CHILDREN'S DAY IN THE CHURCHES

Elaborate Programs Arranged for Annual Observance
Tomorrow.

APPROPRIATE SERMONS

Attractive Floral Decorations and Special Music Will Be Features of the Celebration in Local Edifices.

Children's Day will be observed in several of the local churches tomorrow, special exercises having been arranged for the occasion, which is marked almost universally each year. In all cases the children will take a prominent part in the exercises of the day. The programs for these observances in the local churches are as follows:

Congregational Church.
The exercises at the Congregational church will take place at 10:30, the hour of the morning service. The Sunday-school will occupy front seats of the auditorium. The exercises will include baptism of children, the graduation from the primary department, presentation of Bibles and Testaments, recitations, and a short sermon to the children by the pastor, Rev. Charles L. Goodrich. The subject of the sermon will be "Blue-Jays and Song-sparrows." The names of the children on the cradle roll will be called, each child responding receiving a flower. A special service will be held in the evening, when Rev. Lewis Bond will lecture on "Salonica." Stereopticon slides will be shown.

Warren Chapel.
The exercises at Warren chapel will be held at 9:45 and will be in charge of Joseph W. Gavett, superintendent of the Sunday-school. William D. Murray will be the speaker of the occasion, while music will have a prominent part in the remainder of the program. Members of the home department are especially invited to attend these exercises.

Crescent Ave. Presbyterian Church.
The hour for the services at this church has been set for 10:30, the regular session of the Sunday-school being omitted. The primary department will sit with the members of the choir in the loft. Special music will mark the occasion, while Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelle will preach an appropriate sermon for the children. After the service, an exhibit of the work of the junior and senior departments will be made in the Sunday-school rooms. The members of the church and congregation are requested to visit this exhibit.

First Presbyterian Church.

SILVER BAY PARTY A DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR

Liberal Patronage Given to Y.
W. C. A. Entertainment for Summer Outing.

The "Silver Bay Party" was held at the Young Women's Christian Association last night, for the purpose of raising funds to meet the expenses of this year's delegation to the conference. Silver Bay is the conference grounds for all associations in the New England States, New York and New Jersey. Every year the Plainfield association has sent a delegation of at least ten members to the annual gathering of the Young Women's Christian Association of the Eastern States. The girls who attend these inter-State meetings come home filled with enthusiasm and have a new interest in their work. The admission to the party, which took the form of a country fair, was 10 cents.

The Greek dance was given by some of the gymnasium girls under the direction of Miss Mitchell, the physical director. At Silver Bay last year the local delegates presented the play, "In Search of the Blue Bird." The same cast gave it last night for the first time in Plainfield. One change in the cast had to be made. Miss Marion Mair took the part which Miss Hermann took last year.

A race track had been set up in the gymnasium upon which some exciting horse races took place. The Indian village was inhabited by Camp Fire Girls who served hot frankfurter sandwiches. The Bible class had charge of the picture gallery in which were placed a choice collection of Silver Bay photographs. The Sigma Gamma Kappa Club had charge of the refreshments. Pink lemonade was sold from a rustic well. The grounds were lighted with Japanese lanterns. The affair proved to be a great success.

WILLIAM J. WINGES DIES IN DUNELLEN

Well Known Citizen Passes
Away Following a Stroke of Paralysis.

William J. Winges, aged seventy-eight years, of Lincoln avenue, Dunellen, one of the best known citizens of that place, died at 3 o'clock this morning, following a paralytic stroke which he suffered last Sunday while sitting on the porch at his home. Since that time he had been in a critical condition and his death was expected for the past two or three days.

Mr. Winges had been a resident of Dunellen for the past quarter of a century and during the past few years he lived in retirement, having been pensioned by the Jacob Ruppert Brewing Company, of New York, by which he was employed for many years as a collector. He was widely known among the prominent Germans of the State and in New York, and during his long residence in the borough made many friends. His home was one of the most attractive in the borough. He is survived by a wife, Mrs. Gretchen Winges. The notice of funeral will be made later.

FESTIVAL WAS A SUCCESS.
The strawberry and ice cream festival held last night in the parlors of the First Baptist church proved to be a very successful affair. Mrs. Samuel Case and Herbert Cuddeback had charge of the refreshments and management. The rooms were very attractively decorated. Fully two hundred people were served.

Thompson Takes on Hudson Line for 1915.
The head of the Thompson Auto Co.'s sales dept., after just having visited the leading automobile manufacturers and thoroughly investigated all the new 1915 models, selected the Hudson cars exclusively for Union and Somerset counties. The Hudson during the past has been one of the two or three strongest contenders for the leadership in the $2,000 class, and the 1915 Hudson "six" has leaped so far ahead of its competitors that we have decided to discontinue all our other agencies in favor of the Hudson. The 1915 Hudson "six" at the new price, $1550, now offers a value with which none in the class can compete, it also wipes out every reason existing for buying a Four which costs over $1,000. Deliveries of the 1915 models will commence this month, and will be made in quantities in July.—Adv.

HUERTA'S MAN TO BE ACCEPTED

All Hope for Carranza Has Not Been Abandoned by the Mediators.

ADJUSTMENT IN SIGHT

Agreement as to Form of Transfer of the Government Now in Writing—It Is Believed That Rebel Envoys Will Have Hearing.

Niagara Falls, June 13.—The A. B. C. envoys, the American delegates and the Mexican delegates drafted in the form of an official protocol the first plank of the Mexican peace agreement. This plank provided that a provisional government should be established in Mexico on a date to be fixed prior to the ending of the conference, if the A. B. C. negotiations were successful.

Twenty-four hours have barely elapsed since the mediators made clear their stand through the publication of the Carranza documents, and already the first and most vital part of the peace plan evolved by the mediators has been put into writing and definitely adopted by all sides. This was done at a full conference held in the presence of all the American and Mexican delegates and the three mediators.

This first part of the plan provides for the installation of a provisional government in Mexico to take the place of General Huerta. The actual form of succession has been left open, but it has been definitely agreed by all sides that no candidate will be chosen who has not been approved by Huerta.

The mediators and delegates will take up the matter of names. A list of candidates has been prepared which includes none but men whom the Mexican delegates believe to be acceptable to the present head of the government at Mexico City. After a candidate is selected to be acceptable has been agreed upon the Mexican delegates will transmit his name to General Huerta, and not before the choice has been sanctioned by the provisional president will it be adopted at the conference.

Speedy Rearrangement.
This is the point which has been most bitterly opposed by the American delegates. They yielded only after the Washington government had been informed by its representatives here that the mediators had taken a step which in the opinion of close observers of the situation meant that they were prepared to put an end to the conference rather than impair the dignity of their governments and their personal feelings.

Justice Lamar in his statement, in which he announced that an agreement had been arrived at, clearly indicated that nothing was now in the way of a speedy rearrangement of the peace plan and its adoption by all sides. Developments plainly showed that the Wilson government is prepared even to completely abandon General Carranza rather than to permit the mediation conference to fail. The agreement reached has never been submitted to the rebel chieftain, and although several press dispatches announced that Carranza representatives were on their way to Niagara Falls this plan was definitely adopted.

It is clear to those who are best informed regarding the feelings of the mediators that this attitude will be maintained throughout the proceedings and that if the Mexican rebel is to be permitted at this late hour to take part in the negotiations it will be not on his own terms, but on those formulated by the three diplomats who are conducting the proceedings. All three envoys reiterated the assertion made that the Carranza incident is closed.

