LOCAL PEOPLE ATTEND.

A large number of members of the Union County Mosquito Extermination Commission and Freshwater Commissioners met at the Hotel Atlantic City yesterday to attend the fourth annual convention of the New Jersey Mosquito Extermination Association. Included among the local delegates were Freshwater S. P. T. Wilbur, John W. Hays, J. C. Hays, captains Frank Putnam and J. W. Knops Clark. The evening session was devoted to reports from the various sections and several United States experts made addresses.

FIRE IN TEA STORE.

The Plainfield Fire Department was called out at 10 o'clock last night to extinguish a fire in the Union Pacific Tea Company's store on West Third street, near Plainfield avenue. Quick action on the part of the firemen checked the spread of the flames and it is not thought that the loss will amount to over $250. A small quantity of damage resulting from smoke.

CYCLIST STRUCK BY TAXI.

William Trembley, of West Fourth street, while riding a bicycle along the sidewalk on West Second street, was struck by a taxicab and dragged several feet and killed. He lies under the care of Dr. John D. Carmichael.

ANNA H. MCCARTHY.
The funeral of Miss Anna Harriet McCarthy, a former resident of Plainfield, but who had been making her home in this city.

WHY ALL THIS CHECKER PLAYING?

Supiciously similar to the time-honored political trick of "passing the buck" is the attitude taken by State Senator Carlton B. Pierce in the matter of recommending a Plainfield District Court judge. That he is attempting to dodge the issue and shift the responsibilities is evident but his reasons for trying to "wash his hands" are not so plain.

Why should it be necessary to appoint a committee of local citizens to single out a suitable candidate? When Messrs. Callina, Ackerman and Holt learned that they were to be made the "goats" in the recommendation work, they resigned from the committee and in doing so they took the only proper course. It is the duty of the legislature to suggest a rightfully entitled candidate and if Senator Pierce is willing to admit that he is incompetent to name a choice he should enlist the aid of a Union county assemblyman, particularly so when there happens to be no in the city which the appointment will affect.

In fact, it is that Senator Pierce has failed in his attempt to "pass the buck." It is logical to expect that his next move will be to unearth a "dark horse." The identity of the "go-between" candidate is a matter of conjecture at present but it is safe to conclude that the names of those on the rumor list will not receive the unanimous endorsement of those who will be directly affected by the appointment—and in this class we include the Blackstone practitioners of the city.

Competency as a lawyer, judicial ability, and loyalty to the party in power are the factors to be considered in awarding the honor. There are good lawyers in Plainfield who would not make good judges and there are men admirably fitted for the bench who have made no sacrifice in behalf of the Republican party.

If Senator Pierce admits that he is not sufficiently acquainted with Plainfield to make a selection, we will also admit it. The office is an important one and it has its active features. In order to single out the best timber the legislator must be intimately familiar with the man, the city and the conditions.

We contend that Assemblyman William N. Runyon is the man to be appealed to by Senator Pierce. There is no individual on the face of the globe better qualified to decide the problem but he may have personal reasons for not wanting to "shoulder the buck" and if so he is rightly entitled to refuse to act. Assemblyman Runyon is, Plainfield lawyer, he is a competent judge of the character and ability of the talent eligible to the honor, and we have sufficient confidence in him to know that his verdict will be an unbiased one and that it will be accorded unanimous endorsement.

CITY HALL TO FULFILL A DUTY LONG NEGLECTED.

In today's Record is published the first official announcement of plans for the cornerstone laying in our new City Hall. The selection of February 11 as the date for the ceremony and the framing of a definite program of procedure causes us to realize for the first time that we will soon find our city government wheels operating under no roof.

The advantages of concentrating the various departments will be manifold; energy that has been wasted in the past will be directed toward attaining a superior degree of municipal efficiency. At present the units of city government that should be co-workers are scattered in various quarters and it is next to impossible for the department heads to systematize their respective branches in order to reap the greatest amount of good at the least expense of time and money.

The ranks of those who opposed the construction of such a building are being steadily depleted. As it becomes a reality the city is aroused to a realization of what it is going to mean and that it will eventually result in an economic program of municipal government.

WHY NOT MAKE THAT APPROPRIATION?

Just why the Common Council is delaying action on the application of Company K for a municipal appropriation toward the erection of a suitable National Guard armory in Plainfield has not been explained. Now that the State appropriation of $25,000 is available those interested are naturally anxious to get the construction work started and it would be to the interest of the city to facilitate the operations in every way possible.

Since the advance in the cost of building materials it has been found that $25,000 is insufficient to take care of the construction costs but the $15,000 which the municipality is permitted to donate by law would bring the amount up to a figure that would erect a creditable structure. While we are at it we might as well have an armory that will be a credit to Plainfield and the $15,000 would be well spent.

Besides the State money the Guard is entitled to an appropriation of $20,000 from the county but this money must be used to purchase the site. Several are now under consideration and the local committee is planning to meet with the military board in the near future to arrive at a definite decision.

Application was made to the Council some months ago but there has been little or no evidence of action on the part of the City Fathers. The guard officials are aware that the request is one that will need careful consideration but they feel that sufficient time has been given the Council to act either one way or the other regarding the proposition.

OUR BILL-BOARD
PROBLEM EXPANDING.

Developments during the past fall and winter months tend to indicate that Plainfield is approaching a crisis in the bill-board and advertising sign nuisance. In short, the bill-board privilege is creeping to the back doors of property owners in the residential section and the sooner the city curbs the spread of the pestiferous sign we are going to suffer. The United States Supreme Court rendered an opinion last week upholding the constitutionality of the Chicago bill-board regulation of 1911, prohibiting the establishment of bill-boards on residential streets without the permission of at least half of the property owners in the immediate neighborhood.

At the present time Plainfield's problem is not a serious one but it is noticeably evident that the bill-board is getting closer to the residential section each day of the year and some streets, outside the business district, have already been cluttered with brilliantly colored signs.

The opinion from the highest court in the United States may at some future time result in a decision that objects which are offensive to the eyes of the great majority of persons may be regulated equally with those which offend the senses of smell or hearing, or that threaten the safety of person or of property.

