A WORD ABOUT ORGANS.

Many of the uninitiated, when about to purchase organs look BUY YOUR MEAT for the instrument with the most "srors" upon it, for the least money. In these days nothing can be punged by one neither by the "sets of reeds"—which are the vibrators making John Fetter THE Butcher, money. In these days nothing can be judged by the "stops," organ was of practical use, and indicated an additional "set of Because he always buys the best stock in the market and kills it fresh reeds," a full swell, a tremolo, or coupler, some judgment of the instrument could be arrived at by the number of stops but that Beef, Mutton, Lamb and Veal, day is past, and there are now organs made with from a dozen to twenty "stops" on, while, for all practical purposes, a single stop, or, perhaps, none at all, would do just as well-if Paints, Oils, Glass, Putty, Colors, and all the instrument is provided with a knee-swell.

It is the number of genuine "sets of reeds" that adds to the musical powers of the organ, and not the stops; but even this has become deceptive; formerly a "set of reeds" was understood to mean a full five octaves of reeds extending all the way across the organ; now some makers divide the one set of into five sections, and call each octave a "set of reeds"—
