PLAYMATES RAISE ALARM.

Lillian Fox, Four Years Old, While Playing Near Home of Grandfather in Dorchester, Is Taken by Father and Mother in Automobile.

Dorchester, Pa., Aug. 28.—The police in this town are still looking for the girl who was kidnapped from her grandparents' home in Dorchester, Pa., last night. The girl, Lillian Fox, four years old, was taken away by her father and mother in an automobile. The girl's playmates raised the alarm.

CATCHES HER ASSAILANT.

Mrs. Munch Watches For Highwayman and Causes His Arrest.

Mt. Airy, N. C., Aug. 28.—When Mrs. Lillian Munch of Cedar Grove, was attacked by a highwayman at a lonely place on Broad avenue Monday afternoon she beat the man off with her umbrella and he fled to the woods.

In the battle with the highwayman Mrs. Munch broke her umbrella. This fact, coupled with her indication of the holdup, made her resolve to run down her assailant. Since that time she has been on the lookout for the man and yesterday she saw him on Pompton turnpike in Cedar Grove.

As soon as she saw Mrs. Munch he ran. The fugitive was running in the direction of the home of Charles Schneider, a constable in the Essex county courthouse, who is a brother-in-law of Mrs. Munch.

The prisoner, who gave his name as Angelo Arduini, at the hearing before Recorder Henry J. Yost denied that he attacked Mrs. Munch, but she was positive in her identification and the prisoner was held in jail for the grand jury.

SAID AGED MAN SHOT HIM.

Charles de Chimney, Wealthy Farmer, Held on Complaint of Employee.

Hackensack, N. J., Aug. 28.—Charles de Chimney, seventy-five years old, a wealthy farmer of Rochelle Park, N. J., was arrested on a charge of assault upon one of his farm hands yesterday. The complaint, Karina Stup, who alleges the aged farmer cupped his shotgun at him and fired, was filed in the Essex county court. The farmer declares he acted in self defense, declaring Stup was following him to his house and threatened to cut him in two with a scythe.

Mr. de Chimney says he has never before had any trouble with employees. He asserts that Stup, who has been in his employ for two or three years, had been drinking and used to come to work in the morning dressed in a state of intoxication. Justice Pratt held Mr. de Chimney to $1,000 bail to await the action of the grand jury.

JOB PRINTING OF ALL KINDS

MONDAY, AUGUST 28, 1911.

The popular reform of "Commission Government," inspired the Newark Call to the following comment in its issue yesterday. "Call"

is not an opponent of the new movement. It discusses the proposed change in methods of local government, in a fair and sensible manner, and those who are seeking information, or those who believe that the new idea, will bring a panacea for all the ills of the present representative government, should seriously consider the Call's presentation as below.

After referring to the lamentable failure of appointive local Commissions, in Jersey City and other cities of that class, in this State,

the Call says:

"Just at present, reversion to the commission form of government has become a popular "reform"

movement. It is the current fad, and it seems likely to spread as rapidly as a new fashion in business. It is argued that it enables the voter to fix responsibility, and visits his wrath upon the wrongdoer

in government with greater ease.

It also saves the voter the trouble of looking up the records of several men instead of one or two.

What has resulted in some of the places where the commission plan

has been adopted has, however,

awakened a suspicion that all may not be pure virtue under the reform scheme. The regular politican appears to be able to win a nomination under the commission

method just as easily as he did in the old way, and it is dawning upon the public—as it seems to have upon the corporations interested in local affairs—that this concentration of all power in the hands of five men may have peculiarities of its own, quite the opposite from what most of us regard as municipal reform.

Five men, having everything in a great city at their disposal, would probably do it rather easy to perpetuate their power. About all that would be necessary would be for them to combine and avoid unpleasant disagreements. With every contract to give out, with millions

to spend in current maintenance,

Under this head The Record will be glad to print letters on subjects of public concern or of any interesting general nature. Letters limited to 200 words. Nothing of a personal or controversial nature will be printed. Names of writers must be given but need not be published.

