoon—Plan Elaborate Program for League Opening.

In preparation for the game against the World's Champion Athletics, Sunday, which will be pitched by Cliff Randolph, of this city, and for the opening game of the Atlantic League season next Wednesday, the Perth Amboy Baseball Club has ordered constructed at once an additional section in the bleachers. Carpenters will begin work immediately and the seating capacity of the grounds will be increased from 1,500 to 2,000. Randolph has been working regularly in preparation for the opening of the season and is at present in the best of form to meet the heralded Mack crew.

Connie Mack will bring his entire first team to Amboy, Sunday, to play the Perth Amboy Pacers. Either Bender, Plank or the famous Joe Bush will pitch three innings of the game, and one of the following will finish the battle: Houck, Pennock, Boardman, Shawkey or Wyckoff. Ira Thomas will catch a greater part of the game, while McInnes, Collins, Orr, Baker, Daley, Murphy and Oldring will play. All of Middlesex county has been placard and it is expected that a record crowd will attend the game, as Mack and his team of champions are very popular in this section of the State.

There will be a gala day in Amboy, Wednesday, May 20. Mayor Ferd Garretson has issued a proclamation to the merchants requesting that they close during the afternoon and attend the game. This is the first time that Perth Amboy has ever had a professional league team, and the Board of Trade is to take charge of the opening ceremonies.

Mayor Sunderland, of Danbury, and several city and county officials are to be the guests of the Perth Amboy Board of Trade at a luncheon at the Packer House at noon, after which there will be an automobile parade to the grounds. Following the game there will be a big Board of Trade banquet at Goodwill Hall, at which six hundred plates will be set for the Board of Trade, their guests and baseball fans. The Danbury and Perth Amboy teams will be guests at this banquet.

The field at Perth Amboy is one of the best Class D parks in the country. The grandstand has a seating capacity of 1,000, and with the new bleachers which are being constructed there will be seats for 1,000 more. Manager Bob Ganley is whipping the team into good shape, and the Pacers will be ready for the opening game.

OUTLOOK FOR POLO SERIES BEGINNING TO LOOK DUBIOUS

London, May 13.—Upon the result of the meeting of the Hurlingham Club's committee this afternoon will depend the decision as to whether the contest for the International Polo Challenge Cup will take place in the United States this year. Baron Wimborne, who Monday announced the names of the members of a team which he expected to take to America, had another stroke of bad luck yesterday, in consequence of which he was compelled reluctantly to acknowledge that he was now unable to make up the team, and had appealed to the Hurlingham Club, in whose name the challenge was sent to the American team, to decide what is to be done.

LOWEST GROSS SCORE BY MRS. STOCKTON

Local Woman Only Entrant in Tourney to Make Round Under 100.

Mrs. H. Reeve Stockton, of this city, captured the prize for lowest gross score given by the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association at the Montclair Golf Club, yesterday, in the second of the spring series of one-day tournaments conducted by the W. M. G. A. Competing under the colors of the Plainfield Country Club, Mrs. Stockton won the prize provided last year for the player showing the most improvement. Her winning score yesterday was 96, and she was the only one who made the round under 100.

Although the weather was raw and chilly about thirty-seven golfers took part in the usual eighteen-hole medal play handicap which was the chief event of the day. Mrs. Stockton was the only local entry.

Mrs. Lester Ketcham, Fox Hills, who won the net prize in the first tourney a week ago at Englewood, won again yesterday with a card of 103-6, 97.

WALDORF TEAM NOW RESEMBLES WINNER

Another Clean Sweep Recorded on the Elks' Alleys Last Night Over Kiely Five.

The Waldorf team in the Elks' Club Bowling Tournament annexed another clean sweep in its wild race for the club championship on the Watchung avenue alleys, last night, the Kiely outfit falling victims to the prowess of the conceded champs. Captain Waldorf appeared to be in fine fettle for the series and was ably assisted by his four helpers who spasmodically set up scores that boosted the game tally in each case to a winning point.

Fourteen counters separated the rivals in the curtain raiser, Pope, Nash, Sr., and Kiely being responsible for the losing side's god fight, while Swalm, Woolston and Waldorf performed well for the winners. A 187 finish by the No. 3 anchor man gave the Waldorf herd a fourpin verdict in the second, although Kiely set up a double century which boosted his side's record considerably. The winning side put a grand finale on the evening of pinning the final match by swamping the rival clan. A margin of 110 pins separated the two teams at the completion of the fight, a 210 by Waldorf, the high individual score of the evening, putting the opposition to rout.

The scores:

SUNDAY BASEBALL LEGAL IF PROMOTERS DO NOT BENEFIT

It is not unlawful to play baseball on Sunday if the promoters do not realize any profit by the venture, according to a decision rendered yesterday by Magistrate Joseph Fitch in a New York police court, when he discharged three members of the Bushwick baseball nine who were charged with violating the Sunday law by playing baseball on May 3 and 10.

It was shown that scorecards were placed on sale at 50 cents each, but the police admitted that patrons were not obliged to purchase them and that many had entered without charge.

The magistrate said: "I realize that it costs money to play baseball, and these men, I have been informed, have to pay $1,000 for the use of the field. There are other expenses and I don't see how it is a violation of the law to accept voluntary contributions."

The Bushwicks last year were known as the Ridgewoods, and officials of that nine were summoned to court seventy-six times. All the magistrates held them for the Court of Special Sessions. In the first case four men were fined $50 each. The others got suspended sentences. The attorneys for the team appealed and the higher court sustained the Court of Special Sessions. The men last year were charged with selling tickets at the entrance to the grounds, but alleged that any bona fide members could witness the games.

Parker and R. Braum Combination Leading Dunellen Tournament.

Arthur Voorhees, with an individual average of 168 is leading the pinners in the Dunellen Two-man Tournament now well under way on the Baraca alleys in that place. In twenty games he has topped over 2,356 pins and has performed in a consistent fashion with his teammate, Russell Brakley, who has totaled 2,405. This makes a total of 7,657 credited to the team that is at present occupying fifth place in the tournament. George Voehl, having competed in sixteen matches, has split 2,628 pins for an average of 164.

The Parker and R. Braum combination is leading the pack with thirteen victories and a trio of reverses with a percentage of .812. C. Braun and Hodge are second in the running and Mann and Zink are running third.

PARKS NOT TO ENTER S. S. LEAGUE RACE

Churchboy Team Met Last Night and Decided to Arrange Schedule.

The Park Avenue Baptist baseball team met in the church parlors last night, to organize for the coming season and it was decided at that time not to enter a team in the Sunday-School League race this season. Efforts have been made by the league authorities to induce the Parks to reconsider their early season action in dropping out of the league, and to take the franchise handed in by the Trinity team last week. A schedule of games has been arranged and is due to start Saturday afternoon, and it was thought possible that the Park team would consent to substitute for Trinity.

A large amount of routine business was disposed of by the management of the aggregation at last night's meeting and the combination is now ready to open the season with an independent schedule. Jack Ricketts has been elected to captain the team and he will assist the manager in drawing up a good schedule of independent matches with local and out of town teams.

To date the management of the Park team has been unable to secure a suitable playing field on which to stage its home battles. Several are in view and a definite choice will be arrived at within the next few days. The church boys has designs on Parker Field but the Plainfield Baseball Club has since leased that field making it necessary for the amateur team to look elsewhere for a lot.

WESTFIELDERS ARE PLANNING FOR BASEBALL REVIVAL

Westfield will be represented by one of the fastest semi-professional teams this season that has performed on a Mt. Ararat lot for some years if present plans are carried out as proposed. An entertainment held in Westfield Theatre, Monday night, netted the athletic association over $100 which will be expended for paraphernalia to equip the nine. The team will be in a class with the Plainfield, Dunellen and Somerville aggregations and home and out of town contests will be arranged.

Many prominent business men of the place have enlisted their services in the cause and a complete revival of the pastime is planned for the village.

The officers and members of the Westfield Athletic Association are as follows: President, L. G. Venn; vice-presidents, George Worth and Alexander Hunt, Jr.; secretary, Ford Douglas; treasurer, R. D. Green. The members are: A. H. Clark, C. N. Codding, Jr., H. Cowperthwaite, George Crutenden, H. Crutenden, George Eldridge, P. Ketcham, Ed McMahon, F. W. MacDonald, G. H. Triplett, George Valteau, H. L. Wahl, R. Williams, G. W. Young, C. Himmelberger, Charles Kimball, G. R. MacDonald and Donald Pearsall.

P. H. S. SENIORS TAKE INITIAL LEAGUE GAME

Score of 10 to 8 Set up by Fourth Year Men After a Wierd Encounter.

The senior class team of the Plainfield High School defeated the junior class nine yesterday afternoon, in the initial game of the Inter-class League, by a score of 10 to 8.

Both teams scored freely in the first few innings, but the pitchers finally tightened up and allowed but few runs in the latter part of the game.

