and the future of the city itself by passing a Track Elevation Ordinance to suit the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and ignoring the wishes of the people of Rahway.

These are the men who ignored the pleadings of the citizens of Rahway, whose interests they are sworn to protect, and voted to the Pennsylvania Railroad Company the most valuable franchise that this city ever had or ever will have.

Of these nine men, three are employes of the Pennsylvania Railroad, one is the son of an employe of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and still another in close business relations with the company. Of another it is reported he has been promised a lot of business by the Pennsylvania Railroad if the ordinance went through as they wanted it.

These are the men who ignorantly believe that they are far greater than all the other citizens of Rahway combined, and in their ignorance have saddled themselves with a responsibility that the man of average civic intelligence would shudder at. It may be that in the near future they will awaken with a jolt.

convictions from those who have told him the Aldrich plan should be adopted Taft's strong endorsement of the Aldrich scheme will make it more neces sary than ever for the progressives within his party to prevent his nomination. It also means that the Aldrich scheme will be made one of the big campaign issues of 1912. The democrats desire no better issue. The scheme Aldrich has cooked up gives to Morgan the power of life and death over business and industry. THE HONEYMOONERS

The June brides and the June bridegrooms are returning from their honeymoons. The first few weeks of their earthly perudice over they are coming back now to solve the problems of every-day married life. The True American feels an impulse to say something sober and kind and wise to these honeymooners. We know it is risky business. We know that giving advice to newly married couples is almost as mean as turning a searchlight into a lovers' trysting place, and that we will get no thanks for it.

But we are minded to take chances. We wish that we could PUT THIS ADVICE INTO POETRY or music or weet incense, for we know that anything less levely is unwelcome to these overs in their present state of mind. We wish that we could send to these honeymooners on their return to Trenton bouquets of admonitory language and bonbons of advisory verbiage. We wish that we could get them with Acolion strains of counsel, with fragrant sephyrs of caution and WITH RAINBOW-TINTED PHRASES of hope and promise. But it is difficult to tie advice up in handsome packages. Advice is good deal like nails. It is hard and cold and angular, and is inclined to punch its wrapper. It is about as difficult to put advice into poetic phrases as it is to the nails up in tissue paper, and we will not try it.

think of men who will use such measures in an attempt to control the editorial policy of a newspaper? This is not a new idea but has been tried time and again and has always failed. Not in a single instance has a newspaper ever been known to suffer materially by such actions, but the merchants who participate in such fights are the ones who

-stand by and see such a game played out without taking a part and that has always meant that they withdraw their trade from the merchant who caters openly to such degraded elements as those comprising the boycotters.
