Child Care Proposal Considered

Plans for a community day care center proposed by a Rahway interfaith committee will be discussed at a meeting called for next Thursday, Sept. 16 at 8:30 p.m. in the. First Baptist Church, Elm and Esterbrook Avenues, Rahwav. -The proposal for the childcare center states that it would serve the following: 1, Parents on public assistance who obtain and sustain employment.

2. Young children from ige 2 to 5 providing an educationally sound program as well as an all-day care service. The program would operate from 7:30 a.m. to 5:30-3. Families by providing a resource to prevent their having to seek public assistance. "The center would be es-

taining a berrer way of life, including personal dignity, the committee stated. The committee was formed last spring when a -group of representatives from seven Rahway churches met and evaluated a wide variety of community needs. One of the needs was a full-time child day care center, according to the committee. The committee used a survey conducted by the Second Presbyterian Church in its planning, The survey of 200 homes indicated that day care is considered one of the community's greatest needs.

interest in the State Senate race in which Christopher Dietz, a local attorney, is a Democratic candidate,.... Rahwayans will also be watching the fate of Republican Assemblyman Herbert H. Kiehn who is running from newly-constituted District 9B, which is more favorably comprised for the Democrats than the old district. ford, Garwood, Springfield. Mountainside, and Winfield. Because Rahway has the largest percentage of retired persons in the county, there will also be great concernby senior citizens over the fate of an amendment to the New Jersey Constitution which will further expand income exemptions to allow more senior citizens to claim the $160 real property tax reduction.

Living Room Dialogues to discuss Roman Catholic and Protestant heritages and other subjects related to the Christian religion are scheduled by the Rahway Ministerial Association for seven Wednesday nights, starting Sept. 29. The association has issued an invitation to all interested persons to attend an orientation of the general gathering of participants next Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in Davis Fellowship Hall of the First Presbyterian Church, W. Grand Avenue and Ghurch Streets, Rahway, Persons attending the orientation session will have the opportunity to meet with religious leaders, and men and women of different ages and backgrounds. Those attending then will worship together and arrange for

County Tax Board Orders Reevaluation of Taxable Real Property in Rahway

The Union County Board

of l'axation has mandated that Rahway should revalue its tax base. At present, real property in the city is assessed at 30.91 per cent of true value while the collinity, uses. a "50. per "cent" Rahway last revalued Its property in 1953, and usually the move stirs up a large number of appeals from citizens who think the new assessment levels are oo high. -Real property was revalued in Summit this year. and while that community has about 4 j of the county's population, appeals before the Union County Board of l'axation from that community were about 22% of the total for 1971. Of the 270 appeals, 59 were from Summit. Only one commun-117, Elizabeth had more 70 is the first time in the county's history that a community was given such an order. Roselle Park. whose assessed evaluation 1s 33.33%, was given the same order.

Mayor Daniel L. Martin conferred with the county tax board president, Law___ rence W. Wolf, and the city was given until Oct.31,1972 to complete reevaluation A municipality usually finances a reevaluation by floating bonds. Reevaluation spirit, we now find that religion gets more and more of its share of vocal attention accented not by the polemics of the past but by a new spirit of sincere inquiry. People want to now. Our hope is that you will be one of them." The association added. "The 'dialogue' experience In which you are being asked to participate, builds on our natural affinity for friendly discussion, and, more importantly, on our accelerating and urgent concern for Christian understanding and unity, Already many lay people of both Roman Catholic and Protestantheritagehave benefitted from conversation together about their faith. They have come away from such experiences personally enriched and more deeply respectful of each other. They have even joined together in worship and work for Jesus Christ in new ways as a result of their 'dia-

will probably cost the city about $100,000, the mayor said, and payment can be spread out over a five-year Mayor Martin was criti-cal of "past city fathers for not having the courage to do it (reevaluate)."

He stated that "max w evaluation is supposed to be political suicide for the administration that has it. But I think it is murder for the taxpayers not to have it." o far, Mayor Martin said, "the taxpayers have been extremely intelligent and understanding about this year's record high tax in-crease. I receive phone calls every night from citizens saying, 'Mayor, we know that this tax jumpt isn't your fault, but what can we do about the future?