The field was in poor condition, the diamond being muddy and the outfield very slippery.

The lineup:

GOOD GAMES ROLLED IN DUNELLEN SERIES

Three Even Breaks Feature Work of Alley Men in Two-man Tourney.

Rolling on the Baraca alleys in Dunellen, last night, in connection with the two-man tourney now in progress the Frederick and Oakley team split even with the Mann and Zink duo and later took one and dropped one to the Brakeley and Voorhees combination. Mann and Zink won the first game in handy fashion from the Brakeley and Voorhees team, but were seven pins to the bad in the second encounter. High individual score of the evening went to Voorhees in the final game and the high team score was set up by the Mann and Zink team with a tally of 349. Voorhees' mark was 201, one pin better than that of Mann.

The scores:

NEW BLOW FOR MEDIATION PLAN

Huerta Has Proof of Labos Seizure.

ISLAND TAKEN BY FORCE

Dictator Has Document Signed by Commander of United States Destroyer to That Effect—Seeks Every Pretext to Embarrass Mediators.

HUERTA HITS PEACE PLANS NEW BLOW.

Hope for a successful outcome of the mediation proceedings received another setback when it was learned that Huerta has in his possession a document signed by the commander of the United States destroyer Fanning, certifying that Lobos Island was seized by force.

State department officials have repeatedly asserted that the island was not seized and that the United States forces were merely operating the light, which had been abandoned by its Mexican keepers.

General Huerta has already notified the mediators that he considers the seizure of the island a violation of the armistice.

Washington, May 13.—The Mexican situation is in a worse muddle than at any other time since the mediation proceedings began. The new embarrassments came chiefly through the disclosure that Huerta has in his possession a paper signed by the commanding officer of the United States destroyer Fanning certifying that the light on Lobos Island, off the Gulf coast of Mexico, was taken by force by the United States.

This remarkable development, following Huerta's protest to the mediators that the seizure of Lobos Island constituted a violation of the armistice, was a shock to the state department. Secretary Bryan has denied that there was any seizure of the island and had contended that the United States had merely maintained the light after it had been deserted by the Mexican keepers.

Mr. Bryan was explaining to the mediators that this extraordinary certificate merely represented an act of courtesy and that it was in no way to be construed as an acknowledgment that the naval forces had seized the island. It meant merely that the commanding officer of the Fanning had insisted that the machinery necessary for operating the light be left behind by the keeper.

Huerta, with his present disposition to push charges of bad faith against the United States, is certain to make the most of this incident. While morally the United States was justified in taking possession of the light, authorities here doubt whether technically they had the right to do so.

On top of this controversy has come another note from Huerta's government to the mediators adding to the perplexity of the United States. Huerta has called attention to the fact that five of the ships at Vera Cruz who have been arrested and are about to be put on trial for their lives are not Mexican subjects, but citizens of South American countries.

Huerta Blocking Mediators. Washington, May 13.—While the diplomatic representatives here of the A. B. C. powers are preparing to leave Washington for the mediation conference at Niagara Falls, Canada, administration officials are becoming convinced that Huerta is seeking every pretext to embarrass the mediators.

Consequently, although the administration has selected its delegates to the conference and is preparing to carry through its part of the program, war plans are going steadily ahead.

Outside of President Wilson and Secretary Bryan there are few officials who do not expect to see the American army advance into the interior of Mexico within a month.

Charges of bad faith are flying back and forth between Mexico City and Washington. The mediators, who are the mediums for these complaints, are perplexed beyond measure.

While Huerta is complaining bitterly that the seizure of the Lobos Island lighthouse on the east coast by Rear Admiral Badger is in violation of the armistice between the United States and Mexico and because of it is threatening to recall his delegates to the peace conference, the state department is demanding the immediate release of Consul John R. Silliman, imprisoned at Saltillo.

10,000 REBELS AT MAZATLAN

Keep Up Continuous Fire on Town in Relays, U. S. Consul Reports.

Washington, May 13.—Ten thousand Constitutional soldiers are fighting the federal garrison at Mazatlan, according to W. E. Alger, consul at Mazatlan.

"Five hundred federals in ordinary warfare could hold the city indefinitely," Alger said. "The rebels have adopted an attack to tire out the federals by keeping a continuous fire with relays of 1,000 men. I think the city will not be taken for at least three weeks."

Alger said only two Americans have been murdered during the last four years in the Mazatlan district.

THE FORUM

Editor Plainfield Daily Press:—Referring to an article in your Paper of May 6th, by R. A. Lawrence in which the writer takes exception to a cartoon showing the appreciation of certain interests for the splendid efforts the Anti-Suffrage Association is making to protect them from the wrath of the good women of the country, by trying to keep the women from using the most effective weapon for suppression of these interests—the ballot. No decent interests have ever been hurt by the enfranchisement of women, and none need fear Equal Suffrage. The women who do not want to vote and mix up in politics will have the same privileges as the men regarding the use of the franchise. The only interests that have been hurt by Equal Suffrage and have any real cause to dread it are the vicious interests so splendidly represented in the cartoon referred to and so ably described by your correspondent of May 6th.

While there is some diversity of opinion amongst good people on the subject of Votes for Women, the enemies of the home and good government are practically unanimous in the opinion that "Votes for Women" would be bad for their business, and so are constantly and intensely opposed to it.

Congressman Taylor of Colorado, speaking on the Alaska Bill in Washington, April 24th, 1912, said: "Everyone who knows anything about Woman Suffrage or about human nature, or who has had anything to do with public affairs or politics, knows that the vicious and criminal vote is always cast solidly against equal rights for women. All those who thrive upon the violation of the law in any way or upon corruption in politics are the bitterest opponents of Woman Suffrage. Every gambler, every ballot-box stuffer, every political thug, every dive-keeper, every depraved denizen of the red-light districts and all their associates, everyone who is opposed to public decency, every professional debaucher of public morals and every conceivable variety of crook in the world is viciously and desperately opposed to women being enfranchised, and they never cease exhausting their vocabulary cursing Woman Suffrage. Equal Suffrage is a failure with some kind of people."

Mrs. Lucy S. Blanchard (State President Southern California W. C. T. U.) says: "Woman's Suffrage carried in the face of the opposition of the liquor men and their allies."

Michigan papers generally attributed the defeat of Woman Suffrage in that State to the liquor interests.

The Detroit Journal said: "The liquor interests made an intense and thorough campaign against Suffrage."

The Detroit Times said: "The breweries didn't want it, and the saloon didn't want it; the political boss and the political crook didn't want it. The breweries, the saloons, the political crook and the political boss won—with the aid of the militants in England."

The official organ of the Retail Liquor Dealers' Association in Wisconsin bears the inappropriate name of "Progress." It fought Equal Suffrage bitterly all through the campaign of 1912, and afterwards boasted editorially of having helped to defeat it. Wisconsin has the city that was made infamous by a certain brand of booze.

Mrs. Maud Wood Park, who took part in the Ohio Campaign of 1912, says she never saw anything like the ferocity of the fight the liquor dealers put up against it. She brought home some samples of the Anti-Suffrage cartoons that were hung up in the barrooms.

The above testimony could be multiplied at will, but why give more? The women are the enemies of the enemies of the home. The enemies of the home are the bitter enemies of "Votes for Women."

Billy Sun says: "I love everything the 'evil' does, and hate everything the 'good' does."

The W. C. T. U. with 300,000 members in this country stands for Equal Suffrage. Practically all of

A set of questions was lately sent to prominent people in Suffrage States by an investigating committee of twelve prominent Englishwomen. Of 63 replies received only four were definitely hostile. One question was: "Q. Where did the strength of the movement and the opposition to it lie?" "Ans. Strength mainly came from 'moral' influence and Woman's Clubs; opposition from Saloons and Machine Politicians."

About the only organization that makes any claim to respectability that is definitely opposing Equal Suffrage is the Anti-Suffrage Association; and when you consider that there are about fifty per cent. more enrolled Suffragists in New York City alone than there are enrolled members in the Anti-Suffrage organization in the whole United States, and that there are no Anti-Suffrage organizations in the Suffrage States, only personal prejudice can in any way explain their opposition to Votes for Women. Regarding the effects of Woman Suffrage in Suffrage States it must be remembered that the males very largely outnumber the females, especially amongst the foreign born population.

The following table is taken from the U. S. Census of 1910. The first column gives the date the women were enfranchised, the second the number of males to 100 females, and the third the number of foreign born males to 100 females.

Wyoming,	1869	168.8	287.2
Colorado,	1893	116.9	160.
Utah,	1896	111.5	131.
Idaho,	1896	132.5
Washington,	1910	136.3	191.4
California,	1911	135.5	169.4
Oregon,	1912	132.2	169.4
Arizona,	1912	138.2	188.7
Kansas,	1912
Illinois,	1913	106.8	127.3
Alaska,	1913

It can easily be seen that women can only hold the balance of power in these States. In order to show how they have used this power I will give a few of the good results that have been accomplished largely by the women in the line of moral reform.

