Grant Group Named

President Edward Barnes appointed a committee to screen nominees for the Donald Forsythe Scholarship at the meeting last week of the Burch Kowal Association, sponsors of the annual $100 award for a deserving high school athlete residing in Rahway.

Those desiring to submit nominations must do so in writing and must include the individual and the school the athlete is attending, athletic achievement, scholastic record, other pertinent background information on the nominee and the name of the sponsor.

Letters should be addressed to chairman Thomas Barbieri of 244 Rudolph Ave., Rahway.

Others serving on the committee include Robert Moffitt, David Shacon and William McBride.

Peter Ryan, chairman of the annual family picnic, reported the affair will be held Aug. 23, in Merrill Park, Woodbridge, and announced committee assignments as follows:

Tickets - Jerry Hines, Thomas Barbieri, Games - Edward Koczon, David Shacon and Robert Moffitt, Food arrangements - John Slickers, Ray Mauser, John Pekarski and William Koczon.

New members include Robin Reagan, Raymond Mauser, Harry Sica, John Pekarski and Julius Koczon.

Q-B Pledge To Hospital Is $18,750

Quinn and Boden Co., Inc. of Rahway has subscribed $18,750 to the hospital's $750,000 building fund. The announcement was made by Howard P. Levy, chairman of the fund's corporation gifts committee.

The contribution will build and equip a nurses' station and a treatment room on the third floor of the proposed four-story addition to the east side of the hospital.

James T. Quinn, president of the firm and a member of the hospital's board of governors, turned the pledge over to Levy with the statement that the firm is pleased once again to be in the forefront of contributors to the hospital. "Everyone who can," he said, "should support this worthwhile program." "The company has always stood behind civic cause and in our own small way we are trying to do our part."

Levy, in receiving the gift, praised it as "a generous and inspiring example of fine corporate citizenship." "I am confident," he said, "that other local industries and businesses will feel as Quinn and Boden does, their own responsibility to the community as a whole and, in particular, to their own employees. Only in that way can our need for an expanded hospital be met."

Founded in 1906 and in its 65th year, Quinn and Boden employs 650 men and women and specializes in supplying the manufacturing service for good health facilities.

Levy pointed out that the members of his committee are approaching all major firms in the area in relation to their corporate responsibility for good health facilities. The approach to some individuals and families is being carried out by the memorial gifts committee now, and later on other individuals, families and smaller businesses will be solicited in the special gifts campaign.

Rug Glory For RWC

Mrs. David Taylor of 847 Bryant St., Rahway, and Miss Dorothy Dowden of 129 West Cherry St., Rahway, added to the laurels of the Rahway Women's Club this month when they took second and third-place prizes in the hooked rug competition at the Sixth District Creative Arts and Music Festival at the Seven Arches, Perth Amboy, N.J. Mrs. Joseph A. Kenna, 6th District vice president and a member of the local club, presided at the get-together.

Democrats Plan Census to Sample Opinions of Voters

As the 1970 Decennial Census draws to a close, Rahway Democrats are preparing to conduct a census of their own, Patrick O'Donnell, chairman of the Rahway Democratic city committee, revealed.

"Our census will be an in-depth poll of citizens' views on community problems," said O'Donnell, "which will aid the Democratic majority candidate and the three councilmen-at-large candidates in preparing their platform."

Kick-off date for this unique census is Saturday, May 16 at 9 a.m. at the

12 Receive Certificates

J. H. Samo, president of the New Jersey First Aid Squad and a member of the Rahway First Aid Squad, was the guest speaker for the final session of the babysitting clinic sponsored by the Rahway Jaycee-ettes.

The emergency treatment of the injured child was Samo's principal topic. Twelve girls completed the course, and certificates were distributed at the end of the session. They were Misses Durdee Brown, Susan Bove, Mary Ann Hall, Debbie Jerue, Cynthia Mahoney, Daria Mirolesky, Sue Safranko, Gail Smith, Jane Szabolowski, Carmine Tyler, Cathy West, and Linda Witte.

Mrs. Kenna Fete

Mrs. Joseph A. Kenna, 6th District vice president of the New Jersey State Federation of Women's Clubs and a member of the Rahway Women's Club, was honored at a luncheon at the Colonia Country Club yesterday for two years of devoted service. The luncheon was given by the 32 presidents of the district clubs.

Kiehn Bill Would Limit Explosives

Assemblyman Herbert H. Kiehn (R-9) will introduce an amendment to Senate Bill 685, which is legislation to amend "The Explosives Act," P.S., 1960, Chapter 35.

The amending legislation is intended to impose stringent controls on any person who manufactures, stores, sells, transports, uses or otherwise disposes of explosive materials.

The act, as written, would require permits and monthly reports for any private person storing more than five pounds of smokeless powder at any time. Existing legislation allows a 100-pound limit. Kiehn's amendment would increase the allowable storage for private persons to twenty pounds.

"There are literally thousands of handloaders, sportsmen who re-load their own shells for trap and target shooting, in our state," Kiehn said. "Although I totally support the concept of limitation imposed on unnecessary hardship upon the legitimate sportsman."

Kiehn pointed out that the National Fire Protection Association suggests a limitation of twenty pounds of smokeless propellants for storage in a private residence. "I have received scores of letters and phone calls from sportsmen who support the legislation in principle, but who emphasize the severe hardship that the five-pound limit would impose. The bill is not intended to penalize legitimate sportsmen and I believe my amendment will retain the intended controls against illegitimate use of explosives while recognizing the legitimate requirements of sportsmen everywhere."

Rahway Knights of Columbus Hall, according to Daniel L. Martin, Democratic mayoral standard-bearer.

"This census of opinions will be taken during a series of public forums," said Martin, adding "Rahway's voters will be given an opportunity to present their problems in person to the Democratic slate of candidates for comment, evaluation, and possible inclusion in the platform."

"Of particular interest to me are the views expressed by the youth and senior citizens of our community," noted Francis L. (Bud) Senkowsky, councilman-at-large candidate. "We want them to attend because we feel their particular problems have been overlooked by the Marsh administration to date."

"I am especially interested in hearing from Rahwayans who are more concerned with water than politics," stressed Charles E. Crowell, councilman-at-large candidate. "People who are concerned about Rahway's water rates and those voters who have been affected by Rahway's floods are invited to come before us and present their views."

In speaking of the scheduled voter/candidate talk sessions, Wilson (Bill) Beauregard, councilman-at-large candidate, stated, "This will give the candidates the opportunity to hear not only the problems but the needs of the taxpayers and citizens of Rahway." "In turn," Beauregard pointed out, "it will give the candidates a basis for drafting a comprehensive platform representing all the people and all the problems."

In conclusion, O'Donnell said, "This innovative maneuver of drafting a political platform reflects the Democrats' new thinking and our plan for the 1970."

Dr. Walton In College Procession

Dr. Robert B. Walton of 798 Central Ave., Rahway, is among Union College alumni who will march in the academic procession representing the 35 graduating classes at the inaugural ceremonies installing Dr. Kenneth W. Iversen as Union College's second president on Wednesday, May 13. Dr. Walton, an engineering major at Union College, is with Merck & Co., Rahway in the Microbiological Research Department.

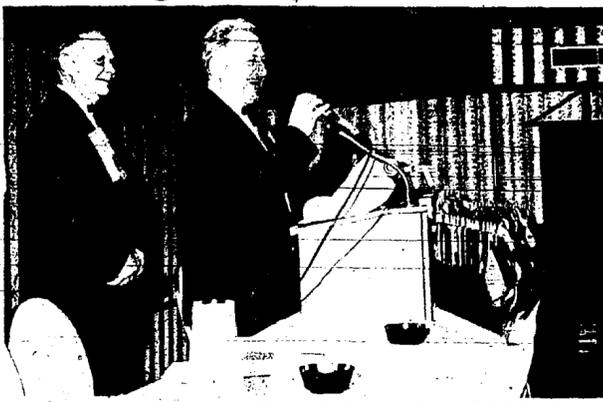

Joining the alumni delegates in the academic procession will be members of the board of trustees, board of fellows, the Union County Coordinating Agency for Higher Education, the Council of Educational Advisors, the faculties of Union College and Union County Technical Institute, Scotch Plains, members of the Day and Evening student councils, and delegates from two-year and four-year colleges throughout the country.

The inaugural ceremonies will be held at 3 p.m. on the East Lawn between the Nohabegan Building and the Campus Center. In case of rain, the ceremonies will be held in the theatre of the Campus Center. Ceremonies are open to the public and tickets can be obtained by writing to: Inaugural Committee, Union College, Cranford, N.J., 07016.

Making a Sound Investment

OUR MAN AT THE MICROPHONE... You're right, he's none other than B.U. Smith, of whom there is none more familiar in the City of Rahway. Smith, general secretary of the Rahway Y.M.C.A., is addressing an audience at the 50th conference of District 751, Rotary International, in Lancaster, Pa., of which he is a district governor. With B.U. on the dias is Dr. Arthur Williams, conference chairman. (Story and Another Photo on Page 10)

Protocol for Throat Cultures In Rahway's Public Schools

Rheumatic heart disease is one of the potentially preventable forms of heart disease. All cases of rheumatic fever are precipitated by a streptococcal upper respiratory infection.

If this streptococcal infection is treated properly, it will prevent the development of rheumatic fever. Unfortunately, two-thirds of the cases of rheumatic fever are preceded by a streptococcal infection for which no medical treatment is sought.

It is this group of undiagnosed and untreated streptococcal infections that the school program is directed against.

For the remainder of the present school year, the program will be limited to one elementary school. Then starting next September, using the experience gained this year, the program would be spread to include all the schools of Rahway, K-12.

Before instituting a throat-culturing program at a school, the parents would be informed of the importance of such a program by literature supplied by the Union County Heart Association and the parent would be asked to give their permission to have their children participate in this program.

Veterans' Data Needed

The Rahway Veterans Central Committee is appealing to all citizens and relatives to come forth with information concerning the war dead of the vietnam conflict. They must have the full name of the veteran, the branch of service and the date the veteran died. This information will be placed on the monument to be dedicated on Memorial Day, Saturday, May 30. The monument will then be placed in a permanent position with the other veteran monuments in Squire Park, Grand and St. George Aves., Rahway. To assure that these names will appear on the monument, this information must be forwarded by May. Address information to: Rahway Veterans Central Committee, P. O. Box 603, Rahway, N.J. 07065.

Any parent who has plates used for these cultures have to be refrigerated.

The school nurses would be instructed by a member of the Union County Heart Association in the proper technique for doing and plating the throat cultures.

All costs of this program would be borne by the Union County Heart Association.

Zion Game Party

A game party will be held by the Loyals for members and friends of Zion Lutheran Church, Rahway, tomorrow night at 7 p.m. at the Elizabethtown Gas Co. building, Central Avenue and Irving Street. Entry costs $1.

SWIM LESSONS FOR PEE WEEES BEGIN MAY 5

'Y' Taking Camp Registrations

Registrations are being accepted by the Rahway Y.M.C.A. for both resident and day camp programs. It was announced last night by B.U. Smith, general secretary of the local youth organization.

Camp Sperser-Gilbar are the boy-and-girl overnight camps which the Rahway "Y" uses with 16 other Y.M.C.A.'s for its resident camping. It is located on a 1,000-acre site in the Pocono Mountains of eastern Pennsylvania and has its own mile-long lake.

At this point, there are 46 registrations from Rahway, Clark, Colonia, Edison, Linden, Cranford and Wantage, N.Y. (former Rahway residents). This includes 27 boys, 15 girls and four families. Camp Fairweather plans this summer call for a nine-week season beginning June 29 and concluding Aug. 28. The program is conducted at the Rahway Y.M.C.A. and Rahway River Park. Between these two locations, plus boating in Mountatnside and out-of-town trips, all kinds of activities are conducted. Leonard Turner, a veteran of 24 years' work in physical-fitness programming, who directed the camp last summer, will again be in charge.

Student teachers and leaders who have been developed in the camp over many years will assist Turner, while Smith, with 27 years' experience in directing camps, will back up the entire project. Brochures will be available within the next few days. Any parent who is eager to know more about any of these programs is urged to contact the Rahway "Y" by letter, in person or by phone. Call 388-0057.

Meanwhile, as summer gets closer, the concert of parents of young boys and girls who have access to backyard swimming pools becomes greater.

During the past fall, winter and spring, the Rahway "Y" conducted lessons for four to six-year-olds on many occasions. However, more and more interest has been evinced, so a new class, lasting only five weeks, will begin Tuesday, May 5 at noon and continue every Tuesday and Thursday, 10 lessons in all, until June 4.

The class is one-half hour long and will be taught by Mrs. Laura Solop, who has been holding these classes for the last two years. At present, she and physical director Turner are conducting four classes. All classes are limited to 10 or 11 children.

Any parent who is interested in having his or her child entered in this final set of classes for the season should contact the Rahway "Y" at 388-0057.

OUTSTANDING STUDENTS... A brother-and-sister act that gets top billing in the brain department are Charles and Jo-Anne Gore of 557 Bryant St., Rahway, the children of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gore. Charles was named a president's scholar at Western Kentucky University and Jo-Anne to the National Honor Society at Mother Seton Regional High School, Clark.

Republican Quartet Pledge Campaign to 'Exchange of Ideas'

Rahway's Republican Mayor John C. Marsh and the councilmanic team which joined him in the GOP sweep of 1966, Ray A. Giacobbe, George T. Vansco and William M. Weaver have entered their names, together with necessary petitions, with the city clerk's office, igniting their campaign torch for 1970.

In a statement to The News-Record the four said they were the leaders in one of the most astonishing political turnabouts ever experienced by a Union County community. Rahway, long known as a Democratic stronghold, had become a base of operations for stalwarts of the party, bolted with a vengeance in the wake of a county grand jury presentation which termed the Democratic administration of the city "apathetic."

Marsh, Giacobbe, Vansco and Weaver said they "rode to victory on a platform pledging progress, the tightening of the municipal belt, the elimination of unnecessary city jobs, reorganization of city departments for greater efficiency, the development of joint-purchasing programs with neighboring communities for common commodities and a variety of innovative concepts designed to make Rahway a better place to live."

"In 1968, the voters once again evidenced their preference for the GOP brand of government," they claimed "when the 5-4 council margin won when Giacobbe, Vansco and Weaver were elected in 1966 to 7-2 with ward council seat victories by James Pickens, 2nd, Richard Voinyk, 3rd, John Holt, 5th, and Donald Forsythe, 6th.

The foundation is in," said Mayor Marsh in the statement which accompanied the affirmation of his candidacy for a second term as Rahway's chief executive. "Now comes the building. We have dedicated ourselves for the past three and a half years to untangling the knotted ball of administrative and legislative yarn left us by an uninspired Democratic administration. We have replaced inefficiency and waste with a trim, business-like approach to government that gives every tax payer five cents worth for every nickel he pays in taxes.

We have reduced the amount city government takes out of the tax dollar for four consecutive budget years. Our police and fire departments, nearly without morale or effect four years ago, have been converted into sharp, well-equipped, well-paid departments that rank in both cases with the best in the state."

Marsh said that the administrative and legislative accomplishments of his administration would be discussed in detail throughout the coming campaign by himself and his running mates. But, more important, said Marsh "we will outline a progressive program that will build on our accomplish-

New Slate For Knights

The regular monthly meeting of the Father John P. Washington Chapter, Grand Assembly Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus was held at the Rahway Columbian Club on Thursday, April 23.

A nominating committee was appointed for the purpose of recommending to the membership a slate of officers for the 1970-1971 term. Chairman Robert Mullady will be assisted by George Stulle, Edward Schueler, Joseph Stierka, Alex Shegalski and William Guerrier.

The committee will make their report to the assembly at the May meeting. A representative of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Co. presented a lecture and a series of slides on the importance of the use of the oceans for mankind's survival in the years to come. The next meeting will be held on Thursday, May 26, at the Columbia Club.

ments and be responsive to the needs of the challenging decade that lies ahead. We recognize the need to deal realistically with ecology, and we have already begun with an imaginative new program that will create a regional authority, get us a potential of $20 million in federal money and focus national attention on a new approach to waste disposal.

"We recognize the need to deal effectively with a worsening flooding problem, not with stopgaps and pittance, but with a bold, realistic concept that will cure rather than postpone.

"We know that we must come to grips, honestly and reasonably, with the human problems which confront us. We must accelerate our Urban Redevelopment Program. We must take steps to give our city the face of a modern, progressive community by developing a formula for architectural modernization. We have already begun with a state and federally-sponsored road system study that may prove to be an important pre-requisite to physical progress.

"We would like, at the outset of this campaign, to appeal to our opponents' sense of community well-being in inviting them to join us in a vigorous, useful and productive exchange of ideas that will enable the voters of Rahway to compare our qualifications for coping with the challenges and demands of the next four years."

Marsh, Giacobbe, Vansco and Weaver were elected in 1966 to 7-2 with ward council seat victories by James Pickens, 2nd, Richard Voinyk, 3rd, John Holt, 5th, and Donald Forsythe, 6th. Hospital Show

The Woman's Auxiliary of Rahway Hospital held its annual meeting April 28, featuring a hobby and handicraft show. All displayed work was done by members. Mrs. Walter Hill presided at a short business meeting and then introduced the new officers, who are Mrs. John Sprowitz, president, Mrs. John Major, vice president, Mrs. Walter Samples, secretary and Mrs. Anthony Winkler, treasurer.

Fired Men Lose Bid to Regain Seats

Three GOP ex-members of the planning board were defeated in Superior Court in an effort to regain their former positions, because they failed to take oaths of office within a reasonable time. Democratic Mayor Thomas A. Kaczmarek fired lv. T. Gordon, George W. Crater, and Newton J. Rodgers last July from the planning board when township attorney John P. Higgins discovered the omission. All three were appointed by former Republican Mayor William J. Maguire.

Red Cross Will Meet on Monday

The Rahway-Clark Chapter of the American Red Cross will hold its annual meeting at 8 p.m. on Monday in the city council conference room on the second floor of Rahway city hall. Reports of the year's activities will be made, Directors and officers will be elected. The nominating committee includes Maurice Moran, William Johnson and Mrs. William Oppenheimer. The meeting is open to all those who have donated to Red Cross either directly or through the United Fund.

Files Suit to Subdivide Former Ilderan Land

Charging the Rahway Planning Board and City Council with arbitrary, capricious, and unreasonable actions, Ben Den Construction Co. Inc. of 417 Linden Ave., Rahway, filed suit in Superior Court last week to obtain a subdivision to build four single dwelling units on property which it purchased from the Ilderan Outing Club, Pierpont St., Rahway. The planning board denied the subdivision Aug. 20 after a public hearing, and Ben Den appealed to council which remanded it to the board. After a second hearing Nov. 24, Ben Den said, the planning board approved the matter and then rescinded its action Dec. 16 and put the matter back in the council's lap. After a third hearing Feb. 9, council upheld the planning board's final denial. The suit named the planning board as defendant.

Down-to-Earth People

IT'S IN THE BAG ... Third graders from Mrs. Patricia Camera's and Mrs. Joan Eisner's classes at Abraham Clark School, Clark, observed Earth Day by cleaning litter from play areas around school. Their just reward was the appreciation of other students, teachers and neighbors.

Earth Day Volunteers At Library

A sign in the Children's Department of the Rahway Public Library asking for volunteers to help preserve Earth Day brought a most satisfactory response last Saturday morning when a group of boys and girls reported for work. Armed with rakes, clipper and plastic bags for the collected debris, they started a job which Mrs. Petersen, the children's librarian, hopes will stimulate an interest in making and keeping the library premises in an appearance of which the residents can be proud. Jimmie Cregge, Eddie Wong, Joseph Flamina, Mary Ben Coleman, Teri Brun, Susan Ryan and a number of youngsters who went off without leaving their names did a fine job. Mrs. Helen Hayes and Miss Phyllis Young of the children's staff lent their support with doughnuts and milk for refreshments. "It was a very rewarding party," said Mrs. Petersen.

'Keep it Standing' Is Slogan of Scout House

"Keep it Standing" is the slogan adopted by the Rahway Historical Society in its drive to raise $75,000 to purchase the property known as Scout House. The landmark, located at the corner of St. Georges and Westfield Aves., was erected in 1750 and has been the scene of several notable events in the early history of America. Sparing no effort to keep it standing in the course of a well-sustained effort now turning into its sixth month, the organization has announced that an outstanding cultural event will be presented for the benefit of its fund drive on Saturday, June 6, in making the announcement, Mayor John C. Marsh, who serves as the historical society president, said, "The City of Rahway and the Rahway Historical Society will since 1932 as 'The Girl Scout House.' when the Union County Ballet Co., one of the most accomplished ballet groups in the state, will present 'Peter and the Wolf' and also sections from 'Swan Lake' in the Rahway High School auditorium on Saturday afternoon and again on Saturday evening, June 6. "The Union County Ballet Company has volunteered its services for the event, including not only its talents, but also scenery, props and costumes," Marsh said.

Hospital Show

The Woman's Auxiliary of Rahway Hospital held its annual meeting April 24, featuring a hobby and handicraft show. All displayed work was done by members. Mrs. Walter Hull presided at a short business meeting and then introduced the new officers, who are Mrs. John Sprawls, president, Mrs. John Major, vice president, Mrs. Walter Sampson, secretary and Mrs. Anthony Winkler, treasurer.

Fired Men Lose Bid to Regain Seats

Three GOP ex-members of the planning board were defeated in Superior Court in an effort to regain their former positions, because they failed to take oaths of office within a reasonable time. Democratic Mayor Thomas A. Kaczmarek fired Irv. T. Gordon, George W. Crater, and Newton J. Rodgers last July from the planning board when township attorney John P. Higgins discovered the omission. All three were appointed by former Republican Mayor William J. Maguire.

Red Cross Will Meet on Monday

The Rahway-Clark Chapter of the American Red Cross will hold its annual meeting at 8 p.m. on Monday in the city council conference room on the second floor of Rahway city hall.

Reports of the year's activities will be made, Directors and Officers will be elected. The nominating committee includes Maurice Moran, William Johnson and Mrs. William Oppenheimer.

Down-to-Earth People

IT'S IN THE BAG ... Third graders from Mrs. Patricia Camera's and Mrs. Joan Elsnor's classes at Abraham Clark School, Clark, observed Earth Day by cleaning litter from play areas around school. Their just reward was the appreciation of other students, teachers and neighbors.

Earth Day Volunteers At Library

A sign in the Children's Department of the Rahway Public Library asking for volunteers to help preserve Earth Day brought a most satisfactory response last Saturday morning when a crew of boys and girls reported for work. Armed with rakes, clippers and plastic bags for the collected debris, they started a job which Mrs. Petersen, the children's librarian, hopes will stimulate an interest in making and keeping the library premises in an appearance of which the residents can be proud.

'Keep it Standing' Is Slogan of Scout House

"Keep it Standing" is the slogan adopted by the Rahway Historical Society in its drive to raise $75,000 to purchase the property known since 1932 as "The Girl Scout House."

The landmark, located at the corner of St. Georges and Westfield Aves., was erected in 1750 and has been the scene of several notable events in the early history of America.

Sparing no effort to keep it standing in the course of a well-sustained effort now turning into its sixth month, the organization has announced that an outstanding cultural event will be presented for the benefit of its fund drive on Saturday, June 6.

In making the announcement, Mayor John C. Marsh, who serves as the historical society president, said, "The City of Rahway and the Rahway Historical Society will both be the beneficiaries when the Union County Ballet Co., one of the most accomplished ballet groups in the state, will present 'Peter and the Wolf' and also sections from 'Swan Lake' in the Rahway High School auditorium on Saturday afternoon and again on Saturday evening, June 6."

"The Union County Ballet Company has volunteered its services for the event, including not only its talents, but also scenery, props and costumes," Marsh said.

Files Suit to Subdivide Former Ilderan Land

Charging the Rahway Planning Board and City Council with arbitrary, capricious, and unreasonable actions, Ben Den Construction Co. Inc. of 417 Linden Ave., Rahway, filed suit in Superior Court last week to obtain a subdivision to build four single dwelling units on property which it purchased from the Ilderan Outing Club, Pierpont St., Rahway.

The planning board denied the subdivision Aug. 20 after a public hearing, and Ben Den appealed to council which remanded it to the board. After a second hearing Nov. 24, Ben Den said, the planning board approved the matter and then rescinded its action Dec. 16 and put the matter back in the council's lap. After a third hearing Feb. 9, council upheld the planning board's final denial.

The suit named the planning board as defendant.

State Education Project Could Affect Clark Public Schools

New Jersey's "Our Schools" project is of extreme importance to the citizens of New Jersey. The project is designed to determine the state's educational goals, objectives, and needs for the future. It is a state-wide discussion on the present and future status of education in New Jersey.

An advisory council, headed by state board of education member Calvin Hurd, an Elizabeth attorney, is composed of 10 members, and is charged with the assessment of educational goals and needs. It is anticipated that tentative goals formulated at the conference will be disseminated throughout the state for additional comments and suggestions by regional and local groups. The wide participation of citizens is sought from all groups and places.

George Smith, president of the state board of education, opened the conference at the McGraw-Hill Publishing Co., Hightstown, with the comment that New Jersey needs ideas to keep it abreast of the educational front with education. There is a need for assessing and reassessing education as a whole, children and adults alike, Smith commented. He also felt that we need to give the individual a better sense of self-worth, fulfillment. He was hopeful that as a result of the study by the council, and by thousands of citizens, a better educational system will be devised for all our citizens.

Dr. Carl L. Marburger emphasized to the group that the new plan to be devised is not the "Marburger Plan," but that it is the citizens' plan. He felt the conference participants were ready to spark a great educational dialogue, and presented a "road map" to guide and help members in their work.

The "road" contained mileposts, the first of which was the conference on establishing tentatively educational goals. Milepost two is the collection of data and regional and local seminars on goals, indicators, and objectives.

The fourth milepost is a survey of New Jersey population on educational needs. And so forth until milepost eight is reached, where it seeks to implement the whole program. There would be evaluations at milepost nine of all mileposts as it continues to develop along the "road." The process of assessing educational goals would begin again after the ninth milepost to continue the updating of educational aims and directions.

The "Our Schools" conference was composed of 8 groups. Each met separately to discuss goals for better educational assessment. Eight typical goals were provided for the conference participants as a guide. They were intellectual discipline, health, ethics, social development and human relationships, civic participation, economic effectiveness, creative expression and self-realization and adaptivity.

Some groups modify these goals. Others felt some were not applicable to today's social climate. Still others felt the list had to be added to and changed. Most participants felt that the conference was good and that more time was needed to concentrate on the goals and make refinements.

The next tentative meeting, scheduled for June 15, will involve 4 regionals. October 1, will involve another state meeting such as that

Lady Eagles Observe Mother's Day Saturday

The Ladies Auxiliary of Eagle home, Mrs. Martin Carroll will be in charge. The birthdays of Mrs. Marge Stringer and Mrs. Louis Spoo were observed. Cake and refreshments were served by Mrs. Stephen Strakele and Mrs. Pearce. The latter also announced the election of officers at the last meeting in the series.

All members are reminded that the next meeting has been scheduled for Monday, May 4, at 7:30 p.m.

Dr. Bernard Kaplan, director of the Department of Education's Office of Planning, Division of Research, Planning and Evaluation, is serving as project director.

3 Flood Hearings Set For Monday in Trenton

Due to the increased flood emergency in the Robinson's branch area, members and interested friends of the Roberson Citizens for Flood Control were called to a special meeting at St. Mark's hall last Monday night. The regular monthly meeting of this group will still be held next Monday night at 8 o'clock at the same location.

Howard E. Baker, president, reported that hearings on three encroachment complaints initiated by the R.C.F.C. against Hamilton Laundry, L-G-K Corporation, and Quadrel Bros. Trucking Co. are scheduled for 10 a.m. in Room 1107 of the Labor and Industry Building, in Trenton, Monday. Baker cord correspondence related to these hearings before the Division of Water Policy and Supply and explained that the Division had responded to an appeal for stepped-up hearing dates on encroachment cases due to the flood season and increased flood conditions stemming from the start of Sisto Bros. Realty Co. building project on St. Georges Ave. along the Robinson's branch of the Rahway river.

This proposed home construction project in lowland which acts as a natural reservoir for flood waters was halted last weekend when Baker and the group's attorney, George Bartell, contacted Trenton and the Division issued an immediate stop - order to Sisto Bros. Realty Co. of Linden. This company cannot proceed on the project without approval and proper specifications from the state.

Baker also suggested that the city try to purchase any remaining lands along the Robinson's branch for future use as detention centers for flood waters. Owners of these stream-adjacent lands can offer them for sale to the city as a real community service. Whether this kind of flood control work can be done soon or years from now under the proposed Basin plan, some creative thinking ahead can be done.

Irving Dengrove, group treasurer, informed members that flood insurance is now available in flood disaster areas.

For their service as volunteers who train adults in all phases of the Girl Scout program, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cammann and Mrs. John D'Audario received recognition.

Other positions filled were first vice president Mrs. William Carliste, second vice president Mrs. Vester Troxel, third vice president Mrs. Laurence DeMaio, secretary Mrs. Edward M. Crusaders Vs. Indians Tomorrow

Rahway's light-hitting Indians will travel to Nolan Field tomorrow afternoon for the first of the home-and-home series with their neighborhood rivals, the Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School Crusaders. Game time is 3:45.

Both teams are strong on defense, weak on the mound, while the Crusaders are sharp with the bat.

Coach Earl Hoagland is expected to start sophomore George Rothwell, with the veteran Jim Blackburn behind the plate. Big Jim has not been hitting the way he did last season and the coaching staff has been working on his swing.

With Gary Bechloff out with a broken toe, the Indians had to shift Al Zolto to second, with sophomore Duane Sprovac at the hot corner.

Seniors Fred Strueber at short and Ron Miller at first will round out the Indians' infield.

Rahway has junior Craig Huggar in center. He has not started to hit, but he covers more than his share of centerfield. Huggar will be flanked by senior right-hander Phil Schifano in right and junior Joe Schumann in left.

Coach Lou Peragallo's teams, which has already made an early run for the conference flag, will start veteran right-hander Phil Schifano, with Doug Techanchuk handling the tools. Footballer Gary Smolyn will cover first, Bob Hlejewas, a good fielder, will be at second, with senior Fred Bauer at short. Both are good stickmen.

Mike Miller will play third. The Crusaders are well balanced in the outfield with senior Tom Squashic in the middle, George Scott in right and hard-hitting Bill Wojcik, who has already hit a homer this season, in left.

The series will be at Rahway's Veterans' Field on Tuesday, May 19, at 3:45 p.m.

Ceremonies for the league were held last Saturday with sunshine and hundreds in attendance. It was a special day that included major league baseball games, a bake sale, a parade of all teams in the league, the crowning of Miss Little League, and entertainment provided by the Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School Band under the direction of Andrew Jupina.

Father Dennis Whelan of St. Agnes Roman Catholic Church started the festivities with an invocation, Master of Ceremonies James Flood, introduced Baseball Commissioner Edward Muchmore, who presented Little League caps to the following men as he introduced them to township baseball fans: Mayor Thomas A. Kaczmarek; Council President Richard C. Burger and Councilmen John Risanaky, A. Charles Wilamo, Stanley D. LeWand and Bernard G. Yarusavage; board of education president John Switek, Western Division baseball president John Edmar and Eastern Division baseball president Howard Payne.

They are Mrs. Jean Stives, vice president, Mrs. Mary Lou Jastnik, secretary; Mrs. Louella Schowalter, treasurer; Mrs. Peggy Regan, vice president of the Eastern Division; and Mrs. Joyce Furness, vice president of the Western Division.

The auxiliary is planning the annual Clark Little League picnic on Sunday, May 24, at the Deutscher Club, Featherbed Lane, Clark.

Mrs. Schmelzer introduced last year's Miss Little League, Karen Theas, before she presented the five finalists for this year's contest. Their names were drawn from entries submitted by girls aged eight to 12 in township schools. Finalists were Clarkie Misses June Dietze, Lisa Perison, Tracey Pietro, Lori Richardson, and Kathleen Marie Doua.

Mayor Thomas A. Kaczmarek had the honor of drawing the winning name of Clark's Miss Little League, Miss Lori Richardson of 12 Wendell Place. All finalists were given corsages from the Ladies Auxiliary.

The queen was crowned with a sparkling crown by Miss Karen Theas. To remember this exciting day, the new queen was given a trophy and bracelet.

Opening ceremonies for the 1970 season were closed by Father Edmond Isler of St. John's Roman Catholic Church with benediction.

Rahway Rotary Is Host

At the 50th conference of District 751, Rotary International, many Rahway personalities played an important part. The conference was held at Host Farm, Lancaster, Pa., and more than 810 Rotarians and guests were registered.

The conference highlighted the work of Rotary in the 54 clubs of the District, numbering 3,000 Rotarians. The clubs extend from Elizabeth and Hillside to Tuckerton and from North Hunterdon to Trenton and Somerville.

The program included talks by seven visitors from Australia who are in this country for eight weeks as recipients of a group study exchange which the Rotary foundation makes possible. There were also three foreign students - youth exchange, high school level - and a graduate student from Turkey who is studying at Rutgers College of Agriculture.

Lloyd Hollister represented the president of Rotary International, James F. Conway, and a guest speaker, Dr. Haver C. Hahn, of Dayton, Ohio, gave an outstanding talk at one of the banquets. He was provided by General Motors for this conference.

Because the conference was held in Pennsylvania Dutch country, Mennonite and Amish singers were included twice on the program.

Rahway played a key role in the conference, serving as the host club, because its member and past president, E. U. Smith, was district governor for 1969-70.

Under the general chairmanship of John Yoder, current Rahway Rotary president, the following assisted with the arrangements: Mrs. Yoder, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Gornburg, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Clinger, Robert McClintock, Courtney Clark, Donald Appax, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hellegers, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hobbittz, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Keena, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Ludlum, Mr. and Mrs. George Mensching, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Medvigy, Mr. and Mrs. William Rand, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. James Smith, Dr. and Mrs. John Sprowls and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pryga.

ADVICE TO LOVE LAWN

How Often Should I Feed My Lawn?

By Stan Lohrer

During its several stages of yearly underground growth, grass requires sufficient nutrients to develop sturdy root systems which leads to greener, thicker lawns. That's why an application of a quality fertilizer, anytime throughout the underground growing season, will be of immediate benefit.

Four good reasons to feed your lawn four times a year with a high quality, slow releasing fertilizer are:

In the spring early fertilizing with a high quality, slow releasing, lawn fertilizer, insures a return of vivid green color. This type fertilizer rations out its nutrients, so additional side-shoots called tillers are encouraged to grow from the base of the original plant. These tillers develop three to five leaves, in effect multiplying themselves. The result is a thicker turf.

In the early summer fertilizer stimulates production of underground growth of rhizomes. These small, root-like stems send up new plants. This late spring rhizomizing is a key to knitting individual grass plants into a thick green turf. Bare spots tend to fill in.

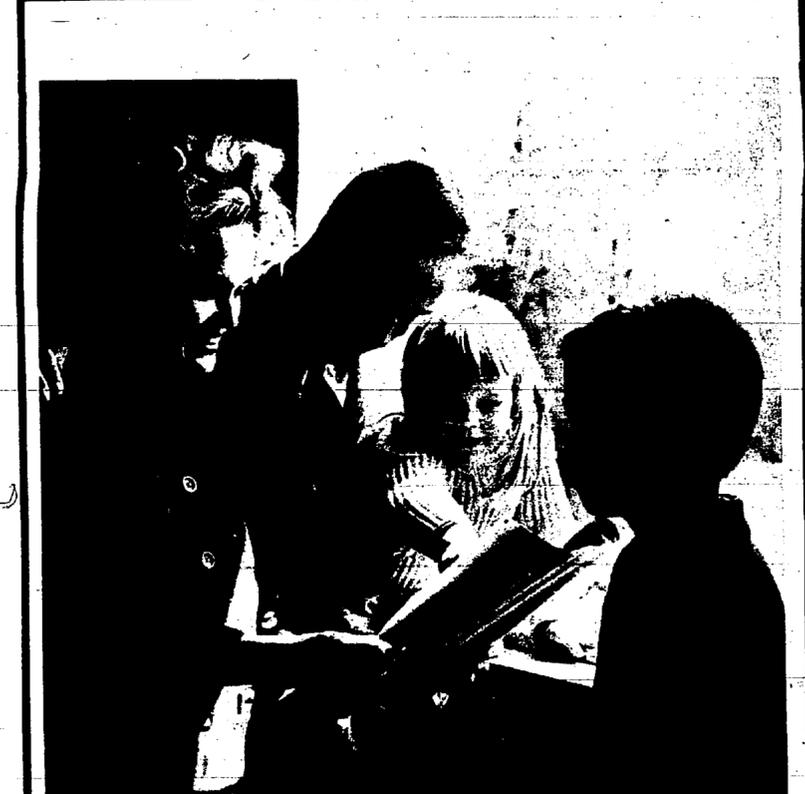

In mid-summer grass plants cast off old roots and with proper fertilizing, develop vigorous new ones. The quality of the summer lawn and its resistance to drought depend greatly upon the strength of the root system which is developed at this time. In the fall when a sufficient supply of nutrients is present, the underground root growth develops to its fullest extent. The lawn is then better equipped to live through the winter months with less winter damage.

A properly fed grass continues its tillering activity late into the year until the ground becomes too cold for further root activity.

Stop a State Income Tax

Gross national delusion (GND) is how one author has described the current state of the public mind in regard to government and taxes. Every year, new schemes are devised by incompetent, spendthrift administrators and legislators to obtain a greater share of the taxpayer's hard-earned dollar. First a three percent sales tax, then a five percent sales levy, an increase in registration fees, greater imposts on gasoline and cigarettes, an increase in state corporation taxes on net profit, et cetera. All these increases, of course, go to find the state budget which practically no one in Trenton fathoms.

Remember that "reform" by ex-Governor Richard Hughes gave me a sales tax and your property taxes will not increase. Since that pledge, taxes on real property have probably increased by more than 15 percent in the average New Jersey municipality. Will voters never learn that politicians, or should we say many of them, will promise anything around election time. The most recent and significant entry into the ledger of unkept political promises is Governor William Cahill's oath—no increases in the sales tax and no income tax.

The lightly-made pledge to hold the line on the state sales tax is broken, and our fast-moving governor is paving the way for the final and great assault on the taxpayers of the Garden State, an income tax. He has appointed Senate Majority Leader Harry L. Sears of Morris County to chair a committee to examine New Jersey's tax structure and find ways to "equalize" things. Sears, with great piety, said he has the nerve to recommend an income tax, even though he knows the move would be unpopular. Of Harry Sears' courage, in an age when legislators have little built-in restraint, perhaps, the best method of holding the line on taxes is to focus attention on a popular issue, such as the banning of an income tax, and compelling state legislators through public pressure not to take from taxpayers what they cannot afford by passing constitutional prohibitions. Should this measure be approved, and in the future the legislature finds it "unavoidable" to tax personal income, then, at least, it will be compelled to go through the unpleasant task of repealing the ban and fully announcing its intentions to the people.

If you feel strongly that taxation has reached a saturation level, write your state legislators and let them know of your support for ACR-33.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The strongest possible objections should be lodged against the highly misleading voter opinion questionnaire recently sent out from the office of Rep. Florence P. Dwyer of the 12th Congressional District to her constituents.

Persons familiar with public opinion research are aware how slanted "research findings" can easily be obtained from the phrasing of certain questions and selection of particular question material combined with omission of other questions which may be equally or more important. Such slanting is inherent in the current Dwyer questionnaire.

For example, at one point (question 14) respondents are asked to choose "in the event of a conflict between two values" one of two possibly desirable objectives: either (a) oppose communism, or (b) preserve peace. Obviously, most respondents to this particular questionnaire will choose "preserve peace," and the congresswoman may then feel justified in saying that most of her constituents "don't want to oppose communism."

Yet a little reflection will reveal that only through opposition to communism can real peace in fact be preserved. The communists seek to stir up strife and revolution inside the United States; only by means of strong opposition to this communist activity can domestic peace be preserved. The communists powers also seek to overcome many peaceful countries abroad; only opposition to communism translated into very powerful U.S. and allied defense forces and actions can thwart communist aggression and keep peace abroad. The communists have shown time and again they will not openly attack where they know a strong defending force is ready and waiting for them.

In such cases the communists do not start open warfare but instead go around and "or win the struggling and stopping subversive activities of those who would destroy this country from within by violent disruptions, bombing and terrorism. Also the question makes no mention of holding the present course of unilateral disarmament relative to the Soviet Union which in a few years will result in overwhelming Soviet nuclear superiority and ultimate defeat for this nation unless our course of action is changed.

Let us discard the misleading Dwyer questionnaire and substitute a new one that asks voters the right questions.

To the Editor:

It would be greatly appreciated, if solely in the interest of fairness, you would print the following rebuttal to remarks which appeared in The Clark Patriot April 30.

I would object most strenuously to the article in The Patriot dealing with the Democratic elections in Clark in which the New Democratic Coalition (NDC) was referred to as a "left wing" organization.

Even if it were true, which it most certainly is not, such an allegation, with all that it implies, belongs on the editorial page, not in what is supposed to be a news article. This is irresponsible journalism at its worst. Even Spiro Agnew would be shocked.

I do not know the motives of the author of the article. I can only speculate as to why he chose to label the NDC, while not bothering to designate any of the other Democratic slates as to their being left, right, or middle wing. I can only guess as to whether this heavy-handed attempt to falsely label the candidates of the NDC was the result of maliciousness or simply a total lack of awareness of the political situation.

The New Democratic Coalition is dedicated to the nomination and election of candidates of unquestioned ability and integrity, as a means of achieving meaningful progress, all within the framework of our established political processes. I do not believe that this fits the definition of a "left wing" group.

Many outstanding U.S. Senators, Congressmen, and governors have chosen to identify themselves with the ideals of the NDC. Many fine people, including clergymen, professional people, and educators have been active in the NDC in Union County. And I have the privilege of being a candidate along with three outstanding citizens of Clark who are running on the NDC designation. None of these people even remotely qualifies as "left wingers."

I hope this clears away some misconceptions about the NDC. If you feel in need of further information as to what the NDC really is and what it stands for, I will be happy to oblige you.

NEW SLATE FOR COMING YEAR

A Rahway Kiwanis dinner meeting was the occasion for the installation of the new slate of officers for the Rahway Key Club. Installed were Robert Mascanik, regional lieutenant governor, Robert Huffman, treasurer, Willard Taylor, president, Frank LaGola, vice president, and William Hauer, secretary. The Kiwanis Club holds the dinner meeting every year to provide an opportunity for Key Club members to install new officers. This is one Kiwanis meeting which by tradition is run by Key Clubbers.

The term "left wing" is so harmlessly and accurately applied. The words take their historical meaning from those homes, papers and effects, against a reasonable search, violates the Fifth Amendment which prohibits the government from forcing an individual to be a witness against himself; and possibly violates the First Amendment - if freedom of silence can be considered a Constitutional corollary of freedom of speech.

Personal privacy depends on the degree of control a citizen may exercise over facts related to his personal life. His privacy is destroyed when he is compelled against his will to reveal such information. The Census Bureau has clearly become too nosy in conducting its decennial nosecount, and its meddling in the personal lives of law-abiding citizens must be stopped. There are elements within our nation, including some within the Congress itself, which are far too anxious to turn America into "a completely different country." And they are the ones who could, and I believe would, use whatever data might be available to help implement or solidify their control over the people.

WORTH TALKING

To those who doubt the validity of our democracy, the value of our free enterprise system, and the vigor of our society, let us show our faith by deeds. Let us answer their protestation by our participation. Let us reply to their dissent by our involvement. Let the doubters be shown by the doors. Let each of us as workers make our job our vocation. Let each of us as businessmen make our financial venture a human investment. Let each of us as parents make our house a home. Let each of us as citizens make our community a neighborhood.

Republicans Contact Voters for Opinions

The "Platform Planner" is the name of the self-addressed post card questionnaire distributed during the last weekend by Republican candidates Mayor John C. Marsh, and Ray Giacobbe, George Vansco, and William Weaver, the Councilmen-at-large.

In a statement by the four Republicans, they characterized the effort as "an extension of the citizen participation in government they have cultivated and encouraged during the past four years."

A statement from the candidates appearing on the rear of the card says in part, "In planning a platform for the coming campaign which will come to grips with the issues facing our city, we must rely not only on our own views of the demands of the coming decade, but on your hopes, desires and ideas for Rahway. To that end, we ask you to give us your thoughts concerning Rahway's problems and priorities. By so doing, you will help us to plan a truly meaningful platform and to make Rahway a better place to live."

The questionnaire calls for citizen comments on problems of any nature and dimension including finance, taxation, the environment, flood control, redevelopment and downtown improvement.

Councilman George Vansco, commenting on the survey said, "We see this as every citizen's opportunity to have his voice heard in the planning of local government. Every voter has a fundamental right to ask that candidates for office discuss the subjects he wants to hear about and not cloud the campaign with either false or extraneous issues."

Incumbent Ray Giacobbe pointed out that, "this questionnaire is the result of weeks of planning and represents the first step in what, for our part, will be a 'people oriented' campaign. Four years ago, we began our campaign with a similar citizen survey, and it provided us with an insight we considered essential not only to winning the election, but to serving the people of Rahway."

Council President William Weaver said, in reference to a release by the Democratic state, "In contrast to our opponents, we will not endeavor to determine the views of the people by asking our friends to come to a gathering to ratify a plan we've already laid out. We think it can only be determined by obtaining the broadest possible sampling of citizen opinion."

Girl Scout News Of Clark

By Mary Ann Rubin

A summarization of the recent activities of Brownie Troop 372 included the fixing of old dolls which they gave to the Salvation Army and packing Red Cross boxes for the children of Vietnam. At the close of the cookie sale, Jennifer Calenda was the troop's top salesgirl. A great job was done by all.

The Brownies also toured the Girl Scout House in Rahway and contributed stamps to help save the house. They visited a ceramic studio in Clark run by Mrs. Doris Kobus, where they made Mother's Day gifts.

Sixteen Junior Scouts from Troop 348 and three leaders went to Camp Pemmassay in Thompson Park, Jamesburg. The girls worked on the Songster Badge and the Outdoor Cook Badge. The two day stay included a visit to a horse show in the park.

Mothers from Junior Troop 102 have organized a committee of two mothers for each holiday to visit the shut-ins that do not have visitors at Ashbrook Nursing Home, Scotch Plains. They will bring a small remembrance. The mothers will continue this service as a special project for Action 70.

Brownies in Troop 410 have completed projects for the Red Cross and Rahway Hospital. They are presently making Mother's Day gifts, items for the Hehny School Fair and planning for their fly-up ceremony. A recent trip was made to the Elizabethtown Gas Co. in Rahway.

The juniors in Troop 126 are now in the process of making favors for "Mobile Meals," a group that provides hot meals to shut-ins in the Westfield area. The favors will be in the form of seedlings and napkin rings. The girls will continue to provide these favors each month.

Twenty-four girls from Troop 330 went camping last weekend at Knolltop Cabin, Roosevelt Park, Menlo Park. Leaders and six mothers accompanied them. The girls worked on the Troop Camper Badge and Collector Badge.

Junior Troop 348 invited Brownie Troop 410 to participate in a song-and-game time as part of the Dancer Badge. The girls played guessing games and sang songs. Refreshments were served.

Brownie Barbara Jeranek of Troop 410 returned from a trip to Arizona and California. She told of her experiences to the girls in her troop. The Brownies especially enjoyed hearing about her visits to Disneyland and Disneyland.

Juniors in Troop 126 went to the Clark Volunteer Fire Department's firehouse on Broadway. A tour of the building and equipment was conducted by Captain Tony Malanga. An alarm sounded while the girls were there and they saw the firemen in action.

RAY'S CORNER SPORTS

By Ray Hoagland

They added another trophy to the case at the senior high school over the weekend when coach John Moon's team was selected as the top public school in the 24th annual Englewood Memorial track and field meet.

Nate Austin, the fine sophomore, scored a double, taking the 180-yard low hurdles in a time of 19.6 to set a school record and in the 120-yard high he also set a school mark of 15.2. The Indians' sprint medley relay team of Ira Presley, Carl Stewart, Richie Treadwell and John Moran won in 3:39.4. The team had 19 points. The meet was taken by St. Joseph of Montvale.

Councilman George Vansco, Bill McEntee, J. Cella and W. Clark, with 297, captured the prize in the opening day's play at Colonia Country Club. The two-man best ball tournament was taken by M. Razook and Ed Comer with a 65.

In the par 3 hole, closest to pin, L. Shacross, Chick Harrison, W. Patricia and F. Foley were tops.

At Oak Ridge in Clark, the kickers on Saturday saw a tie between John Manger, 31-0-71, and Joe Ferraro, 30-0-70. On Sunday, another tie resulted between Nick Petrocchi, 77-7-70, and Jack Zingis, 91-21-70.

Roy Faber, the pro at Colonia Country Club, has qualified for the $25,000 Ferraro Open at the Rockaway River Country Club, Denville, May 19-21.

Faber shot a fine 36-34-70 to lead the qualifiers. Faber, who has won a PGA pro-amateur title for the first time in another pro-am this spring, was two under par on the 6,489-yard course. The 41-year-old pro, who has five children, attributed this round to his ability to keep the ball in play on the green. "I've been using this new lightweight driver this spring," he said "and so far it has been behaving just great."

Two New Jersey amateur boxers, both from Paterson, won in the National AAU championships at the Trenton Civic Center last week. Among those from Rahway who attended the championships were Dr. McDaniel, the councilman, and Ken Kirkbright. Your reporter served on the committee which conducted the four-day tournament.

Tom Fitzgerald, former Rahway High School baseball star, has returned home after playing with the Pittsburgh Pirates' farm teams.

Mike Punko, former Rahway baseball star, is batting .333 for the Ft. Lauderdale Yankees with two hits in six trips.

Reliance Savings and Loan Association, Rahway, is among the sixteen associations being honored during the 61st annual convention of the New Jersey Savings League now in progress here.

The associations are to be presented with golden certificates attesting to their 50 years of service to the various home counties. Reliance Savings and Loan Association was founded January 20, 1920.

CLARK'S BILL MARTIN WINS TOP PERFORMANCE TROPHY Furniture Dealer Is Polished Boat Race Driver

There's a young man in Clark who is riding the crest of a boat-racing wave that goes back many years. His name is Bill Martin, a furniture dealer -- Bill is the owner of Martin's Furniture Store at 67 Westfield Ave. -- and his latest exploit was in the gear-busting 200-mile Sam Griffith Memorial off-shore power boat classic last week at Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

No, Bill didn't win. But they sure knew he was swinging. And this despite the fact that his Hustler II, one of only eight boats to finish the grind out of a starting pack of 22, was a single engine inboard. Four such boats were entered in the marathon, but the Hustler II was the only one in its class to cross the choppy finish line.

Even the winner, Bill Wisnicki, in a 32-foot Novamar Boss Nova, admitted he drove at a cautious 51 mile-per-hour average when the way went out that the Weather Bureau had posted small craft warnings.

