Creative writing class give breath to poetry

The following poems were all written by seventh-grade students of Mrs. G. S. (Adela) Kookoo, an English teacher at Rahway Junior High School. Some of these poems will appear in "Manuscript," the junior high literary journal, compiled and published by the creative writing club under the direction of Mrs. Kookoo.

A number of copies of "Manuscript" will be available at the Rahway Public Library late in April for the general public to examine.

HAIKUS

These three-line Japanese poems deal with nature and consist of 17 syllables with a syllable pattern of 5, 7, and 5.

Peaceful is the sea
In the stillness of midnight
With waves rising in.

By Michael Espinoza, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Espinoza of 474 Upper Pike.

My little bird
As the sun comes up
Unaware of himself.

By Philip Weaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Weaver of 557 Union Street.

These five-line Japanese poems are related to Haiku and depict the details of a season. They have a syllable pattern of 5, 7, 5, 7, and 7.

The snow falls gently
As if to tell the world
It covers the shrubs.
The birds have flown to the south
Winter is finally here.

By Karen Sekley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Sekley of 728 Stokes Drive.

The smell of summer
Rises in the air this morning.
The robin and wren
Each eat breakfast of earthworms
And then scatter and walk.

By Steven Yalik, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Yalik of 322 Lower Alden Drive.

Laughter fills the air
Small children play in the sun;
New creeps to climb
Waves lap against the shoreline
Before summer disappears.

By 36 Ann Bartolo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Bartolo of 402 Orchard Street.

These three-line Japanese poems deal with nature and consist of 17 syllables with a syllable pattern of 5, 7, and 5.

Byrne public advocacy department needs further study, NJTA states

An administration bill proposing an 18th department in the executive branch of state government under active consideration by the legislature. Assembly No. 1409, the department of public advocacy, would be established as a new department under the executive branch of state government. The bill, introduced by Assemblyman Robert J. Byrne, would create a new department of public advocacy, which would be responsible for the representation of the public interest in various proceedings. Although several agencies under the executive branch are currently performing similar functions, the bill would consolidate these functions into a single department. The bill also provides for the appointment of a public advocate, who would be responsible for the representation of the public interest in various proceedings. The bill is currently being studied by the Joint Legislative Committee on Administration and Finance.

PIONEERING NEW CONCEPTS IN ENERGY!

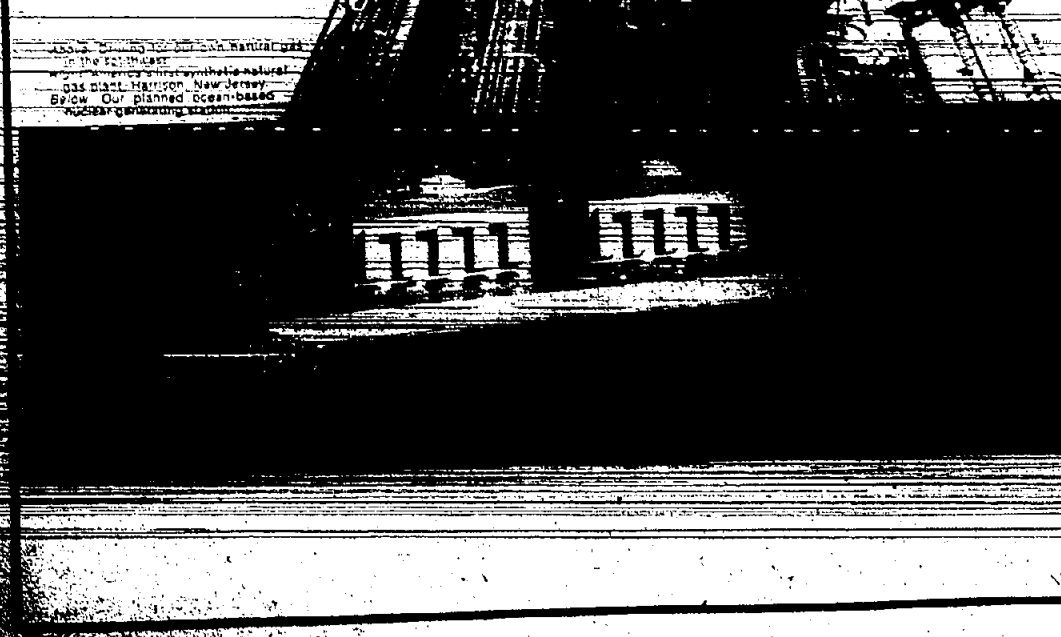

A lot of people seem to think that our critical shortage of conventional energy is something which has happened overnight. In the utility business, we know better. The fact is, we've been working on an impending energy crisis and the need for alternate sources of energy for several years.

We haven't been standing still. As the nation's third largest combination gas and electric utility serving nearly 80% of the population of highly industrialized New Jersey, we have moved forward in several directions in an attempt to provide our customers with an uninterrupted supply of electricity and natural gas.

We pioneered the concept of an ocean-based nuclear generating station to be located near three miles offshore in the Atlantic.

We built the nation's first synthetic gas plant, which is now producing synthetic gas from natural gas.

We are currently producing quantities of new natural gas.

PSEG was the first to install fuel cells in produce actual on-line electric energy. Valuable research is being supported by PSEG.

We're building New Jersey's largest nuclear station, which is 95% complete and which will eventually provide one sixth of all the electric energy produced in New Jersey.

Gas times indeed are difficult. But we're not standing still. We're adopting new energy concepts to help provide uninterrupted energy to our customers and to continue to stimulate a healthy economy in New Jersey.

Early scenes of city shown at DAR session

During the March 6 meeting of the Robert A. Taft Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, Mrs. Lynn Palmquist presented a slide show of early scenes of Rahway. The slides were taken from a collection of 35 slides which she had taken during her recent visit to Rahway. The slides showed the early development of Rahway, from its first settlement in 1666 to its incorporation as a city in 1898. The slides were shown to a group of about 20 members of the chapter.