"The most distressing part of spiralling taxes the mayor observed. "is that the so-called 'little guy' is the hardest hit. That is why it is imperative to have a sound tax base, so the tax burden is equally spread out among industry, business and small property owners.' "A tax revaluation, of it--self, does not increase or decrease tax revenues. It just insures that people are fairly and justly taxed. Since there are most definitely inequities in Rahway, some tax bills will go up, and some will go down. The rule of thumb for a tax revaluation is that a third of the bills go up, a third stay the same, -and a third go down." While in theory, if all property is evaluated to 50%. then the tax rate will be lowered sufficiently to keep the taxes the same dollar amount, if the property was assessed equitably in the first place. Most appeals before the Union County Tax Board arise, however, after a revaluation, because taxpayers whose property the appraisers feel is assessed too low. usually are hit with substantial increases, especially since a reevaluation has not been made in 18 years in the city and one hike will have to encompase the inequities of that long period. When Rahway and Roselle have completed their reevaluations, then all 21 Union County municipalities will be evaluated at 50% of true value, and the county will proceed to evaluate property a 100% of value and cur the tax rate in half, keeping the total tax bill the same but avoiding the problem of converting assessed evaluations to true evaluations

City's Planning Director

Resigns $12,700 Position Andrew Rasmussen, the city's planning director and building inspector, resigned his position last week as the result of a difference of opinion with Mayor Daniel L. Martin concerning housing inspections.

Mr. Rasmussen, who took office during the administration of former Mayor John C, Marsh, said he was asked to leave the city job by the mayor. The position pays $12,700 a year in salary and $1,250 in special project fees. The mayor asked me to leave because of complaints on my housing inspections," Mr. Rasmussen stated, "Someone is bound to get complaints, if he enforces the code,"

Mr. Rasmussen, an architect with offices at his home 701 St. George Ave., Rahway, has been assisted this summer by two 15-year-old youths, Deborah Chambers of 965 Leesville Avenue and Walter Waller of 2386 Knapp Drive, sophomores at Rahway High School. Mr. Rasmussen said he has been pleased at their performances in their duties. Deborah was in the Neighborhood Youth Corps and Walter in the Teen Opportunity Program for Summer. Mayor Martin denied that any fight exists and said Mr Rasmassen submitted his resignation to Martin Chomaky, director of the health and welfare department. "The resignation was a combination of efforts," Mayor Marun said. "I don't care to go into the entire circumstances that brought it about. It was more than just housing inspections. I felt that the department hasn't been functioning as it should and that a change is required for the best interests of the city."

Litany of Woes Actions of Some Municipal Unions From Flooding Run Counter to the Public Good

Residents of New York were recently treated to the sad spectacle of their once-great city lying prostrate before a handful of public employee union goons. Sabotage was rife. Drawbridges into the city became traffic bottlenecks. Irucks were abandoned on heavily traveled arteries. Millions of gallons of raw sewage spilled into the river.

All this came about because municipal union bosses were attempting to bludgeon the New York state legislature into rubber-stamping a union pension demand that would have bankrupted an already near-bankrupt state. "Damn the consequences, full speed ahead," seened to be the theme of the strike. The legislature refused to be cowed. But what about the next time? What happens when public employee union professionals become so powerful that an entire legislafure is beholden to them. Make no mistake about it. It could happen, and the clark and, at one time, was at 4:30 a.m. and waited by purchases from the instruction show.

Make no inistake about it. It could map en, in the show will be open means through which the American public could be shunted aside in behalf of the special interests of the labor bosses is compulsory unionism. For compulsory in the storm of Aug. 15, 1969, all stood and prayed the puter, plotter and textbook, to the public. More than 500 in works of art will be dis-appliances, rugs, etc., with the sewer to take it for a students enrolled for an adcoffers of union professionals who in turn use the conscripted money for purposes the dues-payers oppose. This is what makes it so absurd that the American Bar Association should select as its prize winning essay a dissertation by Boston attorney Edward Lev unabashedly advocating the forced unionization of the nation's millions of public employees. This policy, of course, would inject into the public sector's bloodstream the same poison that enables union officials to exercise dictatorial power over private sector employees and employers in the 31 states without right to work laws. Mr. Lev's rationale? Endorsement of compulsory unionismi would produce an additional sooo-million yearly in dues, which would have "incalculable political

Self-serving union professionals can be counted upon to seize the Lev recommendation and attempt to build a case for federal legislation authorizing them to exact tribute from the nation's public employees through compulsory union agency shops. To them only dues money matters, not the public employees who allegedly "benefit" from union representation they don't

The American Bar Association's apparent endorsement of such a policy, through publication of the 'award-winning'' essay in its official journal, is nothing short of incredible. But, as the poet once said, "Against stupidity the very gods themselves contend in vain.

