$30,000 FOR NEW BOROUGH SCHOOL

Structure to Be Erected on Harrison Avenue Prior to Opening of Next Term.

BUDGET IS ADOPTED

Voters Will Ballot on School Question June 23—New York Firm Awarded Contract for Soft Coal and Local Dealer for Soft Coal.

Meeting in special session last night, the North Plainfield Board of Education voted an appropriation of $30,000 for the erection of a new graded school on the Harrison avenue site, the appropriation to be passed upon by the voters of the borough at a school election called for Tuesday, June 23. The board has had several favorable views in view for the past month but upon investigation decided that the one on Harrison avenue was best adapted to the needs at the present time.

Pinto and Company, of New York city, were awarded the contract for furnishing a supply of soft coal to the borough schools, the fuel to come direct from the mines; and the Consumers' Coal Company, of Madison avenue, will supply the hard coal to be used next winter. The fuel is purchased at this period of the year in order that the borough may reap the benefits of the reduction given by coal dealers.

The board brought up for discussion at last night's meeting and passed upon by the board. This year the board will request an additional appropriation of $20,000 besides the sum needed for the current expenses. The $20,000 will include $9,000 to pay off notes due on January 1, 1915 and $11,000 for making repairs to the Somerset street school. The latter structure will be remodeled to meet the requirements of the State Board of Education.

The following budget will be submitted to the taxpayers of the district for their approval.

General Fund—Teachers' salaries, $33,000; repairs, $1,500; text books, $1,250; supplies, $1,600; fuel, $800; physician $200; district clerk, $360; supply clerk, $100; janitors, $2,300; insurance, $150; sundries and incidentals, $1,000; athletic hall, $500; commencement, $150; water, light and gas, $1,400; custodian, G. F. Brown, $100; total, $42,610.

Manual Training—Teachers, $1,800; janitors, $360; supplies, $600; repairs to equipment, $100; fuel, $200; water, light and power, $80; insurance and interest, $30; new equipment, $100; total, $3,370.

Receipts—From State, $20,000; Manual Training, $1,685; tuition, $1,400—$23,085. Amount to be raised by taxes, $23,895; total, $46,980.

ASTOR THEATRE WILL BE RE-OPENED IN SEPTEMBER

It became known today that Apfelbaum & Apfelbaum, of Newark, have secured an option on the Astor Theatre, the front street moving picture house and for a lease covering a number of years from Harry Dreier and Morris Adams, the owners of the building. The new lessees will take possession sometime during September.

Mr. Dreier, in speaking with a representative of the Daily Press, verified the rumor, although he would not make public the details of the lease on the building. He also stated that the theatre would undergo a complete renovation and be put into first-class condition before it was occupied in the fall. The interior of the building will be overhauled and re-decorated.

CHAMBER MEETING POSTPONED.
The Chamber of Commerce meeting scheduled for last evening was postponed for the period of one week owing to the lack of a quorum. The Board of Managers met, however, and elected James W. Tygard, of South avenue, to membership. The board also authorized the calling of a meeting for next Thursday evening, when changes to the constitution and other important matters will be discussed.

Through courtesy of the Dunellen Scout authorities two musicians from Plainfield were included in the number. The representation will be Lawrence Sutton, commissioner's aide; Harold Zeek and Christopher Croner, of Troop 5; James Saunders and William Jetter, of Troop 7; Monroe O'Donnell, of Troop 9; Howard Leek, Troop 10; Homer Scruton, Irving Manley and Frank Trowbridge, of Troop 11, and a musician from Troop 12 to be selected, alternate, in the event of the full Plainfield representation not being able to be present. "PALESTINE AND THE HOLY LAND" IN PICTURES

An instructive and interesting lecture was given last evening at the Temple Baptist church by Rev. P. H. Murdock, pastor of the South Orange M. E. church, "Palestine and the Holy Land," being described in a pleasing way by the speaker.

A rare collection of views was shown, and the eloquent discourse was thoroughly enjoyed by those present. The speaker referred especially to Damascus, the historic city, whose remains appear to be the center of attraction to the vast majority of tourists who visit the land where Jewish history was enacted.

The wonders of Jordan Valley was graphically described by Rev. Murdock. Jerusalem, with its abundance of historic spots and legends, together with Olivet and Calvary hills, with which the Christ was so intimately associated were visited, in a most vivid way by the lecturer, many of the traditional spots being shown in the pictures.

YOUNG WOMEN RECEIVE DIPLOMAS

Commencement Exercises Held at Hartridge School Today.

ATTRACTIVE PROGRAM

Dr. Harry A. Garfield, President of Williams College, Addresses Graduates—Prayer by Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelle.

Five young women were graduated from the Hartridge School, this morning, when in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends the commencement exercises were held at the school auditorium. The undergraduate body marched into the hall followed by the seniors, the faculty and speakers. The exercises were opened with prayer by Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelle, pastor of the Crescent avenue Presbyterian church, after which the student body sang, "Come Thou Almighty King."

The speaker was Dr. Harry A. Garfield, president of Williams College, who was introduced by Dr. Zelle, himself a graduate of Williams, who explained how the honor was the more pleasant because he introduced one with whom he had had many relations during his residence in Williamstown, Mass.

Dr. H. A. Garfield outlined the importance of education. He told the young women to think at the right time. He asked the undergraduate body why they sought education; how many of them had really inquired into the use of education, with thought and deliberation. The millions of dollars spent on education make it obvious that some think education the greatest necessity. In part, Dr. Garfield said, "Education is not merely the means of making a living. Knowledge should be looked upon as the step toward a valuable end. Most people who go to college do not know why they have gone. Some are sent, although not always against their will, but these stay but a short time. The reason why you have remained at the Hartridge school is that you may prepare to live. There is a deep contrast between learning to live and earning a living. This raises the question—'what is living?' It is not merely to keep well but to tend to lift humanity up from its mere animal existence."

"You should learn to know the good, the true and the beautiful. These are things with which we should concern ourselves when setting about to use our minds. Students should learn to appreciate these qualities and live according to the faith within them. To learn to live is not to learn to take opportunity, except that opportunity to take their share of responsibility without a selfish motive. This is the answer why you are at the Hartridge School," Dr. Garfield proved to be a very pleasing and easy talker with a convincing style.

Miss Partridge next addressed the graduates, telling them of the meaning of the world before them. In closing Miss Partridge said, "Strength comes from striving and with strength comes victory." The diplomas were presented by Miss Hartridge to the Misses Janet Lane, Pauline Sandford, Helen Terry, Claire Richards, and Margaret Stanley-Brown. The first three graduates are from this city while Miss Richards is from Orange, and Miss Stanley-Brown is from Cold Spring Harbor, Long Island.

After the singing of the hymn, "Savior, Again to Thy Dear Name we Raise," Dr. Zelle pronounced the benediction.

The stage was attractively decorated with roses and carnations. The graduates were dressed in white and each carried a large bouquet.

The commencement festivities will close this evening when a dance will be given to the seniors at the Hartridge Auditorium. This affair is an annual one arranged by Miss Hartridge and the members of the school faculty.

WEARING TONIGHT.
Peter Mueller, of Elizabethport, who arrested in the borough a few days ago on a serious charge preferred against him by a young girl through Overseer of the Poor, Fred Becker, of North Plainfield, will be heard tonight in the borough court, before Recorder Hand at 7:30. Mueller will be represented by Francis J. Blatz, while Walter Hetfield will appear for the plaintiff. Mueller is held in the borough lockup in default of a $500 bail. He only recently married a sister of the complainant.

CONFER WITH OWNERS ON STREET WIDENING

Madison Avenue Commissioners Trying to Levy Equitable Assessment.

J. Fred MacDonald, A. H. Atterbury and A. E. Smith, commissioners in the matter of the proposed widening of Madison avenue, met last night and conferred with several property owners on the avenue, between Front street and the railroad. Among those appearing before the commissioners, last night, were J. Henry Crane, representing Wadley & Goodenough, and Robert Newton Crane, who represents small property owners.

It has been the plan of the commissioners to meet the property owners or their representatives, personally, with a view to reaching an amicable agreement regarding benefits and damages. As yet the commissioners have not treated personally with the representatives of the estate of Samuel Dreier. The affected property at West Front street and Madison avenue, is perhaps, the most important to be considered, there being a wide difference of opinion heretofore as to what should be allowed as benefits to offset the damages. The commissioners will meet again on Tuesday night.

CHIEF KIELY VISITED STATE HOME FOR BOYS

Local Police Head Greatly Impressed With the Internal Workings of Institution.

Chief of Police P. S. Kiely, of the local force, attended the annual meeting of the New Jersey Police Chiefs' Association, held yesterday at the State Home for Boys in Jamesburg. Thirty-five heads of various departments in the State attended the affair and although the inclement weather greeted the gathering the day was profitably spent in conference and inspection work. In speaking of the session this morning, Chief Kiely was profound in his praise for the institution's authorities who treated the visiting chiefs in royal style during the day.

The local delegate was particularly impressed with the manner in which the "Little City of Boys" is governed at Jamesburg and with the routine of work as supervised by the inmates. Describing his trip this morning, Chief Kiely told of the various commercial enterprises that are developed on a small scale at the institution and the complicated governing machine which is operated by juvenile law-makers and business men.

The home is surrounded by 700 acres of fertile soil, a large portion of which has been turned into grazing ground for herds of cattle and other live stock. On the farm the boys raise all of their own meat and vegetables and manufacture their own dairy products. In fact, everything that is consumed by the inmates is raised or manufactured on the premises by the ultimate consumers.

This process last year saved the State of New Jersey $20,000, and 530 boys are now being taken care of by the authorities. Included in the present enrollment are two Plainfield youngsters who clung continually to Chief Kiely during his stay at the institution yesterday. He also inspected the departments in which the boys make all of their own clothing and the schools in which the inmates are taught stenography, typewriting and commercial subjects. The boys regulate their own government and a majority eagerly take advantage of the numerous opportunities accorded them. A boy may earn his parole by good behavior within one year after his commitment, but the school authorities do not lose jurisdiction over him until he has reached his majority. Special attention is given to cripples and employment of a suitable nature is taught them so that they make their own living after being paroled. Religious work is an important part of the daily routine and two chaplains are constantly in attendance. The home has its own hospital with a corps of nurses and doctors, but medical attention is seldom needed by the inmates. The boys retire each night at 7:45 and are up and ready for the morning work at 7:30. At this time the youths go to their respective employment where they remain until 11 o'clock, when the noon recreation period is held. After the noon-day meal the boys attend school until 4 o'clock and after that hour their time is their own, baseball games and other forms of amusement occupying the hours before supper.

