This is precisely what we are doing when we offer our entire line of women's $3.00 "Elbeco" low shoes for $2 00. It is for a fact. Every one who knows the least thing about shoe leather knows that our famous "Elbeco" $3 00 shoe is the standard of its class, and they know, morover, that the $3.00 price is rigidly maintained. Who must reduce our stock of 'Elbecos," however, and with this end in view we have simply lopped off an even dollar. We wont waste words -telling-about the quality of our" Elbeco" $3.00 shoe. The line is too well known for this. Included are pumps and oxfords in gun metal and Russia calf, patent colt. black and brown suede, black, brown and marine blue velvet and red kid. FASHIONS AT LENOX.

This beautiful Berkshire village is looking its prettiest this year. The rains of last month have kept the greens at their freshest, and the lovely rolling country shows fields white with daisies and gay with Black-eyed Susans and nodding clover heads. House parties are everywhere and gay informal visiting and impromptu entertaining keep up the hospitality for which this resort is famous, while an occasional wedding or dance draws out all the elect of the social world. Spec tacular fashion, and spectacular people would be very much out of place in this atmosphere of gentle conservatism but there is nothing dowdy about the dress of the Lenox set-on the contrary, nothing smarter can be seen anywhere than the Summer attire here. Materials are of the finest and lines and details show the perfection only attained where skill and taste dominate the making. These two qualities come high when they must be paid for, but many a girl whose pocket book is rather flat than rotund car turn out perfect copies of the best models that will pass muster anywhere at the cost only of the materials and that's th smallest item. Lines Remain Straight Notwithstanding all reports to the contrary the silhouette remains very straight, though decidedly modish. There is no the slightest tendency toward any flare at the bottom of the skirt, nor toward the tapering waist line that usually goe with spreading flounces. The Floating Panel

A feature that has been take up with enthusiasm is the float ing panel which is made of va rious lengths and is seen nearly as much on the front as on the back of dresses. The latest ones are often double, particularly in the back, and are frequently tucked near the bottom and ornamented with buttons and fringe. For remodelling a plain skirt and relieving the strained look that a narrow fit ted skirt usually has when it is worn by anyone but the slenderest young girl, these hanging panels are invaluable. Where a dress has the inverted pleat in the back that gives it away as last year's gown, the loose panel transforms it at once into

p simple frocks. The pump bows are s traight across and stiff like the familiar shoe ornaments and are frequently made double with four loops instead of two, but they are kept flat and stiff in any case, and when they are used at the back of the waist, a single wide strap of the ribbon falls down below them, panel fashion, especially when they are made of the black velvet ribbon that is such a popular garnishment with all sorts of dresses.

Nothing is worse than the effect produced when this type of trimming is overdone. Little ball fringes weight the bottoms of panels and over dresses, and long silk fringes are similarly used on handsome gowns both for skirt and the one sided waist trimmings that are just as much in the running

The cost dresses that have been bidding for favor of and easons without gaining much headway, are a verifable crase with the younger set this Summer, and are made up in many materials, but are best liked in linen and serges. Nothing more practical and becoming than these dresses has been exploited, and the most generally worn model is simplicity itself, TELEPHONE 48-3 just a peasant shirt waist with round neck and short sleeves finished wit contrasting wide collar and cuffs in linen, black and w hite striped silk, or black satin, and with the skirt opened at one side in the front. The top of the skirt joined by a cording of the dress material, or of the trimming stuff just above the waist line. There are all sorts of plays on this model and the martest ones have floating panels int troduced at the back, or are given long and becoming lines by trimmings that run down at either side of the back Jews-Herald Ads. Washboilers Make Good Drums, Says Anty Drudge.

Bobbie-"See my drum?" (Bang! Bang!) Mother-Bobbie, stop that instantly. You'll pound a hole in that washboiler and then how can I wash your dirty clothes ?"

Anty Drudge—"Just let him pound it all he wants to.
That's all a washboiler is good for. Get some Fels-Naptha soap and you can wash his clothes and all the others easier, quicker and better in cold or lukewarm water, without boiling."

Light summer clothes are more easily damaged than winter fabrics. That is good and sufficient reason why they should be washed with Fels-Naptha in cold or lukewarm water.

In washing with Fels-Naptha there is no boiling or cooking to weaken the delicate fibres, no hard-rubbing to fray them, no injurious chemicals to eat holes in them.

But there are other reasons. It is far casier on the woman who does the wash ing. There is no hard-rubbing, no blistering fire, no scalding suds to steam the face and redden the hands.

Fels-Naptha soap does its work best in cold or lukewarm water, dissolving the dirt so it can be washed away with a simple rinsing. Sounds easy and comfortable. doesn't it? And it is just as easy and comfortable as it sounds if you use Fels-Naptha the Fels-Naptha way.