HOWARD ALLIGER HURT.
While working on the new Boy Scout wireless station at 25 Elm street, Howard Alliger fell from the top of a cherry tree and sustained serious injuries. Alliger is employed by Paul Collier of East Front Street. The extent of his injuries is not yet known but he will be unable to be at work for several days.

"THE TELEPHONE GIRL."
Under the auspices of the Marconian Reformed church at Oak Tree, a festival was held last night on the lawn. The affair was largely attended. During the evening, A. B. Wilson, manager for the local branch of the New York Telephone company, gave an interesting talk on "The Telephone Girl."

REV. BASCO TO HOLD MASS.
Rev. M. J. Basco, a newly ordained priest, who is well known among the Slavish people of Raritan, will celebrate his second Solemn High Mass in St. Bernard's Church tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock. He will give his blessing after the mass.

WILLIAM LORIMER. Three Banks of Former Senator From Illinois Closed by State.

The La Salle Street Trust and Savings bank—the Lorimer bank—and three other state banking institutions affiliated with that bank, the Illinois State Bank of Chicago, the Broadway State bank and the Astland State bank, were closed on the order of State Auditor James J. Brady. Daniel V. Harkin, chief bank examiner for Cook county, took charge of the bank, of which former Senator William Lorimer is president. The closing of the La Salle Street bank came, it was said, when a demand was made on the officers of the bank for the withdrawal of $300,000 of school funds deposited in the La Salle Street bank by the board of education of Chicago.

AMATEUR MINSTRELS ENTERTAINED MANY

Warren Chapel Athletes Presented Second Annual Affair in Park Club.

Members of the Warren Chapel athletic association presented their second annual minstrel show in the Park Club last night entertaining a large audience with a well given production. The cast was made up entirely of local talent and the program, divided into three parts, furnished three hours of amusement to the audience.

The usual array of blackface "chestnuts" and topical hits were given by the four end men, Jack Ricketts, James Goodwin, Charles M. Mumford and Benjamin Berse, and the chorus assisted ably in the humorous numbers. Clad in white uniforms adorned by red body sashes the chorus presented an excellent appearance and the manner in which the entire show was staged reflects credit on those at the head.

Many well known local blackface and semi-circle comedians were rolled in the chapel cast and some good vocal music was intermingled with local hits. Solos by Irving Manley, Ralph Martin and John Richards were unusually fine and the "Queen City Quartet" also gave a creditable account of itself.

In the second part a comedy sketch by Jack Ricketts, Charles Cregar, Jack Hallard and Tom Aggar brought down the house and served as a fitting finale for the evening of mirth. A banjo and mandolin duet was rendered by A. E. and C. G. Loew. Miss Edith Wheeler acted as accompanist at the piano and Alfred Naylor was orchestra leader.

MEET FOR THE FIRST TIME IN 33 YEARS

Mrs. Martin N. Hansen, of East Seventh street, is looking forward today with a great deal of pleasure to a visit from her brother, A. P. Anderson, of Chicago. He will reach Plainfield this afternoon and it will be the first time in thirty-three years that he and his sister have met. Business affairs prevented Mr. Anderson from coming east until this time, and it naturally will be an auspicious occasion.

Mr. Anderson will remain in Plainfield only a few days as he leaves next Tuesday for Germany for a visit with his mother. He will make a further stay with his sister on the return trip.

TEMPERATURE REPORT.
The temperature report from The State Trust company today is as follows: 9 a. m., 75 degrees; 11 a. m., 82 degrees; 12:30 p. m., 84 degrees.

CHARLES A. REED CHOSEN GOVERNOR

Succeeds H. L. DeForest as Member of Muhlenberg
Hospital Board.

MAY A BUSY MONTH

Total Number of 584 Patients Are Treated, An Average of 69 Per Day—86 Operations Are Performed.

Henry L. DeForest, who recently was elected a member of the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital, has been obliged to resign owing to a pressure of other business and the board has chosen Charles A. Reed to fill the vacancy. The governors feel gratified in being able to secure a man of Mr. Reed's qualifications to assist in the management of the hospital, while at the same time they regret the inability of Mr. DeForest to continue as a member of the board.

May was an especially active month at the hospital as indicated by the following report:

Patients in the hospital, May 1, 54; admitted during the month, 126; total treated during the month, 180; discharged, cured, 99; improved, 18; unimproved, 3; died, 5; total, 125; patients in the hospital at the end of the month, 55.

Total patients days' treatment, 1,807; average patients per day, 58; operations, 86; average daily operations, 3. Dispensary department: Admitted during the month, 77; return visits, 291; total visits for the month, 368; average visits per day, 11. The total number of patients treated in all departments during the month was 584, making an average per day in all departments of 69. Judging by the activities in the hospital thus far this month, June will probably exceed that of May in the number of cases treated.

DISAPPROVE OF THE AUTO BUS ORDINANCE

At the monthly meeting of the West End Civic Association last night, the members passed a resolution opposing the proposed ordinance to compel auto buses to use only certain streets. It was the consensus of opinion that the motor vehicles should have the same privileges as any licensed hack or taxicab. A copy of the resolution will be sent to the Common Council.

The subject of commission form of government for the city was brought up by Jacob Sachar and discussed at some length. It was decided to take up the question more fully at a special meeting on July 12. The remainder of the business transacted was of a routine nature.

LAWYERS' PLEAS EARNS BOY A LIGHT SENTENCE

Elizabeth, June 13.—Pleas by two lawyers, both engaged as his counsel and a further suggestion of leniency by Assistant Prosecutor Martin P. O'Connor led Judge James C. Connolly to deal leniently with Edward Colfax, a twenty-year-old Plainfield boy, arraigned in the court of Quarter Sessions yesterday afternoon for robbery. The charge, it was explained, arose out of Colfax's presence with others of less favorable reputation in a house where the robbery occurred. Frank Blatz and William Mayo Atkinson asked the court to show clemency for him, as it was his first offense, and letters testifying as to his good reputation were shown the court. He was placed on probation for one year after the court had instructed his father to see that he kept better company and conducted himself well.

Thomas Johnson, colored, at first pleaded not guilty to a charge of breaking, entering and larceny in Plainfield, but later in the afternoon changed his plea to guilty and will be sentenced Friday.

STRICKLAND-BALDWIN.
Miss Mabel Strickland and Walter Baldwin, both of Washington, L. I., were quietly wedded this morning at the home of Lawrence Scheelein, a brother-in-law of the green, of Somerset street. Rev. George Hauser, of Warrenville, pastor of the German Reformed church, was the officiating clergyman. Mr. and Mrs. Scheelein were the only attendants. After a brief wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin will reside at Port Washington.

FARMERS ENGAGE IN BATTLE ROYAL

Aggressor Got What is Known in Warren Township as a
"Trimming."

The residents of upper Watchung and Union Village, have been busy the last few days discussing the results of a battle royal which occurred in a cornfield along the Dugway road Wednesday afternoon, and which proved a Waterloo for Edward Burnett, who is known as a chronic aggressor. Bad feeling has existed between he and Walter Leffert because of a business deal and when he saw the latter hoeing corn in his employer's place he advanced with an argument. It only took a moment for a fistic encounter to start that was raging fiercely fifteen minutes later, when a brother of Ed's happened along. He separated the pair and according to the best information Burnett was only saved by the interference.

A short time later Burnett came back, and though Leffert was attending to his work, the former renewed the battle. This time the aggressor was given what is known as a "trimming." Although Burnett is a much older and heavier man than Leffert the wise ones say that he would have gone away in an ambulance, but for the timely intervention of two men from a passing lumber wagon. Leffert on the other hand appears none the worse for the encounter.

There has been lots of talk since the battle happened but as everyone says Burnett got all that was coming to him, no official action has been taken.

