regulated in volume rather by the volume and price of United State government bonds than by the vary ing needs of business, and is there fore to be likened to an arbitrary is sue of notes on government credit rather than an issue of notes on banking credit, governed by the demands of trade. What an outcry there would be had such an increase in the volume of United States notes been made within nine years! "Inflation"

planned in the Aldrich financial of March, 1900, and passes without teneral proptest, even though at the great monetary inflation through the inprecedented production of gold.— Springfield Republican. ______ Raising the Postage on Advertising

The scheme for modifying the second-class postage rate on magazines and periodicals, which it is said may | be recommended by the president in his coming annual message, is worth consideration. The proposed plan is to continue the present one-cent-apound rate so far as regards reading matter, but to charge a higher rate on the advertising. The amount to be paid would, of course, be ascertained by the examination of sample copies, the publishers being required | 4 [7] to pay on the whole output in the proportions thus determined. The scheme would seem to be quite feasthle and as to its justice, it may be said that it would be tantamount simply to withdrawing from the advertising a portion of that preferential rate which is granted to periodicals on the express ground of the desirability of encouraging the dissemination of periodical literature.—New

DOING THINGS

"The world reserves its big prizes for but one thing, and that is initiative. Initiative is doing the right thing without being told." —Saturday Evening Post.

ow true this is and what a sad old world this would be were it not for man's initiative. What a stupid lot we would be if we merely drifted along, each following another's lead.

Initiative is what makes the world? go 'round, and the individual without some little degree of initiative is but a barnacle on the hull of the good ship "Progress."

The man who does things is the man whom the people admire, and the Store that does things is the store that gets the business.

The Bamberger store is not afraid to take the initiative—not afraid to do things. Taking the initiative is a matter of store policy here—a matter of store policy that dates back nearly eighteen years.
