Army Man Weds
Miss Van Wyck
One of the most brilliant weddings
of the present season in New York took place in the St. Regis Hotel, that city, Tuesday night, when Miss Priscilla Van Wyck, daughter of Mr.
and Mrs. Philip V. R. Van Wyck, of Summit, formerly of Plainfield, was made the wife of Capt. Wade Hammon Carpenter, of Anderson, S. C., now a member of the Coast Artillery.
The ceremony was witnessed by 400 guests who gathered from all parts of the country. Rev. Dr. Oliver Hall, of the Church of the Paternity, was the officiating clergyman.
Miss Van Wyck wore a gown of white silk set with a long train of satin and rose point lace. Her bou-quet was composed of white orchids and lilies of the valley. She was attended by her cousin, Mrs. Harry Wilson, as bridesmaid, who wore a costume of apricot colored net over satin of the same color, trimmed with seed pearls. She carried yellow roses and pansies.
Capt. George B. Conly, U. S. A.,
was best man. Capt. Robert N.
Campbell, Lieut. F. J. Williams,
Lieut. R. S. Barr and Lieut. A. A.
Cogswell, all of the army, were the ushers.
After September 1 their home will be at Port de Lesseps, Panama.
The bridegroom is presently stationed at Fort Belvoir, where he has been stationed. The bridegroom has obtained a leave of six weeks, which he and his bride will devote to a tour by automobile through the Berkshires and the White Mountains. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A.
A. Carpenter, of Anderson, S. C., and is a cousin of the late Senator Hampton. Mrs. Carpenter was prominent in Plainfield's younger social set when the family resided at Stelle and Plainfield avenues, the property now being owned by R. H. Hood and known as "The Besses."

SUPREME COURT
SUSTAINS COUNCIL.
The Supreme Court in an opinion just rendered again holds that the ordinance passed by the Common Council on December 22, 1913, providing for the widening of Madison avenue, is valid, and has dismissed
a writ of certiorari obtained by Fred Endres and William W. Mills to have the measure annulled, in a previous opinion, resulting from a previous split, the high court gave the same ruling, but set aside the proceedings relating to the report of the commissioners named to determine the amount of benefits and damages to property-holders along Madison avenue.

Why "Jack" Oswald Firmly Believes
This World Is a Very Small Place
From now on "Jack" Oswald, the East Port street confectioner, is a thirty-third degree believer in the fact that "this world is not such a big place after all." An incident occurred a few days ago
which brought the fact home to him so forcibly that he defies anyone to show him to the contrary. This is the way it happened:
Mr. Oswald was in the reading room of the Ellis club Monday night when he was approached by a fellow member who was showing a friend through the beautiful building. The fellow member happened to remark that Mr. Oswald was born in Switzerland, although he came to this country when he was ten years old, and approached him with the remark that the visitor was a young Swiss who had been sent to America
by his employers and was now connected with the company's New York house. The stranger was introduced to him as "Mr. Naegels."

"What part of Switzerland do you come from?" asked Mr. Oswald. The reply was "St. Gaults."

"St. Gaults?" queried the maker of confections. "Why I am very well acquainted there. I suppose you know of Emil Boehs, the manufacturer of embroideries?"
It was the stranger's turn to become more than ordinarily interested and he remarked:
"Emil Boehs is the man I work for
and it was he who sent me to America to help in the management of his Fifth avenue store, in New York. He has been more than an employer because, despite the fact that there are 30,000 hands in his various employment making shops, he has taken a personal interest in me and has been aiding me in learning all branches of the business, but," he added, "how do you come to know Mr. Boehs?"
"He happens to be my first cousin," answered Mr. Oswald, and those of you who have had a similar experience in this world can understand how I can appreciate how the confectioner and the Swiss embroidery man got sent throughout the state and a number of the local clergy will

The Value of Poultry Products

in this country is equal to one-half the value of the entire corn crop of the nation. Millions of dollars of clear profit are realized by those farmers who know the money-making value of a substantial, properly built POULTRY HOUSE. The increased productiveness of your poultry, makes a poultry house a paying investment. The best poultry house is built of

WHITE PINE

White Pine insures against light and other insect troubles. Besides, the wood is light, durable and so easily worked, that you'll enjoy building with it. And it does not warp or twist or split or rot, even after years of exposure.