TWO MARKS SMASHED, TEAMS TIE FOR TITLE

Campbell and Waldorf Aggregations Will Appear in a Roll-off Next Week.

By winning two out of three games rolled with the VanEmburgh team in the Elks' tournament, last night, the Campbell plinners secured a clutch on the first place position, taking the final stand dead-locked with the Waldorf aggregation. A 909 rolled by the VanEmburgh team in the last game set up a high team score for the tourney.

Vail, of Campbell's team, smashed Waldorf's high individual score mark by toppling over 247 pins in the second match. He rolled off for the championship between the Waldorf and Campbell teams will be staged some night next week on the club alleys.

The scores:

EVONA CHAPEL EXERCISES.
Recitations and songs by the members of the primary and junior departments of Evona chapel will mark Children's Day tomorrow. Among the children who will take part are Mary Mattox, Henrietta Knothe, Melba Lancaster, Arthur Gray, Gladys Penoyer, Warren Montross, Caroline Mattox, Anna and Katherine Herman, Clifford Meddick, Margaret Penoyer, Jessie Stillman, Florence, George, Creager, Maude Lancaster, Bessie Edmick, Dorothy Lancaster, Grace Wheeler, Clarence Casnor, Olive Lancaster, Charles Lancaster, Raymond Meddick, Francis Boyle, Fred Lancaster, Ruth Holland, Ernest Penoyer.

BURSTING OF VALVE.
The bursting of a valve in the refrigerating apparatus at W. L. Smalley's market on Park avenue, flooded the building with ammonia fumes, late yesterday afternoon. The employees were driven from the place as it was impossible to shut off the flow without a protecting helmet for the person doing it. No one in Plainfield has one of these, and it was necessary to send to New Brunswick for one. The trouble was finally stopped before any damage occurred.

PLANNING TO HOLD PUBLIC MEETINGS

Consolidation is a Long Way Off, According to Those Who Are Interested.

WRONG IMPRESSION

Citizens of the Two Municipalities
Have Been Given to Understand
That No Open Meetings Will Be Held on the Proposition.

Friends of the consolidation of Plainfield and North Plainfield say that the report published recently in another local newspaper, that there will be no public meetings regarding the question, is entirely erroneous. The Borough Council at its meeting last Friday night voted to submit the question of consolidation to the people, and passed a resolution at that time directing the Mayor to appoint a committee of borough citizens for the purpose of calling public meetings and ascertaining the sentiment of the people on the subject. Mayor Clark expects to appoint such a committee within the next few days.

The proposition to consolidate does not involve any change in county lines. The plan is to follow the experience of New York city, which is a government operating in several counties and as it works successfully in a large city like New York, there should be no reason why it should not work here in a smaller community, it is asserted.

The election in the borough does not take place until September 24, almost four months away, so that there will be plenty of time for full and open discussion. Even if the borough votes for consolidation it will be necessary for the city also to take a vote before these two municipalities are united. No attempts have been made to have an election in Plainfield and, it is not intended that the matter shall be agitated in the city until after the borough puts itself on record for or against the proposition, then it will be taken up in the city, public meetings will be held and the Council will be asked to decide whether or not there shall be an election. So that it is plain that consolidation is a long way off.

JOINT SANITARY SEWER MATTER IS PROGRESSING

The sub-committee of the Joint Sewage Committee, which has to do with the contracts and recommendation of an engineer, met last night and discussed details of the matters under advisement. A recent resolution adopted by the Commission authorized the employment of George W. Fuller as engineer, provided satisfactory arrangements could be made with him. This, it is expected, will be done.

It is also expected that the deal for the Darling farm will be closed before the expiration of the extension of the thirty day option which will be about July 12. The Commission does not anticipate any further trouble in putting the plans in operation.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS TO OBSERVE MEMORIAL DAY

Local members of the Knights of Pythias will tomorrow observe the Memorial Day of the order. Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, will attend divine service at the First Presbyterian church at the evening service, when Rev. Dr. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the church, will preach an appropriate sermon.

Crescent Company, No. 13, Uniformed Rank, will journey to Portchester, N. Y., where they will visit the grave of Harvey Patterson at Rye cemetery. Memorial services will be held there. The local Knights will leave this city on the 8:52 train from the North avenue station. A communication was received from the Portchester company, stating that a parade of the Uniformed Rank would be held. After the services, the Plainfielders will be entertained at the Rye Beach Hotel, in honor of the birthday anniversary of Captain John E. Flannery, who is to accompany the members of Crescent Company.

LEAVE FOR MAINE.
Raymond Force, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Force, of Mountain avenue, who has been detained at his home for the past two months by illness, has gone to Maine in company with his father, in the hope that the change will be beneficial. Mr. Force, Sr., will be gone about a month while his son will remain indefinitely.

GUARD KING FROM MILITANT OUTRAGES

Smear Tar In Church, Then Apply Torch.

London, June 13.—Militant suffragettes set fire to Shipstead church, near Red Hill. The interior of the edifice was burned out, but firemen were successful in preventing a total loss.

The walls, floor, altar and pews of the church were smeared with tar. It appears that the torch was applied in three different places.

Suffrage handbills were strewn all about the place. Policemen saw women leaving the building a short time before the fire started.

Scotland Yard is looking for a tall woman in black, who, it is believed, is the militant who left the bomb that exploded in Westminster Abbey.

The police, pursuing their policy of seeking for names of contributors to the suffragette cause, raided the new headquarters of the Women's Social and Political Union in Campden Hill square. They seized many documents, but made no arrests. Prosecutions of wealthy contributors to the suffragette activities are expected to follow soon if the names of any such were obtained.

Double guards about King George and in the Abbey are the apparent result of the attempts of suffragettes to blow up the coronation chair in the Abbey.

Except for the Chapel of Edward the Confessor, in which the coronation chair rests, the abbey was thrown open to the public as usual, but in its every corner detectives were placed to seek a trace of those who caused the explosion or to prevent any further attempts at vandalism.

STILLWELL MUST SERVE.

Appellate Division Decides He Must Stay In Sing Sing.

New York, June 13.—Stephen J. Stillwell, former state senator from the Bronx, convicted of demanding $2,500 before having a bill reported favorably from the committee of codes of the senate, of which he was a member, must serve out his sentence of not less than four years and not more than eight in Sing Sing prison.

A unanimous decision on this effect was handed down by the appellate division of the supreme court.

DEEDS, NOT WORDS.

Plainfield People Have Absolute Proof of Deeds at Home.

It's not words but deeds that prove true merit.

The deeds of Doan's Kidney Pills.

For Plainfield kidney sufferers, Have made their local reputation.

Proof lies in the testimony of Plainfield people.

Albert Naylor, musician, 236 East Second street, Plainfield, N. J., says:

"Several years ago I suffered from an ache in the small of my back and sharp pains when stooping or lifting.

I took Doan's Kidney Pills, as I was told that they were good for such trouble and by the time I had finished two boxes, I was feeling better in every way. I have often recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to people I have heard complaining of kidney trouble."

South Plainfield.

Children's Day will be observed in the South Plainfield Baptist church tomorrow with appropriate exercises both morning and evening. At the morning service, the pastor, Rev. J. J. Allen, will speak on "Faith." The Sunday-school will give a musical and literary exercise at the evening service. The service will be especially attractive because of two emblematic pieces, entitled, "Jesus, the King" and "The Water of Life." A large running fountain has been built at great labor and every effort is being put forth to make this service the best ever held on Children's Day. The public is especially invited to attend.

