MAIN STREET PROPERTY OWNERS ARE DECEIVED

Unprincipled Men Trying To Hoodwink Mayor And Realty Holders

"GET PAVEMENT, THEN REFUSE TO PAY THE ASSESSMENT" IS THEIR THEORY

The attempt of a few unprincipled men to secure signatures to a new petition for the paying of Main street is but a sample of the klud of politics played in Rahway. The men who are trying to "put over" the crooked job are to a large extent the same men who fought Commission Government. They are the same men who will be found on the wrong side of every question which has to do with the genuine welfare of the city; they are the men who will sacrifice the public on every occasion for their own private interests or graft and It is high time that the people were awake to that fact. No one can honestly accuse the NEWS-HERALD of a selish interest in the plan proposed of paying the street at the expense of the whole city, which the ordinance prevents, as that plan would throw a part of the burden upon the NEWS-HERALD and would force Effine street property to bear a share of Improving Main street.

The ordinance, under which the contract has been drawn, provides for assessment against the Main street property benefitted and any one who signs a petition asking the Mayor to sign the contract knowns that the cost must be , so assessed and they know equally well that property owners will protest the assessments in court at immense expense to the city. Instead of the pavement costing the fancy figure of $2.40 per square yard it will ultimately cost over $3.00 including litigation.

The silly attempt of Councilmen and their organ to contradict the figure given by the NEWS-HERALD by communicating with another city than the one we named, is readily appreciated when they expect to explain sixty-eight expense of removing old roadway. That would still leave sixty-one cents per vard to be explained and that means over $4,000 wasted. MR. MAYOR-YOU SHOULD SIGN NO CONTRACT FOR SUCH WASTE

A strange case occurred at Johnstown, Pal, recently, as a result of a dispute between two undertakers concerning the burial of the body of John Vorchik One of the undertakers. John Gaydos, and half a dozen friends entered the room in which Stephen Brady, the rival funeral manager, had laid out the body in a casket, and knelt about it as if in prayer. When they arose they grabbed the casket and carried out the corpse before the dumfounded mourners could interfere. The Gaydos brigade calmly carried the canket to the Gaydos establishment, transferred the body to an other casket and sent the empty on to the Brady place. Relatives of Vor chik then went before a magistrate
