WOMEN'S CLUBS

Plainfield women who have been engaged in patriotic war relief work for the past year received a tribute this week from the headquarters of the National Special Aid Society in the form of a telegram to the local branch of the society that did much to recompense them for the activities that have been recognized all over the country. The message of congratulation was sent in return to a telegram sent from the local society on the occasion of the first anniversary of the local branch last Saturday and was high in its praise of the things that have been accomplished. It reads as follows:

To the members of the National Special Aid Society of Plainfield and North Plainfield.
The members of the National Special Aid Societies permit me to compliment you on the splendid work you have accomplished during the past year. It is a record to be proud of, and precisely the kind of work that might be expected of such a representative membership.
It is most gratifying to all of us to know of the practical patriotism displayed by you and we feel sure that your example will serve to stimulate others to like endeavors.

(Signed) MRS. F. D. WHITING, Chairman of Chapters.
No doubt the members of the club will realize the full import of a telegram coming from such a source, but to the 1,200 odd members of the society it means a whole lot that is not openly expressed. It means that the national headquarters of the society in New York is holding up the Plainfield branch as an example for every branch in the country and when the activities of women in some of the larger cities is taken into consideration some idea ought to be gained of the high standing enjoyed by the women of Plainfield.

During the past week there has been an extraordinary growth of members. One week from today the number was slightly below the thousand mark, but today there are over 1,200. One of the largest separate bodies that has yet affiliated with the society was the daughters of Isabella.
That organization decided to work with the National Special Aid Society at a meeting held this week and today seventy-five women have commenced. Several other women's clubs are about to vote on the question of whether or not they will join, and a number of women have herebefore held aloft from any other work have become members.

Mrs. J. B. Patton, who has charge of the women of the society, has for the men in the year, announces that he will be at 207 Park avenue

Women Convene

At The Seashore

The twenty-third convention of the New Jersey State Federation of Women's Clubs opened in Atlantic City yesterday afternoon, with sessions continuing today, will close tomorrow afternoon with the institution of officers. Led by Mrs. Harold C. Corbin, president of the Monday Afternoon Club, delegates from that organization, the Musical Club, the College Club and the Roselle Club, the four local societies belonging to the Federation, are attending the convention. Women representing 117,000 club members from all over the State have gathered for their yearly spring session and both today and tomorrow will enjoy a specially arranged program.
The opening conference of the convention was held yesterday afternoon at the Hotel Hamilton, and presiding. The evening session was devoted to the rendering of a program arranged by the Executive Committee. Mrs. H. C. Corbin, president of the Monday Afternoon Club, made an address on the "Ideal Home."

The polls will open tomorrow morning for the balloting for officers and will remain open until 11 o'clock. When there are no more candidates for office, the interest in the outcome is keen.

KNITTING UNIT FORMED.

Under the auspices of the United States of America and Prince of Wales Reller Society a knitting unit has been formed to make sweaters and other articles for the men in the American Navy. Meetings are held in the parish house of Grace Episcopal church every Thursday and anyone is welcome as a member.

MONDAY AFTERNOON CLUB.

The members of the Monday Afternoon Club enjoyed the annual entertainment of the organization in the auditorium of the Hartridge School on Monday afternoon. The program consisted of a series of joint readings by Edith Wayne Mat-thison and her husband, Charles Rann Kennedy. Mr. Kennedy is well known as an actor and is the author of several successful plays and books.
Included in the program was a talk on the Holy Land, a dialogue from "The Two Bishops" and other interesting readings.

Y. M. C. A. AUXILIARY.

The annual meeting of the Yomen's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. was held in the association building on Tuesday morning, at which time the reports for the year were made and officers for the coming twelve months elected. The present membership is 290 and during the year $214.97 was raised. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. James Coffey; first vice president, Mrs. Philip Baker; second vice president, Mrs.
James E. Kimball; third vice president, Mrs. Chapman Palmer; Secretary, Mrs. Charles C. Randolph; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Thomas Hyland; and recording secretary, Miss Edith B. Little. The auxiliary is planning to hold a Summer Bazaar at the association building next Thursday, the proceeds to be diverted to the treasury.