There are 16 men in Chicago who are opposed by the friends of good government, who are convinced that women should not vote. About 70 per cent. of the women of Illinois who voted on the saloon question voted "dry." In smaller towns and rural districts the woman's vote was overwhelming against the saloon.

The New York Mail says: "By this action the women voters of Illinois have served notice on all the States that Equal Suffrage means a death-grapple between the home and the saloon with no manner of doubt as to which will be vanquished. Suffrage has challenged the saloon. Even more bitter will be the opposition to the extension of the franchise in States where Amendments are now pending. But Equal Suffrage will gain new supporters for every enemy it makes."

R. A. Lawrence tried to make out that Equal Suffrage had hindered instead of helped temperance work in California and that the women had voted in the saloons in several dry towns. The Anti-Saloon League Year book for 1914 says that no place that was "dry" has voted wet in California since the women have been enfranchised.

In California when the women were enfranchised there were about 200 "dry" towns. Today there are 694 "dry" towns. The red-light district in San Francisco has been abolished. Judge Weller was recalled by the women's vote. More moral and reform laws, and laws for the protection of women and children and the home were passed by the California Legislature in the first session after the women were enfranchised, than were ever passed by any Legislature in any State of the Union at any one session. In Washington the woman's vote was responsible for the moral house cleaning that has taken place in quite a number of cities, also for the enactment and enforcement of the most effective laws for the suppression of the "White Slave" traffic and the "Black Scourge."

In Wyoming, inmates and frequenters of houses of ill-fame are

disfranchised, and gambling is prohibited.

Utah is comparatively free from gambling, drunkenness and general diseases, the whole State is nearly "dry." Idaho has a County option law and in twenty-eight counties option elections twenty counties have voted "dry." The saloons have been reduced from 900 to less than 200. Very strong laws for regulating the liquor traffic have been passed.

In Colorado, where there are almost 60,000 more men than women of voting age, Judge Ben. Lindsey has been twice elected to the Juvenile Court of Denver, by the women's vote, after he had been turned down by both the old political parties and special interests were working for his defeat. The old corrupt political ring that used to run Denver has been turned out and Commission Government has been established. The "Red Light" district has also been abolished.

George Creel says: "Under male suffrage there were three 'dry' towns in the State of Colorado. Under Equal Suffrage a local option law was put on the Statute books and there are now fifty 'dry' towns and twelve 'dry' counties."

Congressman Taylor, of Colorado says: "No one can justly criticize Woman Suffrage because it has not made Colorado a prohibition State. When we consider the conditions now and what they were before Equal Suffrage was adopted we have an opportunity of seeing the very great beneficial effect of the ballot in the hands of the women."

In New Zealand before the women were enfranchised, the death rate amongst children was the highest in the world. It is now the lowest in the world, except Queensland, Australia, another Suffrage State.

A New Zealander in England was asked to sign a suffrage petition and replied in his characteristic way: "Not much! In New Zealand if you thrash your wife you get six months for it; here you can do it for ten shillings."

In England a man was convicted of criminal assault upon a little girl and was fined a few shillings; in Australia a man was convicted of White Slavery and the Judge said: "That as it was his first offense he would be lenient with him" and gave him ten (10) years. In Australia the penalty for criminal offenses against women and girls ranges from five to fifty years, with flogging according to the offense. There is no white slave traffic in Australia. Compare that with Male Suffrage States. In most of the Suffrage States and Countries the "age of consent" is 18 years. I know of none in which it is less than 16 years. In very few of the Male Suffrage States is it as high as 18 years and in none as low as 10 and 12 years. The western Equal Suffrage States have lately shipped east two cars of foreign-born white slaves and their women to be deported. It was called the "White Slave Special."

The interests of working women and children are much better looked after in a majority of the Equal Suffrage States and Countries than in Male Suffrage States. Four or five of the Equal Suffrage States are to vote on State-wide prohibition this fall. I would like the readers of the Press to carefully compare the statements made by both sides, and also to compare the interests that are lined up on both sides of the question in order to form a true idea of the merits of the question of Votes for Women.

Respectfully,
EDYTHE M. CURRIE,
County Associate Pres. W. C. T. U., Granford, New Jersey.

Editor Plainfield Daily Press:

It is astonishing that in Plainfield where the standard of morality is presumably so high, so many horses are abused by others or of the lower animals.

When the street commissioner and Councilman street committee employ teams to be driven behind tank wagons containing hot tar, which splashes over their bodies, burning and lacerating them in a fearful manner, as was the case with J. H. Schmidt's team, it is high time to consider the need of a woman's tender quality of mercy in the administration of street affairs. A woman would never permit such atrocities.

"An injury to the lesser animal is an injury to ourselves," destroying the finer instincts and lowering the moral tone of a community.

Some men are veritable cowards when they themselves have to suffer, yet stand by unmoved at the suffering of others or of the lower animals. It is apparent that Plainfield needs a woman's services in the street department.

Without dust. And without the hard exhausting work of sweeping.

THE fact that periodically you need to have a house-cleaning time, Need to have your rugs taken out and beaten,

Is proof that sweeping can not remove the fine dirt and grit that works down into the warp of a carpet.

Because a broom brushes the nap of a carpet sidewise and over the dirt.

The thick nap prevents the broom from penetrating to a sufficient depth to remove the dirt.

If the dirt is not removed, the fine soft threads that form the nap are ground between the grit and the hard heels of many shoes.

Thus, the nap is cut off and the carpet worn out.

A vacuum cleaner sucks out of the warp of a carpet all of the grit and dirt.

And thus prolongs the life of the carpet.

The house is kept in a wholesome, sanitary condition all the time.

And the housekeeper is saved the strain of exhaustive physical effort.

FOR four years we have been making careful tests of the various makes of vacuum cleaners. Some of the approved makes which we offer were among the first cleaners put on the market.

Therefore, they are out of the experimental stage.

This fact, together with our test results on file, are proof of their efficiency.

WE offer these tested cleaners as follows:

Light weight cleaner, without tools $38.00—$3.80 down—$3.80 a month.

With complete set of tools.....$48.50
$4.85 down—$4.85 a month.

Large sweeper-type cleaner, without tools $75
$7.50 down—$7.50 a month.

With complete set of tools.....$90.00
$9.00 down—$9.00 a month.

5 per cent. discount on either cleaner if bought on spot cash basis.

Either cleaner can be operated from any lamp socket at a cost, for current, of less than one cent an hour.

And we will demonstrate your choice of cleaner in your home.

GUILTY OF KILLING HIS YOUNG WIFE

Chuba Convicted at Somerville of Shooting Bride.

CRIME DONE NOV. 30, 1913

No Eyewitnesses to Slaying at Manville, and Prisoner Said Revolver Accidentally Discharged—Wife's Antemortem Statement Combined With Telltale Pistol That Convicted Him.

Somerville, N. J., May 13.—Alec Chuba was convicted of manslaughter in the Somerset court here for killing his young wife. Chuba shot his bride of two weeks on the morning of Nov. 30, 1913, in their home at Manville. There were no other eyewitnesses to the shooting, and Chuba declared that the revolver had been accidentally discharged.

He made this statement right after the shooting, when his bride was unconscious and was expected to die, but Mrs. Chuba rallied and lived until Jan. 3 of the present year, and in the interval she made an antemortem statement. It was this antemortem statement combined with a telltale revolver that convicted Chuba.

Mrs. Chuba stated that her husband told her several days before the shooting that he was going to murder her so that he could go with another woman. On the morning of the shooting Chuba, she said, confronted her with a revolver. He told her not to be afraid and that the gun would not kill her. She said he pulled the trigger twice, but it failed to shoot. The third time he pulled the trigger the bullet entered her body.

The revolver taken from Chuba after the shooting was exhibited in court. It contained three shells, two of these had been punctured, but had failed to explode. The third was empty. This verified Mrs. Chuba's dying statement of the shooting.

Chuba's neighbors, who entered his house directly after the shooting, testified that they found his wife lying on the floor and that he coolly rolled a cigarette and smoked it and said, "What I have done to my wife I now expect to have done to me."

FIRE AT FUNERAL SERVICE.

Organist Burned Trying to Extinguish Blaze—Excitement Prevails.

Camden, N. J., May 13.—Candles surrounding the casket containing the body of Thomas Flzore, who was buried from his home here, set fire to draperies during the funeral service. The organist was burned about his hands while trying to extinguish the blaze.

Women and children rushed to the street in great excitement. A policeman was attracted by their cries and hurried to the house. He held the flames in check until the firemen arrived.

C. A. Rogalski, 1033 Liberty street, was at the organ. When the services were nearly over some one accidentally pulled a pair of curtains over the lighted candles. Rogalski leaped from his seat and attempted to smother the flames. When he found he was unable to extinguish the blaze he placed the lid over the casket. His burns were treated at Cooper hospital.

BOY KILLED BY AUTOMOBILE.