INJUNCTION IS MADE PERMANENT

Dailey and Ivins Win Their Suit Against City of New York.

A NOTABLE VICTORY

Justice Ford's Decision Sets Aside Order Preventing Contractors From Using Scows in Removal of City Refuse.

Dailey & Ivins, of New York, of which firm DeWitt C. Ivins, of this city, is a member, won a decisive victory before Justice Ford of the Supreme Court, of New York, today, when the latter handed down a decision granting a permanent injunction against the City of New York, in favor of the concern, city contractors for the final decision of the street railway sweepings, ashes and rubbish collected in New York.

Commissioner John T. Fetherston, of the street cleaning department, issued an order in March last forbidding the use of dumping scows by the contractors in the transportation of refuse after April 1, 1914. Dailey & Ivins then instituted a suit through their counsel, Mark Ash, to restrain the commissioner from enforcing the order.

At the time the suit was started the concern obtained a preliminary injunction from Justice Davis, which acted as a stay until the case could be argued. The temporary injunction was today made permanent after a trial by Justice Ford, and is considered a big victory by the contractors.

Mr. Ivins has been engaged in the contracting business in New York for many years, the concern with which he is connected having the contract to remove the refuse from the city. This is taken in scows far out to sea where it is finally disposed of. Ever since the firm secured the contract scows have been used for this work, being the best means of carrying the refuse from the city.

TRINITY COMMANDERY OUTING TOMORROW

Big Time Promised at Annual Gathering at the Huntsman Home on East Front St.

The spacious grounds surrounding the home of R. F. R. Huntsman, on East Front street, will be the scene tomorrow of the annual outing of Trinity Commandery, Knights Templars. It will also be the occasion for the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the organization, and a big time is in store for the Templars and their invited guests. Grand Commander Nelson V. Dungan, of Somerville, and his full staff are expected to be present. Mr. Huntsman will be assisted in making the guests happy by Charles A. Lee, A. D. Honeyman, B. Frank Corriell and Dr. D. C. Adams. The plans have been in preparation for some time, and many amusing stunts are promised for the guests, who will be served with a hearty luncheon following which outdoor sports will be participated in.

Included in the athletic events scheduled will be a tug of war between the "K. T. Dids" and the "K. T. Dids'." and the second appearance of "The Downfall of China," which was a popular feature of the outing last year. The Sphinx Club orchestra, of New York, has been secured through the courtesy of Preston P. Lynn of the Wanamaker stores, and it is promised on the invitation that "you'll hear wonderful music, and no mistake about that."

LESLIE ALLEN TENDERED A PARTY BY HIS PARENTS

A birthday party was held in honor of J. Leslie Allen, on the occasion of his twenty-first birthday, at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Allen, on West Fourth street, last evening. Various novelty games were played and a number of guests entertained. The feature of the evening was an act of mystery and magic presented by Jesse L. Rogers, originator of the "Hoin's Dream," the act that he is presenting at the Dunellen Theatre this week.

Among the guests present were the Misses Mary Bennett, Lella Wherry, Laura Stillman, Grace Stillman, Grace Schmidt, and Messrs. Louis Bennett, Clarence H. Weber, John Leslie Allen, Frank Baker, Russell Allen, Rutgers Nelson, Roy Wyckoff, Robert B. Butler, Jesse L. Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. John Allen and Mrs. John Schmidt.

CITES DEFECTS IN 1912 ROAD ACT

Corporation Counsel C. A. Reed Takes Exceptions to Request of Freeholders.

Elizabeth, June 5.—Charles A. Reed, corporation counsel of Plainfield, sent a communication to the Board of Freeholders at its meeting yesterday afternoon, asking what roads the Board had built within the corporate limits of Plainfield. The Common Council had no way of knowing, he said. This communication was in answer to one from the Board, asking Plainfield to keep the county roads there clean and in repair.

Mr. Reed cited several defects in the Road Act of 1912 under which the Freeholders built the roads and the amendment of 1913. Chapter 19 of the Laws of 1912, he said, excepts cities from the provisions of the act and the Board, therefore, had no power to construct the roads. The amendment of last year had no force, he contended. His communication was referred to the county road committee and the county attorney.

The committee which recently attended the Inter-State bridge conference in New York city reported adversely on the project. The report stated that the proposed bridge to New York would be of no benefit to Union county and would be a great expense. It stated further that it would not be wise for the county to enter an agreement even for the preliminary expense incident to the drawing of plans and other details. Freeholder David F. Hennessy supplemented the report with an address in which he criticized the Inter-State Bridge Commission for asking as much from Union as its share as from Bergen, which would derive the greater part of the benefit, he said. Freeholder George Teller offered a resolution stating that it was the sense of the Board that the bridge project be not considered by Union, and that the commission be so informed at the next conference June 11. The resolution was unanimously adopted.

County Attorney Codrington was allowed $50 per month clerk hire, to date from January 1.

FAMILY'S TRIP ABROAD POSTPONED BY MEASLES

A case of measles is an undesirable visitor at any stage of the game, but when one comes as it did to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Strapp, of Darrow avenue, it is all kinds of hard luck. Mrs. Strapp had completed all arrangements to sail for Ireland yesterday, on the Cunard liner "Carmanes," her three children, Edward, Mary and Frances, going with her. Their stay is to be a long one on the benefit of the mother's health and practically all their clothing was sent to the steamer Wednesday morning.

Early Wednesday afternoon the parents noticed that Mary, three years old, had developed an unusual puffy complexion. She also complained of being ill, so Dr. Hughes was sent for. The physician took a chance at the child and said "measles." The "Carmanes" sailed yesterday with several Plainfielders who were to have been companions of Mrs. Strapp on the voyage, but she and the children are still at home. If Mary recovers in time the postponed trip will commence on another boat next Thursday.

Mrs. Strapp will spend her time in Ireland with her parents and will be away more than a year.

MT. ST. MARY COLLEGE EXEMPT

State Board Decides That Building and Five Acres of Land Cannot Be Taxed.

ASSESSMENT SET ASIDE

However, Institution Must Pay Tax On Fifty-five Acres Known as "Excess Land"—County Taxation Board is Criticized by Anderson.

The State Board of Taxation, sitting at Somerville, yesterday, decided after arguments had been presented pro and con, that Mt. St. Mary College building and five acres of land are exempt from taxation under the College and Academy Act, but that fifty-five acres of adjoining land known as "excess land," and which is owned by the Mt. St. Mary corporation is taxable, which was admitted by the representatives of the institution.

The matter was brought before the State Board of Taxation by the North Plainfield Township Committee which had levied an assessment of $25,000 on the property in question and the chairman, W. de LaR. Anderson, represented the Committee at the hearing, yesterday, while Peter Backes, of Trenton, and Councilman Francis J. Blatz, of this city, represented the college. Mr. Backes presented the facts in the case for the institution, and speaking in behalf of the same conceded the right to assess the "excess land" at the same rate levied on property adjoining.

Mr. Backes claimed that the building and five acres of land were exempt under the State law the same as other similar institutions and this view was finally held by the State Board of Taxation, although that body somewhat questioned its authority for reason that the matter had not been brought before it properly by the county board of taxation. That right was waived, however, by the college.

Mr. Anderson admitted after hearing the arguments that the college and five acres were exempt, but at the same time took occasion to severely criticize the county board of taxation for what he termed its "laxity" in the matter. He asserted that the matter was properly brought before the county board, but that it was never decided in a satisfactory manner.

The hearing brought out the fact that farm land in the vicinity of the college is assessed at from $40 to $80 an acre, and the college through its representatives expressed a willingness to submit to a tax on the "excess land" at the same rate. The hearing was held yesterday chiefly for the purpose of reviewing the action of the township in levying an assessment of $25,000 on the college building and land, but inasmuch as it was decided that they were exempt, no further action was taken.

The township will now receive taxes on the "excess land" for 1913 and 1914 and in the future as prescribed by law, and in this respect the State Board of Taxation reversed the county board.

Costs Money
To Talk To You!

You are the most expensive man in the world to talk to.

It costs about $10 a minute to talk to you, and we would like about three minutes of your time right now.

The fact is, we have no reason to complain of business in general, but we would like to get yours.

We not only want your business, but by all standards of fair play we are entitled to it.

What you are looking for in your clothes is something which average clothes cannot give you.

You are looking not only for excellence in fabrics and workmanship, but for STYLE—that style which is more the manner than the mode.

And it is this particular sort of style which has made Rothberg's Clothes the first choice of the good dressers of Plainfield and vicinity.

$10, $12, $15, $18, $20, to $30.

Plains & Fanwood.

Since the question was brought up at the Borough Council meeting Wednesday evening, of having additional police protection most of the residents have expressed themselves as being pleased with the plan. There it at present but one marshal and he is on duty during the night. The many recent robberies have tended to show that one marshal cannot cover the borough alone as the house-breaking has occurred in one end of the town while the chief was patrolling at the other end. If any one should happen to see a suspicious person there is no way to call Marshal Logan as he is liable to be in any part of the borough. Councilman Nicol has suggested that as most local people have telephones it might be wise to have a telephone call box on a pole in the center of the borough similar to the plan in Westfield, and if any one used the "phone" it would display a green light on top of the pole to attract attention. The matter has been referred to the committee on lights, water and fire to be reported at the next meeting. The matter of two special marshals has been referred to the committee also. William Lidgate, a former member of the New York police force, and who used to be a special marshal here two years ago, has been suggested for one of the positions.

The members of the Fanwood Field Club will meet at the home of Maurice Hall on South avenue, this evening at 8:15.

Mrs. Henry Judd and daughter, Cynthia, of New York, are visiting Mrs. Jué's mother, Mrs. Charles Beardsley, of North avenue.

The members of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist church held their monthly meeting in the church, yesterday afternoon, when plans for the annual fair of the society that will be held in the fall were started. If possible the bazar will be held for several days instead of one afternoon and evening as heretofore. All of the members are divided into committees with each in charge of a booth. The meeting, from now on will be devoted to making fancy articles and other things for the fair.

The last exercises that will be held in the local schools this term excepting graduation, will be a week from today when Flag Day, which falls on Sunday, the sixteenth of June, will be observed.

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Robinson, of North avenue, are entertaining the Rev. Houghton Butler, the new pastor of the All Saints' Episcopal church.