P. T. HUMMAGE SALE.

The second and last day of a rummage sale conducted under the auspices of the Korean War Relief Parent-Teacher Association occurs today in one of the little stores on East Front street. Mrs. D. R. Douglas is chairman of the committee in charge. The sale is part of the plan to furnish financial aid to the borough Food Commission.

ANNUAL BANQUET.

The annual membership banquet of the local Y. W. C. A. will be held next Thursday night in the association room on East Front street. An excellent dinner and program is being arranged for the hundred girls expected.

Musical Comedy, Here Tomorrow

Direct from a wonderful year's run at the Princess Theatre, New York city, the Marbury-Cornstock Company announce they will send "Very Good Eddie," the smartest and brightest musical comedy success of the season, to the Plainfield Theatre tomorrow, matinee and night. The phenomenal success of this charming musical play still remains quite as much of a mystery to the Marbury-Cornstock Company, its producers, as to the many thousands of seasoned theatergoers who have enjoyed it.

"Very Good Eddie" is pre-eminent-

Week's Program

Another college folk club will entertain Plainfield girls, who, as the unit of musical organizations of Lafayette College give a concert in the auditorium of the Plainfield High School next Friday night for the benefit of the local Soldiers' Relief society. Consisting of forty-four members, the organization is composed of the Syncoped Seven, the Kleeke Club and Maiden Club. Hanson MacKinnon is member of the first of the three and it was through him that the concert was arranged.

The program to be rendered will consist of a variety of numbers of both popular and classical composition. Following the completion of the program dancing will be enjoyed.

CHANGES AT FIRST M. E.

An important change in the singing at the First M. E. church zone into effect Sunday when the present choir retired and is succeeded by a solo-precursor, who will be Miss Alice C. Herring. Miss Herring was formerly soloist at the First Washington Baptist church and will sing hereafter at each service. Cliff Bratton, organist and musical director, will continue in his present position.

COMMUNITY CHOIR'S CONCERT.

Fifty members of the Community Choirs have been rehearsing for several weeks under the direction of Cliff Bratton and sometime during the last part of the season the members will give a concert in the Evergreen Avenue School.

Off Week for

Amateur Actors

The comic week will be one of the quietest for amateur thespians in this city that has occurred at any time in the past. The members of this play, the annual production of the Junior class of North Plainfield High School, has been announced, although several others are planned for the early part of the season.

"The Elphinstone of Elton," a comedy playlet, will be produced by the members of the third year class of North Plainfield High School. The cast is composed of seven of the club, all of whom will take part in an action-packed play. Dancing will follow the presentation.

"Oklahoma Jack" Todd Talks About Land Selling and War

Fresh from numerous conquests as a salesman of government land of Oklahoma, "Jack" Todd, one of Plainfield's best known young men and prominent as a local Elk, blew into town the forepart of the week for a few days' vacation. It is the first lay-off he has had since going away with the missionary car last February and he was chuck full of interesting chatter about his travel. Despite the fact that he was born at Westfield and never knew anything about farm land except that of Pleasant township, Jack has been very successful disposing of the virgin soil of Oklahoma. He intends to remain with the touring outfit which sends settlers to the Western States, rejoicing his companions at Atlantic City, Wednesday night. Between now and the coming fall the car will tour to the Pacific coast, stopping at many of the principal cities between New York and San Francisco.

The Oklahoma land car was in Plainfield for a week the last of January. When it pulled out for Perth Amboy on February 1, Jack Todd went with it and he has since so fully demonstrated his ability to sell Oklahoma farms of 1,000 acres or more that he has been made assistant manager of the company of eight salesmen. After leaving Perth Amboy, the car visited Newburg, Poughkeepsie and Ogdensburg, New York, also Rutland, Vermont, before making a three weeks' stop at Montreal, Canada. After this last stand another stop of three weeks was made at Toronto, from which place a big jump was taken to Atlantic City. Business was good extending in the two Canadian towns, where the people feel that the wheatlands in the western part of their own country offer even better opportunities for settlers than Oklahoma.

