The Rahway Yacht Club is becoming daily a more important feature of Rahway's amusement enterprises. About fifty launches from the smallest up to the beautiful craft of Commodore Vett and Captain Thorne are in almost daily use by the members for cruises in and around New York Bay. The "Ogallala" and the Elsie G" have returned from the region of Lake Champlain with joliy parties. No better method of spending one's vacation can well be imagined than a cruise up the Hudson. It is doubtful if any river in the world presents for the same distance the variety of beautiful scenery and magnificent homes which line the banks for mile after mile between New York City and Albany. The pictures presented above from left to right are: Messrs. Angleman. Brown. Vett. Freeman, Howard and Commodore Houseman, all of whom deserve credit for the present status of the club. In the foreground is Master Adolph Koch, the mascot of the club, who is just reaching the age to become a helmaman on the launch "Regins," owned by his father, Henry Koch, of the Regins Company, Master Adolph does not fall nto the river any oftener than some of the full-fiedged members, and when he does, Commodore Houseman or some one else is ready willing to fish him out without delay. Adolph can testify, before the court. if necessary, as to the taste of Rahway River water. They say he loesn't care for it. The Houseman brothers are very largely responsible for the success of the sailing dory owned by the club, in the various contests held thus far. There are several more races to be sailed with neighboring clubs before the season closes, and if hard work will win, the can will be displayed at the rooms of the Rehway Yacht Club.

SEEN AT NARRAGANSETT.

GLIMPSES OF COMING MODES-WAISTS HIGH OR LOW-THE ECCEN-TBIC SKIRT-A TOUCH OF BRIGHT COLOR.

The above designs are by The McCall Company, New York,

Narragansett, August 3.-To judge from advance styles seen here, al. most everything will be modish next Fall. Milady can have a narrow skirt or a full pleated one, she can wear a high waisted gown or one that brings the waist line where Nature meant it to be. Her ball dress can be a la 1880 and her street costume of the twentieth century. An Oriental turban can crown her head or a picture hat such as Romney loved to paint, but whatever she wears must be chic. It must be well cut and the color scheme must be perfect.

The Hobble Skirt. Women who-follow all the vagaries and caprices of Dame Fashion and take pride in exploiting the latest thing from Paris, have had their faith in the perfect taste of the great French fashion designers badly shaken in the matter of the latest skirt. The "hobble" skirt as it is sometimes called. is certainly the most hideous and absurd fashion that ever came out of the great city by-the-Seine .- The most extreme model is so narrow around the knees and ankles that it most unbecomingly exaggerates the size of the hips and back and makes natural walking an impossibility. Its unfortunate wearer has to toddle along in most ungraceful and ludicrous style. Although the extreme examples of this skirt will not be accepted save by the few women desirous of being conspicuous in spectacular fashions, there is no doubt at all that it will have its effect on the season's modes. Skirts, except some of those intended strictly for evening wear, are being made up decidedly narrow and straight in cut. High or Low Walst Line.

The position of the waist line is another mooted point. The probability is, however, that it will be kept in its natural position for tailor gowns, coats for day time wear and for frocks intended for ordinary wear or any occasion that is at all informal. For evening, however, frocks are to be made in Empire style for young and slender women. Older women can select certain modifications of the 1880 type that are more becoming to their Grures. The great dressmaking houses of the Rue de Paix are sending over some exquisite evening gowns in Empire style of transparent materials made over linings of brocaded satin. The Saint Suit.

The tailor suit of satin will be extremely fashionable for fall wear. A very handsome model has a gored skirt and medium length coat of lustrous satin in the new shade of bright brown that is to be one of the leading colors this coming season. Both coat and skirt are braided in silk soutache of the same shade of brown. Handsome suits are also made of black satin. A few of these costumes are of a very heavy quality of satin with a wool back, and are trimmed with fur so that they can be worn all winter, but the majority are of comparatively light weight and are intended for Fall The Persian Crase.