"That was 50-mile water out there today," he grinned. To give you a better idea of just how rough the going was, Wisnicki's time for the 200 miles was four hours and 34 minutes. When he won the same race last year in seas flat and calm, he was clocked at a blazing average of 72 miles per hour.

Even the Coast Guard stationed at Capt. Island, admitted the living was 'tweazy' when the powerboats in the Griffith Memorial thundered over their merry way. One of the Coast Guard boats at this stage had its deck only five feet off the water.

But Martin and his navigator, Bill Dewan of Rahway, were a determined duo, and it was this, plus their oft-tested skill, that earned them the Elgin National Industries Award for the most outstanding performance in this year's Griffith. Dewan is a graduate of Rahway High School.

The judges were impressed by Martin and Dewan for three reasons mainly: the Hustler II was the only boat in its class to finish, it was the first boat under 30 feet to be around at the ball and it was the first Class III entry of 500 cubic inches or less to cover the arduous and dangerous course.

Because of the excellent showing of the Hustler II, by Martin and Dewan for three years in a row, the Hustler II was the only boat in its national championship ratings. What must be most gratifying of all to Martin is that his single engine inboard sent the mighty production powerboats to a humiliating defeat. Not one of these so-called giants managed to finish.

As one crewman in the production class, who was seated aft, commented, "I was

Clark Puts Indian Sign On Indians

In a neighborhood thriller, the Clark Crusaders scored an extra-inning 1-0 victory over the Rahway Indians on Nolan Field in a Watching Conference game.

The teams battled scoreless throughout seven innings, then Ed Pinkham singled to open the last of the eighth, and was sacrificed to second.

Big Jim Schneider, who is 4-0 on the mound, reached on an infield error, but Pinkham was cut down on a fielder's choice at third, John Herson's single filled the bases and Tom Squashic drew a pass to force in the game's only run.

Clark's record is 5-3 to 2-9 for the Indians.

Crusaders Yield 1st Spot in WC

The Cranford Cougars dropped the Clark Crusaders out of the top spot in the Watchung Conference with a thrilling come-from-behind 3-2 win at Nolan Field.

2 Conduct LL Clinic On Umpires

The Clark Recreation Department, sponsored by the Clark Board of Education, conducted the third annual baseball clinic for the benefit of the Clark Little League manager and umpires.

This program was conducted with the co-operation of John Swintek, board president and Vic Ruggeri, who is in charge of the umpires in the Eastern Division of the Little League.

The speakers were Ed Czerbrowski, a well-known baseball, softball, basketball and football official from this area, who has worked in the World Series of fast-pitch softball.

Bobertz is a former outstanding softball catcher and was the catcher for the Phelps Dodge softball team, which was the last team in this area to go to the world when the two-hour clinic tournament some 25 years ended, all who attended felt ago. Both Ed and John belong to the Perth Amboy baseball federation of umpires and are considered outstanding baseball umpires in high school and semi-pro ball.

Kiehn Will Talk to RCAC Farrell On Anti-Income Tax Bill

A bill to block the imposition of a State Income Tax will be the subject of an address by Assemblyman Herbert H. Kiehn of Rahway before the Republican Conservative Action Club of Union County. The timely talk will be given May 14 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Mandel, 416 Elm Street, Westfield, at 8 p.m.

Herbert H. Kiehn

Designated ACR-33, the bill calls for an amendment to the State Constitution which would deny to the Legislature the "power to lay and collect taxes on personal incomes derived from any source whatever." Its passage would be a long stride toward protecting the overburdened taxpayers of New Jersey from a State Income Tax.

Assemblyman Kiehn is one of 12 legislators who have joined to co-sponsor the anti-income tax proposal. A long-time resident of Rahway, Kiehn owns and manages a small business in the city. He has served as a member of the Rahway Board of Adjustment for 30 years. He is a past master of Lafayette Masonic Lodge, Rahway, and a 32nd Degree Mason, and has been awarded the coveted Silver Life Membership Card from the Rahway PBA. He is also a director of the United Fund of Rahway. In the Assembly, Kiehn is a member of two committees, the Air, Water and Public Health Committee and the Insurance Committee. His most recent bill, which would transfer control of bingo and raffle licenses from the state to local jurisdiction, has passed the Assembly and is now pending in the Senate.

At the May 14 gathering, the annual election of officers will be held. Following the address, there will be a discussion period and a social hour. Admission is free and open to all.

Fire Chief Link Seeks 'Living Witness Program' At Freshman Assembly

"Stay in School" was the theme of a freshman assembly being presented on April 30 at Rahway High School by members of the "Living Witness Program."

This program is geared for school systems in the area where drop-out problems are being experienced. It is a national project of the Chambers of Commerce and local community agencies.

Now in its third year of operation, the program last year took the form of three pilot projects in the Elizabeth School System. This year, Rahway High School and Elizabeth were selected by the Chamber of Commerce to participate.

Douglas Wurzburg, director of governmental affairs for the Department of the Chamber of Commerce, is the coordinator.

At Rahway's assembly, teacher Wilbert Burt opened the program and presented Charles Mayers of Wing Co., Linden, chairman of the educational committee.

Mayers introduced the "Living Witness" speakers, who are business and industry, who understand the importance of education through personal experience.

Following the assembly, two "witnesses" were assigned to each specific freshman classroom, where they spoke to the students, stressing their belief in continuing and finishing high school and later attending college or entering the business world.

The "witnesses" included: Nathaniel Brown, Esso Research and Engineering Co.; Hollis Reeves, N. J. Bell Telephone Co.; Susan Ceating, Alfa Rodrigues, The Radio Holiday and Robert Bule of Elizabethtown Gas Co.; Richard Byrd and

President Daniel J. Colangelo announced that as part of its agenda the board will emphasize its "Light the Night" program.

Catherine Reese, chairman of the committee this year, will be assisted by Stanley Bier and Walter Merkel. The committee last year won an award from the state association, under the chairmanship of Eva Pascale.

The New Jersey Association of Realtor Boards, with the cooperation of the Public Service Electric and Gas Co., reports the program is in full operation with billboards, bus posters, window cards, window displays and the distribution of in excess of 300,000 pamphlets.

After the tour through the Washington Monument, the girls hiked to the top. The monument was splendid and after the long climb the view was breathtaking. The girls, tired after a long day, decided to go to the camp, a member of the company's staying at the Rockwood Girl Scout Camp, in Potomac, Md.

Saturday, then went to the White House and also to Mount Vernon. The girls enjoyed these places and bought many souvenirs.

Sunday brought a close to the exciting weekend. Much to the disappointment of the girls, then went to Arlington National Cemetery. While there, they saw the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier and the Iwo Jima Monument. This concluded the trip and they headed for home.

Gov. Cahill May Attend Stag Day

The second annual Union County GOP Stag Day at Shannamoxon Golf and Country Club, Scotch Plains, has been set for Thursday, May 28, according to chairman Assemblyman Peter J. McDonough of Plainfield.

The event features golf with a continental breakfast for the early birds, luncheon, and a 7:30 p.m. banquet with television personality Charlie Manna the featured entertainer.

"We expect Governor Cahill and several members of his cabinet to be with us that day," McDonough said. Ronald Heymann, the director of motor vehicles, James Cox Brady, commissioner of banking, Richard McDonough, director of alcoholic beverages and Dr. James Cowan, commissioner of health, have already reserved "tee-off times" for the all-day event.

McDonough and his committee, the entire County Republican legislative delegation, urge all party supporters who want a "day away from it all" to join in the $100 fund-raising event.

"Our U.S. Senate candidate, Nelson Gross, will also try his luck for one of the several golf prizes, and we promise no political speeches to interrupt a fun-filled day," he said. Tickets may be obtained by contacting Union County Republican Headquarters at 610 North Ave. East, Westfield.

Merck Gift Of $65,000 To Hospital

A subscription of $65,000 to Rahway Hospital's $750,000 building fund by the Merck Company Foundation was announced today by Howard P. Levy, chairman of the fund's corporation gifts committee. Merck's decision was reported by Fred Bartenstein, administrative vice president of Merck & Co. and president of the Merck Company Foundation. On notifying Levy of their pledge, Bartenstein said, "In providing support for Rahway Hospital, the Merck Company Foundation gives tangible recognition to the hospital as an invaluable community resource. The hospital stands as the center of health service in any community, an essential ingredient in the times of emergency, but also in day-to-day care for those who need help. The broad scope of service which the hospital must supply and the personal care which it must provide depend upon wide-community support. Our gift is consistent with our commitment to excellence in health care for all people and with our concern for this community." In acknowledging the gift, Levy indicated his belief that the Merck contribution would give added impetus to the campaign. "This subscription by one of the area's largest employers is a fine manifestation of corporate citizenship. It is also an indication of the emphasis that business leadership here places on Rahway Hospital as a factor in helping to maintain favorable conditions throughout the area." Levy stated that the response to the campaign thus far has been gratifying.

Massarelli Is Manager For Roman

Incumbent Fourth Ward Councilman Robert Roman has appointed Dominic Massarelli his campaign manager. Massarelli of 15 Bradley Rd., is a member of the township's recreation commission. Massarelli said Roman has devoted many hours to furthering programs for young people in Clark and is presently trying to provide funding to develop the Bartell Center as a recreational site. Roman is currently working with other councilmen to find enough funds to make the proposed recreational area a reality. Massarelli said Roman would wage a campaign directed at the completion of programs begun during his first year in office. Roman felt his experience on council and his acquaintances with residents and their problems gave him the credentials needed for re-election.

Y Pee Wee

A series of pee wee swimming instruction classes has been given at the Rahway YMCA over the past nine months. Each class has been limited to 10 or 11 youngsters from four to six years of age.

Currently there are five classes going on which was supposed to take care of all children of parents worried about backyard swimming pools, but the demand has been so great that there will be another class set up to begin on Tuesday, June 2 and continue for four weeks (eight lessons), concluding Thursday, June 25.

Because these classes have filled up so rapidly, it is urged that any parent hoping to have his or her child enter in the final set of classes act without delay. Before this article was written, one reservation had already been received.

For more information, please call the "Y" at 388-0057 or drop in without delay, 1564 Irving St., Rahway.

Can you think of a more convenient place for a telephone "dial"?

The idea was to bring the "dial" to the dialer, and that's what we've done. We've put it in the handset of the beautifully new and compact Trimline™ telephone.

When you lift the handset, the Touch-Tone™ pushbuttons, which let you "dial" as fast, light up and come to you. A new "call" button, which lets you make a second call without first hanging up, also comes to you. To get a dial tone, you just push the recall button.

Since you don't need to see the base to call and since the cord is 18 inches longer, you can put the Trimline phone in out-of-the-way places. For instance, on the side of a kitchen cabinet or under a counter or almost anywhere you'd like to put it.

The Trimline phone is inexpensive — only pennies a day. And there's no extra charge for color. If you want Touch-Tone service, the additional Touch-Tone charge covers all the phones on your line.

Put a Trimline phone in the palm of your hand. To order in either wall or table models, just call your Telephone Business Office.

Also available with standard dial in new compact design.

Knocking on Rockwood 150 Attend Ed Getchis Testimonial

SITTING PRETTY ... After almost a year of planning and earning money for the trip, members of Cadette Troop 438, Rahway, finally arrive at Rockwood National Girl Scout Camp, Potomac, Md. Troop leaders were Mrs. Charles Kest and Mrs. Doris McNamara. The girls also visited the White House, Capitol, Smithsonian Institute, Washington, and Arlington National Cemetery, Virginia.

An overflow crowd attended the Edward P. Getchis Testimonial Dinner at the Log Cabin last Friday.

As municipal judge Joseph Postzig remarked, "It was a fine tribute to a man dedicated in his work for the community." The affair attracted township, county and state officials.

Master of ceremonies was the Honorable William J. Maguire, a former mayor of Clark and presently a freeholder, who commended Getchis on his eight years of service as the 1st Ward Councilman and for his understanding of township problems.

"An affair long-overdue" were the words 3rd Ward Councilman Bernard G. Yarusavage used to describe the dinner, and Mayor Thomas A. Kazmarek said Getchis was a devoted township servant. Council President Richard C. Burger emphasized no matter how much he and the 1st Ward Councilman disagreed, it was always possible to remain very friendly with him.

A plaque was presented to Getchis by Republican Club President James A. Smith which commended Getchis for "unselfish devotion to community service." Other officials and friends in attendance included Assemblyman Peter J. McDonough, Township Clerk Edward R. Fudusnak, President of the Regional Board of Education, Manuel Dios, Building Inspector John Doenselmann, Planning Board Chairman Jerry Fontinella, Township Attorney John P. Higgins, Public Work Director John F. Allaire, Jr., Republican County Chairman Richard School, Republican City Chairman Edward Simpson, former municipal attorney, Irvine Johnston, former mayor and freeholder, Jay Stenner, and K. C. Bauer, publisher of The Clark Patriot.

In his short comments to the group, Getchis said he would like to see "more progress" in town. He was presented a gift by dinner chairman Gloria Kopp, who was assisted by William Glancy and Mrs. and Mrs. George Ebbe.

Flood Control Group Obtains Incorporation

Group attorney George Bartell announced that the Rahway Citizens for Flood Control are now incorporated and constitutional bylaws are being prepared. These will be reviewed by a special committee, which includes Irving Dengrove, Roy Hanson, Helen LaVia, Charles Muringer, Sal Rema, Stephanie and Tor Cederwall.

"Now that we are incorporated, we expect to be even more forceful. Should another major flood occur in the Robinson's branch area before existing encroachments are removed, we will be ready to file civil suit for damages," Baker emphasized.

The RCFC has several encroachment complaints currently being processed through the Division of Water Policy and Supply in Trenton. Baker said he has been informed that the city wants to widen the Robinson's branch to 25 feet more than the division specifies.

"This would cause more delay and unnecessary expenditure of funds because the city would have to buy condemned properties, after a stalling period of legislating such condemnation. A chunk of Rahway would be needlessly destroyed, and most bridges would be inadequate. Widening and cleaning the river is necessary, but why use tax monies to buy encroaching areas? And why complicate the river work by deviating from the division's recommendations?"

The RCFC suggests the division expand its staff, increase salaries, and appoint county field representatives, who could work with local municipalities to prevent and report alleged river encroachments. Any flood control work has to be backed up by regular maintenance and local supervision.

She's Henrietta Stein, a telephone operator who gets very annoyed when she can't provide the kind of top-notch service she thinks you deserve.

"Most of the time, phone service is real good," she says. "But there are times when it could be better. Why, when a customer's having trouble getting his call through, I really feel sorry for him. I feel that we've let him down."

"And that's what this job is all about—making sure people get good phone service. After all, that's what they're paying for."

"And that's why I try to handle calls as quickly as I can. Who knows, the next call might be an emergency of some sort. It's a big responsibility when you think about it."

Volunteers Commended By Hospital

The founder of the Candy-striper program, Miss Ruth E. Lindsay, told a gathering of Candy-strippers and adult volunteers at Rahway Hospital that volunteers currently are examples of democracy and a bright spot in America's future.

The occasion was the hospital's annual volunteer recognition ceremony, traditionally held during National Hospital Week. John L. Yoder, hospital director, referred to the overcrowded room as an example of the need for expanded facilities and mentioned that the hospital is currently conducting a fund-raising campaign preparatory to breaking ground for a major addition.

Mrs. Marie Brennan, director of nursing, expressed the hospital's appreciation for the wide range of services provided by volunteer workers. Robert L. Jones, first vice president, spoke on behalf of the board of governors to thank the volunteers for using their time and talents for the benefit of patients. He said the hospital frequently received complimentary reports from patients about the thoughtful, cheerful, interested service of Candy-strippers. He pointed out that they have an opportunity to serve patients from a human relations standpoint which members of the board of governors are denied.

Diane Meglis, a Candy-striper, told the audience what the program has meant to her. She indicated that when she enrolled in the program in the ninth grade, she had no true concept of nursing, although she hoped to make it her career. Her exposure to hospital environment helped make up her mind and she is entering nursing training in the fall. Miss Meglis presented a corsage of roses to Miss Lindsay, appropriate because the rose is the symbol of service at Rahway Hospital.

Miss Lindsay also described the classroom situation which led to the beginning of the Candy-striper movement 26 years ago.

Today, the Candy-striper program is active in 49 states, Puerto Rico, Australia and Israel. Miss Lindsay said the program has been successful because it is extremely idealistic and since American teenagers are also extremely idealistic, they welcome the opportunity for service. She stressed the need for male junior volunteers who can play an important role in a teenage volunteer program in a hospital.

It was announced that during 1969 hospital volunteers had donated a total of 26,066 hours to Rahway Hospital. Service pins were awarded to 41 adult volunteers and 62 junior volunteers. Outstanding awards among the adults were: 4,000 hours, Mrs. Amelia Gillis; 2,500 hours, Mrs. Mary Jane Armstrong; 1,500 hours, Mrs. Rose Chodak, Samuel Marino and Warren VanPelt; 1,000 hours, Mrs. Mildred Einhorn, Mrs. Nita Gibb and Mrs. Ida Kiehn; 500 hours, Mrs. Marge DiBenedetto, Mrs. Blanche Iginger, Mrs. Mary Pegau, Mrs. Jean Wolf and Mrs. Virginia Yull.

Outstanding awards among junior volunteers were: 500 hours, Margaret Giammanco and Jane Gordon; 400 hours, Sandra Cornic, Joan Scarpitto and Scott; 300 hours, Diane Biro, Charlotte Campbell, Susan Kiel, Debbie Lyons, Maureen Moran and Jeanne Pennella.

Quality for as little as $1,000 in Ready Cash and you have no service charge for checks—no matter how low your balance goes.

(It's sometimes referred to as the FSB Prestige Checking Account)

Call it by either name—No-Account or Prestige Checking Account—but call it the happiest checking account ever invented!

Open it and you'll never have a check bounce again. Because Franklin State backs up your account with a ready cash reserve of as much as $5,500, depending on your needs and credit standing.

When sudden emergencies come up, you have an "instant loan" waiting in your checkbook. And until you use your cash reserve, it costs you nothing.

An account like that must be awfully hard to open—right?

Wrong. Just drop in to any FSB office today and open one there and then. Making things easy is another one of our revolutions in banking.

'Y' Camp Both Fun, Educational

The annual summer day camp, Camp Fairweather, organized and conducted by the Rahway YMCA, is looking forward to another successful season. One of the many reasons for this success is the learn-to-swim program. Every day, each camper receives a swimming lesson, according to his ability assessed at the start of camp. This year, in addition to the usual summer athletics there will be an archery program, always a popular activity. Trips are also planned to the seaside, the zoo, Museum of Natural History and dozens of other places. Every week the campers go boating and canoeing. Yes, in days of rising costs, the camp fees remain the same. Parents can send their child to day camp for as little as $12.50 per week for Rahway residents and $15 for those outside of Rahway, plus a pickup and delivery service. If you want your child to have a safe summer experience, conducted in a happy atmosphere and in the learning of new skills, call the Rahway YMCA at 388-0600 for complete details.

Cleaning Up the Depolluters

Perhaps, it would have been more appropriate to give this editorial a subtitle: A Short Outline of the Distance between Policy and Practice of America's Ideological Environmentalists. While the subtitle is ponderous, it certainly states with great accuracy the current values of many people who now about the virtues of a clean America, as they toss their rubbish across its landscape. Many of them have no interest in restoring America's beauty for future generations. They are advocating conservation, because it serves their political purposes.

Hippies, radicals, and peaceniks who paraded in Washington on April 22 "Earth Day" have found a cause as safe from criticism as mother and apple pie. They surmise just by entwining their ragged band and its pro-Viet Cong philosophy in a good effort, they can blind the public's ability to distinguish between issues and eventually to advocate policies that will aid in a Communist takeover of Southeastern Asia. It's hard to believe that people have become so devious, but this is an age in which the radicals—America's subculture—have lost all personal ethics.

After that vast rally for a clean America in Washington, the radicals left a legacy compiled by the District of Columbia Department of Sanitation and the National Park Service. Rep. William Scherle (R.-Iowa) passed them on to his constituents to show "how well these embryonic ecologists remembered the Old Sod."

The cost of removing obscenities and graffiti from the Washington Monument and other government buildings was $3,300.

The cost of cleaning up tons of litter from the monument grounds and the Eclipse was $10,922.

"Damage to and theft of trash receptacles was $2,500. The Midwest Congressman could not refrain from noting the irony "that the so-called anti-polluters attacked, destroyed and stole the very receptacle society provided to control litter."

"Damage to reflecting pool and fountain areas $3,500. "Repair and restoration of park property was $10,000. It is estimated the final cost of depollution this "conservation" rally may exceed $200,000. This cost adequately demonstrates the vast disparity between the preaching and the practice of America's radical community. Trying to make ideological points for a good cause, they never really meant to gauge their lives to reduce litter, to beautify their property (if radicals can believe in the concept of private property), and take effective governmental action on all levels to preserve the natural resources of our land.

In Rahway, the downtown area can use a good cleaning and some of the residences could well afford some landscaping and upwading. In Clark, litter is always blowing around the township hall and the Westfield Avenue shopping area. Cleaning our houses and towns depicts a meaningful contribution in the beautifying of America. Local good works are something each one of us has within his control. To mouth verities about how good ecology and conservation is, while failing to make a significant contribution to upgrade the environment is farcical. It is also damaging, since it leads many to believe efforts are underway to solve the problems, when in fact nothing is being done.

America's self-appointed radical ecologists would do the most for depolluting America by maintaining a watchful silence in the mass media and letting those who have for years labored to solve conservation problems on the local, state and federal levels continue their efforts. The truly practicing nature lover does not need political profit-takers on his difficult journey to remake significant sections of our nation beautiful once more. The faithful worker realizes the great priorities at stake: we must clean our land and at the same time provide the means for a good life. Oil, coal mining, heavy manufacturing, and urban development are here to stay. They have provided wealth for many, and their effects have to be controlled so we can enjoy their benefits without destroying the environment.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:
Mr. Gentsch shows that he has very poor business knowledge. A good businessman would never criticize Mr. Lawrence for his sensible business policy, not to release the $100,000 in the Parking Authority account. This money might be used to build a "mall" on Cherry Street or be spent on some other foolish idea that would divide and discriminate against the other merchants that are located on Main and Irving streets. Oops! I just remembered that Glacobe owns some stores on Cherry Street.

Look what happened to the $325,000 in the water board account, if we ever have a major breakdown in our water system, God forbid, we would go on another bonding spree. The water rate is entirely too high now, and the people could not afford an additional increase.

Come on Mr. Gentsch you are a big boy now, and your criticism of Mr. Lawrence is very demagogic. I suggest that you replace your dictionary with a copy of Rahway's codification book.

Another letter in the same issue of The News Record by Walter Wood who is also a board of adjustment rubber stamp, I assume that he still lives in the house that Glacobe built or sold to him.

If he means in his letter that these neurotics he refers to can rise up in their indignation against the politicians in Rahway who have to be held in line, then this is good. Any taxpayer in Rahway knows that these neurotics that you call them have saved thousands and thousands of dollars, I say let's have more of this type of neurotics that will continue to curb the foolish policies of this administration.

Remember, Mr. Wood that there are people left in Rahway that are not rubber stamps and will continue to expose to the taxpayers men like yourself who was very much involved to sanction a breakdown of our building code. I would remind Mr. Wood that Mr. Lawrence might look small in physical stature in your eyes, but he is big in the hearts of the Rahway taxpayer public.

What have you contributed to the city of Rahway? Your actions speak for themselves. In the third letter signed by Mrs. Lorraine Glacobe, congratulations are in order, because she was the only one out of the three that properly identified herself to the readers of The News Record and gave a reason why she was getting into this mess. Whether one agrees with Mrs. Glacobe or not, she is only doing what any good wife would do, that is coming to her husband's aid when he gets in trouble. Any good partner in life is fulfilling sacred marriage vows by standing by a husband for better or worse.

'Operation Rowboat' Rescues 3

It actually happened in Clark. A mother and her two children had to be rescued... by rowboat.

Before you do a double-take, it can easily be explained. The thunderstorms of last week.

When the floodwaters got higher and higher, Mrs. A. L. Hyman of 191 Orchard Ter., who got more concerned and more concerned, sent out a call to the Clark Police Department. Result: A Civil-Defense boat carried them to safety.

Another family, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Plage, reported a bolt of lightning raced through the roof and front wall of their home at 13 Orchard Ter. and into a bedroom. They were badly shaken, but not injured.

Thomas P. Kelmartin, director of public safety, said the situation at one time was extremely dangerous. Houses that appeared to be hit hardest were those on Bronkside and Orchard Terraces, Deerwood and Tudor Drives and Meadow Road.

Truth to tell, two additional rowboats, although not used, were kept on the ready.

All in all, it was a very active day for Acting Police Chief John Waterson, Sgt. Frederick Asal, Sgt. Robert Hartong, Fire Chief Robert Salsel, First Aid Capt. Joseph Zbarro and Civil Defense Director John Royko.

And, meanwhile, who was keeping store in the Clark firehouse? Why, members of the Westfield Fire Department.

By Mary Ann Ruban

Brownie troops 378 and 389 and Junior troops 130, 330, and 483 took part in a fly-up ceremony at Valley Road School. Twenty girls received their Brownie wings then crossed the bridge into Junior Scouting. Mrs. Doris Arbetal, Mrs. Ruth DeLuca and Mrs. Katherine Yuenkel welcomed the girls into their troops after they made the Girl Scout promise and received their Girl Scout trefoil pin. A court of awards was given for 50 Junior Scouts. The program closed with candlelight and flag ceremony. Three hundred people attended.

A luncheon was held this week for the leaders and active adult members in the Clark Girl Scout organization. The luncheon was held at the Steeple-Hollow-Inn, Scotch Plains. Guest speaker was Mrs. Thelma Strauss, Girl Scout area chairman in Edison, who presented an interesting talk on the Girl Scout program.

A summer day camp program will be held throughout the entire summer for all interested girls in Union County. The girls need not be Scouts to join. If you are interested, please contact the Crossroads Girl Scout Council office in Woodbridge by calling 634-4231.

Mrs. Doris Coelln, organizer of the recent Junior Scouts weekend at Camp Chickagami, N.Y. reports that despite rainy weather, the scouts enjoyed themselves camping entirely out of doors. Some of the activities included a camp fire program presented by troop 385 and a "Scouts Own" ceremony performed by troops 390 and 320.

A mother-daughter covered dish supper will be held by Junior troop 581 at the United Church of Christ June 10. This affair will be the troop's final activity of the year. A court of awards will also be held. Fifty girls and mothers are expected.

If you are an interested adult who would like to work with a troop in the fall in any capacity, please contact the Crossroads Girl Scout Council office in Woodbridge by calling 634-4231. Also any girl interested in joining a troop, especially cadette and senior levels are welcomed in Clark. No previous girl scouting is necessary.

Fifty Junior Scouts flew up into the cadette level Monday night at the United Church of Christ. In attendance were cadettes and a senior troop. The girls received the cadette insignias.

This will be the last column for this year. See you again in the fall. A special note of thanks to all the leaders and assistants who gave unselfishly of themselves and their time. Clark enjoyed a very successful year in Scouting and is looking forward to many more of the same.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor:

As a resident of the First Ward for several years, I am very interested in the final zoning of the Oak Ridge Golf Course. Year after year since I've moved here, there seems to be a renewed interest in this topic. I believe it is time for us to consider the consequences of more industry in Clark.

First of all, let us examine exactly how much money is added to Clark's coffers by the businesses already in Clark and whether or not they pay their way.

For instance, the entire Grant City complex, complete with rats and Parkmark, contributes $65,490 in taxes. Gino's hamburger restaurant pays only $5,171.61. Hyatt Roller Bearing Co. pays a sum of $281,227; U. S. Gypsum is taxed at $70,711; banks, in general, pay about $6,000; and the 374 units of the Lexington Village apartment complex pay $145,964. The total taxes raised from the Oak Ridge Golf course, including buildings, is only $26,388 and in the past week the owner has petitioned the tax assessor to have this sum reduced.

The eight acre tract which council wishes to purchase for a pool has been given a price tag by the owner of $400,000. On this particular parcel, he pays $1,266 yearly in taxes. If only that Clark will derive can this land is so valuable, why doesn't Clark collect more taxes on it? I pay as much in taxes on my modest home on 1/4 acre of land as you pay on 80 acres of land.

One other important point to bear in mind about future industry in Clark is a recent State ruling regarding business personal property than any other possible land tax. This tax is based on inventory instead of value. The State has guaranteed that Clark $447,862 a year as its share. This figure was arrived at by taking the highest figure Clark collected before 1967.

If more industry comes to Clark we will not collect any extra money, but the excess will be given to the larger cities to pay for their police, welfare, etc. Clark will only be able to levy taxes on the land, which you can see by the above mentioned figures is valued at very little, and outside buildings alone. Bearing in mind all the alternatives, I am not convinced that the revenue derived from industry is a moot question. Not many suburban atmospheres of our town.

Let us be realistic. The more money Clark collects, the division rather seems to be among recreational, industrial, or a split recreational/industrial usage.

There is an added problem, if council changes the zoning status of the land, you can expect a terribly costly court action. The Supreme Court of the State of New Jersey has appeared to lean in the direction that the future cannot be denied for development. What would it decide, should the case get that far, about a change in zoning status that denies development of land suited for that use? It's a debatable point.

Certainly, your points on the ability of some politicians to spend money and of some educators to view knowledge solely in terms of per capita pupil expenditures are just. Both of these factors place the township in a state where the budget becomes a yearly crisis and where land must be milked for the greatest possible return.

Just one other point of information. Some people have said why not have the county or a private group buy the land and maintain it as a golf course. The answer is simple enough. No other golf course in the county was purchased at today's crazy inflated land costs. They have been in existence for many other towns besides Rahway. If the county had to maintain a course based on 1970 land costs (the same goes for a private club) golf at the Oak Ridge site could turn out to be the most expensive sport in the nation. This is no easy problem.

We are, nevertheless, happy to have the opportunity to print an informed letter to you, if you, as you urge, First Ward residents should look deeply and practically into the matter and have council be cognizant of their opinions.

An Open Letter to the First Ward Civic Association:

The show of loyalty and patriotism this Memorial Day in the Rahway parade was one of the best we had in town for a long time. Many thanks and praise are to be given to all the organizations and individuals who came out in force to show their love and respect for our country's deceased war veterans.

It is a shame such a solemn occasion given to the remembrance of our lost sons and brothers had to be soiled, because your group of "followers" could have seen their disrespectful display to our flag and to our country along the parade route and at the reviewing stand.

To the people who saw this display, please do not forget that this parade was filled with a large group of true Americans and only a hand full of clowns.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Mrs. Fischer has obviously done some homework and helped to contribute a good deal of information to the public. Certainly, she highlights what many of us have known for a long time -- that vacant land produces few taxes and few problems. However, the pressure being exerted on land to produce money seems to fall especially heavy on the owner of the Oak Ridge Golf Course. He will sell some for a pool has been given a price tag by the owner of $400,000. On this particular parcel, he pays $1,266 yearly in taxes. If only that Clark will derive can this land is so valuable, why doesn't Clark collect more taxes on it? I pay as much in taxes on my modest home on 1/4 acre of land as you pay on 80 acres of land.

increased salaries and services that would attract the most qualified administrators, the best prepared experts in all fields of city government.

Right now, an expanded secretarial and clerical staff at city hall would facilitate important paper work that can stall city business -- with a major project, or simply better day - to - day communication. Taxpayers surely do not expect a curbing down of needed services in some false economy moves.

Today's cities need all the help they can get, because one emergency after another begs for attention. The days of civic "moonlighting" are fading away in favor of more full - timers and more regional co - op efforts to solve mutual problems.

To the Editor:

Two years ago I called your offices and asked if your paper would be interested in publishing a story concerning a visitor to this country from Finland. I was told that you were unable to come to my office to collect the information and take a photograph. Instead, I was instructed to send the information and the photograph to you for publication. Fair enough. Well, almost, I thought.

"Don't try to write sentences," I was instructed; "just give us all the information." Sentences? Here's one from your June 4 edition: "The Democratic candidates for councilmen -- at large, Francis "Bud" Senkowsky, Wilson Beauregard, and Charles Crowell received respectfully, 777, 769 and 810.

I'm certain that the 777, 769 and the 810 votes were tendered with all due respect to the candidates.

EDITOR'S NOTE: There is nothing grammatically wrong with the sentence you quote. In fact, it is a common and accepted phrase to say candidates "receive" votes. We are far from perfect especially when one considers that newspapers are written under deadline pressures. And realms of gold where not my senses hold every issue of every paper, but the sentence you chose to quote is both factually accurate -- the city clerk can verify that -- and grammatically proper.

Open Letter to the Rahway Board of Education:

What factors influenced your decision to proclaim Memorial Day? Did you check which day was granted by the various local industries, so families could observe the Memorial Day weekend together?

One suddenly realizes that the city is run mainly by time elected officials who have other full - time jobs that take energy and time away from city needs. Granted that many extra hours are spent on the public's behalf, however, we should consider future needs of expanding some positions to full - time tenure with

Six Jobs Open

The Rahway Community Action Organization announced the following positions are open for their summer Headstart program: director, few teachers and a nurse. Applications can be secured at the J.F.K. Center, 796 E. Hazelwood Ave. Closing date for the filing of applications and interviews is Thursday, June 18, at 8 p.m. at the center.

I work for Merck, who announced early in the year that May 29 would be the holiday for Memorial Day weekend. So now I'll be off on Friday, but have to send my daughter to school, and she'll be off on Monday, while I work.

I've never written a letter of complaint before, but this apparently irresponsible decision makes me madder than the proverbial wet hen.

Sufficiently so that I called a few local firms and asked them when they were off. Parolator and Regina both also observe Friday, May 29. Quinn and Boden hasn't announced yet, and Allen Industry is not getting time off. Not one is off June 1!

Furthermore, the tone of The Rahway News Record article implied that both days had been planned as holidays before the disturbances in the high school this week, but one is denied as punishment, and the other will be forfeited if there is further disturbance.

Since my daughter, along with I surmise some 90% of the rest of the school population, has never taken part in any disturbance and has been absent only about two days all term for illness, I fall to see why she must pay for the lack of responsibility of others.

In fact, I am getting angry at the entire national attitude that penalizes the steady worker, home - owning, war - veteran, responsible taxpayer citizen for the damages of the irresponsible. So I ask again, what factors influenced your decision?

A Sonnet

Remember, Fanny, I left the world too soon
To be corrupted by its asplish creed.
It did, you know, snuff out my light sans boon;
Existence deprived, I never knew the need.
My odes and eves reign o'er the English world;
My coins received in nearly every clime,
But there is no succour so sweet or pearled
To beguete sense to life denied its time.
Think of things of beauty to me unseen
And realms of gold where not my senses hold
One thought a primrose - pressed a gift for thee.
I would to verse get all that yet unold.
Tasting ceased; to verse now not spice or herb
Or else the orb, I love, and thee disturb.

MAY 21-JUNE 20—You're a Gemini. Lovely. Perceptive. Witty. Quick-silvered. Everything would be fine if you'd only stop mailing your bank deposit to the phone company and your phone bill to the bank.
JUNE 21-JULY 22—You're a Cancer. Emotional. Warm. Domestic. Possessive. One of our tellers gave you a jelly bean three Easters ago and you still have it.
JULY 23-AUGUST 22—You're a Leo. Flamboyant. Loving. Regal. Extravagant. You keep insisting your checkbook cover be done to match your pistachio wallet.

OCTOBER 23-NOVEMBER 21—You're a Scorpio. Passionate. Thorough. Determined. Secretive. You hand the check to the teller upside down so she won't know how much you're withdrawing.
NOVEMBER 22-DECEMBER 21—You're a Sagittarius. You like truth, travel, freedom, love and adventure. Somehow, somewhere, you got the idea that spending money like water makes you liquid. Wrong! Wrong!
DECEMBER 22-JANUARY 19—You're a Capricorn. Thrifty. Loyal. Persistent. Ambitious. You're a fine customer, but must you keep bugging us about whether we have the gold to back up your dollar?
JANUARY 20-FEBRUARY 18—You're an Aquarius. Idealistic. Patient. Calm. Cool. dreamy. You write a check for $5 and then ask if you can have it all in tens.

Comesanas At Nixon Reception

Raul Comesanas of New Jersey's 13th Congressional District, which covers Rahway, met President Richard Nixon at a White House reception last week for Republican House candidates...

Comesanas, the first American of Cuban origin to run for Congress or other high national office, was attending the 1970 Republican Candidates Conference in Washington, D.C. More than 150 GOP candidates were on hand for the briefings on major foreign and domestic issues by top House Republican leaders.

Comesanas will confer with labor leaders in Washington and complete arrangements with the Department of State for a visit to Vietnam next August at his own expense. Comesanas, who supports Nixon's Cambodian move, said he hopes to learn the facts about the war in Vietnam, his campaign pledge of "action and involvement" in national programs.

Among speakers at the conference, sponsored by the House Republican Policy Committee, were Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York, House Republican leader Charles W. Price, and House Republican conference chairman John J. Pickens of New York.

Waterfowl Decoys the Real Thing

The exhibit of waterfowl decoys at the Rahway Public Library has a great deal of interest for its background.

It all started 1,000 years ago, when an Indian with some reeds, skin and feathers, fashioned a model in the image of a duck in a decoy to lure game within the reach of his primitive weapons, the bow and arrow.

Later, the early settlers copied the idea, but soon learned that the fragile decoys were not sturdy enough to withstand the wind and weather. As a result, the crude, rough-hewn, wooden, block-type decoy came into use.

While the common object of all the creators of this artifice was to secure food, some very beautiful craftsmanship was produced. Then, when the Federal Migratory Bird Treaty was signed in 1918, the use of decoys was outlawed.

Time passed and on one day, the sportsman discovered a shortage of decoys. He turned to the interest of the collector's terms.

Forced Unionism

Opposed

The executive committee of the Republican Conservative Action Club of Union County, has passed unanimously a resolution strongly opposing forced unionism in the post office, such as would result from passage of the so-called postal reform bill (HR 17070 and S 3842) now pending in the House and Senate.

This bill would gratify the demand of the unions that a closed shop contract between the U.S. Government and the postal unions be permitted. Under it, every post office worker would be forced to join a union within 30 days, or else lose his job. This would affect some 750,000 postal employees, of whom some 250,000 by their own free choice have refrained from membership in any labor organization.

"Compulsory unionism is abhorred by those who value freedom," said K. C. Bauer of Westfield, president of the R.C.A.C., "for it is a totalitarian concept to compel someone to belong to a private organization to hold a job. At present, under Section 1(a) of Executive Order 11491, each government employee is protected from having membership in a union as a condition of his employment by the U.S. Government. Were compulsory unionism for postal employees to be approved by Congress in this bill, not only would a grave injustice be done to our mailmen but a dangerous precedent would be set for the rest of the federal service."

The resolution states: Whereas: Present Federal laws give each Government employee the right to join or not to join a labor union, and

Whereas: The proposed Postal Reform Bill would deny this basic right to postal employees, and

Whereas: This bill would force postal workers to pay union dues in order to serve their country,

Now therefore be it resolved: That the executive committee of the Republican Conservative Action Club of Union County in meeting assembled on the 16th day of June 1970 in Westfield, N.J., opposes the compulsory unionism feature of the Postal Reform Bill and calls upon members of the Congress to delete it before final passage of the measure.

Poor Mrs. Klein

Mrs. Klein is a real mother. For years she dragged son Ed out of bed, fed him breakfast and got him to school on time. Dreaming of the day Ed would be a nice 9 to 5 accountant or a banker, even.

But Ed had other dreams. More than the average boy, because he slept so much. He dreamt of being the morning man on WELA Radio - (which was more like clairvoyance, since WELA just went on the air in March).

And like Horatio Alger, his dream came true. Which is a nightmare for poor Mrs. Klein. Because now it's 4:30 every morning Yell and poke and tug till he gets up, fix him breakfast (she figures she's fixed 10,438 breakfasts over the years) and get him off to work.

And then she's too wide awake to go back to bed. So like everyone else in Union County she listens to the Ed Klein Show on WELA. Every morning from 6 to 10.

Which makes it all worthwhile.

WORTH TALKING ABOUT

There would seem to be an excellent chance that productivity could grow by more than is now generally anticipated. To the extent that productivity can be increased, the need for price increases will be reduced and the possibility of more rapid correction of price inflation than the forecasts imply becomes brighter. There scarcely is justification at the moment for starry-eyed confidence that this will be the pattern, but there is at least justification for cautious hope that the economy is on the edge of a major productivity advance.

Capital Punishment in N.J.

Early in the 1970 session, a bill titled A-90 was introduced in the State Legislature by Assemblyman Martin E. Kravarik of Middlesex County. This would abolish the death penalty in New Jersey, which is presently imposed only for first degree manslaughter, and substitute mandatory life imprisonment.

As with legal public opinion on capital punishment is divided into three segments. Some people, on religious grounds, say that human life, no matter how vicious or degraded, is sacred and cannot justifiably be terminated except by God. Others feel that with the rising crime rate and mounting disrespect for law the death penalty for first degree manslaughter must be retained because of its deterrent value.

The third segment was ably represented by Assemblyman Kravarik at the recent public hearing before the Judiciary Committee of the Assembly. Although New Jersey carries on the statute books a death penalty for first degree manslaughter, no execution has been performed in many years. One man has been living in Death Row for 13 years! The mere threat of capital punishment, never implemented, becomes a paper tiger -- really no deterrent at all. Moreover, because of a natural reluctance to be responsible for terminating a human life, juries often settle for a verdict of second degree manslaughter, supposedly carrying a penalty of ten to 20 years of imprisonment. In practice, this sentence usually results in a few years of incarceration of a criminal, and then parole. Soon he is once again preying upon society.

Mandatory life imprisonment, without possibility of parole, would make it beyond the power of a soft-headed judge to pronounce a light sentence upon a criminal convicted of a first degree manslaughter. The impossibility of parole would prevent an idealistic parole board from releasing a criminal "for good behavior" in prison. Above all, the awesome finality of irrevocable life imprisonment would serve as a genuine deterrent.

The potential victims of crime, who are too frequently overlooked by the sob-sisters, must be protected by a harsh and certain penalty for first degree manslaughter.

Objections to A-90 were raised at the hearing on two scores. Assemblywoman Millicent Fenwick said that "mandatory sentences are not good penology" and that judges prefer leeway in exercising their judicial wisdom. A representative of the New Jersey Council of Churches objected that mandatory life imprisonment would eliminate the hope of restoring rehabilitated criminals to society, he subscribing to the thesis that "crime is an illness" and "the system is to blame."

The reaction of this reporter was the same as that of Assemblyman Kravarik: "To deter a harsh crime, you need a harsh penalty. Yes, life imprisonment is harsh; but it is needed."

Anyone interested in studying Assembly Bill 90 can obtain a copy from Assemblyman Martin Kravarik, 108 Church St., P.O. Box 264, New Brunswick, N.J. 08903, or by contacting Assemblyman Herbert H. Klehn of Rahway.

A Charge to Wisdom

Several readers of this paper have brought to our attention the charge to graduates delivered by Eric A. Walker, president of Penn State University, to his summer term graduates.

We reprint here not so much that we are in agreement with every particular political assertion, nor do we believe it is a profound utterance. Mr. Walker's words simply have the sense to recognize the world forces for what they are, how the past generations reacted to those forces, and what could be the role of the present generation in bettering their environment.

Its major strength is its constructive nature, and how it emphasizes the continuity of tradition. The charge sounds for itself.

Ladies and gentlemen of the graduating class, let me extend to each of you my personal congratulations and those of the entire University on the degree you have earned today. This ceremony marks the completion of an important phase of your life. It is an occasion in which all who know you can share in your sense of pride and accomplishment. But no one has more pride in your accomplishment than the next group I'd like to introduce to you.

If you of the graduating class will look over into the bleachers to your left or right, I would like to introduce you to representatives of some of the most remarkable people ever to walk on earth. These are people you already know -- your parents and grandparents. And remarkable people they are indeed.

Not long ago an educator from Northwestern University by the name of Bergen Evans got together some facts about these two generations -- your parents and grandparents. I'd like to share some of these facts with you. These are the people who within just five decades have increased life expectancy by approximately 50 percent -- who while cutting their working day by a third, have more than doubled per capita output. These are the people who have given you a healthier world than they found. And because of this you no longer have to fear epidemics of flu, typhus, diphtheria, smallpox, scarlet fever, measles or mumps. And the dreaded polio is no longer a medical factor, while TB is almost unheard of.

Let me remind you that these remarkable people lived through history's greatest depression. Many of these people know what it is to be poor, what it is to be hungry and cold. And because of this, they determined that it would not happen to you, that you would have a better life, you would have food to eat, milk to drink, vitamins to nourish you, a warm home, better schools and greater opportunities to succeed. Because they were materialistic, you will work fewer hours, learn more, have more leisure time, travel to more distant places, and have more of a chance to follow your life's ambition.

These are also the people who fought man's grisliest war. They are the people who defeated the tyranny of Hitler and who when it was all over, had the compassion to spend billions of dollars to help their former enemies rebuild their homelands. And these are the people who had the sense to begin the United Nations. It was representatives of these two generations who, through the highest court of the land, fought racial discrimination at every turn to begin a new era in civil rights.

They built thousands of high schools, trained and hired tens of thousands of better teachers, and at the same time made education a real possibility for millions of youngsters -- where once it was only the dream of a wealthy few. They made a start -- although a late one -- in healing the scars of the earth and in fighting pollution and the destruction of our natural environment. They set into motion new laws giving conservation new meaning, and setting aside land for you and your children to enjoy for generations to come. They also hold the dubious record for paying taxes -- although you will probably exceed them in this.

While they have done all these things, they have had some failures. They have not yet found an alternative for war, nor for racial hatred. Perhaps you, the members of this graduating class, will perfect the social mechanisms by which all men may follow their ambitions without the threat of force, so the earth will no longer need police to enforce the laws, nor armies to prevent some men from trespassing against others.

They made more progress by the sweat of their brows than in any previous era -- and don't forget it. And, if your generation can make as much progress in as many areas as these two generations have, you should be able to solve a good many of the earth's remaining ills. It is my hope as I know the laws, nor armies to prevent some men from trespassing against others.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

The facts as I understand them even though they may not be 100 per cent accurate are as follows:

1. The "magical" $100,000 (plus or minus) was never, and is not now, available for the purchase or replacement meters or any other operating instruments of the authority. The only purpose the construction fund could be used for is new or completion of started construction. This is provided for by the trust agreement under which the authority operates.

2. Thanks to the intelligent action of council on the behalf of the authority the new meters placed the authority "temporarily" in the black, so further requests for assistance were not required in 1969 or 1970.

3. The only persons who can initiate and sign a statement of facilities completion and thereby release the remaining construction fund monies to the bond redemption account (I repeat, the bond redemption account, and no place else) are the chairman and the secretary of the authority. In my year and one half as chairman of the authority, I have issued no such order. So, for that period of time, if authority action is to be criticized let those who will, blame me, not Alonzo Lawrence.

4. In the interim, unused construction funds have been wisely invested in government securities at a considerably higher rate of interest than the bond obligation.

5. Several months ago the authority took independent action to "complete construction" to its satisfaction. When this is accomplished, I will initiate a letter, upon authority action, to declare construction complete. Mr. Lawrence will happily "endorse" the statement, as consulting engineer, as provided in the trust agreement, and the "plum" which has bothered so many for so long will be transferred to its final resting place -- you guessed it, the bond redemption account.

To the Editor:

I want to take the opportunity at this time to say a few words in reference to your statement in ... The Rahway News-Record with regard to A. W. Lawrence having a husband, Patrick, on his payroll.

I would like it made known publicly at this time that you, Councilman Ray Giacobbe, were one member of Mayor John C. Marsh's administration that cast his vote to eliminate my husband's job after serving the city for many years and by so doing caused him to lose his seniority and pension rights.

This was done under the guise of an economy move which in my opinion has been proven erroneous. It was not easy at his age to start life anew, and no attempt was made by you, Mr. Giacobbe, or by Mayor Marsh to find or help him find a job for my husband, who to be named a good man who came forward and offered him a job, put food on the table and in the mouths of our six children. I say a prayer of thanksgiving every day and wish that there were more men in this world today like Mr. Lawrence.

Is there enough hatred in you to begrudge a man a livelihood, then hope to keep employment from him.

To the Editor:

A statement by Raffio Giacobbe in The News-Record last week says that Alonzo W. Lawrence required himself to be named a good man of the Rahway Taxpayers Association for three years. This is such a salient statement that doesn't even deserve an answer. However,

I would like to say here and absolutely wrong and without foundation. Now again I wonder what happened to Giacobbe? To say Mr. Law-

4 Pupils Inspect Destroyer

(The following story was sent in by pupils Robert Grayth, Thomas Molecky, Lisa Evaske and Louise Marroese.)

The sixth grade safety patrols of Abraham Clark School took a tour of the U.S.S. Robert Huntington, which is a naval destroyer. It is stationed at the Bayonne Naval Yard.

This ship was on duty in Vietnam for six months. It was also stationed in Nova Scotia and Florida.

On June 14, the U.S.S. Robert Huntington sailed again for Nova Scotia. After coming back from Nova Scotia, the crew will then set sail for Florida.

On our trip, we learned how the destroyer operates during a period of war.

This ship is part of a naval reserve and the crew trains reserves to be sailors. The ship trains them on Saturdays and Sundays. They have a nickname for the captain's cabin, the bridge, and then to the gun turrets. The crew showed us how to load the ammunition.

The sixth-grade patrols would like to extend our deepest thanks to the captain, Mr. Conrad, for making this trip possible. To our principal, Mr. Cesar Marroese, who arranged the tour, we say thank you.

watchful Alonzo W. Lawrence, president of the Rahway Taxpayers Association, did not stand idly by and permit this unnecessary, tremendous debt to be placed upon the taxpayers of Rahway. The 6,000 signatures were gathered in six weeks time.

Charles Crowell, John Czuzulants, James Simpson, Edward Coffey and Councilman Dr. Adam T. McDaniel were just a few of the many loyal citizens in Rahway who helped to put a stop to this needless expenditure.

Giacobbe also asked if the current Democratic candidate for mayor was Mr. Lawrence's longtime assistant? His name is Daniel Martin, a brilliant young man who is highly qualified to be the mayor of Rahway.

We say three cheers for Mr. Lawrence; he deserves great praise for the caliber of men he has surrounded himself with. Giacobbe rambles on and says that the members of the Rahway Taxpayers Association are just followers of Mr. Lawrence. Let me tell you the members of the Rahway Taxpayers Association are not followers of anyone; they are intelligent, knowledgeable and quite capable of speaking for themselves. They do not appreciate your describing them as mere followers.

Alonzo W. Lawrence is an honorable man, a lifelong dedicated resident of Rahway, a professional civil engineer and a land surveyor, a man who is beholden to no one and who has an unblemished record of 40 years in the business of civil engineering and land surveying. He is respected and held in high esteem throughout the length and breadth of the State of New Jersey. He is known as a man of great integrity.