ADVERTISING IDEALS.
WHAT DO THEY MEAN?

Newspaper advertising ideals vary in city and country but the object of the publishers—to get the cash for the space—is the same the world over. While it is next to impossible to discriminate between the over-zealous merchant who thinks nothing of stretching a point in his advertising to draw customers to his store and the merchant who sticks religiously to the truth in heralding his wares for sale the Record is taking every precaution to bar all copy from its columns that savors of "fake." It is essential that the newspaper in a city like Plainfield have the co-operation of the business element in attaining this ideal and already this clean-cut policy has won recognition and brought its reward in an increasing volume of local display advertising.

The analysis of advertising by two metropolitan experts, published below, will no doubt be interesting.

"I am inclined to the opinion that the advertising columns of a newspaper should be a blank wall on which any man might write, subject only to the most obvious restrictions, such as the refusal of copy for cancer cures and the like. The public should be told the newspaper has no time to investigate the truth of its advertisers' statements and that it must look out for itself. I wouldn't knowingly take a crooked advertisement, but I wouldn't turn a man down because I did not know him to be honest."—Arthur Brisbane, New York Journal.

"Call the advertising columns of a newspaper a blank wall if you will. Then it is the positive duty of the newspaper to its readers to see that no man is allowed to write on that wall unless his hands are clean. The advertising profession should be and is destined to be as honorable as that of the law or of medicine. It can't be unless its hands are clean."—Richard H. Waldo, New York Tribune.

STATESMEN AND SPECULATORS.

"Tom" Lawson, the noted stock market operator, says that someone made $60,000,000 on advance information about the President's peace note. The public feels comforted to think that Congress is investigating the alleged "leak." But it's an elusive subject. Probably the result will be merely some more black covered government reports, interesting to students and valuable to the junk man.

Of course our public servants never speculate. But somebody may have office boys or second cousins to whom money could be loaned and increment thereof received. He would not know where it came from.

The stock market dances at the end of the Washington wire, and millions can be picked out by forestalling the newspapers. The outsider condemns with fine rectitude, never having had the chance.

You wave a ten-thousand dollar bill in a public man's face, and he laughs. Moral standards are really higher than they used to be. Also in some cases there is a feeling that more refined methods pay better.

The chance to make a million on Wall Street might have no strings visible, no suggestion of influencing a public official's course. It might come indirectly, involving the betrayal of no confidence. But usually, the tip giver turns up later expecting his fair return.

The Washington circle includes an army of camp followers with anxious ears to the ground for salable or usable information. It must be difficult for public officials not to do business with this crowd, as they have influence at home. The chances are that that $60,000,000, if it was made, went to this element and their backers. The less our public officials have to do with this crowd, the better for their careers. An inglorious but safe and clean five per cent. is better business than speculation, if a public official wants to settle down in Washington.

ARE WE QUALIFIED TO LECTURE WARRING NATIONS?

Homicide records of the United States for the year 1915 do not indicate any increase in respect for human life. There is a decrease from the total for the preceding year, but it is so slight as to be merely a fluctuation. For the last ten years the rate has been practically stationary and has averaged higher than during the preceding decade.

Throughout the United States there were eight homicides for each 100,000 inhabitants, while London has only one per 100,000. But the contrast between North and South is even more ominous. While New York's rate is four and Boston's five, New Orleans has twenty-three, Charleston twenty-four, Atlanta thirty-five, Memphis eighty-five. From four to six times as many negroes as whites are shown to have been killed in States where the records are kept separately, but there is nothing to show in each case whether the killing was done by a white or a black.

There is something of the Pharisee about a nation which expresses shuddering horror at the wholesale slaughter of war, while it seems indifferent to the retail slaughter wrought by private war within its own borders. If we are deeply enamored of peace, why not begin by enforcing respect for the sanctity of human life at home? Having done that, we shall be in better position to lecture other nations on the wickedness of war.

Investigators of the marvelous power of radium are not only busy holding out hope, but are giving up something to worry about. It is now calculated that if there is in the earth only one part of radium in each million million, a quantity that is believed to have been exceeded where investigations have been made, the effect will be to raise the temperature of the earth's core 1800 degrees in 100,000,000 years. This heat would in the process of being generated have the effect of consuming the crust on which we live, after which it would escape into space and the world would grow cooler again and a new crust would be formed. Recent experiments have shown that a gram of radium generates 133 calories an hour, which in a year of 8760 hours would amount to 1,160,000 calories, or in the active lifetime of a gram of radium 2,900,000,000 calories, as compared with 2200 calories as the heat-producing power of an equal quantity of coal. Discoveries made while the Simplot tunnel was being driven convince scientists that radium is much commoner than had been previously supposed.

Proper care of children's teeth appears as the result of a series of tests made in the schools of Cleveland to have improved their mentality by 99.8 per cent., or practically doubled their capacity for learning. Some allowance must be made, of course, for the fact that the so-called psychological test has not reached the stage of perfection, but even then it has been made clear that the teeth have a marked influence on the mental state as well as the physical health. The latter phase has long been recognized. The report on the Cleveland experiment is all the more significant in view of the statement made by experts that nearly all children in the public schools of the larger cities suffer from defective teeth in greater or less degree, the proportion of those needing the services of a dentist being given as 99 in New York and 84 in Boston. The reason for the superiority of Boston teeth is not made plain, unless it be that parents have more generally acted on their own initiative. Bad teeth mean more than aches and pains.

Those who have occasion to patronize the North avenue taxi line cannot help but notice the change that has come over it during the past month. Although the average citizen honestly believes that one policeman is as effective as another in any line of duty the orderliness of the hack stand in recent weeks must be credited solely to "Big John" Kelley, the patrolman who has been "covering" this beat. There is a tendency toward rowdiness in this quarter at all times, but those responsible have been given to understand that Kelley means business and will not put up with the trifling some of the other officers stand for. They know that perfect order must be maintained and the hack ordinance must be obeyed to the letter when Kelley is in that territory. Would it not be well to make this beat a permanent year around station for an officer who has demonstrated his efficiency along this line? Policemen are human and it is natural for humans to specialize. There are only a few beats in Plainfield that would be bettered by constant supervision by the same officer but we contend that this is one of them.

