

Building fund started to fix Revelers' site

When October comes will autumn winds blowing through shattered windows be the only sound in the fire-gutted Revelers' Theater, or will there instead be the sound of laughter and applause?

Well members of the Rayway group are confident a $40,000 building fund drive will be a success allowing them to rebuild their home, destroyed by a fire on May 26, in time to stage "Stop the World, I Want to Get Off."

If work on the structure, located at 1695 Irving Street, is not completed in time, members say they will try to work out a temporary arrangement, perhaps with a local restaurant.

The production will be one of the three staged annually by the 40-year-old group originally organized in Union. For the past 10 years members have made the old Russian Orthodox Church in Rahway their home.

The Revelers for years staged their productions in the Connecticut Farms Elementary School in Union, using a community-owned barn for rehearsals and for storing props, costumes and stage equipment.

After the barn was demolished by township officials, the search for a permanent home began. When the church building was placed on the auction block the Revelers did not hesitate.

They quickly transformed the church into a theatre retaining the pews and installing dressing rooms and a kitchen in the basement.

Among their more recent productions were "The Fantastiks," "The Miracle Worker," "Cactus Flower" and "Lions in Winter."

In addition to its regular production schedule of six to eight performances staged on weekends, the Revelers have done numerous benefit performances for various church and civic organizations.

Rehearsals for the fall production were not scheduled to start until late summer, but on May 26 a fire, believed to have started in a basement dressing room, swept the building demolishing all but the exterior walls.

The blaze however did not destroy the group's spirit and the members' determination to see that the show goes on as planned.

RIGHT PERIOD, WRONG UNIFORM . . . Reverend Spencer van Gulck of Avenel is shown in the uniform of a British officer of the Revolutionary War period. He is standing next to a display of military miniatures representing George Washington and soldiers of the American, British and other forces of the war which will be on exhibit at the Rahway Public Library, 1175 St. George Avenue, during July.

Frank Koczur upholds suspension of Ginfrida

Rahway public works director Frank Koczur upheld the suspension of Clifford Ginfrida, a city public works employe and former councilman, who lost his job as a result of a grand jury indictment in connection with an alleged kickback scheme.

Mr. Koczur's announcement came July 7 but the hearing was held July 2. Ginfrida, 59, who was suspended by mayor Daniel L. Martin, was represented at the hearing by Trenton attorney Stanley Needell.

The director explained Ginfrida may appeal the ruling either through union or civil service channels, but not both. Shop steward Robert Farr of local no. 866 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters was also present at the session.

Also rejected were two grievances filed by Ginfrida. One sought his reinstatement with full pay and other sought payment of sick leave and hospitalization expenses.

Mr. Koczur said the two rulings could be appealed through the business administrator.

Ginfrida, who has reportedly been on sick leave from the department since May 7 when he reportedly suffered a heart attack during questioning by the prosecutor's office, was indicted on charges of demanding kickbacks from suppliers for each truck load of supplies delivered to the city.

County welfare assistance up 7% from March to July

Welfare assistance administered to Rahway residents through the Union County welfare board rose an estimated 7% from March to July of this year, according to calculations made from welfare board figures.

Aid to dependent children, the largest portion of the allocation, rose a comparable 6.8% from $9,991 in March to $10,682 this month, a rise of $691.

Total allocations rose $4,279 from $61,195 to $65,474.

From April of last year to March of this year, slightly less than a year, adjusted county figures show total welfare allocations for city residents rose 4% or $2,347 from $58,811 to $61,195.

Allocations for aid to dependent children over the same period rose an estimated 7%, or $3,972, from $56,019 last year to $59,991 this year.

The county figures for last year include disability payments, a service which was shifted to another department in about July of last year. Thus figures after that month contain a false decline caused by the missing disability payments.

The above yearly comparison was based on the 1974 total supplied by the county minus the payments for disability. Of course this factor did not influence the aid to dependent children figures.

When disability is retained in the 1974 total, the county figures show a decrease of $1,162 from April of last year to March of this year. The drop, from $62,357 to $61,195, is about 2%.

For all three months where figures were supplied Rahway ranked fifth in total welfare monies received among the 21 county municipalities. The top four were Elizabeth, Plainfield, Linden and Roselle in that order.

Rahway also ranked fifth all three times in the number of recipients. This month there are 243 cases in the city involving 222 adults and 565 children for a total of 807 recipients.

The aid for dependent children figures showed 236 cases involving 209 adults and 567 children, a total of 776.

In March of this year there were a total of 232 cases involving 214 adults and 580 children or a total of 794 people. Aid to dependent children included 226 cases involving 203 adults and 563 children for a total of 767 people.

Last year there were a total of 212 cases effecting 210 adults and 555 children for a total of 802 recipients. This is excluding disability cases. County figures also show 209 of the cases involved aid to dependent children concerning 191 adults and 519 children for a total of 710 recipients.

In March of last year Rahway ranked fourth in the area of aid to the working poor. There were 10 cases in the city concerning 19 adults and 36 children or 55 people all together. The allocation was $2,792.

By March of this year things improved considerably. There were only six cases involving 27 people, 11 adults and 16 children, with an allocation of $1,204. The city ranked seventh in the county.

By July Rahway rose to sixth place again with seven cases involving 31 people or 13 adults and 18 children. The allocation was for $1,392.

The county board allocates the bulk of the federal, state and county welfare monies. A much smaller amount, however, is handled by the Rahway welfare board.

Figures on the amount of municipal assistance and the number of cases were requested of the city board but the directors declined to reveal them for publication pending consultation with board members.

According to the county figures, the four municipalities ranked above Rahway received assistance totaling $659,780 for Elizabeth, $378,251 for Plainfield, $105,366 for Linden and $77,277 for Roselle.

The five lowest communities, in terms of allocations received were Berkeley Heights at $709, Mountainside at $980, Clark at $2,045, Fanwood at $2,544 and New Providence at $3,360.

Countywide totals revealed $1,461,973 was expended for 5,435 cases involving 4,997 adults and 13,387 children, thus making the total number of recipients at 18,354.

The county population was listed as $543,116 in the 1970 census. This means approximately 3.4% of county residents receive welfare assistance.

The same census put the population for Rahway at 29,114. With 776 people listed as welfare recipients by the county, this means an estimated 3% of the city residents are on welfare.

The total number of recipients countywide increased from 18,516 last year, minus disability recipients, to 19,948 in March of this year and 19,655 in July of this year.

The July figures include 5,435 adults and 14,200 children countywide and the March figure 5,503 adults and 14,445 children, according to the welfare board figures.

In April of last year there were 5,550 adults and 13,494 children receiving assistance, when disability payments are included. When such payments are excluded the number of adults is decreased by 934 to 5,022.

The seven-member county board also administrators the food stamp program under the auspices of the United States department of agriculture, medical assistance for the aged and the medical assistance program known as medical.

Clark and Rahway residents are served through the board office located at 7 Bridge Street, Elizabeth, telephone no. 351-1112.

Rahway bicentennial events noted; historical ball, battle top calendar

There will be no need to wait for the Fourth of July next year in order to celebrate the national bicentennial, according to a schedule of events released by Herbert H. Klehn, chairman of the mayor's bicentennial committee in Rahway.

Commemorative events will be held even before the beginning of the bicentennial year. In September an antique automobile show will be held at Veterans Memorial Field under the direction of the Rahway Historical Society and Robert Gassaway.

In October a fashion show will be held by members of the Rahway Junior Women's Club. As with many of the events listed on the calendar no exact date and time has been set for the two events.

Perhaps the most interesting project will be the city's participation in a reenactment of George Washington's ride from Mt. Vernon, Va., to New York City for his inauguration as president.