At the present moment black and white combined with some bright tint are le dernier cri in Paris, colored dresses not being considered nearly so modish. A particularly smart frock just imported by a famous New York house is extremely interesting. It is of white satin with a tunic of black to each Sunday school scholar who chiffon, the skirt of which opens widely at the back and front, covering only he sides of the white satin skirt. Trimming the waist was a broad flat collar and draped fichu effect of white embroidered chiffon. The girdle of black satin ribbon showed in the center front a little band of brilliant pink. At the waist line at the back was another touch of pink in the form of a broad flat bow. The collarless bodice had at the neck another flat bow of mite narrow pink ribbon and from this bow to the hem of the skirt there was a band of the ribbon making a narrow line of color.... The Scarf Craze.

The fancy for the scarf has reached a point where it has become a verimble craze. Many of the new scarfs are made so wide that they make very somfortable and substantial wraps. This is especially the case with the new magple scarf. which is often a yard-sometimes nearly two yards wide. One side is of black satin, the other side white, and it is intended to be worn with one end thrown over the shoulder so that both sides show. Some of the new gowns that are now being worn at Lenox and other fashionable resorts in the Berkshires, have scarfs made of the same mabrials as the dress. Scarfs of batiste with lace trimmings and embroidery to match the costume are decidedly new.

Handsome Embreiderics. The woman who likes to have her dresses and pretty home belongings enriched with handsome embroidery likes lustrous "Sida" floss. This is the thread used on all imported French dresses, and looks exactly like heavy ally floss, but it costs much less, and works up much faster, enabling anyone to accomplish work in half the time it would take if slik thread was employed. "Sida" floss comes in every wanted shade, does not rough up or all in working as slik threads do, and causes the design to stand out sowell that no stuffing or padding is needed. ROSALIND MAY.

On March 25 the American Ice Company of Washington, D. C., pleaded ilty of a violation of the Pure Food and Drugs Act, and was fined $150. . It was guilty of selling-in the language of the court-"a certain article of food called ice" that "contained an added poisonous and deleterious ingredient which consisted wholly or in part of a filthy, decomposed and putrid mimal and vegetable substance."

Excellent! Ice we buy. Ice is food. Ice may be adulterated. Therefore the man who sells ice which contains anything but frozen water. is guilty of a violation of the law.

Yes, adulterated is the word. The bulletin sent out by the Department of Agriculture is headed "Adulteration of Ice." Duckweed, frog-spittle, algae of various sorts, as well as tychoid germs and sediment may freeze in the water, but they don't make fce. They are "an added Doisonous and deleterious ingredient,"

-Fra Elbartua Our friends of the Advocate are very enthusiastic in their commend tions of the editorial columns of the Elizabeth Journal: but for fear the may omit it, we shall publish to the people of Rahway the following:

TO AVOID UNKIND ORITICISM:

Say Nothing.

Do Nothing,

e Nething.

-LOW LEVEL CAMPAIGN:

"Representative Fowler put his campaign on the lowest possible level when he attacked Senator Kean on May 23 in a letter which estranged many who had been the Congressman's friends. Mr. Fowler's backers are attempting to continue the campaign in the same spirit. The letter of one, Dunn, of Plainfield, is a fair example of the quality of the fight which is being carried on. It is almost needless to say that citizens of character and intelligence are not impressed by the methods which are being pursued. But Dunn is not so much to blame as Fowler, who set the lowest possible political ideal for his supporters to follow."

The Journal is apparently free from any entangling alliances with Congressman Fowler, although it has previously supported him. In the present fight the interests of the Journal are tied up with Senator Kean, who hopes to secure a re-nomination. How does the Advocate justify its silence on a subject which has had a state-wide discussion in all the newspapers? Does_ it approve of Fowler's mud-slinging letter and the later issue through "Fowler's Mud Man Dunn?" Space in the Advocate is so scarce that if could not quote the essential part of the Self Masters' editorial from the -Elizabeth Journal, but it might omit some of the stories of Weak fish tariff measuring the difference of the caught in Mud Hollow and tell its readers all about its relations to Messrs. | cost of production at home and Fowler and Kean. This is a subject of general importance; come, don't abroad. More than this is unfair to play the coward.