Rev. and Mrs. J. J. Allen will leave Monday for Boston, where they will attend the meetings of the Northern Baptist Convention. They will be accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Robinson, of Walton, N. Y.; and Rev. and Mrs. E. R. Allen, of Easton, Pa.

THE STATE TUBERCULOSIS SANATORIUM.

One of the annoying facts about Tuberculosis is that no one knows just when he or she may become a prey to it, for no age or station in life is immune. In fact, if we believe those who know the most about this too prevalent disease, the majority of us possess the disease in a latent form, ready to be fanned into a flame if the health of the individual becomes so impaired that the natural defenses of the body are removed. When discovered in its early stages, however, it is a very hopeful disease if treated under proper conditions. A regulated life and freedom from ordinary work and care are essential. This State therefore very properly in 1905 began the erection of a Sanatorium with this object in view.

Located at Glen Gardner, Hunterdon County on the slope of a mountain nearly 1,000 feet above the level of the sea and commanding one of the most magnificent views to be had in this State, the Sanatorium is ideally situated. The State has acquired over 600 acres, the different buildings representing an outlay of over $400,000, supported at an annual cost of $90,000. There is a southern exposure and protection on the north by a dense forest. Most of the buildings are of native stone and stucco of pleasing form and conveniently arranged. It is one of the largest and best equipped Sanatoria in the United States.

The institution is easily reached from Plainfield over the C. R. R. of N. J. and a three-quarter mile walk from the station. The automobilist who has never ridden through Hunterdon County with its beautiful hills and valleys to High Bridge and Glen Gardner, nor enjoyed the view of the valley from the Sanatorium, has indeed missed a treat. The distance is 36 miles and visitors are always welcome.

From the first the institution has proved the need by being continually overcrowded and maintaining a waiting list. Last year there were examined 1,251 applicants for admission, of whom 496 were admitted. The average daily patient population is 192. Two thousand six hundred and five (2,605) patients have received treatment since the Sanatorium was opened seven years ago. And with what result? Of the 1,449 discharged prior to October 31, 1912, 779 or 54 per cent. are able to earn their livelihood. While the others have not for various reasons held their own or improved to such an extent as to be independent, they have been able to live longer and more comfortably and to spread less contagion. But even more than this is the fact that each ex-patient becomes a factor in spreading the gospel of good health.

No Sanatorium for Tuberculosis diseases hopes to cure every patient. It takes years to become cured of Tuberculosis. A Sanatorium is a school for instruction in correct methods of living which if continued after discharge or graduation may result in cure. If the ex-patient continues to live correctly in the manner taught in the Sanatorium, his immediate associates will soon be doing the same thing.

And please note this very significant fact; about 20 per cent. of new applications to the Sanatorium come through the recommendation of former patients. These ex-patients have learned by a sad experience the grave danger of a continued cough, a rundown condition or other early symptoms. They are only too glad to put their friends on guard. Thus the great blessing of this institution is not alone the immediate benefit each patient receives, but the benefit to the community from the information each ex-patient imparts.

Unfortunately only about 50 per cent. of the applicants to the Sanatorium are admitted. The cause for rejection is mainly the advanced state of the disease and hopeless condition of the applicants. The statute specifies that only cases of a curable nature be received and the buildings were erected and equipped with this purpose in view, so that hopelessly sick patients cannot be cared for. A building for the accommodation of fifty children will be opened very soon. There will be open-air class rooms and other modern equipment. This will make more room for adults in the general wards, and will shorten the waiting list.

Two criticisms of the institution are at times heard; the quality of the food and the work required of some of the patients. No patient unable to work is asked to work. Part of the treatment consists of a careful and individual regulation of rest and exercise. Patients, now residing in the institution have prescribed for them each week the amount of exercise for the succeeding seven days. As this necessity for graduated exercise and work is recognized by nearly every Tuberculosis institution, even the private ones, it is doubly important in a state institution, where the patients are obliged to earn their living after discharge. To send a patient into the world after a long period of rest would result in break-down and relapse. The food supply is the best that can be procured. However, the best answer to these criticisms is that 87 per cent. of the patients discharged last year for instance, gained an average of 12½ pounds.

Recently the Legislature provided funds for an infirmary building, where patients failing to do well or requiring special dieting will be received. Provision has also been made for the purchase of a large herd of cows, insuring a better and adequate milk supply.

W. LINCOLN PHILLIPS WILL SEEK ASSEMBLY NOMINATION

The first of the candidates to enter the field for the nomination as Assemblyman on the Progressive ticket since the announced purpose of the county committee to run a full ticket this fall, is W. Lincoln Phillips, who represents the first election district of Roselle Park, on the county committee.

Mr. Phillips is a printer by trade, and is a member of the "Big Six" Typographical Union of New York, and is employed in that city at the plant of the M. B. Brown Printing Company. Mr. Phillips was one of those who stumped the county last fall for his party.

PIGEON BRINGS NEWS OF BALLOON WRECK

Struck by Lightning; Captain John Barry Injured.

Portland, Ore., June 13.—A carrier pigeon fluttered into the Oregon Homing club bearing this message:

"Million Population balloon struck by lightning. Berry badly hurt. Lost in woods. Morrison, Aide."

The message was the first news here that disaster had befallen the mammoth balloon of the Million Population club of St. Louis, which started in the balloon race from this city at 4 p. m. yesterday, and that Captain John Barry, the aeronaut, was injured and lost somewhere in the forests, probably of the Cascade mountains, with George Y. Morrison of Portland, who accompanied him on his flight.

It is believed that the two men are somewhere in the dense forests on the west slope of the Cascades southeast of this city.

The balloon was traveling in this direction at a high elevation when last seen by Captain Honeywell in the balloon Uncle Sam, as the last named gas bag was landing seven miles southeast of Oregon City at 7:30 o'clock last night, after having been partly wrecked by an electric storm.

Dr. W. E. Stewart, who accompanied Captain Honeywell, said today it was his opinion the disaster may have come to Captain Barry in the same storm which struck them.

Captain Barry was seen to release much of his ballast in an effort to obtain an elevation above the storm, and it is considered likely that he was unable to obtain an elevation sufficient to take him over the Cascade mountains. Messages have been sent in every direction by telephone, telegraph and every other available means of communication to all parts of the state in an effort to obtain some information regarding the location of the lost aeronauts.

JUDGE DAYTON IMPEACHED.

Resolution Charges Him With Twenty-six Acts of Misconduct.

Washington, June 13.—In a resolution charging United States District Judge Alston G. Dayton of West Virginia with twenty-six acts of alleged misconduct in office, Representative Neeley formally impeached the judge in the house and asked an investigation of his activities on the bench.

Mr. Neeley requested the appointment of a subcommittee of the judiciary committee to conduct the inquiry.

"I impeach Alston G. Dayton of high crimes and misdemeanors," Neeley formally charged. He then charged Judge Dayton with "having unlawfully conspired with certain corporations and individuals to bring about the removal of former Judge John J. Jackson in order that he (Dayton) might be appointed to the vacancy in the office."

THREE LORIMER BANKS CLOSED

Grand Jury May Now Act In Case.

STATE CLOSES CONCERNS

Many Not Surprised by the Auditor's Move—Bank Examiner Takes Action Against Institution Headed by Former Illinois Senator.

Chicago, June 13.—Criminal prosecution is expected to follow the closing today by examiners of the La Salle Street Trust and Savings bank, of which ex-United States Senator William Lorimer is president, and three associated banks.

Chief Bank Examiner Harkins and a score of assistants are busily engaged in trying to unravel the financial tangle which resulted in a run on the La Salle street bank.

Mr. Harkins said it would be several days before the actual state of affairs is known. In round numbers the combined deposit liabilities aggregate between $8,000,000 and $8,000,000.