In telling of his experiences to the group of friends at the Elk's Club, Jack spoke of the hardships to be witnessed in Canada because of the diminished participation in the European War. Wounded men are in evidence at every turn but the enthusiasm of the people has not diminished and enlisting still goes on. The Plainfielder was in Montreal when a train-load of two hundred soldiers who had been rescued because of their injuries following the battle in Northern France, were brought direct from a transport land, and at Halifax. It was a harrowing sight to witness, but the sufferers themselves were even more enthusiastic than the populace. Those who were able to attend were given a dinner at one of the leading hotels to which Mr. Todd and his colleagues on the car were invited. One young lieutenant, the sole survivor of his regiment, after a charge on a German trench, declared that his sight and hearing had been affected by poisonous gases but that he would be able to fight the spring-line as soon as he had fully recovered. Another young man who was one of four out of an entire battalion to escape a Prussian artillery bombardment, asserted that he had undergone more experiences than he believed humans could endure, yet after once experiencing the thrill of taking part in a charge, he was ready to go back to the trenches, a spirit that pervaded every fibre of his comrades' frames. The feeling of the Canadians towards Americans, Mr. Todd said, was not the least bit cordial previous to President Wilson's declaration of war but after Congress had ratified his determination to join the Allies, the change of sentiment was remarkable. Instead of having the remark "too proud fight" being made to them in an insulting way, the car crew was cheered lustily wherever its nationality became known. The Stars and Stripes are now displayed everywhere alongside the British colors, and the Canadians entertain the begotten of friends at the Elk's Club. Jack said that the entrance of the United States to hostilities will mean but a short period more of fighting.

Second Round in League Tomorrow

With one new team on its roster, the CIO League began its 1917 season last Saturday under excellent conditions that indicate a successful season. The aggregation gathered together at the Standard Aeroplane plant, promising to be a strong contender for first honors, even though the first game was lost to St. Joseph's. Hope Chapel defeated the First Baptist outfit in a well played game and tomorrow's contests should decide the tie existing between Hope Chapel and St. Joseph's.

Tomorrow afternoon the Aeroplane team will play the First Baptist and Hope Chapel and St. Joseph's will lineup against each other. May was the popular material. The introduction of city water brought iron pipe into vogue, but there is very little of this in the old hotel. The purchasers are not counting upon any return from the sale of materials, although a 10% return on an investment of this kind is quite common. It is quite probable that when the old building is a thing of the past the purchase price for the bare ground will cover the outlay made.

Court Favors Sale

With the exception of the lattertime relative, most of the heirs to the estate living in the deal, lived in this city. Mrs. John Ludlum, widow of the deceased legator, has a home on East Seventh Street while the members of the Hyde family live in or about Plainfield. The descendants of Henry Lattimer are mostly in Tennessee. The Lattimer estate amounted to about one million dollars and was handled by three executives, J. Fred McDonald, William Shotwell and the late Nelson Runyon, whose death occurred June 28, 1915. A large number of investments were made by the executors and the hotel property is the only one that did not give a full return or profit.

Standing on one of the highest elevations between New York and the Scuplond Mountain at Whitehouse, the Netherwood Hotel has remained a stately structure since its erection in 1877. The broad verandas command a magnificent view of Plainfield and the adjacent low land that disappears in gradual and graceful undulations as far as the horizon in one direction and the fertile fields of Piscataway township in another. The origin of the immense edifice dates back to more than forty years ago when a group of wealthy Plainfielders, firm in the belief that Netherwood Heights had great possibilities as a Metropolitan suburb, formed a company which made the hotel a reality. This concern was originally known as the Belvidere Land Improvement Company and purchased from the New Jersey Central Railroad all the ground extending from the present Netherwood station as far south as Prospect avenue lying between what is now known as Leland avenue and Woodland avenue. The leading figures in this corporation were John P. Plummer and W. S. Darling, trading in New York as wholesale clothiers; A. Pannoy, P. J. Schutter, and James Anthony. After building a number of the houses which still stand on Belvidere avenue, one of them being best known as the Reimhart home, set up by Mr. Plummer for his own occupancy, a subsidiary company was organized to be known as the Netherwood Hotel Association. It was quite the fashion for New York's elite at that time to spend the summer at some nearby hotel, far enough removed from the seashore to escape the two-week vacationers and "Shoebornes." The one day excursionists were called. The Netherwood promontory was ideal in every respect and the projectors had dreams of establishing one of the most famous summer hostilities in this vicinity.