You've heard your father talk about "the good, old White Pine of the old days!" We have it in suitable grades for your purpose and at reasonable cost, value and service considered.

Practical working plans, and a complete bill of material for the above poultry house—or for any other farm building—will be furnished on request together with our estimate of its cost.

Good buildings do not cost as much as you suppose if you build by plans. And they make farming easy. They enhance, too, the value of your farm.

High Scho Teams Lose Many Players

As is nearly always the case, both Plainfield and North Plainfield High Schools have lost a number from their athletic teams through graduation this year. The ninth street institution will probably be harder hit than the borough High School, the eighth class of 1917 forming practically the entire team in some cases.

In football the Red and Blue will be without the services next year of Herrin, Kyle, Geary, Fred Smith, Bonlock and Hooper, while the basketball squad will take Kyle, Coudray, Swackhamer, Hooper and Case. Baseball will miss Kyle, Coudray, Hooper, Goldberg and Guttridge. Case and Carter will not be able to form the backbone of the tennis team. The girls' basketball team will be without the services of Elia Palmer, Florence Albaugh, Marion Lunsdale, Dorothy Butler and Fannie Mann.

Over in the borough they will have to fill places on the girls' basketball team vacated by Lillian Spencer, Elsie Wyckoff and Marion Chandler. William Seidel, Alfred Willett, Andrew McDonough, William Ahern and Vincent LaPorte will be missed from the boys' basketball team, and Andrew McDonough, William Ahern and Vincent LaPorte from the baseball squad.

SURPRISE PARTY GIVEN TO MISS HARRINGTON

Fifty friends of Miss Marion Harrington, of West Fourth street, tendered her a surprise party Tuesday night, in honor of her twentieth birthday. The affair was arranged by Miss Theresa Murray and Miss Anna Harrington and was carried on in such a manner that Miss Harrington received not the slightest inkling in advance. She returned from a trip down town to find the guests assembled and all in readiness for the good evening. Although taken by surprise, she received not the slightest inkling in advance. She returned from a trip down town to find the guests assembled and all in readiness for the good evening. Although taken by surprise, she received not the slightest inkling in advance.

Dancing was one of the most delightful features of the evening music for which was furnished by Edward Ambrose, of New York. There were also vocal solos contributed by Miss Helen McCauley, John McCarthy and Joseph Murray. Parlor games were enjoyed at frequent intervals and refreshments were served at midnight. Miss Harrington received numerous appropriate gifts which will serve as a reminder of the occasion for a long time to come. Beside the friends from Plainfield, the guests included others from Somerville, Elizabeth and Jersey City.

Jr. O. U. A. M. Offer Services to State

The Uniformed Rank of the Junior Order United American Mechanics in New Jersey, has renewed to Governor Edge the offer made to Governor Fielder, when the National Guard was sent to the Mexican border last year, to replace the militiamen when they go away for war duty, which is expected to be in the near future. The Governor in a letter of thanks to the order states that the offer is an "interesting suggestion."

There are organizations in this city, Newark, Jersey City, Hoboken, Bayonne, Paterson, Little Falls, Hawthorne, Elizabeth, Roselle, Millington, Trenton, Mt. Holly, Millville, Bridgeton, Camden, Haddonfield and several other places.

The uniformed rank consists of about 1,500 members at present and with very little training, they are able to fill the place of the Guard in a very creditable shape. Company H, of this city, has about forty members and all are willing to serve.

CLERKS OF COUNTY HAVE EFFECTED ORGANIZATION.

The permanent organization of the various clerks of municipalities in Union county has been effected and plans already laid for taking hold of matters of mutual benefit to members. The election of officers has resulted in County Clerk William B. Martin being chosen president; Charles Clark, vice president; John J. Carroll, of this city, secretary; and T. J. Kitts, treasurer. Meetings are held in the county courthouse the second Thursday of every month. One of the first things to be taken up is the question of municipal finance. The new Pierce laws recently passed make numerous changes necessary and it is to have these fully explained that the question is to be taken up. Assemblyman Piersen may explain at one of the future sessions the particulars of the laws he was instrumental in having enacted.