The closing of the La Salle street bank came, it was said, when a demand was made on the officers of the bank for the withdrawal of $600,000 of school funds deposited in the La Salle street bank by the board of education of Chicago.

Just what the condition of the Lorimer bank is and what the chances are for depositors getting their money will be disclosed only after an examination of the assets.

Other Banks In Good Shape.

Examiner Harkins made it plain that he closed the outlying banks only because of their affiliation with the La Salle street bank. So far as is shown these three banks are all in the very best of shape. They deposited with the La Salle street bank, however, and Examiner Harkins thought it best to close them for the time being.

News of the closing of the La Salle Street Trust and Savings bank spread rapidly through the financial district. Bankers and men on the inside were not surprised at the action taken by the state bank examiner.

They had expected something of the kind to happen for months. Thomas McDonald, treasurer and director of the La Salle Street Trust and Savings bank, gave out the following statement following the closing of the bank's doors:

"Bank deposits to the amount of $1,500,000 have been withdrawn within the last three weeks. Our books show we owe $3,000,000 to depositors, and we could not pay it all at once. The bank examiner demanded that we have $1,000,000 on hand. He said we needed that much to carry on business. The bank directors didn't think so."

Excitement was high at La Salle and Quincy streets when the La Salle street bank closed. Crowds gathered in front of the building, and a call was sent to the central station for reserves to assist the policemen at the bank.

Went Affect Other Banks.

"The closing of the La Salle street bank should not have the slightest effect upon any of the other banks in the loop district," said James B. Fegan, president of the First National bank. "The bank which has closed its doors is not associated with any other downtown bank."

"It is not a member of the Clearing House association and has had none of the privileges of the clearing house. It is impossible to say what effect the closing will have in a general way, and I would not like to say until I heard more details of the matter."

WHY READERS PREFER

PHILADELPHIA RECORD

Ask a dozen readers of The Philadelphia Record why they prefer it to any other newspaper and you'll get a dozen different answers. It is the favorite of each because it is strongest in the particular news field which especially interests him. Boil down the answers and you'll find a consensus of opinion that it's a well balanced, all-around newspaper, covering with exceptional fairness and accuracy every field of human activity.

The Philadelphia Record rides no hobbies and plays no favorites. It gives all the news for just what it is worth. It steers clear of sensationalism. It is clean and wholesome. Its sporting department is a tower of strength. Its financial reports are authoritative. Producers swear by its market quotations. Its editorial policies command respect and confidence. Its good-natured cartoons imitatively hit off the leading topics of the day. Good judges deem De Mar the best cartoonist in the country.

The same reasons which make the daily issue of The Philadelphia Record a favorite have popularized the Sunday issue. The Sunday Record includes, besides the usual daily features, a live Magazine Section devoted to women's interests, science and invention, the entertainment of the little folks, special articles of news interest and humor. There is also a four-page section of colored comics and a weekly fiction magazine.

The daily issue and the Sunday issue of The Philadelphia Record, appealing as they do to every member of the family, are leaders in their respective fields, and deserve the popularity they have achieved.

"FUZZY" FIRSTBROOK

CELEBRATES ANNIVERSARY.

"Fuzzy" Firstbrook, building editor and cub reporter of the Daily Press, is today observing his first anniversary as a news reporter. Cigars were passed around, and the following anniversary oration was delivered before the Fourth Estate of Plainfield, on "The Third Floor, Front."

Fuzzy's Philosophy.

While Shakespeare said it was a wise man who knows his own son, I say he is a wiser man who knows his own business—and minds it.

Many a young man has been advised to marry and settle down, while several of my creditors have advised me to stay single and settle up.

Reporters may come and reporters may go, but first brook flows on forever.

Every man can do three things, and do them much better than the people who are accomplishing the things: viz., run a railroad, run a hotel, and run a newspaper. I know of several who could run the Daily Press—into debt.

Ford, of auto fame, is paying his floor sweepers $5 a day, but I am not employed in Detroit.

If the by-words of a few business men of this town should be published in my given almanac, Ben Franklin would be put to shame.

A horse may be led to water, but a town may be a good town, but the outside world will never know it if you don't inform them of the fact.

Many a paper has but seven columns on the front page. Those who desire free advertising will kindly take note.

If it were a question of "Plainfield or Bust" with some people I know, Plainfield would have been busted long ago.

A man dies but once. Don't put him six feet beneath the sod before his body is cold.

In its final analysis, philosophy is nothing more or less than common horse sense. Therefore, use common sense, and your name will go down into the pages of history as a philosopher.

If your town isn't worth a boost, now and again, and is entirely lacking in virtue, why do you continue to hang around? And remember that one good boost deserves another.

The fact that our nation could have but one father is no reason for your not fathering something for the betterment of your fellow man.

Boost, and the town boosts with you.

Knock, and you knock alone.

There is no need for one being a foolish virgin because they have but one talent. The majority of the people which you and I meet have but one talent, but they are far from being all fools.

A man's native town as a general rule appears to him as the best ever. If it doesn't, look out for him; there is something radically wrong with his makeup.

All men are created equal, according to one of our public documents, while the Good Book informs us that we find our common level in the grave. Whether we remain even with, fall behind, or leave them in the rear, depends upon our use of equal opportunities.

Modern thought tells us that there is as much hell in this world as in the next; but this should not hinder us from equalizing the amount of heaven in this and the next world. How much of the hereafter one enjoys or suffers in this world depends largely on himself, and it does not take a preacher to prove that statement.

Josh Billings says, "Consider the postage stamp, it's ability to stick to one thing until it gets there." He said more about the stamp in that one sentence than could be said about some Plainfielders who have started to do something, but fell by the wayside because their vision faltered.

Paint heart never won fair lady; neither has it been instrumental in building up the community, the State or the nation. It has been more in the nature which tears down good works, rather the building up of laudable institutions.

When one talks of a town, he talks of the people in the town. Therefore, if you knock Plainfield, you knock yourself and your family as part and portion of the town.

Knocking, like dirt, is cheap. If your wealth is measured only in the number of knocks you hand out, you are far from being a millionaire.

It is easy to go with the tide, but he is, indeed, a man who boots the town where others are prone to knocking.

GOOD GAME BOOKED FOR SUNDAY FANS

Gerard, of High Bridge, Will Not Appear on the Mound Until Next Saturday.

The Plainfield Sunday Baseball Club will take on the Makers, of Staten Island, at South Park tomorrow, in the second game of a series of three. The locals were defeated in the first game but expect to get on even terms tomorrow.

The pitcher for tomorrow's game has not been decided on, but next Sunday, Gerard, of Lafayette College, will be in the box as regular pitcher. The lineup: Jaeger, ss; Garretson, 1b; L. Dixon, c; Martin or Grimes, 2b; Coyle, 3b; Wilson, lf; Miller, cf; Alberts, rf.

LOCAL PLAYER LOST IN DOUBLES FINALS

Miss Edna Wildey and Partner Nosed Out for United States Championship.

Philadelphia, June 13.—For the second consecutive year Miss Mary Browne and her sister, Mrs. Robert Williams of California, won the women's doubles championship of the United States by defeating Mrs. Edward Raymond, of New York, and Miss Edna Wildey of Plainfield, in the final match of that section of the women's national lawn tennis tournament played yesterday on the courts of the Philadelphia Cricket Club. The score was 8-6, 6-2. This makes the third consecutive time that Miss Browne has had a share in winning this title, for, paired with the then Miss Dorothy Green, of Philadelphia, she won that title at the annual tournament in 1912.