The obtrusive and offensive sign recently painted on Cherry street, combined with the number of saloons on the short block devoted to business. makes the street one to be avoided if possible.' The intrusion of this sign into the heart of the business section emphasizes again the necessity of an ordinance taxing bill-board privileges-if possible out of existence, but in with reason, justice and equity. any event to preclude such as are damaging to the reputation of the city. Therefore, the state granting such A few more such delicate touches added in the neighborhood of the railroad station and our neighbors of Metuchen and beyond will be justified in saying as one did recently: "The only objection 'I have to living in Metuchen is that I must pass through Rahway to get there." If there is a spark of civic pride left in the average citizen he will use his efforts to secure an attractive frontage along the railroad to present to those who pass through the city. The Wheatena and Three-In-One Oil Companies have set the pace-let others follow and the city itself take such action as may be necessary to prevent such public nuisances as the sign referred to.

The Cranford Chronicle, being interested in maintaining the purity and beauty of the Rahway River, has the following to say of the proposed disposal of the effuent from the Garwood sewage plant:

Of all the outrageous "law" that ever came to our notice the limit is that under which Garwood is permitted to construct a sewer bed for the service of that half of the borough lying in Westfield Township and discharge the outlet into the Rahway River only a short distance above the intake of the city's water works! Treated sewage is said to be harmless, but the very thought of drinking such stuff arouses a disgust sufficient to drive out of Rahway every inhabitant who possibly can get away.

Common Council, like other official bodies of the city, has become accustomed to spending money that even the ides-of-a-roll-call on expenditures does not seem necessary. At Tuesday night's session Councilman Trembley insisted that the appropriation for oiling the streets should be made only after the usual practice of a record vote of every Councilman. which was thereupon demanded. If all expenditures were published monthly by the various governing bodies of the city so that every taxpayer might be advised to what uses his money is put, it would aid materially in conducting an economical administration.

A brilliant member of the Board of Education was overheard in a discussion of manual training requirements; to ask: "What do they need of a circular saw when they can secure their stock cut to size as required?" By the same process of reasoning why should the pupils have lathes and forges? They can purchase the things they make for much less than they can produce them and save their time besides. If the manual training department secures any suitable equipment with such intelligent (?) backing, it may

COMPULSORY VACCINATION MUST GO. REFORM NOW IN SIGHT.

The N. Y. State Department of Education Is New On Becord for Beform of the Law. The State Department of Education, Albany, 1 Y., in its report for 1909, recognizes the present evile of compulsory vaccination in our public schools, and suggests a reform of the law to admit unvaccinated children. The Department is now co-operating with opponents of compulsion throughout this state to amend the law so as to admit any unvaccinated child on certificate from a doctor of danger to health or life of the child or on written declaration of the -parent or guardian of their conscientious objection to vaccination.

