Conserving Natural Gas

Conserving natural gas is important for the environment and for saving money. There are several ways to conserve natural gas, including: turning off the gas when you are not using it, using energy-efficient appliances, and insulating your home.

By conserving natural gas, you can help to reduce the amount of greenhouse gases that are released into the atmosphere. This can help to slow down the process of global warming.

Get into real hot water by conserving gas.

When it's time to replace your old gas water heater, you can help to conserve natural gas by choosing a more efficient model. A new gas water heater can save you a lot of money on your gas bills.

When you buy a new gas water heater, look for one that has a high energy factor (EF). The EF is a measure of the efficiency of the water heater. The higher the EF, the more efficient the water heater is.

Conserving Natural Gas

Conserving natural gas is important for the environment and for saving money. There are several ways to conserve natural gas, including: turning off the gas when you are not using it, using energy-efficient appliances, and insulating your home.

By conserving natural gas, you can help to reduce the amount of greenhouse gases that are released into the atmosphere. This can help to slow down the process of global warming.

Get into real hot water by conserving gas.

When it's time to replace your old gas water heater, you can help to conserve natural gas by choosing a more efficient model. A new gas water heater can save you a lot of money on your gas bills.

When you buy a new gas water heater, look for one that has a high energy factor (EF). The EF is a measure of the efficiency of the water heater. The higher the EF, the more efficient the water heater is.

Ray's Corner

By Ray Hoagland

Our congratulations to the Crusaders of Arthur C. Johnson Regional High School of Clark for winning the group 3 baseball championship in North Jersey Region 2.

Coach Lou Peragallo's team played well throughout the season and were a contender for the state title before losing to the fine Ridgefield Park won the state group 3 championship by beating Franklin, 4-1, in the Mercer County Park in West Windsor. The winners came from behind with two out in the final inning to score all four runs and take the title.

We are sorry that coach Peragallo decided to call it quits as the Crusader's mentor after many excellent seasons. He is remaining as Clark's director of athletics.

A Detroit Tiger baseball scout saw the Rahway-Salem game of the American League last week and was impressed with the play of the players on the Rahway team.

The scout, who was in the dugout, saw the game on Saturday at 10 a.m. on the field at the Rahway Recreation Center.

Council postpones action on proposal to build tennis courts

Action on a resolution which would authorize use of $40,000 in revenue-sharing funds of the city for construction of four tennis courts at Pierpont Street and Central Avenue was delayed by the municipal council at next month's meeting.

The governing body voted to postpone any action on the resolution after a lengthy discussion at its meeting on June 10 in city hall.

The vote to postpone the matter was 8-1 with councilman-at-large Charles E. Crowell casting the lone vote against delay.

Residents of the area near the city-owned property appeared at the meeting to protest against location of hard-surface courts on the corner. The residents cited flooding which occurs in the area as their main objection to the proposed project. Other reasons given for opposition were the parking problem and the possible need for the site, which is at the rear of the public library building, for expansion of that facility.

The resolution was placed on the council's June 10 meeting agenda at the request of the committee appointed by Mayor Daniel L. Martin in his report that the council should consider the proposed project. Other reasons given for opposition were the parking problem and the possible need for the site, which is at the rear of the public library building, for expansion of that facility.

Sunday on growing up is Trinity Church event

Growing up Sunday will be observed by the past and students of Trinity United Methodist church school on June 23 at 9:30 a.m.

The Sunday school, which moved back into its education building at Main Street and East Milton Avenue, Rahway, on Palm Sunday after 10 months' exile, closes its year this week with honors to graduates, recognition of children's choir members and promotion of pupils completing kindergarten and grades 2, 4, 6 and 8.

John Fleming, superintendent, who proposed the day's activities, preside assisted by education chairman Mrs. Mildred Lewis and the pastor, Paul N. Jewett. A "Growth in the Word" service will be featured on the program to be held in the children's chapel. Pictures and music recorded at the church's recent production of "The Little Dickens" will be presented by audio-visual chief John Wise.

The children's choir directed by Mrs. Jewett with Miss Judy Alvarez accompanying is included in the program.

Stated for honors are Miss Karen Olsen, a graduate of Kean College, and Albert Lawson, a graduate of Upsala. High school recognition includes Miss Mary Alice Fore, Dennis Freeland, Lee Jackson, Paul Netta and David VanPelt.

The regular service of worship will be held at 11 a.m. with Rev. Jewett in charge. Officially reviewing United Methodistism, the annual conference will be held at 11:30 a.m. under the theme, "Recap 1974," are stated.

Plan lobby on June 24 against NJ income tax

Plans were announced by the Federation of New Jersey Taxpayers for a citizens' lobby against higher taxes to be held on Monday, June 24, at the state house in Trenton.

Opponents of more state taxes, whether in the form of governor Brendan Byrne's proposed state income tax or a hike in present state taxes, will assemble under the dome of the state house at 10 a.m. to coordinate their activities and will then proceed to contact their assemblymen and senators.

"It is not just the FNJT declared, 'Our legislators know that the citizens of New Jersey are unalterably opposed to a state income tax. They must be personally encouraged to vote down any new taxes as well as increases in present impositions.'"

The federation recommended that those participating in the demonstration travel to Trenton with full cars, and back they plan to arrive early to view the shortage of parking facilities in the capitol area.

Advice about parking and other information on the "taxpayers' lobby" was obtained from Ralph Fucile at 998-4440, a director of the federation.

Thoughts

From The Living Bible

For we speak as messengers of God, entrusted by him to tell the truth, we change his message not one bit to suit the taste of those who hear it. For we know that God alone, who examines our hearts' deepest thoughts, never once did we try to tell with flattery, as you very well know, and God knows we were not just pretending to be your friends so that you would give us money. As for praise, we have never asked for it from you or anyone else.