It was not until 1877 that everything was in readiness for putting up the great building that is now to be razed for the value of the material.

It contains. The architect was Charles Stevens, father of P. Richard Stevens, of Crescent avenue, and the contract for the work was let to Johnson, Sheppard & Godwin, an old Plainfield concern that put up many of the finest residences of the day. Labor was cheap at that time, because of a financial panic that had depressed the country for several months previous and the company considered that it had secured a mighty reasonable figure for the erection. Most of the time while the job was under way masons were paid only $1.50 per day, practically the same scale standing for carpenters and other mechanics. All the brick, numbering many hundreds of thousands, was baked at the late Aaron L. Jimsen's yard on Leland avenue, and the interior finishings were made at the planing mill of Kantman & Company on upper North avenue, the Jersey Central freight station now occupying the site. At the completion of the hotel ready for the reception of guests, it represented a total outlay for land, building and furnishings of nearly $225,000, a sum that would be staggering even in these days of high finance and ready investment. A large number of people were shareholders in the association, as the members of the Belvidere Land Improvement Company floated great quantities of stock that was quickly bought up by confident Plainfielders. The City National Bank handled most of the financial obligation, furnishing the ready cash and paying the few dividends that were declared.

The grand opening of the mammoth hotel was an occasion never to be forgotten by expectant Plainfield. Hundreds of the leaders of New York, Boston and Philadelphia society came out for the affair. Naturally enough, many of them made the trip in plain New Jersey Central trains, but a very noticeable portion drove out from the two nearest cities in stylish four-in-hands, sixes and eights, and many with drivers and footmen. Natty runabouts drawn by matchless trotters and many other handsome equipages taxed the big stables built to care for the turbanous. A brass band played on the lawn fronting the structure and a stringed orchestra, imported from New York for the occasion played the music upon the lesser lights, of whom there were more than 2,000. It is an undeniable fact that Plainfield never before or since has witnessed such a gathering as marked the beginning of this structure's career as a gathering place for the wealth of the day. In other years there were numerous other levees that collected Plainfield's folk but nothing like that which marked the memorable day of 1877 and which attendants as yet recalled the Netherwood. As frequently referred to by newspapers of the present time.

The first manager of the hotel was James Breslin, the widely known hotel man who established the Hotel Breslin in New York, and after whom the exclusive "Breslin" of Lake Hopatcong fame is named. The two years that he presided over the destinies were the only two prosperous seasons the building had. Mr. Breslin had charge of the big opening and conducted such an extensive advertising campaign that the Netherwood Hotel was given columns of space in scores of newspapers adjacent to Manhattan. At the end of his second season Mr. Breslin and the controlling association were unable to agree on terms for a new contract. He had originally signed up on a "fifty-fifty" vision of profits. By some it is said that the projectors believed they were not getting enough return for their investment and attempted to get the manager to take a straight salary of $10,000 a year instead of sharing in the net proceeds. In the end Mr. Breslin left Plainfield in a hostile frame of mind, declaring that the Netherwood Association would regret not coming to his terms. Time has proved that he was absolutely correct.