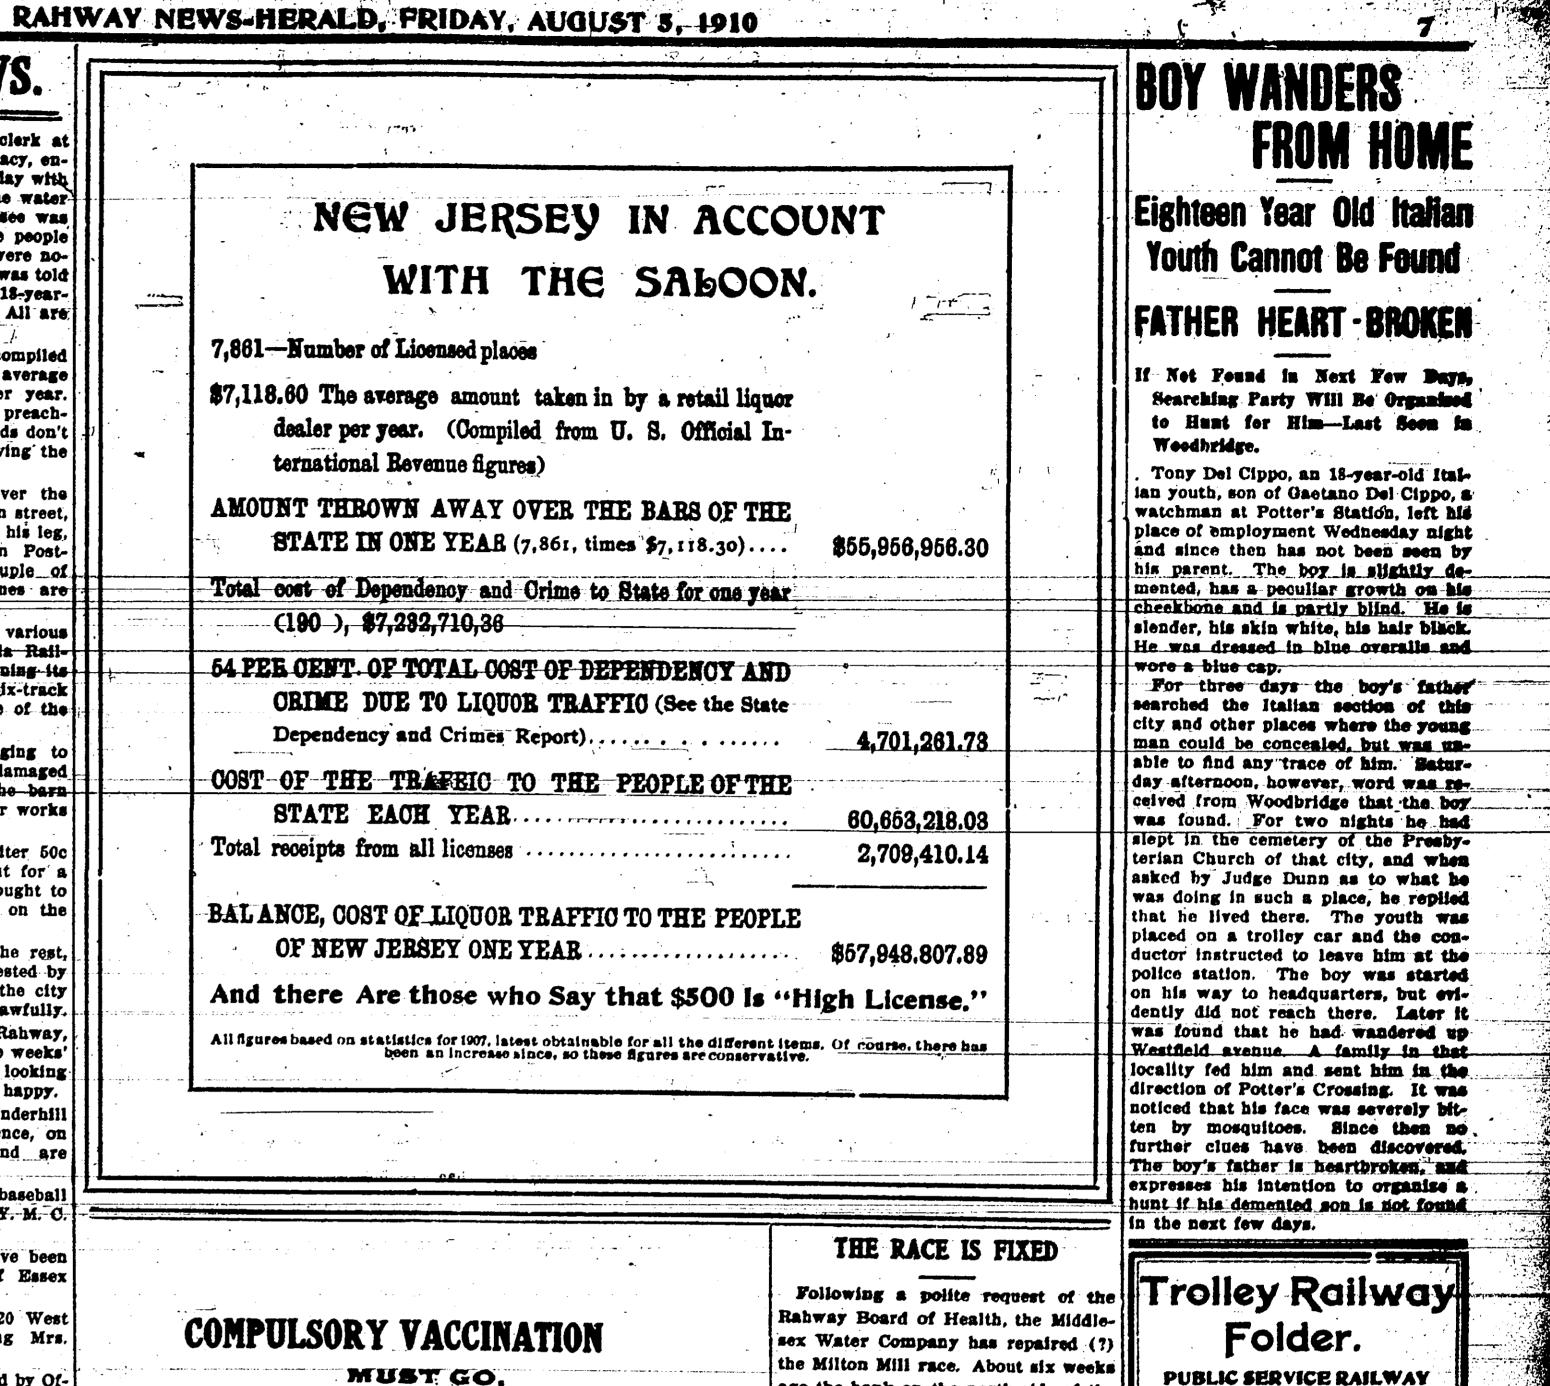

If you are opposed to the present barbarous law which will not admit a child in perfect health but re-quires that he be first deliberately diseased with a chance of losing his life, write at once to your Sena-tor and Assemblyman for the repeal of the present isw or its reform as approved by the State Department of Education. We can show you that there are now more schor children killed by vaccination than by smallpox, and that the school age is the least susceptible to smallpox of any age, and almost naturally immune thereto, and stands in least need of any alleged protecaion. The voting or manhood age is, however, five or ten times more subject to smallpox than the school age. and if anyone really believes that compulsory vaccination is necessary for public health they should now ask that it be put on every voter so that no one could register or vote unless he could show's certificate of "successful" vaccination. How would you like such a law? Yet this would be far more logical and necessary than our present barbarous law, which denies our public schools to the children of the poor man who cannot afford the extra cost of private schooling, unless he chooses to deliberately disease his precious child, often an only and delicate child, with the risk, perhaps, of losing its life. Many children have been killed all over this land under the operation of this legal and medi cal barbarism, which is very beneficial to the mil longing manufacturers of wassing views but to so obe else.

If. therefore. Ton approve the proposed repeat o reform of this law. write to this effect to your own Senator and Assemblyman, and also to Hop. George Witter, Chairman Senate Committee on Publi Health, and also to Hos. Gary H. Wood, Chairman Assembly Committee on Public Health. Albany, N. Y.

the Milton Mill race. About six weeks ago the bank on the north side of the runway caved in and allowed the water to pour into the river below. The race path was broken by a hole fully six feet wide, and the conditions generally made unpleasant. The Rabway health authorities, seeing the state of affairs, informed the water company and requested that the trouble be remedied. Last week some men from the Middlesex organization arrived on the scene and proceeded to remedy the wrong. Instead of fixing the hole in the bank and allowing the water to run as before, down the race until it emptied into the river behind the old Milton Mills Company, these workmen built a dam directly across the waterway, from bank to bank and forced all the water into the river below. The next day another part of the bank, about twenty feet above the old break, caved in. The Workmen appeared again, hatte another dam so that the water could fall through the new hole, and then departed. The conditions are deplorable. The material used to fill in the first aperture consists of a combination of mud and clay and has a very unpleasant odor. The lower part of the race, which runs through Milton. is half filed with water that is rapidly becoming stagnant and malaria-breading. Unless action is taken there is no probability of the fault being remedied. The people of Milton are complaining of the conditions, the people of Rahway are discusted with the state of affairs, and the Health Board of Rahway should certainly do one of two things either force the Middlesex company to fix the cave-in DTODATIT OT make them fill in the lower part of the race so that the water cannot remain in its present staggant condition.