Giacobbe put the shovel back in the wagon, take the lines and drive off. You have been spreading that fertilizer for a long time. You haven't fooled anyone, only yourself.

The skit reviewed the origin of the holiday and showed how the women of Mississippi put flowers on the graves of both Union and Confederate soldiers. Fiscal Concern Marks Second Open Forum of Democratic Candidates Disatisfaction with the fiscal policies of the Marsh administration marked the second open forum held by the Democratic slate, Daniel L. Martin for mayor and Charles Crowell, Francis Senkowsky, and Wilson Bearegard for councilmen-at-large.

Discontented with existing recreational facilities and youth programs, a mother from West Lake Avenue questioned the passage of large bond issues at great expense, while the youth of the city suffer under inadequate recreational conditions.

Charles Crowell answered that the failure to fully utilize the city's resources over the past few years has affected many areas of community life of which recreation is but one. "Let us make proper use," said Crowell, "of existing facilities improving them as necessary, before incurring the added expense of new facilities. Consolidation of various recreational programs under one direction is essential to insure the existence of a healthy, constructive atmosphere for our children."

"Bud" Senkowsky underscored the role of each private citizen in securing such community needs. Senkowsky said, "My running-mates agree that we must return to the town meeting concept of municipal government. That is, we must have open discussion of all the issues with concerned members of the community. The present administration's policy of removing vital matters from the citizenry must be brought to an end. We are sure that a full and meaningful dialogue with the people of this city must be employed to assist the council in identifying the needs of the community and acting to fulfill them."

Citing the serifs of fiscal actions which have moved the city to a precarious position of deficit spending, a prominent member of Rahway's professional community stated that present practices which have already placed an onerous burden on present and future taxpayers will lead to financial ruin for the community.

Explaining that a petition signed by 6,900 Rahway residents for the purpose of exposing the controversial conversion of the old Post Office to a city hall and referendum was "ignored by the present mayor and council," thus depriving the citizens of their right to voice their opinion by ballot, he questioned the candidates' stand on referendum and deficit spending.

In reply, Daniel Martin stated that he and his fellow Democratic candidates have devoted and are continuing to devote considerable time to a thorough researching of matters of fiscal importance. "It is clear," said Martin, "that deficit spending and hidden taxes are not conducive to fiscal stability. There is no reason why the city cannot be placed on sound financial footing through a pay-as-you-go policy of responsible spending."

Wilson Bearegard, reiterating public sentiment, stated that, "This shaky fiscal policy of hidden taxes, high-handed use of public funds and irresponsible deficit spending will affluence future Rahway generations with the burden of bond repayments."

Seeing the return to government which is responsive to the voice of the community as essential to restoration and renewal in Rahway, Martin concluded, "We must actively solicit viable citizen participation in the affairs of the community."

The school, which is sponsored by the U.S. Army, selects 200 young men each year to prepare for West Point. Unlocking Future to 'Key Woman'

Mrs. Paul Raabe New Jaycee-ette President

The Clark Jaycee-ettes held their annual installation dinner at Russell's Log Cabin. Outgoing president, Mrs. Tom Faver, presented the awards, including the "Key Woman," to Mrs. Paul Raabe, the new president, and "Outstanding Jaycee-ette of the Year" to Mrs. Anthony Paruta.

The "Key Woman" is presented to an officer whom the president feels has been most essential to her administration and whose accomplishments were outstanding during the year.

The "Jaycee-ette of the Year" is awarded to a member by the board of directors for an outstanding job throughout the year and for showing total involvement in as many areas as possible.

Guest speaker was Mrs. Tony Rinaldi, past-president of the New Jersey Jaycee-ettes, who installed Mrs. Raabe as president. Mrs. Raabe introduced her board members, Mrs. Anthony Federico, state director, Mrs. Anthony Paruta, secretary, and Mrs. Walter Drozd, vice president. Mrs. Marc Eisen, treasurer, was unable to attend.

Mrs. Raabe said that her theme would be total involvement in the needs of the community and those of the Jaycee-ettes. It would be an investment of quality, not quantity, she stressed.

Other highlights were the presentation of a $300 donation to the Clark Jaycee Scholarship Fund and the presentation of a past-president charm and scrapbook, containing memories of her year as president, to Mrs. Faver.

Presentations were made to Mrs. Federico, Mrs. Paruta, Mrs. Drozd, and Mrs. Rinaldi.

To the Editor:
It is my earnest desire that you as an editor and your policies proceed in your newspaper are objective and will allow criticism for constructive purposes to be published.

If you will recall this time last year that you brought out the Rahway High School band for not marching in the Memorial Day Parade. This rebuff was published because of the information supplied you by the undersigned and a letter written your newspaper by myself as welfare officer of the Joseph F. Dietz Post #361. Catholic War Veterans. I closed the letter with the hope that you would keep up the good work in keeping things of this nature before the public eye.

Well, this year's Memorial Day has come and gone and your newspaper of June 4, 1970, carried not one word of the parade, much less a word of commendation for the Rahway High School band. As clarion for the City of Rahway, were you not remiss in publishing these events as a public happening?

I'm sure most people who read the News-Record, do so, because they are interested in the news and circumstances which occur in Rahway. The majority of people read two or three papers daily and are advised of national and international events through these publications.

Let me personally tell you of the long hours and physical inconveniences that were endured in the preparation for this parade. John Traynor, chairman of the Veterans Central Committee is a resident of Westfield (but member of CWV in Rahway) and Henry Schuster, secretary (resident of Piscataway) contributed the greatest effort in time and sacrifice than any of the others on the committee.

This year's parade committee without exception was the best for participation of Veterans Groups - VFW, American Legion, DAV and CWV plus an immeasurable boost for social, civic and fraternal organizations. A special public thanks to the American Legion Post #5 for the use of their facilities for meetings. All in all, I think the fruits of these efforts were fulfilled with a splendid parade, perhaps the best parade in 20 years. Does this or does this not at least command some recognition from The News Record. I believe it most assuredly does...

Reform and the Postal Worker

We are happy to report that the compulsory unionism clause in the postal reform bill was defeated. The News-Record and The Patriot opposed this feature of the reform bill that would have coerced a postal worker to pay dues to a private organization in exchange for serving his government. This was national legislation, but its detrimental effects would have been heavily felt at the Rahway Post Office and the Clark Branch.

Read Larson, executive vice president of the National Right to Work Committee, who has written several articles for The News-Record and The Patriot, summed up the national effort to defeat the forced unionism clause better than anyone we know. Portions of his letter to us follows:

When the Postal Reorganization and Salary Adjustment Act of 1970 finally passed in the House of Representatives, the galleries were crowded with the gray-blue uniforms of postal workers. The bill (H.R. 17070) had been kicking around like a political football for about a year in various forms with several numbers. But H.R. 17070 in its final form is unique in at least one major respect -- the Henderson amendment. Here is truly a victory for the public and the postal worker.

The Henderson amendment, named after its sponsor, Rep. David Henderson (D-N.C.), passed on a lopsided vote of 179-95. Its passage marked a victory for the post office employees for it preserved their right to join a union, not join a union or resign from a union. For quite some time the National Right to Work Committee was fighting what appeared to be a lonely battle with the odds massed against it. But little by little the odds began to reverse. By the time the House acted on the bill's amendment, the list of organizations subscribing to the "right to refrain" clause was almost too lengthy to list.

One of the first real breaks in the battle was a letter that we received from a New York City post office worker, Joseph Romeo. Romeo had quit his union because of its position in favor of striking against the government. Full-page advertisements featuring the Romeo letter ran in several papers in many states. Many papers in support of the right to work without being forced to join a union ran the ad on their own as a public service. Others like The News-Record and The Patriot voiced their editorial opposition to the forced unionism concept.

The response from across the country was tremendous. Mail poured into the offices of Congressmen. The volume was second only to that on the Cambodia issue. Phone calls were received from people interested in knowing how they could help in fight to protect men like Joe Romeo. And the bill amended in Congress without the addition of the Henderson language. But there were signs that many Congressmen were having second thoughts. Many supporters of the bill were beginning to run scared.

Then we received another letter from a New York City postal employee, Vincent Sombrovo. Sombrovo was not a former union member. He is a union member in good standing. But he, too, believes that the postal workers should maintain the right to refrain from joining a union as a condition of employment. He traveled to Washington with signed petitions from almost 1,000 fellow union members. The petitions called for the passage of H.R. 17070 with the Henderson amendment.

These men know that a responsive union leadership is one that must prove its worth to the employees. They know that their leadership must not have a total control over their dues payments. They want to be able to leave that union if it should prove to be corrupt or non-representative. And their case was won in the House vote.

The bill must now clear the Senate. It is still possible that the provisions of the Henderson amendment will be knocked out in that chamber. So the battle to preserve the right to refrain, which was the policy of the late President Kennedy, goes on. This policy is currently in force under the Order of President Nixon, which is quite similar in wording to that of Kennedy.

Continued pressure on the Senate from the voters must be maintained to preserve this policy. You can bet that the Joe Romeros and the Vincent Sombrovos will be watching the vote with concern -- for their future.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:
I am a fellow like you, especially when it is not your own money. Will you please pass this information to your political friends who seem to be drooling over this $72,000 figure. It is in safe keeping and well invested in a proper business like manner, thanks to the good business policy of the Parking Authority members.

As far as you being afraid of being defamed by me -- rest assured I am only trying to help you to catch up with your homework. I believe your letters to the press will be a little more accurate and will look better on account of you being a member of the Board of Adjustment.

Mr. Gentsch you can't use this money by parking in this area; the only use of this money can be used for the construction. Now Mr. Gentsch there is a difference between $72,000 and $100,000. The money is not in the bank; it is invested in securities drawing good interest.

The classic liberalism of our Founding Fathers was idealistic. Modern liberalism is materialistic. Modern liberalism is the noble way of life for the man, evaluation of life on the basis of figure is not how much idleness he can in the bank; it is invested in securities drawing good interest.

ONWARD--THE AMERICAN WAY

THE SPIRIT OF LIBERTY

"The name of America must always exalt the just pride of patriotism." What better words than these to commemorate the anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence!

From the lips of George Washington came many admonitions and statements of faith that all of us would do well to recall on this Fourth of July when our nation is fraught with dissension. As for example: "While we are contending for our own liberty, we should be very cautious not to violate rights in conscience in others..."

And to those who resort to violence to force their viewpoints upon others, or to voice their displeasure by destroying property, we commend these words of General Washington: "The very idea of the power and the right of the people to establish government presupposed the duty of every individual to obey the established government... Every valuable end of government is best answered by the enlightened confidence of the people, and by teaching the people themselves to know and to value their own rights... to discriminate the spirit of liberty from that of licentiousness--cherishing the first, avoiding the last--and uniting a speedy but temperate vigilance against encroachment, with an inviolable respect to the laws..."

Today the President of the United States is seeking to end dissension in this nation--to bring peace and harmony both within and without our borders. May the American eagle proudly soar aloft--a symbol of "liberty and justice for all." And may that phrase become a living reality!

Political racket in this country and property. Anything other than this is an illegal usurpation of power by government. The American Bill of Rights does not tell government what it must do for the people. On the contrary, the American Bill of Rights is in a very real sense, a negating pronouncement telling government what it must not do to socialism that it will have forgotten this. We have allowed ourselves to be spoon-fed from the liberal cup until today we are so far advanced down the road to socialism that it will be a miracle if we ever extricate ourselves.

Important primary because it is essential to human dignity--creates more material prosperity than any government-planned or government-guaranteed way of life could ever do, because freedom releases, from stifling controls and burdensome regulations, all of the constructive energies and talents of all the people.

The old American constitutional system of freedom never did -- and never could -- eliminate poverty; but it produced greater material abundance for more people (fed, housed, and clothed more people) than any welfare state, planned economy, or communist -- socialist -- fascist system on record.

Whenever a politician tells us that our government has a warm, personal interest in us and that he wants the government to be a big brother to us, that politician, no matter how nice a fellow he may seem to be, is leading us into slavery. A big brother government is the kind that every dictator in the world has always wanted and has always promoted. A government which can take warm, personal interest in me can take a cold, calculating interest in someone else. A government which today can subsidize our farms or businesses or send us checks for unemployment or welfare can tomorrow seize the bodies and property of our sons and daughters.

WISH I'D SAID THAT
Labor legislation by far the biggest contributory factor to inflated prices... and that, my friends, is one commodity that doesn't digest easily. -- E. J. Kirby, Jr., The Chariton (Mo.) Courier.

We are, however, confronted with serious problems. Many people are abusing this privilege by dumping household articles, food, building materials and other too numerous to mention items. All other than grass clippings is prohibited.

On Radicals and Liberty

This is the 194th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence and the 181st year of the Republic. We stand gazing back over the history of our nation in a time when radical factions are questioning the foundations of a free and republican society, in a time when they have disrupted the tranquility of our everyday lives by blocking traffic, staging endless and mindless protest demonstrations, by setting bombs in public places, by filling our streets with vulgar language, and by publishing reams of pornography.

Who are they? Their names fill the mass media -- the Panthers, Students for a Democratic Society, the Communist Party, and an array of violent "peace" groups. They have disrupted the tranquility of our everyday lives by blocking traffic, staging endless and mindless protest demonstrations, by setting bombs in public places, by filling our streets with vulgar language, and by publishing reams of pornography.

Their purpose is clearly to destroy our society, based on a respect for individual and property rights and replace it with some sort of communal near chaos, where property rights would be forbidden, family ties severed and primitivism held in high esteem.

Just a superficial glance at America's new barbarians, the radicals, will afford a sickening picture of what is coming if they have their way. Outlandish dress, disregard for personal hygiene, and bizarre hoveis for homes are some of the "improvements" they have slated for all of us in their New Jerusalem.

Some radical leaders have advised student audiences in our nation to go home and kill their parents, because they feel parents are to blame for what they see as a sick American society. Those urging the burning of flag and cities and mass violence on the campuses across the nation are legion; they have no intention of changing by peaceful means what they regard as deplorable. They are clearly pitted against the traditions of American society and all of us who hold those traditions as worthwhile.

Many of us have already recognized the danger on the campus and in the core cities posed by this radical minority. Many ideas have been offered to deal with these extremist factions, but perhaps the most cogent arguments in dealing with populist and extremist groups is offered in the Bible of American republican thought, "The Federalist Papers." The tenth paper by James Madison, who was to become the third President, deals with institutions and how they can be used to deal with the effects of violent factions.

Madison is quick to distinguish the strengths of a republican or representative form of government as compared with a democratic or populist system. He notes in the latter, with the absence of procedure and institutions to temper the extremist attitudes of factions, there is no recourse but to succumb to the chaos created by mobs and self-serving groups.

He stresses the need for representatives, chosen in such a manner as to diffuse violent and unworthy candidates, and selected on the basis of talent and established character. Standing before the villainy that extremists groups would exercise, Madison erects walls of complex legislative machinery which dilute the "vicious arts" of populist and extremist factions.

Madison sees the Union of states as bringing together diverse climates and men of good but various backgrounds, whose many interests would not lend them to support one-track self-aggrandizing propositions.

In the case of violent minorities -- the one which now besets us -- the stable majority can defeat the "sinister views of the violent minority by regular vote." If the violent group may clog the administration, it may convulse the society; but it will be unable to execute and mask its violence under the forms of the Constitution.

It was the intention and hope of this Founding Father that the Republic would stand apart from those who preach chaos and that the decent majority of citizens would brace itself as an army against calls to destroy personal freedoms and private property rights.

Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty. It is in Revolutionary times; it is now, and only when Americans truly realize the viciousness of the radical thrust against American traditions and learn how to come firmly to the aid of them, will they be performing their duties as citizens.

The British Conservative party just won an upset victory in England, appealing to all Britons to come to the aid of their country's noble traditions. One of England's great Tory leaders, Enoch Powell, looking Garry Bechelli played an outstanding game at second base. He cut down two runners at the plate, Bob Moser in the first and Mike Cain in the second.

Rocky Nepshinsky collected two of Rahway's three hits and scored both runs. He tripled in the first inning and raced home on Greg Marzin's sacrifice fly. Nepshinsky opened the third by drilling a liner to center, stole second and came around on a pair of infield outs.

New Providence netted its tally in the second, when John Piccirillo got the first of two singles; stole second, advanced to third on a wild pitch and scored on a ground-out.

Rahway's Post #5 was bounced off the top spot in the Union County American Legion Baseball League by Roselle, 12 - 0, at Simpson Field.

George Teutsch and Doug Cameron drove in three runs each to lead Roselle, who replaced the locals at the top of the ladder.

Cameron had a two - run triple in the second and a run-scoring double in the third, while Teutsch supplied a bases-loaded triple in the third. John Van Brunt also tripled for a run in the first.

Both Cameron and Teutsch had three hits to support the four - hit pitching of Tom Holt, who struck out 10.

Co-Captains Tony Garay (93) of Rahway and Bill Roca (95) Will Lead Hofstra This Season.

Tony Garay Named Nab Two After Chase Hofstra Co-Captain

You'd better believe that Tony Garay, who used to play football under coach Ken Stout at Rahway High School, is a big man on campus at Hofstra.

The hard-hitting senior, exceptionally strong and quick and who is expected to be named with the finest defensive linemen in the east this year, and Bill Roca of Paterson were elected by their teammates to spark the Flying Dutchmen through the 1970 campaign, which coach Howly Myers considers one of the roughest in Hofstra history.

Garay, who stands 6-3 and weighs 245, and Roca were honorable mention All-Middle Atlantic Conference selections last season.

The coaching staff is extremely pleased that the players elected Tony and Bill, Myers said. "We are certain that they will be great leaders and that their influence will be felt both on and off the field. Hofstra is quite fortunate in having such fine young men and outstanding players as its 1970 co-captains."

Garay will be a senior when class resumes in September. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Armando Garay of 69 West Milton Ave., Rahway, Tony will major in finance. He is a brother of Crown and Lance fraternity.

According to Pete Tate, Hofstra defensive line coach, the pros are intrigued in Garay, who figures to be a high draft choice if he has another good year.

Another local boy, Bob Cardamone, who also played for Stout at Rahway High School, is a teammate of Garay's. Cardamone was among 87 candidates who completed yard practice on Long Island.

Cardamone, a senior, is a manager in management. Bob is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cardamone of 353 Cornell Ave., Rahway.

Nab Two After Chase

Clark and Rahway police apprehended two men in a chase that reached 100-mile an - hour speeds.

Gregory Paschall, 24, who gave a Grove St., Elizabeth address, and Jesse Colson, 26, of 429 W. 125th St., N. Y. C., were charged with larceny, breaking and entry, fleeing from police, and possession of narcotic paraphernalia. Paschall is reportedly registered as an addict.

The chase started when the twosome were found by police in the act of larceny at Corby's Television Service, 60 Westfield Ave., Clark. The suspected thieves' car was hit twice by police bullets.

Rahway police have also charged the pair with breaking and entry and larceny of Unesco Appliances, 1780 St. Georges Ave., Rahway. Bail was set at $2,500 by Clark municipal Judge Joseph Pozzetti, pending a preliminary hearing July 9.

Summer music band training and experience. Rhythm fundamentals class. The program consists of lessons, practice, training band and experienced hand.

An amazing new ingredient now comes in this familiar package.

It's called a longer-lasting engine. Longer lasting than who? Longer lasting than our old engine, which in case you didn't know, was one of the toughest engines around.

The new version is more powerful. (Top speed: 81 mph vs. 78 mph.) It has better acceleration.

And most important, it weighs the same as the older version. So it doesn't have to work as hard to get you where you're going.

But that's where the generation gap ends: The new engine will still give you a good 26 miles to a gallon of gas. It still takes pints of oil instead of quarts. It still abstains from antifreeze. Because it's still air-cooled!

And it's still conveniently located in the rear for better traction in mud and snow. Yes, all the things that made our old package a hit last year are back again this year. Including our old package.

3 Groups Are Helped By Crabiel Foundation

Three Rahway organizations received cash awards from the Crabiel Foundation during the annual award dinner at the Tower Steak House, Mountainside. The Red Cross, the Fire Department and the Rahway Post Office were each honored. The three organizations had each been the subject of feature articles in a publication created by the Crabiel Foundation to recognize community service and pay it tribute.

The foundation is the brainchild of David Crabiel, president of Crabiel & Associates, Inc., owner and operator of the Lehrer-Crabiel Funeral Home in Rahway and the Crabiel Home for Funerals in Milltown. It is also involved in the operation of the Gray Memorial Funeral Home, Cranford, and Gray's Funeral Home, Westfield.

"The Community Review" published by each of the funeral homes is mailed to their respective communities as a public service. The idea of "The Community Review" was lauded in a national trade magazine article. "Too often we are inclined to criticize," said Crabiel. "The reason behind 'The Community Review' is to appreciate, to show a little appreciation, for the things that people are doing to make their community a better place to live."

Historians Charter Night

Under the leadership of Edward S. Ayers, a group of historical-minded individuals and civic clubs met on June 24 for their second organizational meeting at the Clark Public Library.

First order of business was the reading of the proposed constitution and by-laws as prepared by Councilman John Pisanaky. Its adoption was unanimously accepted by those present, who are now charter members of the "Clark Historical Society, Inc.," as it shall be known.

The purpose and business of the society shall be to bring together people, cultural and civic groups interested in local history and especially in the history of the Township of Clark, and of all that part of the territory of this state within the limits of the ancient Elizabethtown grants, concessions and patents.

It is also its purpose to record and protect the governmental history of Clark; to record achievements, welfare deeds and purposes of protective agencies, volunteer agencies, purposeful clubs, or associations, and deeds of dedicated individual citizens; to discover, collect, procure, preserve, and protect objects of historical value; to establish and maintain means to display such objects, and make them accessible to the public, in a suitable place or places, and under proper protection, supervision and condition.

The society will disseminate past and current historical information through newspapers or otherwise; by holding meetings with pageants, addresses, lectures, papers, and discussions; by preparing for the anniversary celebrations of the Township of Clark, of the birthday of Abraham Clark, of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution of the United States, and any other event or deed deemed worthy by the membership of the society.

Elections chairman Mr. Charles Drissens, who was also instrumental in the formation of the society, presented the slate of officers for membership approval and received their unanimous acceptance. They are Edward A. Jerauck, president; Rev. William Elliott, vice president; Mrs. Joanne Fullerton, secretary; Mrs. Sarah Nabb, treasurer, and directors Nat Platt, Manuel Dios and Ayers.

A unanimous motion made Miss Emma King, honorarily president of the society in appreciation of her past deeds. Miss King, who is 92 years young, has a remarkable recall of Clark's history. She will be employed as an advisor to the new board of directors.

Anyone interested in the Clark Historical Society should contact Ed Jerauck at 382-1682.

Franklin Field Day Is A Cooperative Success

The student body, faculty and administration of Franklin School, Rahway, spent the greater part of the regular school day on Tuesday, June 10, at Union County Park, Rahway. The event was Field Day, a pre-planned program of academic, social and physical activities coordinated to take full advantage of the outdoors and its relationship to man.

The program was developed with the close cooperation of the PTA at Franklin School which provided lunch for the student body and aided instructors in both large and small-group activity.

The students participated in rock and mineral identification walks and nature walks which familiarized them with concepts of ecology, preservation and care of our natural resources and facilities which are available at the park, graded athletic competition, appreciation of the beauty of nature through art activities conducted by the art teacher and large-muscle activity games.

This event, coordinated by Wade Likins, vice principal at Franklin, demonstrated the effectiveness of teamwork by an efficient and dedicated PTA body, the Rahway Police Department, providing safety on highway crossings, and the Union County Park Commission, J. Birmingham, superintendent of recreation.

After Gary Busse, principal, polled the participating groups, faculty and students, there was no doubt of the effectiveness of the program. "It was the epitome of a positive educational outdoor program designed for children. Its success was the result of the positive attitudes and cooperative efforts of all concerned. The children loved it."

Rotary Gives $2,400 to Hospital

The Rahway Hospital Building Fund received a $2,400 subscription from the Rotary Club of Rahway, it was announced today by Edward J. Nolan, chairman.

The gift, presented to Nolan by Gordon S. Harris, newly-elected president of the club and chairman of the fund's memorial gift committee, will establish a bed in a children's four-bed room in the pediatric section of the proposed four-floor addition to the hospital.

On hand for the presentation of the gift, at a weekly meeting on Wednesday, June 24, in addition to Nolan and Harris, was John L. Yoder, hospital director and immediate past president of the club.

Speaking on behalf of the club's membership, Harris said, "The Rahway Hospital is our first line of defense in the care of our sick and injured—and we are pleased to be able to participate in making it more effective to meet all our needs."

Accepting the pledge, Nolan said that the hospital's board of governors has met its responsibility by bringing the need for a larger hospital to the public and that it is up to every organization, every business and every family to respond to the limit of their ability.

Howard P. Levy, chairman of the corporation gifts committee, announced that the National State Bank of Elizabeth had subscribed $6,000 to the building fund.

Puppet Show Tuesday

Miss Carol Kahn of Plainfield will make a return engagement to Rahway on Tuesday, July 7, at 2:30 p.m. when she brings her puppet show, "Kasperle" and the "Wishing Feather" to the Children's Department of the Public Library. Her last appearance in December drew a large and enthusiastic audience.

Miss Kahn, an accomplished artist in the field, has been doing puppet shows for recreation departments, libraries and birthday parties for eight years. She is a student at Union Junior College, where she will earn her year degree in associate arts next year. She translates and writes her own plays from German fairy tales with the idea of introducing children to the cultures of other countries through puppetry.

For some time, Mrs. Petersen, who is in charge of children's work at the library, has been trying to replace their puppet theatre, which was lost in the flood of 1967. Material for making a new one has been purchased with money made from the fair last year, and writer Julia Croteau, staff artist, can apply the brush and art work, volunteers in the carpentry department would be appreciated.

Pupils Floating on Air After Trip to LaGuardia

Walter Stevens' sixth-grade pupils and a number of their parents were treated to a unique visit to LaGuardia Airport on Thursday, June 18. Captain Frank Daley, a 727 Astrojet pilot for American Airlines, made arrangements for the trip. He is the father of Mary Daley, a member of the class.

The class chartered a bus to themselves for almost two hours. The pupils visited all parts of the large jet. They were able to sit in the first and second-class sections, use the ship's intercom system, sit in the stewardess jump seat and inspect all facilities, including the buffet compartment.

Captain Daley lectured to small groups in the pilot's American Airlines hangar. Here, the children had an excellent view of jets both of the children and parents awaiting takeoff and landing. Being at the hangar and listening to the noise of the huge jet engines added to the excitement.

The class then went to the roof tower and incoming and third floor of the hangar, where, in the stewardess classroom, they viewed an interesting movie. This film, "The Earliest Balloon to All-Permanet Function of Personnel Major Airline," Captain Daley explained portions of the film and answered questions.

After the film, it was back to the air in the American Airlines cockpit, covering all flight instruments. All excellent view of jets both of the children and parents awaiting takeoff and landing. Being at the hangar and listening to the noise of the huge jet engines added to the excitement.

Kiehn: A 'Productive' Legislature

Assemblyman Herbert H. Kiehn (R-9C), calling the recently-concluded legislative session "one of the most productive in New Jersey's history," pin-pointed the newly-enacted statutes in the battle against organized crime, the narcotics problem and the pursuit of a better environment as hallmarks of a "progressive and productive session."

In a report to the citizens of his district, Kiehn said the "spirit of cooperation between the legislative and executive branches has made possible the unusually successful session."

"Organized crime has been the subject of much rhetoric over the year that an administration and legislature working in concert were able to enact positive measures against mob infiltration of legitimate business, loan-sharking, improper practices in the garbage industry and crime at metropolitan area airports."

JC-ettes To Hold A Forum

The Rahway Jaycee-ettes held their regular monthly meeting Wednesday, June 24, at the Claude H. Reed Recreation and Cultural Center. Jackson's Pond Getting Face Lift

Jackson's Pond in Clark is going to get a face-lifting. Mayor Thomas A. Kaczmarek arrived at that decision after an inspection of that area with George T. Cron, general superintendent, and Robert Schaeffer, head of field operations, of the Union County Park Commission.

The improvements include a fishing and recreation area with waterfalls that can be seen from the Valley Road bridge, the grading of banks, trimming of trees, stones for parking and benches on the embankment. Kaczmarek was pleased with the cooperation accorded by the park agency.

Dad Sees The Birth Of Twins

The Wright family tree grew rapidly on June 22 when three boys were delivered to sisters-in-law Sue Wright and Linda Demcher at Rahway Hospital.

Mrs. David Wright entered the hospital at 2:00 a.m. and her son, James, seven pounds, was delivered at 3:42 a.m. by John Sprawls, M.D., of Rahway. The Wrights have another child, David, who is 33 months old. The maternal grandmother is Mrs. Edith Benson.

Later that morning, at 10:20 a.m., David Wright's sister, Mrs. William Demcher, was admitted to the same hospital. Linda had learned in April that she was carrying twins and, because the couple had taken a prenatal course together, William was permitted to stay with his wife during the deliveries of the identical twins.

William, five lbs., nine oz., was born at 4:44 p.m., and Bryan, five lbs., 5 1/2 oz., was born at 4:59 p.m., thus enabling Dr. Sprawls to participate in the Rahway High School graduation exercises as a member of the board of education.

At 23, Installer John Barrino still believes in the old-fashioned notion that neatness counts. "After all, when I'm putting in a phone for a person, I'm like a guest in his house. To me, that means making sure everything's clean as a whistle when I leave. "I figure that if I take time to pick up every tiny piece of wire, a person's opinion of the phone company is bound to go up." The phone company is people. Well-trained people, like Installer John Barrino, who care about doing a good job for you.

Bygone Day of Mississippi River Boat Is Recalled

In song, legend and history the Mississippi River has always been one of the few rivers called "he," for it has been most definitely a man's river. The first Indians who paddled their canoes over its muddy, boiling surface recognized the unconquerable spirit of the river and they called it, with reverence and admiration, "The Father of Waters."

When the white man reached America, he responded to the old river's challenge by matching his strength and spirit, and by replacing the Indian's canoe with the flatboat, keelboat and steamboat.

In the strong currents of the Mississippi River both men and history have been made.

Then, as now, the Atlantic Mutual Insurance Company was heavily interlocked in the Mississippi and its river traffic. For Atlantic insured cargoes on many of the famous steamboats which have since become legend, and its famed marine library tells many of these stories in detail.

It is difficult to believe that the little stream about 10 feet wide and 2 feet deep flowing with a rush from the end of Lake Itasca in northern Minnesota, and the swift current that sometimes attains a width of 8 miles and digs a bed as deep as 60 feet before it enters the Gulf of Mexico, can be one and the same river.

Its name, taken from two Algonquin words, Missipi, means "great river," and Fedo, the Quachita and some 250 minor streams, the Mississippi is majestic and unconquered, draining some 1 1/4 million square miles, or about one-eighth of the North American continent.

The history of the Mississippi is older than the first known man in North America. Hernando De Soto, who discovered the river about 1541, was only the first conqueror of the river who proved eventually to be its victim. He stumbled on it by chance, never knew its potential importance, died there of fever, and his weighted body was buried in the river's muddy waters.

Once the white man made the voyage to the outlet far to the south, he never again rested in peace until he controlled this marvel of nature.

Wherever the river flowed, men created history and built cities -- Minneapolis -- St. Paul, Rick Island, St. Louis, Memphis, Natchez, Baton Rouge, New Orleans -- just because the river was there. For the Mississippi produced its own language, its own lore, its own music, and its own breed of proud rivermen.

One of the most legendary of the Mississippi's many stories, according to the Atlantic Mutual's marine archives, is the fabled race of the "Natchez" and the "Rob't E. Lee."

Profound of a fabulous group of characters who galloped the old river was Captain Thomas P. Leathers, whose boats were the glory of New Orleans, beginning in 1845 Leathers built and commanded a series of "Natchez" steamers, running them with a dash and flair -- no other captain had ever equaled.

His Mississippi steamboats were travelers' dreams: from the lavish bill of fare for Christmas dinner in 1859, a passenger on "Natchez" could, for example, choose among thirty-six desserts.

But then a formidable rival hove onto the scene as Captain John Cannon built the speedy "Rob't E. Lee." Captain Leathers promptly retaliated by constructing the most beautiful "Natchez" of all, the sixth and fastest of that name. The two regal "aldewheelers" continually tried to outdazzle each other.

One day in June 1870, after breaking a 26-year-old speed record for one stretch of the Mississippi, Captain Leathers berthed his boat beside the "Lee" at the New Orleans levee. While the two boats loaded cargo for St. Louis, the captains agreed to a race. The word immediately flashed out to the world and bets were placed up and down the valley and as far away as London and Paris.

In the long shadows of the evening of June 30, 1870, the "Natchez" and the "Rob't E. Lee" pulled out on their grand and spectacular race. Foam flew from the bows, passengers and crews yelled themselves hoarse. Multitudes waved and shouted from the levee.

The "Natchez" and the "Lee" coursed the Mississippi through fog, whirlpools and treacherous waters. Steam plumed from their escape pipes and black smoke billowed behind them as the two boats strained forward until their every limb shook. The "Lee" was ahead from the start, but the "Natchez" hung on. They passed Memphis 63 minutes apart.

At Cairo, Ill., the beginning of the graveyard stretch, the "Lee" was leading by but 70 minutes when the "Natchez" ran into fog -- and engine trouble. On the morning of July 4 the "Rob't E. Lee" steamed into St. Louis, only 3 days, 18 hours and 14 minutes out of New Orleans, a record that has to this day never been equaled. The "Natchez" churned in six and a half hours later, a puffing but glorious loser.

And as so many other of the river's historic events have been preserved in song, so has this memorable race of a century ago.

Through the ten years following the classic race, railroads expanded in webs throughout the entire country. From the Mississippi's banks locomotive engineers threw derivative roots at the steamboatmen paddling up and downstream.

Yet, as the Atlantic Mutual annals show, there were trade and travelers enough for both.

Among the gaudiest was the showboat, or "floating palace" -- Ned Davis' "Minstrels of Music and Mirth;" Van Amburgh's Menageries with "over 150 living specimens of Forest Beasts and Desert Monsters;" Dan Rice's Great Show, which was continually billing itself as "fresh from its triumphal engagement at the Academy of Music in New Orleans."

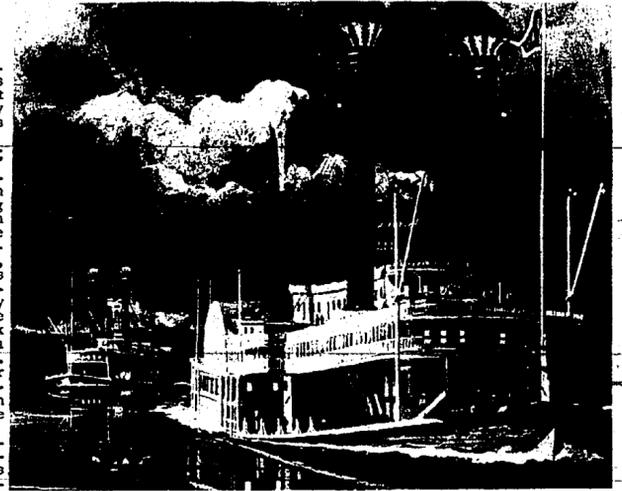

All in all, few rivers throughout the entire world conjure up richer memories than the Mississippi: of that reckless breed of keelboatmen of whom Mike Fink was king, of plantations and bellees in crinolines and magnolias with Spanish moss hanging in streamers upon old trees, of cardsharps and dandies. And of a startling variety of fellow travelers, and of the world of Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn as depicted by Mark Twain.

Sh! Anti-Noise Poster Contest Held

Nursing department members at Rahway Hospital captured every prize in an anti-noise poster contest designed to emphasize a serene atmosphere for patients.

Director John L. Yoder announced that the winners were Mrs. Margaret Irwin, R.N., Mrs. Deben Seals and Miss Carol Blanco. The judges were Mrs. John Sprowls, president of the woman's auxiliary, James Smith Jr., president of the board of governors, and Gordon Harris, president of the Rahway Rotary Club.

Entries ranged from clever slogans to polite appeals, but each one was suitable for the "quiet" theme of the competition, nicknamed the "Make Peace, Not Noise Contest."

Each entrant in the contest was presented an architect's projected aerial view of the hospital in 1972, following expansion, as well as a photographic portrait of himself taken by assistant director George E. Argast.

Other employees who entered the contest were Mrs. Martha Bradley, Mrs. Patricia Duffy, Mrs. Iona Maynard, Mrs. Alice Kordyla, Miss Donna DeBenedetto, Miss Ann Kircher, Mrs. Judith Reiner and Albert Marshall.

The prizes, also in keeping with the theme, were a silent movie camera, a pair of Hush Puppies, and a quiet dinner for one. A silent translator radio was presented to Kathleen Orr, the winner of a concurrent Candystriper contest.

Residents Claim More Storm Sewers Needed

Back-up of water from clogged storm sewers has been causing flooding of streets and basements in more homes each year, particularly in areas that never flooded of any kind. Some owners reported that to install pumps since 1968, when a major flood hit the Robinson's branch of the Rahway river, as well as other parts of the city.

Residents claimed they noticed streets filling up with water even before the streams get full during heavy rains. Although hundreds of streets suffer damage from actual river overflow, or basements from sewer back-up, flood waters? We can't up, complaining that false economy moves have cut down sewer maintenance along with other expected services.

George F. Bartell, attorney for the Rahway Citizens for Flood Control, Inc., and attorney for the Rahway Valley Sewerage Authority, reported that older sections of Rahway have separate storm and sanitary sewers. During heavy rains, countless gallons of raw sewage are added to the sewerage material, raising the city cost for such disposal.

Howard E. Baker, group chairman, pointed to the fact that Linden had recently appropriated $1,500,000 through federal assistance for new storm sewers to eliminate flooding. At the same time, work in progressing on cleaning of sanitary sewers, which were blocked and forced sewage into streets. Likewise, Rahway has to consider such health hazards and try to correct the situation as soon as possible. "Commendable as any maintenance of sewers because the city may have to repair or replace sewers due to the neglect. Besides, who is to determine the cost to damaged homes from back-up flood waters? We can't pinch pennies with one hand and throw out dollars with the other. Some sensible balance of expenditures and services is needed," said Baker, acknowledging the city had made some sewer improvements, but much more needs to be done.

RCFC spokesman expressed satisfaction in the city's obtaining temporary flood insurance, but hoped the city would fulfill all requirements for total insurance coverage as soon as possible. Some neighboring municipalities have already fulfilled all requirements, even though Rahway was supposedly considered for top priority.

On the other hand, adult daughters and sisters of women with breast cancer, and the adult children of a parent with rectal cancer should be aware of their increased tendency to develop these cancers. They should be sure to have thorough and frequent medical examinations so that any indications of cancer can be detected very early.

Cancer Health Research

What causes cancer? This question represents one of the basic problems confronting scientists today. Many studies of environmental factors have been made. It has been shown that viruses can cause cancer in laboratory animals and, therefore, probably sometimes in man. Exposure to certain chemicals and radiation (such as too much sunlight) can result in various forms of cancer. In addition to these and other environmental agents, scientists are studying the role of heredity in cancer.

Specially-bred laboratory mice have been used for many years to investigate whether a tendency to get cancer can be passed on from parent to offspring. These studies show that not just one, but many genetic factors are responsible for the tendency of the animals to develop specific types of cancer.

For example, several different strains of mice that seldom develop breast cancer were exposed to a virus known to cause breast cancer in mice. The descendants of some of the strains developed breast cancer much more frequently than the original animals.

Subsequent generations of other strains, however, developed breast cancer less and less frequently as the virus disappeared from their blood. Thus, in animals, hereditary factors may influence how the body will react to a cancer-producing chemical or virus and how the cancer will progress in the body.

When human populations were studied, most of the common forms of cancer did not seem to be passed on within families. Yet, some special studies did show that, to a very small extent, cancer of the breast, rectum, and lung strike in certain families more than others. However, since families share the same environment, scientists have not concluded that a hereditary factor is actually responsible for this excessive incidence of cancer.

Witnesses Youngsters Really Dig In 4-Day Outdoor Science Work Convention

The Clark Summer School, sponsored by the board of education, began on June 29. The outdoor science class, which is under the direction of George Coyne at the Charles H. Brewer School, really had a full week.

The first topic was paleontology. The study of fossils, and the first trip was to Princeton Museum, where the students had the opportunity to observe fossils and to answer questions relating to them.

On Wednesday, the class collected fossils in nearby Monmouth County. They found many examples of fossils, including sharks' teeth, brachiopods and fossil coral.

The Museum of Natural History in New York was visited on the following day. The purpose was to see larger and better fossils, displays, and also to introduce the next topic, mineralogy.

The students responded with great interest and enthusiasm. They proved capable in the field, found many excellent specimens and are looking forward to more rewarding experiences in the fields of biology, ecology and astronomy.

Special features are on the program that will be of benefit to parents and young people. In an age of permissiveness, teenagers must be spiritually fortified if they are to counteract successfully immoral temptations," Blalock said.

"Such fortification results from a frank consideration of moral matters in the light of the scriptures and the program will do just this," Blalock said.

The Watchtower Bible and Tract Society, sponsor of the assembly, announced that the program will include singing, discourses on Bible doctrine and moral standards, demonstrations and a Bible drama that will offer biblical, as well as modern settings.

Approval of the referendum would provide $1,200 increases that would go into effect in 1971.

Families of Jehovah's Witnesses in the Rahway area are planning to attend the four-day Bible convention at Jersey City's Roosevelt Stadium.

An attendance of 23,000 is expected, and all are welcome.

Commenting on the importance Witnesses attach to such gatherings, Mr. Blalock, circuit supervisor and spokesman for the Rahway congregation, said: "While Jehovah's Witnesses enjoy picnicking, swimming and other summer activities, the highlight of our vacation is the convention. Here, we enjoy Christian fellowship and derive spiritual benefit from the faith-strengthening program."

"Unlike religious revivals, the accent is placed not on emotionalism, but of biblical education. If one is to cope with the problems of life in this tension-filled age, familiarity with Bible principles is essential and the convention program is designed to instruct in this regard."

2 Doctors Re-Elected To AAGP

Dr. Ernest C. Lowenstein of 259 W. Milton Ave. and Dr. Stuart Orton of 196 Elm Ave., both of Rahway, have been re-elected to active membership in the American Academy of General Practice, the national association of family doctors.

Re-election signifies that the physician has completed 150 hours of accredited post-graduate medical study in the last three years. Members become eligible for re-election at the end of the third year following their election to membership.

The academy, the country's second largest national medical association, is the only national medical group that requires members to keep up with medical progress through continuing education.

The academy, founded in 1947 and headquartered in Kansas City, Mo., has been instrumental in the establishment of a new primary medical specialty in family practice.

The new specialty is expected to increase the numbers of family physicians available to serve the public in the future. The post-graduate education program is the foundation of eligibility for family doctors now in practice who apply for certification in the new specialty.

PBA Seeks Petitions

Clark Local 125 of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association has delegated two-man teams to collect at least 2,500 petition signatures that are required to put their salary proposition on the November ballot.

A statement by the PBA said it had retained David Ravish, former municipal judge, as counsel for the referendum bid.

The petitioning, it was announced, will be handled by members of the department on their own time and will blanket 13 sections of the township. The PBA said no agreement appears likely in the current talks.

Approval of the referendum would provide $1,200 increases that would go into effect in 1971.

The Attitudes To Beauty

Cleaning up an old city like Rahway takes extra effort. This does not mean in any way that the job is beyond the ability of Rahwayans; it simply requires persistence and a deep want to make the community a more attractive place to live in than it has been. As most of us are aware, beautification drives whether they have been conducted under the auspices of Democratic or Republican administrations in the city have not been overly successful. The mediocre showing of these efforts has not been attributable to the leaders of the beautification campaign on the whole but rather to the taxpayers at large.

Each resident must realize that a stately city depends on his ability to keep his property in the best possible shape, given personal limitations of time and money. Houses with glaring structural repairs, unsightly yards, and general unkempt appearances are the stuff of which general city decay are made. In most cases, money is not the determining factor, since paint and elbow grease are far from costly items, even in this day of affluence. The paint has always been at the hardware store around the corner, but whether the elbow grease is forthcoming is a matter of attitude.

Certainly, taxpayer must amine themselves to the idea that only proper maintenance will increase their property values and the general economic view of the city. Some residents, have argued that prohibitive taxes obstruct them from maintaining their property, but a glance into the monies most of them spend on frills does a great deal to deflate the reliability of this line of thought. Similarly, while taxes have markedly increased in Rahway, the rise here has been much less than in nearly all of Union County's municipalities. This is a good point that all Rahwayans can take pride in and which they can promote by requiring sound fiscal management from their political leaders.

This returns us, of course, to attitude and the personal commitment of Rahwayans. Planting shrubs, sweeping streets, painting houses, etc. can be accomplished by individuals, organizations, and municipal government. Everyone and every group should have a want to participate in the 1970 beautification drive which Mayor John C. Marsh named Mrs. Salvatore Finelli and Abe Reppen to chair. The Jaycees have begun their own clean-up efforts in concert with this beautification committee. Some of their initial efforts are described in this issue of The News - Record.

Some downtown merchants are in the process of beginning to improve their properties, and hopefully Rahwayans will cooperate by not littering the commercial district with all manner of refuse as has been characteristic. A beginning is evident. What each of us must do is to insure a successful conclusion by actively improving his property and urging others to do so.

Rahway doesn't need two things in this drive -- partisan politics and ineffectual ideology. There is no Democratic or Republican way to sweep the streets, so goes the quotation. Likewise, neither party has a monopoly on beauty nor does either one stand to lose any political points prior to this November due to this drive.

The second thing -- ineffectual ideology -- is probably more serious and insidious than partisan politics. America is just filled today with all sorts of dogooders who use the anti-pollution, clean-up - the environment cause as a device for radicalizing the nation. They scream the loudest, but are woefully short of meaningful approaches and actions. Their screams, of course, are tools by which they hope to demoralize the citizenry's confidence in American institutions to solve problems and thereby reduce civil action to pandemonium. Improvements in the civil order come slowly and calls for "now" actions are just so much blarney. Let's us in our efforts to improve Rahway not be reduced to the distastefully ironic situation of the Earth Day rally in New York City which preached a clean environment and left tons and tons of refuse for the Department of Sanitation to remove. Let's take this drive seriously and see what we can do to aid our historic Rahway.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Which local group is in charge of the Head Start Program in Rahway? Are the same people the officers of the Rahway Community Action Organization and CAPEO, the group known as Community Action for Equal Opportunity? Who are the officers of the April 9, 1970 issue of The Rahway News Record? Someone was quoted as having "pledged to continue the fight to improve the lot of poor people in Rahway." Just what is a "ghetto" in Rahway? Who are the poor people in Rahway? Just what constitutes a "poor" person to make the children eligible for the Head Start Program? Can their parents own their homes or must they live in a subsidized or so-called low cost housing project? Can the parents own a car? Is there any particular area or areas in which the child must reside? Just what criteria are employed to determine whether or not a child can attend the Rahway Head Start Program? What are the federal regulations for its program? How many positions are involved in the Head Start Program? Kindly inform me of each position giving the title and salary paid per hour for each job. Does the director have to be licensed to teach and to supervise the teaching? Do all educational personnel have to have licenses covering "early childhood education?"

Any group, club or organization is invited to help. If you wish to volunteer your services please write to the Rahway Jaycees Human Environmental Committee, P. O., Box 731, Rahway, New Jersey 07065. The Jaycees and others who wish to help this Saturday are asked to meet at St. George and Central Aves. at 9:45 a. m. The Jaycees began work last Saturday by cleaning of the outside of the Rahway police station. Old pipes, soda cans, dead trees and branches and other litter were removed from the sides and back of the station.

Jaycees to Clean Up River Areas

The first part of the Rahway Jaycees Human Environmental Committee's river project is slated to start this Saturday at St. George and Central Aves. This Jaycees plan to work their way to the downtown area, riding the river of old tires, shopping carts, and other debris which cause flooding and prevent the free flow of water. Plans are being made to clean the various parts of the river each Saturday and volunteers are needed to help the Jaycees. This is the ideal time to come out and "do something" for your community.

The city plans to repair hedges and turn down the tops of the fence and the Jaycees are planning to plant creeping ivy to enhance the sight of the building. Jaycees working on the clean up were Barry De Reamer, chairman, Bob Brandner, director, Bill Rack and George Higgins.

Gambling Charge Filed Against Inn

A gambling charge has been filed against La Marr Co., which operates Monroe Inn at 246 Monroe St., Rahway, by the Division of Alcoholic Beverage Control, State of New Jersey, Department of Law and Public Safety. The inn is accused of permitting a game of flipping coins in violation of Rule 7 of State Regulation No. 20. A hearing has been set for Monday, Aug. 10, in Newark, at which time the inn must show cause why its license should not be suspended or revoked.

Vac-All Unit for Cleaning Catch-Basins Is Lauded by Marsh

Mayor John C. Marsh this week pointed to a series of efforts by his administration to "take every action possible to avert the recurrence of flooding problems that have plagued residents in certain areas of our city." Marsh said that he is at a loss to "explain the motives of Harold Baker," president of a group called the Rahway Citizens for Flood Control. "Under my administration," Marsh explained, "the city purchased a Vac-All machine which it uses to clean catch basins throughout the city in a fraction of the time we used to spend cleaning them by hand. And yet," noted the mayor, "Mr. Baker, in his latest knock at the city, complained about the cleaning of catch-basins. Anyone knows that, at a given point in time, you can find one that needs to be cleaned if you look for one. For any man who calls himself the leader of a group to base an attack on that kind of facile logic, is to say the least reprehensible." Marsh claimed that he has offered support to Baker's group in a variety of ways including the initiating of legal action against river encroachment violators, the initiation of a broad based survey by the Corps of Engineers which he says will bring substantial federal and state aid to the area, and the recently announced emergency flood insurance program made available through the federal government. Baker has been unresponsive to Marsh's efforts claiming that more local action can be taken. In his most recent attack, Baker scored the city for not cleaning catch basins and basins every few minutes, even if it were possible to do so. We have a problem of sizable dimensions, it begins with the fact that a tremendous number of new housing and industrial developments have been built up -- stream over the past two decades that have multiplied the run-off problem. What once was a meadow which consumed its own water is now a housing development pouring additional millions of gallons of liquid into an overtaxed flow capacity. There are factories on what used to be barren land. Office buildings, shopping centers and restaurants have taken the place of farms, open hillsides and fields. The result," said Mayor Marsh, "is that millions on millions of gallons of water are being dumped into the river by communities as far away as the Oranges. It's not a catch-basin problem," he declared, "it's a river basin problem." Marsh said that even though it should be apparent that support and are willing to listen to him. He can do thousands, if not millions, of dollars to install new sewer lines in Rahway, he has efforts toward joining us in our fight for federal and state help, and if he will worry more about the needs of the said Marsh. "He has some people and less about who gets credit for our accomplishments, and he obviously has some people who are in need of

June, Als, Was Cloudy For Brides

According to many, June is the month for brides. But, according to Harold D. DuRocio, meteorologist at U.S. Cooperative Weather Station, Union College, June was the month for clouds.