Perth Amboy Lad Was on His Way to School—Driver Is Held.

Perth Amboy, N. J., May 13.—Charles J. Bach of Newark, a driver for the Wagner Pastry company of 22 Johnson place, Newark, ran over and instantly killed Hyman Levy, four-year-old son of Philip Levy, of 216 Hall avenue. He is held here on a charge of manslaughter.

Bach had just left the Levy store, in Hall avenue and started toward State street when the accident occurred. The Levy child was on his way to a candy store before going to school. The machine hit the lad and the wheels crushed the little body.

Chief of Police Burke arrested Bach. He almost collapsed as a result of the accident.

CONDENSED STATE NEWS.

By the will of the late Joseph E. Keene of Bloomfield a bequest of approximately $5,000 in property, real and personal, is given to the Job Haines Home For Aged in Newark.

The body of Anthony Carusow, a farm hand, twenty-seven years old, was found in a field on George Berry's farm in Hammononton. He seemed to have been struck by lightning.

While chopping wood in the rear of his home Michael Mahoney, seventy years old, was stricken with heart disease and dropped dead. He had lived in Ogdensburg alone for years.

A suit for $25,000 was begun by Frank V. Wilkinson of West Caldwell against the Erie Railroad company for injuries sustained on March 24, when a wagon on which he was riding was struck in Bloomfield.

A voluntary petition in bankruptcy was filed by the Herring-Wakefield company of Newark in the United States district court at Trenton showing liabilities of $24,214.68 and assets of $50,128.18. The company has been in the furniture business.

Of Interest to Women and the Home

NEEDLEWORK
By MARGARET LAWRENCE

14679

Fancy white aprons are always welcome gifts to a bride-to-be also to the church fair, as they find ready sale at bazaars of all kinds. A dainty apron, such as this one, is suitable for wear at a chafing-dish party or sewing bee. It may be made in any shape of the lawn, plain white, batiste or handkerchief linen and embroidered by hand. The edge may be finished with lace, handstitched, or plain scalloped border.

Some Cookery Suggestions

CRISP YOUNG DANDELIONS.
THE housewife who lives in the country or has a lawn may draw on these for her supply of spring greens. In the cities blanched cultivated dandelions are sold in the markets.

The young leaves are suitable for salads, while for cooking the older plants may be used.

Gather in the morning while fresh from the dew. Wash thoroughly; then let stand in cold water for an hour or two to crisp and freshen.

With Milk Sauce.
Dandelions With Vegetables.—Put in a saucepan a pint of well washed dandelions, half a dozen medium sized potatoes (sliced), three onions, two tablespoonsful of chopped parsley, a carrot chopped into dice and a little celery. Cover with a quart of boiling water and boil rapidly for half an hour; then season with salt, pepper, a tablespoonful of butter and a cupful of good milk.

Stewed Dandelions.—Wash and drain. Cover with boiling salted water, cook until tender, drain, chop fine, add a tablespoonful of melted butter, a tablespoonful of rich cream and salt and pepper to taste. Heat until quite smooth and return to the fire until hot; then serve at once.

Cooked With Meat.
Dandelions With Bacon.—Clean thoroughly half a peck of dandelions and put over the fire with boiling water to cover. Cook ten minutes, drain, return to the vessel and cover with fresh boiling water. Add a pound of bacon, two onions chopped, some salt and a bit of red pepper. Cover and boil until tender. Take up the dandelions and arrange in a mound on a hot dish surrounded with bacon sliced thin.

Dandelions With Eggs.—Cut off the roots of the plants, wash the leaves, putting them in a saucepan full of boiling water, and let boil for an hour. Then drain the leaves out of the water, put them in a frying pan with butter, salt and pepper and stir the mixture till thoroughly heated. Serve with sliced hard boiled eggs.

A Savory Concoction.
Dandelions and Pork.—Gather the dandelion leaves when they are young and tender. Wash them thoroughly in two or three waters; then put them into a granite kettle and cover with boiling water. Add a piece of soda the size of a pea, let them come to a boil and then drain off the water. Cover them again with boiling water, add a small piece of fat salt pork and cook from one to two hours. When the leaves are tender remove the pork and drain in a colander, chop them into fine pieces, add salt and pepper to taste and a little melted butter. Garnish with hard boiled eggs.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

The Fairies' Spring Flower Hunting Trip.

She Was Given the Hyacinth.

WHEN daddy came home that evening he thought he'd surely have to tell Jack and Evelyn about the fairies' spring flower hunting expedition.

"Would you like to hear about the afternoon when the fairies had a contest as to who should find the greatest number of spring flowers?" he asked.

"Oh, we'd love to hear about it!" said both the children delightedly.

"It was a most beautiful spring afternoon," commenced daddy, "when the fairies started off on their flower hunt. The air was soft and warm. They knew they were going to find lots of flowers, but to the fairy who found the greatest number of different kinds of flowers the fairy queen was going to award a prize of a purple hyacinth.

"All the fairies had their little flower baskets ready."

"What kind of flower baskets did they have?" asked Evelyn.

"They had baskets which they'd made themselves," replied daddy, "especially for this occasion. Each basket was made of moss, and the outside was covered with twigs twisted together to make the basket strong. The handle of each basket was made of still stronger twigs.

"Of course the fairies expected they would find just quantities of flowers to put in their baskets.

"They wandered through the woods, into the fields and beside the brooks, each going to what he or she thought to be the best spot.

"They gathered many flowers. They found, oh, so many white and purple violets, anemones, stars of Bethlehem, bluebells, ladyslippers, wild columbines, trilliums, wild honeysuckles and quantities of others.

"At 5 o'clock they all went back where the fairy queen was waiting for them.

"Then it was discovered that little Fairy Silver Heels had found one more flower than any of the others. It was a little yellow violet.

"So she was given the choicest of the fairy queen's hyacinths, and such a fragrant, sweet one as it was! And such a gorgeous shade of purple too!"

"Then Fairy Silver Heels was invited to stand in the center while all the other fairies twined their flowers into garlands and danced around her, singing their song about the woods in the spring.

"It certainly was a lovely, happy afternoon, and, of course, once more—oh, for the thousandth time at least—they had to thank the fairy queen for suggesting it, and for the millionth time they felt how lucky they were to have such a fairy queen."

VOTES FOR WOMEN

Conducted by the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

Various Opinions Past and Present Relating to Women and War.

The war rumors of today make us regard with special interest woman's point of view with reference to war and her status as a citizen when it comes to fighting.

Looking over an old number of a popular household monthly I came across the following paragraph:

"Women may say what they please but the whole present state of the civilized world shows that force, physical force, armed with the most deadly inventions known to the brain of man, is what each modern State in the long run and in the last resort depends on for its national existence. We may lament that it is so; we may look forward to a time when the world will be really ruled by arbitration; but that day is a long way off. And meanwhile women have no right to claim full political power in a State where they can never themselves take the full responsibility of their actions, because they can never be called upon finally to enforce them."

This is simply putting into words the time old confusion of mind concerning bullets and ballots. But it seems strikingly incongruous that Mrs. Humphrey Ward, a fellow-countrywoman of Florence Nightingale, could hold and frame such a statement regarding woman's status as a citizen and the dependence of that status upon her ability to bear arms.

When Florence Nightingale reached Scutari she found the hospital death rate 42 per cent.; she reduced it to 2 per cent. And yet Mrs. Ward would have us believe that the right to full citizenship rests upon the ability to bring death and disease to the 42 per cent. and should be denied to the woman who could save the 40 per cent. A more unreasoning, inhuman and senseless basis for the bestowal of the rights of government it is impossible to imagine.

The anti at a meeting of their New York State Association unanimously agreed that when it came to a decision as to peace or war they—in the popular phrase—would "let George do it," their reason being that "when it comes to a decision of war, women would be apt to be too much influenced by their emotions to have clear judgment as to national policy." Some of us who "remember the Maine" and the jingoism that was rampant at the outbreak of the Spanish war have a notion that the judgment of even the men of our nation may be over influenced by their emotions.

But one of the good results of all this war talk pro and con is that for the time being at least it has made us forget our animosities as Suffragists and antis. It has disclosed a real bond; we are all peace women, and we send in protests from both sides against war; moreover, at heart we are all loyal, and ready to help in any capacity in which the government sees fit to use us. Ida Tarbell and Charlotte Perkins Gilman worked together to get up the big protest meeting in New York on April 24. Mrs. Henry Villard presided, and among the speakers were Mrs. Gilman, Mary Shaw, Harriet Stanton Blatch, Florence Kelley and Miss Helen Todd.

Years ago Lucy Stone said: "Some woman risks her life for her country every time that a soldier is born into the world. For years she does picket duty by his cradle, and later she is his quartermaster and gathers his rations. And when that boy grows to a man, shall he say to his mother, 'If you want to vote you must first go and kill somebody'?" It is a coward's argument!

