DOINGS AT THE CAPITAL

Senator Kyle Had a Small Audience in the Senate.

WASHINGTON SURPRISED WOLOOT.

Station of Various Kinds From the Department—The Many Letters That Never Came—Mr. Warren's Reaction—To Investigate the Sugar Trust.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—The results of a post-mortem examination of the various senators from Montana, Washington and Wyoming are all well known. Mr. Warren's attitude is well known. He has declared any purpose of obstruction to the repeal of the tariff of the sugar trust. Mr. Warren of Minnesota an opportunity of declaring the proposition to be a political move in the view of the fact that two of the states concerned were not silver producing and had no more to say in the silver question than the other states, and were, furthermore, now represented in the senate by a man who would vote for unqualified repeal of the Sherman act. This statement was instantly challenged both by Mr. Tilton and Mr. Wolcott, who asked for the authority on which it was made.

There was no hesitation on Mr. Warren's part in gratifying their curiosity. His authority, he said, came from the two senators themselves—Messrs. Bayne and Curry—and he stated afterward in precise terms that the senator from Washington (Mr. Tilton) had told him that he would vote for the unconditional repeal of the Sherman law. The statement seemed to surprise the senators from Colorado and Idaho.

Mr. Kyle's Audience Was Small.

Mr. Tilton appeared before the audience and asserted that the two senators (Messrs. Bayne and Curry) would vote against the pending bill. He did not say what authority he had for the assertion. The debate on the silver purchase repeal bill was continued by Mr. Kyle of Oregon against the repeal and by Mr. Millan of Michigan for it. Mr. Delplac of Oregon also made an argument against the free coinage of silver.

The argument against the bill. The actual count there were three Democratic senators and eight Republican senators in their seats. Mr. Tilton and Mr. Kyle's colleagues, Mr. Pittenger, and the result was that, through the instrumentalities of Mr. Tilton, the bill was passed and the senators were secured, and the speech was proceeded with.

Out of a humorous speech by Mr. Clark of Missouri against the federal election laws the proceedings in the house were lacking in interest. He kept the attention of the house for more than an hour, and his speech was enjoyed by all the speakers. Mr. Dismore of Arkansas, Mr. Denson of Alabama and Mr. Cooper of Florida were in the house in favor of repeal. No Republican could be prevailed upon to speak to a large number of empty seats, and the house adjourned.

To Oppose Mr. Frenton.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—It is understood that the western silver senators will oppose the confirmation of Mr. Frenton, nominee of the director of the mint. One of the senators said that they would use every means to prevent the confirmation of Frenton, whom they consider lower to defeat than Frenton, whom they wish to see confirmed.
