Lace and fur as well as ribbon, chiffon and often replaced by a wide fiat single box plait which in many cases falls down over the train; for scant small trains are again worn for all dresses intended for ceremonious use, though for the street the short skirt is the proper thing.

Christmas Suggestions If one is at a loss what to buy or make for a friend's Christmas gift, a bag some sort is a very safe selection. Velvet bags with very long cord handles we shown in all the shops, and bags of substantial and pretty upholstery-like Scientific fabrics are similarly made and carried. Brocades and fancy ribbons make News-Herald lovely great party bags that hold every necessary convenience for evening se. Gold, silver, steel and jets of all sorts go well with any toilet and are sure to be acceptable. Bags in the form of muffs are extremely fashionable and are made of combinations of satin, velvet chiffon, fur, brocades, etc. In fact of almost anything that makes up attractively for such purposes.

Yokes and Boleros

The increasing prominence of the yoke on Autumn waists was a forerunner of the bolero as anyone wise sartorially could have predicted. A "Francis" costume seen at a musical the other day was a three piece costume of black satin with a decidedly bolero type of coat; inasmuch as it ended at the waist, but in square fashion, as if a kimono were chopped off short. The sleeves were cut in one with the body of the coat and there was a deep sailor collar that quite hid the back, coming as it did to the waist line. The whole suit was elaborately trimmed with handsome silk braid, some of it fully four

Hats and Trimmings

The hat that was most notable at the Horse Show and is seen wherever a dumes. Such a hat blends with any costume and as almost every dress has louch of black somewhere, or needs the touch of style, the liking for these black and white creations is easily explained.

families that have been going to get a piano for the last year, the last two years, three years, five years, and so on. Why don't they get it? Because—well. "iust because." You almost surely. know several such families yoursel -perhaps your own is one of them.

People intend to purchase a piano, but keep putting off from year to year without any good reason. When you consider how easily a really fine instrument can be had, does it not seem almost a crime that a family of young people, or old people, for that matter, should be without one?

We have a daily increasing num ber of pianos that have been purchased and set aside for delivery on the 24th. One for you might just as well be added to the number.

What we have said above is worth serious consideration in every household where there is not a piano now or where the piano now there is unsatisfactory.

We have an enormous stock for your selection. It contains easily ten times as many pianos as you will. find anywhere else. We have the Lauter Piano (Grands, Uprights and Lauter-Humana) Sterling Pianos, Lenox Pianos Kohler Pianos, McCammon Pianos Cable Pianos, Pianista Pianos Llewellyn Pianos, etc., etc.

Every instrument that we sell is of genuine musical worth, and each goes out under our guarantee. We give a written warranty that is good for a term of years, and, in addition, agree to exchange if not satisfactory after extended use in the home.

You can have any instrument in our vast collection on easy terms of payment. We accept as little, as TEN DOLLARS when taken, and your promise to pay from Five to Ten Dollars monthly for an Upright. We will arrange equally attractive terms on a Grand or Player.

By all means visit us as soon as you possibly can. Our warerooms are open evenings until Christmas.

Tells the Truth When He Says the People of the State Do Not Want

Ray E. Mayham of this city, who acted as secretary of the Democratic State Auxiliary Committee and of the Speakers' Bureau during the last campaign, has spread broadcast the following articles of faith for the perusal and digestion of the faithful: "I am one of those who greatly regret the situation in the Democratic party of New Jersey at the present time. It is indeed unfortunate that the fruits of the glorious victory we ing dissipated because of the selfish purposes of one individual. "The proposition to disregard the choice of the primary in the election of a United States Senator and to bring about the election of James Smith, jr., in place of James E. Martine, is, in my opinon, a breach of generally accepted party principle, and would mean disaster to the Demogratic party of this State for want Mr. Smith to represent them in the United States Senate. Mr Smith knows this, and that his election can only be brought about through political intrigue and in ded. ance of public sentiment. He has already served as a member of the Senate, and the results were wholly unsatisfactory to the people at large, and to the rank and file of the Demogratic party in particular. Whatever his purposes may have been, it is nevertheless believed to have been a fact that his record as Senator shows him to have been inimical to the in terests of the people, and favorable to the elements which thrive through the benefits derived from spe