The local portion of the statewide project will be handled by members of the Rahway Kiwanis Club and Bicentennial committee. The carriage carrying the modern-day Washington will leave Mt. Vernon on April 27 and will be expected in Rahway May 2.

Another major historical affair will be the February 14 bicentennial ball to be held at the hall of St. Thomas the Apostle Byzantine Rite Catholic Church in Rahway under the direction of the Rahway Italian American Club.

For information on the affair telephone either

Anthony Lordi at 381-0368 or Mrs. Martin (Lucy) Sica at 381-2687.

On Independence Day plans call for a reenactment of the Battle of Spanghown, a clash in the American War for Independence fought in the area of what is now Rahway, as the morning event. The mock fight will be sponsored by Union County park officials and members of the city historical society.

On the afternoon of Independence Day the Rahway Jaycees will sponsor a citywide picnic at Veterans Memorial Field. For more information telephone Al Higgins at 382-6699.

On July 5 there will be a bicycle race under the sponsorship of the city government. For more information on the race telephone city recreation director George R. Hoagland at 381-8000.

Other bicentennial observances listed by Mr. Klehn include a parade sponsored by the city and the Veterans Central Committee on June 6, a track meet on June 20, a golf tournament on May 18, a baking, cooking and canning contest on February 7 and ceremonies honoring Abraham Clark sometime in February.

Events will continue well past Independence Day with a fishing derby on August 3, a football reunion game on October 9 and a craft show on Cherry Street sometime in October under Mr. Klehn.

Mr. Klehn noted the first two bicentennial events, the citywide religious service on June 8 and a Boy Scout Olympics on June 14 and 15, were successes.

Independence Day 50-mile cycle race viewed by 5,000

With a last-minute effort Thomas Schuler of the Wolverine Cycling Club of Birmingham, Mich., won the 10th annual, 50-mile Freddie Spencer bicycle race before an Independence Day crowd of 5,000 people in downtown Rahway.

John Chamberlain of the Franklin Bicycle Club set a new record, 22 minutes and 12 seconds, to win the 10-mile junior-competition. He led only twice in the race before taking the front from Thomas Dineen of the Century Road Club.

There were 89 racers in the senior contest, according to George R. Hoagland, director of the city recreation department and one of the organizers of the meet.

John Eustice of the Pennsylvania Bicycle Club, who finished second, led for most of the senior race with Schuler and Robert Perlee of the North Jersey Bicycle Club following. The latter finished third.

Perlee sprinted and took the lead with only eight laps left. With four laps to go he lost the front position to Schuler but managed to recapture it with two laps remaining. In the last 1,000 yards Schuler pulled ahead for the victory.

"The competition was very tough," he later said. "The wind was strong and that also made the race tough. But the course had nice corners for the riders."

John Livestry, also of the Pennsylvania club, finished fourth. Pat Gallina of the Casino Cycling Club tried to become the first two-time winner of the senior title but ended in fifth place.

Chamberlain, the champion of the junior race, has won the Ohio State University championship for the last four years. Dineen, his major rival, finished second.

Third place in the junior competition went to Chris McInnis of the Wolverine Club. Fellow club member Scott Miller finished fourth. Jeffrey Saunders of the North Jersey Club was fifth.

There were 89 racers in the senior contest, according to George R. Hoagland, director of the city recreation department and one of the organizers of the meet.

He said $200,000 for engineering designs for the project would be part of a $575,000 county community development grant expected to be approved this month by officials of the federal department of housing and urban development.

The spending plan was developed when 16 municipalities including Rahway and Clark, combined their populations to attract federal revenue sharing funds. The plan includes $400,000 for five major flood control projects and $175,000 for housing and social service programs.

Mr. Marsh said a $20,000 study to determine if a nine-acre tract between Roselle Park and Cranford can be used as a flood detention area would also be undertaken under the federal funds.

In regards to the basin project affecting Rahway, Mr. Marsh stated, "The grant has been approved by the Tri-State Regional Planning Commission. Final HUD approval is expected any day now."

The package also includes $150,000 for engineering work on the track no. 19 detention basin project in Plainfield which would give flood protection to that city plus Scotch Plains and Fanwood. Construction was estimated at $2 million.

Other flood projects included are $20,000 for a feasibility study, for an Elizabeth River detention basin project, designed to protect Hillside, Union and Elizabeth and $10,000 for topographical maps and site studies for a detention basin on the north branch of the Salt Brook in New Providence and Summit.

His announcement came the night of July 1 after a meeting at the Moroses Creek Flood Control Commission in Cranford.

County anti-flooding programs unveiled by Kenneth Marsh

A public hearing will be held soon to develop an environmental statement on a proposed $2 million Lenape Park store water retaining basin designed to benefit Rahway and four other Union County communities, announced county hydrologist Kenneth Marsh.

He said $200,000 for engineering designs for the project would be part of a $575,000 county community development grant expected to be approved this month by officials of the federal department of housing and urban development.

year, with a total of $84,500 in grants last year. Also last year $119,599 in grants was given under the Merck Sharp and Dohme international fellowships in clinical pharmacology program to qualified physicians of other nations for training in American institutions.

gional college fund raising associations and $275,500 to specific departments of colleges and universities to train faculty and students in business, science and technology.

Baseball diamond shines in young girl's future

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is the latest installment in a continuing series of articles on talented local youngsters.

While the talents of the youths featured to date have been creative and artistic, Ra Rasmussen's is athletic.

In all of the years of junior high school sports in Rahway, Ra is the first girl to ever qualify for membership on a team. According to Ra, when she tried out for the baseball guard last year she was eliminated because she was a girl. But, she said, with the passing of a new law she knew if she was as good a player as her male counterparts she could make the team, and she did.

Ra is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Rasmussen. Born in Perth Amboy on March 7, 1960, she lives with her parents at 701 St. George Avenue.

110 people hail Smith as he departs YMCA

Over 110 people gathered July 2 at the Ildoran Outing Club to thank B. U. Smith, retiring general director of the Rahway Young Men's Christian Association, for his 15 years of service.

He will become director and manager of Kirkside in Roxbury, N.Y., a retirement home owned and operated by the Reformed Church of America on July 20.

Dudley Painter, Jr., chaired the event. Mr. Painter introduced reverend Paul N. Jewett, president of the Rahway Rotary Club, reverend Robert C. Powley, past president of the Rahway Ministerial Association, William Rand, Jr., active in YMCA work and Rotary affairs and Arpy Balogh of Scotch Plains, past governor of Rotary International, district no. 751.

He also presented Charles Schultz of Scotch Plains, who served on the YMCA board of directors from 1942 to 1969 and J. Kenneth Abbott, current president of the association board of directors.

Reverend Orrin T. Hardgrove, active with Mr. Smith in Rotary, the YMCA, the ministerial association and First Baptist Church, also addressed the gathering. Several letters from people who could not be present were read. These included messages from United States Senator Clifford P. Case of Rahway and Mrs. George (Ada) Fairweather, under whose husband Mr. Smith began his YMCA career 32 years ago in Trenton.

Letters also were read from John L. Yoder, director of Rahway Hospital, George Smeltzer, a former member of the YMCA board of directors, reverend Frank P. Miloro, pastor of St. John the Baptist-Russian Orthodox Church, rabbi Jacob Rubenstein of Temple Beth Torah and doctor Carl Adinall.

Mayor Daniel E. Martin of Rahway and David B. Crabel, mayor of Milltown, were present.

Former judge Orlando Dey, a member of the board of directors and trustees of the Rahway YMCA for over 53 years, was a guest at the head table.