There is so much good in the worst of us and so much bad in the best of us that it hardly behooves any of us to talk about the rest of us. But it is safe to conclude that the debaters selected for duty in that West End-East End word battle will overlook this admonition in compiling data for the big event. The honored ones in each part of the city are busying themselves trying to unearth harsh things to sling at those from the rival quarter and at the same time are attempting to accumulate data that will produce an exodus of citizenship from one part to the other. At any rate, the debate will be one well worth while and it behooves the Plainfield civic worker to take a night off on that occasion and get acquainted with the true status of the case.

Law-enforcement officers, administration heads and superintendents of eleemosynary institutions agree that the prohibition law has been signally beneficial. Statistics tend to bear them out. Non-support cases, commitments of insane to the county jails, vagrants, jail prisoners, police arrests, intoxication cases and penitentiary population have decreased. A white record is beyond human hopes. Drunkenness is not the cause of all insanity, or of all family disorder, or of all crime, or of all vagrancy. Only one item—intoxication—is possible of elimination. Even that possibility may be claimed as theoretical.

The class of student taking advantage of the night courses in our public schools indicated that this branch of educational work has found a permanent place in Plainfield. Practically every nationality is represented on the rosters and the eagerness of the foreign element for enlightenment on matters American is very evident. The teaching corps is a capable one and the efficiency of the system is increasing rapidly.

An unusually large number of "customers" has been rounded up by the Plainfield police force during the past month, the city court sessions in some cases requiring the better part of a day. Would it not be well, in keeping with the stride of the times, to increase the cost for the violation of city ordinances?

THE WEEK'S REVUE

Judge DeMeza has a mistaken idea of Plainfield's size. Wednesday morning he gave an "undesirable" five minutes to get from the Sycamore street headquarters over the city line.

In Union county there are people who seek jail sentences as a guarantee for three square meals each day and refuge from wintry winds.

New York has the kind to whom a jail cell means a bath, food, drink and sleep strike.

News items from New York—"10,800 eggs stolen" Which, in these twentieth century days would be the equivalent of $10,800.

This is the time of the month when the man who owes you money finds that if steamboats were selling for a jitney he couldn't buy the echo of a whistle.

Where a typewriter is used there can't be a "leak."

"Jim" Martine says—"Let us include tobacco in national prohibition."

This may be revenge for the Farmer Orator, but we can't for the life of us understand why he picked on the smoker. Woman suffrage would do just as well.

"P. S. C. has plan to prevent car strikes in the city"—says headline.

But the corporation has evidently neglected to supply a formula to relieve over-crowded trolley cars.

Two years in prison and a $10,000 fine was the sentence dealt out to former German Consul Bopp in San Francisco for violating the United States neutrality laws. He's one of the few German subjects assured of two years' peace.

An $8,000 a year job for introducing President Wilson to Mrs. Galt and keeping the President in perfect health for four years will be "Doc" Grayson's reward. That's our idea of reciprocity.

Now it's time the copper began worrying about his job. Suffrage seekers have qualified as pavement pounders while doing picket duty about the White House.

Give us one seven one-one eleven Monte Carlo, please, Central.

Now we're trying to decide whether our friend's New Year's wish was a raise or bounce.

The Germans are giving the Allies a slam on the jaw for not grasping that peace proposal.

Wonder if it will be safe to go canoeing next summer with these Dutch "subs" clamoring for a hold on inland waters!

Arthur Brisbane takes credit for writing the first corn flakes advertisement.

Our own John Gaffney is entitled to credit for giving much its first publicity.

If the father wage earner earns $450 or less and he has four children, the chances are one of his babies will die, says "The Toledo News-Bee."

Considering the fact that the average wage scale in Plainfield is above $450 per year we have little to fear in the battle of indecent wages vs. baby saving.

President Wilson is in the lead for the Nobel Peace Prize, according to a Texas Senator.

The Kaiser was running a close second, but has lost a lap within the past week. But he'll be in the race at the finish.

Washington plans to tax $2,000 incomes. They're coming down, but they're a long way from our worrying point.

Now we're wondering who is going to supply all of this perfectly good coin they propose to place in the cornerstone box of the new city hall. If it were not for the fact that they are well nigh unapproachable in price it might be well to enclose a 1917 egg in the coffer, just to remind future generations that the luxurious hen product was not extinct at this date.

You have probably noticed the several street clocks in the business section of the city. Any merchant will be willing to pay a reward to the individual who first discovers any two timepieces telling the same tale.

$24,000,000 more was spent in 1916 for smoking and drinking than in 1915 in the United States.

"Jim" Osborne claims he never laid eyes on Rae Tanager before he confronted her in the court room. Granting this it so he certainly was given a grand opportunity to get an "eye full" during the past two weeks.

A Kansas man drove a four inch spike into his head in an effort to end his life. If he lives the proof is sufficient that his craign was of wood.

Plainfield is represented by five "skeeter" experts in an Atlantic City convention today. Conventions may come and conventions may go but the "skeeters" will always be with us.

AL-G-FIELD MINSTRELS

CHRISTMAS EVE AT HOME

It is a well-known fact that Al. G. Field has not only kept minstrelsy in pace with the elaborate scenic developments of the stage, but has of late years, and this season his production is on a plane which places it among the big stage spectacles of the day.

The audience is introduced to, stupendous effects at the very opening, when the development of minstrelsy from plantations life in Dixie-land is pictured in three beautiful, impressive, animated tableaux. The first shows "Noon-day on the Plantation," the second, "Evening," and the third, "The Humdinger Express," a modern view with a realistic railroad scene suggesting the changes that have come into the old life of the South.

The next scene is one of dazzling beauty, and bears the title, "The Land of Flowers." In this setting is presented "A Modern Minstrel Cabaret," which is designed by Field to assemble into one number the possibilities of minstrelsy today.