The second manager of the Netherwood was Frank Miller, who is now one of the leading hotel men of St. Louis. Mr. Miller ran the big place with success for several years and although he was confident that business would eventually become better he left to take up a more promising proposition. He was succeeded by George B. DeWaters, who retired in a very short time when Mr. Miller came back. The second time the latter took hold of things he entered the doors as owner of the hotel, having purchased the structure on a contract proposition, paying a certain amount down as stock and letting the remainder go on mortgage to the original owners. This was the first time the hotel was sold. Mr. Miller did not do as well as he expected and eventually the property went back to the association. As soon as the venture came young proprietor-manager had straightened out all his legal obligations he took his departure to the West, where he has since remained and where he has been very successful. From the time he left Plainfield until the late Mrs. J. R. Trevellick took the place about twelve years ago, the hotel has had a dozen or more managers and a gradually diminishing popularity. Local people can easily recall the time in the late 80's, when C. W. Woodruff, father of Henry Woodruff, the prominent young actor of "Brown of Harvard" fame, was the director of affairs and later on, about 1900, when Major Coleman took charge. The latter's regime was one of the last brilliant ones of the hotel. Major Coleman assumed the management for Dr. Robert Hunter, owner of a successful sanitarium in New York, who purchased the Netherwood with the idea of making it a branch of his city institution. The proposition fell through when Dr. Hunter conceived the idea of opening up another hotel again to get some return on his money. Major Coleman did yeoman service in giving the famous old place some of its old popularity, but he eventually gave up the task of making it pay, being himself out to devote his entire time to the Coleman House at Asbury Park. Many of New York's wealthiest residents of twenty years ago were guests at the hotel and old-timers had visions of the lobby with all its beauty of 1877-1878. Those merry seasons when Jay Gould, Sirus W. Field, "Jim" Fisk and other celebrities were always to be seen surrounded by the throngs of older Wall street financiers. All Plainfield was glad when Major Coleman came to town and all Plainfield was sad when he went away, for there were real good times for the pleasure-seekers and business for the merchants while he stayed.

The last purchaser under contract was Mrs. Truell, who had been very successful as proprietress of Truell Court and Truell Inn. She had faith in the possibilities of the hotel and decided to make it an all-year resort instead of keeping it open only for the summer months. She installed heat in all the rooms, a necessity they had never had before, and made other improvements that cost her many thousands of dollars. She assumed personal charge for a period of three years, at the conclusion of which she realized she had undertaken a task and allowed the property to revert back to the mortgagee. It was she who gave the place the name of "Truell Hall," which it has since more or less retained, although the great majority of Plainfielders will never refer to the place by any other title than the "Netherwood Hotel." Only once since Mrs. Truell gave up has any one made another attempt to do business at the old stand and this is hardly worth mentioning. A New York man bought the place about two years ago and was obliged to close up almost before he had started.

ed. That was the end of the Netherwood Hotel as a business place and now, after an existence of forty years, the beautiful structure that drew millionaires to its portals and made all New Jersey gaze with astonishment and expectation, is to be pulled to the ground and sold for so much lumber, bricks and other material.

OBITUARY

Personal Mention of Plainfielders and Others Who Have Heeded the Summons of Death During the Past Week.

MRS. ALICE V. DENNIS.

Mrs. Alice Van Dwyger Dennis, widow of Chester B. Dennis, died Tuesday morning in Mulleberg Hospital, where she had been under treatment for eleven weeks with a complication of troubles. Her illness began with rheumatism which gradually reached the heart, causing death. Through her long ordeal Mrs. Dennis was a patient sufferer, bearing everything with a fortitude that was a great comfort to her relatives and friends.

The deceased was a native of Hunterdon county, where she was born forty-eight years ago. Her maiden name was Alice V. Sutphen. She came to Plainfield in 1886 and had made her home here since that time. Mr. Dennis, who was a valued employee at the Scott Press Works, and was widely known, died just nine months ago after an illness of more than a year. Mrs. Dennis was a member of Trinity Reformed church, where she was an active worker in several departments.

Mrs. Dennis is survived by one daughter, Frances M. Dennis, a native of Plainfield, but now residing in Ohio; one grandson, Elmer Hammer, her father, Peter Sutphen, of Somerville; also five sisters and two brothers. These are: Mrs. Cora Ryno and Mrs. Gilbert Martin, of the borough; Mrs. Richard Hornby, of Dunellen; Mrs. Roy Bolles, of Somerville; and Mrs. Anna Mitchell, of Vermont; William Sutphen, of Newark, and Joseph Sutphen, of Hartford.

The funeral was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ryno, of Cidington avenue, and was attended by a large gathering of relatives and friends. Rev. John Y. Brock, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, was the officiating clergyman. The many beautiful floral tributes extending from friends of the family included several handsome set pieces. Burial was in Hillside cemetery.