Special guests of the evening included both sisters of Mr. Smith and the brothers of Mrs. Smith. Several gifts were bestowed on Mr. and Mrs. Smith.

of the feminist movement. She is adamant however about women being given equal opportunities for jobs and in sports competitions.

When asked who has been the most influential in helping her strive to achieve on the previously all-male team, Ra replied all of her teachers have been helpful.

Her gymnasium class teachers, Miss Jean Rocco and Mrs. Arthur (Annamae) Darton, have been particularly encouraging and express special pride in her. Ra also credits her father with being especially understanding and encouraging.

Her hobbies include bicycling and listening to music. She would like to be a gymnasium teacher, she said, but her main ambition is to get into the major leagues.

She will be entering her sophomore year at Rahway Senior High School in September. If things work out, she just might be seen on a senior high school team in the near future.

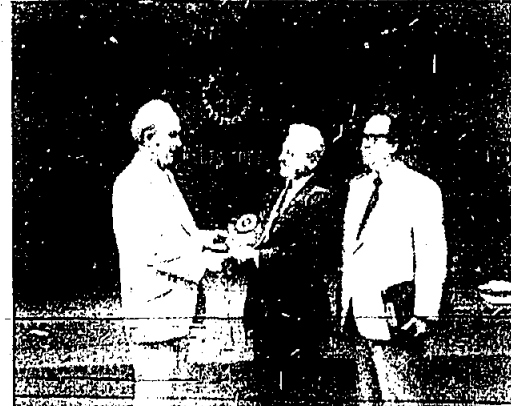

Pet missing? start search immediately

Missing pets often remain permanently lost because owners do not begin to search for them as soon as their absence is noted, according to officials of the Kindness Kennels, 90 St. George Avenue, Rahway.

It was also noted that cats as well as dogs should wear identification tags. Such tags can be ordered through the kennel which is operated by the Union County Society for the Prevention to Cruelty to Animals.

Among the pets waiting for new masters is Earl, a female Hungarian vizslav. Kennel officials described the misnamed canine as being housebroken and accustomed to children.

Other strays found and taken to the kennel include a Siamese cat and Amy, a female St. Bernard.

Reverend Jewett made head of Rotary Club of Rahway

Reverend Paul N. Jewett, pastor of Trinity United Methodist Church of Rahway, begins a term as president of the Rahway Rotary Club this week following installation rites at the Ildoran Outing Club on June 18.

Having served the past year as vice-president and program chairman, he succeeds Maurice Moran, retired deputy fire chief and local scouting leader.

The new president's wife and several other "Rotary-Anns" attended the luncheon meeting which featured presentation of gifts to the retiring leader.

Other Rotary leaders are Dennis Kubler as vice president, Richard Boos as secretary, Arnold Koster as treasurer and James "Chip" Smith, Kenneth Treadwell, reverend Orrin T. Hardgrove, Edward Park and Maurice Moran.

Committee chairmanships have not yet been announced. Mr. Kubler will direct club activities during July in the absence of reverend Jewett.

Meetings are held each Wednesday at 12:15 p.m. at the club on Pierpont Street in Rahway.

The new president has been in Rotary longer than most other local members having joined at Miami Beach, Fla., in 1944. Since

New junior women's club officers installed; three state prizes noted

New officers were installed by members of the Rahway Arca Junior Woman's Club at their fifth dinner and installation meeting held at the Kings Row Inn in Rahway.

Mrs. Edgar Evans succeeds Mrs. Joseph Carroccio as president, both are city residents. Other officers include Mrs. Phillip Prasser as first vice president in charge of membership and programs.

Also installed were Mrs. Lawrence Condit as second vice president and social service chairwoman, Mrs. Harry Iakken as treasurer, Mrs. Jeffrey Volker as secretary and Mrs. Albert Ostisio as federation secretary.

Four new members were installed. Membership chairman Mrs. Prasser presented the first junior of the year award to Mrs. Evans in recognition of her performance as a member and officer.

Mrs. John Hines of Colonia was presented a graduate certificate and silver charm in recognition of her 12 years in junior service. She was a member of the Elizabeth club prior to the formation of the city group.

Immediate past president Mrs. Carroccio announced three awards given the city club at the 48th convention of the New Jersey State Federation of Junior Woman's Club held in Atlantic City. Mrs. Evans accepted a first-place award for social services. Among projects completed by club members in this department was the first junior blood drive.

Mrs. Carroccio accepted second-place in art. As chairman of this department she directed an original design mural painted in the pediatric solarium at Rahway Hospital and a revival of Halloween window painting in the downtown shopping area.

Mrs. Ostisio accepted second-place in the craft competition for her tinsel painting. Mrs. Carroccio noted there are more than 150 junior clubs in New Jersey with almost 5,000 members.

Anyone interested in joining the group may telephone Mrs. Prasser for additional information. Meetings meet the third Tuesday of the month from September through May.

Meetings are held at the Claude H. Reed cultural and recreation center, 1670 Irving Street, Rahway. Informal workshops and teas are held throughout the year.

Nab Clarkites for cigarettes

Clark police apprehended two males, one adult and one juvenile, after a half-mile chase July 2 for allegedly taking 60 cartons of cigarettes worth $300 from a delivery truck parked at the Clarkton Shopping Center on Karitan Road at about 1:30 p.m.

Arrested were Douglas Thomas, 19, of 11 Victoria Drive, Clark, who was charged with possession of stolen goods and contributing to the delinquency of a minor, and an unidentified 16-year-old juvenile, against whom charges are pending.

Contract signed by mayor for storm drainage work

When Republican councilwoman-at-large Mrs. Carl H. (Almame) Kumpf returned to her Clark post after a brief illness, one of her first acts was to witness the signing of a contract for storm drainage improvements.

The agreement is with the American Underground and Construction Corporation of Union for work on Tudor Drive, Moore Road, Hall Drive and Stonehenge Terrace. The firm was declared low bidder at $56,729.80.

"We have waited a long time for this step," noted councilwoman Mrs. Kumpf who also is a member of the Clark Flood Committee. "The people who live in that area will be ever so happy to see it become a reality."

"This is another of the major flood problems we pledged to correct," said Republican councilman Manuel S. Dios. What was described as a major surface drainage improvement project in the vicinity of Georgia and Carolina Streets was completed.

"The people involved have been very patient and understanding," declared the other Republican councilman-at-large Joseph B. Pozniak.

"After a two year delay caused by a court battle which was eventually adjudged to permit the township to proceed with the improvement, we have reached a major milestone," said mayor Bernard G. Yarusavage.

"One of the most frustrating aspects of government is the delays caused by 'red-tape.' Therefore when progress is achieved it is most satisfying to those who worked to that particular goal," he noted.

The contract will be executed upon the posting of a construction bond and receipt of insurance approval by the township director of law Joseph Triarel.

Scholarships for local pair of UCTI girls

A Rahway and a Clark resident, both Union County Technical Institute secretarial sciences students, received scholarship awards from the Union County Association of Educational Secretaries.

Miss Deborah Aquino of 2339 Knapp Drive, Rahway, who will be a senior at the Scotch Plains school in September, and Miss Kathleen Nolan of 67 Grove Street, Clark, who will enter the program in September, each received a $300 scholarship.

Note activities at playgrounds

Rahway recreation department officials announced their schedule for city playgrounds for the week of Monday, July 14 to 18. The week starts with a yo-yo contest, hopscotch tour and stuffed animal contest.

Tuesday will include a bicycle rodeo and Wednesday a story time plus a scavenger hunt and dog show. The week ends Thursday with sports activity and arts and crafts, which are offered daily, plus a talent show.

Wine not? By Enrico

Madeira is rich in phosphates, iron and minerals; it has often been used as a tonic wine. And it tastes good!