The first set today was hard fought, as the score indicates. Mrs. Raymond and her partner had a good chance to win but let it slip by and were utterly routed in the second set, the smooth team play of the champions, backed up by deadly accuracy in their placing, proving too much for the contenders.

DOCTORS' POSTPONEMENT OFFER IS TURNED DOWN

Those at the head of the doctors' baseball team which is scheduled to lineup against the lawyers' combination on Parker Field next Saturday afternoon have offered to postpone the match until some future date owing to the injury sustained by V. W. Nash, Jr., one of the lawyers' most promising pitchers. Considering the fact that the opposition would be materially weakened by the loss of Nash, a representative of the doctors' side called at his home yesterday and offered the postponement. Nash would not agree to any change in date inasmuch as all arrangements had been previously made and requested that the contest be staged as announced. He is suffering from a badly sprained ankle, but expects to be back in the game prior to Saturday.

NEW BALL TEAM IN NORTH PLAINFIELD

Organized to Play Summer Baseball During the Coming Diamond Season.

Some of the former students and athletes of North Plainfield High School are contemplating organizing a baseball team to play Saturday afternoons during the summer months. Carroll Taylor, the instigator of the plan, has a fine bunch of material in view and a fast nine will undoubtedly be formed. Taylor will probably captain the team and Charles Beckman will do the bookkeeping. He would like to hear from teams in this vicinity such as the Klunkers, Park Avenue Baptist, Hope Chapel and the Y. M. A. games to be played on opponents field.

Seven of the players on this year's borough team will play with this new aggregation and several of those who played a few years ago. Smalley will do the catching and the pitching staff will consist of Stahl, Deany and Percy Bailey, the latter being the mainstay of the borough school team during the championship series of 1911. First and second bases will be taken care of by Taylor and Burner, Warren Townley will play the difficult corner and his brother George will probably play shortstop. Dunning will play in left field and Hebert will cover center. The right garden has not yet been filled. Some of the games will probably be played

TANG TAKEN OUT OF TANGO.

Dancing Masters Remove Exotic Movements From Maxixe Also.

Cleveland, O., June 13.—Disciples of the tango and the maxixe managed to obtain approval of certain forms of these dances at the convention of the National Dancing Masters' association. However, tango fields will hardly recognize the denatured tango approved, and lovers of the maxixe will look in vain for its more exotic movements. Ten steps of the tango as presented by J. E. Miles of New York and five steps of the maxixe shown by J. G. Keane of Chicago were approved. Ballroom dances approved were Prince's Hesitation, the American Grapevine, the Twinkle waltz, the Scroll Hesitation, the Canter two-step, the canter waltz, the Exeter caprice, the Blue Danube waltz and Sobey's Hesitation.

BALLOON HIT BY LIGHTNING.

Carrier Pigeon Brings Call For Aid From Aeronauts.

Portland, Ore., June 13.—A carrier pigeon taken up with the balloon Million Population when it ascended in yesterday's races arrived with a message saying that the air craft had been struck by lightning and that Captain Berry, the pilot, was seriously injured. The message added that the balloon was lost in the woods and asked immediate aid.

MEADOW RECLAMATION WOULD BOOM TRADES

Activities in the industrial, building trades and real estate lines may be expected in this country, should the plans for reclaiming the meadow land along Newark Bay as advocated by the Newark City Planning Commission come to pass. This county has 8,000 feet of meadow land or that section which runs up as far as Bound creek, which would be benefited to a great degree if the plans of the Newarkers be carried out.

This would, no doubt, be the means of a great boom for Elizabeth, but the rest of the county would, undoubtedly, reap a portion of the benefits to be derived from the reclamation of that stretch of land. It is the aim of the Newark Commission to develop the meadow land, and in order to accomplish this, the co-operation of Elizabeth and Union county would be an essential feature of the program.

NEEDLEWORK

By MARGARET LAWRENCE

A SIMPLE DESIGN SUITABLE FOR EMBROIDERING A PILLOW

A serviceable pillow may be made of more colors. There are four large of burlap, crafts canvas or rep and motifs, each 7 inches in diameter and embroidered with these motifs, which four smaller ones, each 4 1/2 inches. are from pattern No. 14619. They may be arranged in any way desired and are suitable for use on and solid work or darning, in one or pillows and runners. 15 cents.

Some Cookery Suggestions

GREEN PEAS.

WASH the pods of peas before shelling them. Then the peas need not be washed. When crisp and plump peas are delicious. Put them into a colander and sift out the fine particles before boiling. Old peas may be made tender by extra cooking, or they may be rubbed through a sieve before serving. Always break the hulls of peas with the teeth before swallowing them. Otherwise they are indigestible.

Cooked With Cabbage.

Green Peas and Cabbage.—Wash a new cabbage and a few lettuce leaves, a handful of parsley and three or four green onions. Cut into shreds and put into a saucepan with a pint and a half of green peas and a piece of butter. Cover the pan and allow to cook over a slow fire, stirring occasionally to prevent burning. A double saucepan is the best for this. When well cooked season with pepper and salt and serve on a hot dish.

Peas With Mint.—Drop fresh young peas into boiling water with sprigs of mint. Cook, uncovered, until tender. Add half a teaspoonful of powdered sugar, butter and salt to taste and cream if desired.

Green Pea Salad.—Drain liquid from a cupful and a half of well seasoned cold cooked green peas and chill them. When ready to prepare the salad mix with the peas half a cupful of carrot, grated raw, reserving a little to garnish the top. Cover with mayonnaise or a cooked dressing. Serve at once on crisp lettuce leaves.

A Nice Salad.

Vegetable Salad.—Take one cupful of cold peas; one cupful of cold-beets, cut in cubes; two cupfuls of boiled potatoes, half of a small onion, chopped fine; six small cucumber pickles, sliced fine; one dozen olives, cut in small pieces; one teaspoonful of salt, the whites of two hard-boiled eggs, cut fine. Put all together in a large bowl. Make dressing as follows: Take two mashed yolks of hard-boiled eggs, one yolk of a raw egg and two teaspoonfuls of well mixed mustard. To these add gradually half a pint of olive oil, a spoonful at a time, mixing well with a silver spoon. When mixed, it should be the consistency of whipped cream. Thin with one tablespoonful of vinegar. Turn on vegetables, mix lightly with spoon and set on ice until ready to serve.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—The Homesick Puppy Goes Back to Mother.

DADDY had a story about a little dog which he knew would please both the children. "Would you like to hear of a little dog who was homesick?" he asked. "Yes," said Evelyn; "we would love to hear about it—that is, if he didn't die of homesickness." "No, indeed," said daddy; "this little dog didn't die of homesickness, for he was sent home again and then was perfectly happy." "He was the pet puppy of his mother, and he had told the man who had sold him to a little girl that he didn't want to go." "The man who sold him thought that the little girl would give him such a nice home, and so he did, but the little puppy wanted more than just a nice home. He wanted his mother." "Of course the little girl hadn't hesitated a moment about buying him, for he was a beautiful little Boston bull, and she promised him that she would make him so happy." "He cried piteously at leaving his mother, and she whined and whimpered and begged that he might be allowed to stay. She licked her master's hand, but nothing seemed to do any good." "Now, when the little girl reached home with her puppy she gave him a great big bowl of the most delicious warm milk and a good puppy biscuit. But the puppy wouldn't touch the milk and biscuit." "At bedtime the little girl showed the puppy his basket, which was nice and soft and comfortable. She thought that after a good night's rest he would be hungry for his breakfast and feel better." "But morning came, and the puppy still refused to eat. And, would you believe it, hours passed, and the puppy still would not eat." "And the little girl decided that the only thing to be done was to take her beautiful puppy back to his mother." "She ordered her pony cart to be ready for a certain hour, and off she started, holding the puppy by her." "When the puppy came near his home, and began to see familiar sights it was all she could do to keep him in the cart, and when they were right by his home she could not hold him, for with a bound he was out and frisked and jumped over his mother, and she did the same, looking as if they would almost kill each other in joy." "I guess he had better stay home," said the man. "Yes," answered the little girl; "this is where he belongs."