The Fanwood Field Club and the Netherwood A. C. will cross bats for the second time this season when they get together on the Field Club's diamond on Park avenue, at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The Netherwoods had the better of the first argument and the locals are out for revenge. Brick, one of Plainfield High School's mainstays, will do mound work for Netherwood, while it is probable that he will be opposed by Lee, who pitched his first game for the Field Club on Decoration Day and held the Mount Pleasant team at his mercy for the last eight innings, striking out eighteen men.

A union prayer meeting of the congregations of the Baptist and Methodist churches will be held in the Methodist church this evening. It will be in charge of Dr. H. K. Carroll.

Arrangements are now being made to have the graduation exercises of the eighth grade of Public School No. 1, held in the assembly room of the school on the evening of June 17. The principal speaker will be the Rev. J. Madison Hare, pastor of the Baptist church. A pleasing program will be rendered by the pupils, who comprise one of the largest classes ever graduated from the school. As is the annual custom one of the class will quote Lincoln's Gettysburg address and there will be several musical selections.

The roster of teachers in the local schools has been completed for next year with the exception of one departmental teacher. In the three upper grades of School No. 1, and as follows: School No. 1, Miss Anna L. Little, Miss Emma T. Crowley, and one other yet to be engaged will be departmental teachers. In sixth, seventh and eighth grades, the subjects each will teach has not yet been decided. Miss Jessie C. Walker fifth grade, Miss Marion J. Egan fourth, Mrs. F. Anderson fourth, Miss Harriet M. Squires third, Miss Lillian Clay two A, Miss Mildred Stiles two B, Miss Caroline Lent grade one, Miss Mary T. Merrill kindergarten; School No. 2, Reed W. Hitchcock principal and teacher of grammar grades, Miss Georgeta Lee primary. Miss Caroline Lent will also be drawing instructor at School No. 1, the same as last year.

There are several changes as several teachers have resigned and the fourth grade of School No. 1, has grown so large that it has been divided into two divisions with a teacher for each. Supervising principal S. Dana Townsend will be here another year while as principal at School No. 2, in place of James Harstien who resigned the Board of Education has engaged Reed W. Hitchcock, who will also be teacher of the grammar grades. In School No. 1, one of the departmental teachers is yet to be engaged. Plans are being made by the Rev. Father McGrath to hold a large dance at Stony Hill church on the evening of June 17. There will be a full orchestra and refreshments will be served. Stages will make the trip from the trolley at Park avenue.

Announcement is made that the control of the new Somerville Theatre has passed into new hands, who will take charge next Monday morning. Messrs. Burns and Robinson, of Jersey City, are the new owners, the latter having been a resident of Somerville a number of years ago. It is said that Mr. Burns is interested also in a moving picture house in Jersey City.

Plans are being rapidly perfected for one of the greatest Fourth of July celebrations ever held in this section. The annual pageant will take place in Duke's Park along the banks of the Raritan river, where it was given last year. The program will include baseball game between teams selected from the Somerville Athletic Club and Company M, 9:30 to 10:30; concert by Winkler's Band, of Trenton, 10 o'clock to noon; in the afternoon there will be a representation of Robert Browning's "Pied Piper," which will be enacted by 100 people, in costume; a mixed chorus of 200 voices will sing America's patriotic songs; and "Rip Van Winkle," the play in which Joseph Jefferson was life itself, will be given. A grandstand will be erected for the accommodation of 1,000 persons.

The change, which is to be made on July 1, will effect two hundred clerks. Dunellen is hoping that those who moved away from here when the transfer was made will take up their residence again in the borough.

The manual training exhibition held at the Whittier School last evening was attended by a large number of visitors. The rooms were tastefully decorated with the pupils work of the past year. The prominent features included paper construction of the reception grades, cord and raffa work from the primary grades, reed and affia basketry, sewing and toy-making in the intermediate grades and shop work and sewing in the grammar grades. One room was given to a display of drawing from all grades. Of special mention were the Indian baskets of the fourth grade boys, Rudolph Smith and Ernest Brown leading in this work. The shop work attracted much interest. Among the large pieces were a bookcase made by Elmer Russell, a desk by Robert Stryker and a plat-rail by Michael Forgash. A splendidly made tabourette was produced by George Nagel and William Snyder. Very interesting were two special constructions in the reception grades. One was a fair scene with buildings, cattle and implements made of paper. The other was a house completely furnished as kitchen, dining-room and sleeping apartments. The department of manual training is under the charge of Miss Mabel Noves, and she was complimented for the great variety and number of designs and the splendid execution of the work.

SUCCESSFUL SALE.

The inclement weather of last evening was responsible for the shifting of the scene of the festival of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Netherwood Reformed church from lawn to the Sunday School rooms. The weather, however, did not interfere with the attendance to any material degree, and the affair was a financial success. Mrs. Horace Adams was chairman of the general committee in charge, while Mrs. Elston French was in charge of the cake table, Mrs. Worster, in charge of the candy booth, and Mrs. Horace Adams in charge of the ice-cream table.

SUMMER COURSE IN EUGENICS.
Berkeley, Cal., June 5.—Eugenics, the science of human perfection, in which Cupid is relegated to the shelf, is to be included in the course of instruction at the University of Colifornia summer school which opens this month. The announcement that this course is to be offered has aroused much interest and it is expected to attract to Berkeley many believers

in this much-discussed science.
Two lectures, authorities in their line, will deliver courses on the subject. They are William F. Snow, secretary of the American Hygiene Association, and Prof. Vernon L. Kellogg, of Stanford University.

STILL WAIT ON CARRANZA

Delegates to Peace Conference Are Still Deadlocked—Washington Looks
For Important Developments in Situation Within Next Few Days.

Washington, June 5.—The Mexican situation is in a worse muddle than at any other time since the mediators entered upon their conferences at Niagara Falls. Not only does Carranza remain an unknown factor in the problem, but new developments fraught with grave possibilities have arisen in connection with the sailing of the Ward liner An-tilla for Tampico with a cargo of arms
for the Constitutionalists.

As a result of the clearing of the An-tilla, the United States is confronted on the one hand with the danger of suspicion by the mediators that this government has not acted in good faith in support of an understanding that there would be no shipments of arms from this country to Mexico pending the Niagara Falls conferences. On the other hand if the United States attempts to interfere, as now seems likely, with a blockade of Tampico, to be instituted by Huerta, it will lay itself open to a charge of violation of the armistice
with the Mexican dictator.

Powers May Protest.
There is, moreover, the likelihood of complications with England and other European governments if Huerta insists on carrying out his plan of bottling up Tampico with his gunboats and preventing the landing of the An-tilla's cargo of war supplies.

Much remains to be explained about the clearing of the Antilla from New York with a cargo of arms after Secretary Bryan had issued his embargo order. Mr. Bryan explains the incident by saying that it was a mistake, but this is not likely to be very convincing with the mediators, who are said to have had assurances that all such shipments would be held up.

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 5.—The United States government and the three South American powers which have undertaken to seek a solution of the Mexican problem are still waiting on General Carranza. The deadlock has not been broken. The proceedings are at a complete standstill, and no effort is being made either by the delegates or the three mediators to continue even the informal conversations which they had been holding up to two days ago.

This day has been another of absolute inaction. The entire proceedings have stopped. No statement is being made on either side, and none is expected before a definite announcement comes from Washington. It is conceded by all here that the delegates of General Huerta have greatly strengthened their position through the statement which they made two days ago.
All those who are close to the mediators agree that the latter will not recede from their demand that Carranza cease fighting if he wishes to enter the mediation conference.

The report received here from New York that the leader of the revolt in northern Mexico was not responsible for the long statement which was issued on Tuesday at El Paso is generally believed here. It is confidently expected that the rebel leader will adopt an entirely different attitude after receiving the reply to his official note which has been sent to him by the mediators.

CONSERVATION BILL CAUCUS.

House Democrats May Attempt Passage at This Session.

Washington, June 5.—Democrats of the house may be called together in caucus shortly to decide whether or not to attempt a passage of the administration's conservation bills at the present session of congress.

This was admitted at the White House by Congressman Henry of Texas, chairman of the house committee on rules, and Secretary of the Interior Lane, following a conference with the president.

At this conference both the president and the secretary of the interior expressed the hope that the legislation might be passed. Behind this hope there is said to be somewhat of a strong desire to trim the wings of Colonel Roosevelt, whose criticisms of the administration have undoubtedly left their sting.

FAKE SALES.

Every merchant expects competition, and most of them welcome fair competition, carried on by legiti-mate tradespeople who keep their money at home and help to make the city successful. But when outsiders come to Plainfield, plaster the front of a store with alluring advertisements, which may be true, but do not tell the truth, then the merchant who is here all the time has a fair complaint.

Over in Newark the advertising club recently was instrumental in successfully prosecuting a man who conducted a fake sale, which the representatives of the club proved in court was advertised falsely. In New York the now defunct Siegel-Cooper firm was successfully prosecuted for advertising fur sales that were false on their face. There certainly must be some way of stopping the offering of merchandise at auction sales, by fly-by-night concerns which hire a vacant store for a month, gather in the coin from gullible persons and leave nothing behind them but the regrets of the people who have been stung.

A law has recently been passed in New Jersey which makes prosecution of this type of business comparatively easy. The Business Men's Association should look into every case of the kind in Plainfield, and as an organization drive every fake sale, whether auction or some other kind,
out of town. They will not be accused of doing it because of business jealousy. On the other hand they will be commended by every thinking person in the city, for it is only the gullible who are stuck with the merchandise offered. Let it be hoped that an example will soon be made that will keep such people away in the future. In the meantime it might be well to ask the Council to pass an ordinance raising the license fee for auction sales to a prohibitive figure, of course protecting in some way the legitimate merchant and auctioneer.

DO GOOD ROADS PAY?

Were all the bad roads to be converted into good, hard level roads,
the annual saving in hauling over the country highways in the United States would aggregate the mighty sum of $7,500,000,000, according to Government statistics. This one item of a year's loss to American people would build fifteen Panama canals.
If all highways were improved,
this seven and a half billions of dollars would go to those who do the country hauling, chiefly farmers. It would be a saving which would affect in a monumental manner the people of the cities who form the market for the freight hauled over the country roads. It would reduce the cost of living by cutting down the big margin between retail prices in the cities and cost of production in the country. It would put these billions every year into the pockets of the American people.

The grand total of cost of hauling by wagons over the country roads of the United States is said to reach the colossal figure of $11,500,000, 000 a year. The cost of hauling one ton one mile on good roads by horse-drawn wagons is figured at eight cents a mile. The average cost, however, on all the roads of the country is 23 cents per mile, while in certain sections the figure is as high as 64 cents per mile for every ton hauled one mile.