DR. FRANK W. FRENCH.

Dr. Frank Whitely French, a native of this city and for many years one of the borough's leading dentists, died suddenly Monday night in a New York sanatorium where he had been under treatment for two weeks. Dr. French had been a sufferer from heart trouble and complications for two years but at times had seemed to be on the road to recovery. Recently he suffered a relapse and entered the New York institution in the hope of obtaining lasting benefit. His family and friends were totally unprepared for the sudden demise and the news of his death came as a great shock.

Dr. French was born in Plainfield forty-three years ago. After completing his studies in the local schools he entered the New York Military Academy at Cornwall-on-Hudson, where he was graduated with full honors. Later he studied dentistry at the New York Dental College and on receiving his diploma took up the practice of his profession in the borough. He continued business for seventeen years, during which time he established a large practice, but was compelled to discontinue it fifteen months ago because of illness. His office and home were last located on Mercer avenue. Dr. French possessed a genial disposition which won him many friends and at the same time had a capacity for work which knew no limit. Outside of his business his principal activities were at the First Methodist church, where he was an enthusiastic officer for many years. At the time of his death he held the position of steward. He was also a member of Anchor Lodge, No. 149, P. and A. M.; Jerusalem Chapter, R. A. M.; and Plainfield Lodge of Elks.

Dr. French is survived by his widow and one son, James H. French; also his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. French, of Crazz Plains; and two sisters, Mrs. Harlan Rodgers, of Sargitt, and Miss Edna French, of the borough.

MRS. LAURA LARKIN.

Mrs. Laura Larkin, a former resident of this city, died Saturday at her home in Newark, where she had been living in recent years. She was the daughter of Nathan and Caroline E. Harrod, of the Harrod Academy, near the Coderford, on Park avenue. The funeral was held at the undertaking parlor of E. M. Pearce, in Newark, Tuesday night, and burial was in Hillside cemetery, this city.

Lester Melick, of Prospect avenue, returned home a few days ago after a business trip to South America, which lasted several months. Most of the time was spent in Rio de Janeiro and other large cities in Brazil.

MRS. CATHERINE DAY.

Mrs. Catherine Day, widow of John Day, died Monday morning following a short illness from a complication of troubles due to her advanced age. She was born in Ireland seventy-six years ago but had made her home in Plainfield since a young girl. Mrs. Day's husband was a widely known resident at the time of his death a few years ago. The family resided for a long time on East Fourth street, near Church street, and later on Bonaparte street, the borough, but for the past two years Mrs. Day had been living on East Fifth street, where her death occurred.

The deceased was survived by four daughters. These are: Mrs. Charles Johnson, of Spoorer avenue; Mrs. Joseph Shelly, of Brooklyn; and Misses Julia and Elizabeth Day, of East Fifth street. There is also one sister surviving, Mrs. John Kane, of Monroe avenue.

The funeral was held in St. Mary's church Wednesday morning, where a solemn high mass of requiem was offered for the repose of the soul.

Rev. Father B. M. Dugan acted as deacon and Rev. Father Hennessey as sub-deacon. The officiating solo was sung by Alfred P. Lock.

The pall-bearers being: William Flavel, Richard Birmingham, John Walsh, John Kane, Frank Connors, Gilbert Johnson.

JOHN H. HARRIS.

John H. Harris, a resident of Plainfield for more than twenty years, died early Monday morning at his home in Brookwood avenue, East Orange, where he had been living since 1915. He had been ill but a few days with pneumonia. Mr. Harris was forty-one years old and was a painter by trade. He is survived only by his wife, who was Miss Anna Martin, sister of Councilman Theodore Martin and Patrolman Roy Martin. Mr. Harris's home was originally in Cherryville, Hunterdon county, from which place he came to this city with his parents when a boy. He was a member of Somerset Council, Jr. O. U. M., of the Golden Eagle, both organizations being represented at the funeral service which took place at the late home in East Orange, Wednesday afternoon. Burial was in the family plot in Evergreen cemetery, this city.

WILLIAM NESTER.