REGISTRATION NAMES POSTED FOR REFERENCE.

A complete list of names and addresses of all men between 21 and 30 years of age who registered for military service in this city and borough June 5 last is now posted in the city hall of both places for the convenience of the public and to enable interested persons to determine who did and who did not obey the law by registering.

If a violator is discovered the person having knowledge of this act is requested to communicate the name to the police or federal authorities.

Red Cross Fund Over Subscribed

Although the campaign conducted in this city to obtain $50,000 for the Red Cross closed last Monday with an amount over that figure by a wide margin, contributions left at the Plainfield Trust Company since the last few days have added considerably to the total of $65,000 reported by Wilbur H. Rogers, general chairman of the campaign, and it is expected that the final total will bring the fund up to nearly $65,000. In eliciting the sums raised by Elizabeth and other nearby cities Plainfield has drawn forth favorable comment from the headquarters of the American Red Cross in Washington.

In a short statement issued to the local press just after the campaign was officially closed, Mr. Rogers extended his thanks to all those who helped to make the drive a success, including the board of directors, committees, those who contributed the full page advertisements in the newspapers and most of all to those who gave their money. The women's division he especially commended for the raising of over $10,000 of the fund, and Mrs. Charles Reed, chairman of the women's division. In turn, she thanked the telephone company for the generous use of its service.

"WORM'S EYE VIEW" LUNA'S NEW ATTRACTION

Luna, Coney Island's big amusement park, is the birthplace of novel features designed to interest and amuse a pleasure loving public. With each season there originates in this playground a variety of attractions, the culmination of ideas which, perhaps, have been dwelt upon for years before reaching a practical realization.

With the advent of the current season a list of novelties longer than the rainbow has been placed on view. Since the season's opening day there have been frequent additions to the list. Of the latter one of the most popular from a point of popularity, is "A Worm's Eye View," an illusion which received its initial presentation this week.

In "A Worm's Eye View" is represented a recorded dream of a retired Colonel. There is depicted the wanderings and vicissitudes of a man whose mind wanders in a drowsy slumber, in his youth, a girl entered the man's heart as the worm entered the apple. In his fantasy he sees the dunes of the sea, the vast of inquiry from which he turns with loathing. Then, in the cycles of his dream, he beholds the guiding star of virtue and innocence beckoning him to follow on to the land of golden hopes, when he awakens; gazing upon the hills, flowers and emblem of his country.

CRUSADE STARTED AGAINST AUTOISTS.

Acting upon the suggestion of Mayor Leighton Calkins, Chief of Police Kiely has instructed his men to commence a crusade against autoists who persist in using their "cut-out" in violation of the city ordinance. Any offender caught in the police dragnet will be taken before City Judge DeMeza and fined.

The Mayor says, "On the part of many motorists, resident in this city, there is a deliberate and intentional to enjoy whatever peculiar sensation is derived from the unnecessary practice." Especially during the past few months has the nuisance been prevalent and the Mayor is determined to put a stop to it.

W. Currie. The injuries and shock may prove quite serious.

PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY, JUNE 29, 1917.

HOME DEFENSE LEAGUES PROVING THEIR WORTH

The Plainfield citizen of the "knocker" species who started out to make merry quips at the expense of the local Home Guard has come to the conclusion that he picked out the wrong butt for his jocoseness. Started at a time when nobody understood fully what would be required of it and consequently paved the way for humorous suggestion, the organization has gotten to be almost indispensable. Mayor Calkins' call for volunteers brought men from every walk of life. They had no conception of what sort of duty they would be called upon to perform, they only knew that their services were required for the good of the community and they stood ready to give them. It meant a heap of self-denial and more than an arduous task but in all truthfulness it can be said that not a member of the Plainfield Home Guard has been found wanting.