Every year 5,000,000,000 tons of freight are hauled in wagons over all these roads. The average haul is ten miles. This gives a total traffic of 50,000,000,000 ton-miles every year. At the average of 23 cents a ton-mile for the entire country, the aggregate cost of hauling reaches $11,500,000,000. But it is possible, by making the bad roads good, to reduce this cost to 8 cents per ton-mile, the cost of hauling over the best roads in the country today. This reduction from 23 cents to 8 cents aggregates a total possible saving of $7,500,000,000. Divided into states and counties, the figures remain as staggering as the colossal total for the whole land.

Well may the question be asked of not "Can we afford to build good roads?" but "Can we afford not to build good roads?"

Maximus, the strong man, who has recently settled in Plainfield, and opened a physical culture institute here, has written the contributed editorial for tomorrow. He has had a unique and unusual career, having been on the stage for some years prior to making his home in this city, and it was only by chance that he realized that his great strength could be put to other purpose than for exhibition. He tells in an interesting manner some of his personal history, and of the cordial welcome which Plainfield people have given him. It is an unusual contribution to the long list of splendid articles which have appeared in the Daily Press on Saturdays during the last two years.

WHY NOT A "REALLY GREAT?"

When the Plainfield Business College secures a man like George W.
Perkins to address its graduating class and the Hartridge School gets President Garfield, of Williams College, for its commencement speaker,
it seems peculiar that the Plainfield Board of Education fails to get an equal celebrity for its 1914 graduation orator. High School seniors and their relatives generally prefer a little sound advice from successful business or university men. We have had no great celebrity at the city school commencement in some years, but smaller institutions get the best to be had right along.

The Daily Press has received several protests within the past week from people who allege that the city street lights are turned off from twenty minutes to a half hour too early every morning. Night workers and others who go home just before sunup are compelled to stumble along in Stygian darkness. If such is the case its up to some official serving the city to give the Public Service a scolding in the form of a deduction when the monthly light check is audited. A little stunk like that will keep the street globes burning until long after Old Sol has commenced his day's work.

following her removal to the hospi-

She will submit to medical treatment until it is deemed advisable to perform an operation for the extraction of the bullet.

of Boston, Mass., was today fined two dollars for being drunk and disorderly

"MONA LISA" THIEF
GETS HEAVY SENTENCE

Florence, June 5. (Central News Cable)—The trial of the Italian, Peruggin who stole the famous painting "La Gioconda" from the Louvre in Paris, some months ago, was concluded today. The prisoner was found guilty and sentenced to one year's imprisonment. He was given fifteen days in which to lodge
an appeal.

In explanation of the motive for the crime he said that while employed in the Louvre he studied the history of the best known masterpieces, and ascertaining that all the celebrated paintings had been stolen from Italy, either by invading armies or by individuals he decided to restore one of them, if no more, to the rightful owner.

He therefore walked into the gallery one morning where "La Gioconda" was on exhibition and taking the painting from its heavy frame, placed it under his arm and quietly left the building. He then made his way with it to Italy. He denied having tried to sell it in London.

DAY OF BATTLESHIP IS PAST, SAYS ADMIRAL

London, June 5.—The day of the battleship is past according to Admiral Sir Percy Scott, inventor of gun carriages and other appliances, who in a letter to the Times, declares it is time to stop building all warships which are not submarines. All that has been done to increase the effectiveness of guns has been practically nullified by the advent of submarines, says Admiral Scott. All other types of vessels must soon become obsolete, he says because they will never be safe either at sea or in the harbor from attacks by submarines.

Admiral Scott further declares that the government is now wasting money building ships that will not be able to fight. He urges the construction of a fleet of submarines and air craft; and also a few fast cruisers providing a safe place can be found for them in time of war.

NO IMMUNITY.

Washington, June 5.—Opening the New Haven hearing today, Solicitor Folk of the I. C. C., announced that it was not the intention of the commission to give immunity to any one against whom the Department of Justice is planning action. Lewis Cass Ledyard was recalled to the stand for cross examination.

vote in the city affairs committee of the lower house of the Louisiana Legislature early today. It will be

Quade, at present an expert apprais-

PRESIDENT RETURNS TO OLD "HANDSHAKING" HABIT

Washington, June 5.—President Wilson has decided to return to the old "handshaking" habit he put a stop to shortly after he entered the White House. He announced today that he would greet personally each one of the delegation of 2,000 members of the Mystic Order of the Veiled Prophets of the Enchanted Realm when they called at the White House, June 11. The organization will celebrate its twenty-fifth anniversary at Richmond, Va., June 8, 9 and 10, and then will come directly to Washington to be received by the President.

Mr. Wilson sometime ago announced his intention of abandoning the handshaking habit, for he found it was too much of a strain, besides occupying too much time. This is the first time he has evinced a inclination to set aside his rule.

MEXICO CITY RESIDENTS IN DARK ABOUT PEACE PLANS

Mexico City, June 5.—There has been nothing official given out concerning the progress of negotiations at Niagara Falls, and the public here is in dark regarding the conference.

Gen. Blanquet, Minister of War, announced that the Zapatistas who for three days have fiercely attacked Cuernavaca, have been driven back with heavy losses. The small bodies of rebels which have been operating in the vicinity of Zacatecas have also been repulsed according to Gen. Blanquet.

Gen. Ignacio Morales Zaragoza and the troops which recently evacuated Tampico have been ordered to the capital where they are expected to arrive tomorrow.

There is great activity among the representatives of the various companies having concessions in Vera Cruz and Tamaulipas, who alarmed over the possibility that concessions granted to Ferrera, Bea and Romero will be passed through the Senate have asked that the matter be discussed today. The contemplated measure would give great power to the two men and its opponents desire to be present when it comes before the Senate.

Sir Lionel Carden, the British Minister, conveyed to President Huerta today, the thanks of King George V. for Huerta's message of condolence following the Empress of Ireland disaster.

MIDSUMMER QUIET PERVADES WHITE HOUSE

Washington, June 5.—Midsummer quiet fell on the White House today, and the policemen on guard at the executive office snored audibly when they weren't stifling yawns. President Wilson was on his way to Annapolis on board the Presidential yacht Mayflower. Secretary Tumulty accompanied him. The only person on the job was Rudolph Forester, assistant secretary, and he found little to do.

There was disappointment among the small army of tourists who flock to the White House each morning in the hope of seeing the President or other prominent government officials as they come and go. Many members of Congress, who had failed to read the morning newspapers, also were disappointed when they called at the executive office in the hope of enlisting the President's aid in advancing certain of their pet measures.

It is not definitely known when President Wilson will return to Washington. He may decide to come back tomorrow from the Maryland town, where he will address the Naval Academy graduating class today, and he may stay until Sunday night. The President is deeply interested in the navy, and Secretary Daniels, who accompanies him to the commencement exercises, probably will seek him to prolong his visit.

LEDYARD DENIES MELLEN'S STORY

Contradicts Flatly Testimony of Former N. H. Head.

DID NOT SHIELD MORGAN

Asserts That B. and M. Story Is Not True—Gives New Version of Billard and Westchester Transactions—Says He Took Blame.

TESTIMONY OF MELLEN AND LEDYARD DIFFER.

Here is what Mr. Mellen said as to his indictment in the Grand Trunk matter:

"I wrote the letter (to the district attorney) for the purpose of shielding Mr. Morgan. I showed it to Lewis Cass Ledyard and E. D. Robbins, and they corrected it. I nearly killed everybody in the office to keep Mr. Morgan's name out of it."

This is what Mr. Ledyard says: "I want to say in the most emphatic terms that Mr. Mellen did not go forward and offer himself as a vicarious sacrifice, and take on himself the full responsibility in order to shield Mr. Morgan. There was nothing like that. Mr. Mellen wrote his letter assuming responsibility at his own suggestion. He asked me if I thought it was not a wise thing to do, and I told him I thought it was. The only things done that made any one subject to indictment, if they did, were done by Mr. Mellen, and on his own showing Mr. Morgan had done nothing."

Washington, June 5.—Charles S. Mellen's account of his martyrdom in New Haven railroad affairs was flatly contradicted by Lewis Cass Ledyard, who appeared in the witness chair before the interstate commerce commission.

Mr. Ledyard gave a detailed account from his standpoint of incidents leading up to Mr. Mellen's indictment in the so-called Grand Trunk case. His testimony not only contradicted Mr. Mellen's statements on the stand, but were designed to show that Mr. Mellen and not the late J. P. Morgan was responsible for the traffic arrangement with the Grand Trunk which resulted in criminal prosecution under the Sherman law against Mr. Mellen. Referring to the Grand Trunk case Mr. Ledyard said:

"I want to say in the most emphatic terms that Mr. Mellen did not go forward and offer himself as a vicarious sacrifice and take on himself the full responsibility in order to shield Mr. Morgan. There was nothing like that. Mr. Mellen wrote his letter assuming responsibility at his own suggestion. He asked me if I thought it was not a wise thing to do, and I told him I thought it was. The only things done that made any one subject to indictment, if they did, were done by Mr. Mellen, and on his own showing Mr. Morgan had done nothing."

Mr. Ledyard said Mr. Mellen admitted to him that he (Mellen) was responsible for everything in the Grand Trunk agreement and dictated a letter to the government officials to that effect.

Mr. Ledyard took the stand voluntarily, saying that he was glad to get an opportunity to appear and make his statement.

After relating that he was counsel for the American Express company in 1906 and 1907 he said that company held about 35,000 shares of stock of the Boston and Maine and that he represented the express company on the board of the railroad.

Denies Truth of Mellen Story.

"I am very careful about putting things in the record," said Mr. Ledyard. "Mr. Mellen has substantially testified that what I was after was the contract to be extended by the Boston and Maine railroad from ten to twenty years, that he (Mr. Mellen) thought the terms the Boston and Maine received from the express company were inadequate and that I wanted to get the Boston and Maine contract extended for the American Express company before the New Haven came into control for fear that Mr. Mellen might object when they got control of the Boston and Maine."

"There is not a word of truth in that part of his testimony. If he wanted to testify to that effect he has testified to what is no true."

Mr. Ledyard then read a letter from Mr. Mellen in which it was indicated that what Mr. Ledyard was after was an extension of the contract so that it would lap over after the contract of the Adams Express company with the New Haven expired, so that the American would then be in position to take up negotiations with the New Haven.