Government Utilities Are Privileged

Unfortunately and unfairly, advocates of government in business always try to show that government power projects are somehow superior and more efficient than taxpaying, investor-owned business enterprises. Whether they are or not is virtually impossible to determine, since they enjoy tax advantages and freedom from regulation not accorded the taxpaying private companies.

One local, rural electric co-op, like many other utilities across the nation, was recently compelled to increase its electric rates. There were no public hearings. The rates were simply increased to meet rising costs--just as the lennessee Valley Authority, the federal government's huge power project in the Southeastern part of the United States, raised its rates. When government-owned or co-operative electric projects raise rates, electric consumers have no say in the matter. They pay the bill without recourse to any utility commission. In the case of the one co-op rate increase, the blow was softened somewhat by an item in the local newspaper telling of its "donation" of $4,400 in lieu of taxes to the county in which the co-op displaced the property taxes of a private utility. No doubt the hard-pressed taxpayers of the county will appreciate the co-op's "donation." But, if the "donation" is insufficient to meet the needs of the county, the rest of the taxpayers must make up the have seen just what we are loss--the co-op doesn't have to pay property taxes. fighting and maybe become And so it is with government business enterprises all over the nation--enterprises that, in spite of the advantages of nonregulated public ownership, must disaster in the future. charge higher prices, like any private enterprise, to meet the costs of inflation.

Twenty Rahway students will return to school this fall with jingling money and valuable work experience they might otherwise have missed because of a new job program in Rahway supported by a $10,000 grant from Merck & Co., Inc., Rahway. A combination of many factors presented a bleak outlook for many students seeking employment this summer. But, by initiating Teen Opportunity Program for the Summer (TOPS), Merck was able to place a score of local students in summer jobs where they could gain valuable experience as well as much-needed noney for school expenses. TOPS is an extension of the company's summer job programs for students. proadened this year to involve the community. Under the direction of B. Lawrence Branch, assistant to the vice president, personnel reations at Merck, TOPS was designed initially to underwrite employment for students in non-profit organizations in the community 'Since this was to be learning experience, we soon expanded the program to also include profit-making organizations in the community where the students could get a practical, meaningful working experience in a variety of situations," Mr. Branch said. The company hired Byron

Thomas to coordinate the expanded effort, Mr. Thomas, a Rahway resident, is a graduate of Lincoln University and is now attending the University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine, In a cooperative effort among many people in the community, twenty positions were found for students. The only subulation Merck made was that each student be given training and practical experience in the occupations selected. The goal of TOPS was not to provide free labor but to give the young people a chance to learn.

Merck paid the students $1.60 an hour for a maximum of 30 hours a week in their positions. The types of jobs included clerical and assistant positions with the board of education, fire department, John F. Kennedy Community Center, the city building inspector, the guidance department at Rahway High School, the Head Start program at Grover Cleveland School, and other local businesses such as doctor's and dentists' offices.

Participants for the pro- gram were selected on the basis of need and desire. Though public programs exist to aid young people, government financing necessarily required strict guidelines. Merck noted that these guidelines disqualified many students in need of summer jobs. TOPS was designed to 1111 the gap. Reaction to the program's first summer from both the students and the Rahway businessmen and public officials who participated in it was favorable, according to Mr. Branch. IN THIS ISSUE Armed Forces.....

Litter Not, Could Cost /ou $500 Stepped-up enforcement was promised by Mayor Daniel L. Martinof the city's anti-littering laws. Citing-his recent implementation of a five-year code enforcement program, the mayorsaid that "the fight to clean

-this-city-has to be waged on all levels. He sald property inspections and anti-litter measures would proceed hand in hand. Article o, Chapter 15, of the Revised Ordinances of Rahway provides that all littering in public places and certain littering on private property is punishable by a fine of up to $500 and/or up to 90 days in jail. Mayor Martin indicated that he has issued a memoto the police department calling for a "new awareness of Article of and "stricter" enforcement of its provisions. The mayor also initiated

Iree Law Criticized And Tabled

An ordinance designed to save trees, especially those on the Searles estate, was the subject of criticism and praise at the Monday night meeting of the City Council. The ordinance on second reading was tabled.

Alonzo W, Lawrence, president of the Rahway Taxpayers Association, said that the law was ambiguous in stating that appeal of a person aggrieved was not before a person who knew much about treets.