William Nester, a resident of Scotch Plains for many years and well known in Plainfield, died at his home at the former place Wednesday morning. He had been ill for about two months. Mr. Nester was sixty-five years old and is survived by his wife, two sons, Joseph, of Elizabeth, and William, of Plainfield; one brother, David, of Newark, and a sister, Miss Katherine Nester, of Murray Hill.

The funeral was held at the late home this afternoon in charge of Rev. J. Madison Hare, of the Scotch Plains Baptist church and was private. Burial was in the Scotch Plains cemetery.

JOHN EMERY.

John Emery, aged eighty-one years, died Saturday at the home of his brother, Jacob Emery, of 221 Grant avenue. He was a native of Clinton and had resided in Plainfield for a long time. He was a painter by trade. The funeral was held at the brother's residence Monday night and was in charge of Rev. D. W. Robinson, pastor of Zion chapel. Burial was in the family plot in the Newton cemetery at Grandin, Hunterdon county.

JAMES SCOTT.

James Scott, one of the oldest and best known colored residents of the city, died suddenly Wednesday morning from heart failure. He was stricken as he was about to begin his work as janitor of a North avenue business building. The funeral was held at the undertaking parlors of J. J. Higgins, A. Higgins and W. fourth street, this afternoon and was conducted by Rev. C. H. Mallory. Burial was in Hillside cemetery.

"Jim" Scott, as he was always known, was born in Plainfield and lived here all his life with the exception of four years when he was in the service of the United States Navy. He had a large bookish parlor on North avenue for a long time and as a young man was the leader in local colored Republican circles. To the honor of the volunteer fire department "Jim" always marched in the firemen's parade bearing the "tattoo" of Gazette Engine Company.

His home for many years has been in Parichild's alley, where his mother died a short time ago in his ninety-fourth year. He was a member of Joseph Roden, K. of O., this only surviving relative is a wife.

Rev. and Mrs. Barney S. Hudson, of East Ninth street, are spending a week at Atlantic City previous to their departure to Ft. Parland, Md., following Dr. Hudson's resignation as pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church.

A Unique Exhibit

You will see in Mitchell's many attractions which no other cars embody. There are 31 extra features, all of which you'll want. There are luxuries and beauties far beyond any other like-class cars. We have added 24 per cent to the luxury cost this year, out of savings made in our new body plant.

And every vital part is given at least 100 per cent over-strength. We have doubled our margins of safety, to give you a lifetime car.

How We Afford It

The Mitchell extra values will seem unbelievable until we explain them to you. They are due to factory savings made by John W. Bates, the great efficiency expert.

He built and equipped this mammoth plant to build this one type economically. And his methods will save us on this year's output about $4,000,000.

Men, Do You Realize What This Shoe House Is Doing For You?

We're putting our shoes at much less than present "replacement values." In other words, at DOLLARS BELOW what we ought to get for them, based on present wholesale prices.

Of course, that may not seem "good business" to the average merchant—but we think it's going to make lots of friends for us, these high priced times!

Come in and look them over.

PUBLIC NOTICE

To Aliens Within the City of Plainfield:

As Mayor of the City of Plainfield, I do hereby give public notice that the Police Department of the City has been directed by T. W. Gregory, Attorney General of the United States, to notify all alien enemies within this locality to bring to Police Headquarters and surrender the following articles which, under the Proclamation of the President, dated April 6, 1917, it is unlawful for alien enemies to have in their possession:

Any firearm, weapon, or implement of war, or component part thereof, ammunition, maxim or other silencer, bomb, or explosive, or material used in the manufacture of explosives; any aircraft or wireless apparatus, or any form of signaling device, or any form of cipher code, or any paper, document, or book written or printed in cipher or in which there may be invisible writing.

A detailed receipt will be given for all articles so surrendered, and at the close of the war such articles will be returned.

Any alien enemy who fails to surrender such articles within twenty-four hours after this public notice will be subject to summary arrest if such articles are found in his possession; and the articles will be seized and forfeited to the use of the United States.

April 13, 1917, 9 o'clock P. M.

LEIGHTON CALKINS, Mayor.

PATRICK S. KIELY, Chief of Police.