Solicitor Folk during Mr. Mellen's testimony drew from Mr. Mellen the statement that the extension of this contract cost the New Haven after it acquired it something like $700,000 a year, as at that time the Adams company was paying the New Haven 45 per cent for the express privileges on the New Haven and the Boston and Maine contract called for only 35 per cent and the renewal for the same allowance. The contract was extended for a period of ten years.

AQUITANIA ARRIVES;
MADE RECORD TIME

Ran Into Ice Field on Her Maiden Trip.

New York, June 5.—The new Cunarder Aquitania, the largest of the British merchantmen, arrived today. She has been making new records all the way across.

Her average day's run was 602 knots, averaging a speed of 24.24 knots an hour. The big liner ran into an ice field late Tuesday night and was obliged to proceed just under headway until she cleared the field. The run for the day consequently was reduced to 527 knots.

The Aquitania is a big sister ship of the Mauretania and the Lusitania. She is built along the same graceful lines that have made the older ships famous. It is in these yacht lines that the owners of the Aquitania place much faith. Transatlantic passages are no longer questions of days, but of hours. If a few hours can be clipped off the time elapsing between the embarking and disembarking of passengers, it is considered an achievement well worth while.

It is possible that the Aquitania has wrested second place in point of length from the Imperator. When the great German ship first came here it was said that she was 919 feet long from the tip of the eagle's beak on her bow to the stern rail. But since then the eagle has been carried away by a storm and the bow has undergone reconstruction, which has reduced the ship's overall length considerably. The Aquitania is 901 feet long, making the two ships practically the same size except for the fact that the German vessel has a larger displacement by 3,000 tons. The Aquitania's gross tonnage is 17,000, her breadth is ninety-seven feet and her depth ninety-two feet six inches.

WIDOW SUES FOR $50,000 LEGACY

Legality of John R. Halsey's Marriage Involved.

EX-GOV. FORT HEARS CASE

If Woman's Claim is Sustained She and Children Will Receive Half of $100,000 Estate Left by Isaac Halsey, Who Died at Madison in 1893.

Newark, N. J., June 5.—Ex-Governor J. Franklin Fort, sitting as advisory master in chancery, heard testimony in a suit involving the distribution of an estate of $100,000 left by Isaac Halsey, who died at Madison in 1893, leaving his property equally to two sons, Edmund D. and John R.

The suit is brought by John H. Bon-sall, trustee of the estate, to determine whether Sarah Elizabeth Ferris was the lawful wife of John Halsey, West Point graduate and inventor, under the name of Clayton of Clayton's submarine steam torpedo battery. He died in 1902.

It is said that Mrs. Ferris was a servant in the family of Isaac Halsey when she married his son and that they were divorced for a time and lived under the name of Clayton in great hardship. In explaining her lack of documentary evidence of the marriage she said she had torn up her marriage certificate in a fit of anger.

Another point in the case is whether "Clayton" was really John R. Halsey. Papers were introduced which had been in possession of Mrs. Ferris to support this view. One was a drawing of the submarine with the name Halsey under the name of Clayton, and another was a letter relative to Halsey written by Gideon Welles, secretary of the navy during the civil war.

If Mrs. Ferris' claim is sustained she and her children will receive half of the estate. Otherwise under the terms of Isaac Halsey's will it all reverts to the children of Edmund Halsey.

SHE'S GRANDCHILD, NOT CHILD

Granddaughter May Receive Only One Legacy From Foster Father.

Newark, N. J., June 5.—Vice Chancellor Howell in an opinion filed bars Mrs. Jean Livingston Koch from inheriting under the will of her grandfather, William Rowland, as both daughter and granddaughter. At his death in July, 1911, Mr. Rowland left his residuary estate to his children and to the children of any deceased child. The estate amounts to approximately $2,000,000.

Mrs. Koch is a daughter of one of Mr. Koch's daughters, Mrs. Jennie R. Adrain, by Mrs. Adrain's first husband and was adopted by Mr. Rowland in her infancy. The executors petitioned the court to decide whether Mrs. Koch was entitled to share with the testator's two other children and the children of a deceased son.

The vice chancellor says that Mrs. Koch is treated in the will in the same manner as all the other grandchildren. Mrs. Adrain is the widow of Robert Adrain, at one time state senator.

HURL JUNIORS INTO RIVER.

Girl Students Cheer Punishment of Creation Day Disturbers.

Trenton, N. J., June 5.—Treaton high school seniors, at their annual recreation exercises at Taylorsville, Pa., bound with a rope a dozen or more juniors and flung them bodily into the Delaware river, while fifty girl seniors looked on and cheered. The bound boys got out only after a struggle.

The parents of the students and the school authorities are highly indignant at the incident, and rigid investigations are promised.

The juniors, representing themselves as seniors, had stolen the special car the latter had engaged to take them to the scene, and the fight resulted.

$4,000 SHORTAGE REVEALED.

Vreeland-Kearny Lumber Company Accuses Irvington Man in Warrant.

Newark, N. J., June 5.—A warrant was issued for the arrest of Harry A. Madden of Irvington on a charge of embezzlement. Frank Kearny of the Vreeland-Kearny Lumber company accused him of embezzling at least $4,000, while another member of the company says his alleged peculations may reach $20,000.

When the police went to the lumber company to make inquiries about him the firm members scouted the idea of irregularities. An examination of the books was completed recently, and the shortage was revealed.

NEGRO DROWNS IN DELAWARE

Falls From Derrick Near Cooper's Point Ferry, Camden.

Camden, N. J., June 5.—Harry Shaw, twenty-five years old, colored, of Woodbury, N. J., was drowned near Cooper's Point Ferry, this city, when he fell from a derrick into the river. His body was recovered later with grappling irons. Efforts at revivification failed.

Shaw was working on a derrick used to pull boats in from the river. Just how he fell is not known. He sank almost immediately.

WHO ARE THE BEST DRAWING CARDS AT THE BASEBALL TURNSTILES TODAY?

Every little while there is a big discussion by baseball writers, fans and players as to whether Ty Cobb, the famous Detroit star, is entitled to a $15,000 salary annually on the plea that he draws this money at the gate for his employees. The question of drawing ability is one in which many baseball men have lately been giving attention.

Occasionally the opinion is expressed that nothing matters from the viewpoint of the box office but the winning of games. A team will draw if it is in the pennant race, and if it does not rank high it will never have a money look-in no matter how many stars may be included in the roster.

The experience of the big leagues will hardly bear out this assertion. There have been pennant winning teams that were only fairly profitable. There have been clubs, on the contrary, that have been big winners financially in years when they never had a chance to pull down the flag.

There is no doubt that certain players draw the crowds. Naturally, the turn out is bigger if the team is in the race, this being particularly true when the team with the stars is playing at home. But on the road, where the hero is only an occasional visitor, the player in whom the public is interested will nearly always be a big enough feature to pack the pavilions.

Without going back into the misty past, it is possible to make up a team composed of one man from each position, whose potency in attracting the crowd meant big winnings to his club.

Limiting the proposition to the American and National Leagues within the last decade, the appended team shows men who were, or still are, immense drawing cards:

Pitcher—Rube Waddell.
Catcher—Roger Bresnahan.
First base—Hal Chase.
Second base—Napoleon Lajoie.
Third base—Frank Baker.
Shortstop—Hans Wagner.
Left field—Frod Clarke.
Center field—Ty Cobb.
Right field—Ed Delahanty.

Rube Waddell, now dead, for instance, probably saved the Philadelphia American League club from failure. He came to the club in 1902, at a time when it was conceded to be in bad shape, and from that time on his great ability and his eccentricity about which thousands of columns were printed yearly in every American newspaper, caused him for a time to be the most talked of baseball player in the country.

In St. Louis and Chicago, when Waddell pitched a Sunday game, he was good for a 30,000 crowd at any time.

Of present day league pitchers, the greatest drawing cards are probably Christy Mathewson and Walter Johnson.

Bresnahan is here given the place among catchers, although by reason of being an Indian, Chief Meyers, of the Giants, also attracts the multitude.

Frank Chance, Jake Daubert and Hal Chase are the big magnets among the first basemen. Preference is here given to Hal Chase because he is the more sensational, though there can hardly be any doubt that Daubert is the more valuable man to the team. But Chase, with his lightning left-hand throws, demonstrated new possibilities in the position, and though he is now playing second base, will also be a card because of the work he did at the other bag.

Frank Baker, though an admitted star, did not become a big winner of the crowds until he made his fame in the world's series of 1911, by the two home runs that put the Giants out of the series. Since that time he has been one of the most followed players.

No one can dispute Wagner's supremacy as a popular magnet among the shortstops. Thousands of thousands of dollars have been poured into Pittsburgh coffers by fans who wanted to see him play, and the interest was not alone in his proficiency, but in the marvel that a man of his huge build could be possessed of such extraordinary agility.

Fred Clarke has also pulled the public. During his days at Louisville, when the team was down in the race, it was said that the only reason crowds went to the ball field was to see Clarke play.

Only Ty Cobb's name need be mentioned in connection with center field.

In addition to being, perhaps, the greatest player in the history of the game, he is undoubtedly the greatest drawing crowd.

Ed Delahanty, now dead, was a wonderful magnet during his days with the Philadelphia Nationals and Washington Americans. His popularity was based on his slashing hitting ability.

NOTICE OF CHANGE IN LAW FOR SHOOTING RICEBIRDS

Washington, June 5.—Notices have been issued by the United States Department of Agriculture calling attention to a proposed amendment in the federal regulations for the protection of migratory, insectivorous birds. Under this new rule, red or rice birds can be shot in September and October in the States of New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware, Maryland, the District of Columbia, Virginia and South Carolina. The law requires three months' notice of this change. If it is decided to adopt it, the rule will be officially promulgated at the end of that time and will go into effect September 1 next.

The effect of this change will be to extend to sportsmen in New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware the privilege of shooting the birds during a period of two months. This they can now do in Maryland and the District of Columbia, Virginia and South Carolina. Since the season is so short, it is not believed that the birds will suffer appreciably in numbers.

In the late summer and early fall the birds migrate to the far South. They are regarded in the States where they can now be shot as offering good sport.

LOCAL FANS WILL GO TO WESTFIELD

Plainfield Rets to Take on Their Old Rivals Tomorrow Afternoon.

Not since the days of Charlie Denman has interest been so apparent in a semi-professional baseball clash between Westfield and Plainfield—two of the oldest diamond rivals in Central New Jersey—as it is over tomorrow's big game on the Mt. Ararat field. A large delegation of fans from this city will make the trip to Westfield to witness the encounter and the match will probably be one of the best staged in this vicinity this season.