Guard duty at the Netherwood water tower was only a beginning, a sort of kindergarten training school as it were. The members met the long hours of duty on cold or stormy nights without flinching. They left warm and comfortable homes to do their little trick without a murmur of discontent, although the "slacker" who is doing nothing snickered at the armament. From water tower duty the Home Defenders advanced to regulation military drill and are now fully proficient in all of the various marching movements used by the regular service. Night after night they have assembled on the old horse show grounds and doggedly stuck to the task of learning hallow square formation, riot drills and all that goes to make up the proclivities of a soldier. Even more than this, they have taken up police patrol duty, once every two or three weeks making the rounds of the city at night with the regular departmental officers. They are learning all about the police call box system, the running down of culprits, how to handle a struggling prisoner, where the city beats are and what they consist of, and the dozen or more other things that go to make up police routine. Practically every member of the guard is now competent to do a regular patrolman's duty on a pinch, a mighty big help to the municipal officers any time it should be needed. The men will not be "greenies" in handling pistols either. They have had weapons ever since the league was organized and each night two squads appear at the police headquarters for target practice. More than one has gotten so proficient that he can drive a proverbial nail at fifty paces.

Another feature now contemplated by the league's executives is the establishment of a school for non-commissioned officers. The latter are to be taught the regulation infantry drill in place of the unmounted cavalry drill which has been used heretofore. Once these non-commissioned officers acquire the full rudiments of the infantry manual they can in turn teach them to the other men. This means a splendid force of reserve men for regular military duty instead of a squad of raw recruits in case the necessity arises.

All the above is mentioned to show that the Home Guard is an organization worthy of every citizen's support and respect. Those who have contributed money to the cause can rest assured that it has gone for a good purpose and those who have discouraged the movement can take a back track. Plainfield Home Guards are doing their little bit now but what they will do in the future will be a big bit. Preparedness has been the nation's watchword for fully a year and these Home Guards are prepared. When the time comes every single individual of the organization will show that he is composed of the right stuff and that the wise ones who sat by the fireside and criticised unjustly made the biggest mistake of their lives. The Home Defense has come to stay.

SENATOR PIERCE AND THE COMMON PLEAS JUDGESHIP.

Senator Carlton B. Pierce's candidacy for the appointment to the Court of Common Pleas Judgeship will not receive any great support in Plainfield. The position is one that calls for a thorough knowledge of New Jersey law from a practical as well as technical standpoint and this the Cranford legislator does not possess. By this, we do not mean that he lacks legal knowledge but his practice as a lawyer has been in New York State, where there is a very noticeable difference in court methods. Mr. Pierce was admitted to the New Jersey bar in 1911 and became a counsellor only two years ago. This is altogether too short a time in preparing a man for a seat on the Union county bench, an office which demands every qualification for the wise and judicious handling of every manner of legal problem to say nothing of general conditions throughout the district that require intimacy for proper ruling.

There are plenty of practicing lawyers in Union county who have belonged to the New Jersey bar at least a score of years who are eligible for the appointment. They are men who have practiced locally since becoming attorneys and are eminently qualified to become James J. Connolly's successor. One of these is William Newcorn, a man of pronounced integrity and ability. He served his apprenticeship in State law-making as a member of the New Jersey Assembly for two years and for nearly six years dispensed justice in the Plainfield District Court, an office he quitted through a change of political administration and where he left an enviable record. Judge Newcorn is a contestant for the Common Pleas appointment and there are none who can say that he does not deserve it. His occupancy of the office would be a credit to the appointing executor and the citizens of Union county would be assured of receiving equitable adjustments of their legal affairs.

A CITY ELECTRICIAN BECOMING A NECESSITY.

The need of a city electrician, such as was advocated quite strongly about a year ago, has gotten to the point where an official of this kind is almost an absolute necessity. Not only are the demands made upon the out of town inspector in the employ of the Board of Underwriters so pressing that two days a week are inadequate for him to supervise local wiring but the fees from inspections will more than cover the salary to be paid. These matters are, at that, inconsequential when compared with the great danger accruing from electric wiring being placed in houses without every particle of it being carefully looked over, a matter that is impossible under the present system. The application by the contractor is filed with the Public Service Corporation and is permitted to go on pending the coming of the Board of Underwriter's representative. Frequently the job is completed and covered up by carpenters and masons before the inspectors get to town. If joints have not been properly soldered and taped or possibilities of arcs left at bends it is only a matter of time when one of those "mysterious fires," so often spoken of in the newspapers, will take place. If it comes in the night and the family is wrapped in slumber the result can better be imagined than described. Such cases as these have happened and will continue to happen wherever there is the defective piece of wiring hiding its sinister self behind inflammable materials.

