Wine Not?

By Carice

Italy produces a billion gallons a year - 20% of the world's supply. Is it any wonder there's no "made in Italy" wine in your cellar?

Most famous of them is Chianti, the heavy wine that stands its ground with the most famous of them. We're most familiar with the area covered by the hills of Chianti, but the coast of Tuscany has made this more recent wine an extraordinary bottle.

Chianti Classico makes up just 20% of all Chianti. It's a wine that's been made for centuries. A few well-known names are listed below. You'll be getting the right Italian wine to go with it.

We feature many Italian wines. You'll be getting the right Italian wine to go with it.

Stamp will honor legend of Irving's Sleepy Hollow

A colorful new 10¢ United States postage stamp based on one of America's best-known folk tales, Washington Irving's "Sleepy Hollow," will be issued on October 10 postmaster Warren T. Moulton of the Rahway, Clark and Colonia offices announced.

The Sleepy Hollow stamp shows the Headless Horseman in pursuit of the timid school boy Ichabod Crane, with both figures silhouetted against a full moon.

Nationwide distribution will be made in time for the Halloween season. Letter carriers deliver large numbers of Halloween cards each year.

The stamp is the sixth in the American folklore series, which began with the issuance of the Johnny Appleseed stamp in 1966. Other stamps were Dey Crockett in 1967, Daniel Boone in 1968, Granddaddy Moses in 1969 and Tom Sawyer in 1972.

The two riders on the stamp are shown passing through a misty landscape, a scene which figured in ghost stories Ichabod Crane had heard in Tarrytown, Washington Irving born 1783 in New York City, was an avid storyteller and writer of short stories. He was the inspiration of the folk tale and a successful author in America's literary scene.

James Fennimore Cooper, author of the "Leatherstocking" series, was also inspired by Irving's tales.

The opening paragraph of the story, "The Headless Horseman," is printed on the stamp.

Postmaster Warren T. Moulton said the stamp will be on sale for three months and Irving's name will be on the back of the stamp.