Plainfield will send "Hank" Mathewson, a brother of the wonderful Christy, to the mound, and Cowperwaite, a star Williams College hurler, will do the box work for the Westfield clan. Both aggregations are considerably bolstered over last week's array for this contest and the fans will be treated to some real baseball.

Cowperwaite is well known as a strike-out pitcher, having established a fine record for himself against Garwood last week.

The teams will lineup as follows:
WESTFIELD. Green, 1b. Coyle, 2b. Taylor, 3b. Callahan, ss. Vallean, ss. Wonder, 1b. Douglas, 2b. Mathewson, p. Hummel, rf. Nelson, cf. Worth, cf. Ortleib, cf. Hunt, c. Dorman, cf. Young, c. Brunnie, 3b. Cowperwaite, p. Flynn, rf. Stewart, sub.

VANVLECK THE GOLFING STAR OF JERSEY MEET

Charles Van Vleck, Jr., of Baltusrol, led a field of eighty-four starters yesterday in the qualifying round of the annual tournament of the New Jersey Golf Association, over the Morris County Club's links, by the surprising margin of five strokes. He did a 75 in the cold, driving rain that made the conditions the worst that can be remembered in the event. William T. Glenney, of this city, turned in a card of 47, 44-91; J. N. Sterns, of Somerville, turned in 43, 44-87; C. B. Wilcox, of Westfield, had 45, 49-94; R. S. Rowland, Plainfield, 44, 51-95; and G. S. Wheeler, of Plainfield, had a score of 56, 51-107.

The pairing resulted in the playing of C. B. Wilcox, of Westfield, and R. S. Rowland, of this city, as opponents in the fourth sixteen. Because of the storm's delay it was decided to make the finals in the third and fourth sixteens at eighteen holes instead of thirty-six so the first round of match play therein was not begun this morning. They could not have finished before dark.

LOCAL WOMEN ON WINNING SIDE IN TRI-CITY MEET

Mrs. H. R. Stockton, of the Plainfield Country Club, defeated Miss J. F. Dunham, of Braeburn, 2 up and 1 to play, in the match play round in the morning singles of the competition between the Boston and New York women over the links of the Greenwich, Conn., Country Club yesterday. The event was held in connection with the annual trophy matches for the Lesley Cup. Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers, of this city, was defeated by Miss Fannie C. Osgood, of Woolston, 4 up and 2 to play. Mrs. Rogers was competing under the colors of the Baltusrol Club.

The team scores returned were Miss Bishop and Mrs. Stockton, 11; Miss Stratton and Mrs. Rogers, 11; by default. Both of the local women were on the New York team. The Gothamites won by a count of 11 to 10.

ROD AND REEL

Codling, whiting and fluke are being taken by fishermen on Dreamland Pier, Coney Island, in big numbers just at present.

The Belgrade Lakes, in Maine, have always been a favorite resort for Jersey anglers and trout, and big ones are biting there now.

A resident of Belmar while fishing near Shark river inlet the latter part of last week caught a twelve-pound striped bass. The news spread, and caused a number of surf fishermen to gather along the shore Sunday, but they didn't pick up any.

from now on.

There are fully a dozen rowboats on the Passaic river at Pine Brook. Perch, pickerel and catfish are biting very well at that point, and good bass fishing is expected after June 15.

The property owners on Culver's lake are looking forward to some fine black bass fishing when the season opens. Men who work around the lake say they never saw such signs of bass as they have this spring.

The use of deer fat, rubbed well into a line used in fresh water casting, has not been taken up in this section of the country, due, probably, to the scarcity of that particular fat, as well as to the fact that eastern anglers use a silk ore enameled line. In the trout streams of that section of the country that lies in the northwest, deer fat is used on the lines because they are very heavy and, if water soaked, anchor the bait to the bottom. The eastern angler is an expert on light tackle, but deer fat in the fishing kit would frequently come in handy. The only time this is obtainable is during the hunting season, and then it can be tried out and bottled for future use on lines or flies.

Trout fishermen of the far West have used salmon eggs as bait for years, and with wonderful success. The eggs are as large as a pea, deep red in color and stick to the hook like glue. By the time our readers see this we expect to be trying these eggs on the foxy trout of Warren county, and if they prove as good as the Westerners claim, we will let our friends in on the secret.

The Board of Fish and Game Commissioners are preparing to distribute English pheasants throughout Morris, Sussex, Hunterdon and Warren counties for stocking purposes. The first distribution will take place June 15, and the wardens will be busy until July 1 under the supervision of Protector James Stratton. This work is months behind time, due to the fact that the blizzard in March caused the death of hundreds of pheasants at the Forked River game farm, while as many more got away from their cages and could not be trapped again. In all 1,000 birds were lost and the wings of 1,500 others were clipped to keep them within bounds. The commissioners have held them in order that the wings might grow out again. This accounts for the applicants made to the commission for English pheasants not being filled.

BOYS WILL PLAY GIRLS IN THIS BASEBALL GAME

The Junior Endeavor Society, of the Congregational church, will hold an athletic meet at Randolph field, West Seventh street, beyond Monroe avenue, tomorrow afternoon, at 3:00. It will open with a three-inning baseball game between the boys and the girls.

The other events will include: Running high and broad jumps, 100 yard dash, potato race, sack race, three-legged race, obstacle race and mile-driving contest. Each Junior should bring a hammer and a piece of soft wood board about a foot in length. Lemonade and candy will be on sale.

BOUND BROOK AT BRUNSWICK.

A ten-man golf match between the New Brunswick Country Club and the Bound Brook Golf Club has been arranged to be played on the links of the former club on next Saturday afternoon. This will be the second team match for the Brunswick golf-club. The Somerville Club lined up a great aggregation against the New Brunswicks in that match. The match Saturday promises some good golf.

OFFICIAL EVENTS FOR PARKER FIELD MEET

List to Be Contested Announced This Morning by Those in Charge.

Entry blanks for the first annual athletic meet to be held under the auspices of the Board of Playground Commissioners on Parker Field, July 4, were circulated today and copies of the blanks have been sent to all of the leading athletic clubs in the country. Advertised as "the fastest quarter mile track in the vicinity of New York," the Parker Field circuit will probably be run over by some of the cracks of the metropolitan district and it is expected that a majority of the larger clubs will be represented here on Independence Day.

The affair is a sanctioned A. A. U. meet and the events are as follows: 100 yard dash (novice), 100 yard dash, 220 yard dash, 880 yard run (novice), one-mile run, (annual Ritz cup), medley relay race, (clubs or organizations), broad jump, pole vault, 880 yard run and javelin throw. A feature of the excellent program will be the concluding number, a five mile road race to start and finish at Parker Field.

STAR ATTRACTION ON PARKER FIELD

Royal A. C. and Saurer Teams Will Meet for the Second Time This Year.

The Saurer and Royal A. C. teams, both of this city, will appear in their second engagement of the season on Parker Field tomorrow afternoon. This will be the leading attraction in local baseball circles, the Plainfield team going to Westfield for a game with the team of that place, thus leaving Parker Field open to amateur aggregations.

The first contest was won by the Saurer contingent and the colored youths have organized a strong combination to go after the second verdict. The teams will take the field as follows:

Saurer—Harriman, 3b; Bergen, c; Martin, 1b; Jaeger, ss; Hendry or Garretson, 1b; Alberts, rf; Wilson, cf; Miller, lf; Conshay or Dixon, p. Royals—Williams, ss; Ford, 1b; Banks, 2b; Kline, p or lf; Valentine, p or 3b; Washington, c; Maiden, lf; Coleman, cf; Carter or Barnes, rf; Hall, p; McClain and Johnson, subs.

FRITTS AND RUNYON IN JUNIOR CHAMPS

Plainfield Boys Enter Metropolitan Events to Be Held at Celtic Park.

Ralph Runyon, the Plainfield High School athlete, has entered the Metropolitan junior championships to be contested at Celtic Park Saturday, afternoon June 20. He will represent the Pastime A. C., of New York, together with Jack Fritts, also of this city, who will go after the javelin record.

Young Runyon will try for the junior title in the pole vault and those who have been following his work in the many interscholastic meets during the past winter look forward to seeing him cop the record on this occasion. The events will be run off at the home of the Irish-American A. C. and junior champs annually bring out one of the largest fields of athletes.

Fritts has entered the javelin throw, an event comparatively new to him, but one in which he promises to develop into a star. Both of the youngsters have been practicing regularly on Parker Field for the events.

WHEELMEN ORGANIZE A QUEEN CITY CLUB

Interest Manifested in Proposition to Further Interest in the Sport Here.

A number of local pedal pushers got together in George Simon's bicycle store on North avenue last night and organized a bike club to be known as the Queen City Wheelmen and the following officers were elected: President, George L. Simon; vice-president, Eddie Simon; secretary, Alexander Campbell; treasurer, W. H. Southard; road captain, William Simon.

Eleven pedal pushers annexed their signature to the role of charter members and it is expected that the roster will be swelled by more than twice that number at the next meeting. The initial road run of the organization will be conducted to the Salisbury bicycle track in Newark next Sunday afternoon, leaving Plainfield at 12:45.

The object of the club is to further interest in cycling and enrolled in the organization are some of the best and most prominent pedal pushers in this city. The eleven members are all enthusiastic over the project and are planning for an active season. Several of the organizers are former Plainfield Cycling Club members but that club has gradually died away until it is now practically extinct, only four members remaining.

FORMER BATTERY TO OPPOSE DUNELLEN

McLaughlin and Dixon Will Play Against Old Team-mates Tomorrow.

Dunellen's baseball season will be ushered in tomorrow afternoon on the Washington avenue field with a contest against the Somerville aggregation. In the opening game of the home season manager Voeh's crew will have to face the delivery of a former teammate, Wally McLaughlin, who will be backed up at the other end of the shute by Lou Dixon, another former Dunellenite.

On the pitching mound for Dunellen will be Pierce Harnes, and Teeling will do the catching. Elaborate opening day plans have been made by the management and a large crowd is expected at the baseball rendezvous.

The teams will lineup as follows: DUNELLEN. SOMERVILLE. Harnes, p; Cunningham, 1b; Lambergen, 3b; Frezza, 2b; Giddes, ss; Moulton, 1b; Denizio, 2b; Purcell, 1b; Hickey, 1b; Wahl, cf; Haegney, rf; Mattone, Teeling, p; Dixon, 1b; McLaughlin, Davenport, (sub.)