The farcical, "Christmas Eve at Home," which is one of Field's own compositions, is starred with a succession of charming and imposing pictures. Included in these are: An old cabin home with its cotton field surroundings; a vast mountain gorge, with a water-fall, a river, and a weird environment; a rich drawing-room interior; and finally the rooftop-top of a big city, with Santa Claus and his reindeer mounting to the sky.

The background for the saxophone soloists also number strikes a new note, also. The baseball travesty, "The Battle of the Bats," shows first a familiar exterior of a baseball crowd, and then the diamond itself, flanked by the bleachers and so arranged as to vividly suggest the immense crowd of fans.

The Al. G. Field Greater Minstrels will appear at the Plainfield Theatre Wednesday, matinee and night.

J. M. Whiton Valuable Addition to Commission

J. M. Whiton, of Central avenue, was sworn in as successor to Dr. F. J. Whiton, who has been a member of the Union County Mosquito Extermination Commission, in the office of the county clerk at Elizabethtown Tuesday by Deputy County Clerk Z. K. Norman. Although appointed only a few days ago by Justice James J. Bergen, Mr. Whiton was almost immediately sworn in as a member of the commission. He has been called his own, for he is a retired banker. Combined with this, he has the opportunity to study extermination methods, during his visit to Panama, while Colonel Goethals was riding the sons of fever-breeding insects. The new member will finish Dr. Ard's unexpired term, which will end May, 1915.

Mr. Whiton has lived in Plainfield for thirty years. He is at present on the board of directors of the Muhlberg Hospital.

Tuesday afternoon's meeting with the freeholders was the commission's first conference with them since the board refused to listen to the request for an extra appropriation of $15,000, unless more details of the proposed plan for irrigation of 800 acres of marsh in Union township, on the banks of the Elizabeth River, had been worked out. As the mosquitoes born and reared on this tract are known as long-distance flyers, the mosquito commission will try earnestly to have the extermination of the pest.

Since the board referred the question to its mosquito committee, the commission has had one of its quarters at work boring into the ground and ascertaining the levels and grades. If the freeholders find their way clear to permit the beginning of the work this spring in a year or more of the worst mosquito holes in the county may be eradicated.

COMMERCE CHAMBER WILL DISCUSS ISSUE

At the next meeting of the Chamber of Commerce the proposition of daylight saving will be discussed and an effort will be made to have the local body pledge its efforts to have the plan adopted.

The subject will be discussed at the meeting of the National Chamber of Commerce in Washington, D. C., on Tuesday, Jan. 27. The Chamber has the active support of a large number of local citizens, among whom is former Senator Ernest R. Ackerman, who sees in the idea a plan that can be developed into one of the most important features of the twentieth century.

The idea embodied in this movement is that daylight hours should be used to the best advantage. The sacrifice of sunlight which might be made by the community for the pleasure activities would be done away with if the proposed plan were put into operation at the present time, various means of artificial illumination. The sunlight is thrown away and in its place is substituted a much inferior system of illumination.

While it is only natural to expect that the daylight saving system, as advocated by local citizens, will require a distinct departure from present custom, it is believed that the plan is worth testing.

ANNIVERSARY PLAYS
Frederick O. Knigh, of the Golden Eagle, is planning for the holding of an entertainment in Co. K, Feb. 17 to 19, to mark the sixteenth anniversary since its charter was closed. Ladies' night will be observed at the same time and the occasion will be made a gala one.

PREPARE FOR PAIR
A meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of this city was held in Social Hall, 101 North Plainfield, on Wednesday evening, when preliminary arrangements for the coming Knights of Columbus fair were made.

ANNETTE KELLERMANN AT THE HIPPODROME.

Charles Dillingham introduced Annette Kellermann, the renowned diving Venus, as the star de luxe of "The Big Show" at the Hippodrome public. Mr. Dillingham is again demonstrating the seemingly insuperable resources of this huge playhouse for it is announced that by means of a new super-structure over the stage floor proper a spectacular aquatic scene has been devised without disturbing with any of the other popular features of "The Big Show." Therefore a conquest of the sea will be added to the novelties which already utilize the sky, the land and the ice. The spacious pond, which has been submerged a foot beneath the stage floor, will be retained and "The Merry Doll," with its beautiful skating experts and exhibition of winter sports will be kept entirely intact, as will the minstrelsy with the new famous "four hundred" who change from black face to white in the twinkling of an eye and all the other much-talked of novelties. In addition innumerable new features will be introduced throughout the gorgeous spectacle and as the climax will come the diving Annette Kellermann in person—"heretofore."

Miss Kellermann will appear in her own aquatic creation which is called "The Queen of the Mermaids." The water nymphs were trailed personally by Miss Kellermann, while the entire production was staged by R. H. Barnside, the Hippodrome's general stage director. The huge tanks of real water are disclosed as the water nymphs were trailed personally by Miss Kellermann, while the entire production was staged by R. H. Barnside, the Hippodrome's general stage director. ### COLUMBIA THEATRE

Rose Sydel, burlesque's most fascinating and popular star, will make her annual appearance at the Columbia Theatre the week beginning Monday afternoon, January 29. She came with a brand new two-act comedy called "A Trip to Washington" and will have the support of the German comedian, Johnie Weber, and W. A. Campbell, both of whom are as familiarly identified with Miss Sydel's London Belles organization as she is the star herself. The new piece will be presented in eleven scenes with a prodigious display of costume and electrical and mechanical effects that are said to excel anything hitherto shown in the presentation of burlesque. Throughout the two acts, several novel vaudeville specialties will be introduced and the Messrs. Weber and Campbell will be seen in a new version of their highly amusing act called "Oh Papa!" which is given in conjunction with the exhibition of living models for which several scenes that are said to be beautiful examples of the scene painters' art have been specially provided. Other vaudeville acts will be contributed by Raymond Hobbell, Smith and Pullman, in an exhibition of modern burlesque, and the gayety trio in a repertoire of popular and classical songs. Besides these Miss Sydel will have the support of Ward Caulfield, Arthur Delmore, Grace Tremont, Wey Gordon and others. An unusual large chorus made up entirely of girls, who will be seen in a long program of lively musical features, is announced as one of the most attractive elements of the performance.