Practical Fashion Hints

By Alice Gibson

This design, No. 7445, is an attractive little model for linen, serge or any of the summer wash materials favored for children's dresses. Blue chambray washes well, does not fade and is an excellent material for general wear. If this little dress were made of blue chambray, as a relief, collar and cuffs might be of white eyelet embroidery and white bone buttons could be used to close it. The sleeves are set in to the normal shoulder and may be full length or cut off at the elbow. There is a broad tucked over-the-shoulder, a pointed collar and a narrow stitched belt. The skirt is in five gores, has an inverted box plait on each side and a panel back. For the child of twelve, this dress requires 3 yards of 36-inch material with 3/4 yard of 27-inch material for collar and cuffs. The pattern is cut in four sizes, 8 to 14.

This is a Perfect Pattern.

Be sure to give right size, passing the tape around the widest part of the breast, well up under the arms. It may be obtained by filling out the coupon and enclosing 15 cents in stamps or coin to the Pattern Department of this paper.

THE OUTCASTS OF POKER FLAT

By BRET HARTE

BRET HARTE

Twenty-four famous authors were asked recently to name the best short story in the English language. Richard Harding Davis and Wallace Irwin named "The Outcasts of Poker Flat," by Bret Harte, whose complete works are published by the Houghton-Mifflin Company.

RICHARD HARDING DAVIS

PART I.
AS Mr. John Oakhurst, gambler, stepped into the main street of Poker Flat on the morning of the 23d of November, 1850, he was conscious of a change in its moral atmosphere since the preceding night. Two or three men, conversing earnestly together, ceased as he approached and exchanged significant glances. There was a Sabbath lull in the air, which, in a settlement unused to Sabbath influences, looked ominous.

Mr. Oakhurst's calm, handsome face betrayed small concern in these indications. Whether he was conscious of any predisposing cause was another question. "I reckon they're after somebody," he reflected, "likely it's me." He returned to his pocket the handkerchief with which he had been whipping away the red dust of Poker Flat from his neat boots and quietly discharged his mind of any further conjecture.

In point of fact, Poker Flat was "after somebody." It had lately suffered the loss of several thousand dollars, two valuable horses and a prominent citizen. It was experiencing a spasm of virtuous reaction, quite as lawless and ungovernable as any of the acts that had provoked it. A secret committee had determined to rid the town of all improper persons. This was done permanently in regard to two men who were then hanging from the boughs of a sycamore in the gulch and temporarily in the banishment of certain other objectionable characters.

Mr. Oakhurst received his sentence with philosophic calmness, none the less coolly that he was aware of the hesitation of his judges. He was too much of a gambler not to accept fate. With him life was at best an uncertain game, and he recognized the usual percentage in favor of the dealer.

A body of armed men accompanied the deported wickedness of Poker Flat to the outskirts of the settlement. Besides Mr. Oakhurst, who was known to be a coolly desperate man and for whose intimidation the armed escort was intended, the expropriated party consisted of a young woman familiarly known as "The Duchess," another, who had won the title of "Mother Shipton," and "Uncle Billy," a suspected slouch robber and confirmed drunkard. The cavalcade provoked no comments from the spectators, nor was any word uttered by the escort. Only when the gulch which marked the uttermost limit of Poker Flat was reached the leader spoke briefly and to the point. The exiles were forbidden to return at the peril of their lives.

As the escort disappeared their pent up feelings found vent in a few hysterical tears from the Duchess, some loud language from Mother Shipton and a Partisan volley of expletives from Uncle Billy. The philosophic Oakhurst alone remained silent. He listened calmly to Mother Shipton's desire to cut somebody's heart out, to the repeated statements of the Duchess that she would die in the road and to the alarming oaths that seemed to be hurled upon Uncle Billy as he rode forward. With the easy good humor characteristic of his class he insisted upon exchanging his own riding horse, Five Spot, for the sorry mule which the Duchess rode. But even this act did not draw the party into any closer sympathy. The young woman readjusted her somewhat dragged plumes with a feeble, faded coquetry. Mother Shipton eyed the possessor of Five Spot with malice, and Uncle Billy included the whole party in one sweeping anathema.

The road to Sandy Bar—a camp that, not having as yet experienced the regenerating influences of Poker Flat, consequently seemed to offer some invitation to the emigrants lay over a steep mountain range. It was distant a day's severe travel. In that advanced season the party soon passed out of the moist, temperate regions of the foothills into the dry, cold, bracing air of the Sierras. The trail was narrow and difficult. At noon the Duchess, rolling out of her saddle upon the ground, declared her intention of going no farther, and the party halted.

The spot was singularly wild and impressive. A wooded amphitheater surrounded on three sides by precipitous cliffs of naked granite sloped gently toward the crest of another precipice that overlooked the valley. It was undoubtedly the most suitable spot for a camp had camping been advisable. But Mr. Oakhurst knew that scarcely half the journey to Sandy Bar was accomplished and the party were not equipped or provisioned for delay. This fact he pointed out to his companions curtly, with a philosophic commentary on the folly of "throwing up their hand before the game was played out." But they were furnished with liquor, which in this emergency stood them in place of food, fuel, rest and prescience. In spite of his remonstrances it was not long before they were more or less under its influence. Uncle Billy passed rapidly from a bell-cose state into one of stupor, the Duchess became maudlin and Mother Shipton snored. Mr. Oakhurst alone remained erect, leaning against a rock calmly surveying them.

Mr. Oakhurst did not drink. It interfered with a profession which required coolness, impassiveness and presence of mind and, in his own language, he "couldn't afford it." As he gazed at his recumbent fellow exiles the loneliness begotten of his parish trade, his habits of life, his very veins for the first time seriously oppressed him. He bestirred himself in dusting his black clothes, washing his hands and face and other acts characteristic of his studiously neat habits, and for the moment forgot his annoyance. The thought of deserting his weaker and more pitiable companions never perhaps occurred to him. Yet he could not help feeling the want of that excitement which, singularly enough, was most conducive to that calm equanimity for which he was notorious. He looked at the gloomy walls that rose 1,000 feet sheer above the circling pines around him, at the sky, ominously clouded; at the valley below, already suddenly he heard his own name called.

A horseman slowly ascended the trail. In the fresh, open face of the newcomer Mr. Oakhurst recognized Tom Simson, otherwise known as "the Innocent" of Sandy Bar. He had met him some months before over a "little game," and had, with perfect equanimity, won the entire fortune amounting to some $400 of that guileless youth. After the game was finished, Mr. Oakhurst drew the youthful speculator behind the door and thus addressed him: "Tommy, you're a good little man, but you can't gamble worth a cent. Don't try it over again." He then handed him his money back, pushed him gently from the room, and so made a devoted slave of Tom Simson.

There was a remembrance of this in his boyish and enthusiastic greeting of Mr. Oakhurst. He had started, he said, to go to Poker Flat to seek his fortune. "Alone?" No, not exactly alone. In fact (a giggle), he had run away with Piney Woods. Didn't Mr. Oakhurst remember Piney? She that used to wait on the table at the Temperance House? They had been engaged a long time, but old Jake Woods had objected, and so they had run away and were going to Poker Flat to be married, and here they were. And they were tired out, and how lucky it was they had found a place to camp and company. All this the innocent delivered rapidly, while Piney, a stout, comely damsel of fifteen, emerged from behind the pine tree, where she had been blushing unseen, and rode to the side of her lover.