Oliver Schreiner's inspired words are especially fitted at this time: "Women of every generation have faced suffering and death with an equanimity that no soldier on a battlefield has ever surpassed and few have equalled; and where war has been to preserve life, or land, or freedom, rather than for aggrandizement and power, unparitised and laboring women have in all ages known how to bear an active part, and die."

"It is not because of woman's cowardice, incapacity, nor, above all, because of her general superior virtue, that she will end war when her voice is fully and clearly heard in the governance of States—it is because, on this point, and on this point alone, the knowledge of woman, simply as woman, is superior to that of man; she knows the history of human flesh; she knows its cost; she does not."

"It is especially in the domain of war that we, the bearers of men's bodies, who supply its most valuable munition, who, not amid the clamor and ardor of battle, but singly, and alone, with a three-in-the-morning courage, shed our blood and face death that the battlefield might have its food, a food more precious to us than our heart's blood; it is we especially who, in the domain of war, have our word to say, a word no man can say for us. It is our intention to enter into the domain of war and to labor there till in the course of generations we have extinguished it."

Appropos of this matter of women and war here is a little object lesson on the side:

"More than 300,000 babies die in the United States every year from preventable causes. The Federal Children's Bureau, under Miss Julia C. Lathrop, was established to promote child welfare, and to save these babies if possible. It began its work on August 23, 1912, with an appropriation of only $25,640. Its first annual report, which covers the period down to June 30, 1913, shows a remarkable amount of good work done on wonderfully little money. Four bulletins have been issued, (1) on the need of birth registration, (2) on the baby-saving campaigns in some of our cities, (3) on prenatal care, and (4) a child census. Others are ready, one of particular value on infant mortality; another, a summary of American child labor laws. Miss Lathrop has asked of Congress, under the direction of the Secretary of Labor, an additional appropriation of $139,000—and has been refused."

It is estimated that a war with Mexico would cost a million a day.

Practical Fashion Hints

An excellent model for dark blue serge, linen or one of the new heavy cottons is shown in No. 7652. It is a peasant dress, clinging at the waist with a gathered bust, an elbow-length sleeve and a four-cornered, slightly draped skirt. Silk poplin is another suggestion for a dress of this description. If it were used with this fabric in one of the darker tones, the vest would be effective fashioned of a figured silk, bringing out some of the new bright colors which are being used so much for trimming purposes just now. The collar is a simple sailor effect and the opening at the throat may be V-shaped or round, as preferred. Novelty buttons are another effective trimming for dark materials. In this instance, they could be used to hold down the tabs on skirt and bodice. This dress may be made in serge, with 1 1/2 yards of 36-inch material. The pattern is cut in five sizes, 24 to 42.

This is a Perfect Pattern.

Be sure to give right size, measuring over the fullest part of the bust for dimensions. It may be obtained by filling out the coupon and enclosing 15 cents in stamps or coin to the Pattern Department of this paper.

The Story of Waitstill Baxter

By KATE DOUGLAS WIGGIN

Copyright, 1913, by Kate Douglas Wiggin

CHAPTER XXIV.

Patty is Shown the Door.

DEACON BAXTER drove into the barn and, flinging a blanket over the wheezing horse, closed the door behind him, and hurried into the house without even thinking to lay down his whip.

Opening the kitchen door and stopping outside long enough to kick the snow from his heavy boots, he strode into the kitchen and confronted the two girls. He looked at them sharply before he spoke, scanning their flushed faces and tear stained eyes; then he broke out savagely:

"Oh, you're both here; that's lucky. Now stand up and answer to me. What's this I hear at the Mills about Patience—common talk outside the store?"

The time had come, then, and by some strange fatality when Mark was too far away to be of service.

"Tell me what you heard, father, and I can give you a better answer," Patty replied, holding to gain time and shaking inwardly.

"Bill Morrill says his brother that works in New Hampshire reports you as ridin' through the streets of Allentown last Monday with a young man."

There seemed but one reply to this, so Patty answered tremblingly: "He says what's true. I was there."

"What?" And it was plain from the deacon's voice that he had really disbelieved the rumor. A whirlwind of rage swept through him and shook him from head to foot.

"Do you mean to stan' there an' own up to me that you was thirty miles away from home with a young man?" he shouted.

"If you ask me a plain question I've got to tell you the truth, father. I was."

"How dare you carry on like that and drag my name into scandal, you worthless trollop, you? Who went along with you? I'll skin the hide off him, whoever he was!"

Patty remained mute at this threat, but Waitstill caught her hand and whispered: "Tell him all, dear. It's got to come out. Be brave, and I'll stand by you."

"Why are you interferin' and puttin' in your meddling nose?" the deacon said, turning to Waitstill. "The girl would never 'a' been there if you'd attended to your business. She's nothin' but a fool of a young dilly, an' you're an old cart horse. It was your job to look out for her, as your mother told you. Anybody might 'a' guessed she needed watchin'!"

"You shall not call my sister an old cart horse! I'll not permit it!" cried Patty, plucking up courage in her sister's defense and, as usual, comporting herself a trifle more like a spitfire than a true heroine of tragedy.

"Hush, Patty! Let him call me anything that he likes. It makes no difference at such a time."

"Waitstill knew nothing of my going away till this afternoon," continued Patty. "I kept it secret from her on purpose, because I was afraid she would not approve. I went with Mark Wilson, and—and I married him in New Hampshire because we couldn't to it at home without everybody's knowledge. Now you know all!"

"Do you mean to tell me you've gone an' married that reckless, worthless, horse trottin', card playin' sneak of a Wilson boy, that's courted every girl in town? Married the son of a man that has quarreled with me and insulted me in public? By the Lord Harry, I'll crack this whip over your shoulders once before I'm done with you! If I'd used it years ago you might have been an honest woman today instead of a—"

Foxwell Baxter had wholly lost control of himself, and the temper, that had never been governed or held in check, lashed itself into a fury that made him for the moment unaccountable for his words or actions.

"Put down that whip, father, or I'll take it from you."

Waitstill took a step forward in front of Patty. "Put down that whip, father, or I'll take it from you and break it across my knee!" Her eyes blazed and she held her head high. "You've made me do the work of a man, and, thank God, I've got the muscle of one. Don't lift a finger to Patty, or I'll defend her, I promise you! The dinner horn is in the side entry and two blasts will bring Uncle Bart up the hill, but I'd rather not call him unless you force me to."

The deacon's grasp on the whip relaxed, and he fell back a little, a sheer astonishment at the bravado of the girl, ordinarily so quiet and self-contained. He was speechless for a second and then recovered breath enough to shout to the terrified Patty: "I won't use the whip till I hear whether you've got any excuse for your scandalous behavior. Hear me tell you one thing. This little pleasure trip of yours won't do you no good, for I'll break the marriage! I won't have a Wilson in my family if I have to empty a shotgun into him, but your lies and your low conduct are so beyond reason I can't believe my ears. What's your excuse, I say?"

"Stop a minute, Patty, before you answer, and let me say a few things that ought to have been said before now," interposed Waitstill. "If Patty has done wrong, father, you've no one but yourself to thank for it, and it's only by God's grace that nothing worse has happened to her. What could you expect from a young thing like that, with her merry heart turned into a lump in her breast every day by your cruelty? Did she deceive you? Well, you've made her afraid of you ever since she was a baby in the cradle, drawing the covers over her little head when she heard your step. What- ever crop you sow is bound to come up, father; that's nature's law and God's as well."

"You hold your tongue, you readin' the law to your elders an' betters," said the old man, choking with wrath. "My business is with this worthless sister of yours, not with you! You've got your coat and hood on, an' so you jest clear out o' the house, an' if you're too slow about it I'll help you along. I've no kind of an idea you're rightly married, for that young Wilson sneak wouldn't pay so high for you as all that. But if it amuses you to call him your husband go an' find him an' stay with him. This is an honest house an' no place for such as you!"

Patty had a good share of the Baxter temper, not under such control as Waitstill's, and the blood mounted into her face.

"You shall not speak to me so," she said intrepidly, while keeping a discreet eye on the whip. "I'm not a— a caterpillar to be stepped on. I'm a married woman, as right as a New Hampshire justice can make me, with a wedding ring and a certificate to show if need be. And you shall not call my husband names. Time will tell what he is going to be, and that's a son-in-law any true father would be proud to own."

"Why are you set against this match, father?" argued Waitstill, striving to make him hear reason. "Patty has married into one of the best families in the village. Mark is gay and thoughtless, but never has been seen the worse for liquor, and never has he done a thing for which a wife need hang her head. It is something for a young fellow of four and twenty to be able to provide for a wife and keep her in comfort, and when all is said and done it is a true love match."

Patty seized this inopportune moment to forget her father's presence and the tragic nature of the occasion and, in her usual impetuous fashion, flung her arms around Waitstill's neck and gave her the hug of a young bear.

"My own dear sister," she said, "I don't mind anything so long as you stand up for us."