"FOLLOW ME."

Anna Held will begin the tenth capacity week of her engagement in "Follow Me" at the Casino Theatre, next Monday night. Miss Held's unique charm and personality were never given greater opportunity than in this sparkling musical comedy, in which she plays the part of a celebrated Parisian actress.

"Follow Me" is in three acts, from the German of Felix Dornemann and Leo Ascher, with lyrics by R. B. Smith and music by Leo Ascher and Sigismund Romberg. The action of the play is laid in and about Paris. There are twenty-five musical numbers.

Miss Held's supporting company includes Henry Lewis, Harry Tiche, Sylvia Jason, Letty Yorke, William

"FOLLOW ME."

P. Carleton, Edith Day, P. Paul Porcast, James Watts, Wilmer Bentley, Fred Knigh and Elsie Canning. In addition, there is a chorus of fifty girls, who uphold the well established Anna Held traditions for beauty. Matinee is held on Wednesday and Saturday.

"THE CENTURY GIRL"
The recent successes of the Century Theatre, with its big evening and matinee audiences, have made "The Century Girl," filling the immense auditorium and "The Gypsy Girl" on the roof crowded to overflowing, cannot be credited to other sources than the brilliancy of the attractions. Still the success of the theatre adds greatly to the pleasure and comfort of its patrons.

Florence La Badie the Only Star
Who Knows How to Run a Camera

FLORENCE LABADIE, Thanhouser Star,
"Talking Shop" With the Cameramen

Florence La Badie, of the Thanhouser studios, is a star who does NOT want to direct. Neither does she yearn to write her own scripts, but—

She would love to be a "camera woman."

There never has been such an individual, of course, which is perhaps why the ambitions of beautiful Miss La Badie tend that way. The fact remains, however, that the young star has taken up the study of the camera and finds it most fascinating.

"When I first went into motion pictures," says Miss La Badie, "I and His," a coming Thanhouser-knew no more about the camera than I do about constructing an aeroplane. One of the saddest moments in my life came shortly after I joined the Thanhouser company. The director told me savorily that I "had caused a situation," and it nearly broke my heart. Attempts to apologize were awkward, because I did not have the slightest idea of the nature of my crime. Now I know why scenes are taken in certain lights, what colors in costumes to avoid and the pass that will be effective. It is a great help in my work."

The picture above shows Miss La Badie consulting with her camera man, Charles Hoffman. She is explaining a certain effect which she thinks will help her play, "Her Life and Death," a coming Thanhouser-Pathe release, and Hoffman is agreeing with her, not because she is a star, but because she knows what she is talking about.

ALL RAJAH ENGAGED FOR REMAINDER OF WEEK.

In response to a request by a large number of the women who have seen her remarkable ability in mind reading and second sight, All Rajah has consented to give a private performance immediately after the afternoon show today at which only women will be permitted to be present. At that time she will answer any question she is asked. All Rajah & Co. is one of the few vaudeville acts that has stayed in Plainfield an entire week without having a falling off in attendance. Each performance has been well received and All Rajah has been showered with questions, all of which she has answered.

With the exception of All Rajah &

Co., an entire change of bill will keep patrons of the theatre, the last part of the week. The bill is as good as the one for the first three days and includes: The Bayside Comedy Four, Fred Thomas & Co. in a vehicle entitled "Dog, Dog, Who's Got the Dog?"; DeLee & Orma, the seven feet of comedy, and the Banquets in a musical and singing skit. "Tomorrow Army" will be the moving picture offering as well as Pathe and Mutual.

Next week will see the return of the ever popular "country store" night, when old pieces, other hand-some presents as well as laughs will be given away.

STEARNS-KNIGHT

FOUR and EIGHT CYLINDER

The Lure of the Stearns-Knight Car

THE Stearns-Knight produces in the mind of the spectator the same sensation of satisfaction that comes to one gazing upon some masterpieces of Design and Building.

Hidden yet subtly felt, like the architecture of a Greek Temple, are the strong construction lines of the famous Stearns Chassis.

Sturdy and Doric in its strength and simplicity, the Stearns Chassis form the foundation for the superior elegance which characterizes The Stearns-Knight Car.

Grace, Balance and Unlimited Power—these three form the Trinity which makes The Stearns-Knight a masterpiece among cars, the one car that you will desire—the car that you should own.

In Construction it represents the world's greatest power plant combined with the final development of the long famous Stearns chassis—a chassis comparatively light, yet offering the same sturdiness which distinguished the older and heavier models.

In Performance it meets every requirement. Responding instantly to the slightest touch of the throttle it glides with equal silent ease through crowded streets and over the roughest country roads. Its steady, persistent flow of power permits a performance on the grades heretofore unequalled in a motor car.

Eight Cylinder, $2250
Four Cylinder, $1495

The Body is also worthy of special mention. The supreme effort of a master coach builder, it appeals to the feminine love of grace and beauty, while satisfying the masculine demand for comfort and room.

We call special attention to the Sleeve valve principle which means no valves to grind, no engine trouble from improperly working valves.

Valve Mechanism—Two concentric sleeves, one within the other, and sliding up and down between the walls of the cylinders of the pistons, are the valves of this motor. Slots in these sleeves register with one another and with ports in the cylinders at proper intervals, producing large and direct openings into the combustion chamber from the exhaust and inlet ports, and assuring positive valve action at all times.

The sleeves are operated independently by small connecting rods working from two eccentric shafts which are driven by silent chains from the crank shaft.

Aside from the duplication of parts, the action and operating mechanism of these sleeves is identical with the four-cylinder motor.

MERCER MOTOR CARS

IN spite of the abnormal conditions existing in the material market during the past few months, the Mercer models are held to the absolutely high standard of construction for which Mercer cars have long been recognized. No compromise of any kind has been allowed, even in the most minute detail.

The new series follows closely to the lines of the preceding models. Change and improvements have been made, but they are in the nature of refinements. Consistent with the established policy of the Mercer Automobile Company to build only a limited number of highly developed, medium-weight, four-cylinder cars of known quality, this latest series of cars represents the best efforts toward what the makers consider an "ideal" car, honestly built and honestly sold.