The bridegroom was graduated with a bachelor of science degree in meteorology from Union College, Schenectady, N.Y. He is presently employed by the U.S. Weather Bureau.

The bridegroom was reported on June 3, 4, 5, 11, 12, 18, 20 and 21. The greatest amount of precipitation during a 24-hour period occurred when 70 inches was recorded. Total precipitation for the month was 2.66 inches which fell on June 11.

Two years ago, the record was set at Union College's meteorological station for a June rainfall. It measured 4.95 inches, while the driest June dates back to 1963, when only 1.08 inches of rain fell.

June temperatures ranged from a high of 92 degrees to a minimum of 47 degrees, which is typical for the month of June.

The highest daily average was 82.2 degrees, and the lowest was 58.5 degrees.

Legion Nine Yields Top Spot, 10-0

Union sent Rahway Post No. 5 tumbling out of the top spot in the Union County Legion Baseball League, 10 - 0, behind the four - hit pitching of Stan Jakubowski.

The sophomore star at Union High, where he had a 9 - 0 record this past season, struck out eight and walked one. He was in trouble only in the fifth inning, when Rahway loaded the sack with none away on a pair of errors and a walk. Jakubowski then fanned the next two batters. A fine fielding play by Larry Freda on a slow bouncer ended the threat.

Union scored four times in the last of the first without a hit on six successive walks and Freda's sacrifice fly. The Farmers tallied five times in the fourth. Jim Crosta and Dave Daniels singled. Both scored four times in the fifth. The game was left by Len Dropkin, Singles by Phil Giardina, Gary Macheska and Freda accounted for the rest of the runs.

Another miracle from Volkswagen:
A Volkswagen goes through one of its most grueling tests in a gigantic wind tunnel. Once inside, it can take in effect a trip between any two given cities. We calculate beforehand what the road, altitude, weather and speed would actually be. Then we reproduce these same conditions inside the wind tunnel.
This way we find out before you do what a VW can take on the road. And what it can't take. And anything big it can't take, we do something about.
So if you and a Volkswagen ever hit high winds in Miami or Chicago or even Anchorage, Alaska, you have one reassuring thought: A VW's probably been through it before.

Firemen And City Sign Pact

The Firemen's Mutual Benevolent Association Local No. 53 was recognized by the Public Employees Relation Commission and the City of Rahway as the sole bargaining agent for Rahway firemen.

James Heller, president of the FMBA Local #33 said, "This contract is designed to maintain and promote a harmonious relationship between the city and the fire department through collective negotiations in order that more efficient and progressive public services may be rendered."

President Heller said the men are pleased with the conditions set forth in the contract which brings a Rahway fireman within the salary range of all other Union County fire departments.

Mayor John C. Marsh and Business Administrator Sidney Stone spent many hours with the firemen's negotiating committee during the past few months and were instrumental in reaching a mutual agreement. Local #33 was represented by Anthony Rinaldo, Jr., state labor attorney for the FMBA.

Sparks Not Flying at This Meeting

Fire, Police, First Aid Make Head Start Visit

Charles Brown, chairman of the "Rahway Community Action Organization," introduced children to the departments of the city which effect their program featured, as part lives of its curricula, a series of ment, the Rahway Police Department, and the First Aid Squad visited Grover Cleveland School. Each department explained its function and displayed its equipment for the children. Participating were Chief George Link, Captain Donald Higbee and Firemen Frank Pingor, Frank Wierzy, and Edward O'Conner, who climbed 75 feet into the air on the truck's extended ladder much to the children's pleasure and enlightenment.

The men also allowed the children to handle and wear some of the equipment, giving them a greater understanding. Patrolman Albert Smith represent the police department and introduced the concept of police protection by involving the children in a meaningful and exciting presentation. He was especially effective due to his warmth and his ability to communicate with the very young.

The rescue squad represented by Raymond W. Houck and Richard C. Weekland, conducted an inspection through their vehicle, explaining its equipment. The purpose, according to Head Start director, Mrs. Robert Plotkin, is to give the children intimate contact with the fire engine, the police car, and the first aid vehicle and the men who devote their lives to their protection. The idea is for children to befriend, respect and identify these departments in terms of their own future.

RAHWAY $50.10 OVER 1969, CLARK DOWN $777.50

Union County Heart Association Falls $1,346 Short of Goal

The Union County Heart Association's 1970 fund drive raised a record $94,654, but fell just short of its $96,000 goal, it was announced today by State Senator Matthew J. Rinaldo, chairman of the drive.

The $94,654 total, which included a $15,000 bequest from the late Carleton Randolph of Elizabeth, represented a slight increase over the $93,805 reported by the Heart Association last year.

Rahway topped its 1969 total by $50.10, but the $3,418.10 raised was $281.90 over the goal for 1970.

Head Start is enriched by the complete cooperation of the city departments and the response of the children thus far indicated that this phase of community contact is a success.

The program will also include trips outside the community to broaden interests and horizons. Working with Mrs. Plotkin on planning cultural visits and trips are Mrs. Mary Blue, Mrs. Judith Prentice, Mrs. Lillian Neveglis and Mrs. Cynthia Watson of the parents' group.

Clark contributed $865.50, largest municipality, ended the Heart Association's fiscal year, June 30, with a total of $27,031.35, $15,000 of which was in the form of a bequest. The $12,031.35 collected from other sources was $1,968.65 less than the $14,000 goal that had been set for the city, but $2,152.35 more than the $9,879.00 that was contributed there last year. The $1,541.05 raised in unions workers who have given so much of their free time and energy to this worthy cause. The Heart Fund chairman also noted that 10 of Union County's 21 municipalities--Elizabeth, Garwood, Hillside, Kenilworth, Linden, New Providence, Plainfield, Rahway, Roselle Park and Westfield--exceeded last year's collection, realized a record $3,002.53 in 1970.

However, only five municipalities topped their 1970 quotas. These were Elizabeth, Garwood, Hillside, Roselle Park and Westfield. Senator Rinaldo explained that the $15,000 bequest had enabled the fund total to exceed last year's. Linden's $6,350.55 topped Berkeley Heights raised last year's collection by $856.10, which was $2,343.90 less than its goal and $949.45 under the community's goal. Cranford's $5,358.50 was $2,141.50 short of its goal and $610.50 shy of the figure reported in 1969. Elizabeth, the county's $3,840.75 raised in New Providence was $268.75 more than last year's total but $359.25 shy of the goal there. Plainfield, with $4,109.09 exceeded last year's total by $101.09, but fell $890.91 short of meeting its 1970 goal. Roselle, which raised $900.70 this year, collected $599.30 less than its goal and $232.30 less than last year.

Roselle Park's figure of $2,911.51 was $322.51 over the 1970 goal and $211.51 more than the amount raised last year. Scotch Plains, with $3,764.55, was $935.45 under last year's total and $303.45 less than the 1970 target. The $1,837.24 collected in Springfield was $962.76 under the 1969 figures and $800.76 less than the community's quota for 1970. Summit, which raised $7,460, was $950 short of last year's total and $1,040 under the goal for this year.

Union collected $6,555.33, which was $1,279.67 under last year's contributions and $2,944.67 less than its target for 1970. Westfield, which raised a record $10,291, was $1,713 over last year and $791 more than its 1970 quota. Winfield collected $178.71 in 1970. This was $321.27 less than last year and $307.29 under its goal.

Firemen Sparks Not Flying at This Meeting And City Sign Pact

The Firemen's Mutual Benevolent Association Local No. 53 was recognized by the Public Employees Relation Commission and the City of Rahway as the sole bargaining agent for Rahway firemen.

James Heller, president of the FMBA Local #33 said, "This contract is designed to maintain and promote a harmonious relationship between the city and the fire department through collective negotiations in order that more efficient and progressive public services may be rendered."

President Heller said the men are pleased with the contract which brings a Rahway fireman within the salary range of all other Union County fire departments.

Mayor John C. Marsh and Business Administrator Sidney Stone spent many hours with the firemen's negotiating committee during the past few months and were instrumental in reaching a mutual agreement. Local #33 Action Organization announced that the Head Start of the city which effect their program featured, as part lives.

Fire, Police, First Aid Make Head Start Visit

Fire, Police, First Aid Make Head Start Visit

The men also allowed the children to handle and wear some of the equipment, giving them a greater understanding. Patrolman Albert Smith represent the police department and introduced the concept of police protection by involving the children in a meaningful and exciting presentation. He was especially effective due to his warmth and his ability to communicate with the very young.

The rescue squad represented by Raymond W. Houck and Richard C. Weakland, conducted an inspection through their vehicle, explaining its equipment.

The purpose, according to Head Start director, Mrs. Robert Plotkin, is to give the children intimate contact with the fire engine, the police car, and the first aid vehicle and the men who devote their lives to their protection. The idea is for children to befriend, respect and identify these departments in terms of their own future.

On Monday, the children visited the Rahway Public Library, where they began a weekly series of story time sessions with Mrs. Jean Peterson, children's librarian.

Head Start is the first step for many children from the home and family into the outside world, explained Mrs. Plotkin. The program in-

Union County Heart Association Falls $1,346 Short of Goal

The Union County Heart Association's 1970 fund drive raised a record $94,654, but fell just short of its $96,000 goal, it was announced today by State Senator Matthew J. Rinaldo, chairman of the drive.

The $94,654 total, which included a $15,000 bequest from the late Carleton Randolph of Elizabeth, represented a slight increase over the $93,805 reported by the Heart Association last year.

Rahway topped its 1969 total by $50.10, but the $3,418.10 raised was $281.90 under the goal for 1970.

Rahway this summer is geared toward a journey into a wider world for each child with an introduction first to his city and membership in his community.

Head Start is enriched by the complete cooperation of the city departments and the response of the children thus far indicated that this phase of community contact is a success.

The program will also include trips outside the community to broaden interests and horizons.

Working with Mrs. Plotkin on planning cultural visits and trips are Mrs. Mary Blue, Mrs. Judith Prentice, Mrs. Lillian Wagonis and Mrs. Cynthia Watson of the parents' group.

Clark contributed $865.50, largest municipality, ended which was $934.50 short of its goal and $777.50 less than last year's total.

Senator Rinaldo expressed his appreciation to the local chairmen in the county's 21 municipalities and their workers for doing "an exemplary job." The Heart Association came close to more than the $9,879.00 that its $96,000 goal through the efforts of the countless volunteer workers who have given so much of their free time and energy to this worthy cause.

The Heart Fund chairman also noted that 10 of Union County's 21 communities—Elizabeth, Garwood, Hillside, Kenilworth, Linden, New Providence, Plainfield, Rahway, Roselle Park and Westfield—exceeded last year's total.

However, only five municipalities topped their 1970 goal and $1,045.53 more than quotas. These were Elizabeth, Garwood, Hillside, Roselle Park and Westfield. Senator Rinaldo explained that $236,71 better than last year's $15,000 bequest had earned but fell $143.29 short of its last year's.

Linden's $6,350.55 topped Berkeley Heights raised last year's collection by $856.10, which was $2,343.90 $486.55, but the total was less than its goal and $949.45 under the community's total.

Mountainside, which raised $2,138.90 under last year's $1,540.58, was $99.42 $2,141.50 short of its goal and $742.42 $610.50 shy of the figure reported in 1969.

Elizabeth, the county's $3,840.75 raised in New Providence was $268.75 more than last year's total but $359.25 shy of the goal there. Plainfield, with $4,109.09, exceeded last year's total by $101.09, but fell $890.91 short of meeting its 1970 goal. Roselle, which raised $900.70 this year, collected $599.30 less than its goal and $232.30 less than last year.

Roselle Park's figure of $2,911.51 was $322.51 over the 1970 goal and $211.51 more than the amount raised last year.

Scotch Plains, with $3,764.55, was $935.45 under last year's total and $303.45 less than the 1970 target. The $1,837.24 collected in Springfield was $962.76 under the 1969 figures and $800.76 less than the community's quota for 1970.

Summit, which raised $7,460, was $950 short of last year's total and $1,040 under the goal for this year.

Union collected $6,555.33, which was $1,279.67 under last year's contributions and $2,944.67 less than its target for 1970.

Westfield, which raised a record $10,291, was $1,713 over last year and $791 more than its 1970 quota. Winfield collected $178.71 in 1970. This was $321.27 less than last year and $307.29 under its goal.

A case study of university efforts to increase minority group participation indicates the Rutgers effort is one of the broadest in the country and, with respect to faculty and staff recruitment of minority group members, is one of the most successful in the country.

His Honor, City Yard Sign Pact

This week marked the signing of what Mayor John C. Marsh and Rahway city yard representatives termed "the best contract in the city's history."

According to Marsh, city yard employees had the lowest pay scales and the worst working conditions in the county, when he took office in 1967.

Since then, in terms of both pay rates and benefits, the men now have a contract comparable to the average for Union County cities.

"In addition," said Marsh, "they soon will have, as their base of operations, one of the best equipped and most efficient city yard facilities in the state."

Air Rescue Mission

Seven residents of the Linden Squadron Civil Air Patrol participated in the search for a missing Cessna 310 twin-engine aircraft.

They were Capt. Cary Weiss and Cadet David Priff of Clark and Warrant Officers Phillip Gast and Sylvester Lenden, S. M. George Engel and Carmen Riggi and Cadet Jim Zazzaro.

The missing aircraft was enroute to Harrisburg, Pa., from Nantuxet, R. I., and was long overdue when CAP was notified. The New Jersey wing set up its headquarters at Linden airport, from where it coordinated search and rescue efforts. More than 30 separate flights took off from 8:30 a. m. until dark in search of the ill-fated aircraft, with Civil Air Patrol planes from three states assisting.

The Linden barracks served as communication headquarters and its radio facilities, linked with the CAP radio network of New York, Pennsylvania and other adjacent states, received and transmitted all sightings that were considered relevant to the search.

The RECAP (Search and Rescue CAP) was terminated at dark without success. Wreckage and some material thought to be the missing airplane was sighted in Long Island Sound.

Give the Taxpayer a Respite

On the ballot in November will be a referendum which will decide whether or not the present property tax exemption for elderly homeowners should be doubled to $160, with the State of New Jersey required to pay one half the cost. It is estimated that increasing the exemption would cost some $15 million. The cost of the present $80 exemption would continue to be borne by local communities, that is, the taxpayers in these communities.

Governor Cahill has declared that, if the proposition is approved, it will be necessary to impose a new or increased state tax. Here comes further propaganda for a state income tax!

Understandably, the study commission whose recommendation for state reimbursement was adopted by the State Legislature, conceded that local taxpayers were already too overburdened with taxes to endure an additional load. But what is this blind spot in the study commission's purview? Surely its members must realize that local taxpayers and state taxpayers are the identical animal, and if they are likely to rebel at local taxes, they are equally likely to rebel at further or increased State taxes.

This makes one recall the game sometimes played with children. "Which hand is it in, Johnny?" If he guesses left, his playmate hurriedly shifts it to the right hand and says with a straight face: "No." Increased tax exemptions for formerly productive citizens now past the age of productivity and beset by the horrors of galloping inflation certainly make sense. We suggest that it would also make sense to eliminate extravagances in our present State budgets, plus the hidden expenditures that rarely come to light, and give that patient creature, the taxpayer, a respite from new taxes before -- like the hapless dodo -- he becomes extinct.

Martin Hits 'Paper-Thin' Propaganda

Rahway Democratic Mayorally Candidate Daniel L. Martin assailed, what he termed, "Mr. Marsh's administrative shortcomings" in a release this week.

"It is strange indeed," said Martin, "that the city departments and personnel involved in certain plans, projects and programs of the Marsh administration are so often anonymous in the announcement of these activities. Is it because Marsh is unable to adequately husband the resources for which the citizens' tax dollars pay and make adequate use of them? Or is it because the plans, projects and programs to which the Marsh administration gives lip service are, in fact, nothing more than high-sounding brain-children which never receive implementation?"

"I wonder," queried Martin, "how many of our people recall the Mayor's Advisory Council which received widespread publicity at the outset of the Marsh administration? This group was highly touted as a capable body which Marsh would use for assistance in the affairs of government. Indeed, such a body wisely used can be valuable to government.

Kaczmareks Win

The Kaczmarek Association baseball team, under Ray Krov, won the Clark Recreation League's first playoff championship behind the one-hit pitching of Joe Malicky. The Kaczmareks defeated Bonerose Nursery, 4-0. Malicky's bid for a no-hitter was spoiled in the seventh when Joe Cahill blooped a triple. Bonerose was managed by Joe Holmstedder. This was the final game of a very successful initial season which saw 104 boys participate under guidance of managers and coaches who volunteered their services.

City Opens Playground 5th Night

In order to provide more activities for children of the City of Rahway, George R. Hoagland, superintendent of Recreation, announced that one more playground Roosevelt Field, will be opened in the evening from 6 - 8 p. m. This is the fifth playground to be opened by the city for evening activities. The other playgrounds are Tully, Cleveland, Madison and Brennan. The grounds are opened from Monday through Thursday nights only.

City Opens Playground 5th Night

Nicholas Delmonaco, general supervisor of playgrounds, said that the night activities are attracting between 100 - 250 youngsters. The majority are in the teenage groups. As a result, it is next to impossible to find "kitties" which to play baseball. He said that the students, who come from all over the county in the evenings for a good game of baseball get along together and are enthusiastic about the program. Youngsters from Linden, Roselle, Springfield and Scotch Plains, he said, visit Rahway. The games start at about 6:30 and continue until 9:30 p. m. If you'd like to see youngsters get along smoothly, visit one of the courts and see a game played without supervision or a referee. All, he said, conduct themselves like gentlemen.

Further, what occult powers does this chairman possess that he can predict that John Gallo could not be elected? An even if there were a basis for such an opinion, judgment should be rendered by the electorate -- the only criterion we Americans can recognize.

Italian Americans

We, Americans of Italian descent, wish to call the public's attention to an alleged recent assault upon the basic traditions of our heritage and our Constitution. This reported offense is particularly more grievous because it comes at a time when the entire world is in turmoil while striving for peace.

The incident involved John Gallo who is a member of The Rahway Italian American Club. He was a Councilman -- at -- Large for two terms. John served as council president in 1965, and the official records show he did an outstanding job in office.

It has come to our attention from reliable sources that at a recent meeting of the Democratic City Committee, the name of John Gallo was mentioned as a candidate for mayor on the November ballot. Reportedly, the chairman of that committee passed the remark that an Italian should not be permitted an opportunity to run for office because he could not be elected.

The time has long since passed when an American's background, color, creed or national origin are factors for consideration for an elective office. The measure of a man is by his deeds, and John Gallo has sufficiently demonstrated his worthiness as a man, as an American and as a representative of the people -- all the people, including those who

Algebra Students Having Sum Fun

This summer, 36 youngsters enrolled in the math enrichment classes are enjoying the algebra program provided by the Clark Board of Education.

If, however, the student has mastered the skills presented, he can further his ability with whole numbers, fractions, or decimals and cross number puzzle boxes in the classroom.

Various algebra skills are being introduced, and the students are learning to develop these particular skills. The skills studied will increase the students' knowledge of integers and rationals, as well as introduce: how to simplify and solve expressions and mathematical sentences, how to work with exponents, and how to perform operations with polynomials.

Through group and individualized instruction, each student is able to utilize the allotted time and his abilities. After the lesson and class discussion, if a student needs further reinforcement of a particular skill, he refers to the exercise cards in the algebra skills kit.

Mayor Should Put His Own House in Order, Iozzi Says

In a recent column in a daily paper dated July 18 many statements were made by the mayor of Clark that cannot be left unanswered. The Democratic party in Clark is not divided. If the mayor, by his actions and deeds and underhanded support of other people rather than the Democratic party candidate, calls this division then so be it.

He has left the Democratic party because he expects those members on the council and those interested taxpayers to become lackeys. If we were to look at the record of the council as opposed to the mayor's administration, we find that the attorney who heads our legal staff has left the town without the legal services while he is on vacation. What has the mayor done about this? In the mayor's absence, the business administrator, who lives in Westfield, was appointed acting mayor. When the council had a meeting, or place the dog in a new home, the dog was taken to a laboratory instead of the mayor taking pot shots at the members of the council, he should try to deliver the dog to a laboratory in a manner causing as little pain as possible. With so many problems that need attention in our town, it would seem that a New Jersey will be turned little cooperation from the mayor would be more beneficial to our citizens than his political chicanery.

Selling of Dogs To Labs Is Hit

New Jersey residents should be made aware that Senator H. Wallwork of Essex County has introduced a bill in the New Jersey Senate to amend the state dog law. Senator Wallwork is chairman of the committee to which his bill has been referred.

The Senator's measure provides that impounded dogs which have not been claimed after seven days, in the case of some, or 14 days, in the case of others, shall be disposed of in the following ways: 1. The dog owner shall make additional efforts to locate the dog. 2. The dog warden next must try to place the dog in a new home. 3. If he is unable to locate the owner, or place the dog in a new home, the dog warden may deliver the dog to a laboratory or dealer or cause pot shots at the members of the council, he should try to deliver the dog to a laboratory in a manner causing as little pain as possible. If this bill is enacted it means that the public pounds town, it would seem that a New Jersey will be turned

Lattimore Jabbed For Absence and 'Insincere' Record

Mr. Lattimore further recommends the institution of the methadone program and a detoxification program. These are problems that the commission has wrestled with for a long time because of the lack of agreement among experts as to the effectiveness of using methadone in the treatment of addicts. The newly appointed director of the Drug Abuse Program in Union County is continuing to work up guide lines and controls for such a program. A program such as this with its implications, cost and controversial nature cannot and should not be casually implemented because it is the popular thing to do. Mr. Lattimore further states that he really is concerned in a person now being detoxified in Union County, My own opinion is that this is as it should be.

An Open Letter To Mayor Marsh

What kind of a campaign are you trying to run for re-election? A short while ago, one of your cohorts attacked my husband and his employees in the press. Just because my husband works for Alonzo W. Lawrence and thereby earns the money to support our family, your campaign organization tried to make it look like some sinister plot.

I wrote a letter to the editor then, saying Mr. Lawrence was a good man. My husband is 53 years old and it's hard to find a job at that age. Now from another source in your campaign, a new personal attack is leveled against my husband which again affects our family. This time the slur is that we are anti-Italian. I think you should know a little bit about my down-to-earth family history.

My maiden name was Romeo, and my parents came from Italy. Our first son, Edward married Antonio Cerbone, a lovely daughter-in-law, who was born and raised in Italy. It goes without saying that we would naturally have many friends who trace their family ties back to Italy.

Mr. Mayor, I'm not a politician. I'm married to a wonderful man who is also the municipal chairman of the Rahway Democratic City Committee. My husband has been a hard working Democrat for more than 25 years. Because of this, you fired him - when the Republicans took over the city about four years ago.

Do you know what's going on in your campaign? You are responsible for each and every word and action by your campaign organization. Many of my friends have called me up and told me that you have promised John Gallo an appointment if you win. I don't believe this because John Gallo is a good man, and I consider him a long-standing friend. Why not stop intimidating my family and start acting like a man and talk about the issues which affect Rahway.

Politics in Rhyme: An Ode To the Marsh Administration

I look at my grass and give a sigh;
Our water rate has gone up high.
In neighboring towns that I have seen,
Their lawns are still so nice and green.
I hear the widows and old folks say --
That they no longer can afford to pay;
When they get their bill it makes them sad,
Compared to the ones that they once had.
An increase of forty - six per cent,
Young and old have the same lament,
These foolish boys in City Hall
Should still be playing with bat and ball.
They should never try and interfere
With good folks lives that we hold dear.
Promise! Promise! is all they sell,
A good little town they have turned to a hell.
Empty stores in a once fair city
A ghost town now - what a pity!

Apartment buildings they seem to nurture
Will soon become the slums of the future.
I promise, I promise you is what they say, ing they are interested in kindergarten without any integration when it came to serving in this endeavor? Why weren't there more people at the meetings held for planning this project? Were most of the people present, not on the committee, interested mainly in getting a position? I am not so naive as not to think people who apply for any position are usually interested in the pay. How is the Head Start Program different from the W. F. A. teaching project? Are the "Concerned Citizens for people who need jobs" as particular about them. The Head Start program makes jobs for people whether they need them or not. Just how much does the latter program do for the boys and girls? I understand the children were five years old last year. This year they are from three to five years of age. I have been informed some of them were not toilet trained. Is this correct? Is it possible that next year they will come in diapers? What will the teachers have to do when they bring babies to school? Yes, the teachers are only supposed to have 15 children in a group. The teachers have an aide set down under the state's and assistants. A friend of mine had 55 children in a class last year.
Because it is getting near to Election Day.

Two Motorists Are Suspended

Two Rahway motorists, Dale C. Whittemore, 22, of 171 Maple Ave. and Richard P. Scholl, 19, of 1271 Hedden Pl., were suspended by the New Jersey Division of Motor Vehicles, it was announced today by Donald M. Heyman, director. Both were suspended for two months for driving without a license. Mr. Whittemore was suspended for two months for driving without a license. Mr. Scholl was suspended for two months for driving without a license.

Marsh Sees Good Start For City Relations Panel

"There's no substitute for positive programming," said Mayor John C. Marsh in a statement he issued this afternoon following the initial steps taken by groups formed within the community to deal with the unrest that has beset the city for the last decade. Marsh, referring to the "Action Now" program he obtained from the state and to the newly-organized Board of Community Relations, said that both groups have wasted no time in "focusing in on the problems."

Praising "Action Now" head Courtney Clarke, Marsh said, "I don't need much direction from my office. He knows what to do and how to do it. Already, he's begun working with teams of people he's set up in the target area to repair property and to fix up recreational areas and the response has been just great. The people are with him 100% because they know he's given them someone to whom they can bring their problems, make a big difference."

The mayor said that the Community Relations Board has held two of its sub-committee meetings already, with two more planned for this week. "The amount of work they've done is just incredible," said the mayor. The Early Warning Committee has been organized so that each member has either an area or a group with whom he will maintain regular contact, reporting back to the committee every two weeks or as necessity dictates. "In this way, said Marsh, "we'll have our finger on the pulse of the community at all times. The committee has made a list of every potential 'trouble spot' in the city, including street corners, taverns, stores, schools, playgrounds, certain private residences and every known place of public gathering."

Marsh said that the committee also plans to stay in close contact with school officials, police, playground supervisors and a long list of key individuals who the mayor described as being located in the nerve centers of Rahway.

Marsh said that Community Relations Director Joseph M. Coleman has set up a sub-committee for the Research Committee to begin an exhaustive probe of conditions in the city covering the last ten years in an effort to reveal the root causes of the city's disturbances on what he described as a "factual rather than interpretive basis."

The search will focus on each outbreak, recording descriptive data on the participants, their characteristics and what Marsh called "the announced cause as opposed to what may have been a condition yet unknown."

He said the group would look at prevailing social, economic and educational conditions in an attempt to determine if trends can be observed, marking the genuine cause as one peculiar to Rahway or one reflective of a national or regional condition.

Anti-Car Theft Award Granted

William J. Hawkins of North Brunswick, N. J., won the $20,000 first prize in the Popular Science Anti-Car Theft Device Competition sponsored by the Allstate Insurance Co.

Mr. Hawkins' invention consists of two parts, one of which is located on the instrument panel and the other under the hood. They are connected by a multi-wire cable passing through the fire wall. Any unauthorized person who tries to jump these wires immediately kills the circuits and the would-be thief is thwarted.

Instead of keys there are two plastic pieces about the size of credit cards which control ignition, hood and trunk locks to prevent unauthorized persons from gaining access to them.

Nathan H. Knorr, president of the Watchtower Society, concluded the second "Men of Goodwill" District Assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses at Jersey City's Roosevelt Stadium by speaking to 21,791 delegates on the subject, "Saving the Human Race — in the Kingdom Way."

Pinning the fact that one of the greatest enemies of man is man himself, Knorr said: "Evidently, not the scientific salvation, but the destruction of the human race is the thing to be expected from man himself. We cannot look to what scientists call 'evolution of man' to save us if only it is given some millions of years in which to do so."

"We cannot look to all the psychologists and psychiatrists of the world to change mankind's way of thinking and to cause man to develop a new personality so as to unite together against catastrophe. We cannot depend upon any international police force to be formed strong enough and independent and impartial enough to make the nations behave and make this earth a safe place in which to live."

The Challenge of Religion

A reader has sent us excerpts from a manuscript report of a sermon preached by Rev. Dr. Arthur C. Fulbright, which was placed in the "Congressional Record" by Hon. Richard H. Ichord. The sermon was preached at the Wilkes Boulevard United Methodist Church, Columbia, Mo., on April 26.

"Today, Christendom has joined the syndrome of civil disobedience, social radicalism, and the secularization of the sacred, a disease running rampant throughout our beloved nation!

"Ministers by the thousands, many of them in high echelons and prestigious pulpits, began denying the value of the church's major mission across the years and throwing out Christ centered traditional evangelism, joined the new movements, many of them Communist front organizations, of civil disobedience, social radicalism, and the secularization of the sacred. The pulpit moved far left of center.

"Soul saving -- through the power and grace of Christ the Holy Spirit, went out of social activism came in. Liberals in the Christian church are now riding high. Superiors in the church echelon programs are telling the clergy to 'get with this new social activism,' with the threat that if we do not -- we do not belong to the 'new' Christian movement ...

"Today some of our leaders are still playing the worn out record that certain ethnic and racial groups are not responsible for their actions. Rather it is an oppressive society that is to blame, for which we should all wear sackcloth and ashes until the day we die. I reject such illogical and irresponsible reasoning.

"For a long time now we have not been able to give dissident and militant elements in our midst, white or black, enough 'moral reparations' in special privileges and empowerment to satisfy them. Thus armed with license to break the law, they infringe on the rights of others, far -- left activist groups, both white and black, began mass demonstrations which evolved into riots and open reparations -- all the way from an arbitrary lion's share to 'whole hog' of all church funds, properties and future resources.

"Just as it was inevitable that the anarchist fringe would turn against the government, school administrations, and everything else which represented authority and 'establishment,' these happy pagans, driven by unbelievable successes, were not going to pass up the church. We have thus been confronted by power tactics and coercion under intimidation and threat beyond credibility. However, let it be known: enough of this so-called new theology, new morality emphasis -- we want a change now back to the fundamentals of our evangelical Christian faith! America will continue its moral and spiritual decline.

"Until we get serious about dealing with the root of the problem the root of the problem is spiritual, and unless we are gripped by the desperate spiritual needs of our own lives and of the nation, and do something about it, God will surely come in judgment ..."

"A growing crisis is developing in hundreds of local churches across Christendom. Groups of concerned laymen are organizing in protest against extreme socialistic programs that pander to Black Panthers and their like. This resistance is spreading, and our church leadership in Christendom had better call a halt on all far -- out schemes and ventures, or we are in very serious trouble!

"I think the worst thing today in the church is that despite population explosion, few of our churches are replacing their losses in membership. Why? Well, we stopped renewing hearts and started redeeming social structures. And we achieved nothing! ... Consequently, the masses began looking upon the churches not as soul -- saving, society -- saving stations but as small health, education, and welfare societies. People are asking the church for relief when they need redemption, for reformation when they need regeneration, for pity when they need spiritual power, for hand -- outs when they need an outstretched hand! ...

"As an indication of the reaction against extremist causes and their funding by church organizations, the Episcopal Diocese of Connecticut has called on its member parishes to refuse to participate in a fund drive to support antiwar strikes.

"The action was taken to condemn a prior move by the executive council of the Episcopal Church to have a special, voluntary offering on Sept. 20 to fund student strike activities.

"The Connecticut diocesan executive council praised peaceful students and claimed the denomination's executive council does not speak for the church. This, we feel, is all too often the case.

"The pronouncements of executive bodies of the major churches are, by and large, radical when compared with the thinking of member churches. To fund student strikes is unthinkable, yet on Sept. 20 Episcopal churches will subsidize the opportunity to donate money to this repugnant cause.

When individual churches start protesting misuses of their funds, radical actions by their executive bodies, and laxity in Christian education, they will be helping to restore public confidence in organized religion.

"The action in Connecticut was spearheaded by the rector, wardens, and vestrymen of Trinity Episcopal Church in Thomaston. In an unanimous vote, they forwarded a letter to the Right Rev. John E. Hines, Presiding Bishop of the church. It stated in part:

"We, the undersigned, call for the church's return to its primary task of spreading the gospel of Jesus Christ. We call for the church to stop its wooing of the young people of our nation by seeking to appease their fad of the moment, the will -- o -- the -- wisp whims of unried and unproven minds.

"We call for the church to encourage young people to the academic process of learning, so that, at some future time, they will be able to handle intelligently the problems of our nation.

"Peace at any price has, more often than not, resulted in war at extremely high cost. It is possible that there are other moral and more legitimate ways of seeking peace than by unilateral withdrawal or by negotiation from a position of weakness. We call for the church to let those methods be tried ..."

"The moderate tone of this letter and its emphasis on traditional Christian knowledge is a hallmark more churches could apply follow.

"While this editorial has centered on the two remarks of Protestant churchmen in different states, its lessons are just as applicable locally, nor are its pertinencies confined to the members of the two cited denominations.

"Organized religion -- both Christian and Jewish -- must meet the challenge of secular radicals who would alienate Americans from their heritage by making them believe there is a serious conflict between their faiths and support of their country.

Marsh Eyes Flood Vote, More Federal Assistance

In the wake of a series of some of the most severe flash floods in Union County's history, Rahway Mayor John C. Marsh has ordered a detailed study of the costs involved in expanding the city's storm drainage system to accommodate the huge increase in water volume with which Rahway residents have become burdened.

"We've got to face the problem head-on," said Marsh in a statement issued following a meeting with city officials. "We must exhaust every possible avenue of federal and state assistance, we must find out once and for all, what costs are going to be borne by whom, and then ask ourselves what we can pay and what we are willing to pay on a local level.

"Ability and willingness to pay," said Marsh are questions which our people have a right to answer for themselves on matters involving amounts that can and probably will be in the millions.

Council President William M. Weaver meanwhile has intensified the city's efforts to obtain federal monies for a Rahway River Basin flood control program which he explains "is the only reasonable way to deal with the issue. The people of Rahway," says Weaver, "are not about to pay millions of dollars in order to find a way to control the huge increases in water volume dumped on them by communities upstream. Land development in these upstream towns, like it or not, is an accomplished fact of life. Once buildings have been erected, the ground they occupy obviously cannot continue to soak up rain and moisture as it formerly had.

Moreover, each new structure places additional demands on the river to consume its drainage. The new volume from communities at higher elevations simply builds and builds as it rolls downstream and finally exceeds the capacity of the river and floods the community at the bottom.

"We are the community in the case of the Rahway River," Weaver declared. He further pointed out that federal authorities are aware of the condition, and every possible pressure is being exerted to begin what he termed a "program of meaningful correction."

Councilman-at-Large Ray A. Giacobbe, a builder, said that one step by homeowners troubled by basement flooding is to add a check valve, a hinged type of drain door to the buildings drainage pipe. "Check valves," Giacobbe said, "permit drain water to flow from the building while at the same time prevents water backing up from over flowing storm sewers from entering the cellar.

Giacobbe urged every resident to consult a plumber to determine the cost and feasibility of the measure as it might apply to his building.

Lead Free Gas Shouldn't Have A Premium Price

While viewing a television program, I was delighted to learn that Humble Oil and Refining Co.'s "Plus Gasoline" was lead free. Amoco gasoline was the one and only lead free gasoline until now, and as most people are aware lead is a major factor in air pollution which has become the paramount problem of the auto industry.

I was impressed to learn there are 33 million cars with low compression engines which now use regular grade gasoline. These vehicles could reduce hydrocarbon air pollution by 15%, simply by changing to lead free fuel.

I galloped to my neighborhood Esso dealer the next day and throughout the week used this wonderful gasoline -- this new super fuel -- which would help clean up the air and save my engine, muffler and tailpipe. Then came the coup -- de -- grace, this fantastic boon to mankind costs three to five cents more a gallon.

I would imagine there are many low compression engine owners who would not be willing to pay the extra cost of lead free gasoline, since they are striving to cut operating costs. In my opinion, public outcry will result in federal action against pollution, and all manufacturers will be forced to take action to make lead free gasoline available at no additional cost.

Bright Place to Shop

EVERY POLE'S A WINNING ONE ... Councilman-at-Large Ray Giacobbe, right, and George R. Vansco watch Tony Vellosy, Glenn Miller, Charles Housart and Jim Bishop, clockwise, as the Public Service Lighting crew testifies one of about 90 poles each 35-foot high, to be used in conjunction with the new sodium vapor lamps. Each will provide 64,000 lumens as compared to the 28,000 now offered by the mercury vapor lamps. Rahway thus becomes the first community in Union County and the second in the state to utilize the new innovation. Next time you shop in Rahway, give them the once-over.

The nine-week season of Rahway YMCA's Camp Fairweather is in its sixth week, and Monday will begin its fourth of five periods.

In the brochure that the camp sends out, there are many things which are suggested as being the goals of most young people in the course of a summer. The list includes 62 things which young people ought to want to do. To date, 39 have been done.

Of these, the out-of-town trips are the most popular. There have been five trips, and a sixth will be taken tomorrow.

Tomorrow, a trip will be made on the Hudson Day Line up to Bear Mountain.

A hike ride to Trailside Museum by two leaders and six-day campers and an overnight hike trip to Chester, N.J., are being arranged for next week.

By Ray Hoagland

The Jersey Tigers, led by Joe Williams of Rahway, will open their exhibition season next Friday night against the Pennsylvania Firebirds, the last year's winners of the Atlantic Coast Football League title, at Williams Field, Elizabeth, starting at 8 o'clock.

The league has voted to stop the clock when a first down occurs during the last two minutes of each half. The reason is to avoid confusion, according to Commissioner Cosmo Iacovazzi. "When you have the clock running, the trailing team generally complains that the leading team is using too much time taking its positions. Our new rule is designed to bring order."

The News Record learned this week that Rahway's varsity basketball coach, Bob Tisdale, quit last Monday night.

Mike Long of Colonia County Club won his first two matches in the Metropolitan Amateur golf tournament at the Upper Montclair Country Club. He beat Dick Rubin of Hampshire, 1 up, and Steve Ferro of Forest Hill, 5 and 3.

Frank Taylor of Rahway won the 50-yard dash in the 22nd annual State Playground Olympics at Brookdale Park, Bloomfield. The Rahway team finished ninth in the final standings. Woodbridge won the title, Twenty-one towns were entered in the meet, sponsored by the New Jersey Parks and Recreation Society and the AAU of New Jersey.

A reminder: tonight is the Fishing Derby at Milton

Lake. Don't forget to get there early and register.

Ralph Boccantuso of Oak Ridge was dropped from the opening round of the 24th annual New Jersey State Public Golf Organization championship at the Green Knoll course. Boccantuso lost, 3-2, to Bob Crane of Branch Brook.

Dan Zboyan, also of Oak Ridge, won his opening match, 3 and 2, over Jim McElroy of Branch Brook.

Byron Brown shot a hole-in-one on the Oak Ridge course in Clark on the 140-yard, third hole, using an 8-iron. He was playing with Bill Goetz, Bill Mirro and Jim Scauzzo.

John Werbeck and L. Bader, S. Walters and P. Firmano and C. Schweizer and P. Hennessey shot eight under in the shot gun tourney at Colonia.

At Oak Ridge on Saturday, the kicker was taken by John Manger and Joe Ferraro, each with 71, while on Sunday Emil Wojcik and Marty Feldman had 70.

In second-round action in the NJPGO tourney, Dan Zboyan of Oak Ridge defeated Harry Scott of Freakness Valley, 3 and 2. The tournament continues Saturday at Green Knoll, where two rounds will be played with a 36-hole final slated for Sunday.

The "Bad Guys," the Umpires, came from behind with five runs in the fifth inning to defeat the "Good Guys," the Managers, in the annual baseball game by a score of 12-8. This game is part of the Rahway Recreation Department.

Bill "Home Run" Gritschke's grand slammer was the big blow of the game. The Umpires were sparked by Gritschke's four-for-four and Ray Duffy, Rowland Rullia and Norm Rakett with two hits each. For the Managers, Vince Tremonti was the batting and fielding star getting four-for-four and six assists, turning one into a fast double play. Charles Albert and Frank Guyre hit home-ers, while Charles Salles

Your youngest child aims the neutron gun that starts a nuclear reactor. Aim it right or you won't split the atom! It's a great way to make learning about nuclear energy fun. (You can try it, too.)

Or, why not try to generate electricity with your own energy. You'll never feel the same about flicking a switch after you visit the Second Sun. And how about operating a real live, crackling, space-age Geiger Counter? Or see how early man struggled to capture and harness energy. All aboard the Second Sun!

There's a spellbinding theater presentation aboard the Second Sun too... and much, much more. Come on aboard the Second Sun.

OPEN NOW, FREE! Wednesday through Friday... 9 to 4 Saturday... 10 to 6 Sunday... 12 to 6

Fish Derby Catches 438 Kids

Four-hundred and 38 youngsters, a record, participated in the annual Fishing Derby sponsored by the Rahway Recreation Department at Milton Lake Park, Rahway.

The derby was previously held on the Fourth of July in conjunction with the holiday-at-home bike race, but the program is now part of the special activities offered to Rahway youngsters by the summer playground personnel.

The previous high registration was 315 youngsters in 1969. The derby was under the direction of Nicholas P. Deimonaco, general supervisor of playgrounds. Thomas Hoagland, assistant, and Casimir Begier, special activities director with the department. They were assisted by the number of children present that mothers were pressed into service to help with the registration.

Parents who escorted their youngsters numbered in the area of 400 to 500. Several parents helped distribute free poles and worms. Such a great number of children were present that mothers were pressed into service to help with the registration.

Otto Flamm of the fish and game commission was in charge of measuring and marking the fish that were caught in the contest. Arthur DeLorenzo, president of Rahway Kiwanis, was in charge of giving free orange drink to the youngsters. The drinks were provided by the Kiwanis Club.

The summer program has two more weeks to function. Deimonaco said that because of such response to the activity that it will continue as a fixture. Special activities were held periodically during the summer program so that parents could attend with their children. Plans for the future for other activities are now on the drawing board. Rahway Post 681 also assisted at the affair.

Refuse Collection and Disposal

Beautifying America is clearly one of the major present concerns of our society. Just a glance at the vocabulary of environmental crisis—pollution, blight, deterioration, delapidation, ghetto, decay, etc.—is an indicator of that concern which exists because the environmental problem has dire implications for every citizen.

Waste disposal has reached critical proportions. Dumps have been closed or restricted for use by the municipality or combined private refuse collectors which own them because the availability of landfill sites is rapidly decreasing and the refuse continues to mount at rates far in excess of the population increase. Since landfill is presently a far cheaper method of disposal than incineration, those who own sites wish, rationally enough, to save them for their use.

For those communities lacking landfill sites, both Rahway and Clark, new alternatives to landfill will have to be explored in the near future. As many of you are aware, Mayor John C. Marsh has been looking into the possibility of establishing an incinerator combine with other communities that will help to meet this problem. This particular process they are investigating also places great emphasis on reclaiming materials from the waste—various metals, paper, etc. While this reclamation process will bring in some revenue, it has never justified an incineration process, whose major income has always been either public funds in the case of a municipal burner or fees charged by the incinerator owner, private parties or a municipality, to either private contractors or refuse haulers from other communities. This monumental problem of disposal clean-up rests with private refuse collectors through free enterprise and municipal governments.

The easier side of the refuse dilemma, collection, is something local groups can do a lot to alleviate. One of the advancements of recent years has been the use of plastic trash liners usually made of polyethylene which aid in easy pickup and are sealed off from the environment and reduce the disease hazards posed by insects, vermin and pilferage.

Realizing the problem, the Rahway Jaycees Human Environmental Committee has initiated a trash liner program by offering high quality bags at the cost of $3.50 per roll of 50 and $6 per roll of 100. The bags may be purchased from any member of the Jaycees or by writing to the Rahway Jaycees, P.O. Box 731, Rahway 07065. The proceeds of this project will be used to fund Rahway community service programs.

Letters to the Editor

A Letter of Appreciation

I want to express my deep appreciation to the Clark Patriot for your excellent coverage of the Clark Summer School activities for the past two years. All of you who played a part in publishing the releases which reported the good things children were doing during the summer are to be commended. Many parents commented to me about your very generous use of summer program material. They along with their children enjoyed reading the many interesting articles. The children were excited about seeing themselves and their friends in the numerous pictures you printed.

JFK Raises (Lowers) the Roof

The roof went on the John F. Kennedy Memorial Center, a handsome new building amidst the groaning of a huge crane donated by the United Excavating Co., the collective gushing of perspiration from the brows of the United Ironworkers who, under arrangements made by business agent Gerald McCaffery, were volunteering their labor in the oppressive 90° heat, and the energetic assistance of a large group of youths from the Hazelwood Ave. area, where the building is located.

The building, scheduled to open before the end of the year, will house a wide range of programs for the city's disadvantaged, with a heavy emphasis on youth activities. Community action is the appropriate function to be quartered in the new structure, operating under the federally-sponsored CAPEO (Community Action for Economic Opportunity) program.

Community Action chairman Charles Brown was enthusiastic in his praise of the many individuals and organizations who made the building a reality. "I went to Mayor John Marsh shortly after he took office," said Brown, "and told him of the needs and problems of the disadvantaged people of Rahway. He told me that the city was anxious to help, but first wanted us to demonstrate that we were willing and able to help ourselves. We took a broken down little poolroom right here on the very spot where the center is being built, referring to the site amidst the groaning of a huge crane donated by the United Excavating Co., the collective gushing of perspiration from the brows of the United Ironworkers who, under arrangements made by business agent Gerald McCaffery, were volunteering their labor in the oppressive 90° heat, and the energetic assistance of a large group of youths from the Hazelwood Ave. area, where the building is located.

"Then Mayor Marsh really turned an enemy into a friend," Brown enthused. "I think he called up half the people in the state, from the governor to the school swingers, asking for money, volunteer labor and volunteer materials. Merck & Co. was more than generous in their support, as were a great many other companies and private businessmen. Mayor Marsh was here at all hours of the day and night, supervising and pitching in with his dirty work. He kept his promise." Asked to comment on Brown's statement, Marsh said, "I issued the challenge and Charlie called my hand. I told him that I wanted proof that these people would help themselves, and a few months later my phone rang late at night. It was Charlie, asking me to come to the center. "I was astounded. That filthy old shack suddenly had become a clean, well-painted attractive little building. The trouble was, of course, that it was a 'little' building. That's when we went to work together. The result now is more than just a building. It's a symbol of hope and harmony. It's physical evidence of the fact that blacks and whites can work together productively. It is truly a monument to social progress in our town."

Jones: Mayor Did 'Racist' Groups Not Make Offer Seeking Peace, Quiet Are Hit

The following appeared recently in a column in a local paper: Marsh has objected to James C. Jones' attempts to open a Negro funeral home on Elm Avenue, near the location of another mortuary. To critics who accuse him of prejudice, Marsh contends that a second funeral home there would not help traffic congestion. The mayor claims he offered to assist Jones in buying land on George Avenue, near Marsh's home, but Jones refused the offer.

I did not refuse the offer because no such offer was ever made. I resent the fact that the mayor is using my name in a falsified manner to capture votes in his bid for re-election. My attempts to open a funeral home have been met with much opposition, and I refuse to be a pawn in a political maneuver. I demand an explanation for the impertinent misrepresentation of my efforts.

Where to Write To Stop Sale of Dogs to Labs

On July 30 my letter concerning Senator James H. Wallwork's Bill 875 appeared in The News Record. The senator's bill would allow public pounds in New Jersey to sell dogs to laboratories and dealers who collect for laboratories. I suggest that all those who oppose such a bill write and protest it to Senator Wallwork, Senator Harry L. Sears or your own state senator. Address all three to the State House, Trenton.

'Racist' Groups Seeking Peace, Quiet Are Hit

It is ironic that the Rahway Board of Education should accuse the Concerned Citizens for a Constructive Community of being "politically motivated" when the controlling board faction of the Rahway Citizens for Neighborhood Schools is itself one of the most politically motivated groups in this city.

We might also question the board's claim that it is thinking only of "students and the peace and quiet they are entitled to." Peace and quiet brought by an iron hand and a deaf ear to student voices will never solve the educational problems in Rahway.

It is high time that the people of Rahway stop forming political and racist groups in the name of peace and quiet and start working towards true harmony and quality in our educational system. We stand now at a crossroad—let us choose one path and walk it together.

Who says November is far away? You wouldn't know it from Monday night's council meeting where the politicians discovered a veritable impediment to the age-old practice of late summer/early fall handshaking. It seems that the ordinance restricting canvassers to those obtaining permits was applicable to Republicans and Democrats as they goot and down Rahway's streets seeking votes.

Since this was deemed a restriction of free men in a free society—besides which it hindered you from getting elected—council passed the following amendment excluding "...any public utility as defined in R.S. 48:2-1 or to any employee thereof; any licensed real estate broker or licensed real estate salesman; or any candidate campaigning for or seeking an elective office or any person campaigning on behalf of such candidate." Fun aside, they did the right thing.

Asked to comment on Brown's statement, Marsh said, "I issued the challenge and Charlie called my hand. I told him that I wanted proof that these people would help themselves, and a few months later my phone rang late at night. It was Charlie, asking me to come to the center. "I was astounded. That filthy old shack suddenly had become a clean, well-painted attractive little building. The trouble was, of course, that it was a 'little' building. That's when we went to work together. RAY'S CORNER SPORTS

Miss Diane Frazee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Frazee of St. George Ave., is a member of the Jersey Tiger cheerleader squad. She is the only Rahway resident on the nine-girl squad, which will be a smart-looking group when they appear this Saturday night at Williams Field for the exhibition game with the Pottstown Firebirds.

The general styling is modeled after that of their affiliate team, the National Football League Baltimore Colts. The Tigers will wear white pants with an orange stripe, blue shirts with white numbers and orange trim and white helmets with an orange Tiger emblem on each side.

Bill McEntee, vice president of Colonia Country Club, shot a two-under-par 33 on the ninth hole for a birdie, sank a spectacular 70-foot putt for a bird on the 10th green and capped his fine round by hitting a 40-footer for a bird on the 18th.

The single largest crowd for the Atlantic Coast Football League was the 14,000 for a Buckskin game against its arch rival, the Richmond Roadrunners.

The championship playoff in which the Pottstown Firebirds dethroned the Knights of Hartford, 20-9, on the night of Nov. 29, also set a league record. The total receipts were $34,900. This was almost $5,000 over the gate mark set in the Virginia Sallor - Knights playoff at Hartford in 1968 when the fans paid $30,008 to see the Knights take a 30-17 thriller.

The Watching Conference has a new football coach. He is Alfred J. Kluck, former head man at North Plainfield. He succeeds Dick Lawrence, who recently resigned.