It is fortified wine (strengthened with brandy during processing.) The sweeter Madeiras are fortified before they are fully fermented; this knocks out the yeast before all the sugar has been changed to alcohol.

Social studies textbooks ought to be reviewed by concerned parents

By E. Sidman Wachter

At a recent meeting in Roselle on "thorough and efficient" education the audience was advised to "Look at your children's textbooks." Good advice. Too few parents and taxpayers have any notion of what is being presented to the impressionable minds of today's youth by modernist educators.

Most parents want the schools to do certain things for their sons and daughters:

- make them proficient in the basics, the good old standbys of "readin' and writin' and 'rithmetic," even if "learned to the tune of a hickory stick."
- acquaint them with the natural sciences for better understanding of their world.
- drill them in spelling and grammar.
- introduce them to the classics, for ennoblement of thought and style.
- familiarize them with the history of our great country so today's children will learn pride in their heritage and admiration for our American heroes and their achievements.

While admittedly our history has not been without blemish, America has been blessed with giants of vision, steadfastness, courage and compassion. From Elder Brewster of the "Mayflower" through reverend John Witherspoon of Princeton, George Washington, Ben Franklin, Thomas Jefferson and later Abraham Lincoln, Booker T. Washington, Clara Barton and general Douglas MacArthur, our nation has had magnificent champions whom to know is inevitably to revere.

For such learning balanced and judicious textbooks are imperative. Two eighth-grade social studies textbooks have recently been studied by the writer. The author of the first, published by American Heritage Publishing Company, seems to have a fixation on race; hence, instead of presenting objectively "The Impact of Our Race," he has produced a text more appropriate for a black studies project.

For example on the Boston massacre he states: "Bostonians felt as some residents of poor or non-white neighborhoods do today. The 'police,' the red coated soldiers were the enemy no matter what they did or did not do." This is a gratuitous comparison dragging the race question in where it does not belong. He quotes a screed by black communist poet Langston Hughes without identifying him as a communist trying to promote race hatred.

Three reviews of America are quoted. The first, by reverend Josiah Strong, a white Congregationalist missionary of 1885, would seem ludicrous to today's youth. The second by Chief Standing Bear was not objectionable. The third, by black editor Chuck Stone, vice chairman of the National Conference of Black Power, was in the heat of 1968. In other words, the scales were weighted. The only white, Anglo-Saxon, Protestant quoted is a "kook" in today's culture, the Indian has a grievance and the black editor is an extremist. Also, why omit Hispanics, Jews, Italians and others from the mishmash of overviews?

Again in "The Impact of Our Past," a picture of the Mayflower Pilgrims attending church is accompanied by a caption noting this is a 19th century artist's conception. Well and good. But in the chapter on "Slavery Comes to the Americas," a picture of a slave being branded is not accompanied by any caption indicating this too is merely an artist's conception after the fact.

We read, "Another radical, Thomas Paine, did not arrive in America until the eve of war in 1774. He had been unable to earn a living in England as a government worker, corset maker, grocer or teacher..." Are these the significant facts about Mr. Paine for a thumbnail sketch, or are they listed to denigrate an early patriot?

The other eighth-grade social studies textbook, published by Laidlaw Brothers last year, is better balanced. It recounts the story of Booker T. Washington, the great negro educator, skipped by the first. It shows positive aspects of negro life mentioning Black millionaires of the early 1900s and stating, "By 1900 over 30 banks and several large newspapers were owned and run by blacks. At least two of these banks had assets of more than $1 million." It prints a picture of "Black Americans being awarded the distinguished service cross for exceptional bravery in World War I."

However, "Two Centuries of Progress" likewise falls in objectivity when it devotes 20 pages to women's rights, quoting Betty Friedan of women's liberation fame and finally declaring, "All women must have equal rights." The cogent reasons for opposing the equal rights amendment are not even suggested let alone expounded.

Parents and taxpayers should demand an end to bias and one-sided presentations in the textbooks which are bought with their tax monies and with which their children are being brainwashed. During the summer months members of boards of education should make all their textbooks available for review by interested residents.

No evidence revealed in Rockefeller report of great CIA abuses

By representative Marthow J. Rinaldo

The post-Watergate suspicions over the abuse of government power have led to charges that the super-secret central intelligence agency has carried out "massive and illegal" spying operations against American citizens in violation of its charter.

Did it?

A careful and complete reading of the Rockefeller commission report would prove to any fair-minded

American the agency has not destroyed the privacy of Americans or collected a massive pool of illegally obtained information to be used against dissident political groups in this country. On the contrary, it exercised great restraint and caution during its nearly 30 years of operation.

Possibly no other secret government agency in any country has so diligently and effectively carried out its mission in gathering needed intelligence data and at the same time avoided intruding on the political freedom of its citizens. Neither did it find evidence in the report that the agency was in the process of forming some kind of phantom government within the United States.

Much of the information collected on American citizens involved agency personnel and their contacts, and clearly the agency has a duty to screen its own activities as rigorously as possible. The biggest exception was "Operation Chaos" which sought to discover whether there was any connection between terrorists underground groups in this country and unfriendly governments abroad. Put in perspective against the backdrop of urban riots, campus bombings, kidnappings and mob demonstrations in the 1960s, the agency has an obligation to learn whether the financing and other assistance to these terror groups was coming from abroad.

The major defect in the report concerns allegations that the agency was in other countries in plotting political assassinations, in particular the efforts of Cuban nationals to murder Fidel Castro and the assassination of Dominican dictator Rafael Trujillo. But until the senate investigations committee studies the full extent of alleged agency involvement it would be premature to reach any conclusions.

However I support president Gerald Ford's view that our government cannot adopt a policy of condoning political assassinations in nations not at war with America. It would intensify political suspicions, military confrontations and the possibilities of global warfare under the mistaken impression an unfriendly political leader in another nation was murdered by American agents.

Whatever the final outcome of the committee's inquiry into alleged agency-supported assassination plots, we need to improve the agency's operations abroad. But we cannot expect that the secret operations of the agency should be published on the front pages of our newspapers and brought up for constant public discussion.

What troubles me is that some critics of the agency may be tempted to overreact to the few abused which have occurred over the last 28 years. This is not the time to strip the agency of its authority or to undermine its morale. Soviet and communist influence and military power are on the rise all over the world.

Letters to the Editor

Parents answer Miss Schleifer on 'political manipulation' charge

In her letter of July 3, Miss Dorothy Schleifer strongly suggested that we parents of children in the Rahway school system were "manipulated for political ends" because we opposed the redistricting which would have forced our children to be removed from schools they are attending.

We would like to inform Miss Schleifer and any others that nothing could be further from the truth. Our only concern was that our children would not be able to attend schools where they had developed many close friendships and where parents had been involved in school activities.

As to her charge of our being "politically manipulated," we think Miss Schleifer, instead of engaging in wild speculation, might well be informed about actual facts. Miss Schleifer stated the issue had been "voiced in the press." The initial press announcements were far from satisfactory. The map published in the June 5 issue of The Rahway News-Record showing the new school lines was completely unintelligible. The map showed no streets or directions so it was virtually impossible to interpret. As was admitted later by several school board members, the published map was actually not the correct map.

After learning later that redistricting was supposed to take place we began seeking advice from our peers, and councilmen. A petition we circulated received hundreds of names. Most of the individuals signing learned about the redistricting for the first time from the petition. Now where did we find anyone supporting the school board's stand. Also we found some of the school board's figures were subject to question.

In trying to decide what could be done we also sought advice from councilmen. Repeat, we sought them out. We were not "manipulated" by them!