"Don't make her go tonight, father," pleaded Waitstill. "Don't send your own child out into the cold. Remember her husband is away from home."

"She can find another up at the Mills as good as he is or better. Off with you, I say, you trumpery little baggage, you!"

"Go, then, dear, it is better so. Uncle Bart will keep you overnight. Run up and get your things," and Waitstill sank into a chair, realizing the hopelessness of the situation.

"She'll not take anything from my house. It's her husband's business to find her in clothes."

"They'll be better ones than ever you found her in," was Patty's response.

No heroes for her; no falchings fits at being disowned; no hysterics at being turned out of house and home; no prayers for mercy, but a quick retort for every gibe from her father, and her defiant attitude enraged the deacon the more.

"I won't speak again," he said, in a tone that could not be mistaken. "Into the street you go with the clothes you stand up in or I'll do what I said I'd do."

"Go, Patty! It's the only thing to be done. Don't tremble, for nobody shall touch a hair of your head. I am trust you to find shelter tonight, and Mark will take care of you tomorrow."

Patty buttoned her shabby coat and tied on her hood as she was driven from the kitchen through the side room toward the side door, her heart heaving with shame and anger, and above all, with a child's sense of helplessness at being parted from her sister.

"Don't tell the neighbors any more lies than you can help," called her father after her retreating form, "an' if any of 'em dare to come up here an' give me any of their impudence they'll be treated same as you. Come back here, Waitstill, and don't go to slobberin' any goodbys over her. She ain't likely to get out o' the village for some time if she's expectin' Mark Wilson to take her away."

"I shall certainly go to the door with my sister," said Waitstill coolly, suiting the action to the word, and following Patty out on the steps. "Shall you tell Uncle Bart everything, dear, and ask him to let you sleep at his house?"

Both girls were trembling with excitement. Waitstill, pale as a ghost, Patty flushed and tearful, with defiant eyes and lips that quivered rebelliously.

"I suppose so," she answered dolefully. "Though Aunt Abby hates me, on account of Cephas. I'd rather go to Dr. Perry's, but I don't like to meet Phil. There doesn't seem to be any good place for me, but it's only for a night. And you'll not let father prevent your seeing Mark and me tomorrow, will you? Are you afraid to stay alone? I'll sit on the steps all night if you say the word."

"No, no, run along. Father has vented his rage upon you, and I shall not have any more trouble. God bless and keep you, darling! Run along!"

"And you're not angry with me now, Wait? You still love me? And you'll forgive Mark and come to stay with us soon, soon, soon?"

"Well see, dear, when all this unhappy business is settled, and you are safe and happy in your own home. I shall have much to tell you when we meet tomorrow."

Patty had the most ardent love for her elder sister, and something that resembled reverence for her unselfishness, her loyalty and her strength of character, but if the truth were told, she had no great opinion of Waitstill's ability to feel righteous wrath, nor of her power to avenge herself in the face of rank injustice. It was the conviction of her own superior fineness and audacity that had sustained Patty all through her late escapade. She felt herself a lucky girl, indeed, to achieve liberty and happiness for herself, but doubly lucky if she had chanced to open a way of escape for her more docile and dutiful sister.

She would have been a trifle astonished had she surmised the existence of certain mysterious waves that had been sweeping along the coasts of Waitstill's mind that afternoon, breaking down all sorts of defenses and carrying her will along with them by sheer force, but it is a truism that two human beings can live beside each other for half a century and yet continue strangers.

Patty's elopement with the youth of her choice, taking into account all its attendant risks, was indeed an exhibition of courage and initiative not common to girls of seventeen. But Waitstill was meditating a mutiny more daring yet—a mutiny, too, involving a course of conduct most unusual in maidens of Puritan descent.

She walked back into the kitchen to find her father sitting placidly in the rocking chair by the window. He had lighted his cornucopia pipe, in which he always smoked a mixture of dried sweet fern as being cheaper than tobacco, and his face wore something resembling a smile—a foxy smile—as he watched his youngest born plowing down the hill through the deep snow, while the more obedient Waitstill moved about the room setting supper on the table.

Conversation was not the deacon's forte, but it seemed proper for some one to break the ice that seemed suddenly to be very thick in the immediate vicinity.

"That little Jill-go-over-the-ground will give the neighbors a pleasant evening's talk," he remarked. "I'll be sure to tell 'em 'bout me," he chuckled. "Aunt Abby Cole will run the streets of the three villages by sunup tomorrow. But nobody pays any 'tention to a woman whose tongue is hung in the middle and wags at both ends. I won't intend to use the whip on your sister, Waitstill," continued the deacon, with a crafty look at his silent daughter, "though a trouncer would 'a' done her a sight o' good. But I was only tryin' to frighten her a little mite an' pay her up for bringin' disgrace on us the way she's done, makin' us the talk o' the town. Well, she's gone, an' good riddance to bad rubbish say! One less mouth to feed an' one less body to clothe. You'll miss her jest at first on account o' there bein' no other women folks on the hill, but 'twon't last long. I'll have Bill Morrill do some o' your outside chores so 't you can take on your sister's work, if she ever does any."

This was a most astonishingly generous proposition on the deacon's part, and, to tell the truth, he did not himself fully understand his mental processes when he made it, but it seemed to be drawn from him by a kind of instinct that he was not standing well in his elder daughter's books.

COLONIAL pumps in black, and combinations of two kinds of leather are the latest style in spring footwear. A small tongue stands up in the front of one model which has a rounded strap and a steel clasp, separating the patent leather forepart from the other of gray pose, white calf or buff cloth.

Odd shape black silk, moire and suede bags; and many styles in navy, and brown shades are daintier than ever with fittings, and delicate linings. These accessories are quite small, and are not at all on the order of shopping handbags.

A German novelty on sale in most large department stores is a papier-mâché ring to hold candles at the base of a birthday cake. They come in three sizes, the largest holding three candles. If one wants to put candles on the cake, there are small rose holders with stiff pins to stick into the icing. These may be had in white and several colors. In place of the holders, a hot hatpin or knitting needle can be stuck into the end of each candle, and before the wax hardens, take out the pin and insert a toothpick.

Black ribbon which looks like oilcloth; and another kind having a dull surface, known as "stove polish" are the latest millinery trimmings among ribbons. Ostrich tips and airettes, which have had the down taken off the flues with acid, are described as "burnt ostrich," and are very pretty with masses of filmy tulle on dressy hats. Hats of fine Milan with a lacquered finish are known as "liscro" braids.

Ribbon and velvet girdles with embroidered or beaded designs on round or pointed ends are offered among novel accessories for silk and wash dresses. Flowers or conventional figures are often worked in the simple damask stitch. Novelty brocaded ribbons showing tinsel threads are used for the modish Japanese collars. Attachable girdles with ruffled and plaited tunics of satin and moire ribbon are also a new offering in the ribbon departments.

Useful Hints for House and Larder

MOST housewives find it frequently necessary to remove stains from table linen. For this purpose it is wise to keep javelle water on hand. The linen should first be wet with water, then the spot should be immersed in a small quantity of the liquid, and as soon as the spot disappears, (it should be almost instantly) plunge the article into cold water, and repeat until every trace of the strong alkali shall have been rinsed out.

Javelle Water for Spots

To make javelle water, dissolve one-half pound of washing soda in one pint of boiling water, and add to it one-quarter of a pound of chloride of lime dissolved in a quart of boiling water. Stir well, and when the mixture is cool, pour of the clear liquid, bottle and cork tightly. Put it into a dark glass bottle or keep it in the dark place. Be sure to label.

To Clean Jet Trimming

Now that jet has become so fashionable, many persons may have some of earlier years which could be used if it did not look rusty. To brighten it, clean with alcohol, which may be slightly diluted with water. Apply with a soft cloth or a small stiff brush, like a tooth brush. The latter will also freshen black net on which some passementerie is made.

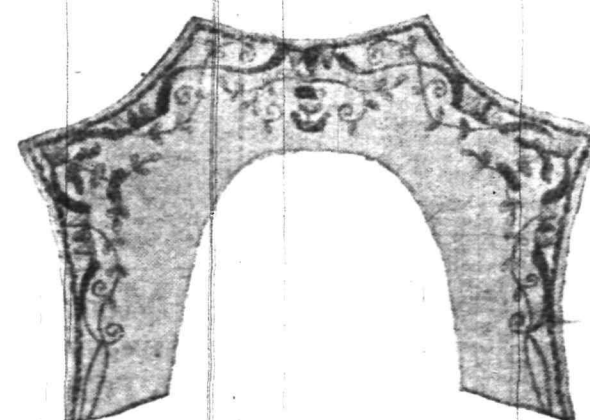

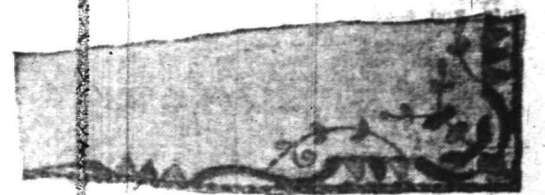

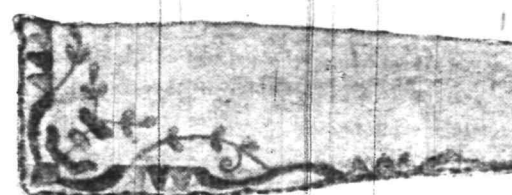

COLD chicken or veal, or both together may be made into a delicious mock terrapin, suitable for a luncheon dish, or for supper. Make a white sauce of one tablespoonful of butter, two tablespoonfuls of flour, and one cup of milk. Add two well beaten eggs to the hot sauce, and about two cupfuls of the chicken and veal, cut into dice. As soon as thoroughly hot, add a wineglassful of sherry and a dash of Cayenne pepper.