Mike Panko of Rahway, playing in the Class "A" New York - Penn baseball league, had four hits in 12 trips last week for a .333 average. Among his blows were a homer and a triple.

Pat Goff of Clark is a starter in the qualifying round of the Union County Public Links championships at Galloping Hill.

Lauri Szorno, former softball pitcher at Rahway, shot the first hole-in-one of his career on the Colonia Country Club's 163-yard sixth hole, using a No. 4 Iron.

McEntee and Mrs. Feruce had the day's best gross score of 77.

In the Class "A" tourney, the winners were John Webeck, also a former Rahwayan who was captain of the high school basketball team, and Jean Hornsby, 59; Class "B" - Dolph Matterno and Mrs. John Webeck, 53; points for par, Class "A", John Romano, 22; Class "B", Paul Olsen, 20, and Mim Murphy 20, and Class "C", it was C. T. Thompson, 20.

In the member - guest tournament, Chick Harrison and Andy Stasluk had 61, Charles Schwenzler and Nate Strange, 63, Charles Fraser and Al Wuehrmann, 60, and John Petri and Henry Kakek, 63.

Pat Goff of Clark shot a 79 for the 18-hole qualifying round of the Union County Public Links championship at Galloping Hill course.

Yankees moved him to their Oneonta, N.Y., team have been home runs.

Peter Skolsky of Rahway won the pool on the Miss Highlands reported Capt. Charles Fossant out of Atlantic Highlands.

Marc Lesser of the caddie corps at Colonia Country Club has received one of the 12 caddie scholarships sponsored by the New Jersey State Golf Association.

Frank Spaziani of Clark is expected to be the starting quarterback for the Jersey Jays of the Atlantic Coast Football League.

Two Clark golfers witnessed the ace scored by Charlie Ebert of Westfield at the Oak Ridge club. He used a No. 7 iron on the 160-yard 13th hole.

Plescia can't wait for his favorite sports, hockey, so that he can see his Detroit Red Wings come to town to battle the Rangers. He goes to every one of the games. He reports that Gordie Howe is getting ready for his 25th season and that Capt. Alex Del Vecchio will start his 20th year with the Wings.

Mrs. Joseph Feruce posted net cards of 72-73 for a 145 total to capture the 36-hole medal play in the Colonia Country Club memorial tournament for women golfers.

2 Local Gridders Help Sharpen Tigers' Claws

Two Rahway football players will be seen in action on Saturday night, when the Jersey Tigers meet the Pottstown Firebirds at 8 o'clock in Williams Field, Elizabeth. They are Joe Williams, generally recognized as one of the most outstanding Rahway High School football players, and Edward "Spider" Daniels, who performed for the Indians about a decade ago.

Williams, who is 28, will play offensive halfback. Last Saturday's inter-squad game, Williams showed some of his old speed when he took a swing pass and ran 16 yards for a first down to the 40-yard line late in the first half.

While playing for the Indians, Williams set a Union County scholastic season record of 191 points in one season. He also established an all-time county mark of 42 points in the Springfield regional game at Veterans Field.

He played three years for the University of Iowa, during which he was named to the Coaches, All-American second team. He ran a kickoff back 105 yards against USC on a national TV Game of the Week for the Hawkeyes. After leaving college, he played in the Canadian League as a member of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers, who won the Gray Cup championship.

During the last nine years, Williams played both in the Canadian and Continental League and in 1968 scored 18 touchdowns to lead the league in rushing and scoring. Williams is regarded as the best schoolboy runner to come out of this area. He was All-State fullback in his last two years with the Indians.

Daniels was a standout back at Rahway and has been playing for the Plainfield Red Oaks for the last several seasons. He ran an interception back 50 yards for a touchdown during the inter-squad game last week. He is a defensive back.

The Tigers will open their regular season on Friday, Sept. 4, at Bridgeport.

It wasn't built in a day.

Somebody didn't just say, "Hey, this is the year for little economy cars—let's build one, and there appeared a 1970 Volkswagen." Fact is, 25 years of Volkswagens preceded it. And we put in something else besides the years. Improvements, 237 of them. If there's one thing we learned about making economy cars, it's this: There's no such thing as over-night success.

A Matter for Dredging

ALL SILTED UP... That's one of the immediate problems about Pumpkin Patch Brook: where the water should flow freely, there are obstructions. Council moved to remedy this problem on Aug. 3 when it appropriated $9,500 to dredge Pumpkin Patch Brook from Woodbridge line to Oak Ridge Road. One problem spot along the way is the bridge at Brookside Terrace which becomes a dam during heavy rainstorms, since silt reduced the depth between the bottom of the creek and the ceiling of the bridge to a dangerous point. Robert Tussel, a local contractor, will unblock the stream as soon as possible, and, as a continuing effort, the Pumpkin Patch Brook flood control project, Phase I, is proceeding. Eventually, considerable portions of the stream will be piped in. Hopefully, then, residents will be able to breathe easier in the First Ward.

Draft Info Service Opens

Beginning today, a free service will be provided in Rahway to help young men between the ages of 16-26 understand what their rights and responsibilities are concerning serving their country.

Impartial information will be provided for those who wish to understand more fully the forms their service may take, the options open to them, and their rights within the law.

The service will focus primarily on the regulations and requirements of the Selective Service System, the draft, and will also make information available on military service and the national service projects such as VISTA, the Peace Corps and the National Teacher Corps.

This service was begun by a group of Rahway residents and will be offered at two locations on two nights each week: Tuesdays from 7:30 - 9:30 p.m. at the JFK Community Center on Hazelwood Ave. and on Thursdays from 7:30 - 9:30 p.m. at the YMCA on Irving St., both in Rahway.

The Rahway Draft Information Service, as it is called, is an independent group trying to meet the needs of the community, and it is not connected with any political organization.

The service is designed solely to answer questions and offer the facts to young men of Rahway and surrounding communities so that they can better make their own decisions with respect to how their service obligation can best be met.

For further information, please stop in at the YMCA or the JFK Community Center on Tuesday or Thursday nights or call Rick Wiebusch at 381-6046.

'Go Day' For Lundy Is Tuesday

A massive volunteer effort on behalf of Daniel F. Lundy, Democratic Congressional candidate in the 12th District, which includes Clark, will take place on Tuesday, Aug. 18. Mark De Wan has been named to direct the day's activities in Clark.

The purpose of the day-long effort is to introduce district residents to Lundy and his positions on the many issues which are vital to the welfare of the district and the nation.

Which is why Aug. 18 has been designated as "Go Day" by the Citizens for Lundy organization. Robert Jensen, a student at Yale Law School, has been named overall chairman for the day's activities.

"Go Day" will consist of mass leafleting by volunteers in shopping centers, municipal swimming pools, train and bus stations and other key places within the individual towns. At the same time, the volunteers will be encouraging old and new residents to register for the November election.

Volunteers participating in the activities will be from every town within the district and will be representative of all age groups.

You can. Not just because of what someone says about God. But because of what you yourself can learn and prove about divine Love.

Like the woman who was instantly freed by an assailant one night — when she turned to God in prayer. Or the entertainer whose back was healed through prayer after he was told he couldn't walk without surgery.

These individuals found that divine Love meets even the most challenging human needs... that powerful spiritual laws are available for anyone to use.

You can learn more of these laws by reading this week's Bible Lesson.

The Rahway News-Record learned this week that the Rahway High School football schedule for 1971 will show the return of Thomas Jefferson of Elizabeth for their first meeting on the gridiron since 1955.

The teams met for several seasons, when the Elizabeth school was called Barlin, then, when Jefferson was opened in 1929, they played eight years in a row, with Rahway winning two, ties and the Tee-Jays taking four.

Rahway and Jeff last played in 1955, with the Indians winning by 19.0. The teams will meet in the second game of the 1971 season.

The annual Thanksgiving Day game with Springfield will end this fall. Starting next year, the Colonia Patriots will play the Indians at Veterans Memorial Field in the Turkey Day feature. The school officials hope this game will become a holiday fixture. The teams tangled this year in the third of the series, each having won a game.

Faber, former New York Yankee pitcher Ralph Terry were the leading pros under par. Faber had an eagle on the 322-yard 12th. His tee shot traveled 250 yards, then hit a wedge for the score. Faber birdied the second, a three-footer, the eighth, an eight-footer, and the 14th hole, a 12-footer.

IT WAS, AND WASN'T, A PICNIC... Don't let that throw you, sports fans. It's easily explained, alas. Members of senior team (top photo) are shown with the trophies they won after finishing fourth in track and field championships sponsored by Union County Park Commission. The junior team, also, also finished fourth. So, you see, it wasn't exactly a picnic. However, a picnic (center photo) was held in conjunction with the championships. And the youngsters really enjoyed it. Then the athletic spirit took another big dip (bottom photo) when the Rahway playground Olympic team finished ninth, alas, in the state meet at Bloomfield. What's more - and we're sorry about this - nobody, but nobody, identified any of the youngsters. Alas.

Instruction In Archery Available

Those who plan to hunt for the first time with a bow and arrow must comply with a New Jersey State law which provides that persons before obtaining their initial license must take a course of instruction in safety and proficiency. A certificate indicating that the person has complied with the law must be presented to the license agent.

Each year, the Watching Bowmen, with the cooperation of the Union County Park Commission, provide experienced, state-approved safety instructors and appropriate classroom locations to enable residents of the county to obtain without cost the safety and proficiency certificate required to obtain a bow-hunting license. The certified instructors this year will be Richard Sage, Larry Spangenberg of Clark, Joseph Pezant, Stanley Sankus and William Torrance.

The course will consist of four hours of instruction and testing: two hours of lecture and two hours of practice and examinations and will be given twice. The lecture will be presented on Tuesday, Sept. 8, from 8 p.m. to 10 p.m. in the administration building of the Union County Park Commission, Warinanco Park, Elizabeth. WILLIAMS ON TIGERS: It's a New Team That Has 'Desire'

"We'll be all right before the first league game," Joe Williams told Rahway News-Record Sports Editor Ray Hoagland last Friday night, after he came off Williams Field as the Jersey Tigers completed their final workout before their opening exhibition game with the Porttown, Pa., Firebirds.

"This is a new team, but it has desire," said Mr. Williams. Williams appeared to be in excellent condition following the workout and is looking forward to another good season.

Coch Ken Carpenter, head man of the Tigers, said that "Joe is a proved ballplayer. He has had experience in the Continental Football League and with Merwin Walet will be our number one back."

"Williams' record speaks for itself. He was a great star at Rahway, an outstanding player in college and led the 'Tigers' in ground gaining and scoring in the Continental League."

"Joe could fill the shoes of many of the stars in the National Football League. He's a Jimmy Brown or Leroy Kelly-type of runner. He'll break tackles and go the distance for you."

Carpenter said about Williams: "The mark of a good running back is being able to follow your guards. A lot of backs run too close, some will stay back too far. Joe has great ability to use his pulling guards."

Carpenter is well pleased with another Rahway boy, Ed Daniels, a defense back. The 6-2, 190-pounder will see much action this fall. He does not have the experience of some of the other backs, but he is a worker."

The Tigers, who play for the Atlantic Coast Football League, will travel to Richmond, Va., to meet the Saints on Saturday at 8 p.m. in their second exhibition game. The Tigers dropped their opener to the league champs, 21-10, before 4,400 fans.

Grid Gate For Classic Is Sellout

The New York Giants will play the Philadelphia Eagles at Princeton's Palmer Stadium on Saturday, Sept. 5, and more than 40,000 fans from the New Jersey, Pennsylvania and New York area will attend this annual sell-out grid classic.

Working actively to make the affair another successful one will be the Rahway Jaycees. They will be seeking to earn their share of the charity dollars to be spent in Rahway.

Their efforts for the last three years have earned more than $1,000 per year, which has been used to develop a scholarship grant program for Rahway graduates. This spring, three $250 grants were awarded to local seniors.

Ticket chairman Robert Ridgway announced to the Jaycee membership that an unusually large flock of $6 tickets has become available for local sale. Up until Saturday, tickets can be purchased in Rahway at the Sherwin-Williams store or by calling 381-7130 or 381-2994.

Jaycees were also reminded that time is running out if they want to sign up and attend the game as souvenir hawkers.

Paul Burt had three hits for the losers, while Ten-toni and Glenn Gyure had two each.

Reference Innovations At Library

More than 210 patrons of the Clark Public Library journeyed throughout the world on Thursday nights "Travels in the Sun". Now, you may study in detail each country of the world from delightful Holland in Europe or exotic Kuwait in the Middle East, or the land of the kangaroo in Australia or our neighbor to the north, Canada, through pamphlets now available on loan in the vertical file. Come in and browse through them. During September, some will be on display in the exhibit cases.

Did you want a digest of the political, social and economic picture of the nation last week? If you did, you should try a new service at the library called "Research Institute Reports." The reports are used by many in-house firms for market analysis or before a stock purchase. These weekly commentaries are invaluable sources of national news.

I am going to write my congressman. Now you may ascertain current information on your local, state and national officials in this reference source, Miss Grace O'Connor, the new reference librarian, will be glad to show you how it may be used most effectively. The new source book is "Encyclopedia of Government Officials" by Taylor.

CSB Hails Know Your Arts, Crafts Winners in Government

Awaiting return of the New Jersey Legislature in September are record-high stacks of some 2,000 measures, Of 970 Senate and 1,242 Assembly bills and resolutions introduced since the first of the year, 290 had passed both houses prior to recess on June 22.

Of the latter, 181 bills and six resolutions had become part of the public law through mid-August. The remainder await the governor's signature. The General Assembly resumes work on Monday, Sept. 14, and the Senate on Thursday, Sept. 17. Bills not passed this year will carry over into the second session of the State's first two-year Legislature convening in January, 1971.

New Jersey voters will face two proposals to amend the State Constitution at the Nov. 3 general election. The first would lower the voting age from 21 to 19 years, the second would raise real property tax bill deductions to a maximum $160 for New Jersey residents 65 years of age or over with incomes under $5,000.

In proposing the doubling of property tax deductions of senior citizens, the fall ballot referendum embraces new policy in that it would direct state government to reimburse municipalities one-half the cost of the tax deductions; the New Jersey Taxpayers Association observed.

In addition to organizing and exploratory sessions, the 37 members of the State Policy Committee appointed by the governor have had a heavy load of summer homework in the form of collection of earlier reports and studies on the subject weighing, in total, 17 pounds.

New Jersey's 567 municipalities include 20 villages, 21 towns, 234 townships, 257 boroughs and 53 cities. The latter are legislatively divided into four classifications according to population or their location along the Atlantic Ocean. Operations and costs of many municipalities and counties could be affected by results of the 1970 Federal census.

The Meaning of Right to Work

In those states which have preserved the right to work, an employee enjoys his freedom to work at his occupation whether he is or is not a labor union member.

Right to work means that an employee cannot be forced to join or pay money to a labor union - or any other private organization - in order to get a job, or hold a job.

Right to work protects the basic right of individuals to choose either membership or non-membership in a labor organization.

Right to work does not interfere in any way with legitimate union activity.

It does not restrict the right of employers to organize and bargain collectively with their employees.

Right to work relates to only one issue: compulsory unionism.

Whether unions in general are useful or harmful is a question which is not relevant to the right to work issue.

Rather, the only question posed by the right to work principle is whether an American citizen may be compelled to join and make financial contributions to any organization - church, labor union, lodge or civic club - in order to get or hold a job.

Right to work enables union members to curb the power of union officials.

The employee's fundamental American right of free choice is protected by right to work legislation.

That right to work should be a fundamental individual right seems unassailable. Not long ago the respected Scripps-owned newspaper chain editorialized, "The principle of right to work is not at all anti-union. It is in line with all four basic concepts of freedom - freedom to speak, freedom to vote, freedom to worship, freedom to choose."

This editorial reflects the thinking of most American union membership. Yet in 31 states compulsory unionism is legal. For these reasons the National Right to Work Committee exists. The national committee is a coalition of employers and employees, organized in 1955 with a single purpose: protecting the right of individual workers to join or not to join a union without losing their jobs.

This national committee holds that any person has a right to join a union. He should have the same right

Monday, Sept. 24

Over the last few months I have read in The Clark Patriot an increasing number of letters expressing concern over the registration of voters.

Whether unions in general are useful or harmful is a question which is not relevant to the right to work issue.

Rather, the only question posed by the right to work principle is whether an American citizen may be compelled to join and make financial contributions to any organization - church, labor union, lodge or civic club - in order to get or hold a job.

Right to work enables union members to curb the power of union officials.

The employee's fundamental American right of free choice is protected by right to work legislation.

That right to work should be a fundamental individual right seems unassailable. Not long ago the respected Scripps-owned newspaper chain editorialized, "The principle of right to work is not at all anti-union. It is in line with all four basic concepts of freedom - freedom to speak, freedom to vote, freedom to worship, freedom to choose."

The national committee is a coalition of employers and employees, organized in 1955 with a single purpose: protecting the right of individual workers to join or not to join a union without losing their jobs.

This national committee holds that any person has a right to join a union. He should have the same right to join. He should not be coerced either by his factory boss or by the union boss. Or should we pretend this is still a free country?

McDonough Asks Training Program for New Appointees

Assemblyman Peter J. McDonough (R-District 9C) has reached such proportions that municipal zoning and training code practices are being attacked. He is asking for a training program for new appointees to the boards of zoning, planning, and other boards of review, and county boards of zoning.

'Luv' and the V.D. Explosion

By E. Sidman Wechter

A few daddling oldsters over 30 may recall that after World War II, scientists and the public dared to believe that antibiotics, especially penicillin, would be able to safeguard mankind from many of the diseases that have plagued man since the dawn of time.

Meanwhile, even during the 1950's, gonorrhea has been increasing at a steady rate of 12 per cent per annum. Dr. McKenzie-Pollock is convinced that over half of the 1.5 million people in this country now have this disease. This is based on the estimate of public health officials that only one in eight V.D. infections is reported to the authorities.

Perhaps the aspersions who are so apt to use the classroom for imparting information on sex and its perversions to disinherited tons and immature teenagers had better pause to contemplate morality and self-control in their classrooms for pragmatic and social reasons, if no other.

It might be desirable to screen one of the excellent Army films on V.D. for students on the junior high school level, so they may be aware of the other side of the "Luv coin."

Busy Bee Adds First K-Class

The Busy Bee Schools will institute its first kindergarten class this September. In order to maintain high standards of instruction, the class will be limited to no more than 15 pupils.

Since the founding of the school three years ago, its philosophy is one that recognizes that the development of young people and that these formative years are most important in the development of attitudes toward learning.

The program is designed around the individual child and what he is capable of learning. It is designed to make him aware of himself as a social and emotional being.

The goal of Busy Bee Schools is to help each child become self confident, happy with friends, proud of skills, and aware of the rights of others.

To accomplish this, a program designed around the needs of each child and emotional growth will be provided. The training allows for the child's individual experiences, as well as exposure to good literature, art, and music.

For several years, Mrs. Burkhardt, director, has been a candidate for an advanced degree in early childhood education at Newark State College, has a master's degree from Newark State College, and has a master's degree from Rutgers University for 10 years.

Picnic Ends
A Summer
For Tots
The special summer Rahway Recreation Department program for retarded children ended last week with an all-day picnic at the county park.
The program, which ran for seven weeks, was co-sponsored by the Rahway Service League and the Rahway Elks Club. There were 23 youngsters enrolled on a full-time basis.
The program was under the direction of Mrs. Mary Jane Sisler and Miss Susan Roediger and they were assisted by Casimir X. Begier, special activities director for the recreation department.
Some of the trips sponsored by the league for the children were to the Statue of Liberty, Gingerbread Castle, Standard Bread

Products, Roseland Railroad and Farm and Terri-Lou Acres.
The children were treated to luncheons on several occasions by the PTA for retarded youngsters and also had complete use of a maintained swimming pool twice a week.
The Rahway Board of Education also co-operated in the program, which was termed a huge success by Nicholas F. DeLmonaco, general supervisor.

City Pupils in 'Operation Ireland'

There's good news today for Rahway students who are members of Junior Achievement.
They will be among a group of 900, representing 20 public and parochial high schools, who will compete for openings in "Operation Ireland," an undertaking which will send them by International Airlines on a visit to industrial, educational and cultural sites in the Emerald Isle.

The project was approved at a meeting in the United States Embassy in Dublin, Ireland, between American and Irish officials.

The announcement was made by Philip C. Osterman, president of Junior Achievement of Union County.

Young people are living in an energy-oriented society. Thanks to modernized transportation and communications, foreign countries and their people are only hours away and the actions and decisions of businessmen and government leaders abroad are flashed on our television screens and newscasts in many instances while they are still happening thousands of miles away.

"These Junior Achievers are the leaders of tomorrow.
Meeting, communicating with and understanding people of other countries will be an invaluable lesson in human and international relations as well as in international trade and the effects of international commerce on our lives and our economy."

The teenage winners of "Operation Ireland" will spend about 10 days as guests in the homes of Irish students.

Although Rahway city council passed two ordinances earlier this year at the request of the Rahway Citizens for Flood Control, Inc., more local legislation and superiority are urged by the executive committee, this will be one of the main topics for discussion at the next regular meeting of the RCFC
on Monday night, Sept. 14, at 8 o'clock in St. Mark's Hall on Hamilton St. off Central Ave., Rahway.

"Welcome aboard," said group president Howard E.
Baker, referring to last week's published statement by Council President William M. Weaver, on the need for need to clean storm sewers and remove river encroachments.

"If Mr. Weaver and other city officials are truly sincere in wanting to help us, particularly in the Robinson's Branch area, they should follow our suggestions and work out meaningful and practical city ordinances to prevent river blockage," Baker said.

"We need ordinance requiring a permit to pick up or dump any kind of fill anywhere in Rahway. There ought to be some fine for littering, too. Our planning director, Andrew Kasmuski, an engineer on the Pennsylvania Railroad, has repeatedly urged the need for construction of retaining walls or adding fill to the river and streams need revisiting, if so, let's go."

As for river encroachments, the city engineer, Fred Necessary to remove such river blockage when the said responsible parties have failed to do so after repeated state orders and set deadline dates, and tax-assess the costs,"
Baker said.

Robert W. Schroy, president of the Citizens for Flood Control, Inc., said that his group has proved to be on the right track to both short-range and long-range flood control. The RC FC supports the overall Rahway Basin Plan, which will take years for the survey alone, but urges immediate action on the need for hydraulic engineering to judge the right size of new storm sewers, but political local professionals have been lagging behind the professional public works and sewerage control by so-called simple citizens.

"After all, Mr. Weaver has been in council since 1962 and is just beginning to wake up to the need for flood-related ordinance. Improving removal of encroachments as sewers, removing encroachments,"

Commenting on Weaver's remarks concerning the need for professionals to do the job, Baker said, "we're glad there are some interested amateurs, otherwise we'd still be waiting for action.
True, we need professional hydraulic engineers to judge
the right size of new storm sewers, but political local professionals have been lagging behind the professional
public works and sewerage control by so-called simple citizens."

For example, Baker said,
"Through our contacts with the New York district of the Army Corps of Engineers, the federal department of public works, and project state and federal authorities, we have the promise of a $1,000,000 flood fund for comprehensive improvements in the Robinson's Branch of the Rahway River.
Everything hinges now on the removal of encroachments as a necessary first step."

Mrs. Proudfoot, who is the widow of the late Perry Alexander Proudfoot, M.D., will retire on Monday, Aug. 31. She was employed at the hospital as a part-time dietitian on Feb. 8, 1954, and became a full-time member of the staff on Aug. 1, 1957.

Representatives of hospital organizations and co-workers presented gifts to Mrs. Proudfoot as members of the hospital and medical staffs gathered in the board room, which was decorated with a culinary theme.

John L. Yoder, director, described the intrigue that was necessary to surprise the guest of honor at her reception, a well-kept secret by the entire staff. The employee committee which planned the reception consisted of Miss Kay Sobn, Mrs. Donovan, Mrs. Geraldine Casey, Mrs. Betty Singalewicz, Mrs. Ernestine Rogers, Mrs. Elthor Mink and Roger Gray.

Rahway River Pollution Deplored by Comesanas

In speaking to a meeting of the Volunteers for Comesanas the Republican candidate for the 13th Congressional District, which includes Rahway, the ever-growing priority to control the pollution of the environment.

He made explicit mention of the consistency of daily smog reports, tear-filled eyes, and the increased number of asthma attacks. Comesanas said, "Situations such as the Arthur Kill a few days ago or such as the Rahway River a few months ago are deplorable and must be avoided if possible."

Comesanas affirmed that youth alone are not the only ones who have demonstrated concern, but that older people have also shown a keen interest. He said, "This is only to be expected, since pollution is a matter which concerns all people."

Summing up his talk the candidate added, "That a question of this grave issue would be met by me on an immediate basis after my election."

Comesanas also mentioned in passing the importance of the work of Dr. Lee A. Dubridge, authority on pollution and its effects, who has proven that "pollution is the most serious hazard we face because it is so pervasive."

Moy Spans All Phases Of Drumming

An opportunity to learn all phases of drumming from mallet percussion to commercial styles, which include jazz, rock, Latin and big band drumming, is offered students at the Russ Moy Drum Studio, 287 Morris Ave., Elizabeth.

Russ Moy, professional drummer and teacher, says that since the addition of Howard Leavitt, principal percussionist with the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra, to the teaching staff, students may study bells, xylophone, marimba, tympani and percussion as well as the more practical styles taught by Messrs. Leavitt and Moy.

This program prepares students for drumming on the high school and college level, as well as military and professional careers. Russ Moy is a franchised dealer for Gretsch, Rogers, Ludwig and Slingerland drums, as well as Zildjian cymbals.

A drum clinic featuring Sam Ulanov, author, teacher and drummer, will be held in the fall.

First 18-Year-Old Voter Registers

Miss Patrice Simanoski of 23 Linda Lane became the first 18-year-old citizen in the Third Ward of Clark to register as a voter under the new law.

"My reason for wanting to register now was to support our neighbor and friend, Councilman Bernard G. Yarusavage, and to demonstrate an interest in our government," said Miss Simanoski as she filled out the application forms in the Town Clerk's office.

"It is most encouraging to see Patty and the others take the time and make the effort to get involved in community affairs by taking advantage of the voting registration privilege," said Yarusavage.

"But it is still most refreshing in these days of general public apathy to see we have spirited, interested citizens involved in all levels of government."

Miss Simanoski was born before the eighth grade, often for lack of these bare essentials.

TERESA'S PRIZE ESSAY

The Charlie Brown reading program in the Children's Department of the Rahway Public Library developed into a surprising and revealing experience this summer.

What the Library Has Meant to Me This Summer "said the things librarians like to hear. It was written by Teresa Beakerville of 1697 Essex St. and follows:

"The library is always a warm and interesting place to visit. There is new and interesting adventure, fantasy and exciting places to visit, interesting and famous people to meet. But best of all, I like the library this summer because I decided to read just for fun, so I read only fiction. When I read fiction, I am being entertained and I don't have to retain any facts. I am surprised to learn, too, there are few books of fiction that do not contain some facts. Still, I enjoyed reading very much."

Teresa was just one of several children who received prizes and certificates of merit for reading efforts.

Shootout in Clark

Gerrude Street in Clark echoed to the sound of gunfire early Monday morning when Patrolman Richard Reider and a holdup suspect exchanged shots. Neither was injured, but the gunman fled on foot.

Police from Rahway, Cranford, Woodbridge, Elizabeth and the Union County Park Police took part in the search. The suspect, Newark police said, is being sought in the holdup of the Airport Motel on Route 1.

The car he was driving reportedly was stolen in Orange.

Sounds Warning Note

Joseph R. Crow, Opponent of Today's Acid-Rock Music Which Uses Religion, Morality and Society as Its Targets.

J.R. Crow to Lecture About 'Pop' Music Perils

Joseph R. Crow, once a member of modern music's "in" group and now one of its most vocal critics, will speak on the relationships between "Rock Music, Youth, Drugs and Brainwashing" in a public address at American Legion Post #471, Inelin, on Thursday, Sept. 17, at 8 p.m.

The meeting, part of a month-long tour of the area, is sponsored by the Central Jersey MOTOREDE Committee, local chapter of the national Movement to Restore Decency.

A composer and arranger of both jazz and symphonic works, Crow was also performing artist with the Stan Kenton orchestra. He believes that adults should pay more attention to today's "pop" music and the message it conveys.

"Our kids are being fed propaganda with a beat," he charges. "Much of the so-called acid rock music is deliberately written to revolutionize the thoughts and actions of young people." The purpose behind the words and the rhythm, he claims, is to produce "radical, social and political change."

Adults, said Crow, generally don't recognize the viciousness with which most acid-rock music attacks religion, morality and society. Nor do they understand how it glorifies drugs, destructiveness, revolution and sexual promiscuity.

"The impact of its message is explosive," he warned. Crow's 15 years of experience as a professional musician, and the fact that he himself was a narcotics user, makes him uniquely qualified to explain the confusing and seemingly incomprehensible world of "psychedelic sounds." His lecture is not an academic study, he said. "I will play several of the currently popular rock songs and analyze the lyrics with the audience." The texts of many rock songs will be provided to all who attend the meeting.

"It is no accident," Crow said, "that music is being used to make perversion and even subversion seem glamorous and exciting. It's time for more parents to begin 'tuning in' before their own children are the ones 'dropping out.'"

This program is part of a continuing series of educational meetings arranged by Central Jersey MOTOREDE Committee, which was formed to reverse the tide of degeneracy that threatens this country. Through education, persuasion, percept and example, the committee seeks to restore the morals, values, customs and traditions which have characterized our nation. Tickets may be obtained by contacting Robert Steffan of Colonia, by writing to Box 92, Rahway, or at the door. Tickets are in advance and $1.50 at the door.

Head Start News Gets Applause

Consequently we have received much favorable reaction from many who followed our weekly progress through The News-Record and if, indeed, we were as successful in realizing our goal as we are led to believe, then no small part of that success is due to the excellent support which you consistently gave.

In addition to approving the physical well-being of the students through a program of complete immunization, dental care and good nutrition, one of the main thrusts of this summer's session was to help the children to better relate to the community and vice versa. Accordingly, we tried to involve as many city agencies and people as we could and everybody who was approached responded with enthusiasm.

Open Letter to the Rahway Board of Education:

Just a small letter of thanks to let you know how little I appreciate your well-executed maneuvers in the reopening of Columbian School and the uncalled for reshuffling of special education classes. It is with complete and utter disgust that I reluctantly send my child and quite a while, I am the pre-watched other mothers forced idler of Dependable Taxi Co., into the same position of and often my cars will park sending their children to that runs between Irving repulsive building. That building, without a Street and West Milton Ave. full-time principal. With the educational many as five taxis and we leaders Rahway has been complain, we are told nothing endowed with, I fall to see can be done.

The railroad claims the city has jurisdiction over the small street which appears ber what school her child at- alley, and the police and city officials claim the railroad does. The main point, of course, is that whoever is in control should apply the rules evenly. This is not the case now, and I hope some changes will be made.

The city fathers should also be interested to know that a great deal of what I believe to be illegal adver- tising is plastered all over the station. I think that the citizens will want some cor- rections made of these con- ditions.

Everybody Fits School For Adults

The reasons for attending the Rahway Adult School are as varied as the number of individuals who enroll each semester. For some, the Rahway Adult School is an instrument by which rusty skills and out-of-date office practices can be brought up to par. It is a means of preparing for part-time or full-time employment in the field of business. Others presently employed but perhaps bored with their positions can gain an insight into other professions and obtain the necessary preliminary training for entrance into these areas or continued study on a higher level. Individuals who have decided to continue their education discover that the Rahway Adult School can guide them through the avenues of learning—from basic elementary levels, through high school equivalency and on to college entrance preparation. Further information concerning the Rahway Adult School, which begins its fall semester on Monday night, Oct. 5, can be obtained by calling 388-8500. Except where indicated in the brochure, all classes are held at the Rahway High School, 1012 Madison Avenue. In-person registration will be at Rahway High School from 7:30 to 9 on Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 28 and 29. Mail registrations should be in no later than Sept. 25.

Adult School Term To Start on Oct. 5

The adult school program in the Union County Regional High School District No. 1 is continuing to receive a "C" rating from its students—great! And the fall term is expected to be even greater, according to Harry E. Classes will begin during the week of Monday, Oct. 5, at Arthur L. Johnson High School. Head Start Has Plans To Expand

Charles Brown, director of the Rahway Community Action Organization, has come out in favor of a year-round Head Start program for the city (See 'Letters to the Editor,' Page 4). Brown said at a RCOA meeting at John F. Kennedy Center that this summer's activities were an "unparalleled success" and credited the cooperation among individuals and groups. The effectiveness of the program, Brown said, was due to participation by parents, the low percentage of absenteeism and especially because training was completed by all of the children who had enrolled. Chairman of the year-round committee is Mrs. Jane Weaver, wife of City Council President William Weaver. Mayor John Marsh, whose efforts in Head Start were acclaimed by Brown, said he would back all efforts to secure funds for the new undertaking.

ASSEMBLY CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 75

A Concurrent Resolution proposing to amend Article VIII, Section 1, Paragraph 4 of the Constitution of the State of New Jersey. Be It Resolved by the General Assembly of the State of New Jersey (the Senate concurring):

PROPOSED AMENDMENT

Amend Article VIII, Section 1, paragraph 4, to read as follows: 4. The Legislature may, from time to time, enact laws granting an annual deduction from the amount of any tax bills for taxes on the real property of any citizen and resident of this State of age 65 or more years residing in a dwelling house owned by him which is a constituent part of such real property but no such deduction shall be in excess of $160.00 and such deduction shall be restricted to owners having an income exclusive of social security benefits not in excess of $5,000.00 per year. Any such deduction when so granted by law shall be granted so that it will not be in addition to any other deduction or exemption to which the said citizen and resident may be entitled. The State shall annually reimburse each taxing district in an amount equal to 1/2 of the tax loss to the district resulting from the allowance of tax deductions pursuant to this paragraph.

2. When this proposed amendment to the Constitution is finally agreed to, pursuant to Article IX, paragraph 1 of the Constitution, it shall be submitted to the people at the next general election occurring more than 3 months after such final agreement and shall be published at least once in at least one newspaper of each county designated by the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the General Assembly and the Secretary of State, not less than 3 months prior to said general election.

3. This proposed amendment to the Constitution shall be submitted to the people at said election in the following manner and form: There shall be printed on each official ballot to be used at such general election, the following:

Metal Torch Used To Free Driver

A driver trapped behind the steering of his truck was freed by first aid squadmen using a metal torch. The crash occurred at Route No. 1 and Lawrence St., Rahway. William A. Simpson, 42, of Nucleo, the driver, was examined at Rahway Hospital and released.

The truck jack-knifed and struck a car, Patrolman Chester Holmes reported. Another trucker, Samuel T. Smother, 35, of Smithville, Ga. and the car driver, Charles A. Smith, 19, of 51 Third Ave., Port Reading, were also examined at Rahway Hospital.

Two Corrections

In last week's article on Alonzo W. Lawrence's libel suit, there were two small errors. Mr. Lawrence is not a partner of Marsh and Lawrence, but rather sole owner. It was also said that Giacomo was a member of the board of adjustment; he is a member of the planning board. We might also add that Mr. Lawrence has obtained the services of Harry Green, an expert in libel law for the suit.

Thumbs Down on Welfare Bill

A recent letter to the editor referred to a man who receives welfare payments while holding a steady job in another county. The writer believed that spot checks on welfare recipients are not adequate to uncover fraud and resented having her tax money given to welfare cheaters. Doubtless this lady expressed the sentiments of 90 per cent of the taxpaying public.

Then why was Nixon's Federal Welfare Bill, H. R. 16311, jammed through the House of Representatives in 1970? On the floor, opponents of the measure were denied the right to offer a motion to recommit the bill, even though it had been brought out under a stringent "closed rule" preventing any amendments. Previously, the Federal Welfare Bill had been approved hastily by the 27-member House Republican Policy Committee, with only 10 members present. Of these, two opposed the bill, two voted merely "present" and just six members (less than one-quarter of the Policy Committee) supported it.

Time after time, far less liberal welfare measures have been voted down in our Congress. Why the clear sailing for H. R. 16311? Could it be that this year the Democrat majority has decided to give the Republicans enough rope to hang themselves?

Now the Federal Welfare Bill is before the Senate. Should it be passed there, the first year would see a boost in Welfare spending from $3 billion to nearly $8 billion, with an eventual annual cost of perhaps $15 billion. The number of welfare recipients would be nearly doubled nationwide -- from 12 million to 22 million -- all allegedly for the sake of "welfare reform."

Do you realize what an increase in taxes such a federal program of handouts would require? Already in 1970, the tax bite in a man's 8-hour day amounts to an average 2 hours 43 minutes! This compares with 57 minutes for housing, 40 minutes for transportation, 25 minutes for clothing, and 59 minutes for food and tobacco. Taxes are currently far and away the largest slice of the wage-earner's "pie" of expenditures, as shown by the "pie" diagram prepared by the Tax Foundation. The mind boggles at the tax slice to be required of the wage-earner's "pie" were the Federal Welfare Bill to be passed by the Senate.

Traditionally, the Republican Party has stood for self-reliance, free enterprise and strong local government. All of these pillars of responsible Americanism are contravened by this massive Welfare handout from the Federal government proposed, incredibly, by a Republican President.

The "Workfare" aspect of the Federal Welfare Bill intended to pacify the taxpayers, is a farce. The "joke" is the word "suitable" in the stipulation that a Welfare recipient must accept a job. Regrettably, earning one's own bread by the sweat of his brow will never seem "suitable" to many people, and the parasites in our midst are multiplying. How many readers recall the "must work" requirement in the AFDC (Aid for Dependent Children) bill of 1967? This has proved unenforceable. It is easy to anticipate the howls of anguish which would swell from the lusty throats of reliefers were any "Workfare" provision to be even tentatively enforced.

The concept of federalizing welfare is not only totally un-American, it is a colossal error. In every sphere, Big Brother is already too much in control of our lives. Also, a local or county welfare board is in a better position than a federal agency to deal with true need, to spot inequities, and to control freeloading.

Statistics on families at the poverty level compiled by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce show that four out of five have TV sets; one out of two have both TV sets and private telephones; three in four have washing machines; one in five a home freezer; and one in seven has just bought a car! Does this report indicate "desperate need" for extravagant welfare expenditures on the federal level?

Perhaps the hit song, "Welfare Cadillac," is not much of an exaggeration.

With newspapers, radio and signboards continually advertising job opportunities for skilled and unskilled people alike, it seems that the unemployed in most areas could find jobs if they want them. Why should the taxpayers be asked to support them instead?

Everyone who pays taxes had better write at once to Senators Clifford Case and Harrison Williams, Senate Office Building, Washington, D. C. 20510, requesting both to vote against H. R. 16311, or they will find themselves sadly paying the Piper for many years to come.

To end things on a note of some joy, it is encouraging to find out from Mayor John C. Marsh that Rahway only has about 20 individuals on welfare and that most of these, the mayor says, are legitimate cases. This is certainly some news with which Rahway can cite with great pride, considering we are lowest of 21 municipalities in per capita income in Union County. Our low rank is due to the great number of older people who live on fixed incomes, but it seems to show that individual pride and individualism do not necessarily march hand in hand with wealth or youth.

HS Equivalency At Columbian Receives Praise

I recently completed the first day - time High School Equivalency course at Columbian School, Rahway. Reading skills needed for the tests were developed, using selections from mathematics and the science books. The teachers were capable and encouraging. Many of the students have received their certificates; some have secured improved positions, and one of the students is now attending a state college.

Participating in the day-time course has been a very satisfactory educational experience.

There have been similar courses offered at adult night school, but the day - time course offers nine hours of education per week, instead of four and is continuous through the year. I hope this day - time course will be offered regularly.

Crowell Notes Marsh Voted for Dukes-Bramhall Roads Law

Joseph M. Coleman, John C. Marsh's hand-picked, tax-dollar-paid publicity agent, had better start checking the facts before he echoes words in the mouths of Marsh men," declared Charles Crowell, Rahway Democratic councilman candidate, as he outlined a five-point program for insuring efficiency and the protection of citizens' interests in construction and engineering developments.

"The program we propose is necessary to guard against mismanagement of construction and engineering improvements in the future," Crowell related. Referring to a recent Republican remark concerning Dukes and Bramhall Roads, Crowell stated, "In a press release that appeared in the Sept. 3 edition of 'The News-Record,' Marsh's campaign publicist had to admit that the Dukes-Bramhall Roads matter in years. To indicate that I have his untruthful and misleading to the public. Further, to lay blame on me as a member of the 1965 council which voted unanimously for the ordinance authorizing improvements to those streets is stupid and inaccurate.

"Mr. Marsh was a member of that council and voted for the measure. And the ordinance of 1968 which was not only voted for by the William M. Weaver, George R. Vanasco and Ray A. Glacobe on a Republican-controlled council, but Glacobe, a resident of Dukes Road at the actual construction of 1967. First of all," Crowell amended ordinance for adoption, Mr. Marsh should have checked the minutes of the ordinary State Aid Funds program. I refer to the Hamilton Street project. By dividing the project into two sections, $50,200 was obtained for work on Hamilton Street between Church Street and Central Avenue. It is now possible to obtain additional funds for improvements on Hamilton Street between Church Street and St. George Avenue. This would have been possible if I had not insisted that the project be split up. Thus, the state aid for the Hamilton Street project was not only made possible through my efforts, but expanded through my foresight."

Continuing, Crowell outlined the following measures for monitoring construction programs in the future which he will work to implement upon assuming office in January of next year:

1. Improvements based on priority of need, not on political favor.
2. A cooperative engineering surveying service with engineering departments of surrounding communities to minimize the chance of errors in estimates of all city projects.
3. An office or official specifically charged to seek all opportunities for outside financial aid.
4. Sufficient planning to budget for improvements and, wherever possible, finance projects on a pay-as-you-go basis.
5. Active solicitation of citizens' views regarding recommended improvements and public presentation of all projects and the costs attendant to them.

"Our platform is completed," Crowell concluded, "and it is a comprehensive program for the 1970s. It is the result of utilizing the data provided by the citizens of Rahway through our active solicitation of their ideas and views of the issues. We are through with the unfulfilled promises, innuendoes and falsehoods which are marking the Marsh campaign as they have marked his administration. We have a positive approach, a workable program. We are making no promises save ones that we will devote our fullest energies to tirelessly representing all the interests of all the people in returning responsiveness and integrity to government in Rahway."

We're building a non-smoker.

Public Service has entered the nuclear age. Through the miracle of nuclear fission large quantities of electricity can be produced without any of the smoke and pollutants formerly associated with conventional generating stations. Nuclear plants produce no smoke, no odor, and help maintain the integrity of our natural environment. Right now, we're building the world's largest nuclear generating station near Salem, New Jersey. In addition, we have purchased two more nuclear units for installation on Newbold Island, near Bordentown Township. The first unit is scheduled to operate in 1975, the second in 1977. We expect to add more nuclear generating stations to meet New Jersey's future needs for additional clean electric power.

Lundy Is Against Hike in RR Fare, Be a Loser Dr. Lillehei to Speak Puts Burden on Federal Government By Joining To City Hospital Staff

Daniel F. Lundy, Democratic Congressional candidate in the 12th District, which includes Clark, urged the New Jersey Department of Transportation to reject requests by commuter railroads in the state for increases in passenger fares. "The burden of keeping our commuter trains and other means of mass transportation financially solvent must be placed upon the federal government, not the state, not the financially troubled railroads and certainly not the commuter," Lundy said.

He added that "if the federal government can subsidize pollution ridden highways to a tune of $4.4 billion in fiscal 1970, the Congress can find sufficient funds for mass transportation needs." "Cars are the number one cause of air pollution in the United States and the only way that we are going to stop this contamination of our atmosphere and still provide adequate means of transportation is to develop better and more efficient mass transportation facilities."

T-T Moms Meet Again

The Suburban Mothers of Twins and Triplets resumed their Wednesday meetings last night in the City Federal Savings and Loan Assn., South Ave. at Walnut St., Cranford.

Mrs. James Mc-Donough, program chairman, presented an evening of informal social activities, the highlight of which was a panel of twin mothers discussing with the general membership the problems and joys that occur because of multiples in the family.

This discussion was particularly informative to new members. Beverages and pizza were served following the panel discussions. New members may contact Mrs. Raymond Monahan, 609 Pierpont St., Rahway.

Diet Group

Indications are that the former registration, exceeding 100,000 persons, will be fattened up somewhat when the Weight Watchers enroll new members on the first day of their fall term class, Tuesday, Oct. 6, at the Rahway Adult School. Classes will be held in the cafeteria of the senior high school, 1012 Madison Ave.

Weight Watchers was introduced in New Jersey more than three years ago and is now considered to be the world's most successful program for losing weight and keeping it off. Members of Weight Watchers are re-educated in good eating habits. To date, almost 100 persons have lost 100 pounds each, and several have achieved the 200 mark.

Utilizing the services of trained lecturers, combined with group support and a medically-designed diet to achieve demonstrable results, the new member has everything to lose.

For further information, contact Mrs. Florence Skey at Rahway High School, 388-8500. Classes will begin on Monday, Oct. 5, with Weight Watchers meeting the following night.

The scheduled program was announced by Dr. Edward Levitzky, chairman of the Professional Educational Committee, which is responsible for Rahway Hospital's medical library, quarterly medical educational meetings, intra-hospital conferences on pathology and radiology, and cardiopulmonary resuscitation instruction.

Dr. Lillehei traveled to Finland on behalf of the Department of State to be keynote speaker at the 25th anniversary of the "American Days" celebration on Sept. 4-6. Keep Lacey On Job: Comesanas

After hearing of the possibility of Frederick E. Lacey leaving his present position of U.S. Attorney for a federal judgeship, R. E. Comesanas, Congressional candidate for the 13th District, said that it would not be in the public's best interest at the present time.

Comesanas said that Lacey was definitely needed to finish the job of completely destroying the roots of organized crime.

"It is very clear to the people of New Jersey that he is doing a great job, but that the work is only beginning."

"As Lacey and the Nixon administration should realize, we have only touched the surface of organized crime. There is much to be done, and it is very clear to the people of New Jersey that he is doing a great job, but that the work is only beginning."

Know Your Government

Budgeted-operating costs of the 21 counties in New Jersey total more than $432 million this year — 11 percent higher than 1969 expenditures of more than $389 million.

Rapidly-rising outlays for personal services paced the increase. Comprising appropriations for salaries, wages, pensions and fringe benefits of public employees, the personal service items rose nearly 13-1/2 percent to $226 million in 1970 budgets. In contrast, the overall increase for other expenditures, representing outlays for materials, supplies and other items, rose 8 1/2 percent to $206 million.

Operating expenditures comprise the largest portion of county budgets and are aside from costs of debt service and capital improvements.

A county-by-county breakdown, prepared by the New Jersey Taxpayers Association, shows Union County appropriated $18,350 for personal services this year, an increase of 11.5 percent as compared with 1969 expenditures. "Other expenses" for 1970 were budgeted at $12,762, an increase of 7.6 percent as compared with 1969.

Tilden's wife, Margaret, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Comer of 27 Brookside Ter., Clark.

1969 outlays. Together, these produced total appropriations of $26,112 for operations in 1970, an increase of 9.6 per cent compared with actual operating expenditures of $23,832 in this county last year.

Job Issues Challenge To Gross

Joseph F. Job, silent majority U. S. Senate candidate, has issued a challenge to Nelson Gross to participate in "an open debate on all the important issues that face us."

"I make my challenge to Gross," Job said, "because it is obvious that no one is going to get Sen. Williams' seat across the debating table."

Gross is the Senate candidate who has been yelling loud and long for a debate of the candidates. "Job is now let him prove that he is sincere."

Job, Bergen County sheriff, said that a debate between Gross and Williams would serve no real purpose. "I have chosen in November," Job said, "to let them hear both Gross and myself in a face-to-face debate. Then they can see the opposite sides of the issues that confront us today."

"My stance in a debate would be the same one I assume every day. I want a re-evaluation of priorities to concentrate on homefront problems, and an advocated open support of President Nixon and his policies."

"I hereby issue an open challenge to Mr. Gross to debate me in any forum at any time prior to the election. I would only suggest that the debate be sponsored by some non-political group, such as a press association, in order to assure the fairness of the meeting to all parties concerned."

Clark Needs New Approaches

The standard cry of would-be office holders and incumbents is "more ratables." Perhaps this is because they have failed to understand or have been incapable of understanding the present situation in Clark.

An examination of the situation will show that inflation has cut into the tax dollar at 6 to 7 per cent a year. Presumably, with the economy slowing down, it will continue at 4 to 5 per cent. This means that to maintain the status quo, we will need upwards of $250,000 in additional revenue next year in the township with this figure growing in each succeeding year. This does not allow for capital expenditures, either. The remaining open space in the township is just not sufficient to allow $6,000,000 of construction every year, and this is what it will take to maintain our present services.

It is fairly obvious that "more ratables" is not the complete need or the complete solution to Clark's future. What is needed is new thinking and approaches and a complete re-examination of our entire system. We need this now or more of us will not be able to keep our homes. The financial ability of residents to remain in Clark cannot be placed in jeopardy.

The homeowner is paying approximately 72 per cent of the budget with the commercial-industrial real estate complex and minor municipal revenue sources paying the balance, but business is paying nothing. It is time to look at our assets to see what is paying its share, what is not and how it can be made to contribute. Perhaps a business tax or a similar levy which will grow in some proportion to inflation is a good answer. A golf bag tax on the golf course, or perhaps a motel room tax on the transient traveler are practical approaches.

Regardless of how we do it, the solutions must be within our establishment and not in the mythical "more ratables" solely.

ing about a more nearly equal distribution of income.

"The tragedy of this situation," Bauer said, "is that those who actually qualify for welfare, which could be as low as 20 per cent of all welfare recipients, are forced to be associated with the most disreputable and repugnant elements of our society. This state is further aggravated by senseless court decisions like the recent New York federal court determination which held that welfare investigators no longer have the right to visit homes of the welfare recipients to verify that the requirements of the law are being met."

"We would hope that thirty Americans will be spared by the Senate the monstrous consequences of Nixon's welfare proposal, which cloaked in moderate rhetoric, is clearly a blueprint for national sloth and destruction."

'Double-Paying' Method Hit by Dem Candidates

Charles E. Crowell and Wilson D. Beauregard, Democratic candidates for councilman-at-large, said in an interview this week that a real need exists in Rahway for a new program of efficient hiring and payroll practices.

Crowell said, "In April, 1969, Mayor John C. Marsh fired a policeman's wife claiming lack of funds. Then in September, 1969 he hired a Republican councilman's wife for the same job, a clerk typist in the court clerk's office, at a raise of more than $1,000. Now, it is learned that this lady has received on vouchers signed by the mayor, free meals and overtime pay. What makes this important is that we have learned by checking with other secretaries in city hall that no other secretary has received such favor for as long as they can remember. The public has the right to know what is going on here, but in typical fashion the mayor designs his 'public relations' to cover up rather than to inform the public."