Mercer bodies are built first with the idea of comfort in mind—comfort for the passengers in the tonneau, and comfort for the front seat passengers. Everything of a freakish or faddish nature has been eliminated.

The Touring model is a roomy, six-passenger car, particularly adapted to general family use. The Sporting type is a snappy four-passenger car, which, because of its lowliness and lightness has more than the average speed possibilities. The Runabout is a graceful two-passenger car with all the riding comfort of the larger models. The Raceabout, as its name implies, is a typical speed car, designed for the use of amateur sportsmen. Its guaranteed speed is one mile in 48 seconds. Wire wheels on Sporting and Raceabout models; left hand drive and center control; short turning radius.

February 17.
All scouts will parade with city organizations, etc., at the laying of the cornerstone of the new municipal building.

The Boy Scouts of Plainfield have been most highly honored with the receipt of an invitation from the National Department of Education to give an exhibition of expert scouting along engineering lines. A picked team of scouts will be sent to Columbia University on Saturday, February 2, to give an exhibition drill in setting up a thirty-one foot portable bridge, and convert same into a forty-foot signal tower. The team will be composed of scout leaders and expert instructors from all the eastern States. This is the season for boys who is not a scout today is not up to date. Three full new troops were registered at Headquarters this week. Troops 18, 19 and 20, and in the course of another week troops will be registered from Township Battle and Grace M. S. Sunday-schools.

That the Scout movement is an non-sectarian organization, approved by all denominations is proven by the large majority of Sunday-schools in this city that have adopted scouting for their boys. Scout Headquarters has just received the written approval of Cardinal Parlier from Rev. James A. M. Paul, bishop of Trenton, and Rev. J. J. O'Connor, bishop of Newark.

Once more an appeal is made for more men who can spend one evening each week to the training of boys. Another department of the work has just been opened to men who will act as "big brothers" to so-called wayward boys. In most cases a little personal interest and supervision is all that is necessary to restore such a boy to his proper standing and manhood. The Scout executive announces that he can use twenty-five men if they should apply tomorrow. Here is the chance for real service to the growing boy and to Plainfield. To men who are interested in work along these lines, a call at Scout Headquarters on East Front street, at 10:30 a. m., will bring detailed information and co-operation.

Tonight.
Troop 10 meets at Trinity church at 8 o'clock. Scoutmaster William H. Ott Head.

A riding party will leave Scout Headquarters at 3 o'clock for any scouts wishing to spend Saturday night at Camp Ackerman. Thirty cents will cover the cost of food. Scouts enter H. Douglas Davis, of Troop 9, in charge.

Specific orders for the proposed inspections have been issued and are now in the hands of the local officers.

It may be that the date will be brought back to February 1.

A residential inventory is to be taken by the visiting officers.

When the inspecting officers examine the muster rolls they will find many cases of absenteeism. It is estimated that nearly 100 men in the Elizabeth companies are absent and cannot possibly attend drills.

COL. LIBBY DEFENDS GUARD.
In his inaugural address, Lieutenant Colonel William H. Libby, of Princeton, who acted as range instructor while Company K was at Sea Girt this summer and who has been re-elected president of the National Rifle Association of America, takes issue with those who believe the National Guard's swift demise is foretold by the result of the recent mobilization.

"Why not enlarge the National Guard?" says Colonel Libby. "Make service in it compulsory and arrange the service in such a way that it will require everybody to do his share at some time in some way. Let the men developed in the great schools of West Point and Annapolis be the pillars of the nation, but let them put the responsibility of carrying out the work under their direction upon the brave officers. As fast as these brave officers die, the nation is lost. George D. Herring, of Grosvenor avenue, after an illness of one week with pneumonia, died yesterday afternoon at the residence of another daughter, Mrs. Joseph Meiberg, of Hoboken, and interment was in that city.

Mrs. Laura C. Culbertson, widow of William Culbertson, died yesterday at the home of her son, Mrs. George D. Herring, of Grosvenor avenue, after an illness of one week with pneumonia. The funeral was held this afternoon at the residence of another daughter, Mrs. Joseph Meiberg, of Hoboken, and interment was in that city.

COMPANY K DRILL.
Although the annual inspection of Company K will be held Tuesday night in the local armory, Captain Trevelyan has announced that the week-end drill will be held on Monday night as usual. A full attendance is desired of members pertaining to the inspection. Tuesday night will be brought up.

HEARD LECTURE.

Fetchingly Blouse For Southern Wear

CREAMY CRAPE over a net foundation with a beautifully tailored overhanging skirt belt gives this interesting blouse. Sleeves are tucked at the elbows and wristbands with narrow creamy taffeta ribbon which, along with ball buttons, achieve a surprise. The dainty flower baskets are of gay colored bougainvillea.

A tad of the moment is to trim the bodice cap with ribbon matching in color the trimming of the skirt. This is a delicate touch of colored embroidery, a binding of colored material added very slowly one-half cupful of olive oil.

Manufacturers of footwear seem to worry about the long skirt fashions. It must not be forgotten that short dresses have given women a taste for elegance and originality in boots and shoes. Also long dresses need to be held up, so that, after all, ankles will be as much in view as ever when a woman walks or dances. Some trifling, tame and salubrious with barrettes that hold the skirt up at the waist. They give the whole costume of it an entirely different air, making the last trim far away from the hair. So between the long skirts and these raised up hats, which women will have a fair chance to appear like and willow.

Some of the most useful gloves for motorists reach almost to the elbow. They can be had lined with fur for cold weather driving.

Smart button shoes of regulation height displayed alongside the still popular lace boot of extreme ankle height are in favor.

A dainty chemise of crepe de chine is devoid of any trimming save a lacing of satin ribbon in self color up the front.

The Kitchen Cupboard

MAYONNAISE FOR FALL.