We found councilmen Louis C. Boch of the sixth ward and John C. Marsh of the second ward extremely helpful.

We met and talked with these councilmen before the school board meeting expressing our views and concerns. At our request both councilmen eloquently expressed our views to the school board on June 16 and both men also attended a hurriedly-called special meeting on June 18.

It is interesting to note that only one school board member, Barry D. Henderson, thought fit to attend this meeting which was also apparently not attended by Miss Schleifer.

We consider it a personal insult that Miss Schleifer would accuse us of being "politically manipulated" in our concern for our children's welfare. We might agree with her on one point, that perhaps we were too lethargic. However we have learned from our oversight.

As a result of this particular issue we have developed, if you will excuse the word, a "machine" which is both vocal and effective voice-wise. Be assured that from now on we shall keep very close tabs on those officials who affect our school children's educational welfare.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The map supplied to the newspaper by the school administration was not reproducible. Rather than leave the public uninformed we detailed the exact school lines in a lengthy article.

STAYING IN THE MARKETPLACE

"America's agriculture is on the doorstep of its greatest opportunity in history: provident, that is, it can stave off controls and other threatening actions during this present period of transition. Such actions as export curbs, price controls, and legislation that would establish undesirable high target prices and price support loans could disrupt the function of the market place, put the brakes on farmers, get the government back into the storage business, and substitute government decisions for those of farmers about which crop to plant."

"... We are charting new ground. Our goal must be to deal with problems in such a way as to keep us in the world's market place. Farmers will do a better job of making decisions about production, based on their judgments of costs and markets, than political leaders can make for them."

—Will Erwin
Assistant Secretary of Agriculture

Also to illustrate the fact that certain attendance areas would be scattered we drew a map to accompany the article. This illustration was clearly labeled a staff work and never presented to be from the administration.

Results of a study conducted by the Institute of Life Insurance indicates that three out of four young people agree with the saying, "Hard work pays off."

OSHA Program Changes Course, Loses Support

The National Association of Manufacturers has withdrawn its support for the Occupational Safety and Health Administration's on-site consultation program for employers.

The final rules reveal that the program has switched course from its intended purpose of helping employers in meeting OSHA compliance requirements. Randolph M. Hale, NAM assistant vice president and manager, Industrial Relations Department, charged in a letter to the Department of Labor.

The program now appears to be "nothing more than a masquerade for enforcement," according to Mr. Hale. He said small employers, who should have benefited most, instead will be the prime losers. Judging from the final package, they would be ill-advised to seek OSHA consultation services, he noted.

The reasons for NAM withdrawal of support are "plain and simple," Mr. Hale commented. Under the original proposal, Mr. Hale pointed out, enforcement personnel would only have become involved in situations indicating "imminent danger" but now the implication is they can be notified "any time something less than an alleged serious violation is discovered." That leaves wide margin for interpretation, he observed.

Another way would be to build a new national health care law on the system of private physicians and private health insurance which has served our people so well and added decades to our anticipated life spans.

The basic ingredients should be obvious. Congress should concentrate on how best to extend health coverage to those citizens who cannot afford to meet their own needs, and how to mandate adequate benefit levels to cover health care, including so-called "catastrophic" coverage.

But employees, individuals and others should be free to select their own insurance carriers and administration of the health care plan should be left in the private sector.

Finally, our sick economy needs to be nursed back to health before launching a national health care system that is bound to be expensive. More deficit spending is the opposite of the preventive medicine we need to ward-off a new round of inflation most agree would be ruinous. When the economy is healthy again will be time enough to adopt a national health plan with suitable cost and quality controls.

Odd Job Mix Seen

The impact of the current recession has varied significantly among occupational groups in the labor force, according to the Department of Labor.

While the total number of jobs held by experienced workers declined by 1,600,000 between May 1974 and May 1975, white collar jobs actually increased by almost half a million (420,000) over the same period that blue collar jobs declined by more than two million (2,300,000).

In 1975, the average household had six members, according to an article in the Morgan Guaranty Survey. Today the average has dropped to three.

HEALTH CARE FOR ALL

THE RIGHT PRESCRIPTION

Virtually everyone agrees that the U.S. Congress will improve a form of national health insurance within the next few years. The debate among the Congressional "doctors" will be on how to write the prescription.

One alternative would be to have our health system 100 per cent government controlled and financed. This would seem to be an open invitation to flagrant abuse and costly bureaucratic red tape.

Another way would be to build a new national health care law on the system of private physicians and private health insurance which has served our people so well and added decades to our anticipated life spans.

The basic ingredients should be obvious. Congress should concentrate on how best to extend health coverage to those citizens who cannot afford to meet their own needs, and how to mandate adequate benefit levels to cover health care, including so-called "catastrophic" coverage.

Bus Subways Pose Problems

The only underground bus-subway now in use are a half-mile tunnel in Providence, R.I., and a short two-level subway in Harvard Square, Cambridge, Mass.

Both of these were built originally for street cars and later converted. Construction complexity, ventilation problems, and costs (often in relation to capacity provided) have been the main reasons for inaction on new bus-subways.

Install spray taps on kitchen and bathroom sink faucets. This allows for faster washing and rinsing, with less use of hot water.

NJ bond debt exceeds $1.3 billion according to taxpayers association

The issued and outstanding serial bonded debt of New Jersey exceeded $1.3 billion on July 2, reported the New Jersey Taxpayers Association. The increase in the past year is under $100 million but over the past 10 years bonded debt has risen $1 billion.

Association officials issue an annual table on the state debt as part of their information service to members and citizens on various aspects of state and local government finance.

Push bill establishing body for capital budgeting, planning

A bill establishing a permanent New Jersey commission on capital budgeting and planning completed the first leg of its legislative course slightly more than a month after its introduction, reported a New Jersey Taxpayers Association spokesman.

Introduced May 15, state senate bill no. 3231 was passed unanimously by the state senate four days later and was referred to the assembly state government committee on June 23.

Reflecting recommendations of the governor's commission to evaluate the capital needs of New Jersey, the bill would establish a 12-member bi-partisan commission comprised equally of representatives of the executive and legislative branches plus the general public.

The new commission will be primarily responsible for annual preparation and presentation to the governor and the legislature of a state capital improvement plan containing recommendations for state spending for capital projects on both a short-term and long-term basis.

The bill further requires each state agency submit to the panel a detailed list of capital projects it desires to undertake or continue over a three-year period, and prepare forecasts for capital needs projected for the subsequent four years, the spokesman noted.

Additional supporting material required includes yearly requests for appropriations from existing bond funds and reports of progress on existing capital projects and on maintenance of properties and capital equipment, he said.

After review of all the information, the spokesman continued, the commission would draw up its plan containing suggested priorities for these capital projects and propose a schedule for their implementation over the same three- and seven-year time periods as well as the means of funding them.

The commission would not establish state policy, but serve in an advisory role with an eye toward effective coordination of capital planning with a high degree of fiscal responsibility, noted the spokesman.

The commission will be authorized to hire an executive director and draw staff from a new bureau of capital planning in the division of budget and accounting of the treasury department created by the bill.

In addition the commis-

Income retirement accounts will begin at First Federal

Availability of income retirement accounts (IRA), enabling wage earners not covered by pension plans to save as much as $1,500 a year under a tax-deferred retirement savings program, was announced by First Federal Savings and Loan Association officials.

According to First Federal executive vice president Michael E. Barrett, the program was established under the federal income retirement act.

The principal feature of the program is that it is a tax-sheltered plan which allows First Federal depositors to save up to $1,500 or 15% of their annual salary, whichever is less, toward a retirement fund.

Taxes on that portion of their salary, as well as on the interest earned on the savings account, are deferred until they retire and will quite possibly be in a lower tax bracket.

