A Happy Thanksgiving

With the exception of the Fourth of July, Thanksgiving is the most American of all our holidays. It was one of our first celebrations—that day so long ago when grateful Pilgrims came together to rejoice, to give thanks and to feast on the bounty of their first harvest.

The year turns and again we have Thanksgiving. Let us be grateful that for us the harvest has been plentiful, that this day, which we share with family and friends, gives us the opportunity to demonstrate our gratitude for the good things which the earth has nurtured for our well being and our enjoyment.