BEAT two eggs for ten minutes, or until very light and full of air. Add the secret of a fine mayonnaise is a constant beating to make it light and smooth, one half beat have a small churn egg beater or a wire spoon. To the egg should be added very slowly one-half cupful of olive oil. One tablespoonful of melted butter may be added, with the juice of three lemons. All a household should have. Next add salt, pepper and a little celery salt, if liked. Some add a spoonful of sugar, mustard and other condiments. This makes an excellent mayonnaise. If one wishes it cooked it must be placed in a double boiler and stirred until it begins to cream. Then it should be removed from the fire and beaten very light with an egg beater. Pour into a glass jar and keep it in a cold place. It will be taken out and colored with tomatoes to make a red mayonnaise. Green mayonnaise is secured by mixing a generous quantity of previously made cold chopped parsley with the mayonnaise dressing. Omit yellow of eggs when this is used.

Butter Mayonnaise. Take the yolks of six eggs, two tablespoonfuls of salt one tablespoonful of mustard, one tablespoonful of sugar, one cupful of milk and one-half cupful of vinegar. Place all except the vinegar in a double boiler. When heated, add the vinegar and stir until it has the consistency of thick cream. Keep in a cool place.

Mayonnaise With Condensed Milk. A delicious creamy dressing may be made with the following ingredients: One-half teaspoonful of salt, one tea spoonful of mustard, one cupful of milk and six eggs, a pinch of red pepper and mix thoroughly; then add one egg and beat well with an egg beater, adding the oil slowly until it becomes thick. Then add the strained juice of one-half a lemon and one-half a cupful of condensed milk, beating all the time. The addition of the milk doubles the quantity of the dressing and adds greatly to its flavor. This will be as firm as whipped cream and will keep indefinitely.

French Dressing. Have a clean quart fruit jar with a good rubber and lid. Put the jar put two tablespoonfuls of best salad oil, one-half cupful of white vinegar, a heaping teaspoonful of salt and a tablespoonful of cayenne. Beat on the rubber and lid, screw the lid down tight, then shake until the whole is mixed and forms an emulsion. Shake the jar slowly, then shake it up and down. It is then ready to pour over the salad. Will keep for weeks in an ice chest.

Our Query and Reply Department

How many states have furnished presidents of the United States and how many each?

Of the forty-eight states now constituting the Union eleven have furnished presidents, viz: Virginia, five; Ohio, five; New York, five; Tennessee, three; Massachusetts, two; Illinois, two; New Hampshire, one; Pennsylvania, one; Indiana, one; Louisiana, one; and New Jersey, one.

Are there any pretenses to the French throne now living?

Yes. Bonaparte Prince Victor Napoleon: Bourbon-Orleans, Philip, Duke of Orleans.

Who first called England "a nation of shopkeepers?"

The expression has often been attributed to Napoleon, as used in a contemptuous sense, but it has not been cited in any writing or speech by him. It is also been attributed to Samuel Adams, a fiery orator of the Revolutionary period. In a speech purporting to have been delivered in Philadelphia Aug. 1, 1776, he is said to have stigmatized the English as "a nation of shopkeepers," but the authenticity of the speech has been disputed. Adam Smith, Scottish political economist, used the exact phrase without distinctly applying it to the English. In his "Inquiry Into the Nature and Causes of the Wealth of Nations," published in 1776, he said, "To found a great empire for the sole purpose of raising up a people of customers may, at first, appear a project fit only for a nation of shopkeepers." This appears to be the earliest known use of the expression "nation of shopkeepers," and, although Adam Smith did not apply it to England, whoever did so later may have borrowed the expression from him.

Have any women taken part in the actual hostilities in this war?

The Russians reported that several women have fought in the ranks of their army.

Was General Grant in the regular army at the time of our war with Mexico?

If so, what rank did he have? Did he appear opposed to our war?

At the beginning of the war he was second lieutenant in the Fourth Infantry and later was promoted to first lieutenant. There was a good deal of opposition to the war at the time of a semipolitical character, and young Grant seems to have shared in it. In his autobiography, written long after the civil war, he says, referring to the annexation of Texas: "For myself I hesitated. There was a good deal of opposition to this war, and to this day regard the war which resulted as one of the most unjust ever waged by a stronger against a weaker nation. It was an instance of a republic following the bad example of European monarchies in not considering justice in their desire to acquire additional territory."

Will you please give me a sketch of the Roumanian army, its strength in men, artillery, etc.?

The Roumanian army may be said to date from 1882, in which year four corps were created and gradually supplied with all their troops and services. In 1891 a fusion was effected between this new army and a force of some 40,000 territorials. The whole Roumanian army then amounted to thirty-four infantry regiments, with 10,000 cavalry and two territorial regiments. Behind these troops there stood the untrained militia, and the levy in mass. At this time the nominal training of the territorials amounted to six days in the spring and thirty days in the autumn of their first year and thirty days each year thereafter. In 1902 the numbers had risen to 60,000 in the active army and 75,000 territorials. Various reforms were introduced in the years 1908-11 and more liberal stipends of money for military purposes made, so that at the beginning of this war the strength of the Roumanian army was 100,000 of men, 600 machine guns, 24,000 horses and 600 guns. This army in 1914 was able to mobilize 220 battalions, 80 squadrons, 124 regiments of cavalry, 12 regiments of artillery companies and 13 technical companies. These troops represent a fighting strength of 250,000 men, 14,000 horses, 600 machine guns and 240 self field guns and howitzers and 300 machine guns. Behind this army of operations was a second line army of trained men amounting to about 150,000 men. Behind these again were about 400,000 very defectively trained territorial militia. It therefore seems from the above figures that at the maximum the trained Roumanian army, including reserves, will not run much above 400,000.

Please tell about the extent of the loss of bees in this country.

In 1910 the department of agriculture estimated that there were 3,445,000 colonies of bees in this country, valued at $10,000,000. It was also estimated that the annual value of honey and wax produced was in the neighborhood of $35,000,000.

How many national holidays are there in the United States? Is Fourth of July a national holiday?

There is no national holiday, not even the Fourth of July. Congress has at various times appointed special holidays. In the second session of the Fifty-third Congress it passed an act making Labor day a public holiday in the District of Columbia, and it has recognized the existence of certain days as holidays for commercial purposes, but with the exception named there is no general statute on the subject. The proclamation of the president designating a day of thanksgiving only makes it a legal holiday in the District of Columbia and the territories. There are over fifty legal holidays observed in the various states and territories.