Citing what he called the flexibility of the First Federal IRA savings plan, Mr. Barrett noted deposits can be made in any amount at any time during the year, up to the maximum allowable.

State Tax Low in N.H., Sky-High in Hawaii

The average per capita state tax reached $352 in 1974, up $225 from 1964.

Bureau of the Census data shows Hawaii's residents paying the top per capita state tax of $584. Other high states are Delaware, $538; Minnesota, $470; and New York, $470.

States with low per person state taxes are New Hampshire, $204; South Dakota, $243; and Ohio, $260.

MAYOR CITES CITY'S ROLE... Rahway mayor Daniel L. Martin noted the city's contribution of both operating and supervisory personnel to the Penn-Central Railroad at a meeting of division no. 53 of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers held in the rathskeller of city lodge no. 1075 of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

Division members recently began holding their meetings in the rathskeller of city lodge no. 1075 of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks.

Brotherhood members voted to move their national offices to Cleveland, Ohio, according to division vice president William McBride of Rahway who was responsible for the relocation effort.

Mr. McBride noted it will be the third location for the 111-year-old organization which was chartered on December 10, 1864 in Jersey City. The name came after a 20-year struggle with the mayor, exalted ruler Walter Glanacchini was present to welcome the division officers.

Mayor greets rail engineers in rathskeller

The likelihood of higher rates - home prices - is another reason clearly Mr. Colangelo for families not to postpone their buying decisions.

He explained the cost of both new and resale housing will probably rise in the coming months as the inventory of available homes is consumed and building costs continue to rise.

He advised families thinking of buying a home to visit any Multiple Listing Service office.

"When a homeowner multiple-lists his property a picture and complete description is sent to all our offices throughout the Union County area. There is no additional charge for having a home sold through the service," Mr. Colangelo concluded.

MLS head warns: do not wait to buy

The federal government's record-breaking borrowing during the first six months of this year could result in interest rates starting to move up again when private money sources begin feeling the pressure on investment funds, according to Daniel Colangelo, vice president of the Union County Multiple Listing Service.

He said this is an important reason why present home seekers should make their decision soon in order to avoid paying more for mortgage money this fall and winter.

The Clark real estate executive noted today's mortgage interest rates are well below the record highs of last year and more "good" money is readily available.

State position in De Molay for Mossberg

Rules of the Road for Bikers Outlined by Safety Council

With increasing gasoline costs coupled with stepped-up public concern about physical fitness and a clean environment, the bicycle continues to win enthusiasts, who are trading horsepower for leg-power.

Unfortunately, cyclist's concern for traffic safety too often lags far behind - resulting in unnecessary injuries and deaths.

By observing a few simple rules of the road, cyclists can enjoy themselves and arrive safely at their destinations, the National Safety Council points out.

By law, cyclists are required to observe basic traffic regulations including signaling, turns and lane changes, yielding right-of-way - where indicated, and stopping or slowing down at intersections as required.

In addition, the council suggests cyclists:

- Keep to the right, as close to the curb as practical. When in a group, ride in a line, single file. Keep a safe distance from parked cars - they may pull out, or their doors may be opened suddenly.
- If you must ride at night, wear light-colored clothing (preferably white) easily spotted by motorists. Have a white headlight and red rear reflector both in good working order.
- Have a working horn or bell for signaling - no sirens, please! Make sure your entire bicycle is in good working order.
- Never "hitch on" to other vehicles or "show off" - never carry riders.
- Keep packages in a front basket (not so high as to obstruct view), or better yet, in a rear rack. Keep both hands on handlebars at all times except when signaling!

Under new federal regulations, bicycles sold in interstate commerce after January 1, 1975, must have certain required specific safety features.

If you aren't sure your bike has them, check by writing to: Bicycle Safety, Consumer Product Safety Commission, Washington, D.C. 20207, or by calling the commission's toll-free number, 800-638-2666. You can also receive tips on bicycle care and maintenance.

Merger with Plainfield firm told by First Federal head

An agreement between First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Westfield and Garden State Savings and Loan Association of Plainfield was fulfilled following approval by the state commissioner of banking and insurance.

Charles L. Harrington, First Federal president, explained the assets of the Plainfield association were purchased by officers of his firm who will operate the office as their Garden State division, 355 East Front Street, Plainfield.

At the time of the merger, Garden State officials listed assets in excess of $5 million serving customers primarily from Plainfield, Fanwood, Watchung and Scotch Plains.

As of June 30 First Federal officials announced a total of $135 million in assets serving customers through eight locations, including the Garden State division in Plainfield.

Construction of a large new facility is underway at the East Front Street location with the opening slated for mid-September. Temporary offices are in operation at the site.

Mr. Harrington noted by becoming part of the $135 million First Federal association shareholders and members of the Garden State division gain what he called several important advantages.

First, he said, they are saving with and borrowing from a considerably more flexible organization because of its larger assets and substantial reserves.

Depositors will benefit from a variety of passbook and savings certificate plans with savings insured up to $40,000 by the federal government.

In addition Garden State shareholders and members will be able to participate in First Federal's recently announced income retirement account plans whereby wage earners not covered by pension plans will be able to save as much as $1,500 of their annual salary toward a retirement fund.

The officers and staff of Garden State will continue to serve the community. Robert A. Jones was named branch manager for the division.

Mr. Harrington also announced the formation of a Garden State division advisory board.

In celebration of the merger First Federal officials are offering accounts at the Garden State division office in Plainfield. Gifts include blankets, pocket calculators, tool kits and chime clocks.

Republicans blast Dems on income tax charges

Republican assembly candidates in the 22nd district charge the lower house's Democratic leadership is conspiring with Democratic governor Brendan T. Byrne to force another state income tax proposal through the legislature.

"The handwriting is on the wall," said William J. Maguire of Clark and Donald T. DiFrancesco of Scotch Plains, who charged the Democrats refused to allow debate on budget-cutting amendments and then passed the budget with a $412 million deficit in an attempt to blackmail state senators opposed to an income tax.

"These acts of arrogance at a time of fiscal crisis are totally irresponsible," the pair said. They charged that Democratic majority whip assemblywoman Mrs. James (Betty) Wilson, "bears a major part of the blame" and said it was time the Democrats realized the retention of photographs beyond that date.

Dave Thornton pitches ninth win for city squad against Elizabeth

Dave Thornton pitched the Rahway Recreation's to their ninth straight win without a loss in the intra-county league over the Elizabeth team of Elizabeth 3-0. The game was played at Veterans Memorial Field in Rahway.

Thornton, a righthander, was in command all the way. Only one Betsytown runner reached third base and that was in the top of the first.

Bob Tesora, the Betsytown second baseman, led off with a single. He was advanced to second and then reached third on a wild pitch.

Bob Glassman drew a base on balls to fill the sacks. Jorge Alvarez then hit into a fast double play to end the threat.

Thornton was never in trouble the rest of the game as he scattered four singles, struck out eight and gave up two base on balls while he recorded his fourth win of the season. Rahway could only muster four hits off Ed Lubas, the Betsytown pitcher. In the last of the second Vic "The Stick" Kurylak led off with a blast over the left fielders head for a stand up triple.

Stan Wojcik hit the next pitch over 350 feet for another stand up triple and the locals were in front 1-0.

Rahway scored two more in the last of the sixth when Mickey Kaminski drew a base on balls, stole second and was sacrificed to third.

Don Miller reached on an error scoring Kaminski. Miller moved to second on a wild pitch and scored on Kurylak's hit up the middle.

Len Zolte, the strong armed right hander from Montclair State College, pitched the Recreation's to a 6-1 win over the Summit Elks. It was Rahway's eighth straight victory.