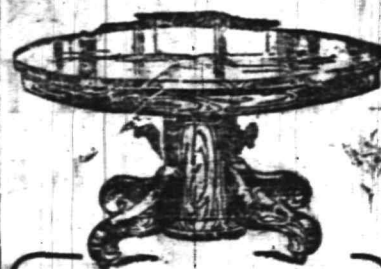

TRIAL OF MILLION DOLLAR SUIT Michigan City, Ind., June 5.—The million dollar suit brought by Mrs. Drusilla Carr against the estate of Congressman Robert R. Hitt, of Illinois, and others, was called for trial in the Laporte Circuit Court here today. The case involves the question of squatter's right to land along Lake Michigan. In the seventies Mrs. Carr and her husband, who has since died, became squatters on land at Miller beach. For many years they occupied the land undisturbed. Later the land was claimed by the defendants and the squatters were dispossessed. Mrs. Carr then brought suit for recovery.

NEEDLEWORK

TWO DAINTY AND ATTRACTIVE DESIGNS FOR EMBROIDERING COLLARS

A season-old blouse can be quickly transformed with the aid of a dainty collar, such as these shown here. A collar plays a very important part in one's wardrobe, as often, by changing the style of collar worn with a blouse or dress, it gives an entirely new appearance to the garment, thus allowing it a new lease of life. As these collars are worn the year round one can not have too many.

Pattern 14670 contains a simple design for a collar, cuffs, revers and tabs for a simulated vest or pocket flaps. These may be used together or the collar and cuffs may be used alone, if preferred. This design should be stamped on fine handkerchief linen, lawn, batiste or organdie and embroidered in solid work and eyelets. Particularly suitable is this design for wear with a blouse of crepe de Chine, fine handkerchief linen, crepe or some of the fancy lingerie materials. 10 cents.

Equally charming is the attractive collar with revers, No. 14668, and quite different in the shape of both the collar and revers. This collar is straight across the back while the other is pointed. It is suitable for wear with a blouse, dress or coat, and should be made of thin sheer material. A touch of color may be introduced into the embroidery of this pattern, or it may be developed entirely in white. If desired, the collar, cuffs and revers may be finished with a narrow edging of Valenciennes or Cluny lace. Very fine mercerized cotton should be used for embroidering both of these designs, and the solid work should be firmly padded. 15 cents.

Guaranteed, hot-iron transfer patterns will be supplied to readers upon receipt of price.

Practical Fashion Hints

By Alice Gibson

8347

It is quite remarkable to note the extreme simplicity of children's garments this season. There is not a single feature on frock or suit to make it uncomfortable or interfere with freedom of movement. In this design, No. 8347, we have a slip-on kimono dress with elbow sleeves and a square or round neck. The low hung belt may be omitted entirely if preferred, and the sleeves be left entirely plain. This dress is suited to any of the cottons, light linens or serge. It is quite a fad to make up this style of garment in a dark serge for playtime wear, while it is quite as cool as cotton or linen, it does not soil as quickly which means a great deal in summer; it will also be found convenient for chill damp days which are bound to occur even in the middle of summer. For a child of four, this dress requires 1 1/2 yards of 36-inch material. The pattern comes in nine sizes, 1/2 years to 12 years.

This is a Perfect Pattern. Be sure to give right size, passing the tape around the fullest part of the breast, well up under the arms. It may be obtained by filling out the coupon and enclosing 15 cents in stamps or coin to the Pattern Department of this paper.

THE FALL OF THE HOUSE OF USHER

By Edgar Allan Poe

EDGAR ALLAN POE

Twenty-four famous authors were asked recently to name the best short story in the English language. The choice of Gouverneur Morris was "The Fall of the House of Usher," by Edgar Allan Poe, who won world renown as a short story writer.

GOUVERNEUR MORRIS

PART II.
ONE evening, having informed me abruptly that the Lady Madeline was no more, he stated his intention of preserving her corpse for a fortnight, previously to its final interment, in one of the numerous vaults within the main walls of the building. The brother had been led to his resolution (so he told me) by consideration of the unusual character of the malady of the deceased, of certain obtrusive and eager inquiries on the part of her medical man and of the remote and exposed situation of the burial ground of the family. I will not deny that when I called to mind the sinister countenance of the person whom I met upon the staircase on the day of my arrival at the house I had no desire to oppose what I regarded as, at best, but a harmless and by no means an unnatural precaution.

At the request of Usher, I personally aided him in the arrangements for the temporary entombment. The body having been encoffined, we two alone bore it to its rest. The vault in which we placed it was small, damp and entirely without means of admission for light, lying at great depth immediately beneath that portion of the building in which was my own sleeping apartment. It had been used apparently in remote feudal times for the worst purposes of a donjon keep and in later days as a place of deposit for powder or some other highly combustible substance, as a portion of its floor and the whole interior of a long archedway through which we reached it were carefully sheathed with copper. The door, of massive iron, had been also similarly protected. Its immense weight caused an unusually sharp grating sound as it moved upon its hinges.

Having deposited our mournful burden upon trestles within this region of horror, we partially turned aside the yet unscrewed lid of the coffin and looked upon the face of the tenant. A striking similitude between the brother and sister now first arrested my attention, and Usher, divining perhaps my thoughts, murmured out some few words, from which I learned that the deceased and himself had been twins and that sympathies of a scarcely intelligible nature had always existed between them. Our glances rested not long upon the dead, for we could not regard her unawed. There was a faint blush upon the bosom and the face, with that suspiciously lingering smile upon the lip which is so terrible in death. We replaced and screwed down the lid and secured the door of iron.

And now, some days of bitter grief having elapsed, an observable change came over the features of the mental disorder of my friend. His ordinary manner had vanished. His ordinary occupations were neglected or forgotten. He roamed from chamber to chamber with hurried, unequal and objectless step. The pallor of his countenance had assumed if possible a more ghastly hue, but the luminousness of his eye had utterly gone out. The once occasional huskiness of his tone was heard no more, and a tremulous quaver, as if of extreme terror, habitually characterized his utterance. I felt creeping upon me by slow yet certain degrees the wild influences of his own fantastic yet impressive superstitions.

It was especially upon retiring to bed late in the night of the seventh or eighth day after the placing of the Lady Madeline within the donjon that I experienced the full power of such feelings. Sleep came not near my couch, while the hours waned and waned away. I struggled to reason off the nervousness which had dominion over me. I endeavored to believe that much, if not all of what I felt, was due to the bewildering influence of the gloomy furniture of the room—the dark and tattered draperies which, tortured into motion by the breath of a rising tempest, swayed fitfully to and fro upon the walls and rustled uneasily about the decorations of the bed. But my efforts were fruitless. An irrepresible tremor gradually pervaded my frame, and at length there sat upon my very heart an incubus of utterly causeless alarm. Shaking this off with a gasp and a struggle I uplifted myself upon the pillows, and, peering earnestly within the intense darkness of the chamber, hearkened—I know not why, except that an instinctive spirit prompted me—to certain low and indelible sounds which came through the pauses of the storm at long intervals. I knew not whence. Overpowered by an intense sentiment of horror, unaccountable yet unendurable, I threw on my clothes with haste, for I felt that I should sleep no more during the night, and endeavored to arouse myself from the pitiable condition in which I had fallen by pacing rapidly to and fro through the apartment.

I had taken but few turns in this manner when a light step on an adjoining staircase arrested my attention. I presently recognized it as that of Usher. In an instant afterward he rapped with a gentle touch at my door and entered, bearing a lamp. His countenance was, as usual, cadaverously wan; but, moreover, there was a species of mad hilarity in his eyes, an evidently restrained hysteria in his whole demeanor. His air appalled me, but anything was preferable to the solitude which I had so long endured.

"And you have not seen it?" he said abruptly after having stared about him for some moments in silence—"you have not then seen it? But stay! You shall." Thus speaking and having carefully shaded his lamp, he hurried to one of the casements and threw it freely open to the storm.

The impetuous fury of the entering gust nearly lifted us from our feet. It was, indeed, a tempestuous yet sternly beautiful night, and one wildly singular in its terror and its beauty. A whirlwind had apparently collected its force in our vicinity, for there were frequent and violent alterations in the direction of the wind, and the exceeding density of the clouds (which hung so low as to press upon the turpentine of the house) did not prevent our perceiving the lifelike velocity with which they flew careering from all points against each other, without passing away into the distance. I say that even their exceeding density did not prevent our perceiving this. Yet we had no glimpse of the moon or stars nor was there any flashing forth of the lightning. But the under surfaces of the huge masses of agitated vapor, as well as all terrestrial objects immediately around us, were glowing in the unnatural light of a faintly luminous and distinctly visible gaseous exhalation which enshrouded the mansion.

"You must not—you shall not behold this!" said I shudderingly to Usher as I led him, with a gentle violence, from the window to a seat. "These appearances which bewilder you are merely electrical phenomena not uncommon, or it may be that they have their ghastly origin in the rank miasma of the tarn. Let us close this casement. The air is chilling and dangerous to your frame. Here is one of your favorite romances. I will read, and you shall listen, and so we will pass away this terrible night together."

The antique volume which I had taken up was the "Mad Trist" of Sir Launcelot Canning, but I had called it a favorite of Usher's more in jest than in earnest, for, in truth, there is little in its uncouth and unimaginative prolixity which could have had interest for the lofty and spiritual idealism of my friend. It was, however, the only book immediately at hand.

I had arrived at that well known portion of the story where Ethelred, the hero of the trist, having sought in vain for peaceable admission into the dwelling of the hermit, proceeds to make good an entrance by force. Here, it will be remembered, the words of the narrative run thus:

"And Ethelred, who was by nature of a doughty heart and who was now mighty withal on account of the powerfulness of the wine which he had drunken, waited no longer to parley with the hermit, who, in sooth, was of an obstinate and malicious turn, but, feeling the rain upon his shoulders and fearing the rising of the tempest, uplifted his mace outright and with blows made quickly room in the planks of the door for his gauntleted hand, and now, pulling therewith sturdily, he so cracked and tipped and tore all asunder that the noise of the dry and hollow sounding wood alarmed and reverberated throughout the forest."

At the termination of this sentence I started, and for a moment paused, for it appeared to me (although I at once concluded that my excited fancy had deceived me) that from some remote portion of the mansion there came indistinctly to my ears what might have been in its exact similarity of character, the echo (but a stifled and dull one certainly) of the very cracking and ripping sound which Sir Launcelot had so particularly described.

