JOTTINGS.
—An effort is being made to hold the Y. M. C. A. district convention in Elizabeth next October. It will be a large affair, and will be held in the city of Elizabeth.

—The Lowndes Brazilian Circus Company challenges the world in the sum of $10,000 to defeat William Lowndes, a blacksmith carrying off, with infant son, or to equal his own seven barrel horse acts.

—John P. Bannock, the builder, has been awarded the contract for the new building to be erected for Mrs. Susan A. Rafferty on the corner of Broadway and Willow avenues, North Plainfield.

—The Wednesday evening Prayer Meeting of the First Baptist Church, at 7:45 p. m., will be conducted by the Society of Christian Workers. Reports will be given by delegates to the National Convention.

—The Rev. J. C. New York, will conduct the devotional exercises of the Young People's Society for Christian Endeavor at Warren mission chapel to-night. The hour of meeting will be eight o'clock.

—Tremendously heavy rainstorms have visited this vicinity to-day. This afternoon the main streets were in many places flooded to such a depth that it was impossible to pass the deep curbs. Freshets will probably follow.

—Docketing is a more expensive diversion in New Jersey than in New York. Mr. Brady, of New York City, had to pay 67 cents for his shrewish habits, while Bridget Carr, of this city, procured a custody order by Justice Gordon, of the Jefferson Market Court, was released from custody after paying a fine of $10. Whether it is that the influence of metropolitan life has softened the influence of New Jersey, or whether our judges are more gallant than those of Jersey is hard to say. At all events, it is well to have this crusade against custody orders carried forward earnestly.—New York World.

—Lowndes Brazilian Circus and Royal Menagerie combined, with Sioux Bill Wild West show, will exhibit in this city, beginning Friday, August 3d, on the old grounds on Fourth street back of the old clock tower. In speaking of this exhibition The Associated Press writes: "Lowndes' circus gave two more excellent performances Tuesday and they are giving another substantial margin as to go to the afternoon. The closing exhibition will be given this evening, and they deserve to have a crowded tent. They go to Columbia from Lancaster, and we can see the Columbia road that the performance is a good one, more worth than ten cents. In fact, the acrobats and gymnasts are as well as those of any high-priced circus we have ever seen."

Gen. Drake's New Penny Paper.
Gen. J. Madison Drake yesterday successfully launched his new daily afternoon newspaper, called "The Penny Paper." It is a penny paper, and is published at 105 CLOVER AVENUE, PLAINFIELD, N. J., at 3:30 p. m., and is called The Elizabeth Daily Leader. In the evening the magazine edition, in order to celebrate the event, made a balloon ascension from the roof of his office. This was followed by a jollification by the three stockholders and numerous friends. The paper's editors is a new departure in journalism in Elizabeth, being the first penny paper.

Stole the Dog's Sunday Dinner.
The owner of the residence of County Justice Weaver, of Fanwood, was surprised Saturday night by a thief, who went out on the terrace, over the side windows and carried off some cooked meat and other eatables which had been prepared for Sunday.

TWO NEW CREMATORIES.

ONE IS AT CINCINNATI AND THE OTHER AT TROY.

One at Troy cost $200,000, and is said to be the finest Crematory in the country.

Creation is coming more into favor every day, and the number of crematories being erected throughout the country is on the increase. The first one erected in the United States was at Washington, Pa., and was built by the late Dr. LeMay. There are now several in New York, Buffalo, Lancaster, Detroit, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Philadelphia, Chicago, Cincinnati and Troy, N. Y. It is the last two which deserve special attention.

The crematory at Cincinnati stands upon an eminence on Carlton heights, near the city of Cincinnati. The project was first started in 1891 by several prominent citizens of Cincinnati, who acted independently of each other. Among the directors of the company was Mr. Ben F. Pitzer. It was not however, until October, 1894, that the plan was obtained, and not until the spring of 1895 that the building was begun. It was dedicated on Sunday, Nov. 4, 1895.

The entire cost of land and building was $24,100. The basement of the building is of Indiana stone, the superstructure of rough granite. The building is intended to be eventually covered with ivy.

On entering the vestibule one passes into the chapel, furnished in handsome style, with seating capacity of three or four hundred. A handsome pulpit and altar stand on the right. The entire first floor is taken up by the crematory, which is reached by the staircase in the center of the building. The body is again lowered to the basement. It is then taken to the cremating room, and is placed in the furnace. The furnace is of the latest type, and is capable of burning from 1,000 to 2,000 days. CAMPBELL'S AIR SHIP.

Something About the Great Craft and the man who will fly to the moon.

The mythological story of Daedalus and Icarus shows that the first attempts to navigate the air were made in primitive times. As far back as records go, man has been endeavoring to reach the clouds. In 1783, the Montgolfier brothers succeeded in sending up a balloon made of paper and cloth, and filled with air heated by heat. From that time to this, the progress of the art of ballooning has been rapid, and some of the greatest minds of the world have grappled with the problem.

These efforts have been successful to this extent only: balloons have been constructed which could support a man in the air for hours and days at a time, and which can be made to ascend by the discharge of ballast and to descend by allowing the gas to escape from the bag. Beyond this point no man has gone, and it is to the effort to overcome the difficulties of the latter, that the first balloon ascension of the great Peter Garment Campbell, of Brooklyn, is due.

The Song of the Old Mill Wheel.

Round and round the wheel goes,
From early morn till night;
The miller's boy is at the door,
And then runs out at night.

And then the old mill wheel turns,
And the miller's boy is at the door,
And then runs out at night.

And then the old mill wheel turns,
And the miller's boy is at the door,
And then runs out at night.

And then the old mill wheel turns,
And the miller's boy is at the door,
And then runs out at night.

DUDLEY'S PATENT SEAMLESS WIGWAM SLIPPERS.

Best of the world, and durable. The Wigwam is made by closing the upper on the bottom of the slipper, under the sole, and the two edges coming together make the inside perfectly smooth. Therefore when the slippers give wear on the sole the slippers will not get soiled. There are no seams, and the upper and sole are of the best calf leather. This, combined with a good stitching, makes the best Wigwam you can wear. They are a pair and prove their value. Manufactured for