If figures tell no falsehoods, the pecuniary side of a city electrician offers no objection. The Common Council is now paying $1,400 a year for the maintenance of the Gamewell fire alarm system and $200 is an average expenditure annually for materials. It pays $400 annually for the maintenance of the police call box system and an additional $200 for necessary supplies, making a total of $2,000. The money paid by contractors for applications and inspections, now averages $2,000 every twelve months and is increasing all the time. If a city electrician were appointed a competent man could be secured for $1,800. A lineman's services could be gotten for $1,200 or possibly a little less. This means a salary of $3,000, which is now in reality costing $3,800 when the care of the fire and police alarms and inspecting fees are considered. Moreover, the expenditure for materials could be greatly lessened as the city electrician could purchase supplies at the usual dealer's discount. The figures have been obtained from authoritative sources and are corroborated by statistics from Perth Amboy, where a city electrician has been doing good work for a number of years.

The best interest of the entire city would be served if the Common Council would devote a few hours' close attention to this matter and install a city electrician as soon as possible. Contractors doing skimpy work would be unable to have their dangerous workmanship hidden away and the honest jobber would not be held up for weeks at a time through the Underwriter's inspector being elsewhere detained. With a city electrician having regular office hours, applications could be made at any time and the inspector could follow them up by watching every bit of the work. One of the glaring faults of the present system is readily observed in the practice of allowing additional lights and wiring to be placed in a house without any permit being necessary. Additional work can be just as dangerous as new work and the arc of a small hall light found necessary after a tenant has just taken a house can start a fire as quick as the dining-room lights put in position before. Everything in the city of an electrical nature in contracting work could be supervised by an inspector and the chances of fires of "unknown origin" would be materially decreased. A city electrician is a necessity and the Council will make no mistake at appointing one at its earliest convenience.

NOBLE SELF-DENIAL OF THE NATIONAL SPECIAL AID.

Such a spirit as that which actuated the 1,500 members of the Plainfield Chapter National Special Aid Society to lay aside the individuality of their organization to affiliate themselves with the Red Cross elicits more than ordinary commendation. The Special Aid had perfected itself into a most thorough and helpful organization, strong in results as well as in numbers. The noble women giving up their time and money for the benefit of the nation were carrying out their own ideas as to what should constitute national aid in time of stress and to discard all personal plans for the benefit of the greater society was a sacrifice of no small amount. The members have now turned their attention to the formation of a local Red Cross Chapter with the same energy that marked the beginning of the National Special Aid and in a very short space of time the work will be going on as enthusiastically as ever, subject only to the rules and regulations of the National Red Cross Society.

In Montclair a Special Aid Chapter with a membership of 3,000 gave up its work to merge with the Red Cross and the Newark News made the following editorial reference to the change:

"It would not have been strange had such a splendidly equipped organization desired to continue its separate existence since it has so fully justified its right to exist, but when the suggestion came that amalgamation with the Red Cross would be desirable, the women responded, as promptly and as willingly as they had responded to the call to work. They took the position that the Red Cross having been sanctioned by the national government, should have the united co-operation of all citizens; that whole hearted, unhampered support is necessary in every undertaking of a national character called forth by the exigencies of the war, to the end that the greatest efficiency with the minimum of organization may be assured."

A MATTER OF DIFFERENCE BETWEEN COLD AND HEAT.

In giving a history of the MacDonald property at East Front street and Watchung avenue, from which the old homestead has just been removed, the Courier-News said Tuesday night: "In those days of a century ago there was probably plenty of ice in winter on what is now known as Tier's pond, within a stone's throw of this old residence, but apparently little use was made of the ice, for in the cellar under this house is a deep excavation, below the cellar bottom, and neatly walled up, with steps leading down to it, where probably the butter is stone crocks, and other perishable foods were kept."