He said the limitation imposed by the law saying that builders could not touch trees within 15 feet of the houses they are constructing, and builders would not be allowed to lay "material, machinery or temporary soil deposits ... within six feet of any tree truck or stem" were too severe. He also objected to the use of the word "stem" which he felt could be applied to a flower, just as well.

Abe Reppen of 454 W. Grand Avenue also felt it was better to remove most trees during construction as Mr. Lawrence suggested, because removing them afterward results in heavy char-

Mr. Reppen also pointed out that disturbing the natural environment of trees by laying roads and constructing buildings cuts off the roots and often results in the death of large trees several years after the erection of a new home. Mrs. John Brogan of 383 Seminary Avenue hoped that the ordinance would be passed b save the trees on the Searles property, A resident of Jaques Avenue also cired oxygen manufacture as a way of depolluting the air that is a benefit of trees.

Proposal to Buy Former Gas Office the ordering of 25 "No Littering" signs to be placed For Police HQs Gets Mixed Reaction

A proposal by the administration of Mayor Daniel L. Martin to purchase the former branch office of the Elizabethtown Gas Co. located at the intersection of Central Avenue and Irving and Hamilton Streets was approved on first reading,

The measure is scheduled for final adoption at the October meeting of council which will be held Tuesday. Oct. 12, because the regular date, Monday, Oct.11, is Golumbus Dav. The ordinance provides $130,000 to finance the purchase, but Fifth Ward Councilman Peter M. Donovan charged that the project could cost as much as $300,000 or more and does not have the advantage of combining a new facility for both fire and police services. Mr. Donovan further pointed out that the administration was proposing to purchase a tax ratable. He said he did not understand why the new combined facility could not be located in the Redevelopment area where 25% financing of the total cost could be obtained from the federal government. ——— He said the combined facility could make possible the reduction of the fire force by four men which would come to around $44,

000. He suggested a lease plan instead of spending, what he termed, a large capital outlav. He asked Mayor Martin if the project was formally appraised and was told it was not, although the mayor added it was not necessary at this juncture since he had the opinion of a counsulting team of a Realtor and a contract-The police are presently toused behind-city-hall on Campbell Street in a building-which was formally a primary school annex built around the turn of the century. If the purchase of the gas company site is approved, then the existing police headquarters will be razed for parking.

Third Ward Council Richard J. Voynik said he was not opposed to the intent of the ordinance which is to provide better facilities for police, but wanted to know what the administration's overall plan for emergency services would be.

Mr. Voynik said he was not pleased with the financing of the project, indicating he did not like the bonding approach but would favor -setting_aside_monies_from surplus accounts to pay for the project. Mayor Martin stated that his administration had been negotiating on this site for five months and said the need was "obvious." He also stated that a new fire headquarters was being contemplated for E. Emerson Avenue and Union and Pierce Streets. - Councilman John J. Gilgannon saidhe favored voting yea_on_first reading, bringng the facts to the people and then making a final decision. The proposed site is known as Lots 11 and 14 in Block 941, having a frontage on Central Avenue of 401,83 feet and a depth of 165.5 feet more or less.

The building is presently vacant, and other parties have expressed an interest in bidding for it.

Flood Overtime Cost City 55.000

City council appropriated $5,000 for the payment of overtime money to police partment employees for working on Aug. 27 and 28 during the flood.

Another resolution was passed lauding the emergency services during the storm, including those of the Rah way First Aid Squad and Civil Defense volunteers who draw no remuneration.

. Paul's Church Vandalized Sept.

St. Paul's Episcopal Church, 80 Elm Ave-Rahway, was vandalized Sept. at night. The door between the church and the Rahway Savings Institution was forced open, window panels were removed inside and entrance was gained into the church

-office. -Nothing was stolen, but the office safe was partially dismantled but not opened. A small glass jar containing children's birthday offerings was taken, several windows were broken, and a door handle was removed.

-Of the $130,000, $60,000 would be for the main build-1ng, $40,000 for land, $19,000 for an auxiliary building and $11,000 for legal, architectural and other fees. The amount of the proposed enovations to be done in 1972 was subject to some debate, but at least several hundred thousand dollars seemed to be the consensus. It would be necessary to onstruct a jail, a communications-panel_a-pistolrange____ and a detective bureau. The plan drew the fire of Alonzo W. Lawrence of 1343 Madison Avenue, president of the Rahway Taxpayers Association. He cited the successful campaign two years ago by the taxpayers group to stop renovation of the Old Post Office on Esterbrook Avenue for use as a city hall. 'I hope this administration would not deny the taxpayers the right to decide. Mr. Lawrence said.