Rahway, N. J., Aug. 28, 1911.

To the Editor Daily Record:

Your account of the arrest and fine of the Compton boys who drive for the "driveway license" was noted by me and I would not feel justified if I did not explain a few points on the S. P. C. A. This society is formed to protect the dumb animals, we will all admit, but when a society exceeds its authority it is not doing what is right. When a man is sick or not well and he has a family to support, he cannot stay home and have one come around and hand him a five or a ten to stay home two or three weeks from work, just because he has a sore toe or a headache. If a man has a horse and through the warm weather he gets a sore or loses a little lame, and if that horse is getting proper attention, and his owner is trying to heal the same, I am of the opinion that, that horse is getting his proper care; and if padded and made as comfortable as possible, I think he should not be made to suffer the penalty of an exorbitant fine. Take the salary from these people and see how long you would have an S. P. C. A. Now in regard to a fine on a horse, I would like to explain as follows: per cent of our citizens don't know where this money goes. In the Graves line of $27.50 Judge Buckley gets seven dollars and twenty cents for paying judgment on these boys. The other twenty is divided as follows: The man who makes the arrest gets half, which is $13.00, the other ten goes to the society to pay for running expenses and a small thing. The city of Rahway furnishes a judge at a salary of $500.00 a year, a court room at a big expense and yet in return gets nothing from this fine. Is this graft, Mr. Tax Payer: Is this right? Remember I am neither cruelly treating a horse, nor so than a good many of the S. P. C. A. and I say many should not be fined for such an offense unless they have other witnesses besides officers of the society, and he should be proven guilty of cruelty treating a horse before a fine is imposed.

A man driving a horse with a sore or one that is lame is not necessarily cruel to the horse, as a man usually affects to keep his horse in a stable for two or three weeks at the price of feed just because he is a little sore or lame. I would like the pleasure of debating the question of whether or not treating a horse with any man or woman of the city of Rahway, proceeds to go to any charitable institution. I believe the time is ripe to curb the unjust fine which is imposed on horsemen unless they are proven guilty of inhuman treatment to a dumb animal.

Yours Truly,
W. O. GRAYES.

[The writer of this letter is correct in his statement as to the distribution of the fine. The law specially provides for the S. P. C. A. that it is entitled to the fines secured by conviction. It is also provided that the costs of these actions go to the providing judge or justice of the peace. In this case the usual costs of $2.50 per case were imposed. Editor]

GOOD THINGS IN RAHWAY

(Special Weekly Feature)
By James H. Craig

About the first thing to attract the attention of passengers on West-bound trains when passing through Rahway is the handsome building of the Wheatonia Company, conveniently located at West Grand Street directly on the line of the Pennsylvania Railroad, Wheatoniaville, as the management have appropriately named their possession, is one of Rahway's most cheerful and pleasing centres. The and substantial in appearance. The surroundings, covering a large area, are composed of well-kept lawns

and pretty nooks of flowering plants

These not only enhance the attractiveness of Wheatoniaville but are an attestation of the management's ancient and careful attention to the appearance of the plant. Particular note should be made of the beautiful quired and set out the property in a manner similar to the lands where-

of the building is situated. On the railroad side of the building a large sign

in the trademark colors of the company, (yellow and blue) bears the name Wheatonia, and at night a large illuminated sign can be seen for the time the wheat enters the plant

BOOST RAHWAY MEETING

Mr. Grice is a great believer in the possibilities of the city, having used common sense, as he said this morning, to arrive at his opinion. After voting his belief in the future of the city and power of a Board of Trade to help hasten the good things

along, Mr. Grice said, "This is a call to the convention of the popular progressive movement in this city, that should appeal to the men of this city

as did the call to arms in '61. We don't expect the pessimists, the cynics

and knucklers to enlist; they never do,

they are always back at home criticising the men on the firing line. We don't want a man to join us who doesn't believe in the future of Rahway."