Zolte had things well in hand as he held Summit to four singles while fanning 13. The Rahway right hander has not lost a baseball game since June of last year.

He captured his last three starts with the Recreation last season, two with the Rahway American Legion post no. 5 squad and nine in a row for the Montclair Indians. Thus far he has allowed only one run in 21 innings and 11 hits. He has struck out 34 batters and has given up 12 base on balls.

Rahway scored on run in the third and five in the sixth at Memorial Field in Summit.

In the third inning Gary "Speed" Irving singled with one out, stole second, advanced to third on Rutter's hit and scored on Kurylak's long fly to left.

In the sixth Rahway jumped all over John Merchant, the all-county pitcher from Summit. Billy Young, Kaminski and Dave

The class B event went to Nick Partenope and Hank Meyer with a 6-7.

On Saturday in the member-member, 36-hole contest Martin and Anthony Trian won with a 121 score followed by Bill McEntee and Anthony Gonnella at 124, Ray Covino and Anthony Sargent 125, Ed Ruotolo and Joe Ryan 126 and Robert Steinbruch and Len Hornsby 127.

Tigers take series from Mets and sweep honors in league

The Tigers won the best of three series from the Mets and thus added the playoff championship laurels to their previously won league championship. The Tigers completed their successful season with an 18-5 record.

The Mets did not succumb easily. They evened the series by winning the second game 12-6 thus forcing the showdown game.

Dave Quigley, with a record of 8-3 for the season, fired a two-hitter and struck out 10 batters in the second game. He also bugged out a double and a triple which knocked in five runs.

Quigley received plenty of support as Jack Sheldon, Mike Rapp and Bill Lennan each lashed out two hits. For the losing Tigers Joe Fontana had both hits.

The final game was a well-played thriller which the Tigers won 6-4. Outstanding defensive plays by both teams highlighted the action.

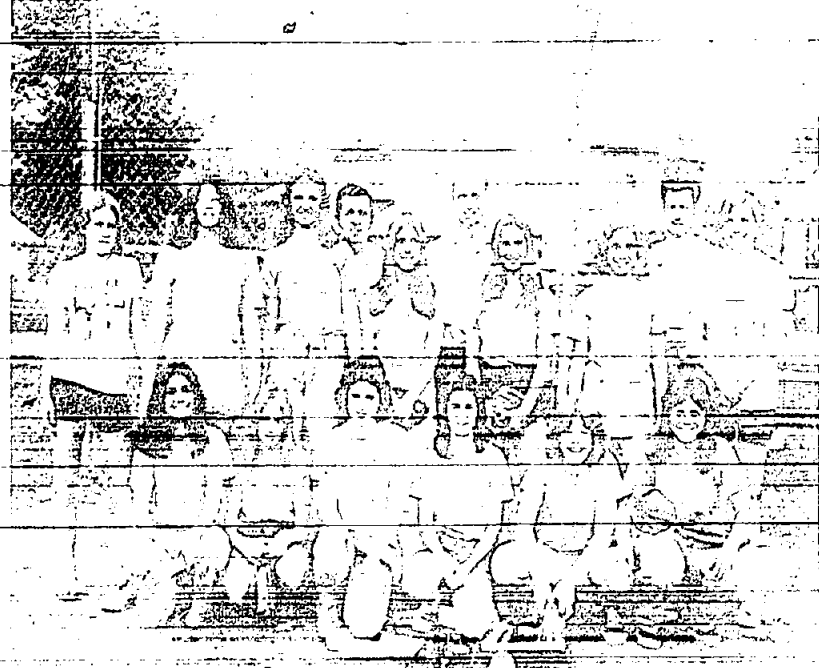

Jim Starro (2-0) was the winning pitcher working five innings. Bill Jordan gained a save with two innings of relief work.

The Tigers drew first blood in the second inning on a long homerun by Joe Fontana. A walk, stolen base and a double by John Triano made it 2-0.

The Mets struck back in the third inning as Sheldon filled the bases and Walker lined a bases-clearing double giving the Mets a 3-2 lead.

The Tigers took the lead for good in the fourth inning scoring three runs on a walk, Roman Montes double, Fontana's triple and a balk. The Tigers and Mets each added another run to make the final score 6-4.

The Mets also concluded a successful year finishing with a record of 18-7.

TOWNSHIP GIRLS' SOFTBALL CHAMPIONS... The Policewives of Clark girls' softball team won the championship of the township girls' softball league, major league division, with 12 straight victories. The team was managed by township police chief Anthony T. Smar who was assisted by coaches Fred Asal and Victor Schneider and statistician Ginger Smar. On the squad were, left to right, front row, Linda Montagna, Nicki Fullerton, Diane Schneider, Arlene Schneider, Wendy Conklin and Cindy Hassler; second row, Dawn Fontanello, Andria Lewan, Wendy Miller, Nancy Asal, Alyce Smar and Joellen Venezia; third row, Ginger Smar plus messrs. Schneider, Smar and Asal. Missing from the picture is Gloria Hnat.

Stephens all singled, Stephens on a hit and run to score Young.

Zolte grounded into a force at the plate, Irving lined a single to left to score as the second run of the inning. Rutter then doubled to score two more. When Miller's fly ball to right was dropped, Rutter scored the fifth run of the inning.

Rutter raised his batting average to .568 with a perfect night going four for four. Kaminski was three for four and with his hot bat has average of .530.

Rahway's team had to fight off a determined Roselle Park squad to gain a 7-7 tie in an intra-county league game at Rahway River Park. The tie broke the local's seven game win streak.

Roselle Park opened the match with two runs in the top of the first. The Park men greeted Joe Tkac, the undefeated Rahway pitcher who has a 2-0 mark, with three doubles and a single.

Tkac settled down in the second and third innings as he set the Panthers down in order.

Rahway moved in front in the last of the third when Irving, walked, stole second and scored when Rutter singled, Miller and Stan Wojcik drew out two base on balls and Young lined a single to right to score two runs.

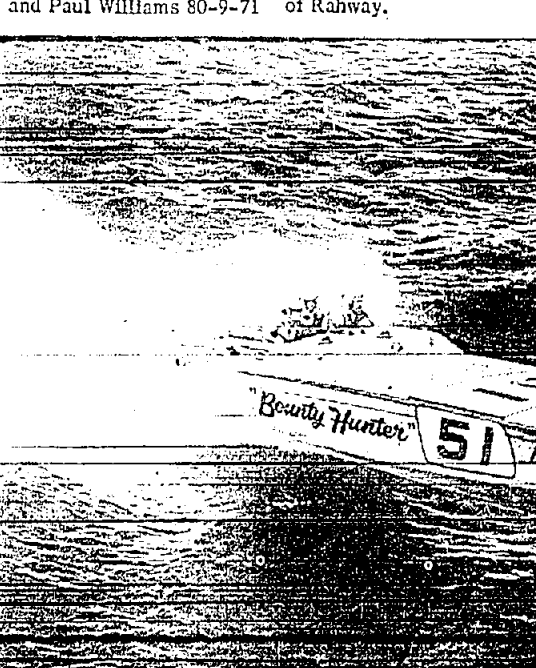

Rahway led 3-2 but not for long. Roselle Park came back and scored five runs in the top of the fourth as Tkac just could not find the plate. He was replaced by Mike Melando. The Panthers had five runs on three hits and four base on balls.

Rahway scored in the fourth and fifth and tied up the game in the seventh as Young walked and Kaminski was hit by a pitch. Coaches John Chussler and Dag Rutter dipped into their well and had Dave Thornton pinch hit.