All of which listens very good from a reminiscence standpoint but in reality is the result of a vivid imagination. It seems a shame to disillusionize the readers of the otherwise good story yet we feel in duty bound to let them know the excavation mentioned was dug by J. Fred MacDonald to lower his hot water boiler, thus permitting a proper depth for the return pipes.

From a bed of food-hill flowers offered in the Courier-News by W. de La Roche Anderson, we pluck this poetry: "I recommend the dehydration of vegetable products because having been personally so dehydrated myself in an attic one summer night I am thoroughly familiar with the dehydration." We always knew there was something wrong with the "Sage of Watchung" but never thought of blaming it on dehydration.

For the first time in many years the 8:30 morning express train has had its leaving time changed to 8:20. About the only difference it has brought about so far is to make the members of the "just a little late club" advance their daily rush ten minutes ahead.

WHAT'S BECOME OF THE GOOD OLD DAYS—

When they used to call them balls instead of audiotrons!

When the only real sports in town were the boys who hired a rig on Sunday from John Rosell or "Andy" Segurine and drove their best girls to Florida Grove!

When Scotch Plains was the "Paris of New Jersey" and the only safe and sane way of getting there was by Tom Newman's stage!

When the Boulevard crowd and the boys from Evona who, attending the Washington School, had a battle five days a week on the old circus lot at Fourth street and Plainfield avenue!

When a Plainfield politician's standing in the community was measured by his popularity in the volunteer fire department!

Bakers Endorse Favours County Home for Wayward Girls

More than 200 bakers from the greater New York district, among whom were Robert H. Barry, Ernest Zeek and L. Kornfeld, of this city, assembled in the Grand Central Palace, New York, Monday night, to discuss the Government's injunction regarding the non-return of bread unsold by retail dealers. The authorities at Washington have decreed that beginning with July 10 every loaf of bread taken from a baker's shop is to be returned under any circumstances, this plan being adopted as a precaution against a possible oversupply of bread that might go to waste. In this way it is believed that the output in Plainfield alone can be cut down to 2,000 loaves daily, while throughout the country the figures would be such as to almost deny the loaf.

The bakers at Monday's gathering unanimously ratified the Government's order and afterward passed a resolution of co-operation. The sense of the latter move was to the effect that the country's wheat supply could be greatly conserved by the wholesale bakers and Federal authorities working in harmony, not only for the non-return of bread but for other things that will develop in the future. The non-return order is only one of many that are to be issued from Washington as the food shortage increases. As a matter of fact, the restriction on the taking home of bread by retail dealers is really a saving to the wholesalers, as small shop keepers frequently order twice as much bread as they have a chance of selling. All that is taken home to eat is practically a loss to the manufacturer. As the stale bread, aside from a few old loaves, is sold in barrel lots for chicken feed, at a very small price.

Monday night's meeting was addressed by representatives from Ward's, Shultz's and other big wholesale bakers' houses. Other meetings are to be held at regular intervals in order that the bakers might keep in touch with the food commission's latest plans and perhaps by mutual discussion arrive upon new ways and means for meeting exigencies that have arisen through the declaration of war. The decision on the non-return of bread was followed up on the action of the National Bakers' Convention, which first received instructions from the Government and gave full endorsement of the plan.

Plainfield Woman in State Defense Move

Mrs. Charles W. Stockton, of Ridgewood, former president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, was elected chairman of the New Jersey Division of the Woman's Committee of the National Council of Defense at a meeting held for organization Tuesday afternoon in Newark. Heads of State organizations for women throughout the State were present to assist in the formulation of plans for effective work. Mrs. H. Otto Wittmann, of Jersey City, was made honorary vice chairman; Mrs. E. Yarde Breese, of this city, was chosen secretary, and Mrs. Seymour Cromwell, of Bernardsville, treasurer. Other elected to serve with Mrs. Stockton, as vice chairmen, were Mrs. James F. Fielder, Mrs. Edward F. Pelecker, of this city; Mrs. John J. White, of Atlantic City; Mrs. Ira A. Kirs, of South Orange; Mrs. Richard C. Jenkinson and Mrs. John R. Schermerhorn.