In other comments, Mr. Lawrence-said he felt sorvice would not be improved any with the new facility. Occupancy is envisioned for late 1972, and the administration is also considering locating the Civil Defense authorities there, because its present headquarters in city hall is said not local Rahway unit of the Disabled American Veterans, called Corporal George H. Keller Chapter No. 14, Inc., as a fund-raising period for the benefit of disabled veterans and their dependents. In the scene with the mayor are (l. to r.): John Flynn of 91 Elm Ave., Rahway, acting DAV commander; little Miss Tracey O'Donnell, Jr., of 2449 St. George Aver, Rahway, the unit's Forget-Me-Not girl; and Mrs. Elsie Brown of 210 Madison Aver, Rahway, a past commander of the Disabled American Veterans Auxiliary. Some of the fund-raising money is also used to underwrite trips to veterans hospitals.

Black Mortuary Is Turned Down, 6-3 Tense Session

in a bi-partisan vote, city -council denied a variance but council denied it on Oct to James C. Jones, Sr. to permit the maintenance of a funeral home at 247 Elm_ Ive., Rahway. The action was taken by a 6-3 vote after long statements giving reasons for the action. Voting to deny the variance were Republicans Peter M. Donovan of the 5th Ward in whose area the funeral home was to be operated, Third Ward Councilman Richard J. Voynik, Secund Ward Councilman James R. Pickens, and Sixth Ward Councilwoman Mrs. Donald Forsythe, and Democrats, Wilson D. Beauregard and Francis R. Senkowsky, both counctimen-at-large.

Voting in favor of the variance were: Council President Dr. Adam T. McDaniel of the Fourth Ward, First Ward Councilman John J. Gilgannon, and Councilmanat-large James E. Crowell, all Democrats. The Superior Courtorder-ed the city council to give reasons and to take action on the matter. In October 1969. a GOP-controlled council denied the variance, 5-4, but did not give reasons for the action. On an appeal to Superior Court by Mr. Jones, Judge Milton Feller ordered reasons to be - given. In the resolution passed at Monday night's session, five reasons were given for denial: firstly, that off-street parking is insufficient; two, that a hardship was not demonstrated; three, that alternative suitable sites were not established by the applicant; fourth, that no special reasons were established and, fifthly, that "granting of this variance application would substantially impair the intent and purpose of the zoning plan and zoning ordinance by over-commer--cializing a residential district with consequent and substantial alteration of the character of the neighbor hood and resulting devaluation of the property values in the area." The board of adjustment had recommended approval of the variance on May 19 to meet standards for state 1969 after it was ordered to do so by Superior Cour 14, 1969.

On July 16, 1971, a V

was put off for lack of surfiring affirmative votes because Council President Mc. Daniel believed the variance would be approved and had a resolution drafted in the affirmative. When several votes changed, the matter could not be acted upon, stared Mr. McDaniel in the July 29 issue of The News-Record, because a resolution stating reasons in the negative could not have been drafted in time.

The action of council is one in a series of votes going back three years. The matter is probably not yet concluded because the Superior Court retained jurisdiction on the matter, and the decision can be appealed Fifth Ward Councilman Donovan said he received 40 telephone calls on the matrer and not one favored the granting of the variance. He said further that "within one and a half blocks north of the proposed site there are more than 40 children of teenage years and under.

Mr. Crowell said council was "making a big mistake" by not voting for the funeral home variance. He said I did not matter than another -mmerat-home. - Gorey and-Corey, 259 Elm Avenue, was located next door, but that Mr. Jones should be granted the right to open a business.

Councilman - at - large Beauregard said granting the variance would be promiscious spot zoning," and that councilmen should protect established residential zones from "creeping commercialiasm.

Mr. Gilgannon said that the area was only partly residential because it had some professional offices located there. Dr. McDaniel, the only black member of the body, was most displeased with the vote to deny the variance, terming the action "blatant racism." He said in the 12 years he has sat on council no professional variance had been denied. Dr. McDaniel stated further if there was any justice in the courts there was no question in his mind that the variance would be ultimately approved. Third Ward-Gouncilman---Voynik, citing his vote to kill a parade ordinance suggested several years ago to stop demonstrations that was opposed by the black community, felt that the funeral home variance should be denied no matter who applied for it. He said it was unfortunate that Dr. McDaniel used the word "racism" in referring to council's action. Mr. Mc. Daniel clarified his earlier statement that he was not applying the word to councilmen but to the general undercurrents seeking defeat of the variance.