"Even more important," said Beauregard, "is the entire system of double-paying city employees in the same boat. We have seen the latest voucher for $500 signed by the mayor for Andrew Rasmussen, who as supervisor of planning and building, draws a salary of $11,500. In addition, an ordinance passed by the Republican-controlled council entitles him to $4,200 in extra pay under contractual service to the planning board as a consultant."

"Frank Kozzur, city engineer, in the same boat. He draws $15,600 as engineer and an additional $500 without authorization of an ordinance, as engineering consultant to the planning board under contractual service. Since the planning board meets during the daytime, both of these men draw two salaries while performing only one job. This is Mayor Marsh's brand of big business efficiency. Of course in their program of 'public relations' this is passed-off as cost identification when everyone knows that it is just a form of salary escalation," Beauregard said.

"I hope it all off," Crowell noted. "The clerk to the planning board now draws $1,000 on vouchers signed by the mayor, above and beyond the normal secretarial salary of $541 for such service. So not only have double salary sources but at triple the cost to the taxpayer."

In conclusion the two candidates said, "there are many more examples of favor through voucher and double inefficiency. The point is we need a vital new system of efficiency and fair play in city hall. That is why the programs we have offered to the public, such as our public services advisory council, are always met with positive action; non-partisan fair play, and strong citizen involvement. Rahway needs the pure democracy on which this country was founded."

Radical Welfare Law Is Topic of GOP Panelists

The new welfare proposal submitted to the American people Aug. 8, 1969 by President Nixon will be the topic of a panel discussion to be held by the Republican Conservation Club of Union County Sept. 24 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Donald Green, 720 Lawrence Ave., Westfield.

Scheduled to begin at 8 p.m., the speakers will explore the major planks of Nixon's plan which threaten to add 12 million Americans to the welfare ranks and to cost as much as $15 billion a year.

The panelists will be A. Donald Green, former Vice President of Enjay Chemical Co., Mrs. John H. Wachter of Westfield, a member of the Legislative Study Committee of the New Jersey Federation of Republican Women, and K. C. Bauer, Publisher of The Rahway News-Record and The Clark Patriot, also of Westfield.

With vast abuses of welfare prevalent, the Nixon proposal is viewed with great alarm by many Americans, especially those who work for a living," stated K. C. Bauer, president of the RCAC.

"Welfare rights groups have spring up all across the nation. They are the lobbyists for those who would make honest, hard-working Americans the servants and providers of the most shiftless and indolent factions of the population. Make no bones about it," said Bauer, "these lobbyists are seeking nothing less than a direct method of 'distributing' other people's income."

Bauer cited an article by Edward C. Banfield, professor of Urban Government at Harvard University, in the summer 1969 issue of Public Interest which said in part, "Their would be no 'welfare crisis' if welfare were regarded as still being for the purpose for which it was originally intended—helping those poor people who, because of unemployment or other causes beyond their control, are TEMPORARILY in need. Instead, welfare has gradually come to be regarded as a means of bring-

Orfeo Paolini Parlays Restaurant, Pacers Into Winners

By Ray Hoagland

"I went out to buy my son, Greg, a pony and purchased a horse. And believe it or not, that's how I got into the racing business," Orfeo Paolini told this writer when interviewed last week in his popular Towne House Restaurant at 1453 Main St., Rahway where he and his family have been in business for many years.

The reason for the interview was to find out about

Indians Rely on Fast Start From Grid Gate

We'll be in the ball game every week. That's the feeling that coach Jim Refosco has about his Indians as they prepare for a fast start in the gridiron season that will open at home on Saturday, Sept. 26, at 10 a. m. against the Hillside Comets in a Watching Conference game.

With about seven veterans returning to key spots, and with lots of speed in Ira Prealey, 5-10, 160, at the split end and the Johnson boys, no relation, of Sandy, 6-0, 175, a junior, and Clark, 6-1, 170, at the tight end, all ready to catch the passes of senior Craig Huger, 6-1, 165, who has good speed and is the club's leader on the field.

The slor back will be track star Rick Treadwell, 5-9, 165, with tall back Duane Aproach, 5-10, 170, a junior who can run and has the speed to go all the way at any time. The fullback will be another junior, Walter Winning, 6-0, 210, who may be the boy to pick up the important yardage on the tight down play.

Other backs are Wilbur Hooper, backup quarterback, Carlton Stewart, 5-10, 170, a junior, and a member of the crack sprint relay team, at fullback and hard-running Don Kirby, a 5-9, 165, junior. Bob Salitcho, 5-10, 160, will see action as the split end.

Refosco is high on his middle line, which is led at tackles by Erick Beckhausen, 6-0, 185, junior Bob York, 6-3, 220, and Pat Washback, 6-2, 215. The guards will feature junior veteran Jack Flath, 5-10, 165, who will play both offense and defense, and Charles Schillaci, 5-11, 180, Scott Russell, 5-10, 170, and Doug Schafer, 5-10, 160, battling it out for the other spot.

Paolini's fine 10-year-old pacer, Pink Velvet, who has been having a good year on the harness tracks in New Jersey.

The speedy veteran had taken two firsts at Atlantic City in July and has had two other victories at Freehold.

This pacer, that Paolini purchased about six years ago for a mere $350, has earned close to $7,000 this year and more than $50,000 during his career, for Utopia Farms, owned by Paolini.

Says Bureaucrats Hurt Schools

It is my opinion that the State Board of Education and the commissioner of education of the State of New Jersey are contributing to destroy the New Jersey public school system, and that they are also violating federal law (the Civil Rights Act of 1964).

Every district in this state is being forced to transfer students for the sole purpose of achieving racial mixing. That is in direct violation of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 which says in section 401 (B): "Desegregation means the assignment of students to public schools without regard to their race, color, religion, or national origin; but desegregation shall not mean the assignment of students to public schools in order to overcome racial imbalance as may be found...."

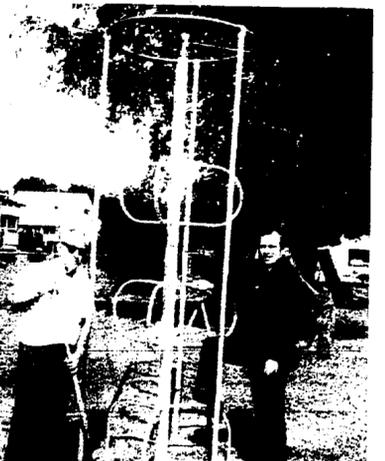

Referring to the resolution adopted on Nov. 5, 1969, by the State Board of Education, "Resolved, that the commissioner of education under the policy of the State Board of Education undertake such steps as he shall deem necessary to correct such conditions of racial imbalance as may be found...."

The chaos and confusion that engulfs our school system at this time is only the beginning. Unless pressure is brought to bear on the appointed bureaucrats in Trenton and Washington and the silent majority becomes the vocal and active majority, we can look forward in the near future to the complete obliteration of present school districts, requiring rezoning of school attendance areas without regard to state or county lines; to compel racial busing in schools; to require busing of children from white suburbs into black inner-city schools, and vice versa; to require racial integration; to subsidize the rewriting of history, and creation of educational parks operated to achieve social, economic, and racial integration. Whether we like it or not, the power of local school government is not with the people but with the appointed bureaucrats in Trenton they, the progressive liberals, pull the strings; they know what's best for Rahway and every other district.

The controversy over de facto segregation will go on until it is settled the slow destruction of the public school system shall continue, and our children shall continue to be used as pawns.

A SECOND CHILDHOOD? ... Not really. Mayor John C. Marsh, right, is simply inspecting some of the new equipment for the city's playgrounds. Although we've heard it said the mayor's favorite is the Jungle Jim above, he's been willing to share his toys with the city's youth. Looking on is John Slattery of the Public Works Department.

Until the apathetic and silent majority become the active and vocal majority, the appointed bureaucrats shall continue to pull the strings and we shall continue to dance to their tune.

They turn out the directives in the name of education, but, in my opinion, integration at any cost, not education, is their primary purpose.

Decorum and Public Meetings

Decorum in a public meeting is akin to oil in an engine; it keeps the parts moving without friction. Unfortunately, there was not too much politeness—slippery or otherwise—on Monday night's meeting of the Clark municipal council.

The agenda of the evening was of a normal length, yet the meeting dragged out to nearly midnight. Councilmen and much of the audience were exposed to harsh displays of personal prerogative.

State law allows each individual to speak for ten minutes, and for some of the "orators" the occasion is viewed as an opportunity to concentrate as much bad manners and ignorance as the time limit will allow. One youth—a member of a contingent which came to supposedly redress difficulties they are having with the police and some residents—made some sort of victory sign after he had finished his highly polished and literary address—which was greeted with guffaws and clapping by the teenage group. This sort of behavior is fine at a baseball game, but it should not be tolerated at a public meeting during which serious issues are raised for councilmanic consideration.

Another youth addressed the council politely but for too long. The purpose of a general public hearing at the end of the written agenda is to allow residents a time to state precisely what they feel is wrong and to request a remedy from council. It is not a time for airing personal problems nor should it be the occasion for ego-building.

One youth tried to enter the council chambers wearing a tank-top (for the older generation; something like a sleeveless undershirt) and was told to come back with a shirt. It isn't necessary to dress up for a meeting, but coming to a public meeting half-dressed is pushing the issue beyond the limits of good taste.

In addition, the youths whose gaucheries can be attributed partly to inexperience and lack of training were not given an inviting example by some adult speakers. One man consumed nearly 20 minutes asking council what he was going to do should he follow the township attorney's advice and refuse to pay the increased refuse collection fee. He was told several times either he must take legal action against the contractor should he deny him service or pay the increased fee. The choice was his. He became indignant when told he should follow one of the two above courses and said he would throw his garbage into the street. The perfect example for youths.

Actually if a garbage strike did arise everyone would have their refuse removed under emergency actions prescribed on health hazards, but this does not mean the township has to foot the bill of individuals refusing to pay contractor fees, even if those fees were not established according to a township ordinance. The failure to follow the laws of Clark on the part of the contractor is being pursued by the township attorney in the Superior Court and will be resolved. An improperly increased fee, however, is no reason for irrational responses. Much less when those responses unnecessarily expose the public to long and disorderly council meetings.

Other youths also rose to consume air for no discernible purpose. If you can't speak well in public then it certainly makes sense to prepare what you are going to say. Any intelligent person would. In short, people should attend council dressed in a reasonably good state of repair, should prepare their remarks to some degree, and should speak as concisely as possible. It would be unfortunate if the paper were forced to cite individuals for abusing public rights at the general public hearing, but if another meeting like last Monday's is forthcoming, then the staff of this paper will not hesitate to do so, even if it embarrasses certain individuals. —KCB

Denies Candidate Active in Scouting

I object to Mr. "Bud" Senkowsky using the Boy Scouts of America as a way and means to gain votes in his political campaign. He claims to be an adult volunteer in the Union Council, serving Linden and Rahway. I have been in the B.S.A. movement for the past 13 years and have never seen him at a single meeting. He is not registered as an adult leader in the Scout office and the professional Scouts have never heard of him.

Please, Mr. Senkowsky, we need adult volunteers in Scouting, but let's not put your potential voters under the wrong impression.

Suggests Captain Became Pawn In Party Politics

The report that Public Safety Director Thomas P. Kelmartin was passed Police Capt. John Waterston in selecting Clark's new police chief came as a disturbing piece of news to me -- as it has to other residents with whom I've spoken.

The issue is not whether former Police Lt. Anthony T. Smar is qualified for the top police post; his fine reputation speaks for itself. The real question is whether Capt. Waterston was given a fair shake. I strongly feel that all factors considered -- competency, service and age -- that Capt. Waterston got the short end of the stick.

Two facts alone -- among others that can be enumerated -- cloak Kelmartin's decision in mystery: -- For a better part of a decade, Capt. Waterston had been second in command of the Clark Police Department, handling key administrative duties with greater frequency in recent years. This was topped off with Capt. Waterston serving as acting chief during the past nine months, while former Police Chief William H. Muth was on sick leave.

One man consumed nearly 20 minutes asking council what he was going to do should he follow the township attorney's advice and refuse to pay the increased refuse collection fee. He was told several times either he must take legal action against the contractor should he deny him service or pay the increased fee. The choice was his. He became indignant when told he should follow one of the two above courses and said he would throw his garbage into the street. The perfect example for youths.

Believes County Of School Sought Solution Needed For High Holiday

Clark residents have recently been notified that the cost of garbage collection is going up. We are told that this is because there are no more sanitary landfills in this area, and the cost of transporting the garbage to distant landfills cannot be absorbed by the scavengers.

Investigation of the cost of operations bears this out in fact, a study by the County of School Sought Solution Needed For High Holiday.

Dem Candidate Is Thanked For Help by Parents

Most parents look forward to the beginning of school as the time of education for their children and a little more relaxation for themselves. Sadly enough, we cannot say that that has been true for us.

Over one month ago we began worrying about the coming school year. It was our contention that it was not safe for our children to walk to school through downtown Rahway. Even without going into all the details, it is clear that in our time of trouble only one man helped us. Time and time again, we sought help from the board of education. We were refused.

We then turned to the Republican city chairman, James Daly. He either would not, or could not, help. Finally we met with the mayor. He told us that we could go to jail if we kept our children out of school any longer. Then he parted us on the back and promised help, but he did nothing.

After one month of rejection of what we felt was a truly legitimate problem, we tried something as a last resort. We called Rahway Democratic headquarters. A meeting was immediately set up for that night with involved mothers and Dan Martin, the Democratic candidate for mayor. He informed us that he could not solve all our problems, but that he

Mr. Dietz expressed his gratitude to all the Rahway Cancer Crusade volunteers. He cited their dedication and perseverance during this year's drive which was handicapped at the time by civil disturbances. He added that there are still a few returns outstanding and he urged solicitors to turn in their collection envelopes at his office, 18 Poplar St., at their earliest convenience.

On behalf of all of Rahway's volunteers, Mr. Dietz accepted a framed certificate of appreciation from the Union County Cancer Society.

Commenting on the many activities of the Cancer Society on the local nature, Mr. Dietz reported that on Paper Test Day more than 2,000 women were tested, and that 43 were found to have abnormal findings of a benign nature and four were found to have malignancies.

Did you know that the football team at Rahway High School from the years from 1950 to 1960 won 71 games, lost 12, tied five for the eighth best record in the State of New Jersey. But that since 1960 to 1969, the teams had a mark of 35 won, 48 lost and seven ties for a net - to - last spot with teams in the Watching Conference.

This week will feature five games highlighted by the annual Rutgers - Princeton game at Palmer Stadium. This is a toss - up, but Somebody didn't just say, "Hey, this is the year for little economy cars—let's build 'em," and there appeared a 1970 Volkswagen. Fact is, 25 years of Volkswagens preceded it. And we put in something else besides the years.

If there's one thing we learned about making economy cars, it's this: There's no such thing as an overnight success.

Ray Lewis Crusaders Face Devils To Direct In Conference Grid Tilt PPK Event

The big bad Westfield Blue Devils roll into Nolan Field on Saturday afternoon for the 11th meeting with the Clark Crusaders on the gridiron in a Watching Conference game that has a 2 p.m. kickoff.

Coach Hal Mercer will be starting his third season at Johnson Regional, where he has a record of 15 and 3.

The Blue Devils, who have been selected by all the sportswriters in the area as the team to beat in the Watching Conference, will come into Nolan Field with a 15-game winning streak. They will be piloted by a veteran backfield headed by Kevin Bonner, whose father played for Earl-C. Hoagland's Rahway High School teams, the 6-0, 173 star combines fleetness and power.

The Devils have an outstanding scoring threat in fullback Don Knoblock, 5-9, 170, who has the ability to find the holes, has good speed and a fine change of pace. He is a strong blocker. But what really adds to his value is his tremendous kicking ability. Last season, he set a Union County field goal record with five. He also made 26 of 29 extra points.

Coach Gary Kehler has an outstanding quarterback in veteran Joe Monninger, 6-0, 183. He is a stellar field general, passer for six scores last year and a dangerous ball carrier.

Westfield has a strong front line with veterans at most positions. Senior Bill Napier, 5-11, 178, and John Grey, 6-0, 177, operate at end slot. Ed MacKay, 188, and letterman Tom Poman, 225, are the tackles. At guard will be Jim Zitch, 205, who is quick and has blocking ability. Don Kinningham, 178, will be the other guard.

Bob Harvey, 195, will again be at the center post. With many of the names missing from last year's outstanding Crusader team, Mercer has been drilling his young squad for the last three weeks in blocking. The quarterback will be selected from among junior Bob Pigna, 6-0, 165, letterman Terry Thurber, 5-11, 168, John Burkowski, 5-11, 170, and Mark McDevitt, 6-1 1/2, 177.

The wing backs will be Ed Pinkham, 5-11, 168, Gerry Scaturro, 5-11, 166, Mike Miller, 5-7, 147, and Bill Mahoney, 5-7, 143. The fullbacks will be sparked by Jeff Tomaskovic, 5-9, 186, and Rich Lockwood, 5-11, 173.

Clark will have veterans at all but one guard position. The ends are Bob Gegrich, 6-2, 167, John Schwankert, 6-2, 178, Steve McDevitt, 5-9, 162, Bob Plage, 5-10, 157, and Jay Winters, 5-7, 137.

The middle of the line will feature tackles George Busacca, 5-9 1/2, 204, Doug Berdick, 5-8 1/2, 188, Steve Bursak, 5-10 1/2, 163 and center Charlie Kovacs, 6-1, 200.

City Eleven Clark and Rahway Plays Host To Hillside

Kickoff time is 10 a. m. at Veterans Memorial Field, Rahway, on Saturday when the 13th annual Hillside Comets - Rahway High School football game will be held. Both teams will be looking to take the lead in the series in which each team has won six games. The Indians have not scored in the last two years, the Comets taking 1 - 0 and 9 - 0 decisions over Jim Refesco's squads.

The Comets come to town with high hopes for the season. Coach George Deo expects his outfit to be a spoiler in the Watching Conference this fall. The outstanding player on the club is Charlie Messano, a 6-2, 190 pound end, who, his coach said, is ready for college football right now.

The starting quarterback will be Joe Tato, 5-11, 190, a good passer, and he will be assisted by Junior Gary Douglas, 5-11, 150. Other members of the backfield that the Indians will have to keep their eyes on will be Tom Tremarco, 5-9, 150, who doubles as a placekicker and had two field goals to his credit last season, one of which was against Rahway, and junior fullback Rudy Rosenkrantz, 5-10, 175.

Halfbacks will be selected from Ray Kaplowitz, 5-10, 175; Fred Cobb, 5-10, 155, and Pat Adams, 6-0, 180, and Jim Quinlan, 5-10, 180. The Comets have only six seniors on the team, all of them lettermen.

The Comets' defense will have Jeff Nick, 6-2, 200 and Mike Sieb, 6-0, 205, at tackling the ball carrying and a strong middle line led by Jack Flath, Eric Beckhusen, Bob York and Bob Sica. Mike Mello, 5-10, 155, or Bob Cowan, 5-10, 155, at center.

Refesco will be starting his third season at the helm of the Indians. He has a record of 7 - 9 and is looking to improve last season's mark of 5 - 2 - 2.

The Indians have the speed, the spirit, but are a little short on depth.

The Indians have the passing game that could make them a threat to the veteran Craig Huggar, 6-0, 170, passing to split end Ira Prentiss, 6-0, 165, who showed good hands last Saturday morning in the exhibition game at Somerville. The track star will be hard to catch once he gets his hands on the ball.

Another good pass receiver and runner is Duane Spruvach, 5-10, 170, while trackman Rick Treadwell, 5-9, 165, will be the slotback. The power runner of the team will be Junior Walt Winning, 6-0, 210, who will operate from the fullback position.

Rahway has the makings of a strong line led by veterans Jack Flath, 5-10, 170, at guard and Rick Beckhusen, 6-0, 180, at tackle. Either Scott Russell, 5-10, 170, or Doug Schaefer, 5-10, 170, will be the other guards. Bob York, 6-3, 220, and Pat Waskack, 6-2, 215, will be the other tackles.

Veteran center Bob Sica, 5-10, 180, will be backed up by Mike Wheaton, 6-0, 185.

Don Kirby, who thrilled Refesco last Saturday with a 76 - yard run on a trap play over tackle, will see plenty of action. The 5-9, 165, speedster can go all the way anytime he gets his hands on the ball. Carl Sica

It is now past time for members of Watching Conference football teams. Seven teams will go to the starting gate in the 1970 season that will open this Saturday with three games. Your Clocker sees this year's race going to the Westfield Blue Devils, a 2-1 choice to take top honors. Led by a veteran squad that has taken its last 15 games in a row, with only the tie with Rahway last season to mar it, Westfield has an able coach in Gary Kehler and letterman Kevin Bonnor, Don Knobloch and Joe Monninger.

The runner - up could be Clark's Crusaders, who had a strong line, a problem at quarterback and the big question mark is what will happen on Saturday, when the Blue Devils come to town. Jeff Tomasovic and Ed Pinkham are experienced backs, while the ends are ably filled by Bob Gegrich and John Schwankert. The middle line of George Busacca, Doug Berdick, Steve Burak and Chuck Kovacs is as good as any in the loop.

The battle for third place could be between Rahway and Scotch Plains. Both teams are on the upgrade. The Raiders are sparked by Tom Lubisher, 6-3, 240, an outstanding tackle and Coach Len Zanowicz is counting on Joe Accardi, 6-0, 160, at the quarterback. Accardi throws the ball pretty well. Rahway has the "horses" to be a threat, with Craig Huggar passing, Ira Prentiss, Don Kirby, Rick Treadwell and Duane Spruvach doing the ball carrying and a strong middle line led by Jack Flath, Eric Beckhusen, Bob York and Bob Sica. Powerful fullback Walt Winning, Bob Reynolds, who also played last season, Mike Merson is the big man on the line. The 210 - pounder is a powerful blocker and one of the defensive mainstays at tackle. A major target for Di an upset over Edison Tech, 4 - 1, will travel to Roselle Catholic tomorrow afternoon for a 4 p. m. game with the Lions.

Coach Ed Shustak of the Crusaders handed the Yellow Jackets its first regular season loss since 1967, the initial home setback since head coach five seasons ago. The Blue and White never tested as Ray Gryko tallied three touchdowns. Mike Brady scored the other marker.

Edison saved a shutout on Martino Scaturro's penalty boot in the last session. Tomorrow's game will have the Crusaders facing a Roselle Catholic team that coach Peter Baubles figures to improve on last year's record of 4 - 9 - 1, with Sean Downes and Sammy Rodrigues at the wings, while on defense, All - Parochial Mark Kurdylo should do the job. Russell and Pat Hagan are the goalies.

Bankers in Check-Up

First N.J. Gets Off to Good Start

The three branch offices opened this year by First New Jersey Bank are off to a successful start, according to Frank M. Pitt, chairman of the bank.

Pitt made his report on the new offices during a staff conference with the managers of the Clark, New Providence and Middlesex branches.

The Clark branch, which opened in March, is managed by William Helwig. The bank, housed in temporary quarters at Raritan Road and Lincoln Boulevard, has done well during its first six months of operation, Pitt said.

Donald Kravarik is manager of the New Providence office, which opened in a store in the Village Shopping Center last February. Pitt said the residents and businessmen of the New Providence area had given excellent support to the First New Jersey Bank office there.

Manager of First New Jersey's newest office in Middlesex is John Gundacker. Opened only two months ago, the Middlesex branch has made an impact on the community's banking habits, the manager said.

ESCA to Meet

The first meeting of the Southwest Civic Association will be on Monday, Sept. 28, 8:30 p.m., at Frank K. Hebbly School. The date has been changed to the fourth Monday of every month. First Ward Councilman Edward Getchis and John Badnar will answer all questions. Officers for the new year are as follows: Robert Lefkoj, president; Edward Jeremek, vice president; Alan Grossman, treasurer; Mrs. Lida Flescher, recording secretary and Mrs. Alma Kumpf, corresponding secretary.

Rahwayans On Pollution Committee

James J. Fulcomer of 384 Raleigh Road and Donald E. Cook of 684 Grove Street, both of Rahway, were appointed to a newly-formed subcommittee on solid waste pollution at the last county council meeting of the Young Republicans of Union County, Inc., Sept. 21 in the Arrow Lounge, Scotch Plains.

The Young Republicans also urged the N.J. legislature to outlaw the sale of disposable bottles for beverages in New Jersey by 1972 and to levy an anti-pollution tax on detergents containing phosphates. The group charged that phosphate in detergents causes "incalculable damage to the environment" by fostering the growth of undesirable water plants that use up needed oxygen and that disposable bottles cause an "excessive and unnecessary burden on our state's already overtaxed solid waste disposal facilities."

Fulcomer, appointed subcommittee chairman, is a member of the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders' Solid Waste Disposal Advisory Committee, and Cook is chairman of the Rahway Young Republican anti-pollution committee.

Persons under 40 years old interested in joining the Young Republicans should call Fulcomer through 388-4878.

Open House For Ladies At YMCA

An open house program for ladies has been planned at the Rahway YMCA by Mrs. Mildred Meyers and Mrs. Laura Solop for Tuesday, Sept. 29, announced B. U. Smith, general secretary of the Rahway YMCA.

Ping-pong, bowling, sit-down and swimming will be included in the program as will coffee and cake. Free baby sitting services will be provided for young mothers who need this service. Activities will begin at 9 a. m. and continue until noon.

On Tuesday, Oct. 5, a five-week course, every Tuesday and Thursday, will take place with the aforementioned activities, sans cake. This "crisis course" of the YMCA ladies program will be $10. Members will not be charged, Smith said.

The special program has been planned to coincide with "pee wee" swimming instruction, set for those same dates and written up in a special article.

Ladies wanting to know more about these activities are urged to contact the Rahway YMCA without delay.

Youth Center Opening Shuns Usual Fanfare

Mayor John C. Marsh said this week that he had requested there be no ribbon-cutting or speech - making fanfare attached to the opening of Rahway's new youth center on Esterbrook Ave. in the large white building that formerly served as the city's Post Office.

"Naturally, it was only fitting that city officials be on hand," said Marsh, who had guided the project through a nest of challenges and political swipes to its dedication last Saturday, which turned out to be a series of informal inspections by officials and interested citizens lasting throughout the major portion of the day.

"However I don't think anyone minded in the least that we avoided all the clumsy cliches that so often become a part of such events. The dedication of our youth center, to my way of thinking, will be an occasion that will be memorable, not for the words that were or weren't spoken, but for what it will mean to the kids of our city who no longer must wonder where to go next after being chased from some parking lot, playground, store front or back alley.

"It will be memorable for the programs that will begin to take form as we go through the shakedown period, and for the new dimension of understanding it can bring among youths of all backgrounds and from all elements within our community."

Marsh said the Youth Center will become the scene of Golden Gloves boxing events and training for Rahway youngsters, dances, basketball, volleyball, weight-lifting classes, roller skating, crafts and a series of discussion groups which will probe subjects important to young people in the course of their development into future citizenship.

"I'm planning meetings this week with Council President Weaver and Councilmen - at-large Ray Giacobbe and George T. Vansco, Chief Herbert T. Kinch and Capt. John Hummel and with police youth representatives Barry Henderson and Albert Smith to start working out the final details of organization and scheduling to insure a successful continuation of what obviously has been a successful beginning.

"Recreation director Ray Hoagland and assistant high school principal Nicholas Delmonico have pledged their help and support. George Coughlin has certainly done a fine job of supervising the work done by a great many wonderful young people in getting the building ready for its opening."

During Saturday's non-speech - making, non - ribbon - cutting opening, a group of teenagers ranging in number from 50 to 75 enjoyed ping - pong, pool and hockey. They rounded out the day's events by enjoying lots of one of the oldest and most established teenage sports. It's called "hangin' around..." and it's nice to know that they now have some place to do it in peace.

Adelines Comesanas To Sponsor 'Crazy' Fete

There will be lots of harmonizing on Monday night, Sept. 28, at the Abraham Clark School, Clark, where the Madison Hill Chapter of Sweet Adelines, Inc. will sponsor a "Crazy Quartet" contest.

Guests at the interchapter party will include the Princeton chapter. The program will begin at 8:30 p.m. and women who enjoy singing are welcome to attend the affair and any regular rehearsals, which are held every Monday evening.

Miss Anne Shupper, president, has announced that final arrangements have been made for the annual Bowl-a-Rama, which will be held on Saturday, Oct. 3, at the Federal Lanes, Roselle at 8:30 p.m. Buffet supper and prizes will take place at the Knights of Columbus hall, Roselle. Tickets are available from any Madison Hill member.

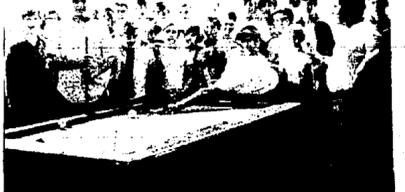

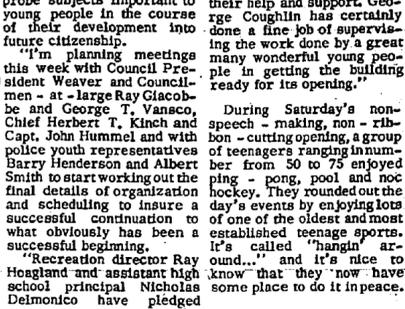

Comesanas Pays Visit

This November, the blue-collar vote will go Republican, Raol E. Comesanas, candidate for Congress from the 15th Congressional District, said in an appearance in Rahway.

"I come from a union family. Almost all the men have belonged to unions. In fact, one of my uncles has been in the same union for over 20 years.

"Because of these close ties with labor, I can tell that the blue-collar worker is suffering greatly from this inflationary spiral.

"Just because he (the worker) works with his hands does not say the laborer can't figure out what has led to this high inflation rate. The working man knows that eight years of excessive spending by the Democrats has taken money out of his pocket. "The average worker who has seen his money dumped into one wasteful, ineffective government project after another wants a change."

RAHWAY Police Blotter

MONDAY, SEPT. 14

Mr. Wayne Brown of Clark reported his car stolen from the Merck & Co. parking lot, Underhill Pl. A teletype alarm has been set out.

A break and entry and larceny took place at Ducoff & Son, 1457 Irving St., early this morning and a tape recorder and several radios were stolen from the display window. Police officers in the area apprehended two suspicious persons, one of whom was brought to headquarters and booked with possession of stolen property and resisting arrest.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 16

A break and entry and larceny occurred at the old Post Office building, 1306 Esterbrook Ave., which is now being converted into a youth center. The only items missing were the balls from a pool table. The pool table coin box was found to be empty, but entry had not been forced.

During the night the two rear wheels and tires were stolen from the car of Mr. Wilson Chance, 901 Main St. Other cars parked in the rear yard at that address were not disturbed.

THURSDAY, SEPT. 17

The stolen vehicle belonging to Carroll Accetta of Roselle Park was found by Rahway officers on patrol. The Roselle Park teletype alarm was cancelled.

The auto stolen Sept. 12 from Sandra A. Barsumian, 402 Hamilton St., has been recovered by Woodbridge police. The owner was notified and alarm cancelled.

Mrs. Deann Avalos, 1104 Plymouth Dr., reported winter clothing valued at $640, stolen from an upstairs closet, apparently while she was on vacation in August.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 18

Berko's Market, 1043 New Brunswick Ave., reported a break and entry and larceny resulting in the theft of about 20 cartons of cigarettes. Entry was gained by removing the lock from the hasp, and prying the bolt lock on the door. A suspect is being investigated.

Mr. John Ledington, 2544 St. Georges Ave., reported a break and entry and larceny at his home. The intruder apparently entered the house by way of an unlocked cellar door, made his way to a rear bedroom and stole a man's gold diamond ring and a Colt .45 automatic pistol.

SATURDAY, SEPT. 19

Mr. Henry J. Decker, 1128 Bryant St., reported aluminum lawn furniture valued at $50 stolen from his back yard.

Police investigating the alarm sounding at Berra Nut Co. checked the building and found that it appeared to be secure.

Entry was gained through a cellar window into the home of Mr. Joe Small, 583 New Brunswick Ave. Several items of clothing and $50 in cash were stolen from a bedroom, as well as $12 from a piggy bank.

SUNDAY, SEPT. 20

Rahway police officers apprehended a Newark youth wanted by the Woodbridge Police Department in connection with a stolen car. The youth was identified by the Woodbridge Police Department and turned over to them.

Officers on routine check of the area of ABCO Industries, 868 Elston St., observed an overhead door tampered with by removing the top section of the hinges and pulling on the gates, breaking the lower section of the hinges and causing that section to fall to the ground. The owner was notified.

Martin Takes Children To School ... in a Taxi

Daniel L. Martin, Rahway Democratic candidate for mayor, has started a free taxi service for groups of children whose mothers claim that the route to school is unsafe.

One of the mothers, Mrs. Joan Truppa, explained that "on Sept. 9, Mayor Marsh held a meeting with those of us who were concerned with the safety of our children. At that time, he promised to bus our five-year-olds to school. He hasn't done anything."

Martin declared, "People are getting fed up with a man who continually makes promises and doesn't keep them. He might have at least provided temporary crossing guards."

He contended that "what I'm doing transcends politics -- it is just a good neighbor policy."

The children involved are mostly five and six-year-olds who live on Campbell St. in Rahway. To attend classes at Grover Cleveland School on E. Milton Ave., they must walk 1/2 blocks and go through downtown Rahway where traffic is heavy.

State guidelines for redistricting say that a child must live at least two miles from school before he has to be carried by bus. Although exceptions have been made in Rahway (such as for children on Elizabeth Ave.) none has been forthcoming thus far for the Campbell St. children, according to Martin.

The city has not yet made a move for an alternate solution such as crossing guards.

Martin said. Last week, Martin and 10 mothers of young children met at the home of Mrs. Virginia Broadwell, 1532 Campbell St. All of the women contended that it is unsafe for their children to walk to school.

One woman, Mrs. Marge Gibson said she has been walking with her children to and from school every day. Several others have been keeping their children home, it was stated.

"The Mayor told us," said Mrs. Broadwell, "that we were subject to a court appearance and possibly jail."

Another mother, Mrs. Joan Zimmicki, said, "I would like to take my child to school but I can't have my own car. Therefore, I've been keeping her home."

Another mother, Mrs. Doris Ulecka, said, "Our pleas have fallen on deaf ears. I feel like the mayor and the Board of Education are playing politics with my children."

At the meeting, Martin told the group, "We cannot solve all of the problems in this situation, but we can see to the immediate need of getting the children to school."

In addition to Mrs. Broadwell, persons who attended the meeting included Charles Riley, Mrs. Joan Zimmicki, Mrs. Marge Gibson, Mrs. Lois Miller, Mrs. D. Ulecka, Mrs. Joseph Billy, Mrs. Joan Truppa, Mrs. Frances Jack and Terrance Riley.

Plans are being made to hold meetings with parents in other sections of the city in an effort to solve the problem of getting children to school safely, Martin stated.

ing the children to school. The problem of redistricting can never be worked out to the satisfaction of every parent in Rahway. But where the actual safety of the school children is concerned every parent should be satisfied to the maximum degree possible.

Asked how long the free service would last, Martin replied, "Right now we've scheduled it for the next two weeks in the hope that the problem of safety will be ironed out by then. Meanwhile, I will do whatever I can, as a fellow citizen and a friend, to help these mothers and their children."

Executive Director

Mr. Francis R. Senkowsky
360 Rudolph Avenue
Rahway, New Jersey

Dear Mr. Senkowsky,

As per your request, following is the information relative to the purchase by this Agency of that property owned by A. Giacobbe & Sons.

On December 28, 1967, 10 of the 12 parcels of property that Mr. Giacobbe had an interest in were closed for the price approved by our Regional Office. Due to the fact that there was a defect in title on the other two parcels, closing had to be delayed until it was cleared. These two parcels were then closed on May 9, 1968.

Our regular procedure calls for our attorney to advise the Agency of the date of the closing and the amounts to be paid the property owner. These figures are normally rechecked in our files against the HUD approved price. In this instance, where there were 12 parcels involved, an error in analyzing the amount still due on the remaining parcels was evidently made. We therefore followed the attorney's instructions and prepared our check for $9200 instead of the $5300 which should have been paid.

In June, 1969, a review of our records revealed that an overpayment had been made. At that time Mr. Giacobbe was so notified by our attorney.

The file was then placed in our pending file to await his reply. Shortly thereafter, our account clerk, who normally maintains these files, left our employ. This, coupled with the regular business matters which occupy our attention, plus the lack of a reply from Mr. Giacobbe, caused this file to remain dormant until it was brought to our attention again. At that time Mr. Giacobbe was again notified and he promptly assured me that, if an overpayment had indeed been made he would, after investigation by his attorney and accountant, reimburse the Agency.

Very truly yours,

Letter was signed in blue ink which does not reproduce.—Ed.

Dress Code Allows Individuality

A copy of Rahway High School's dress policy has been distributed to all students with the new Student Handbook. The policy provides the students with information pertaining to types of clothing which are permissible and which types are not acceptable for the 1970-71 school year.

"The way an individual dresses and the manner in which he behaves have a bearing on how others react to him," according to a statement in the policy. "Dress and appearance must be clean, neat and appropriate. Styles do change. If a new style is innovative, present a threat to safety and health or violates the law, it cannot be permitted in school. Within these limits the final decision regarding attire and grooming will be left to the good judgment and responsibility of the individual and his parents."

The policy said the school will encourage all students to behave and dress in a way which is in good taste and in a style appropriate for school.

The policy made it clear that some items of clothing may not be worn by students. The list follows:

1. Articles which are soiled, adulterated or ill fitting.
2. Articles which display indecent writing, pictures or slogans.
3. Articles which could cause damage to other students or property.
4. Kerchiefs and curlers.
5. Torn or ragged clothing.
6. Transparent blouses.
7. Sweat shirts, T shirts, open - chested shirts, tank - top shirts.
8. Bare mid - riffs.
9. Bare feet.
10. Sandals, open - toe shoes, boys' boots (combat motorcycle type).
11. "Short shorts" or "scooter" skirts.
12. Sunglasses (without medical excuse).

The rules for dress are not unreasonable. The school administrators should make it clear that the policy is to be followed and that the policy will apply to all students. Parents should help the school maintain the policy by seeing that their children are dressed properly before leaving for school.

The dress policy certainly is a liberal one and gives all of the students ample opportunity to dress according to individual tastes and still keep within the limits set by the policy.

Thoughts on Fire Prevention

There were more than 12,000 people killed in reported fires and many more probably died as after effects of these fires property damage and lost jobs ran into the hundreds of millions of dollars.

Some points to remember to help prevent fires are offered for your information:

1. Never use matches or candles when looking for smoking; use a flashlight.
2. Never smoke in bed. Break matches after using to make sure they are out. Keep plenty of ash - trays on hand and empty them often in metal containers. Check before going to bed.
3. Never leave young children alone. Fire fascinates them and they may play with it while you are gone.
4. Make the rounds of the house before retiring. Are all burners turned off? Is the pilot light lit? Have electric toys been disconnected?
5. Set up and practice a family escape plan. Pick a place to meet out doors and see how long it takes to get ALL members there. Plan at least two ways out. Always check for an exit when visiting in a strange building or home.
6. Check electric appliances make sure they are approved by fire underwriters check cords for frayed ends. Check circuits for proper size fuses, generally 15 amps is recommended.
7. Never transmit a false alarm. While away, the fire may break out in your own home and someone could be killed.
8. Always pull to the curb when you hear a siren or siren approaching. YOU may save someone's life by giving the firemen the right of way.
9. Remember only you can prevent that fire that hasn't happened yet. Why gamble with fate? Be a winner. Stop fires before they start.

Open house will be observed in all fire stations in Rahway on Saturday, Oct. 10, from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m.

The National March For Victory

By E. Sidman Wechter

Because the Union County March for Victory Committee will be sending a busload of residents to march in the National March for Victory in Washington on Saturday, advance discussion of the event is appropriate.

This is the second National March for Victory which has been organized and led by Dr. Carl Mc Intire of the 20th Century Reformation Hour. The first, last April, attracted minimal attention from the news media, which predictably underestimated the number of the 100,000 participants from all sections of the country. Before that March, confusion occurred at the last moment because of a White House release stating that the March had been canceled. This still unexplained announcement created uncertainty in the minds of those intending to participate. Nevertheless, a dignified, prayerful, patriotic appeal for Victory in Vietnam took place, culminating in a religious service led by Dr. Mc Intire and a patriotic rally addressed by national leaders such as Congressman John Rarick of Louisiana. Those in the first March have described it as an inspiring experience, shared with earnest patriots of all ages and denominations.

Why a second March for Victory? Because it is obvious that the first National March for Victory did not make sufficient impact on the thinking of our President and our Congress. The release along with the news media, editorial writers, and network commentators, have continued to discuss only two alternatives for solution of the Vietnamese disaster. One is immediate, unilateral withdrawal, advocated by Senator George McGovern. The other is gradual, unilateral withdrawal, proposed by President Richard M. Nixon. Both are tantamount to surrender - along with the news media. For many months, it has been clear that a war which has not been won through the cooperation of half a million American servicemen, plus our South Vietnamese allies, is not likely to be won by the latter alone. Thus, in withdrawing from Vietnam, the United States is, in effect, retreating - leaving the field to the victorious Communists of the Viet Cong and North Vietnam and, by extension, to those of the Soviet Union and Red China.

Victory is the third alternative in the Vietnamese War - sure and definitive Victory, such as this country always won in every war in its history, until the United Nations leadership effected a "stalemate" in the Korean War. Experienced military men of high rank, who free to speak out in their recent retirements, and fully cognizant of the military situation in Southeast Asia, have reiterated that the War in Vietnam could still be won in a matter of weeks - without the use of nuclear weapons - if the civilian heads of the Defense Department would give the green light to our military experts to go ahead.

In his 20th Century Reformation Hour radio broadcasts, Dr. Mc Intire frequently offers a prayer for the American servicemen who are daily dying in our halfhearted, unending, No - Win War in Vietnam. The deaths of 44,000 Americans are upon the consciences of many Americans. These were men required to fight and die for nothing? Not the Cuban refugees who had held a proper solution to the Communist takeover of Cuba? Merely to turn South Vietnam over to a coalition government destined to become Communist domination of that unhappy land and, later, of all Southeast Asia? The average American has never had the misfortune to live under Communism. In recent years, the horrors of such a life have been so played down by the liberal press and professional historians that Communism seems less appalling. Not so, however, for the refugees from Communist Latvia, Communist Poland and Communist Cuba because they know first - hand the monstrous nature of Communism, these people are eager to join the National March for Victory on Saturday.

Union County residents who heard the speeches of Serafin Menocal, the Cuban refugee who had held a top executive position in his native land, know something of what Communist control of a country means. So do those who have read "The Journal of Alfred Q. Little" by R. Daniel Mc Michael, which in novel form brings "1984" right over to Pittsburgh, Pa.

One must wonder why all the "big guns" are being trotted out to decry the second National March for Victory. Suddenly, the columnists have discovered that this project is reprehensible. The voice of Sen. Barry

CRIME INCREASED IN DECADE

Citizens Asked to Support Local Police

The need for citizens to support their local police was brought into focus, the Support Your Local Police Committee of Union County declared this week, when the Federal Bureau of Investigation released its annual report on crime in this country. The figures released by the F.B.I. in a mid-August show that crime has increased 148 per cent during the past decade.

Some pertinent details given in the report were cited by Henry Bragg of Linden, chairman of the committee, as follows:

During the 1960's, 561 law enforcement officers were murdered in the line of duty. In 1969, there were 86 policemen murdered. This was significantly above the 1960-1968 average of 53. The previous high for such murders was 76 in 1967. Of 741 offenders known to have been involved in the slayings, 73 per cent had been arrested on some criminal charge previously. Two-thirds of these offenders previously had been placed on parole or probation.

In 1969, 17 out of every 100 law enforcement officers were assaulted in the line of duty, an increase of 7 per cent over 1968.

Commenting on these statistics, Bragg stated, "The trend shows conclusively that physical attacks upon police are rising rapidly. We are publicizing these figures reluctantly because we do not enjoy highlighting the increased danger under which our police must work. Our major reason for calling attention to these statistics is to show our fellow citizens that the need to support your local police grows daily. It is time for concerned members of this community to offer their assistance in this much-needed program."

Some measures that are recommended by the committee are:

Immediate stoppage of federal funding of revolutionary groups and individuals

As a former colleague of Republican Congressman Florence P. Dwyer in the New Jersey State Assembly and as an admirer of her congressional service, I was astonished to read in a recent issue of The News-Record and Clark Patriot of her opponent's charge that Mrs. Dwyer has failed to prove leadership in the fight to preserve our environment.

Her opponent couldn't be more mistaken, as the record will demonstrate. Only a few weeks before his charge was published, I had occasion to write a friend as follows:

"I served with Flo for three years in the Assembly. Without question, she was one of the most able legislators of the people of the country and of state being her particular forte. Her keen insight and wisdom were vividly demonstrated in the middle 1950's when she introduced legislation to study means of controlling air and water pollution, something that other legislators throughout the country have only become concerned about in the last year or two. I know her career in Washington has been even more illustrious. She understands the problems of the people and works before the board had an opportunity to properly review the threat was a cutoff of state aid. Roselle once a pleasant community but now legislation in the area of pollution control and has consistently supported the Clean Air Act, the Water Quality Act, the Solid Waste Disposal Act, and related legislation. She has been a major supporter of the water and sewer services without a significant tax increase. Again the Control and Environmental Protection Laws, which she helped prevent from being vetoed by the Governor. I think I've made my point."

There are many people, both black and white, who agree with Mr. Berko that forced integration is self-destructive. There are also many people, both black and white, who agree with the commissioner that integration means quality education. I think it a mistake to make a judgment on the commissioner's power solely because you agree or disagree with his philosophy on integration.

Suppose the next commissioner has views that are directly opposed to those of the incumbent. Does everyone change sides, as if the school board were to continue the battle toward the opposite goal? That, too, is self-destructive.

I suggest that the central issue is not the present commissioner's philosophy of integration, but the concentration of power in this office that should concern every citizen, regardless of his creed or educational commitment. Several recent news items illustrate the point. In Roselle, the elected board of education submitted a plan that it felt met the commissioner's guidelines on integration. He rejected the plan, and demanded a new one immediately - even before the board had an opportunity to properly review the plan.

Several recent news items illustrate the point. In Roselle, the elected board of education submitted a plan that it felt met the commissioner's guidelines on integration. He rejected the plan, and demanded a new one immediately - even before the board had an opportunity to properly review the plan.

The threat was a cutoff of state aid. Roselle once a pleasant community but now legislation in the area of pollution control and has consistently supported the Clean Air Act, the Water Quality Act, the Solid Waste Disposal Act, and related legislation. She has been a major supporter of the water and sewer services without a significant tax increase. Again the Control and Environmental Protection Laws, which she helped prevent from being vetoed by the Governor. I think I've made my point."

There are many people, both black and white, who agree with Mr. Berko that forced integration is self-destructive. There are also many people, both black and white, who agree with the commissioner that integration means quality education. I think it a mistake to make a judgment on the commissioner's power solely because you agree or disagree with his philosophy on integration.

Suppose the next commissioner has views that are directly opposed to those of the incumbent. Does everyone change sides, as if the school board were to continue the battle toward the opposite goal? That, too, is self-destructive.

I suggest that the central issue is not the present commissioner's philosophy of integration, but the concentration of power in this office that should concern every citizen, regardless of his creed or educational commitment. law enforcement officers were assaulted in the line of duty, an increase of 7 per cent over 1968.

Commenting on these statistics, Bragg stated, "The trend shows conclusively that physical attacks upon police are rising rapidly. We are publicizing these figures reluctantly because we do not enjoy highlighting the increased danger under which our police must work. Our major reason for calling attention to these statistics is to show our fellow citizens that the need to support your local police grows daily. It is time for concerned members of this community to offer their assistance in this much-needed program."

As a former colleague of Republican Congressman Florence P. Dwyer in the New Jersey State Assembly and as an admirer of her congressional service, I was astonished to read in a recent issue of The News-Record and Clark Patriot of her opponent's charge that Mrs. Dwyer has failed to prove leadership in the fight to preserve our environment.

Her opponent couldn't be more mistaken, as the record will demonstrate. Only a few weeks before his charge was published, I had occasion to write a friend as follows:

"I served with Flo for three years in the Assembly. Without question, she was one of the most able legislators of the people of the country and of state being her particular forte. Her keen insight and wisdom were vividly demonstrated in the middle 1950's when she introduced legislation to study means of controlling air and water pollution, something that other legislators throughout the country have only become concerned about in the last year or two. I know her career in Washington has been even more illustrious. She understands the problems of the people and works before the board had an opportunity to properly review the threat was a cutoff of state aid. State Traffic Head Tours Area Oct. 9

Four locations in Rahway and one in Clark have been placed on the itinerary for the tour on Friday, Oct. 9, of Union County traffic trouble spots, State Senator Matthew J. Rinaldo, who arranged the tour, has announced. The tour will be taken by John Kohl, state commissioner of transportation.

The tour will include Rahway stops at St. George and W. Grand Avenues, where the feasibility of channeling left turns will be considered; Route 1, where resurfacing possibilities will be studied; Route 1 and Lawrence Street, where the advisability of prohibiting left turns will be the reason for the halt; and Route 1 at the Edgar Road exit ramp northbound to Hazelwood Avenue. The first Rahway stop is scheduled for 12:05 p.m.

The stop in Clark will be at Central Avenue and Raritan Road, and is set for 12:30 p.m.

The 62-mile, day-long tour will begin from City Hall, Elizabeth, at 9:45 a.m. The itinerary includes, in addition to Rahway and Clark, Elizabeth, Linden, Roselle Park, Union, Kenilworth, Cranford, Westfield, Scotch Plains, Plainfield, Mountainside, New Providence, Summit and Hillsdale.

"I am hopeful that Commissioner Kohl's visit will lead to improved traffic flow in Union County," Senator Rinaldo said. "I am heartened by his willingness to devote an entire day to surveying traffic in this county and I am confident that the commissioner's concern reflects his interest in taking concrete action to improve the lot of drivers in Union County."

Belluscio Cites Ward Aid

Anthony Belluscio, Democratic candidate for Third Ward councilman in Clark, pointed to his record as the township's public works director, noting that he advocated rebuilding of curbs in the ward and conducted a road resurfacing program which resulted in repaving of 20 streets in the ward. Belluscio said that more than 3,000 feet of new curbing was installed.

During his four years as the public works director, Belluscio stated, he improved the street cleaning processes through program and machinery modernization, directed the collection of leaves, and obtained new equipment for cleaning catch basins. The purchase of the equipment eliminated flooding the Third Ward, Belluscio stated.

"I have never considered myself other than the common man," Belluscio declared. "I am not a glitzy politician. I do not make promises that I cannot keep and I do not decide what I am thinking after I read what I have said. I am one of you, and we need one of us in our municipal government. I ask your support in November."

Belluscio added that during his years in private business, as well as in municipal government, he has gained "much experience in the handling of the trust and confidence of my fellow man."