A. A. King Removes To His New Building

A. A. King, the automobile painter who has been located on Somerset street, has removed to his new building, at 12-16 Grove street, just off West Front street, where he is now preparing to carry on his business on a large scale than ever. He has a floor space of fifty by seventy feet and equipped with every facility for the rapid and thorough repainting of machines, Mr. King also manufactures toys and slip covers. Since locating in Plainfield, Mr. King's business grew steadily through the proper caring of customers until the cramped quarters demanded the new building which he has just had erected.

A part of the lower floor of the structure is to be occupied by Wilbert T. Blittell and Charles Kane, who have been located at 332 West Front street. Mr. Blittell is an expert on all kinds of magnetic work and Mr. Kane is an expert in battery work. They are the local agents for Edice Batteries and are prepared to take care of all automobile needs in this direction.

SATURDAY CLOSING.

Starting with tomorrow, a number of the local merchants that belong to the Business Men's Association will close their stores on Saturdays at 12:30 for the day. The same plan will be followed until September.

GARAGES BOOMING.

Building permits for the last few months have declined to practically nothing as far as Plainfield is concerned. Building Inspector Doane has not issued a permit for anything except garages in weeks and present indications seem to point to a continuance of the slow times.

Mrs. CUTTING'S NEW POSITION.

Elmer D. Cutting, of Central avenue, who has held a responsible position for several years with the Maryland Casualty Company at New York office, has been appointed local agent for the Standard Oil Company. His office will be located at the West Front street plant of the concern. Mr. Cutting has a number of wide business connections and his many friends are certain that he will greatly develop the Standard's output in the Plainfield district.

Mrs. Frances E. Bell, widow of John Jay Bell, and a native of this city, died Wednesday at the Homestead, Panwood, following a long illness. Her home was in Brooklyn but it had been her custom for a long time to spend the summer in Panwood.

Mrs. Bell is survived by one daughter, Mrs. A. W. Worley, Jr., of Brooklyn; and three sisters, Mrs. J. B. Coward, Mrs. R. H. Cook and Mrs. George S. Underhill, all of Plainfield.

Judge Newcorn in Race

years. He was in business on West Front street for a brief period and devoted his spare time at the start to the study of law. All his examinations were passed with such merit that he was admitted to the New Jersey bar in 1897 with all honors. He was made a counsellor a short time after he began legal practice. His clientele has enlarged continually until at the present time he is one of the leading figures in New Jersey courts.

In 1901 the people of this district honored Judge Newcorn with the office of assemblyman, to which he was elected by a most flattering majority over the opposition. He made a splendid record during his term, which was endorsed by a second election in 1902. In 1905 he was appointed Judge of the newly established Plainfield district court and when the Legislature convened the following winter he was re-appointed for a full term of five years, presiding until 1915, at which time a change in the State administration brought a successor. The latter was the late Judge Walter L. Hetfield, who died last April.

Judge Newcorn has always been a staunch Republican. For nearly twenty-five years he has been a zealous worker for the party and frequently he was called upon to surmount political difficulties that made others hesitate. At the retirement of County Registrar Frank H. Smith as chairman of the Union County Republican Committee two years ago, Judge Newcorn was appointed to the position. The splendid G. O. P. vote in this district last November is an evidence of what the Plainfield man could do in the face of great odds. The division of the party through the Progressive split of 1912 meant yeoman service on the part of the regular Republican fighting hand and Union county but Judge Newcorn "delivered the goods."

It is understood that Senator Carlton B. Pierce, of Cranford, is an aspirant for the Common Pleas office and former District Court Judge Addison Swift, of Elizabeth, would also like to be Judge Connolly's successor. The campaign of Mr. Pierce was launched this week but the Elizabeth man has not come out strong as yet.

is here—or will be within a few days, and will bear a new significance for us this year. After many years of peace and prosperity, we have been compelled, in self-defense, to enter a war—a war which is every bit as much a war for independence as was that struggle whose end brought into being the United States of America. Our cause is a just one, and victory must inevitably be with us.
