How many times have you said this. when some strong stain of fruit or medicine has seemingly ruined a good piece of linen? There is no "perhaps" when Fels-Naptha soap is used. A little Fels-Naptha soap, cool or lukewarm water, and the stain is gone! Then, too Fels-Naptha gives the whitest, - cleanest floors, the brightest woodwork, the most shiny, brilliant glassware.

And just as it acts on stains, it acts on the dirt in the Monday's wash. You put the clothes in cool or lukewarm water, after soaping them well with Fels-Naptha. Soak for half an hour, rub lightly, rinse and they are clean, pure and ready to hang on the line. The Fels-Naptha soap method has a four-fold advantage. Saves your hands; saves fuel; saves soap; saves labor. Any one of these is sufficient to make any soap famous. Combined they make Fels-Naptha

the greatest dialgery-saving invention of the age. Read carefully and follow directions on the red and green wrapper.

colorings in the hats and dresses recalled the brilliance of a Dutch Tulip bed. Coral tints and King's blue and the shouting greeds of the season were all in the jumble, but the young fresh faces of the girls carried off successfully many a blend that would have been fatal to the appearance of older women. Coral and Blue

No combination is too daring. A coral silk with blue figures, had a tunio and bodice drapery of plain blue chiffon with a sash of coral satin ribbon. Hat in poke shape of black Tagal straw, the crown made up of coral blossoms topped with an upstanding bow of blue Velvet. Almost every hat one sees, has a velvet bow, or volvet facing or both. Blue and White Volle

Another frock of blue and white striped volle, had flouncings of white rolle on the skirt, three of thom, each topped with a running of blue ribbon that ended in a bow in front. The bodice had a fichu of the same triple founcings edged with blue ribbon and a girdle of blue satin with a pump bow of the same in front. Odd Coats

No end of odd shaped coats were worn, some short, some long, some with sleeves, some without, There were short fronts and long tailed backs that looked like anahes, and many wraps built on perlerine and fichu lines. Materials were as varied as cuts. Black satin, colored chiffon and Marguisette. Surah weaves, changeable taffetas, and double faced silks, with the underside in vivid blue or green tones often repeated in reveres, and pipe trimmings. Pinked ruches of the taffets was a favorite garniture not only for wrape but for hat trimmings that were delightfully youthful in effect. Lingerie Coat Collars

Where a girl was in one of the popular coat suits of fine serge in blue black, or lighter shades, she almost invariably wore with it a wide sailor collar of hemstitched scrim, or lace trimmed batiste-a notable fad just now Embroidered linen is also much used for these coat sets, and often the co lars are cape like affairs, and the cuffs four or five inches wide." These d much to add variety to a single sult, or to transform one that has been worn. Some of the collars form a deep point in the back reaching almost to the waist and this is often finished with a long tassel of silk or linen thread This type of collar is usually of crash embroidered in a melange of color. I amail set designs such as are used on waists. Marguisette Walste

Waists of ootton Marguisette in peasant out have more or less elaborate natterns embroidered on the goods. Sometimes just a simple design at the top and sleeve ends, but often a very elaborate banded pattern done in heavy nadded embroidery and the large French knots that so successfully imitate beaded effects. Coral, and blue, and yellow, with black outlining the figures. are often used together, but very pretty waists come in two color tones for those who find the Russian combinations garish. Cluny and Irish laces and beadings are used with these waists, and the girl clever with her needle can set up stunning bodices at little cost either of money or time, for the en broideries go quickly and materials are not expensive. Graduation Frocks

Many of the prettiest frocks to be worn for graduation this year will b made of this same material embroidered in white or in deligate pinks or blues or lavender. One of the freaks of the years (ashions is the way the young girls have adopted the lilac and purple tints that were formerly relevated to older women. The hat of purple straw with a warland of lilacs with a deep tinted rose nestled here and there, and an upstanding loop of velvet lined with rose oblor, is very much seen, and goes well with navy blue or black and white costumes. It is now rumored that the rough element of the fire department p oses some similar action as a response to our charges of last week which the sober-minded and level-headed members of the fire companies know to be true and which they have admitted before witnesses to be true.

Such action on the part of the bum element can have no other effect tha assist in convincing the public that our statements were based upon fact which can easily be proven in the court of public opinion or a court of law. Such members of the fire department as Supt. Kirstein, Chief Toms, James McCollum, Sidney Harris, David Kennedy and others of that character are not the ones who will take exception to our statement of facts-all of which was for the benefit of the city. We have no personal axe to grind as the editor of this paper was at one time made an honorary member of one of the fire companies and has nothing but the most friendly feeling for these wh answer alarms to fight fire instead of boose and who do not spend their tim turning the hose on rival companies instead of the fire.