Meeting Guided By Mrs. Crider

Mrs. Kate Crider of Clark, state councillor of New Jersey District of the Daughters of America, presided at the organization's state convention last weekend in Atlantic City. Mrs. Crider is a member of Abraham Clark Council No. 73.

Mrs. Eugene Ulrig was chairman of the credentials committee at the convention and Mrs. Edward Walcott and Mrs. Herbert Dorsch, both of Clark, represented the council.

Every Wednesday and Friday the department has this special by appointment only service, reports director John F. Altalre, Jr.

Open Clinic To Treat Addicts

Establishment of a Department for the Prevention of Drug Abuse and Narcotics Addiction, which operates clinics in Elizabeth and Plainfield, by the Union County Board of Freeholders represents an effort to fight the growing problem of drug abuse and an improvement of a long-range program designed to provide the county with the services needed to cope with the problem, the four Republican candidates for freeholder stated this week.

The candidates, Freeholders—Arthur A. Manner, Jerome M. Epstein, Charles S. Tracy and Henry J. Dauterman, pointed out that the former Union County Narcotics Clinic, now known as Clinic East, in Elizabeth, and Clinic West, in Plainfield, provides individual psychiatric and psychological counseling for drug addicts and drug abusers. Family counseling service, recently included as part of the program, is being carefully evaluated, the freeholders said. Job placement has been done by both clinics and they also have made placements in job training programs but the heavy demands existing in large case loads have kept the efforts to a minimum, it was stated.

Property Taxes

Support Counties
New Jersey's 21 county governments continued to rely chiefly on local property taxes for income last year as their total revenues climbed over $4.1 billion. This was a rise of 9.8 per cent over the previous year's $420.6 million. Over the period 1965-1969, county revenues had increased by an annual average of 11.5 per cent.

The property tax levy for county purposes aggregated $339.2 million throughout the state last year. Representing 73.4 per cent of total county income, this reflected a rise of 9.1 per cent over 1968. The average annual increase in the county levy since 1965 was 11.7 per cent. The county levy is included in local tax bills to property owners, along with levies for schools, municipalities and senior citizens, and veterans' exemptions.

Other sources of income of the 21 counties last year included $2.1 billion in surplus (up 12.4 per cent over 1968 in contrast with a five-year annual average rise of 10.6 per cent) and "other revenue" totaling $99.6 million (up 11.7 per cent as compared with an annual average increase of 10.9 per cent for the period 1965-69). Other revenues include state aid, special taxes, fees, miscellaneous non-anticipated revenues and imposed balances. Total county income in the forthcoming 25th annual edition of "Financial Statistics of New Jersey Local Government."

A county-by-county breakdown shows that in Union County, 1969 revenues totaled $28,262,000, or 77.9 per cent, $22,025,367, or 77.9 per cent, came from property taxes; $5,517,234, or 19.5 per cent, from "other revenues," and $720,000, or 2.6 per cent, from surplus.

Fund Acclaimed For Helping Public

"Even in this automated society, the United Fund, allows us the opportunity to help our neighbors. Through the cooperative efforts of labor and industry in support of the United Fund, we are allowed to go even one step further to help our total community," U.S. Senator Harrison A. Williams Jr., keynote speaker at the second annual Labor Participating Dinner sponsored by the AFL-CIO Union County Labor Council, said at the dinner in the Windfield-Scott Hotel, Elizabeth. The event was held to support the Commerce and Industry United Fund of Union County Area Inc.

One of the guests, Representative P. Dwyer, commented, "I've noticed your campaign materials stress 'Partners Labor and Industry.' If ever this country needed partners, we need it now. Labor and industry should march forward to better America for all the people in this country."

Alfred Fontana, first vice-president of the council, welcomed the more than 300 persons attending the dinner. Fontana, said, "With this great movement of labor and management we of Union County should strive to be the first in giving our citizens the best of social and economic conditions."

Capital Spending Shows Decline

Annual expenditures for capital improvements by New Jersey's 21 county governments declined moderately to more than $68 million last year.

The outlays for long-range, and usually costly, capital projects financed from both current and borrowed funds, Lower level expenditures totaled $68,193,000 in 1969, prior to 1967 dropped the annual average for the period 1965-69 to $55 1/2 million. The aggregate for the five-year period was almost $278 million.

County-by-county comparisons compiled from official records by the New Jersey Taxpayers Association show that Union County spent $2,386,000 on capital improvements in 1969 as compared with $3,754,000 in 1968. In 1965 capital improvements costs totaled $1,800,000. In all, capital improvement spending between 1965 and 1969 in this county aggregated $11,676,000 or an annual average of $2,335,000 for the five-year period.

Lundy Advocates Aid for Transit

Daniel F. Lundy, Democratic congressional candidate in the 12th District, which includes Clark, has urged the federal government to reallocate money from the highway trust fund to urban mass transit programs pending comprehensive legislative action establishing a similar fund in the mass transit area.

Lundy state, "Failing railroad and bus services are forcing our commuters into their own automobiles and onto overloaded highways, thus creating even more dangerous and frustrating driving conditions and increasing the levels of pollution caused by automobiles." He added, "We must allocate federal funds to aid the railroads and the buses in the form of a trust fund, if we hope to achieve an adequate balance in the mass transportation -- highway transportation fields."

Modern School Architecture Called Beneficial to Learning

Architecture, in the shape of the educational environment, plays an important role in attempting to enhance the educational potential of every child, John F. Allaire Jr., a member of the Clark Board of Education and chairman of its building committee, said in an address before a group of elementary students and their parents.

Allaire explained that non-institutional design of an interior and carpeting on all the floors seems to put children at ease. He said that teachers often let the pupils choose between sprawling on the carpet or sitting at tables.

"After decades of consolidating, we had largely stamped out the one-room schoolhouse, only to spend millions of dollars on new buildings," Allaire commented.

"Recently, while on a business trip in Cleveland, Ohio, I saw a school building which was a teacher working in a new one-room school which is the new wave in educational architecture now called the open place," Allaire continued.

By stating that the room design was largely stamped out of the one-room schoolhouse, only to spend millions of dollars on new buildings," Allaire commented.

"The wonderful thing about it is that none of the children know which are the slow or fast groups," Allaire said.

"The child just knows that all of the children are together and that they do different things at different times with different pupils and different teachers."

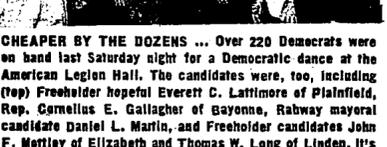

Allaire said that his company has cooperated in many school additions and that the classroom size was varied to suit the particular educational uses. Allaire said the traditional box classroom concept was employed but it is hoped that removing walls and opening up the best way. The school of today, therefore, is an architectural response to an educational need, according to Allaire.

By the way and at the time that old one-room school buildings were torn down, Mr. Allaire said.

The school board member continued by stating that "progressive school systems are turning to team teaching, ungraded classes, individual learning and electronic machinery in attempting to enhance the educational potential of every child rather than just those who fit the average mold."

Allaire said that he was cheaper by the dozens ... Over 220 Democrats were on hand last Saturday night for a Democratic dance at the American Legion Hall. The candidates were, too, including (top) Freeholder hopeful Everett C. Lattimore of Plainfield, Rep. Camillus E. Gallagher of Bayonne, Rahway mayoral candidate Daniel L. Martin, and Freeholder candidates John F. Mottley of Elizabeth and Thomas W. Long of Linden. It's a table full of loyal city Democrats (center), including (standing) Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brennan, William Papernik, Edward Carey, Edward Flynn, Peter Drukas, Joseph Salay, and councilman-at-large candidate Francis R. "Bud" Senkowsky; (seated) Mrs. Gertrude Solo, Mrs. Papernik, Mrs. Carey, Mrs. Flynn, Mrs. Drukas, and Mrs. Senkowsky. The happy trio (bottom) are councilman-at-large candidates Charles E. Crowell and Mr. Senkowsky, Rep. Gallagher, Mr. Martin, Councilman-at-large candidate Wilson D. Beauregard, and city Democratic chairman Patrick O'Donnell.

No, they're really that blue. We don't even know how the rumor began, although there is another rumor around WELA that our morning man, Ed Klein started it.

But unless you have color radio it shouldn't matter all that much. What should matter is that Bill Schaefer has designed his show on WELA Radio just for you. Each day from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Bill presents contemporary music in a slightly sophisticated setting and provides the perfect midday tonic for Union County's married housewives.

Road Aid Has Tripled in Four Years: Giacobbe and Vansco

Councilmen-at-Large Ray A. Giacobbe and George J. Vansco issued a statement to The News-Record this week announcing a tripling of the amount of state aid for road improvement in the four-year period beginning January 1967 through 1970 to date over the 1963-66 years of Democratic control.

The two Republicans said that $183,250 in road improvement aid money has come to Rahway during their first four years in office as opposed to $63,432 for the previous administration.

"These figures offer a significant and dramatic comparison of the effectiveness of the two administrations," said Giacobbe and Vansco, "because clearly in every one of the aid programs we obtained for our taxpayers was available during the Democratic years and had not included work done by the county or completed at county expense within city limits."

Vansco, a $10,000 program of road improvements in the cases of Barnett Street and East Lincoln Avenue, he noted, for which we received $50,000 and $10,000 respectively, we have succeeded in opening arterials to previously inaccessible areas of the city which now are being converted from wasteland into a valuable industrial center which means new rates in the community.

Vansco said that bids for the Barnett Street and East Lincoln Avenue road improvements will be accepted in late October. He also pointed out that $50,000 had been received for the Hamilton Street improvement program scheduled for completion in the spring. A multitude of resurfacing projects completed at no cost to the taxpayers has been possible because of state acceptance of road improvement applications submitted by the city.

"Our state aid figures do not include work done by the county or completed at county expense within city limits," said Vansco. "A $10,000 program of road improvements in the cases of Barnett Street and East Lincoln Avenue, he noted, for which we received $50,000 and $10,000 respectively, we have succeeded in opening arterials to previously inaccessible areas of the city which now are being converted from wasteland into a valuable industrial center which means new rates in the community."

"The most significant of the county projects is the Madison Hill Road construction, the value of which will approach $100,000.

"One of the more recent county-paid improvements in Rahway," said Vansco is the work done on East Grand Avenue which was paved from one end to the other. We also received a $20,000 contribution from the county for the New Brunswick Avenue road and culvert program," said Vansco.

Councilman Giacobbe explained that federal and state aid programs are, when considered as an entity, the second of three major factors which contribute to the establishment of true economy in community government. Clearly, in this category, we have established an all-time high. The municipal share has gone from 37% in 1966 to 26% in 1970.

"All in all," Giacobbe declared, "I think it rounds out what is surely one of the brightest four year economy pictures available in New Jersey."

Higher Postage Rates Go Into Effect Nov. 14

Postmaster Warren T. Moulton of Rahway advised today that higher parcel post rates will become effective on Saturday, Nov. 14, according to an announcement received from Postmaster General Winton M. Blount. Higher catalog rates will also become effective on that date.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has approved these increased rates in keeping with the law that fourth-class mail services are required to pay their full costs, according to the postmaster.

Postmaster Moulton said, "The U.S. Postal Service is holding the line on parcel post rates until mid-November to provide an additional opportunity and incentive for the families and friends of servicemen who are stationed overseas to use the lower rates so that their gifts will arrive before Dec. 25."

The mailing dates for holiday packages to overseas military addresses are:

Surface Parcels: Oct. 12 through Nov. 7.
SAM Parcels: (Airlifted overseas on a space available basis with a 5-pound limit) Oct. 19 through Nov. 21.
P.A.L. Parcels: (Airlifted all the way on a space available basis for a $1 surcharge with a 30-lb. limit) Oct. 26 through Nov. 28.

Postmaster Moulton emphasized that anything mailed on or after Nov. 14 would be charged at the higher rates in spite of the above deadlines.

He then ran out through the rear door and disappeared. A juvenile who had been admitted to the apartment shortly before this incident occurred was brought to Headquarters and turned over to the Juvenile Bureau for further investigation.

Grand Avenues. The driver of the car escaped but a good description was obtained.

A break and entry occurred at the Dairy Queen, Woodbridge Road and E. Hazelwood Avenue. Entry was gained by throwing a trash can through a plate glass window. The owner was notified and responded. A check of the building revealed that apparently no larceny had taken place.

Garrison once made a living drawing comic book characters but soon developed an intense interest in the events of American history that his ancestors of 11 generations ago saw first hand. The self-taught artist is attempting to end popular misconceptions about the Revolutionary War. His painting of Gen. George Washington crossing the Delaware River, for instance, shows the general shivering in the icy water, surrounded by his weary and ragged crew, instead of standing in a heroic pose.

Garrison's interest in the Revolutionary War era made it natural for him to speak out in Rahway when the 200-year-old building, now used by the Girl Scouts, was threatened with sale and destruction. He became a trustee of the Rahway Historical Society and raised money for the fund for salvation of the building by selling paintings of the historic edifice as it might have looked 200 years ago.

The Rahway artist is working on a tile representation of the colonial period for a future auction.

His works shown at the Paper Mill are mainly still life and portraits but three, "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," "Harbor Scene" and "The Boston Tea Party," reflect his interest in history.

Classes scheduled for the fall semester are being held by Dr. Roger West on Wednesdays from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. in the JFK Center, 796 E. Hazelwood Ave., Rahway, the Rahway-Community Action Organization announced this week.

Garrison Paintings Displayed

The work of Lloyd Garrison of 2353 St. Georges Ave., Rahway, and Matteo Janicelli of Kenilworth are displayed in the show in the Paper Mill Playhouse Art Gallery, Hillburn, in conjunction with the production of "The Sound of Music."

The show will continue through Sunday, Nov. 1. 8 Hospitals Organize Society

John L. Yoder, director, has announced that Rahway Hospital is a charter member of the Union County Hospital Society, an organization comprising the eight non-profit, voluntary hospitals in the county.

The other members are Alexian Brothers, Children's Specialized, Elizabeth General, Memorial, One General, Muhlenberg, Overlook and St. Elizabeth Hospitals. The officers are Murray J. Rubin, president; Edward J. Dalley Jr., vice president; and Sister Ellen Patricia Meade, executive secretary.

Representatives meet monthly to coordinate activities for the advancement of the physical and mental health of the communities served by the hospitals. One of the basic premises of the organization is that the free exchange of ideas, policies and information regarding methods of administration and operation will facilitate handling of common problems and avoid duplication of effort.

The group's plans include coordinated preparation for disaster, cooperative community health education and joint promotion of programs for recruiting people for health careers. The organization also anticipates serving as a single spokesman regarding the needs and concerns of the member hospitals as well as the opportunities and services offered by them.

Councilman Yarusavage explained, "In the past, out-rigger walkways were requested by the township on several occasions but were always rejected economically. This is the reason I have invited Freeholder Manner to view this situation, close-up. As a member of the roads and bridges department, I have asked by letter and verbally, to have the Valley Road Bridge Improvement included in the 1971 county budget. The ultimate solution to the problem is to have the bridge replaced with a modern, safe structure.

"There is quite a problem here," advised Freeholder Manner, who promised to review the budgetary situation with the board.

Councilman Yarusavage has requested that a wire mesh fence be erected as barrier between the school children and the motorized traffic as a temporary measure. The department of public works has been enlisted to evaluate the suggestion.

Confer on Improvement Of Valley Road Bridge

Freeholder Arthur A. Manner, chairman of the roads and bridges department, conferred with Third Ward Councilman Bernard G. Yarusavage of Clark on the problem of improving the Valley Road bridge over the Rahway River below Jackson's Pond in Clark.

The officials met on the 44-year-old, two-lane span at the suggestion of Councilman Yarusavage.

"One of our chief safety concerns has been the proximity of bridge sidewalk to that of the roadway," Councilman Yarusavage said. "There is no physical separation of pedestrian and vehicular traffic. Literally hundreds of school children use the bridge daily and Valley Road is one of our most heavily trafficked roads in Clark."

Councilman Yarusavage explained, "In the past, out-rigger walkways were requested by the township on several occasions but were always rejected economically. The National Security Index

The peace of the world rests on the strength of America. As long as our nation remains militarily ahead of the Soviet Union, war will be "unprofitable" for the communists. As soon as the Russians believe they have a military edge on the United States or can launch an attack and not sustain serious damage to their homeland, at that time the Third World War will begin. These thoughts are nightmarish, yet our national legislators must face them and provide this Republic with a superior offensive and defensive capability.

To keep track of how well our U.S. senators and representatives are voting on national security legislation, the American Security Council compiled a "National Security Index" for the 91st Congress on the most vital issues affecting national security. A member who voted to defend America on all ten of the selected issues was given a rating of 100; a person consistently opposed received a rating of 0.

The council's national strategy committee includes Dr. Edward Teller, the famed nuclear scientist; Adm. Harry Felt (USN-Ret.), former commander-in-chief of the Pacific; and Dr. Harold M. Agnew, director of the weapons division of the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory, who helped to filter issues chosen by 42,946 members of the council's National Voter Advisory Board (NVAB).

John Fisher, president of the ASC, said the National Security Index will have its effect on the 1970 Congressional elections. The U.S. is only number two in strategic military power, he says, with the Soviets having achieved a 6-to-1 superiority in missile megatonnage. (An ASC study shows that the USSR outnumbers the U.S. in strategic delivery vehicles 3,500 to 2,260 and in deliverable megatonnage, 10,330 to 1,730.)

"Yet in the face of this threat," says Fisher, "a coalition of U.S. senators and congressmen have organized to force reductions in our defense budget. Largely through their efforts, our strategic power has been cut back 40 per cent in the past five years, while the Soviets have increased theirs by 400 per cent."

Fisher cited U.S. Senator Harrison P. Williams of Westfield who is standing for re-election this year, as one who has consistently voted to weaken America's military defenses. Both Williams and Senator Clifford P. Case of Rahway have zero ratings on the National Security Index and join such radical Senators as Charles Goodell, William McGovern, Ted Kennedy, William Proxmire, et cetera in voting time and time again to disarm the U.S. before the Soviets. Williams is also a participant in Members of Congress for Peace Through Law (Congressional Quarterly, July 31, 1970), a "pro-disarmament" lobby.

Our representatives in the House achieved a markedly better, if not good performance. Rep. Florence P. Dwyer (R-12th District) received a 78 rating and Cornelius E. Gallagher (D-15th District) earned a 56. Of the 15 members of the New Jersey house delegation, three were given 100 ratings—John E. Hunt (R-11 District), Charles W. Sandman Jr. (R-2nd District), and William B. Widnall (R-7th District).

For senators, the significant tallies selected for the rating concerned the Safeguard ABM system, aid for South Korea, the Cambodia military action limitation, the Subversive Activities Control Board, and the McGovern-Hartfield amendment to end the war, among others.

In the house, the important issues to rate representatives were votes on the Committee on Un-American Activities, Safeguard ABM, aid to Nationalist China, the Vietnam resolution in support of the President, tighter security measures involving the production of military items, and the Committee on Internal Security.

We would hope that every member of House and Senate from New Jersey would want to consistently support the progressive and defensive capabilities. This is certainly not the case with Senators Williams and Case who have aligned themselves with what Vice President Agnew has termed radical liberals and who have irresponsibly voted to weaken the national security.

It is certainly possible to differ on issues, especially concerning the military because some elected officials have voted against selective appropriations based on waste or poor organization, but when senators and representatives CONSISTENTLY vote to weaken this nation, then their credentials as responsible legislators must be called into serious question.

We urge our readers to write to Senators Williams and Case and urge them to vote to protect this nation adequately. Senator Williams is running for re-election and the race is considered close between him and Nelson Gross, the Republican nominee. We are not impressed with either candidate, and their statements to date have been overly encouraging as to what their performance might be on security matters.

As far as Senator Case is concerned, his ultra-liberal record has been rubbing many Republicans and Democrats the wrong way. From what Agnew indicates in his speeches, it is quite likely that the senator from Rahway will be facing serious challenge next time round in the Republican primary for his efforts to disarm this nation.—K. C. Bauer.

OFFICIAL TURNS POLLSTER ... First Ward Councilman Edward P. Getchis, right, interviews Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Hoke about their opinions on garbage collecting in general and the Clark Disposal Association's new rate in particular.

Councilman Getchis Conducts Poll On Garbage Problem, Tax Rate

Rumors to the contrary, Councilman Edward P. Getchis, First Ward is not being polled by Gallup or any other opinion sampling bureau. The serious and professional manner of the man conducting the house-to-house survey misled some of the new residents but the majority recognized the councilman's pollster of the familiar hometown variety — Councilman Edward P. Getchis.

At a time when most politicians are conducting what could only be labeled a popularity poll, Councilman Getchis is conducting a door-to-door survey to ascertain his constituents' attitudes on the latest development in the garbage problem, their opinions on the tax rate, and their views on a one-party controlled municipal government.

"Council tends to think of Clark as 'their township' and each ward as only an insignificant part of the whole community, too often forgetting that it is the citizens, individuals and families, who are the backbone and reality in this suburban society with rights and responsibilities as concomitants," stated Councilman Getchis.

"I confess to a bias, I am proud to be a man of the people, I am proud of the town I live in, and I have the highest opinion of the residents of my ward."

The Councilman continued, "Our system of government presupposes an informed and knowledgeable people. Therefore, since I represent all the residents of the First Ward, I conduct an informal poll on a person-to-person basis all year round, not just at election time."

"The Democratic aspirant for the First Ward council seat has issued a statement that 'there is only one major issue — the record of

Sought by Police, Not All the Flags To Hail Columbus Found at Hospital

Charles E. Crowell, 23, of 612 Ziegler Ave., Linden, was arrested by Rahway police on Sept. 30 when he went to Rahway Hospital to obtain emergency treatment. Crowell had been sought in connection with the assault on Aug. 16 of Peter T. Duggan of Carteret.

Many of the new light poles in Rahway are not yet equipped with flag holders, says Councilman-at-Large Ray A. Giacobbe, and voters should not expect to see all the flags flying on Columbus Day this year. Giacobbe said all the new poles will eventually be so equipped, but he wanted to assure those voters who were disturbed with the non-appearance of flags on Columbus Day last year would know the reason for the absence of some of them this year.

Indians to Oppose Tigers 41st Time

The 41st annual football game between the Linden Tigers and the Rahway Indians will match two undefeated teams. The contest is scheduled for tomorrow at 2 p. m. at Veterans Field in Rahway.

The Tigers will invade Rahway with a veteran squad which has two victories this season. The Tigers won, 12-3, over Cranford and 19-0, over the strong Scotch Plains - Fanwood Raiders. Coach Tony Muccia and assistant coach Tom Hoagland have developed a good running attack, led by junior quarterback Walter Bertoni (5-11, 160) who is a fine passer and smooth ball handler. Bertoni scored twice last week against Scotch Plains. The scoring threat of the team is Ed Ciemnicki (5-10, 145) who is a speedster and an excellent pass receiver. Senior John Wasyluk (5-10, 150) and Tony Hurling (5-10) are the other starting backs. Wasyluk is the Tigers' big inside threat. He has good speed and is a formidable blocker. Hurling, a shifty runner and fine receiver, has the knack of hitting the holes quickly. The Tigers have a strong interior offensive line, led by co-captain Richie Gallo (168) and Dennis Rebeck (155). Both are three-year lettermen. The tackle spots are taken by Bob Sytko (195) and Joe Vannellis (185), a starter for the second year in a row. GOP Uses GS House: Beauregard

Wilson D. Beauregard, candidate for councilman-at-large, said this week at the city-wide meeting of the Democratic Club "it is a real shame that the Republicans are using the Girl Scout House as a political issue."

Beauregard referred to campaign literature issued by the Republican candidates which carries pictures of the Girl Scout House and stories about the project to save it. "This is an insult," he said, "to all Democrats and Independents and even good Republicans who have contributed to save the historical house."

"I feel very bad indeed that they would try to use this project to cast glory and credit on the present city administration. Who would have thought that the mayor decided long ago to devote some time to this project that he would be using it now as a gimmick to try and win a few votes?"

"I am asking the citizens of Rahway to do two things," he said. "First, to reject and discard any political literature they see which pictures the Girl Scout House or carries stories about it in an effort to win votes. Second, to forget the insult of this administration's trick and go all out to try and contribute to this wonderful project."

Rahway Is Not Listed: Crowell

In a manual prepared by the First Jersey National Bank of Jersey City, Rahway is not listed as a community favorable to industry to move into. Charles Crowell, Democratic candidate for council, discovered the news by contacting the bank after seeing one of their advertisements. The manual was prepared by the area redevelopment department of the bank. First Jersey National is the first New Jersey bank to fully staff such a department.

Two of Rahway's neighbors, Clark and Linden, are listed as communities where industrial growth potential is high. The manual also lists six other Union County communities. It was prepared as a detailed source of information on communities in North-Eastern New Jersey, the bank said.

Crowell said, "Independent information such as this shows that the campaign in Rahway this year is not just a political battle. It is a battle for the future financial stability of Rahway. We are not the only ones who see the widespread failures of the present administration, but we will continue to point out the defective ways of this administration to the citizens and present them with positive programs to return good government to Rahway."

MARSH HITS DEMOCRATIC 'INSULTS'

Says Martin Lacks Needed Experience

"Attacks, assaults, insults, flamboyant rhetoric, delicately phrased charges and useless philosophy, but not one word to establish credentials." This was the way Mayor John C. Marsh characterized the campaign being waged by local Democrats against himself and Councilmen - at - Large Ray A. Giacobbe, George J. Vansco and William M. Weaver.

"The Democrat candidate for mayor tells us that his credentials are his Rahway residency, the contention that he knows about politics which he neglected to support, the fact that he is a land surveyor. This is not my evaluation of his qualifications," said Marsh. "It's his own."

Mayor Marsh pointed out that his opponent's statement "establishes once and for all what we've been trying to make clear during this campaign. He has, by his own word, never been, in any way, even remotely connected with government, he has never been a manager, he has never been in charge of anyone or anything, he has never prepared or administered a budget, he has never been involved with labor-management relationships, he has never been a member of any board, commission or authority and, in short, he has had no experience or academic training that he can present as credentials."

"He has described his 'credentials' as simple, but important," said Marsh, "and most of the people with whom I've spoken seem to agree that that description qualifies as another Democratic half-truth."

"Qualified or not," said Marsh, "he comes to the people of Rahway in one of the most demanding periods in the history of the municipal government and says 'make me mayor' and I will run your six and one half million dollar business for you. I will negotiate your contracts, plan your budgets and manage your affairs, even though I've never negotiated, planned or managed before."

"One of them told us," Marsh said, "as he groped for some claim to public service, that he was a boy scout leader. The Boy Scouts tell us they have never heard of him. The youngsters from Union who design their stunts and write their material sent a letter - to - the editor of The News-Record in the name of a group of mothers expressing the depth of their gratitude for having used their children as pawns for a political gimmick. The whole thing fizzled when one of the mothers rose up in outrage at having been misquoted. "It seems clear to me," said Mayor Marsh, "that they have forgotten that they will have to live in this town after this election is over, and they will have to look at themselves in the mirror. I hope that they will keep that thought in mind the next time their youthful advisors give them a press release to approve," Mayor Marsh concluded.

Food for Corrupting Morals

Corrupting public morals is a precise art these days. Many of our state and federal politicians have learned to carve the public largesse with a fine hand that frequently appears to benefit the server more than the served. One of the latest examples is the free and subsidized lunch program funded by the state and federal governments.

This program's corruption is laid out exactly. You earn so much; your children are fed so much. There are no methods whereby the child of a poor family can earn his lunch. He can't clean up in the cafeteria—that, of course, would be "beneath" him. No ways are provided for parents to reimburse the public till. And as the release prepared by the federal and state bureaucrats so Christianly offers, "The schools will make every effort to insure that the children do not know who is paying and who is receiving a free meal."

This program will have few, if any, applicants in Clark and in Rahway the takers will be extremely limited. For this, we can be thankful, because applicants for this program not only degrade themselves but the state of public morals as well.

Few if any people in Rahway and Clark are so poor that they should cut themselves upon the public treasury to be fed. For the truly handicapped, Social Security and existing welfare legislation take care of their needs with an assist from local charitable agencies and the good works of friends.

Former generations of Americans regarded their possible inclusion on the welfare rolls as something on a par with being a hobnob. It was the lowest and most deplorable place a person could choose to be. Notwithstanding those who regard welfare as a right and urge poor Americans to "join up," the decent bulk of our citizens still refuse to view relief with anything but a disparaging eye.

When one considers that this lunch program comes upon a series of other corrupting influences such as the Food Stamp Program whose stamps are freely sold in some areas below par value for cash, breakdown in the welfare reviewing system, and the Nixon Family Assistance Plan, one wonders if the working segment of the population will in the near future be able to support countless numbers of drones.

By a 15-to-1 vote, the nation was justly spared the convulsions of Nixon's welfare proposal by the Senate Finance Committee which would have added 12 million Americans to the ranks of the welfare recipients and probably more than doubled or possibly even tripled the national welfare bill.

Not satisfied in proposing guaranteed incomes for doing nothing, not cognizant of indications of vast corruption in the welfare system, federal and state programs such as the lunch subsidy march forward carrying this nation's working public to brink of utter disgust. State and federal leaders better start worrying about the attitudes of the taxpaying public who day-by-day grow disenchanted with political attempts to buy the ballot of the poor. This nation is still almost 75% middle or lower middle class, and they provide the vast bulk of the nation's taxes. For them, welfare in all of its manifestations is a menace, not a blessing.

It might be well for all of us to consider whether any able-bodied father in Rahway and Clark is so incapable of providing food for his children in this age of prosperity that he has to fall back on the fruit of his neighbor's labor.—KCB

Students are nearly unanimous in desiring a longer Easter vacation which isn't too surprising, and many are not convinced by the reasons given by Mr. Higgins. Students noted that of all the school districts in Union County, Rahway has the least days for Easter vacation, that many high schools also have a spring recess in addition to the Easter vacation, and in preceding years Rahway High School students have been given a week off, with the exception of the last three years.

Longer Easter Vacation Sought

The student body of Rahway High School will be given two days of Easter vacation this year, and many students are wondering why.

Some of them have said that the board of education has offered a lot of foolish reasons or no reasons at all for this short vacation.

When Edward J. Higgins, president of the board, was asked about the Easter recess, he said, "There are only two days of Easter vacation this year, because the students have too many other days off, and a lot of these holidays are completely ridiculous and unneeded. Take, for instance, the Jewish high holy days. For all public school children to have off is unnecessary because state law provides that all Jewish children are excused from school on those days. Also, many other holidays could be better observed by a program in the school on the day off. Another factor you must consider is the drug seminar for teachers. This takes away several school days."

125 Executives Help Guide Jr. Achievement

More than 100 executives of business and industrial organizations in the Union County / Carteret area attended the 20th Executive Leadership Training Session conducted by Junior Achievement of Union County, Inc. at the Humble Oil and Refining Company's Bayway Refinery, Linden.

Fred A. Westphal, Manager of Humble Oil and Refining Company addressed the group saying, "That industry's volunteer advisers to Junior Achievement companies, and the sponsoring firms which they represent, perform a vitally needed, constructive, and effective community service. By your actions, by your willingness to serve, you are joining our ranks of business leaders who are teaching our young people how to apply the theoretical knowledge learned in the classroom to the actual manufacture and marketing of a product.

In reviewing the importance of their participation in Junior Achievement, Westphal said, "To the young men and women who participate in the Junior Achievement program, if you are the 'adults' and firms which they represent, you have an important opportunity and responsibility to affect the lives and interests of these young people and the responsibility to guide them in the right direction."

Rahway Police Hold Man, 22, For Drug Use

Raymond Brown, 22, of 1193 Wharton Pl., Rahway, was arrested last week by Rahway police for drug use under the influence of narcotics.

Brown also was charged with atrocious assault and battery after he threw a typewriter at the arresting officer while in police headquarters. Police said Brown was released on parole from the Yardville Detention Center, where he served a sentence on a concealed weapons charge, on Sept. 18.

Brown was taken to headquarters by Detective Warren Argentiere who saw Brown, apparently under the

SLEPA and Industrial Growth Data Twisted by Democrats, Marsh Says

Mayor John C. Marsh this week delivered a blistering rebuttal to a statement issued last week by the News Record by local Democrats on the subjects of the forthcoming grant from the State Law Enforcement Planning Agency (SLEPA), and recent industrial growth in the city.

"They've done it again," he said Mayor Marsh. "The one."

Public Is Best Detector of Sources Of Pollution, Yarusavage Declares

"Pollution control is everyone's job because we all contribute to it through our daily lives," Councilman Yarusavage stated. Do not burn leaves this fall. They can be converted into soil food by composting. If the homeowner is unable to utilize that method, the township will resolve it when the annual leaf pick-up program is re-activated this fall.

Other burning of trash is prohibited by local ordinance and state statute. Violation of those laws is subject to summons, prosecution and penalty fines.

The Republican candidate added, "We as responsible adults are charged with our greatest potential in reporting existing and offensive or air borne irritants to the proper agency as soon as they are noticed."

Councilman Yarusavage pointed out that the State Health Department maintains an air pollution control program center on U.S. Highway 22 in Springfield. The telephone number for reporting suspected air pollution or obnoxious odors is 648-2560, New Jersey is the first state to recognize the dangers of air pollution and began measurements 16 years ago. Since that time, the state has cooperated with every step of the federal government to improve the environment. If a citizen suspects odors, smoke, etc., to be originating from another state, such as a source on Staten Island or New York City, the State Health Commission should be notified by calling 609-292-5450. Either agency may be notified through the Clark Bureau of Health during regular working hours, according to Marsh.

"All private citizens can take part in cleaning the air-

"Their prime target this time is one they seem to enjoy knocking," said Marsh referring to the newly dedicated Rahway Youth Center on Esterbrook Avenue. "Their method of attack was to claim that Rahway will not get a SLEPA grant which specifically mentions the youth center. They discovered this by asking a SLEPA official if the proposed grant is for the youth center at the old post office. They knew before they asked that no one had ever applied for a grant for the youth center at the old post office."

Marsh said that if the Democrats had asked SLEPA or Police Chief Herbert T. Kinch or Captain John Hummel what had been applied for, they would have discovered that the grant provides for the salaries of two qualified police officers and for equipment and facilities which they may determine to be necessary for the successful implementation of their program.

"You don't have to be a mental giant to see that when the grant is received, much of it will be used for our youth center program and that such use will be in full compliance with the terms of the grant. However, if your purpose is to prove that Rahway will not get a grant for an Esterbrook Avenue youth center," and from that infer that Rahway will get no grant at all, you still don't have to be a mental giant," said Marsh.

Marsh said that he and his running mates Council President William M. Weaver, and Councilmen - at-Large Ray A. Giacobbe and George J. Vancso have heard reports of what they call "lies told by Democrats that defy belief."

"We heard from one family in the 3rd Ward that a Democrat candidate had actually told them that the new traffic light on the corner of W. Inman and Jefferson Aves. could not be turned on because the city did not have the necessary finances. We turned the light on last week.

"It goes on we can expect to hear almost anything during these last few weeks," Marsh concluded. "However, I know the voters of Rahway will judge us, not on grandstand plays or opposition conjure up for their closing act, but on four solid years of accomplishment and progress."

Marsh, right, turns on a new traffic light at the corner of Inman and Jefferson Avenues, Rahway, inaugurated as one of the city's most dangerous intersections. Watching the mayor are, left to right, Councilmen-at-Large Ray A. Giacobbe, William M. Weaver, George J. Vancso, and 3rd Ward Councilman Richard J. Voyalik in whose ward the light is located.

SCENES OF PROGRESS ... According to Mayor John C. Marsh, Rahway is undergoing considerable industrial expansion, in one week's issue of The News-Record, the mayor outlined some of the advances in the $10 million increase in industrial ratables that have taken place in the last few years. That rise in industrial property means approximately a $250,000 increase in taxes which helps to lessen the tax load on residential properties. The first 40,000 sq. ft. building (top left) of the Redevelopment Agency's industrial park has been fully rented and occupied. Construction at the Hart Street Redevelopment project (top right) is continuing. Planned is the second of three 60,000 sq. ft. structures. The East Lincoln Ave. complex is also nearing completion (bottom left) and the Dietz Court structure (bottom right) is moving toward a move-in date. The mayor also mentioned that the new corporate headquarters of Marsh, now fully complete, was a major addition to Rahway's ratables.

Public Service has entered the nuclear age. Through the miracle of nuclear fission large quantities of electricity can be produced without any of the smoke and pollutants formerly associated with conventional generating stations. Nuclear plants produce no smoke, no odor, and help maintain the integrity of our natural environment. Right now, we're building the world's largest nuclear generating station near Salem, New Jersey. In addition, we have purchased two more nuclear units for installation on Newbold Island, near Bordertown Township. The first unit is scheduled to operate in 1975, the second in 1977. We expect to add more nuclear generating stations to meet New Jersey's future needs for additional clean electric power.

Getchis Believes Clark Councilmen Should Hear Complaints and Act

Complaint counters in the township are open during business hours and the same holds true for Clark Township's complaint departments from the bureau of health to the road department. But there is one place in the township where complaints can be registered and have been at all hours, including 3 o'clock in the morning - the residence of Councilman Edward P. Getchis.

At the behest and call of the citizenry, Councilman Getchis reports, "Troubled residents feel free to bring their problems to me, night or day, and I consider that a complaint and an honor. My greatest satisfaction is in solving their problems either personally or with the assistance of the proper authority. In one case, the invasion of private property by a swarm of yellow jackets, I was happy to turn the task of their removal over to someone more experienced in dealing with bees and wasps."

"I really should say I am a weather bureau instead of a complaint department," commented Getchis, "for weather conditions affect the number of complaints or trouble calls made to my home. In the midst of a rainy spell, the number of calls rises as fast as Pumpkin Brook, and a heavy snow fall always increases the volume of incoming calls."

According to Getchis, most of the complaint calls necessitate a visit to the homeowner or an inspection of the area in question. Last Saturday, he toured the Esposito farm on Madison Hill Road in answer to a call from Peter Esposito. The complaint concerned the flooding caused by heavy rainfalls with the waters rising to such heights as to affect the pumps normally used during dry spells to irrigate the land.

County Mosquito Commissioner Carmine F. Cristiani accompanied Getchis to ascertain if areas of still water, left after the floods receded, might be breeding places for mosquitoes.

Blockage and assorted debris in the stream crossing the farm land were uncovered during Getchis' investigation. In addition to the usual sediment, the stream was blocked by concrete pipes washed down from a development site and an assortment of garbage.

"Mr. Esposito has been encountering even greater problems with flooding than previously because the runoff upstream from development on the Stenmark Drive and Mildred Terrace areas have created an overload of the storm sewers which empty into this stream," stated Getchis.

"There is no simple, quick solution to Mr. Esposito's problem for this flooding can only be eliminated with the proper execution of a better system of drainage which takes into consideration the immediate problem and the future need."

"Clearing the stream of blockage, removing the garbage, and shoveling out the sediment, would only be a stop gap, half-way measure," Getchis stated. "A survey of the water runoff pattern in this area must be undertaken in order to plan proper drainage. It is quite possible that deepening and straightening out the stream may prove the solution to this problem."

The Republican candidate concluded, "As in Mr. Esposito's case, sometimes I have to seek the aid of the Democratic councilmanic majority in order to alleviate or remove a resident's problem. Admittedly, the cooperation needed to culminate action I have instituted is not always forthcoming from council. Sometimes I strike out, but my bargaining average is high!"

Martin Says Still There, $3,900 Debt

"Everyone noticed that they ignored the fact that Ray A. Giacobe still owes them $3,900," that was Daniel L. Martin's, Democratic candidate for mayor, reaction to a press release issued by the Rahway Redevelopment Agency last week in the News Record. "We also commend them," the Democratic candidate for mayor said, "for not wanting this situation investigated strictly in politics. In fact, we share their belief. That's why the situation is now in the hands of the Justice Department and the United States Attorney."

Martin said, "To the taxpayers, their statements are foolish. They're expressing their opinion of a situation so which they are a party. Chief Justice Giacobe did the same thing two weeks ago. We just gave the facts. There was and still is, a discrepancy in a business transaction between the agency and Councilman Giacobe, and it involves $3,900 of the taxpayers' money. That's why instead of asking for opinions, we have turned the situation over to the proper investigating authorities."

"We can only guess at their motive for doing this," Martin said. "Especially since they delivered a smashing indictment of the administration at the last meeting of the agency. We've tried to give them fair treatment in the press. Both Republican and Democratic members of the agency concurred that they had to release this information. Now they want to pass judgment on the information. We say that that is the job of the Justice Department where legality is concerned, and the job of the taxpayers and voters where fitness for elective office is concerned."

Bodnar Receives Official's Support

John Bodnar, Democratic candidate for councilman of the First Ward in Clark, has received Councilman Stanley D. LeWand's endorsement and full support in the forthcoming November election.

Councilman LeWand stated that Bodnar's engineering background will be of "immeasurable value" in speeding along the capital improvement projects needed in the First Ward, namely, Pumpkin Patch Brook, Oak Ridge Road, Meadow Road, Lake Avenue and others.

"Just as Councilman Charles Walano's skill and experience with labor unions were helpful in negotiations with township employees, so will John Bodnar's engineering knowledge be beneficial to the capital improvements pending in the First Ward," Councilman LeWand said.

"It is a pleasure for me to endorse John Bodnar for councilman of the First Ward and I urge all residents of the First Ward to review his background and vote for him on the merits."

Tag Offenders

John F. Altair, Jr., director of Clark's department of public works and engineering this week appealed to persons who see refuse, grass or leaves being dumped on vacant lots, in streams or in catch basins of the township to call the department at 382-7577. "Be sure to get the license numbers of cars driven by persons doing the dumping or house numbers, if possible," Altair said.

State Will Pay For Vaccinations Against Rubella

Parents whose children ages 1 through 10 participate in the county-wide rubella (German measles) vaccination program this month will not be asked to make any contribution, Health Officer Martin S. Chomsky of Rahway announced yesterday.

Chomsky stated that the rubella vaccination program for Rahway is scheduled for Sunday from 11 a. m. to 4 p. m. in Rahway High School.

"The State Department of Health is providing the vaccine, and the technicians will give the vaccinations with hypodermic injectors rather than with needles," Chomsky explained.

Dr. James R. Cowan, state commissioner of health, said the state will fund the program in order to encourage the greatest possible participation.

"If the parent is not sure whether his child has had rubella or if he is not sure he has been vaccinated against this specific disease, he should bring his child to the site most convenient to him and have the child vaccinated," Chomsky said.

Approximately 400,000 children have been immunized against rubella in publicly supported programs in New Jersey. There are approximately 1,500,000 children in the state aged one through 10 but an unknown number of these have been immunized in the offices of private physicians.

The support of the State Department of Health, we are making it possible for every parent of a child this age to be protected against rubella and to thus help to wipe out this disease," the health official said, "but our goal will only be realized if parents cooperate."

TRAFFIC TALK ... Mayor Thomas A. Kaczmarek (center) reviews traffic problems at Raritan Rd. and Central Ave., Clark, during tour of eastern Union County by State Transportation Commissioner John Kohl, (left). Tour was arranged by State Senator Matthew J. Rinaldo (right), who also took the commissioner to sections of Route No. 1 in Rahway to view several trouble spots.

Local Traffic Problems Highlight Street Tour

Mayor Thomas A. Kaczmarek recently toured the township's heavy traffic roads with State Senator Matthew A. Rinaldo and State Highway Commissioner John Kohl. Police Chief Anthony Smar also accompanied the group.

Primary purpose of the presence of Senator Rinaldo and Commissioner Kohl was to acquaint state officials with the tremendous municipal dollar burden to correct and alleviate local traffic snarls on and through county roads.

The mayor requested the Clark municipal council to pass a resolution requesting that the county be responsible for the acquisition of rights-of-way and installation and maintenance of traffic signals on county roads. The resolution was adopted Aug. 31. Mayor Kaczmarek urges all Union County municipalities to pass similar resolutions and forward them to the board of freeholders.

The mayor further suggests that additional information be sent to our county legislators, including Senator Rinaldo who is already aware and sympathetic to the road problem of the municipalities. Perhaps increased state aid to the counties is a logical solution.

The mayor concluded his proposal by suggesting that present freeholders and candidates make known their intentions on such relief to the municipalities. The mayor noted some freeholders are already in favor of increased aid to the municipalities.

Patriotism Is On Tap At YR Cocktail Party

A live band, dancing, and a free hours of o'ceuvres will be included in the celebration at the door of $1.25. The purpose of the party is to honor American patriotic symbols and to promote patriotism. The public is welcome.

Area residents appointed to the "Honor America" committee include: Mr. and Mrs. James Fulcomer of 384 Raleigh Rd., Rahway; arrangements and refreshments subcommittee chairmen; Henry Varriano of 10 Bradley Rd., Clark; Donald E. House-Senate Conference Committee Approves Bill Banning Distribution of Unsolicited Credit Cards

A joint House-Senate conference committee has approved legislation, nearly identical to that introduced by Rep. Florence P. Dwyer (R-12th Dist.), which would prohibit the unsolicited distribution of credit cards and limit the liability of consumers for the unauthorized use of such credit cards.

Congressman Dwyer, a member of the conference committee, said the conference agreement, when approved by the House and Senate and signed by the President, will provide consumers with "the most comprehensive and effective protection ever accorded holders of credit cards."

The bill, Mrs. Dwyer explained, would:

Given Endorsement Will Yarusavage Serve For 4 Years: Belluscio

GOP SOLIDARITY ... United States Senator Clifford P. Case of Rahway, left, meets Nelson Gross, the Republican candidate for the Senate, after giving him endorsement. Senator Case joined Gov. William T. Cahill and all 20 GOP county chairmen in backing Gross.

Noting that the Federal Trade Commission has prohibited the distribution of unsolicited credit cards within their area of jurisdiction and that the House recently passed a bill to ban mailing of unsolicited cards under certain circumstances, Mrs. Dwyer pointed out that both actions would be limited in their application.

The New Jersey congresswoman, second-ranking minority member of the banking and currency committee participating in the conference, estimated that up to one million credit cards are lost and 300,000 are stolen each year.

Annual losses, she said, are estimated between $50 million and $100 million, while credit losses to card issuers are estimated from two percent to six percent a year compared to an average loss of one-quarter of one percent in the case of conventional consumer credit.

Congresswoman Dwyer noted that the credit card "blizzard" has risen to $13 billion, as of June 1969, the amount of credit outstanding from the use of credit cards.

"Over 1,000 consumer credit plans, while credit losses to card issuers are estimated from two percent to six percent a year compared to an average loss of one-quarter of one percent in the case of conventional consumer credit."

"Innocent victims have been hounded by bill collectors, treated with law credit card trap; they are suits and jail, seen their credit ratings destroyed, and witnessed their employment placed in jeopardy. The emotional drain, the loss of time, the legal expenses thereby consumed are more than mere inconveniences to those who have been caught in the credit card trap; they are nightmares."

Senator Case, who endorsed Gross during a recent GOP dinner in Freehold, thus joins Governor William Cahill and all 21 of the state's Republican county organizations in the Gross camp. "I am gratified that a man of Senator Case's stature has backed my candidacy," said Gross. "New Jersey's send United States Senator Gross has a national reputation for integrity in government. I welcome his support."

In making his endorsement, Senator Case stressed the need for the election of a Republican Congress. "For the country's sake, we need a Republican President with a Republican Congress," said Case. "I support completely the election of Nelson Gross to the Senate."

Senator Case, who has pledged to be "just as active as I can" in Gross' behalf, also said Gross "has been working his heart out in the campaign. I know he would work that hard for New Jersey."

In addition to strong state support for his candidacy Gross also has been warmly endorsed by President Nixon.

Will Yarusavage Serve For 4 Years: Belluscio

Anthony Belluscio, Democratic candidate for the 3rd Ward council seat in Clark, today pledged that if elected, he will serve a full four-year term.

Since 1966 the 3rd Ward has been represented by four councilmen, Mr. Belluscio said. This condition has made it difficult to maintain the stability that is necessary to provide efficient programs.

Mr. Belluscio questions the political aspiration of his Republican opponent, who in 1968 sought the mayoralty, but was defeated. He asks his Republican opponent to state publicly whether or not he intends to use the 3rd Ward councilmanic seat as a political vehicle toward the next mayoral election.

Mr. Belluscio said his election as councilman will provide the residents of the 3rd Ward with representation devoted completely to them, without the interruption a political campaign for mayor in 1972 would create.

He feels that a direct answer to the residents of the 3rd Ward from his Republican opponent will indicate whether or not 3rd Ward residents will be voting for a candidate pledging to serve them for a full four-year term.

Important dates on the calendar of events are as follows: Oct. 22-25 to Williamsburg, Va. for a four-day tour leaving W. Grand Ave. 8:30 a.m.

On Tuesday, Oct. 27, the school will have its school night program. An invitation to attend was extended to all parents by the principal, David M. Hart.

The purposes of the program are to tell the parents what is being taught to the children, to acquaint parents with plans for the new year, and to answer questions.

Mrs. Ernest E. Lacko, president of the Parent-Teacher Association will open the program at 8 p.m. with a short business meeting and introduction of new teachers. Classroom visits will start after the meeting. At the conclusion of the classroom visits, refreshments will be served in the cafeteria.

Rubella Clinic Sunday At Chas. Brewer School

The Rubella Clinic will be held in Clark this Sunday, Oct. 18 at the Charles H. Brewer School from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Numerous groups interested in protecting the health of children are cooperating to make the immunization drive against German Measles-Rubella a success.

The State Department of Health is providing the vaccine and the technicians to give the inoculations with hypodermic syringes instead of needles.

Coordinator of the program in Clark is Councilman-at-Large A. Charles Walano.

The Clark Jaycees, through President Anthony J. Paruta, have volunteered to supply the lay personnel to assist in pre-registration, to dispense registration forms, to control admissions, to assist the nurses and to keep records.

Dr. Carl H. Kumpf, superintendent of township schools, and H. Ronald Smith, secretary and business administrator of the Clark Board of Education, have made the Brewer School available for the clinic site and are distributing notices to the school children.

The parochial schools are also cooperating by distributing notices.

The Union County Medical Society has requested Doctors Seymour Wexler and David B. Garmlise to assist, and the physicians will be in attendance. The nurses who will assist at the clinic are also volunteers.

"With all of these groups and individuals participating, the program still will not be a success unless we have the participation of the most important groups of all -- the parents and their children," Councilman Walano said.

"We are all ready for them. We have the vaccine, the technicians, the physicians, and what is necessary. What we need Oct. 18 are the parents to bring their children, ages one through 10, to the Brewer School between 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. It is their opportunity, their responsibility and their privilege. We owe this protection to our children and to the future mothers and their future children. German measles is very hazardous to an unborn child when contracted by the prospective mother. The way to protect prospective mothers is to eradicate German measles from the community, and the way to do that is to have the children immunized."

Sikora to Speak To Temple Ladies On Drugs Oct. 19

A question and answer period will follow, and husbands and teenagers are invited to attend.