A lily salad will make an attractive dish for an Easter luncheon or dinner. Cut one hard boiled egg into slices, remove the yolk, season it with salt and pepper and chop it fine. Put three or four lettuce leaves together with a hollow centre, and slip a ring of the white of egg over the bottom. Into the hollow put chopped beets and the yolk, and serve with French dressing. Canned beets will have to be used at this season.

Small tups made of boiled carrots, cut off at the end, so that each portion will stand upright on a plate, are scooped out and filled with French peas when one wants to serve a particularly attractive vegetable course. It also adds a distinctive color note to the table.

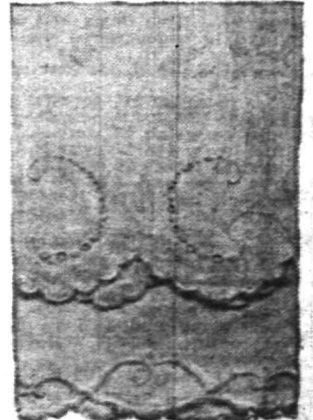

Carrot balls may be made from four or five large carrots put through a ricer, mixed with white sauce, and seasoned; and then molded into a dozen small balls. Cook in deep fat, like croquettes.

MODISH HAND-MADE ACCESSORIES OF LINEN

Ratine Collar and Cuffs Embroidered in Colors

Patterns for designs shown on this page can be obtained from any agency selling LADIES' HOME JOURNAL PATTERNS

FROM the simplest morning frock to the elaborate afternoon dress and summer evening gown, some sort of cotton material is the chosen fabric. Fashion has cleverly adopted exquisite loom fabrics of this kind for costume purposes which formerly only silken products served. Models sent from Paris, and those designed here mingle two or more kinds of goods in fascinating effects such as appear on this page. Voiles, plain, embroidered, striped, checked and flecked with heavier threads, spoken of "rice flakes"; also cotton crepes with the same distinguishing variations vie with one another in extremely plain frocks and those befrilled and befrilled. Of the newer goods having enough body to hang well without linings are ratines in one color, or in combinations; and a chiffon raffine showing a soft velvet rib as beautiful as chiffon velvet or plush.

The colors, which enter so largely into the unusual attractiveness of this season's clothing are a story in themselves, for Paris designers have taken still greater liberties with the combinations of colors and tints started with the introduction of Eastern and Oriental effects in French and American dress.

Rose colored cotton voile with small figures embroidered in silk of the same shade is the material of the model shown on the left of this page (8104). It is made with three slightly circular bands bound with taffeta of the same shade, which makes the bands ripple gracefully on the foundation skirt of two pieces only, and slightly gathered in at the waist. The kimono overblouse shows the new Japanese collar folded a little in the back, and a surprise front of embroidered batiste in ecru color. There is a shaped girle rounded up in the front with a pleasing and becoming effect. This is one type of summer dress which everyone will not only admire, but want in one material or another. It is adaptable for gingham, ratine, duck, plique, or silk; and is not too fussy to be laundered easily.

Prices of New Fabrics

Material such as that used in the original dress ranges from $1.25 to $2.50 per yard, forty-two inches wide. Cotton crepe comes in widths varying from twenty-seven to forty-two inches, and ranges from twenty-five cents to two dollars or over. An excellent weaving piece in white or colors may be had for fifty cents. Such a piece in pink and white check made the dainty model having the appearance of a three-tier skirt, and rounded blouse showing a separate lace guimpe (7997). A change of frills and one or more crush girdles may be used to vary this little dress for many occasions. Old blue, also known as Labrador and Delft, is a favorite color for this season's wash frocks, and particularly good in striped cotton crepes. The afternoon dress in the upper right corner (blouse 8129, skirt 8177) is made of this, with a crush girle and embroidered revers of plain blue silk. The blouse has raglan sleeves, and another version of the Japanese collar; also long sleeves which will be practical for some dresses in this summer's wardrobe. The two-piece skirt with its pointed tunic may be reproduced from pattern No. 8177, which has also a double tunic.

Of the many flimsy frocks designed for summer dances, and evenings, the one illustrated (8056) has been selected both for its beauty and its comparatively little cost. Silk or cotton net, which comes in double widths, is made in frills, heart-shaped on the edge and plaited by machine. At the head of the foot frill holding in the fullness of the skirt, is a band of lace insertion. Another heads the top frill of the three; and finishes the neck. A simple old blue crush velvet girle is the contrasting color with this girlish frock of cream net and lace. Ready-made frills in black or white may be used, thus simplifying the work on such dresses for the girl who wants to make many.

To make one's own frills, allowance of ten cents per yard for hemstitching; and of three for plaiting must be made. Hemstitching ready-made may be had from twenty-five cents up, according to quality and width. Gowns like these are attracting attention in city shops; but they are obviously so simple to make, that many will undertake the task for the sake of saving money for others. Each pattern is 15 cents.

THE color craze started by the Balkan and Bulgarian designs, then followed by the Futurist and Cubist art fads has taken on more beautiful expressions this season in dress materials, ribbons, millinery and all sorts of accessories. Embroidered batiste, delicate net ruffles, and chiffon banding, to be plaited or gathered, have colored embroidered edges and small designs in flowers or conventions.

Hand embroidered stitches in simple but effective borders are also noticed as the individual touch on blouses of silk or wash materials.

Here is shown a collar and cuff set designed for either a dress or a coat. It is made of white canvas, or ratine, with the design worked out in two shades of blue, brown, or with yellow for the third color, sparingly used. The design, with which this set can be reproduced, is No. 14643. The pattern ready to stamp is 15 cents. Whether one is planning summer fancy work to take away to some resort, or for the spare minutes at home; or yet, some inexpensive gift that will be appreciated by a June bride, the hand embroidered towels loom up as one of the most satisfactory things to do, for there never can be too many of them on hand. Two especially effective borders with scallops are shown on this page (14634). Both designs may be had together for 15 cents.

PUBLIC NOTICE!

Public notice is hereby given that the following ordinance of the Board of Health of the City of Plainfield, on this 5th day of May, 1914, passed its third reading and was finally adopted:

AN ORDINANCE

To Amend an Ordinance Entitled "An Ordinance Establishing a Sanitary Code for the City of Plainfield," Adopted December 18, 1902.

The Board of Health of the City of Plainfield by virtue of the provisions of the act of the Legislature of the State of New Jersey entitled "An Act to Establish in this State Boards of Health and a Bureau of Vital Statistics and to define their respective powers and duties," approved March 31, 1887, the several supplements and amendments thereto, and of other acts, do hereby ordain as follows:

GOVERNING ARTICLE PLUMBING, DRAINAGE, AND VENTILATION.

Section No. 1. The Board of Health shall appoint at the first meeting in February of each year or as soon thereafter as a Plumber's Examining Board, which shall consist of a Plumber, Inspector employed by the Board of Health, Master Plumber, and a Journeyman Plumber, whose duty it shall be to examine all applicants as to their qualifications to become Master Plumbers, and report results to the Board of Health.

Sec. No. 2. This Board may, by resolution, grant licenses as Master Plumber, to such persons as it may deem qualified, which licenses shall be written or partly printed and partly written, bearing the date on which the same is issued and shall be under the seal of this Board and signed by its President and by its Secretary. No license shall be granted by this Board until after the applicant therefor shall have offered himself for examination to his qualifications by the examining board above provided for.

Sec. No. 3. No person shall engage in the business of Master Plumber in the City of Plainfield or do or undertake any work as such in said City, without having such license as aforesaid as Master Plumber from the Board of Health of the City of Plainfield.

Sec. No. 4. Every Master Plumber shall, when requested by any member of the Board of Health, or by the Inspector of Plumbing, exhibit his said license, and upon his failure so to do shall be deemed an unlicensed Master Plumber.

Sec. No. 5. The Board of Health shall have power to revoke any license issued to any Master Plumber as aforesaid for violation any provisions of this act.