Mr. Davis also voiced similar sentiments. "We want every Rahwayian

to keep in sight the following facts:

They live in the best country in the world, the best State in the Union, and the best City in the State.

We should instill a feeling of civic pride into the hearts of our people, so that when they go away they will be proud to tell the world that they

NEW WITNESSES IN BEATTIE CASE

Tell of Knowing About Crime

COUSIN'S WIFE ON STAND.

Prosecution in Virginia Murder Trial
Finds Men to Substantiate the Confession That Beattie and Girl Was the Cause of Shooting.

McDonald, Va., Aug. 28.—A new witness has been discovered by the prosecution in the Beattie case, one who is said to have asserted he knew a day ahead of time that the murder was to be committed. His name is George Jones, a hunter, and he is alleged to have given his information in the presence of R. B. Channing, a well known contractor, and another man, whose identity the prosecution has not disclosed.

Later, when Jones, Channing and Detective Scherer were together, Jones denied having made any such remark, but Channing asserted that he had. Jones showed himself as being excited as a witness and attempted to mislead his assertion. The prosecution, however, is determined to investigate thoroughly into Jones' knowledge of the affair, particularly as it affects the Beattie family. In fact, the investigation has been so far-reaching that it has led to the discovery of a letter from Beattie to his cousin, which was written at the time of the murder. The letter, which was found in the home of the cousin, is said to have been written by Beattie to his cousin, and it is alleged to have been written at the time of the murder. The letter is said to have been written by Beattie to his cousin, and it is alleged to have been written at the time of the murder.

As the case stands before the jury at the beginning of the second week of the trial the prosecution has completed its task of pointing out the contradictions in Beattie's story of the murder. Mrs. Paul Beattie will probably be another witness for the commonwealth. She will tell how on the day after the murder, when the shooting was found on the railroad tracks where they cross the turnpike, her husband came to her and confessed to the crime. How much Paul Beattie told her in fact, how much he himself knew of the preliminary to the murder—can only be known when both the husband and wife go on the stand. Much has been said about the depths of the conspiracy into which Paul Beattie went with his cousin. It has been alleged that Henry hired his relatives in the crime. It is alleged that Beattie went with his cousin, it has been alleged that Henry hired his relatives in the crime. It is alleged that Beattie went with his cousin, it has been alleged that Henry hired his relatives in the crime.

God didn't subdue it for him, but he gave the necessary power to accomplish it and man has done so.

"Rich men are beginning to realize that it doesn't pay to give their sons the money they ask for. For a long time the sons of our millionaires were the millionaires of today. They realize that ruinous inheritance follows. Perhaps some day we will have the privilege of learning why our prayers were not answered."

MEN MUST BEAR CRIMES

The great catastrophes of the day, the horrible loss of life at the General Slocum wreck, the burning of the Orquella Theatre and the recent train wreck on the Lehigh Valley; the Creator is often blamed for allowing these things to happen. People ask, "How can it be a good and loving God that willfully tears out our heart strings and allows so many people to suffer?" The best answer to that perplexing question is to point to how many more lives might have been lost. In the recent train wreck, out of 600 passengers, but twenty-four were killed.

"True this is a hard way to look at it from the viewpoint of suffering relatives. Let the blame in these cases be placed upon the proper shoulders, upon the men who from low such horrible things to happen. The newspapers and the magazines are wailing the acts of public opinion and doing a wonderfully good work in bringing these miscreants to justice."

WILSON AND EX-GOV. COMING TOMORROW

State Head on Tour Will Be Met At Reformatory by Ex-Gov. Voorhees And Members of Commission

Will Not Make Speeches
No Public Appearance Can Be Arranged As Inspection Is Only Object—Plans For Dinner and Exhibitions

Governor and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, accompanied by Mrs. Carolyn B. Alexander, a member of the N. J. State Charities Aid Society for Hudson County, will arrive in this city tomorrow morning at ten o'clock, and will be met at the New Jersey State Reformatory, where they will visit on a tour of investigation, by former Governor Foster M. Voorhees, and the Commission. The two governors, past and present, will dine with the rest of the party in the parlors room of the Reformatory as the guests of Superintendent Frank L. Moore shortly after Governor Wilson's arrival, and several hours will be spent in inspecting the Institution. The Governor will leave Rahway between three and four o'clock in the afternoon.