The Sisterhood will sponsor its Third Annual Book Fair preceding the meeting from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. Best sellers of Jewish interest, cook books, documentaries, and children's books will be displayed in hardcover and paperbacks. Orders will be taken for delivery in early December. Mrs. Murray Singer and Mrs. Robert Lapidus, both of Clark, are chairing the fair.

HUD Instructs City to Purchase JFK Center for $9,000 - Senkowsky

The City of Rahway must purchase the land on which the JFK Center sits. This was the assertion made to The News-Record this week by Francis "Bud" Senkowsky, Democratic candidate for councilman-at-large. He said a directive from the Department of Housing and Urban Development instructs the Rahway's Redevelopment Agency to sell the land to the city at a cost of $9,000. No other party can purchase the land, no trades can be made, and the city must pay cash, Senkowsky said.

In addition, he pointed out that there are expensive strings attached by HUD. The city must assume the responsibility of all salaries, services, maintenance, insurance coverage and miscellaneous items in connection with its operation of the JFK Center. Because the building lacks proper insurance coverage, the city was notified in August to make the transaction immediately.

Senkowsky also voiced concern "that once in the hands of the city, no one knows what will happen to the center. In typical fashion, the administration has kept this thing hushed-up for over a month. The people of Rahway want explanations for transactions that the city is involved in. They want disclosures of any and all business dealings, land transactions, or contractual agreements between city officials and government agencies. It is their right."

"Anybody interested in a little overtime to get this job done?"

"Ceasefire is the way [to end the war]—a ceasefire that is mutually binding and enforceable. For about four years now, as many of you know, I have been proposing such a ceasefire initiative—a series of initiatives if necessary—in newsletters, speeches, statements, and in letters and personal conversations with Presidents Johnson and Nixon, their chief advisors, and my Congressional colleagues. But never before have the timing and the circumstances—and the need—seemed so immediate and right and hopeful.

—Rep. Florence P. Dwyer, Report to the People, June 4, 1970

She Makes a Difference

"My purpose in writing is to express my deepest hope that you will announce a U. S.-initiated ceasefire in Vietnam... and that it be both designed and explained in terms that will convince the world, the enemy, and our own people of your determination to end the killing and destruction in Vietnam and to encourage the negotiation of a more permanent settlement there."

Rep. Florence P. Dwyer in a recent letter to President Nixon

"I propose that all armed forces throughout Indochina cease firing their weapons and remain in the positions they now hold. This would be a 'ceasefire in place'... it would accomplish one goal all of us have been working toward: an end to the killing... My hope is that it will break the logjam in all the negotiations."

President Nixon in a nationwide address this month

What Congresswoman Dwyer has been striving to accomplish has now become official U.S. Government policy with broad bi-partisan support.

Let States Set Obscenity Standards

Many parents and other adults are up in arms over the continual stream of pornography which emanates from their television sets as well as from publishing companies, movie screens, and theaters. Too often young people are assigned in school novels or poetry which their parents consider indecent, but which their teachers call representative of modern literature.

Recent Broadway hits such as "Hair" and "Calcutta" carry indecency to the nth degree and find it profitable. The problem of the movies is closer to home. Young people like to patronize the movies, but how can parents acquiesce when something like "I Am Curious (Yellow)" is showing at the neighborhood theatre?

Smut is big business... more than a billion dollars annually, and growing at an alarming rate. The most modern techniques are used to produce and distribute tons of unspeakably perverted films and printed matter aimed mainly at the teenage market.

Yes, it is big business, and getting bigger because (1) it is extremely profitable to produce a dollar paperback at a cost of 15¢-20¢, and (2) recent Supreme Court decisions have been so permissive that the smut producers feel they are no longer under restraint.

A Gallup Poll shows that 76 per cent of the American people want tougher laws on obscenity. Various volunteer groups have taken up the cudgels on behalf of the American public, including Morality in Media, 1256 Lexington Ave., New York City; MOTOEDE (Move To Restore Decency), Belmont, Mass.; Citizens for Decent Literature, of which Raymond P. Gauer of Los Angeles, Calif., is National Director; and Youth for Decency Crusade, 4723 Richmond Ave., Houston, Texas. All these groups would appreciate help in terms of money and workers.

Any society that goes in for pornography and perversion on a large scale is on the way out. The judgement of history, J. Edgar Hoover, FBI Director, says: "It is impossible to estimate the amount of harm to impressionable teenagers and to assess the volume of sex crimes attributable to pornography, but its influence is extensive."

The most workable solution to the obscenity problem is believed to be Senate Bill 1077 introduced by the late Sen. Dirksen, which would remove jurisdiction from the Supreme Court jurisdiction in findings of fact in obscenity cases and restore this jurisdiction to the individual state courts. Removal of appellate jurisdiction from the Supreme Court is authorized by Article III, Section 2 of the U.S. Constitution, which states that appellate jurisdiction belongs to the Supreme Court in all cases arising under this Constitution.

istration has substantially increased our water rates. This is another form of taxation. They have increased the fees on all permits, including plumbing, electrical permits, etc. The administration has even invoked a fee for the erection of a fence-around-our-homes.

Add all of these hidden taxes to our present tax bill and you can readily see that the tax rate of $10.56, which the administration boasts about as being a low rate, is a fictitious rate and the tax rate is in fact well over $13.

It is quite ironical to note that although the administration is spending at this increased rate, the services rendered to the public have decreased.

Many streets in the city have not been swept for weeks at a time. To add to the irony of it all, the administration in a last-minute bid to perpetuate itself in office, with use of the taxpayers money, is now operating two street sweeping machines on Saturdays, at time and one half pay for the operators. This is a willful waste of the taxpayers money.

If you did a bit of sweating-to-scrape-the-money-together to pay your present tax bill, you will really work up a high fever when you have to pay subsequent tax bills that will include the repayment of all of the money, plus interest, that the present administration has borrowed.

If this type of administration is to continue, the taxpayers of Rahway will be forced into a position of insolvency.

This article may assist the voters of Rahway to determine their course on election day, Nov. 3, 1970.

Orchard Street Brook Flood Control Work Proceeds And Advances in Basin and Other Projects Are Sought

Following last week's helicopter inspection of potential flood hazards along the Rahway River and its tributaries, Mayor John C. Marsh and Council President William M. Weaver announced the stepping up of local flood control efforts and the increasing of pressure at state and federal levels in order to hasten implementation of the basin plan the two have urged.

Marsh revealed that he has written to the State Water Policy Commission advising them that within a few weeks the Army Corps of Engineers will have concluded their study of topography and will have submitted their report. Marsh has urged the commission to come to Rahway to examine the study and to help him in mapping out a course of action to expedite removal of encroachments certified in the report.

Weaver said, in the meantime, schedules have been accelerated on programs currently underway to alleviate conditions within the city. "Phase 1 of the Orchard Street Brook widening will be completed this week," said the council president, referring to the program to increase the width of the brook to 25 feet from Jacques Avenue to the culvert which runs underneath the railroad and under New Brunswick Avenue to the river.

"We will begin on phase 2 of this project immediately," said Weaver. "That includes the widening of the brook on the other side of Jacques Avenue on into the 3rd Ward. We plan shortly to talk to the people on Lantz Court in the Madison Avenue area to discuss the possibility of easements in order to widen the brook in that area," Weaver declared.

Mayor Marsh pointed out that he has met on several occasions with the Army Corps of Engineers and with Woodbridge officials to consider the possibility of establishing a water retention basin on the Woodbridge side of Bramhall Road, inasmuch as much of the problem in the area is caused by the fact that millions of gallons of water is dumped into the brook by Woodbridge as a result of one of their own flood control efforts.

"Prospects are promising," said Marsh. "We have several retention basins in mind which we feel will be validated by the corps' study. Our helicopter inspection seemed to bear out our contention that both Jackson's and Bloodgood's ponds can be used as retention basins. We took motion pictures of both areas which we feel will be helpful in obtaining the federal grants we are seeking for the purpose," the Mayor declared.

Weaver noted that "the films also seem to indicate many pieces of land jutting into the river. However," said Weaver, "it is impossible to determine which represent actual encroachments until the corps' survey is complete."

Weaver pointed out further at the next meeting of the council that action will be taken to eliminate flooding conditions in both the Linden Avenue and lower Alden Drive areas of the 2nd Ward by piping to the river.

"We intend to tackle every phase of this job as vigorously as possible," said Mayor Marsh. "Another part of the program that is going on right now is the cleanup program which we intend to be a continuing effort. We're cleaning out under the bridges and underpasses and as soon as our Orchard Street Brook program is complete we will be clearing out silt from various sections of the river and widening the channels wherever it is practical for us to do so. Weaver said that he believes that an announcement will be forthcoming within a matter of days on the south branch project, which will have a dramatic effect upon flooding conditions in the city.

"Flood control is almost always a serious, expensive and frustrating problem," Councilman Weaver declared. "Usually, the work that really needs to be done to cure a particular problem costs a great deal of money and benefits a very small number of people."

with his legs. The man pushed the officer aside when he tried to apprehend him and ran out of the store. Another witness helped provide a description, and the case is under investigation.

A break, entry and larceny occurred at Amon Buick, 938 St. Georges Ave. Someone knocked out the window on the left side of the vehicle. The used car lot entered the shed, stole a set of keys to a Chevrolet, and then stole the car. The vehicle was recovered by Woodbridge Police, before it was officially reported stolen.

Breaks, entries and larcenies took place at four apartments located at 768 Hamilton St. All the door knobs had impressions of a large wrench or vice grip, and a set of fingerprints was found. The victims have submitted lists of stolen items.

Stephen McClay, 734 Jacques Ave., reported his car stolen from the Rahway Recreation bowling alley. It was later recovered by Newark police, and the teletype alarm was cancelled.

The owner of Town House Restaurant, 1453 Main St., reported that some time this past week some 15-foot lengths of copper leaders had been removed from the north side of the building and carried away.

SATURDAY, OCT. 17

Four men took part in an armed holdup and robbery at A & P food store, 2325 Elizabeth Ave. About $800 was taken from the safe, and $200 from a cashier. With the help of the Newark Police Department, one suspect was apprehended, and a search is underway for the others.

Alert police work resulted in the recovery of a stolen car belonging to Mr. J. T. Merrileweather of Trenton. Two juveniles were apprehended for possession of a stolen motor vehicle.

SUNDAY, OCT. 18

Paul's Soda Shoppe, 228 W. Scott Ave., reported an attempted break and entry. The front door lock was bent and cut with what appeared to be a pipe wrench or vice grip pliers. Apparently the culprit was scared off before being able to complete the break.

Leon's Auto Service, Leesville Ave. in Woodbridge, reported the theft of a wrecker. It was recovered in Rahway before having been reported stolen.

Gov. William Cahill and Mayor John C. Marsh Tour Areas Of Continual Flooding Problems in Rahway.

That doesn't mean you can abandon the problem," he noted. "It simply means that you have to try a little harder and be a little more knowledgeable about how to handle it."

Weaver said that "quick cures and bombast won't do the job. It will always be true in every community with a river that someone will have thrown a shopping cart into it. There will always be a storm sewer somewhere that needs to be cleaned and we do, indeed, need to be attentive and vigilant about these problems.

However, let's never lose sight of the fact that in Rahway we are at the bottom of a river basin. Upstream towns that used to be fields with names are developing rapidly and that means no more natural soaking up of moisture and it means new drainage for the very same old river. To the town at the bottom, it means new flood problems. That's the real monster. What's more, "that's the dragon I'm out to slay," Weaver concluded.

Flag Shouldn't Be Employed as Campaign Device

Have you noticed that Mayor John C. Marsh and his slate have the American flag printed on most of their election campaign signs, billboards and literature?

The American flag is a symbol of all that is good, wholesome, true, pure and sincere.

Are Marsh and his three councilmen - at - large

It is a mockery for Marsh and his slate to display the American flag on their campaign literature when they have during their entire terms of office suppressed the right of the citizens of Rahway to be heard at council meetings and the right of self-determination through the method of referendum.

PREPARING FOR AUCTION ... The Rev. Theophil D. Krehel and Mrs. Leo Paserba examine articles to be sold at the Chinese auction of Holy Trinity Eastern Orthodox Church of Rahway-Clark on Wednesday night in the American Legion Hall, Rahway.

RCFC Fears Fill Vow Has Gone Down Drain

Although Mayor John C. Marsh announced at the last RCFC meeting that the Rahway council would consider the passage of an RCFC - proposed fill ordinance at the October session, the flood - preventive legislation was absent from the agenda, members of the Rahway Citizens for Flood Control, Inc., noted.

The activist group requested earlier this year the city to control obstructive filling of river and streams, suggesting legislation by the city regarding a permit for any pick - up or delivery of any kind of material - to - maximum fine for such transgressions. It is possible that persons allowing such filling or dumping on their own property may also be held responsible.

Stephanie Cedervall, RCFC secretary, reported sending a letter to city business manager, Sidney Stone, dated last June 23, requesting the appointment of a committee of ordinance to improve waterways as an arm of the city administration to study the matter and exercise municipal authority as granted and recommended by state law. With the letter, a copy of amended laws of 1938, Title 58, Chapter 229, Section 40; 56-1 R. S. of the Revised Statutes was enclosed. These state laws not only give local municipalities the right, but also recommend action to improve waterways.

Howard E. Baker, RCFC chairman, said that Marsh has repeatedly chided the group for getting their own legal advisor, George F. Bartlett, and offered assistance of city lawyers. "Why is it so difficult for the city legal staff to formulate workable flood - control ordinances? It is the city, itself, that should be represented by an attorney at upcoming Trenton hearings on river encroachment complaints.

"The flood - control action we ask is for the benefit of the entire city, not just a group. The city should pass laws so that officials won't say, 'There's nothing we can do legally.' For example, when Sisto Bros. started to clear a block - size piece of land off Robinson's Branch on St. Georges Ave. this summer, there should have been an ordinance giving the city the right to stop proposed filling direct to a flood basin without any state delay. As it is, the state responded to our complaint by issuing a stop - order in a couple of hours."

Other RCFC spokesmen expressed surprise on council inaction on fill ordinance "especially after the recent helicopter survey and mayor's comments about dumping in the river and stream. Martin Chomsky, Rahway head director, who participated, never issued any statement on health hazards of flooding or inadequate sewer drainage, as far as we know. Our group asked for advice on safety and health related to flooding, but no response."

All candidates are invited by the RCFC to speak on the flood problem when the group meets on Monday night, Nov. 2, Election Day eve, at St. Mark's Church Hall, 8 p.m.

"Our group is non - partisan. We will prod for action, as approved by state and federal authorities, whether Mayor John C. Marsh headed director, who started flood - control machinery, and would like to see the next administration keep it moving."

Fashions Unlimited

Cristiani Claims Opponent Fails To-Fulfill Duties

"For evidence of irresponsibility the Democrat chairman need not look into our backyard at people who had been serving the town constructively in various political and civic endeavors long before many of his playmates on his side of the fence had ever become residents of Clark," said Carmine Cristiani, 14th Ward GOP council candidate. "He should, instead, glance over his shoulder at the shadow that my opponent is the liaison representative of council to the Union County Board of Freeholders, a very responsible assignment. The freeholders spend twice as much of Clark taxpayers' money, exclusive of school costs, as Clark does."

Cristiani added, "Investigation would show, however, that my opponent, in order to attend his first meeting of that body. This, to me, is truly irresponsible, because had he been attending these meetings, he would have brought back to Clark the good news about the county's bulk purchasing program, which could have saved Clark homeowners some real tax dollars. As a result of my opponent's neglect, Clark is one of the few municipalities in Union County which has yet to pass an ordinance enabling it to participate in this money - saving program."

I pledge to the residents of the Fourth Ward that I will discharge all the duties of any committee assignments which become my responsibility. I will be especially watchful in this inflationary period for any opportunity to reduce the burden on the taxpayer, if elected councilman.

Horse Show Planned

The 37th annual Watching Troop Autumn Horse Show, a mid-season event for nearly 650 youngsters enrolled in the troop fall season, will be held at the Union County Park and Recreation Center, 6500 Route 108, Watchung Reservation tomorrow at 5 p.m., and Saturday at 9 a.m., and Sunday at noon.

AAUW to Have New Members As Tea Guests

The Colonia Branch, American Association of University Women, will have a tea on Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. in the Iselin Branch Library, 1081 Green St., Iselin, for new members and prospective members.

The branch has two study groups which meet monthly. The literature study group discusses books of current interest. The afternoon gourmet club, organized this year, is tasting foods and trading favorite recipes.

All women who hold baccalaureate or higher degrees from colleges and universities on the AAUW qualified list or a degree from a foreign institution recognized by the International Federation of University Women may join the association.

PTA Schedules Classroom Night

The Mildred Terrace School Parent-Teacher Association of Clark will have its meeting on Wednesday in the school auditorium.

The meeting will be back-to-school night for the parents of pupils in kindergarten through sixth grades. The meeting will provide parents with the new addition to the school and to meet with their children's teachers.

The meeting will be called to order at 8 p.m. by the president, Mrs. William Hroch. Refreshments will be served.

A fire which destroyed half the contents of a mailbox at Walnut Ave. and Suburban Dr. is under investigation by Clark police and postal authorities. Patrolman Richard Resider discovered smoke coming out of the box. Matchsticks were found in and around the box.

United States Day Observance Asked

Charging that "the anti-American activities of the radical left receive far too much publicity and attention in our nation today," Chester Kniazuk, chairman of the Union County T.R.A.I.N. Committee, said this week that the group has asked the mayors of Union County to celebrate tomorrow as United States Day.

Kniazuk pointed out that "today in our nation almost daily the American flag, symbol of our freedom and independence under God, is spat upon, torn, burned and otherwise desecrated." He called upon all citizens to support United States Day by flying their flags next Friday.

In addition to urging merchants and citizens to "parade the colors" on Friday, Kniazuk said, "T.R.A.I.N. members have arranged with several businesses to display a petition to President Nixon, asking him to use his high office to see that all aid from this country to our Communist enemies is promptly halted." Petition booths will be established in front of many businesses over the weekend. Copies of the petition are available from the committee, Mr. Kniazuk stated.

The petition, which is published in the form of an open letter to the President, declares that the Soviet Union and its allies, which supply more than 80 per cent of the war materials to North Vietnam, are still receiving millions of dollars in aid and trade from the United States every month.

"Without this support," Kniazuk claimed, "the Communists could not possibly export revolution to Vietnam. We are simply asking President Nixon to abide by his campaign promise not to aid the suppliers of North Vietnam. It doesn't make sense to tax the American people on one hand, to pay for goods shipped to the Communists, and have to fight them on the other."

The "open-letter to the President" is signed by Robert Welch, president of the John Birch Society. In addition to initiating the petition, the anti-Communist Birch Society also sponsors the T.R.A.I.N. Committee network.

"We are extremely grateful to the John Birch Society for beginning this campaign," Kniazuk said, explaining that "most T.R.A.I.N. members are petition signers and members of the Birch Society, but simply agree with the society on this crucial subject."

Kniazuk added that persons interested in more information on T.R.A.I.N. programs—which include film showings, speaking engagements, literature distribution, and other projects, may write the group at P.O. Box 904, Clark.

Lundy Asks Funds To Aid MS Fight

Recognizing the need for search facilities to aid the fight against multiple sclerosis, Daniel F. Lundy called for the federal government to release funds from the recently appropriated Hill-Burton Construction Bill to aid the Allen Weik Memorial Hospital for Multiple Sclerosis and Associated Neurological Conditions in northern New Jersey, Lundy Democratic congressional candidate in the 12th District, made his remarks after a meeting with Harry Bleiberg, vice president of the local chapter of the multiple sclerosis association.

Lundy pointed out that Congress passed the appropriations—despite President Nixon's veto, but there has been an unnecessary lag in the dispersment of such monies to projects such as Memorial Hospital.

"The open-letter to the President" is signed by Robert Welch, president of the John Birch Society. In addition to initiating the petition, the anti-Communist Birch Society also sponsors the T.R.A.I.N. Committee network.

"We are extremely grateful to the John Birch Society for beginning this campaign," Kniazuk said, explaining that "most T.R.A.I.N. members are petition signers and members of the Birch Society, but simply agree with the society on this crucial subject."

Kniazuk added that persons interested in more information on T.R.A.I.N. programs—which include film showings, speaking engagements, literature distribution, and other projects, may write the group at P.O. Box 904, Clark.

The winners were Alice Carson and Joseph Purdy, Abraham Clark School; Allan Jones and Mary Jane Manhardt, Valley Road School; Debra Vermilyea and Jeffrey Prager, Frank Hehley School; and Edward Schmidt and Jerome Kamienicki, Mildred Terrace School. During the week, 582 school children, accompanied by 31 adults, visited fire headquarters to view a display of equipment and to handle a booster fire hose.

Nixon's Trip Is Viewed As Aiding Gross's Run

President Nixon's visit to New Jersey last Saturday in behalf of Nelson Gross represented the President's most recent contribution in a campaign-long effort to elect the Republican candidate to the U.S. Senate.

The President came into New Jersey as part of a four-state sweep into key votes next month to elect a Republican Senate.

Mr. Nixon was also returning the visits Gross has made to the White House during the campaign. Gross came away from the White House convinced of the President's determination to put a Republican into the Senate seat now occupied by Democrat Harrison P. Williams.

In addition, the President is also appearing on Gross television commercials during the closing days of the campaign. Gross visited the White House at the President's invitation last month to shoot color film footage that is being used in the commercials.

In addition to the boost provided by the President's visit Saturday, Gross has also received word of two independently conducted polls that showed him virtually neck-and-neck with Williams. Surveys conducted by the Republican National Committee and the Oliver Quayle organization in New York produced virtually identical results. Williams' long lead has shrunk to four percentage points.

Mrs. Dwyer Given Support by Ripon

The Ripon Society, a group of liberal-oriented Republicans, has endorsed Rep. Florence Dwyer (R-12th Dist.) for reelection to Congress as one of the 54 Republican congressional candidates throughout the country who "represent the best of the Republican Party." The society is a Republican research and policy-oriented organization whose members are younger business, academic and professional men and women. It supports progressive and innovative candidates and ideas and a spirit of independent thinking within the Republican Party. Referring to Congresswoman Dwyer's "outstanding public record," the Ripon endorsement cited her for "exhibiting the integrity, progressivism, and ambition to lead America in the 1970's." The Ripon endorsement continued: "The senior Republican of the powerful government operations committee and second ranking on the banking and currency committee, the principal year fight to end the killing House committee dealing in Vietnam through a U.S. initiative ceasefire -- a proposal she was the first to advance and has now become official policy with the her power to the public interest."

Hers, too, was among the earliest voices warning of the dangers of environmental pollution, demanding higher ethical standards for Congress, and pressing for modernization and reform of Congress and its procedures.

"But the most telling example of Congresswoman Dwyer's far-sightedness and determination is her four-year fight to end the killing House committee dealing in Vietnam through a U.S. initiative ceasefire -- a proposal she was the first to advance and has now become official policy with the her power to the public interest."

$160 Deduction on Real Estate Taxes For Senior Citizens Is Endorsed

Many years ago the State Legislature approved an $80 deduction on real property taxes for senior citizens who are living on fixed incomes and who do not earn more than $5,000 a year.

Since that action, inflation has severely hurt our elderly citizens, forcing many of them to curtail their activities in a time of life when they are entitled to live comfortably. We are assuming, of course, that they were hard-working and not of the group swelling the relief rolls.

This year, a referendum is included on the ballot to raise this exemption to $160, and The News-Record and The Patriot feel it should be approved. It will, in some small measure, assist senior citizens in stretching their small incomes a little bit further than has been possible in recent years, and when one considers that we have a growing percentage of the population turning to welfare as a solution to their own failings as individuals, then surely those who pay taxes and have worked for their livings should be afforded some measure of consideration. The News-Record and The Patriot heartily recommend a "yes" vote on this referendum Tuesday, Nov. 3.

Defeat of 19-Year Old Referendum Is Urged by News Record, Patriot

Procedure, or what we might call good manners in government, is a prime consideration in political operation, especially in a democracy which draws its strength from citizens sticking by the rules and their intent.

The Constitution of the State of New Jersey clearly says that identical referenda cannot be presented to the voters in two consecutive elections. It was the intent of the framers of our State Constitution that the voters would not be harassed with public questions or, looking at the proposition in a different light, that voters would be given at least two years to reconsider a defeated public question.

The framers also included this clause in our State Constitution to provide an adequate period between votes on a referendum in which conditions might change and argue for its passage.

It is hardly eleven months since the voters of the Garden State overwhelmingly rejected the idea of granting the franchise to 19-year-olds, yet another almost identical public question was approved by the Assembly and Senate of New Jersey and will be voted upon Nov. 3. The only change in the referendum is the striking out of the 18-year-old age and its substitution with the 19-year-old age.

The State Legislature wasn't too concerned with the intent of the State Constitution which was cynically thrown to the winds when youthful pressure groups descended on the body. "Just bombard the voters often enough," was their tactic, "and perhaps the voters will get tired of defending their opinions."

While such procedures have characterized many so-called democracies in South America and other portions of the underdeveloped world, such blatant disregard for procedure should not be permitted to invest itself in a State that has operated in a democratic fashion for nearly two centuries. The State Legislature might have obviated the State Constitution through a shoddy ploy, by the substitution of 19-year-olds for 18-year-olds, but it would be an interesting day to see them justify the reasons for the end-run to this assemblage and how their action was in conformity with the intent of the Constitution - not to submit public questions to the voters on a too-frequent basis.

VOTES TALLIES GUIDES TO PROCEDURE

What factors should the State Legislators have considered in resubmitting the liberalized franchise referendum to the public? Certainly, the first determinant should have been another question: how close was the vote? If the election had been a "squeaker", then clearly circumstance would have weighed for the inclusion of the proposition at some date, say the 1971 elections, that would have met the test of the intent of the Constitution and, at the same time, gratified those who, so to speak, wished to have another day in court.

"The Legislative Manual of the State of New Jersey" gives the results of the referendum on the 18-year-old proposal as 788,978 for and 1,154,606 against. The proposal was defeated by a whopping 364,000 votes, yet in the face of this unequivocal mandate, the State Legislature cavalierly disregarded the votes of the people. Before any discussion of the substantive pros and cons of this issue ensues, this assemblage should be aware that the 19-year-old vote is now on the ballot only because the State Legislators and lobbyists for lowering the voting age were successful in denying the intent of the State Constitution.

AN EYE TO QUALITY VOTING

Nowhere in the literature of the forces backing a lowered voting standard is there one mention about ways to improve voting quality.

It would seem that the entire issue of improved awareness and more importantly increased knowledge has been let by the boards. It was left unattended because it is really not an important issue to them, or they would have raised it.

Debasing voting standards should not be the concern of a progressive society, rather we should be concerning ourselves with methods of improving voter knowledge.

It has been suggested by some that courses in American government, instilling basic knowledge about the functioning of democratic society, be a prerequisite of gaining the franchise. This proposal certainly has a great deal of merit since it would serve to establish at least minimal standards of knowledge which would assist the voter in fulfilling his duty as a franchised citizen.

Others have contemplated some sort of test—fairly administered— that the voter would have to pass to be granted the vote. Perhaps it could be administered in the school systems and check how much the individual retained in his required American government course.

Nowhere do those arguing for lower voting standards suggest the preparation of written materials covering basic knowledge in municipal, county, and state government be published and distributed—most likely through the municipal clerk and county clerk offices. The whole drive of the 19-year-old vote proponents is simply to lower the voting age, but not to provide methods through which better voters could be produced.

Then to review quickly, we are against lowering the voting age standard of the State of New Jersey because --

One--the procedure used by the State Legislature of allowing a public question of almost identical substance violates the intent of the State Constitution and subjects the voters to harassment on a question which they soundly defeated in 1969.

Two--Most of the arguments advanced to support a lowered voting standard are poorly organized, are sprinkled with inaccuracies, or are of a demagogic nature.

Three--The entire issue of a progressive approach to improving voting quality or, put another way, voter knowledge was completely overlooked by the proponents of lowered voting standards.

It might also be added that many voters are deeply concerned about the violence of a small group of the nation's youth and have used this argument to weigh against a lowered voting age qualification. This, we feel, is not a good argument, since we are discussing a public problem which centers itself on this question: at what age, that is 19 or 20, are most youths able to cast a more mature and reasoned ballot? The Rahway News - Record and The Clark Patriot feel youth should wait its turn, acquire experience, and then be allowed to vote at 21. We urge a no vote on the franchise referendum.

The Strength of the Truth

I am a citizen of Rahway. My husband and I plan to be citizens of Rahway for many years to come. We plan to make our home, raise our children and participate in the affairs of Rahway and wherever and whenever possible to contribute to its progress.

To that end, we have made it a point to attend several of the face-to-face confrontations between the opponents in the election that is now just days away. We have listened to presentations by Mayor John C. Marsh and Councilmen-at-Large incumbents George J. Vansco, Ray A. Giacobbe and William M. Weaver in which they have recited an impressive record of accomplishments including long-awaited beginning of the redevelopment construction, State Transportation Department approval of a new railroad station, the minimization of tax increases at the lowest amount of per cent increase in Union County, $10 million in new industrial rentals, more state and federal aid than ever before, the establishment of a class "A" credit rating for the city, significant local, state and federal flood control programs, a youth center for our teenagers, a brand new Community Center worth over $150,000 built at no cost to Rahway taxpayers for the city's underprivileged, a reduction in the crime rate, new street improvements and traffic control programs and a seemingly endless list of achievements that have, indeed, made Rahway, as Mayor Marsh puts it, a better place to live in.

They are also attempting to alleviate the parking problem on Cora Place and Audrey Drive. These are the things I think most citizens are interested in.

We have listened also to Democratic candidates Daniel L. Martin, Charles E. Crowell, Francis "Bud" Senkowsky and Wilson D. Beauregard. They have told us who they are, that they live in Rahway and that they are employed. They have told us that they are concerned for the future of Rahway, as we all are, and that what Rahway really needs is a human relations board, which it already has, a citizens committee to do what the department of recreation is supposed to do, (and which it does so well that it was cited as a model by the Woodbridge Council), and a citizens committee to pass on public works contracts, (a potential practical disaster from which the city might never recover.) And that, believe it or not, is it! That is the total extent of the positive offerings of the Democratic candidates.

What are we paying our elected officials for, if not to do their jobs. It appears the Democrats would have

I said that we have listened. We have also read. What we have read from the Republican candidates has been a summation of their accomplishments, announcements of new achievements, easily verifiable evidence to support their claims and a continuing demand, unmet as of this writing, that the Democrats cease their campaign of mud-slinging and present their credentials.

From the Democrats, we have read an uninterrupted string of accusations which, almost as quickly as they have been made, have been exposed as shabby lies. First came candidate Martin who, in an outpouring of generosity, offered to pay taxicab fares for the kiddies on their way to school. When he sent a "letter to the editor" defaming Mayor Marsh, one mother wrote back denouncing the whole stunt.

Mr. Senkowsky told us that he is a Boy Scout leader. The Boy Scouts denied this, saying that they have never seen him. This candidate went on from there to accuse Mr. Giacobbe of owning the Redevelopment Agency money. The Redevelopment Agency themselves exposed this accusation as a farce.

There have been other pally efforts to expose the administration. Hoping that it won't happen before the election, the Democrats said "the SLEPA grant isn't coming, referring to money from the state for the Youth Center program. The SLEPA grant is coming on Oct. 29. I believe in any kind of portfolio with which to recommend themselves, these individuals care far more about the election than they do about truth."

I would like them to know that I do care about truth. I would like them to know that there is an entire generation of young Americans who will insist upon respect for the truth, especially from those who ask to be placed in positions of public trust. I commend Mayor Marsh, and Councilmen Vansco, Giacobbe and Weaver for the forthright manner in which they have presented their credentials, and I urge every registered voter in Rahway to help re-elect this capable and dedicated team of city officials.

Letters to the Editor

Political Signs Called Pollutant

Could we have an anti pollution campaign in Clark? Are you tired of the "dirty politics" that contaminates our town for two months before each primary and election day?

Let's have an ordinance passed now prohibiting signs on lawns, fences, poles and stop signs. You own the township not politicians.

Says Candidate Aced Shamefully

In entering this campaign I made the solemn promise that the name of Bill Forgythe would never be used in the effort to be elected because Don and I were the closest of personal friends for 20 years.

Last week an article appeared in your paper shamelessly associating the name of Don Forgythe with that of Bill Weaver. To your readers, I raise the question of who wrote that article. To Bill Weaver, I state, "friendship is something that we earn; we do not steal it."

I hope that Mr. Weaver is prepared to bear the shame of reaching into the tomb in an effort to win a few votes, just as I must bear the insult that the honorable and respected name of my best friend has been cheapened after his death.

Youth Supporting Marsh's Efforts

I have been watching the papers for the last three months, waiting to see if the Rahway Democratic candidates propose anything at all that might be of some benefit to Rahway citizens, or if they say something which might give the voting public a hint as to why they are qualified to hold office and run the city.

In three months worth of campaigning, they have proposed nothing.

I have spoken to a great many young people in Rahway who are either attending college or are of college age, and every one of them agrees with me in believing that to turn the city over to these negative, short-sighted people would be to invite disaster. They agree with me that Mayor John Marsh has done one heck of a good job in pulling this town up by its bootstraps and injecting into Rahway a spirit of positive pride that young people want and need in their community.

'Kid' for Martin Reveals Beliefs

Marsh Has Kept Promises to City

Where were the critics who are traveling around in the guise of Democrat candidates when the work was being done by Mayor John Marsh and Councilmen Vansco, Giacobbe and Weaver to improve the City of Rahway?

I've been to a great many meetings at which Mayor Marsh has been outlining proposals such as the scooters for downtown Rahway, the improvement of the railroad property, the crack-down on pan-handlers, the improvement of parking conditions, the new lights and the new railroad station. Everything he has proposed is now either a fact of life or is in the works.

Williams Battles to Retain His Senate Seat Against Challenge by Gross

Gross, who received the support of President Richard M. Nixon's whirlwind visit to New Jersey, has been vigorous in attacking Senator Williams' record in Washington and has been emphasizing his support of many Nixon Administration policies although he differs with the President on some issues. The Williams-Gross race, therefore, is viewed as a testing ground for the Administration's accomplishments and failures.

Gross' reputation in politics was established as a result of his ability to organize campaigns. He is credited with leading a successful move at the Republican convention in 1968 to lure votes from a favorite son, Senator Clifford P. Case, and deliver them to Nixon. He led the campaign for the Nixon-Agnew slate last year and ran the campaign that made William T. Cahill the first Republican to sit in the governor's chair in 16 years.

Williams, 50, received his education at Oberlin College, Georgetown University School of Foreign Service and Columbia Law School. He is a member of the New Jersey Bar. Williams holds memberships in the Senate's steering, labor and public welfare, banking and currency, aging, and small business committees.

Gross, 38, also a lawyer, is a graduate of Teaneck High School, Yale University and Columbia Law School. He served as an assistant United States district attorney for New Jersey and as chief counsel of the New Jersey Senate Investigating Committee. He was elected to the State Assembly in 1962 and appointed to the National Commission for UNESCO and the National Council on the Education of Disadvantaged Children this year.

Both Senator Williams and Gross have virtually ignored the fact that there are four other candidates in the field. The others are Joseph F. Job of Rutherford, the Silent Majority candidate, Julius Levin of Haddon Heights, the Socialist Labor candidate, and William J. O'Grady of Roselle

ELECTION SUPPLEMENT

By Arthur Hartland Mershon, Jr.

One of New Jersey's two seats in the United States Senate will be at stake in Tuesday's general election with the two leading contenders, Harrison A. Williams Jr. of Westfield, the Democratic incumbent, and Nelson G. Gross of Saddle River, his Republican opponent, contending for the support of the state's electorate.

Rahway voters will go to the polls to cast their ballots for representative in the 13th Congressional District. That district includes Elizabeth, Linden, Bayonne and five Jersey City wards. The opponents for the House of Representatives position are Cornelius E. Gallagher of Bayonne, the Democratic incumbent who is favored to retain his seat for a seventh term, and Raul E. L. Comesanas of Elizabeth, the Republican candidate who is expected to gain the support of the district's numerous Spanish-speaking voters.

In Clark the voters will be voting to elect a 12th Congressional District representative. The heavy favorite to win an eighth term in the House is Mrs. Florence P. Dwyer of Elizabeth, a Republican who has often run ahead of other candidates on GOP tickets. The difficult task of trying to unseat Mrs. Dwyer has fallen to Daniel F. Lundy of Westfield, a political newcomer who has attacked Mrs. Dwyer as unresponsive to the district's problems because she does not reside in the 13th District.

Both Rahway and Clark voters, together with other Union County voters, will select four candidates for membership in the Board of Freeholders. The Republicans, all incumbents, are Joseph V. Epstein of Scotch Plains, Arthur A. Manner of Berkeley Heights and Charles S. Tracy of Hillside, who are seeking reelection to three-year terms; and Henry J. Crawford and Everett C. Lattimore of Plainfield, running for three-year terms, and John P. Mottley of Elizabeth, seeking the two-year term.

Both Clark and Rahway have seen vigorous election campaigns run by the candidates for municipal offices. In Rahway the mayoralty is up for grabs. The Republican incumbent, John C. Marsh, has been facing the strong challenge of Daniel L. Martin, a newcomer to Rahway politics. Running with Mayor Marsh are three incumbent councilmen-at-large, Ray A. Giacobbe, William M. Weaver and George J. Vansco. Martin's running-mates, former Fifth Ward Councilman Charles E. Crowell, Wilson D. Beauregard and Francis R. Senkowsky, are asking the voters to name them the city's councilmen-at-large.

There is an independent candidate in the race for councilman-at-large in Rahway. He is Donald L. Kennedy of 1450 Lawrence St., a resident of the city for 10 years and a special agent for the New York Life Insurance Co.

Clark's voters will select ward councilmen. The Republican candidates are: 1st Ward, Edward P. Getchis, incumbent; 2nd Ward, Alexander Paschenko; 3rd Ward, Bernard C. Yarusavage, incumbent, and 4th Ward, Carmine F. Cristiani. The Democratic hopefuls are: 1st Ward, John Bodnar; 2nd Ward, Richard C. Burger; 3rd Ward, Anthony Belluso, and 4th Ward, Robert Roman.

Also on Tuesday's ballot are two state-wide referenda. One, if approved by the voters, would change the State Constitution to permit 19-year-olds to vote. At present a would-be voter must be 21. The second referendum would increase from $80 to $160 the real property tax exemption granted certain citizens and residents who are 65 years of age and over. The state would reimburse the municipalities for one-half of the amount of the tax deductions.

The question of pay for members of the Police Department will be decided by Clark's electorate. A referendum, if approved, will give members of the police force a minimum pay of $9,800 a year.

Information about the campaigns and candidates for the state, county and municipal offices follows:

UNITED STATES SENATOR
Senator Williams, who is completing his 12th year in the Senate, is viewed by political observers as running ahead of his GOP foe, Gross, the former Republican state chairman. The senator has been waging a cautious campaign, aware that he is the front-runner and mindful of the fact that he is the only remaining Democratic officeholder on the state level.

The incumbent seems content to rely upon Democratic Party adherents and the ranks of organized labor to return him to Washington for another six-year term. Senator Williams has been satisfied to cite his accomplishments in the Senate, rarely attacking his opponent except to correct what he considers distortions of the record. This strategy has helped to keep Gross out of the House in Mrs. Florence P. Dwyer's district. The low-key campaign apparently has been successful.

Park, running on the National Conservative Party ticket, and Joseph S. Mans of Jersey City, an independent.

REPRESENTATIVE--12th DISTRICT

Mrs. Dwyer, who received more than 70 per cent of the vote in the 13th District race two years ago, has campaigned with only one issue--her performance as an independent-thinking legislator. She has been active in legislation concerning drug control, mass transit, higher ethical standards for legislators and equal rights for women.

The Republican legislator, who describes herself as "moderate and progressive" has supported the ceasefire in Vietnam, worked for consumer protection measures and backed efforts for government reorganization.

Lundy, a 38-year-old Democrat waging his first campaign, has attacked his opponent for what he calls "inconsistencies between her voting record and public posture." Lundy favors a definite date for withdrawal of American forces from Vietnam. He believes that the war in Asia is a reason for the "simultaneous recession-inflation" and increase in unemployment.

The Democrat has stated that the economy is being "mismanaged" by the Republican Administration and views a shift to a "people

ing. He has directed the main thrust of his campaign at the drug problem which he terms "one of the biggest worries of parents" and the "core of the crime problem."

He has noted that a series of bills he has introduced would provide sweeping reforms in the area of narcotics control.

Comesanas, the Republican candidate, expects a large turnout of Spanish-speaking voters. He said such voters now make up 20 per cent of the electorate in the 12th District.

Comesanas has hit Rep. Gallagher's absenteeism from Congress, declaring that the record is the worst of any of the state's congressmen. Comesanas also has attacked Rep. Gallagher for having done little in the effecting the firm of Stanley & Fisher. Lundy served in the Army from 1952 to 1954.

REPRESENTATIVE--13th DISTRICT

Rep. Gallagher, who is running in a district which has been strongly Democratic for years, is favored to retain his seat. His challenger, Comesanas, a young schoolteacher and editor of two Spanish language newspapers, is hoping for an upset.

Rep. Gallagher, 49, is stressing his record in Congress during his campaign-

Martin also has taken issue with the statement by Marsh that Rahway has had a $10 million increase in industrial taxables. Martin declared that the increase was the result of industrial expansion and that no new industry was brought to the city.

Mayor Marsh, 41, is a lifelong resident of Rahway. He is a graduate of city schools, Union College and Rutgers University, where he majored in business administration. He served as 2nd Ward councilman before being elected to a four-year term as mayor. He has served as a member of the Rahway Planning Board. Marsh is employed as director of quality control and sales manager by Allen Industries, Rahway.

Martin, also a lifelong resident of Rahway, is a newcomer to politics. He was educated at Union College and Rutgers University. He is employed as assistant superintendent of bridge construction for the Franklin Contracting Co. Martin holds memberships in the New Jersey Society of Professional Engineers and Local 825, International Order of Operating Engineers.

RAHWAY COUNCILMEN

The Republican candidate for councilmen - at - large, Giacobbe, Weaver and Vansco, have campaigned on their record of the past four years. They have stated that $155,000 in unnecessary city jobs were eliminated in the first year, resulting in a four-year savings of $500,000. They also stated that they created a commercial and industrial committee to work for additional taxables and that they initiated a city-wide flood control program in cooperation with state and federal governments. A total of $63,000 was saved through a joint purchasing plan and bidding of major purchases, the Republicans claim.

The GOP candidates also stated that they worked to create a regional incineration authority, to activate regional air pollution control, to have sodium vapor lighting installed in the business district, and to obtain the money for a road study necessary before federal aid could be obtained for traffic improvements.

Crowell stated during his campaign that "the past four years gave us nothing but promises." He added, "Now we are asked to buy another promise of progress." The Democratic candidate maintained that "unchecked fiscal arrogance has wasted the tax dollar and thrown the city into bonded debt." Waste must be eliminated and debt increases and promises halted, Crowell declared.

Beauregard stated that "council's actions should be open and forthright," and that the public should be given an opportunity to express views "without any muzzling or intimidation."

Senkowsky has declared that while some persons say that youth doesn't care about the city he holds the opinion that the city's Republican administration doesn't care about youth.

"Interaction and understanding are essential to our growth," Senkowsky stated. Councilman Giacobbe, who served as council president last year, is president of Giacobbe and Sons, contractor, and Suncrest Homes. He is a licensed real estate broker and Home Insurance broker. He has served as a member of the Rahway Planning Board and Rahway Board of Community Relations. He received his education at Rutgers University and LaSalle Institute. He is a Navy veteran of the ocean war.

Councilman Weaver, who is director of acquisitions for Vally Industries, He has served as a member of the Rahway Board of Community Relations and the Rahway Library Expansion Committee. Weaver received his education at Swarthmore College where he received a bachelor of arts degree and Pennsylvania State University where he received a master of arts degree.

Councilman Vansco, a graduate of city schools, is employed by Quinn and Bonin Co., Rahway, as a printer. He is a member of Local 183, International Printing Press and Association. He is a charter member and former president of the Rahway Jaycees. Vansco served as a member of the Community Relations Board and as a member of the Rahway Aid Squad for nine years. He is a lifelong resident of Rahway.

Rahway, New Jersey

Dear Mr. Senkowsky,

As per your request, following is the information relative to the purchase by this Agency of that property owned by A. Giacobbe & Sons.

On December 26, 1967, 10 of the 12 parcels of property that Mr. Giacobbe had an interest in were closed for the price approved by our Regional Office. Due to the fact that there was a defect in title on the other two parcels, closing had to be delayed until it was cleared. These two parcels were then closed on May 9, 1969.

Our regular procedure calls for our attorney to advise the Agency of the date of the closing and the amount to be paid the property owner. These figures are normally rechecked in our file against the HUD approved price. In this instance, where there were 12 parcels involved, an error in analyzing the amount still due on the remaining parcels was evidently made. We therefore followed the attorney's instructions and prepared our check for $9200, instead of the $1300 which should have been paid.

On March 10, 1969, a review of our records revealed that an overpayment had been made. At that time Mr. Giacobbe was so notified by our attorney.

The file was then placed in our pending file to await his reply. Shortly thereafter, our accounts clerk, who normally maintains these files, left our employ. This, coupled with the regular business matters which occupy our attention, plus the lack of a reply from Mr. Giacobbe, caused this file to remain dormant until it was brought to our attention again. At that time Mr. Giacobbe was again notified and he promptly assured me that, if an overpayment had indeed been made he would, after investigation by his attorney and accountant, reimburse the Agency.

Very truly yours,
Raymond F. Handerman

cratic Congressional candidate in the 12th District, criticized the Internal Revenue Service for considering revocation of the tax-exempt status of public interest law firms that go to court to protect the environment, consumer interests and civil rights.

Speaking before a group of housewives in Hillside, Lundy said that he had earlier in the day sent a telegram to Commissioner of the Internal Revenue Randolph W. Thrower, saying he "was extremely disturbed" that the IRS might change its policies towards certain tax-exempt organizations.

"It has been a very encouraging development in recent years that there has emerged public - interest law firms and citizens' groups which appear before State police arrested a Detroit man, William Johnson, 22, when they discovered a concealed automatic pistol in his car, it was reported. The man was apprehended on the Garden State Parkway in Clark and was held in lieu of $1,000 bail.

regulatory agencies and the courts in behalf of consumers and the environment," he said. "These concerned citizens have made use of the orderly processes of government to make their protest - it is astonishing that the Internal Revenue Service has decided to safeguard the corporate pirates who can well take care of themselves, while coming out in opposition to the public spirited lawyers and voluntary organizations. The ordinary person cannot afford to file a law suit against a wealthy corporation which is able to hire a full-time, high - quality legal counsel."

Lundy is an attorney and a nationally - known expert in the field of federal tax law.

Bodnar, the Democratic candidate for 1st Ward councilman, has attacked Councilman Getchis' record, claiming that the Republican has failed to solve the problems of the ward. Comeback In Rahway

An encouraging example of government progress comes from Rahway, where Mayor John C. Marsh's administration is making headway despite some worrisome financial problems in education, the slow pace of urban renewal, and the ubiquitous racial problem.

The last point most recently manifested itself in the rejection of a variance for a black funeral home in a city that has none for its sizeable black population. The court is likely to settle that dispute without the help of the city government.

That situation contrasts vividly with the city government's cooperation with a black neighborhood in building a community center with private funds and initiative. Not many cities are able to boast of this kind of accomplishment in the present social and economic climate.

The plus side of Rahway's ledger also includes a drop in the rate of crimes against persons, a ten per cent reduction since 1966 in the number of overall expenditures for city operations, better police and fireman's pay, reorganization of the police department, the start of a new city yard, and a regionwide emphasis on flood control and garbage incineration. Moreover, Rahway's Penn Central railroad station is on the way to improvement.

All in all, Rahway appears to have gotten over some of the severe bruises it suffered in the early part of the Sixties.

Rahway Council Hecklers

The job of local officials has seldom, if ever, been as difficult as it is today. Resignations of big city mayors, a lack of candidates for school board elections, and a reluctance on the part of many other citizens to engage in public life reflect the staggering burden of problems that local government, severely handicapped by a shortage of funds, is forced to deal with in an atmosphere of racial, social and political turmoil.

Even a new and responsive political administration is not immune. Despite many signs that the Republican administration of Rahway Mayor John Marsh has cleaned out the cobwebs at city hall, the Rahway council has lately been subjected to insults, rudeness, catcalls and disruption of its meetings. Economy Aim In Rahway Rahway's new Republican mayor, John Marsh, has made a brave beginning toward that most commendable of goals, economy in governmental operations. He is taking the almost unheard of step of eliminating jobs.

Cheering should be loud for Mayor Marsh's action comes at a time when public payrolls at all levels are rising. For Rahway, the dropping of 10 jobs is only a starter.

Mayor Marsh, declaring he was "appalled to find we were overstaffed in nearly every department," intends to have consultants make a survey of the efficiency of the city's government. His aim is to ascertain where more personnel and spending cut-backs can be made.

Among those upon whom the ax falls first is the Democratic city chairman. Abolition of his job as supervisor of the division of code enforcement in the building department and that of the division clerk, the mayor notes, will add up to a $17,000 annual saving.

Mayor Marsh's vow to put "a smile on the face of Rahway" has a happy sound for residents. Last year was an unhappy one for the community.

A deplorable state of affairs had been allowed to develop in the police department, leading to a grand jury investigation. Public confidence in the city's government was shaken badly when the jurors in a sharply critical presentation blamed the condition on quality of officials.

Now the refreshing winds of change are blowing in Rahway. With the GOP in control at City Hall, Mayor Marsh should be enabled to live up to the heartening promise with which he has opened the new year.

Progress In Rahway

Rahway has two reasons to celebrate this week. First, final approval has been received for an $8. million middle income urban renewal project in the Lower Main Street area. Second the community will officially open on Saturday the Rahway Youth Center in the old post office building on Esterbrook Avenue.

While the approval of the housing project is highly important - eventually there will be apartments for 700 families - the opening of the youth center may be of even greater significance in terms of meeting vital human needs.

Rahway, like many communities, has known its racial tensions. They have been especially evident in the high school during the past two years. The casual observer has been left with the impression that there is a serious rift between the community's black and white youths.

That isn't necessarily so. It is entirely possible - in fact probable - that the friction has been between relatively small groups of young people. The spark was struck when they were brought together in compulsory school attendance.

The new youth center offers the opportunity to bring the young people of both races together under different circumstances. There the youth of good will can gather voluntarily and, hopefully, develop a dialogue leading to sincere mutual understanding.

Mayor John C. Marsh has said that such discussion sessions will be an important part of the youth center program, and that is as it should be.

The danger, of course, is that the radicals and the troublemakers will seek to take advantage of the "facilities" to promote divisiveness. It will be the responsibility of the young people themselves, with the help of their adult counselors, to avoid that pitfall, for the youth center's potential for good is too great to be wasted.