About how many British combatants engaged in the battle of Mons and Ypres respectively.

At Mons about 85,000, at Ypres about 125,000.

Has King Ferdinand of Roumania any children? If so, give their names, who is his wife?

Carol, born 1883; Elizabeth, 1894; Marie, 1899; Nicholas, 1900; Ileana, 1903; Mircea, 1912. The present queen of Roumania is Marie, formerly princess of Saxa-Coburg and Gotha.

Who is the oldest and who is the youngest sovereign in Europe?

The oldest is Francis Joseph, emperor of Austria, aged eighty-six. The youngest is Marie, grand duchess of Luxembourg, just over twenty-two.

At the time Wilson demanded that Huerta salute the flag was Huerta president of Mexico or had the government been seized by Carranza, and if taken by Carranza had Carranza been recognized by this government?

When President Wilson asked Huerta to salute the American flag in the spring of 1914 Huerta was in control of the government. After Madero had been assassinated and Huerta and his followers had seized the government Huerta endeavored to secure the recognition of his government by the United States. This request President Wilson refused to grant. The latter episode, which brought out the request that the Mexican government salute the American flag, occurred April 9, 1914. Huerta resigned on July 18, and Francisco Carranza had charge of the government in the interim between Huerta's departure and his surrender to General Obregon, representing Carranza, on Aug. 12.

Why was the White House so called?

The home of the presidents was named in honor of the White House, the Virginia home of Martha Washington, in the East country, where her wedding occurred. Washington had many pleasant memories of that residence, and it was he who suggested the building of a "White House" for the presidents. The house is constructed of freestone, which is excessively porous and consequently would rot very deeply in the winter were it not for a thick coat of white lead, which is applied about once in ten years at a great expense.

How many pensioners are there now on the United States pension rolls and what total amount paid?

At the close of the year ending June 30, 1915, the number of pensioners on the pension rolls in the United States was 748,337, and the total amount paid them was $10,597,484. The total number of pensioners living in all foreign countries was 4,900, and the total amount paid them was $945,220.

What are the prerogatives of the king of England?

Many parts of the king's prerogatives have been regulated and modified by statute, and in such cases it is not always clear whether the authority now exercised is derived from statute before the prerogatives. A legislative power, asserted Dr. A. Lawrence Lowell, professor of the science of government at Harvard university, is vested in the king and parliament—that is, in the king acting in concert with the two houses. Legally, every act requires the royal assent, and, indeed, the houses are not permitted to legislate during the pleasure of the crown, which summons and prorogues them, and can at any moment dissolve the house of commons. But it is important to note that by itself and apart from parliament the crown has today within the United Kingdom no inherent legislative power whatever. This was not always true, for legislation has at times been enacted by the crown alone in the form of ordinances or proclamations, but the practice may be said to have received its death blow from the famous opinion of Lord Coke, "that the king by his proclamation cannot create an offense before the law, nor may he alter the law of the land." The English crown has therefore no inherent power to make ordinances for compelling the laws, which are in possession by the chief courts in France and other continental states.

DEBATE ON LIQUOR. QUESTION IN THEATRE.

The next Sunday afternoon service of the Y. M. C. A. will be held in the Plainfield Theatre on February 11. At that time a debate on the liquor question will take place between Carlyle and Pierpont. Both men travel over the country debating on the question before large audiences and their appearance in this city should insure an interesting afternoon.

This Sunday the young men of the association will meet in the rooms of the building on East Front street. At 5 o'clock there will be moving pictures of Cooper's works, illustrative of Biblical times. Supper will follow at 6 o'clock. Bible study at 6:30, and at 7:30 those present will attend the services at one of the local churches in a body.

SHURETT LINSKYTT AT CHURCHES AVE. CHURCH.

Sunday afternoon at 4:45 there will be a musical service in the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, the entire program of which will be made up of selections from Mendelssohn's works. The organ recital by Dr. B. Mettler Davis will occupy the first fifteen minutes of the service. It will consist of "Praeludium," "Spinning Song," "Spring Song" and "Andante," violin concerto.

At 5 o'clock the choir will sing portions of Mendelssohn's "Elijah." The solo parts will be: "Ye People Rejoice," "Hallelujah," "It is Enough," "O Lord," baritone; "Oh Rest in the Lord," contralto; and "Hear Ye, O Israel," soprano. The quartet is composed of Miss Lillian Vernon Watts, soprano; Miss Grace J. Carroll, contralto; Samuel E. Craig, tenor; and Herbert G. Linscott, baritone.

DEL. RANDOLPH HAS DECLINED LOCAL CALL.

Word was received by the trustees of the Seventh-Day Baptist church within the last few days from Alfred, N. Y., that Rev. Paul E. Titworth would be unable to accept the call to the pastorate of the local church. He is at present a professor in modern languages at Alfred University and feels that his work there is too important to leave at present. He is a son of the late Warburton Titworth, of Dunellen, and a nephew of Lewis T. Titworth, of this city.

A meeting of the congregation will be held in the near future, at which time another clergyman will be named.

BIBLE CLASSES GIVE RECEPTION FOR 200.

Nearly two hundred of the members of the Methodist and Protestant Bible Classes of the First Baptist church enjoyed a social evening in the chapel of the church last night. A program of games, recitations and singing was enjoyed. Vocal selections were contributed by Lillian Banks and Carl Wilson and Miss Wooden and Everett Banks rendered several pieces on the violin. Later in the evening refreshments were served.

Mrs. Carlton Smith, Miss Alice Terry, Arthur Pearson and Carl Wilson arranged for the affair.

WILL ASSIST KNIGHTS IN COMING BAZAAR.

A special meeting of a committee appointed at the weekly meeting of the St. Joseph's Bible Class to assist the Knights of Columbus with their coming fair was held last Sunday evening, when preliminary plans were discussed. The North Plainfield parish will probably have a booth at the fair and it is expected that each of the borough church organizations will appoint a special committee to assist with the work attached to the maintenance of such a booth.