The Governor's party will come to this city in an automobile direct from Morris Plains, where an inspection is to be made of the State Hospital for the Insane. The Rev. Frank Moore has issued invitations to the members of the Reformatory Commission to attend the exercises incident to the Governor's visit, and the following members of the Commission, including members of the Commission, will be accompanied by their wives, will attend: Ex-Governor Voorhees, D. W. Sawyer, of Montclair, the president of the commission, Geo. M. Fortmyer, of Orange, Judge Freeman Woodbridge, of New Brunswick, Dr. John Hanter, of Ocean Grove, and William Edgar, of Westbridge. Commissioner Edward Duffell, of South Amboy, and Senator Michael T. Barrett, who is also a member of the commission, will be unable to attend as they are out of the state.

On inquiry as to the possibility of the Governor holding a reception in this city upon his arrival, it was stated by Dr. Moore that the Governor was making an official tour of inspection, and that he could not arrange for a public appearance. It will be possible for those who desire to see the Governor at the gate of the Reformatory on his entering and leaving the Institution. After the general inspection of the buildings the Governor will address the inmates of the Institution in the Chapel at noon, and in the afternoon will review the military corps on the parade ground. The inspection of the Reformatory will conclude a tour of visits to all the Institutions managed under the direction of the state officials.

MAIN ST. REALTY DEAL

Hall Property at Foot of Cherry St. Goes to T. H. Roberts.

An important Main Street real estate deal involving about $10,000, it is said, was completed yesterday when T. H. Roberts, the hardware merchant, took title to the building on that street now occupied by William M. Davis as a drug store. The property is a part of the Hall property, being owned by Clayton Hall.

PRIZE CONTEST INTEREST
The young people who have been working hard to win the Daily Record prize for the one who secures the most subscriptions before midnight of September 1 were pleased yesterday when the announcement was made that there would be four prizes of more value to all the competitors than the money and cash which had been previously offered. Those who had been complaining of the fact that they would be unable to obtain a prize were well pleased with the new prize which will be useful to any boy or girl, and which will not entail any expense for keep. The fact that four prizes have been offered gives all of the competitors a good chance of securing a valuable return for their effort and they realize this and are making every effort to be one of the lucky four.

Announcement

WING to complaints by children who started out to work for the pony offered as a prize for the most subscriptions that their parents would not let them enter the contest because of the cost or lack of change the prize and offer instead an EQUIVALENT VALUE, in the form of TWO IVER-JOHNSON BICYCLES with coaster-brakes, and TWO ELGIN WATCHES.

The children started out enthusiastically at the beginning of the last week, but before the second day of the contest had passed they began to be discouraged and the results were embodied in the new announcement. Everyone to whom the change might have been unfair was consulted before it was made and there is now no one to object. The four prizes are adapted to either boys or girls as the bicycle will be awarded either in boys' or girls' frames. Beginning tomorrow the prizes will be on exhibition in the window of McCollum's store on Main Street. By request a three-months' subscription counting 25 points has been added. The time remains the same. Any contestant to be eligible for a prize must have at least 300 points.

There are now four boys and girls to be awarded prizes instead of one as formerly. The one receiving the highest number of points will be allowed first choice of the prizes, and so on. Only a little more than two weeks remain, so, go and take a look at the prizes, boys and girls, and then "RUSH THE LINE!"

PATIENCE AWARDED, OR A COW EPICURE'S TALE
Linden Bovine Waited Till Corn Ripened And Her Appetite Made Fuss
Just because a cow allows her appetite for sweet corn on the cob to get the better of her moral sense is no reason why neighbors should fall out. This was the ruling of Sergeant Wright in the case of Goldberger against Williams, who was charged with "Bossey" had watched the corn grow from the time it was planted in early spring until the present, when, arrayed in all the glory of its tasselled and silky perfection, it was enough to tempt any cow to break the law.