Mr. Oakhurst seldom troubled himself with sentiment, still less with propriety, but he had a vague idea that the situation was not fortunate. He retained, however, his presence of mind sufficiently to kick Uncle Billy, who was about to say something, and Uncle Billy was sober enough to recognize in Mr. Oakhurst's kick a superior power that would not bear trifling. He then endeavored to dissuade Tom Simson from desisting further, but in vain. He even pointed out the fact that there was no provision, nor means of making a camp. But, unluckily, the innocent met this objection by assuring the party that he was provided with an extra mule loaded with provisions and by the discovery of a rude attempt at a loghouse near the trail. "Piney can stay with Mrs. Oakhurst," said the innocent, pointing to the Duchess, "and I can shift for myself." Nothing but Mr. Oakhurst's admonishing foot saved Uncle Billy from bursting into a roar of laughter. As it was, he felt compelled to retire up the canyon until he could recover his gravity. There he confided the joke to the tall pine trees, with many slaps of his leg, contortions of his face and the usual profanity. But when he returned to the party he found them seated by a fire—for the air had grown strangely chill and the sky overcast—in apparently amicable conversation. Piney was actually talking in an impulsive, girlish fashion to the Duchess, who was listening with an interest and animation she had not shown for many days. The innocent was holding forth, apparently with equal effect, to Mr. Oakhurst and Mother Shipton, who was actually relaxing into amiability. "Is this yer a d-d picnic?" said Uncle Billy, with inward scorn, as he surveyed the sylvan group, the glancing freight and the tethered animals in the foreground. Suddenly an idea mingled with the alcoholic fumes that disturbed his brain. It was apparently of a jocular nature, for he felt impelled to slap his leg again and cram his fist into his mouth.

As the shadows crept slowly up the mountain a slight breeze rocked the tops of the pine trees and moaned through their long and gloomy aisles. The ruined cabin, patched and covered with pine boughs, was set apart for the ladies. As the lovers parted they unaffectedly exchanged a kiss, so honest and sincere that it might have been heard above the swaying pines. The frail Duchess and the malevolent Mother Shipton were probably too stunned to remark upon this last evidence of simplicity, and so turned without a word to the hut. The fire was replenished, the men lay down before the door, and in a few minutes were asleep.

Mr. Oakhurst was a light sleeper. Toward morning he awoke dazed and cold. As he stirred the dying fire the wind, which was now blowing strongly, brought to his cheek that which caused the blood to leave it—snow!

He started to his feet with the intention of awakening the sleepers, for there was no time to lose. But turning to where Uncle Billy had been lying, he found him gone. A suspicion leaped to his brain and a curse to his lips. He ran to the spot where the mules had been tethered. They were no longer there. The tracks were already rapidly disappearing in the snow.

The momentary excitement brought Mr. Oakhurst back to the fire with his usual calm. He did not waken the sleepers. The innocent slumbered peacefully, with a smile on his good humored, freckled face; the virgin Piney slept beside her frailer sisters as sweetly as though attended by celestial guardians, and Mr. Oakhurst, drawing his blanket over his shoulders, stroked his mustache and waited for the dawn. It came slowly in a whirling mist of snowflakes that dazzled and confused the eye. What could be seen of the landscape appeared magically changed. He looked over the valley and summed up the present and future in two words—"snowed in!"

A careful inventory of the provisions, which fortunately for the party, had been stored within the hut and so escaped the felonious fingers of Uncle Billy, disclosed the fact that with care and prudence they might last ten days longer. "That is," said Mr. Oakhurst sotto voce to the innocent, "if you're willing to board us. If you ain't, and perhaps you'd better not—you can wait till Uncle Billy gets back with provisions." For some occult reason Mr. Oakhurst could not bring himself to disclose Uncle Billy's rascality and so offered the hypothesis that he had wandered from the camp and had accidentally stamped the animals. He dropped a warning to the Duchess and Mother Shipton, who, of course, knew the facts of their associate's defection. "They'll find out the truth about us all when they find out anything," he added significantly, "and there's no good frightening 'em now."

Tom Simson not only put all his worldly store at the disposal of Mr. Oakhurst, but seemed to enjoy the prospect of their enforced seclusion. "We'll have a good camp for a week, and then the snow'll melt, and we'll all go back together." The cheerful gaiety of the young man and Mr. Oakhurst's calm infected the others. The innocent, with the aid of pine boughs, extemporized a perch for the roofless cabin, and the Duchess directed Piney in the rearrangement of the interior with a taste and tact that opened the blue eyes of that provincial maiden to their fullest extent. "I reckon now you're used to fine things at Poker Flat," said Piney. The Duchess turned away sharply to conceal something that reddened her cheeks through its professional tint, and Mother Shipton requested Piney not to "chatter." But when Mr. Oakhurst returned from a weary search for the trail he heard the sound of happy laughter echoed from the rocks. He stepped in some alarm, and his thoughts first naturally reverted to the whisky, which he had prudently cached. "And yet it don't seem so bad like whisky," said the gambler. It was not until he caught sight of the blazing fire through the still blinding storm and the group around it that he settled to the conviction that it was "square fun."

"AMERICAN 'DIABLETTE' AT

Do these headings refer to the acts of acknowledged maniacs and criminals who are supposed to be behind the bars? Not at all, they merely refer to the mildest acts of the fanatics who have been for many months slashing paintings, destroying mail, committing arson at every opportunity, exploding bombs, destroying property, both private and public, distributing vile, immoral literature, desecrating the house of God by howling down services, destroying old Bibles and burning the churches.

All this done to prove their fitness to handle the ballot, to frame and pass laws, to enforce order. Women supposed to be representing the power and ability of their sex to improve upon the work of men in every detail of government.

To work for universal peace, purity and the general uplift of humanity.

How much better methods could they be expected to employ in the exercise of the ballot than those being employed in the effort to get it? What have we in this country to do with these existing conditions in Great Britain?

How does all this effect the Suffrage question here? It affects it thus: The leaders of these women who founded Militancy, who investigate and plans by act and precept, the violence and depredation of which they are guilty in the dear admired friend, the honored guest of the suffrage leaders in the United States.

Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, be it not forgotten, declared she was going to study Militant methods with Mrs. Pankhurst that she might be equipped with the necessary knowledge if the Suffragists desired to institute it over here.

She fought the admission of Emmeline Pankhurst to this country. She declared that Militancy would draw the audiences, to Militancy must go the receipts. She engineered Mrs. Pankhurst's movements and tour so as to enable her to take back to the Militants $20,000 to add them to carry on their "reign of terror."

What would not that $20,000 put through proper channels have done to alleviate the suffering of the poor during the past hard winter. Let any organized institution for the care of the poor, the sick or the helpless answer that question and shame the women who are pretending that their whole desire for the vote is merely as an instrument to be used for the good of humanity in general, women and girls in particular.

Even in Plainfield is the recognition of Militancy—through recognition of its leaders and instigators—when a prominent Suffragist declared that "even if we did not wish to follow Militancy methods Mrs. Pankhurst must be allowed to land and explain them and the reasons for their existence."

If the words of some of the Suffragist leaders are true there is lacking but one thing among their followers to establish Militancy in this country and that one thing is physical courage.

The latest from Great Britain: "FURIES BLOW UP CORONA-TION CHAIR IN WESTMINSTER ABBEY."