I continued the story:

"But the good champion Ethelred, now entering within the door, was sore enraged and amazed to perceive no signal of the malicious hermit, but, in the stead thereof, a dragon of a scaly and prodigious demeanor, and of a fiery tongue, which sat in guard before a palace of gold, with a door of silver, and upon the wall there hung a shield of shining brass with this legend enwriten:

Who entereth herein a conqueror hath slain;

Who slayeth the dragon, the shield he shall win.

And Ethelred uplifted his mace and struck upon the head of the dragon, which fell before him and gave up his pesty breath, with a shriek so horrid and harsh and withal so piercing that Ethelred had fain to close his ears with his hands against the dreadful noise of it, the like whereof was never before heard."

Here again I paused abruptly, and now with a feeling of wild amazement, for there could be no doubt whatever that in this instance I did actually hear, although from what direction it proceeded I found it impossible to say, a low and apparently distant, but harsh, protracted and most unusual screaming or grating sound—the exact counterpart of what my fancy had already conjured up for the dragon's unnatural shriek.

Oppressed, as I certainly was, upon the occurrence of this second and most extraordinary coincidence by a thousand conflicting sensations, in which wonder and extreme terror were predominant, I still retained sufficient presence of mind to avoid exciting by any observation the sensitive nervousness of my companion. I was by no means certain that he had noticed the sounds in question, although assuredly a strange alteration had during the last few minutes taken place in his demeanor. From a position fronting my own he had gradually brought around his chair so as to sit with his face to the door of the chamber, and thus I could but partially perceive his features, although I saw that his lips trembled, as if he were murmuring inaudibly. His head had dropped upon his breast, yet I knew that he was not asleep from the wide and rigid opening of the eye as I caught a glance of it in profile. The motion of his body, too, was at variance with this idea, for he rocked from side to side with a gentle yet constant and uniform sway. I resumed the narrative:

"And now the champion, having escaped from the terrible fury of the dragon, bethinking himself of the brazen shield and of the breaking up of the enchantment which was upon it, removed the carcass from out of the way before him and approached valorously over the silver pavement of the castle to where the shield was upon the wall, which in sooth tarried not for his full coming, but fell down at his feet upon the silver floor with a mighty great and terrible ringing sound."

No sooner had these syllables passed my lips than, as if a shield of brass had indeed at the moment fallen heavily upon a floor of silver, I became aware of a distinct, hollow, metallic and clangorous yet apparently muffled reverberation. Completely unmoved, I leaped to my feet, but the measured rocking movement of Usher was undisturbed. I rushed to the chair in which he sat. His eyes were bent fixedly before him and throughout his whole countenance there reigned a stony rigidity. But as I placed my hand upon his shoulder there came a strong shudder over his whole person, a sickly smile quivered about his lips, and I saw that he spoke a low, hurried and gibbering murmur, as if unconscious of my presence. Bending closely over him, I at length drank in the hideous import of his words.

"Not hear it? Yes, I hear it and have heard it. Long, long, long, many minutes, many hours, many days have I heard it, yet I dared not—oh, pity me, miserable wretch that I am—I dared not—dared not speak. We have put her living in the tomb! Said I not that—my senses were acute? I now tell you that I heard her first feeble movement in the hollow coffin. I heard them—many, many days ago—yet I dared not—I dared not speak! And now, tonight, Ethelred—ha, ha!—the breaking of the hermit's door and the death cry of the dragon and the clangor of the shield—say, rather, the rending of her coffin—and the grating of the iron hinges of her prison and her struggles within the coppered archway of the vault! Oh, whether shall I fly? Will she not be here anon? Is she not hurrying to upbraid me for my haste? Have I not heard her footstep on the stair? Do I not distinguish that heavy and horrible beating of her heart? Madman!"—here he sprang furiously to his feet and shrieked out his syllables as if in the effort he were giving up his soul—"Madman! I tell you that she now stands without the door!"

As if in the superhuman energy of his utterance there had been found the potency of a spell, the huge antique panels to which the speaker pointed threw slowly back upon the instant their ponderous and ebony jaws. It was the work of the rushing gust. But, then, without those doors there did stand the lofty and enshrouded figure of the Lady Madeline of Usher. There was blood upon her white robes and the evidence of some bitter struggle upon every portion of her emaciated frame. For a moment she remained trembling and reeling to and fro upon the threshold; then, with a low, moaning cry, fell heavily inward upon the person of her brother and, in her violent and now final death agonies, bore him to the floor a corpse and a victim to the terrors he had anticipated.

From that chamber and from that mansion I fled aghast. The storm was still abroad in all its wrath as I found myself crossing the old causeway. Suddenly there shot along the path a wild light, and I turned to see whence a gleam so unusual could have issued, for the vast house and its shadows were alone behind me. The radiance was that of the full, setting and blood red moon, which now shone vividly through that once barely discernible fissure of which I have before spoken as extending from the roof of the building in a zigzag direction to the base. While I gazed this fissure rapidly widened, there came a fierce breath of the whirlwind, the entire orb of the satellite burst at once upon my sight, my brain reeled as I saw the mighty walls rushing asunder, there was a long, tumultuous shouting sound like the voice of a thousand waters, and the deep and dank tarn at my feet closed sullenly and silently over the fragments of the "House of Usher."

Some Cookery Suggestions

INDIVIDUAL STRAWBERRY PASTRIES.

LUNCHEON MENU.

Tomato Souffle. Crackers.
Italian Macaroni.
Cold Stuffed Mutton.
Pickled Peaches.
Strawberry Biscuit. Cream.
Tea.

INDIVIDUAL desserts are always popular. The pastries in which strawberries feature may be successfully prepared in this way.

With Whipped Cream. Strawberry Biscuits.—Make a rich biscuit dough and bake in gem pans until light and golden browned. Cut a circle from the top of each, remove the soft interior and fill the centers with sliced strawberries and whipped cream. Return the top to each biscuit and serve at once.

Junior Strawberry Shortcakes.—These little pastries are made like biscuit and slightly sweetened. Roll the dough an inch thick, cut in diamonds, squares or circles and bake in a hot oven. When done break open, butter and put between them mashed and sweetened berries. Put on top of each shortcake some of the mashed berries with one or two large berries cut in halves sprinkled with powdered sugar. Top each with a spoonful of whipped cream.

Served With Sauce. Strawberry Cups.—Take one pint of sour, mix well with two level tea-spoonfuls of baking powder and a little salt. Make into a dough with about one cupful of milk. Put a spoonful of the dough into well buttered cups, then another of dough. Steam for twenty minutes. Turn out on a platter and serve with sauce prepared as follows:

Sauce.—Cream two tablespoonfuls of butter, add gradually one cupful of powdered sugar and a little lemon juice. Beat in as many crushed berries as mixture will take. Serve cold, or melt over hot water and serve hot.

Quickly Made Desserts.

Strawberry Puffs.—Cream puffs and eclairs filled with crushed and sweetened strawberries instead of the usual cream are delicious. Into a granite saucepan put one cupful of water or milk, one scant half cupful of butter and boil. Then add one cupful of flour, stirring continually, and cook two minutes. By this time it should be smooth and velvety. Remove from fire, and, when cool, beat in four eggs, one at a time. Beat ten to twenty minutes; then drop by spoonfuls upon buttered tins and bake in a hot oven for twenty minutes. While still warm, coat with strawberry icing made by adding strawberry juice to a cupful of powdered or confectioner's sugar to make a fine icing. When cold, cut open and fill with crushed and sweetened strawberries.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

The Wise
Weather Prophet
Tortoise.

It had been raining all day, and daddy thought he had a most appropriate story to tell the children.

"There was once a tortoise who hated rainstorms," daddy began.

"He said to his family:

"I suppose we must have rain, but still it does seem a nuisance," which is often what many real people say.

"When he saw that it was going to rain during the day he would get all his family to follow him to a special place he had where there were a lot of sheltering rocks.

"One day the sun was out, and there didn't seem to be the slightest chance of its raining. But the old tortoise was a fine weather prophet. He said to his family, 'It is going to rain today.'

"It certainly didn't look like it, and his family told him he really was absurd on the subject of the weather.

"He tried to tell them that they were very far from shelter of any sort and that it would be a good thing to be near where they could be protected if the rain did come down.

"But they wouldn't budge, and he stayed with them.

"An hour passed, and the sun still was shining brightly, and the heavens looked bright and clear.

"The rest of the old tortoise's family told him that he was a gloomy old thing and was always looking on the dark side of life.

"But another ten minutes had not passed when a huge big black cloud appeared up in the sky.

"The tortoise family looked at it and then looked at the old tortoise to see what he would say.

"But he didn't say anything. He just looked the picture of despair, and in a few minutes down came the rain.

BAIRS BOUND BROOK MAN.
Bound Brook, June 5.—Ernest Miller, of South Bound Brook, an engineer employed by the American Engine and Electric Company, of this place, was denied admission to Canada by Canadian officials while on his way to Dannacoon, Quebec, where he was going to work on an engine, which he had recently installed. Miller left for Canada Monday night and when he arrived at the border inspectors demanded that he show his citizenship papers. He explained he did not have them on his person. When he was unable to produce $50 a ticket to Albany was handed him, and despite his explanations that he had made previous trips to the Dominion, and produced a memorandum book showing the dates on which he had made these visits, the officials gave him no alternative other than to make the return trip.

now a little less than four years old, has by modern methods and personal service, built up a business of approximately $600,000.

It is not so large that it cannot give attention to the smallest banking needs of its many patrons, nor so small that it cannot render every facility that its customers have a right to expect.

Additional patronage is invited and a continuance of this personal service is promised.

Shoes That Wear

Although they are nearly as pliable as a glove. They are called TROT-MOC back-to-nature Shoes. All the boys and girls like them because they are so light and easy on the feet, and because they look so neat.

You'll find Trot-Mocs easy on your pocketbook as well as on your feet. They are made of leathers that have been specially tanned and treated to make them flexible and long wearing. Goodyear welt, no laces to hurt feet or mar floors.

The water proof soles protect children from colds, and the natural shape of these shoes keep growing feet growing right.

Of course, TROT-MOC back-to-nature Shoes are made for men and women as well as children, and the way the grown-ups buy them they like them as well as the children do. Why?—because they are a combination of good appearance, ease and long wear.

A WONDERFUL REFORM
 in the methods of fire underwriting has taken place and fire insurance is being recognized as a science, instead of a gambling proposition.

The owner of a building will be given credit in his rate by taking precautions and making improvements in construction.

This is the only method that will reduce conflagrations and result in the reduction of rates.