Sec. No. 6. Before any portion of the Plumbing and Drainage System of any building shall be constructed or reconstructed, there shall be a plan filed at the office of the Board of Health and approved by the Plumbing Inspector and signed by the Plumber, showing the said Plumbing and Drainage System, and the location of all fixtures, traps and ventilating pipes. No portion of the work shall be executed until the plans have been approved by the Plumbing Inspector of the Board of Health and the name of the Plumber, who is to do the work, has been affixed to the said plans. Before any existing system is altered or added to, or new system is put in, a permit must first be obtained, and in such case an inspection will be required.

Sec. No. 7. With every plan for a new plumbing system to be installed in the City of Plainfield, the fee of Two Dollars ($2) shall be paid to the Board of Health.

Sec. No. 8. The Board of Health shall be notified by the Plumber, before any test and the smoke test before any final certificate can be granted. All defects disclosed must be removed before the granting of such a certificate.

All inspections and tests shall be made during business hours as soon as possible after such notification has been received.

Any such system put in and covered before inspection by the Plumbing Inspector of the Board of Health must be uncovered for inspection.

Sec. No. 9. Except where the Board of Health expressly prescribes otherwise, the following provisions must be observed and any violation or departure therefrom shall be punishable as a breach of this ordinance:

(a) Before laying the drain from the building to the street, the trench must be graded, the bottom of the trench must be carefully rammed to avoid settling. Provision shall be made for a vent pipe, which shall be placed in the trench, and the trench is filled, the earth must be tightly rammed as near as possible to the trench, and the trench must be covered with a heavy cast iron pipe, which shall be extra heavy cast iron pipe, not less than four inches in diameter, having a fall of not less than one inch in every ten feet, and the joints properly caulked with lead.

(b) Where a building is to be connected to a sewer, the connection must be made by a drain of not less than four inches in diameter of extra heavy cast iron pipe, having a fall of not less than one inch in every ten feet.

(c) Where there is no sewer in the street in which the building faces, and it is necessary to construct a private sewer to connect with a sewer on an adjacent street, the sewer shall be laid outside the curb under the roadway of the street and not through a yard or under houses.

(d) All horizontal sewer drains extending from any building to a point beyond the City limits shall be made of extra heavy cast iron pipe, not less than four inches in diameter, with caulked joints, and shall be properly supported, and shall be accessible for inspection with cleanouts located every fifty feet. The house drains within buildings shall be either cast iron or galvanized wrought iron and shall be securely fastened to the cellar wall properly suspended from the cellar ceiling unless this is impracticable, in which case they shall be laid on a grade upon a bottom of hydraulic concrete. The house drain shall have a fall of at least one-quarter inch to the foot, and more if possible. Said drains shall be provided with openings for cleaning and the same to be closed by a tight brass cleanouts placed just inside the foundation wall.

(e) All cast iron pipes and fittings must be sound, free from flaws and sand holes and when laid underground shall be as graded as possible. The weight of such pipe per lineal foot must be as follows:

2 inch pipe to weigh 8 1/2 pounds.

STRONG EVIDENCE AGAINST BECKERJack Rose and Shapiro Tell
of Murder.

TESTIMONY IS UNSHAKEN

Chauffeur Who Drove the Car Delivers Smashing Blow at Defense—Name
of Former Police Lieutenant Linked With the Crime Throughout.

New York, May 13.—The most decisive period in the Becker trial has been reached—that is, as far as the state's case is concerned—and the evidence produced by District Attorney Whitman was very strong against the former police lieutenant.

The jury heard from the man who drove the gunmen to the murder of Rosenthal and sped them from it what was deemed the jury in the first trial—the point blank testimony that the gunmen were shooting to the night that Becker had the police fixed and that everything was all right.

It was Shapiro, driver of the gray car, a witness unswerving from complicity in conspiracy or assassination, who delivered this smashing blow at the defense and who furnished the first untainted corroboration so urgently demanded by the court of appeals of Rose's story linking Becker with the killers.

Not even the reappearance of Rose himself, that singular being who might have been imagined by H. G. Wells say, as a chance visitor from a planet whose inhabitants went hairless and dispensed with nerves and his unfaltering repetition of why Becker wanted Rosenthal, "that dog," killed and how Becker arranged for the killing could minimize the importance of Shapiro's unshattered testimony, for Becker's lawyer couldn't shatter it. The jurors bent forward and cupped their ears as Shapiro plodded on stubbornly.

Rose Undisturbed.

That, with Rose's fidelity to the damaging points of his former story, and the impression that Rose was testifying not from a close study of his own previous testimony, but from the memory of real happenings, were the features of the case that compelled attention and that remained in the mind after the multitude of details, the color and the minor dramatics had faded. It is true that this mild mannered family man, who knew where man killers were to be had for pay or fear or favor, amplified his former testimony here and condensed it there, that he left out some things he had said before and that he added quite new incidents and conversations, but there were even striking points of difference, but in no high essential was there a contradiction or a variance. He did not repeat verbatim the verbiage of the story he told the first jury, but he repeated the big points from the time that Becker told him there were people down at headquarters who would pin a medal on the man that put Rosenthal off the earth until the time after the murder that he saw Becker, pale as a ghost, in headquarters, Becker's eyes burning into him, as he Jack Rose sat with Commissioner Dougherty.

One of the most interesting parts of Rose's fresh testimony, a part utterly new to the court, was that the bitter new between Becker and Rosenthal and the resultant tragedy was very largely the outcome of Rosenthal's mistaken notion that Becker was to blame for all of the misfortunes that fell to the Forty-fifth street gambling house Rosenthal, no-headed, suspicious of everybody, loving the sound of his own voice, worked himself into a passion over the closing of the house at 204 West Forty-fifth street and the posting of uniformed men there and laid it all to Becker, although the lieutenant wasn't to blame. Headquarters—Commissioner Waldo—had decided to squelch Rosenthal for good and all. But Rosenthal flew to Whitman with tales against Becker—tales of graft and oppression, of partnership in gambling or unbelievable duplicity, and Becker, seeing ruin ahead, came into the open arrogantly and contemptuously and ordered the sear of the squalor.

QUIET NOW IN COLORADO.

Peace Reigns in All Mining Districts

Where Federal Troops Are.

Washington, May 13.—Quiet was reported in all the Colorado mining districts where federal cavalry have been sent to prevent outbreaks between the striking operators and the mine guards. In the district near Louisville, Erie, Lafayette and Frederick seven rifles, seven shotguns and seven revolvers have been surrendered to the troops without trouble in addition to those already taken from them.

Major Symmonds, commanding the troops in the northern part of the state, reported that as soon as additional troops arrive the collection of arms would be greatly hastened.

Now in Town

A big Delegation of Goodyear Tires, hailing from Akron, Ohio, arrived in this city yesterday. All are in the best of health. They are making their headquarters with us. They want to meet every motorist in this locality to discuss "How to Get Extra Tire Mileage." They will explain: (1) How Rim-Cutting is Ended. (2) How to Eliminate Tube Pinching. (3) How to Minimize Blowouts. (4) How to Escape Dangerous Skidding. (5) How to Lessen Tread Separation. Come in and be introduced. Meet Mr. Goodyear No-Rim-Cut, Mr. Goodyear "All-Weather" tread and other Tire Celebrities. You'll not only enjoy the meeting, but you'll profit by it immensely the next time you buy tires. Man can't know too much about tires when he's using them every day.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS
Says Backache is Sign You Have Been Eating Too Much Meat.
When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells, your stomach grows, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.
Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts: take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.
Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.

To Provide for the Construction of a Further Addition to the System of Sewerage Already Constructed in the City of Plainfield.
WHEREAS, There has been constructed in said city a system of sewerage and such action in relation thereto has from time to time been taken as is set forth in the preamble to the ordinance of said city, entitled "An ordinance to provide for the construction of an addition to the system of sewerage already constructed in the city of Plainfield," approved November 6, 1927, to which preamble reference is hereby made for greater certainty of reference;
AND WHEREAS, In the opinion of the Common Council the public good requires that a further addition, as herein described, to the system of sewerage already constructed, should be now constructed in and for said city under the provisions of the Act in said ordinance referred to, and the Common Council has so determined and does hereby so determine; therefore, The inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:
Section 1. That the Common Council doth hereby direct and order that a further addition to the system of sewerage already constructed and set out and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental hereto, be constructed in and for said city under the provisions of the Act of the Legislature above referred to, with all the appendages necessary to complete the same, and of such dimensions and material and according to such plans as the said Common Council may hereafter direct, in and through the following described streets, avenues, property, lands and rights of way described, mentioned and referred to in this ordinance to wit:
West Third Street, from Grant Avenue to Clinton Avenue;
Clinton Avenue, from West Third Street to Myrtle Avenue;
Myrtle Avenue, from Clinton Avenue to the property of the inhabitants of the City of Plainfield and through said property to the sewerage disposal works.
Sec. 2. That house connections shall be constructed from the above named sewers to the curb lines.
Adopted by the Common Council May 4, 1934. Approved by the Mayor May 4, 1934.
PERCY H. STEWART, Mayor.
J. T. MacMURRAY, City Clerk.