It appears that Goldberger's cow has been grazing in an adjoining field to Williams' cornpatch. All summer long "Bossey" had watched the corn grow from the time it was planted in early spring until the present, when, arrayed in all the glory of its tasselled and silky perfection, it was enough to tempt any cow to break the law. Saturday afternoon Bossey, tantalized by the smell of the delicacy, snatched a way into Williams' field through a bad place in the fence and proceeded to eat, and also by the way to destroy Williams' Country Gentleman.

The latter was not long in discovering the cow and Bossey's plaintive objections drove her into his barn. Milking time came and Goldberger milked his cow. He hunted high and low and made the surrounding country ring with his muffled answer to the cow's entreaties came to his ears. Trying it down he finally unearthed his cow in Neighbor Williams' barn. A call on Williams proved of little value to Goldberger for he found that the gentleman had made up his mind to hold the source of the Goldberger's milk supply until the corn was paid for. So the gentleman who owned the cow turned his steps in the direction of the South Elizabeth Station house and there Bossey's dearest laid his troubles before the Sergeant.

CROWD ATTENDS GET-TOGETHER MEETING AND ORGANIZATION IS FORMED WITH ENTHUSIASM

Many Speakers Hold Fort On Advantage of Boost Movement to Rahway
WILL NAME COMMITTEE
Chairman Davis To Appoint Fifteen Men Who Will Report Soon On Working Plan For Boy

NEW Y. M. C. A. SECRETARY.
On next Friday, August 30, Edward Tompkins, the new General Secretary of the local branch of the Young Men's Christian Association, will take up his duties in this city.

Possibly the most notable feature of the meeting was the willingness displayed by those present to aid the cause. Herman Gries was exposed as the man who had offered to build the Town Hall, while it was also announced that J. V. Marsh had agreed to donate property on Lewis Street to the association. The plan is to hold on that day a parade. A large host bearing an immense banner will be escorted by the different civic organizations and the members of the city to a place outside the city limits where, after appropriate ceremonies the banner will be thrown away. It was suggested by Mr. Heath of the Postoffice that buttons with "Boost Rahway" be made and sold at a fixed price in order to raise money for the movement.

In his opening address William M. Davis outlined the ideals of the organization and explained the amount of hard work necessary to make it successful. Mr. Davis addressed the following: "Last Thursday evening the business men of Main Street met in Mr. Samuel Miller's store on that street to confer on the possibilities of a live organization that would promote the interests of the city of Rahway as a whole. After vigorously discussing the pros and cons of the matter we decided that an association, Board of Trade, Chamber of Commerce, or whatever you will, should be formed and that the people of this city as a whole should be asked to take part in it. The chairman appointed, after the meeting and empowered him to do so, a committee of the whole to get the men of Rahway together for a grand

PLUMBERS CHANGE PLAN.
It has been announced by the committee in charge of the Plumbers outing that the event will be held at P. J. Smyth's Staten Island resort, in place of Seidler's Beach as previously announced. An excellent program has been arranged for the day, and many useful prizes will be awarded to the winners of the athletic events. An excellent dinner will be served at noon, and at five o'clock in the afternoon supper will be served. This city early in the morning, and will take a boat at Boynton Beach. Representatives of other labor organizations will attend.

YACHT CLUB PLANS
On Labor Day at Saybrook, the largest regatta of the season will be held. Power boats will be included as well as yachts and dories. On Saturday afternoon the next race will take place at the Saybrook Yacht Club. It is expected that the regatta will attract a large crowd.

BOYS make Pocket Money! Be independent and not always asking your parents for money. Organize teams of five, get a route, and compete for the $5.00 gold piece to team which sells most papers. Contest begins today. Other prizes later. Write for rules and money to boys who will work daily from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. GET A MOVE ON, BOYS!