Thornton ripped the first pitch up the alley in left center for the two runs and a stand up triple with one down. Rahway tried to squeeze Thornton home but the attempt was popped up.

Mike Melando did a fine job of relief as he shut the parkers out in the last three innings. Irving came up with the play of the game in the top of the seventh when, with the bases loaded as a result of a single, error and base on balls, Joe Serracelli, the Panthers second baseman, hit a fly ball to center field and Irving caught it. He threw a strike to Stan Wojcik, the Recreation's catcher, for a double play.

Roselle Park used five pitchers in the game. The game will be replayed on Saturday, July 12 at Veterans Memorial Field at 2 p.m. Rahway will play Clark in a 10 a.m. contest on the same date.

EPA LOVES OUR MPG'S

SCIROCCO MPG: 24 CITY 38 HIGHWAY

RABBIT MPG: 24 CITY 38 HIGHWAY

BASIC BEETLE MPG: 22 CITY 33 HIGHWAY

DASHER MPG: 23 CITY 35 HIGHWAY

According to the Federal Environmental Protection Agency's latest figures for fuel economy, all our sedans and Dasher Wagon get over 30 miles per gallon on the highway and over 20 miles per gallon in the city. In fact, out of the top 10 cars rated for fuel economy by the EPA, 4 of them were VWs. (That's more than any other automotive maker.) You might say, EPA went APE over us.

Report card shows As for township students

"The performance of Clark students was outstanding for many items and ranged from satisfactory to very good in other items" on state mathematics and reading tests, according to a report released by superintendent of schools doctor John T. Farinella.

"The assessment of the professional staff indicated improved performance over last year," the report stated. Results were compared with statewide and countywide findings plus those in similar communities and "district factor groupings."

"The examinations, in their third year, were administered in grades nos. 4 and 7. Both the format of the tests and the skills examined remain constant over the years.

Results of the tests, taken November of last year, were received in April, according to the superintendent's report.

Fourth-grade mathematics tests included addition, subtraction, multiplication, division, geometry, measurements, problem-solving, simple fractions, numeration and number concepts.

"Clark students achieved scores in these tests which in many instances surpassed the performance of comparison groups," the report stated.

"Even though results were excellent we shall seek better mastery in operations such as subtraction with regrouping, mea-

NEW LOBBY LAWS ARE NEEDED, BUT... BEWARE OF AN OVERDOSE!

While many members of Congress complain of overwork and ask millions of dollars for more staff, the Senate is considering new proposals for regulating lobbyists which would multiply their own work load.

Congressmen depend upon representatives of particular interests (which is what lobbyists are) to pinpoint the important issues among the torrent of proposals with which they are confronted. They need the facts and figures which lobbyists produce. And they need the confrontation of ideas between lobbyists to sharpen their own thinking.

Almost everyone agrees that a new lobbying law is needed to achieve public disclosure of the identity and financial interests of all those engaged in lobbying; like vampires the crooked lobbyists will disappear in the light of publicity.

But the lobbying bills being considered, H.R. 15, S. 774 and S. 815, go well beyond requiring registration by those contacting members of Congress asking for their vote.

The new laws proposed would require burdensome record-keeping that would discourage what Congressmen need most: heartfelt expressions from people who would be directly affected by legislation.

People would have to register as a condition of making a speech if one of its purposes was to encourage communication on an issue with federal officials.

Executive branch employees would be required to log telephone calls and other communications expressing an opinion on policy-making.

So much information would be required under some of the proposals that abridgment of freedom of speech and the invasion of privacy by government would reach Orwellian proportions. And who knows? Editorial writers might be next.

Bicentennial Show. Tours Europe, Attracts Thousands

After setting attendance records and winning critical acclaim during its premiere showing in Paris, the Bicentennial exhibit "The World of Franklin and Jefferson" is on its way to Warsaw, Poland, where it will open on May 17.

The American Revolution Bicentennial Administration (ARBA) is presenting the exhibition in cooperation with the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York with the assistance of a grant from the IBM Corporation. The exhibition was created by the Office of Charles and Ray Eames, distinguished American designers.

"The World of Franklin and Jefferson" spans 120 years of American history (1706-1826), from the American colonial experience and its European heritage, to the westward movement.

The exhibit opened the Bicentennial abroad at the Grand Palais in Paris on January 10 and closed March 10. Final attendance figures were in excess of 50,000, or 1,000 per day during 51 days the exhibit was open to the public. Chief Curator, Reynaud Arnaud said "this was the highest attendance recorded in a French national museum for a foreign show."

Testing hit by students doubled the cost of the work to reroute Van Winkle Brook and provide more land at the school, where it is now estimated that $400,000 would be needed to finance a joint project by the board, the Springfield township committee, the Union County board of chosen freeholders and the Union County park commission.

"I do not think we are ever going to get a ball field," Mr. Marcinak said, vowing he would not vote for spending of any more than the $100,000 appropriated for legal and engineering fees, until board members are positive the project will begin.

Board president Charles E. Vitale, Jr., jokingly commented that the fruit and pastry usually provided at board meetings had been replaced by Girl Scout cookies at the first meeting of the new fiscal school year.

"You may not have that at the next meeting," said board meeting Theodore A. White, chairman of the finance committee.

Employees, Company Aid Many Colleges

Colleges across the country benefited from the generosity of AT&T and its employees to the tune of almost $230,000 last year.

Employees in the General Department and the Long Lines Department contributed $114,820 to AT&T's Matching Gift Program in 1974. Under the program, the two departments match, dollar for dollar, donations to accredited institutions of higher education by individual employees and directors, in the amounts of $25- to $5,000 each year, with a maximum of $1,000 per individual to any eligible institution, organization or fund.

Since the inception of the program in October 1973, AT&T has matched over $133,000 in donations, according to Maury Quinlan, public relations director, whose organization handles the program.

Number, Please!

AT&T reports the top telephone town in the U.S. is Washington, D.C., with 430-1 phones for every 100 people.

The Coal is There

Some 200 billion tons of coal are presently recoverable, according to Secretary of the Interior Rogers C. B. Morton.

Circus Bicentennial Plans Will Bring Fun to Millions

The Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus Bicentennial programs have been granted official recognition by the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration (ARBA).

In announcing the official designation, John W. Warner, Administrator of the ARBA, stated, "The circus has played a major role in the entertainment history of our nation. This is another exciting example of private sector participation in the commemoration of our nation's 200th anniversary.

The 1975 and 1976 productions of the Greatest Show on Earth are entirely dedicated to the Bicentennial. Other Circus projects include:

- Development of free educational materials on the history of the circus for use in schools throughout the nation;
- A 30-minute motion picture for use by schools and other interested civic groups;
- Over 250,000 free tickets to performances for those who otherwise might not be able to see the show;
- Special performances at dramatically reduced rates for students and senior citizens;
- Visits by performers to hospitals and nursing homes to present segments of the Bicentennial show to patients.

Possible connection between sex and aggression?

Rutgers scientist seeks answer in work with rats

Aggression as a pattern of behavior shows up daily in newspaper accounts of wars, threats, crime and brawls. But humans have no monopoly on aggressive behavior, and a biologist at Livingston College, part of Rutgers, the State University, is studying the phenomenon in animals to understand why people and animals act that way.

TAKE THAT YOU RAT... A Rutgers University biologist, doctor Ronald M. Barfield, and his students at Livingston College are studying aggressive behavior in laboratory rats in an effort to understand why people and animals act that way.

observed such rats attacking any intruders. Doctor Barfield is hunting for those elusive steps in the chain of events that makes a resident animal occupying a territory defend it so fiercely. Similarly what are the elusive steps inside the body of the intruder animal that make it act as it does?
